Eclipses.

There will be no Eclipse of the Moon this year.

There will be two eclipses of the Sun during the year, neither of them, however, visible in North America.

On the 23d of February, an annular Eclipse of the Sun takes place. It will be visible in Africa, South America, and Southern Europe.

On the 18th of August there will be a total Eclipse of the Sun, visible in Australia, Southern Asia, and also in Eastern Africa.

Appearances of the Planets, 1868.

Venus will be an Evening Star, until July 16; after that day a Morning Star. Until 2nd January, and after the 13th November, Mars will be an Evening Star, between these two dates, it will be a Morning Star. Until March 10, Jupiter will be an Evening Star; from that date to the 4th of July, it will be a Morning Star. Until February 24, Saturn will be a Morning Star, and from that date to the 29th November, it will be an Evening Star. Mars will come to the Meridian during the daylight for the first nine month's of the year, but will become an object of interest toward the end of the year. On the 8th of April, Jupiter will be very close to Mars

HEIGHT OF THE ATMOSPHERE.—Observations on several bright auroras in 1865, occurring at a very early morning hour, lead to the belief that these phenomena in the upper air were modified by the light of the rising sun, tinging them long before it came near the earth's surface. Yet these auroras, as well as the incandescence of aerolites or shooting-stars, occur, as repeated observations prove, at heights varying from a few miles above us up to 100 or more; and as they are all believed to prove the existence of an atmosphere where they occur, they appear to prove that too low a limit has been fixed for the earth's atmosphere, which is commonly regarded as terminating at the height of about fifty miles. The mean altitude of the shooting-stars of November 13, 1863, observed at Washington, Philadelphia, etc., was 92 miles. Prof. Newton thinks that none have been observed at a greater height than 125 or 150 miles.

THE LIVERPOOL & LONDON & GLOBE Insurance Company.

Capital Surplus and Reserved Funds, . . . $16,271,675.
Invested in Canada, 250,000.

DIRECTORS IN CANADA:

T. B. ANDERSON, Esq., Chairman,
(President Bank of Montreal.)
HENRY STARNES, Esq., Dep. Chairman,

E. H. KING, Esq.,
(General Manager Bank of Montreal.)

FIRE INSURANCE POLICIES granted by this Company on all insurable property, at rates as low as other first class companies.

LIFE ASSURANCE POLICIES, protected by a special reserve fund of $9,282,468. This amount is set apart for the payment of life claims ONLY, and is quite distinct from the Fire Reserve Fund of $1,727,523.

ANNUITY BONDS are issued by this Company, assuring the yearly or half-yearly payment of any required sum, either immediately, or to commence on decease of a person named. Thus a husband aged 30, may secure to his wife, aged 25, $100 a year for the remainder of her life, should he die before her, for $26.40 annually. A son aged 20, may secure to a parent aged 50, who survived him, $100 a year for the remainder of life, by an annual payment of $10.30.

ENDOWMENT POLICIES, are issued, assuring the payment of any required sum, to an infant son or daughter, on their coming of age, by a small annual premium, with the agreement that in event of premature death, all premiums would be returned by the Company without deduction.

The Directors of the Liverpool & London & Globe Company desirous of securing a share of public patronage, would draw attention to the character, wealth, and reputation the Company presently enjoys, not only in the Dominion, but throughout the world. They rely on these evident facts to induce business, rather than on attractive allurements and prospects, based on hoped-for results, instead of on scientific data, and the experience of a century of life assurance.

FUNDS OF THE COMPANY, AS SHOWN BY PRINTED REPORT OF FEBRUARY 1867.

Music by L. W. GOODENOW, Georgetown, Ont.

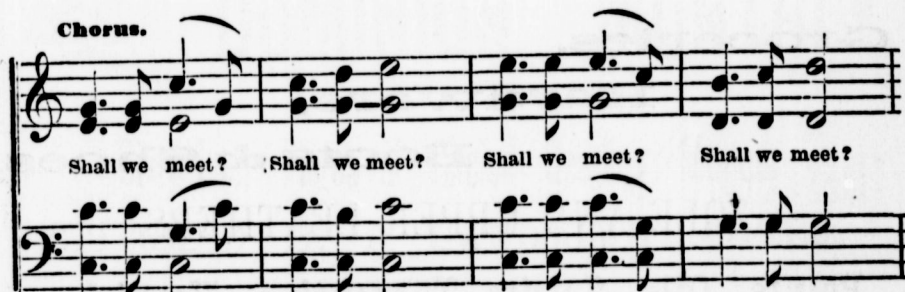

Shall we meet be - yond the riv - er, Where the surg - es cease to roll?
 Shall we meet in yon - der ci - ty, Where the tow'rs of crys - tal shine?
 Shall we meet with many a lov'd one, That was torn from our em - brace?
 Shall we meet with Christ our Saviour, When he comes to claim his own?

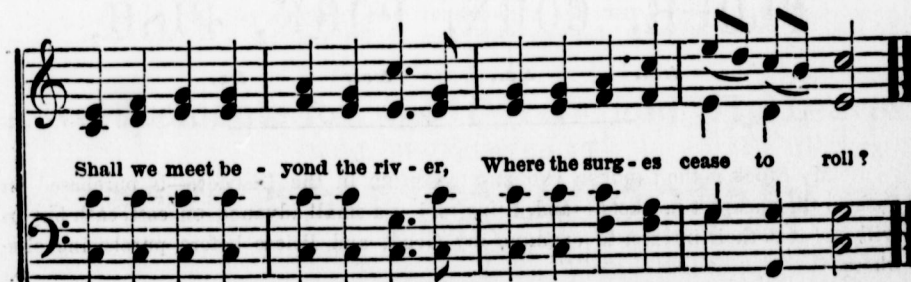

Where, in all the bright for - ev - er, Sorrows ne'er shall press the soul.
 Where the walls are all of jas - per, Built by work - man - ship di - vine.
 Shall we lis - ten to their voic - es, And be - hold them face to face?

WAITING BY THE RIVER.

SOLI. With Expression.

1. We are wait-ing by the river, We are watching by the shore,

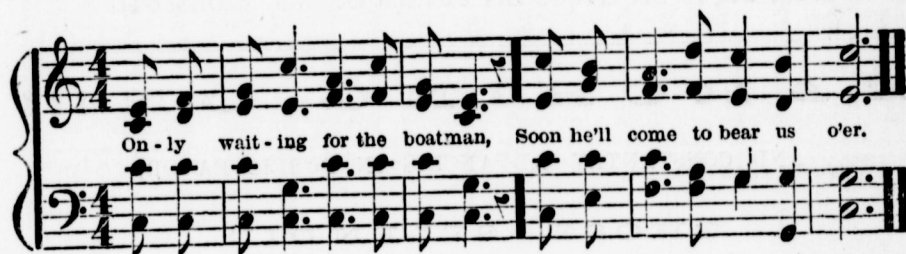

On-ly wait-ing for the boat-man, Soon he'll come to bear us o'er.

CHORUS.

We are wait-ing by the riv-er, We are watching by the shore,

On-ly wait-ing for the boatman, Soon he'll come to bear us o'er.

II.

Tho' the mists hang o'er the river,
And its billows loudly roar;
Yet we hear the song of angels,
Wafted from the other shore.

III.

And the bright celestial city,
We have caught such radiant gleams
Of its towers, like dazzling sun-light,
With its sweet and peaceful streams.

IV.

He has called for many a loved one;
We have seen them leave our side;
With our Saviour we shall meet them,
When we, too, have crossed the tide.

V.

When we've passed that vale of shadows,
With its dark and chilling tide,
In that bright and glorious city,
We shall evermore abide.

CUTTING AND COOKING FOOD FOR CATTLE.

Experiments, conducted over a series of years, show that there is a saving in cutting fodder for stock. The food is more completely eaten, and with less waste, than when fed in the ordinary way without being cut. We apply machinery to lessen the labor of mastication, and thus save in the animal economy a certain amount of waste of the system resulting from this labor. Food could be further improved for stock by cooking. Heat is the great solvent in nature. Straw subjected to 120 degrees of heat becomes solvent or a pulp. By cooking food, a greater amount of nutriment may be secured, as repeated experiments have shown. Two bushels of steamed hay, with nothing added except water, equal three bushels unsteamed. Experiments with different animals show that they liked the steamed food and kept in better condition upon it. Other experimenters have found 33 per cent. saved by cooking the food.

Experiments generally show that for feeding swine the cooking has doubled the value of corn, and in no case has the grain fallen below one-third. In steaming hay or straw it is absolutely necessary to wet it. To apply steam at low pressure to dry hay only dried it the more, and high pressure steam burned it and made it worse. But wet the hay and it absorbs the steam. Hay or straw cannot be cooked to advantage without first adding two gallons of water for every five bushels of hay. Another saving is that you can mix poor and good food together, such as hay and straw, and the steaming makes it equal to the unsteamed hay. It should be mixed before the operation of steaming. Pea and bean straw may be thus mixed with hay and steamed, and if this kind of straw is cut early it makes a most valuable food. Two quarts of middlings are equal to one quart of Indian meal, and for feeding, bran is equal to Indian meal for keeping up the animal, but not for laying on fat. There is 18 per cent. of gluten in the bran of wheat, while corn meal has only 11 per cent.; therefore for building up the frame, bran is one of the most valuable kinds of food if properly prepared.

In feeding, steamed fodder has a remarkable effect. It is like pasturage, giving a sleek coat. Cows fed upon it are contented and no more restless than upon their native pastures. It has a remarkable effect upon horses, curing a cough or incipient heaves.

Roots when fed in the winter should be steamed with the straw, and by diffusing them through the mass, it is rendered more palatable. The steaming apparatus need not be expensive; one for fifty head of cattle could be made for $50. If not to be subjected to pressure, a pan with steam box attached could be set upon an arch. The pan may be got up very cheaply with wooden sides outside the arch and a sheet iron bottom. But the best way is to have a steam boiler, and conduct the steam through a pipe to the steam box, so that pressure may be applied which would soften their food more perfectly. Such an apparatus with capacity for steaming the food of one hundred cattle can be purchased for $250—a paltry item in comparison to the saving it effects.

There is another advantage in steaming food, the manure is always ready for use. It undergoes fermentation so rapidly that it does not differ from well-rotted manure. By cutting and steaming the food the manure is fine, and of course more easily spread over the whole surface—a matter of great importance, as all practical farmers understand.—Utica Herald.

BUTTER AND CHEESE FACTORIES.

Forty years ago, the State of New-York grew a surplus of Grain (Wheat) for exportation, and "Genesee Flour" was known and prized in many foreign markets. Canal-boats took in Wheat at almost every storehouse from Syracuse westward and brought it to Troy, Albany, and this City, for manufacture and sale. Now, all is changed. The Genesee valley is no longer mainly devoted to Wheat; even the counties west of Cayuga Lake no longer grow their own Grain. Sheep husbandry, once popular, is now no the wane. Dairying is rapidly supplanting all other farming in our rural districts; and we judge that the next census will return thrice the number of cows in our State reported in that which preceded it by a decade. And even Dairying itself is undergoing a decided and rapid transformation, through the introduction and multiplication of factories for the systematic and wholesale production of Butter and Cheese.

These factories are located near the centre of each radius of three or four miles wherein grass and cows abound—usually but one in a township as yet, though they are being rapidly multiplied. A mill-stream and water-power often determine the site, though we believe a small engine and boiler (four to ten horse) are preferred to water-power. A cold and copious spring is well nigh indispensable; a good stock of ice, well stored and saved, is desirable. A large reservoir (like a cellar) is dug in the ground and tightly walled with planks; board platforms extend into this, floating on two or three feet of water, constantly renewed from the spring. In this reservoir, deep pails or cans are set and filled three-fourths full of milk—they sinking and floating in a like depth of water. The milk remains here 24 to 36 hours, when the cream is taken off and churned by steam or waterpower—six to twenty-four churns being operated at once, with no draft on human muscle. The Butter thus made each day, from cream in the very highest condition, is of such uniform and superior quality as to bring from five to ten cents per pound more than fair farm dairies will command. And the milk, thus skimmed, is then made into Cheese, rather mild in flavor, but palatable and of very fair quality. We never wish to eat better than some of this, made wholly of skimmed milk, and sold by the makers at ten cents per pound to their entire satisfaction. It is cheaper than Pork, and may be substituted as a staple article of diet for laboring men, to their great advantage and comfort.

The milk is brought in by the farmers of the vicinage, weighed as received, and placed in the cooling vat as aforesaid. The farmers generally receive a dividend of the proceeds; but the better plan is fast gaining ground of paying the cash for it as fast as received: it being speedily turned into Butter and Cheese, which are cash articles. We estimate that the Dairy product of our State will be increased at least one-fourth by the general introduction of these factories, and that the value of our grass lands will thus be enhanced at least $10 per acre.
—N. Y. Tribune.

RANCID BUTTER, boiled in water with a portion of charcoal, (say a tenth part,) will be entirely divested of its rancidity and may be used for cooking purposes, although its fine flavor will not be restored for the table.

CLEANING KNIVES.—A correspondent of the Country Gentleman says: A small, clean potato, with the end cut off, is a very convenient medium of applying brick dust to knives, keeping it at about the right moisture, while the juice of the potato assists in removing stains from the surface. We can get a better polish by this method than by any other we have tried, and with less labor.
