REV. A. H. HAYWARD.

Leaves This Pastorate and is Tendered a Reception.

Rev. A. H. Hayward, who is retiring from the Hartland Baptist church was tendered a farewell supper at the residence of Mr. John Reid Monday evening. A large gathering was present.

D. D. Porter presided and after a few introductory remarks he introduced Rev. J. B. Daggett, pastor of the Free Baptist church, who gave expression to the regrets of his people that Mr. Hayward was leaving the village. He said that the church might perhaps secure a more eloquent man than Mr. Hayward, but a better pastor, a better all round man it would be difficult to find. Mr. Daggett said he would take the occasion to speak of the movement which is now under consideration, namely, the amalgamation of the two great Baptist bodies and he hoped the day was not far distant when all the Baptist bodies would be one. He said that much of the strife, discord, and division was nothing if not high treason against heaven and Jesus Christ.

Rev. G. B. Taiton was the next called upon. He also gave expression to feelings of regret that a change was necessary in the pastorate of the Baptist church, and expressed his confidence that a more successful man as he had been.

Rev. J. A. Sellar, Methodist, was the next speaker. He said he was a stranger here. His acquaintance with the reverent gentleman was limited and he could only express Christian fellowship and wish him God-speed in his new field.

Aaron Campbell then read an address from the church and congregation accompanied by a handsome ball that was a token of the good will of his people.

Mr. Hayward replied in a happy vein, reviewing his work and labors since he had been pastor here.

The supper was then served and the company broke up at 11 p. m.

Tobique River Case.

Annual Journal White Opens for the Government.

The case of the Attorney General for the province of New Brunswick, versus the Tobique manufacturing Co., which Messrs. Fred H. Hale and Geo. A. Murehie are managers, was before Judge Barker in Equity on Friday. In this case an injunction is being sought for on the ground that the charter given to the company by the Dominion government was ultra vires an infringement of the rights of the provincial government. It appears that the company obtained its charter from the Dominion government for the purpose of erecting dams, putting booms, and building a mill twenty-six miles from the mouth of the Tobique river. The ground upon which this is to be done, is the Attorney General claims, on crown lands, and the right to confer power of expropriation does not lie in the Dominion Government. Attorney General White opened the case on Friday and an adjournment was made until Monday at 2 p. m. Mr. William Pugsley, Q. C., is associated with the Attorney General, and Messrs. George Gregory, Q. C., L. A. Currey, Q. C., and A. B. Connell, Q. C., represent the defendants.

The case has been further adjourned until Nov. 17th.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to thank the Electors of the Parish of Brighton, who so liberally supported me at the polls, for their hearty support, and trust that I shall always prove true to the confidence you repose in me as your representative at the council board.

Yours very truly,
R. W. Richardson.

REV. D. J. GALLAGHER.

The Son of C. E. Gallagher, of Bath.

The announcement of the death of Rev. D. J. Gallagher, pastor of the Catholic church at Silver Falls, came as a cruel blow to his parents, C. E. Gallagher and wife and his other relatives at Bath. He had been ill of typhoid fever for a long time and his mother and sister had attended him. On Friday they returned to Bath, leaving him much improved and rapidly convalescing apparently, but on Monday came the sad intelligence of his death.

The father of the diseased man was born at Johnville and was educated at Memramook and Grand Seminars in Quebec and Montreal. He was ordained priest Christmas in 1894. His first station was at Milltown, where he was assistant to Rev. E. D. Oyle for about a year. Later he was moved to Silver Falls, St. John. Under his care good work was done, the church enlarged and lately a very successful mission was conducted by priest of the Redemptorist order. He was greatly beloved by all members of his parish, and highly esteemed by all who knew him.

Father Gallagher was 31 years of age and is survived by parents, and five brothers and two sisters. The afflicted family has the heartfelt sympathy of the community in which they live, as well as that of the whole county.

The remains were interred in Johnville cemetery on Wednesday.

Hon. Peter Mitchell.

Following is an epitome of the life of the Hon. Peter Mitchell taken from an exchange.

The Hon. Peter Mitchell was born at Newcastle, N. B., June 4, 1824. His parents, who were of Scottish nationality, had settled on the Miramichi River, in 1818. He was educated at Newcastle, N. B. Grammar school, and, adopting the profession of law, he was called to the Bar in 1848, but afterwards became engaged in lumbering, ship-building and other industrial pursuits. He was returned to the Legislature in 1856, remaining in the Assembly until 1860, when he entered the Legislative Council. Mr. Mitchell became a member of the government of New Brunswick in 1858 in which he was a colleague of Messrs. Tilley, Ritchie, Johnston, and Fisher. In 1864 he was selected to serve as a delegate to the Maritime conference for the purpose of discussing the union of the Maritime Provinces and in the same year he attended the Quebec conference which drafted the union. In 1866 he went to England as a member of the London conference on the same subject. He was appointed to the Canadian Senate at Confederation by the first Dominion Government formed after Confederation. Mr. Mitchell was made Minister of Marine and Fisheries, a department which he personally organized for the first time and which he administered with the greatest ability and success. He was also largely instrumental in bringing about the Huttax arbitration between the United States and Canada, to Canada for the use of the marine fisheries by United States fishermen. He resigned from the Senate in 1874, and was elected to the House of Commons. Defeated at the general elections in 1873, he was again elected in 1882, and continued to sit in Parliament until 1891. In 1896 he was again a candidate for his old constituency, (Northumberland), but was defeated. For some years he was the proprietor of the Montreal Herald, and was always a staunch supporter of Liberal principles.

THE COUNTY ELECTORS.

Many Old Councilors Retired.

There was little disturbance or more than usual excitement on election day. Following is the result. Those marked with a star (*) were successful candidates:

- KENT—J. E. Gallagher, Jarvis Tracey*, Dr. A. Kinison*, E. F. Shaw.
- PEEL—D. Phillips*, W. B. Tompkins*.
- BRIGHTON—R. W. Richardson*, Gideon Phillips*, C. J. Connolly.
- NORTHAMPTON—Cliff*, Phillips*, Colter, Rodgers.
- WICKLOW—Crouthick*, Caldwell*, White, Longstaff.
- WILTON—Carvell*, Cheney*, White, West, G. H. Skokoe.
- SIMONDS—A. R. Foster*, J. H. Kearney*. N. B. Shaw offered as a candidate, but his nomination was thrown out on technical objections.
- WAKEFIELD—F. R. Shaw*, A. G. Bell*, L. R. Harding.
- WOODSTOCK—Spear*, Forest*.
- RICHMOND—Bell*, Hay*.
- ABERDEEN—Gilmore*, Lam*.

The vote in Hartland was: Richardson, 171; Phillips, 131; Connolly, 57. At Rockland: Richardson, 103; Phillips, 97; Connolly, 68; making a total stand 274—228—125.

At Woodstock two separate elections were carried on. Hence neither are accounted correct. It is thought the question will bring up in court before it is settled.

SU DRY NOTES.

As the auctioneer was detained we were unable to have the auction advertised for election day. We are sorry to be disappointed, but we will have one some day. In the meantime we are selling at the old stand and I will sell hardware, etc. Shaw & Dibblee.

Of war! begot in pride and luxury,
 The child of malice and sensual hate;
 Thou impious god, and good in spirit!
 Thou art the foul refiner of a state.
 Unjust scourge of man's iniquity,
 Sharp-caster of corruptions desperate!
 Is there no means but that a sin-stick hand
 Must be let blood with such a bold hand?

The middle of this month is expected the November showers of meteors, which occurs every 33 years or three times a century. The display in 1833 was remarkably fine, while that of 1866 was not so wonderful, but still was an imposing scene. Now astronomers are eagerly awaiting the shower of 1899. There may be a disappointment, but great hopes are entertained of a brilliant spectacle and those that are at all interested in the glories of the firmament should be on the watch for it. It being near the full of the moon will be a disadvantage, as many small meteors will be concealed and larger ones will not show so brightly. The date stated as the time when the meteors are likely to be most numerous is the 16th, yet the exact time is quite uncertain and observers are advised, in an article in the Scientific American, to be on the watch 48 hours earlier, beginning at midnight of the 13th and continuing until dawn of the 17th. The same article goes on to say that every watcher for the November meteors on this occasion can have the satisfaction of knowing that his, or her, vigil is being shared, all over the civilized world, by thousands of the brightest spirits which now inhabit the earth. The solution of the mystery of the November meteors will stand in the prospective of a thousand years, among the achievements of man.

Mrs. C. Humphrey Taylor and Mrs. Harry Baskin with their children are visiting friends at Bath.

War Notes.

The British military authorities hope to have the wireless telegraphy in operation in South Africa within two weeks, when, it is hoped the difficulties experienced from the cutting of wires will be obviated, as it will only be necessary to establish communication with a point at which the ordinary wires are intact.

As some effects of the war, diamonds in the rough have advanced twice, in each five per cent, since October 16th. Cut diamonds have not been affected so far, but as soon as the rough stones are put on the market there will be a proportionate rise in the finished article.

The English report that: "The Boer wounded on our hands are treated just as our own, and I have every reason to believe the Boers will treat any of our wounded in their hands in a similarly humane manner."

The bodies of men, ammunition, and in many may justly be called the sinews of war.—R. diegh.

Mid wars destroy in one year the works of many years of Peace.

Report says the strength of the Boers in the field is 59,861, but a conservative estimate places it at 40,000. There are now in South Africa British forces to the number of 360,000 and that in a few weeks there will be a grand total of 88,288.

Waterville News.

Everything is quiet here. Several young men have gone to the woods, among whom are Preston Tracy, George Robertson and Phillips Barnes.

Delbert Jones went to his home in Royaltown on Thanksgiving and returned to his school on last Monday.

George and Saunders DeWitt have been threshing in this vicinity this fall. Wheat is turning out well, but buckwheat seems to be minus, owing to the heavy winds threshing much of it before it was cut. Consequently it is a good price and will likely raise.

Owing to the absence of rain the farmers find it difficult to plough, but many have considerable work done.

Thanksgiving came unusually early this year. Found the turkeys rather unprepared for the occasion. The Americans are giving that domestic fowl ample time to prepare, having the day appointed for November 30th.
 OLD HEMLOCK.

Royalton.

The Wicklow and Simonds S. S. convention convened in the R. B. church of this place on October 20th. Although there were not so many workers present as we wished to see yet the convention was a success. The S. S. lesson which was taught by Mrs. T. A. Jones was both helpful and instructive. Rev. Mr. DeWare gave an address in which the qualifications and duties of a teacher were clearly set forth. All S. S. teachers and workers must have gone to their respective schools prepared for more effective work.

Miss Amelia Simonds has returned from Lowell, Mass.

On October 24th the young people of the C. E. Society held a successful temperance meeting. A program composed of temperance readings, recitations, speeches and songs, was successfully carried out.

The many friends of Delbert Jones were glad to have him among them for a few days last week.

On October 18th about 50 invited guests met at the home of Mr. L. N. Weade to witness the marriage of his daughter May to Mr. Harold Green. Presents were numerous and costly.

Big Lumber Operations.

Passing of the Axeman—Trees to be Sawed Down.

The present indications point to a much larger cut in the lumber woods this year than last. The market is still good, but the supply of logs is very limited. Some difficulty is being experienced in getting men, and good hands are being offered as high as twenty-three dollars, whereas last year's wages did not exceed eighteen dollars. A number of operators will take up the American plan of sawing their trees down instead of chopping them as formerly. It is claimed that by this means a foot or more is saved on each log and that the necessity of taking in experienced choppers will be done away with. So far the plan has not met with any opposition from the men themselves.

The Way They Do in Aroostook.

We have been trying for 20 years to get a bridge built across the river here at Hartland. The bridge isn't built yet. The select men of Fort Fairfield saw that the bridge across the Aroostook at that place needed repairs. Last week they called a meeting to see what should be done. At the meeting it was voted to build a new steel and granite bridge at a cost of $26,700 and to proceed at once with the work. The contract was then and there given to John Fowne, representing the largest iron bridge company in America. The meeting was held on Saturday last. On Thursday the crew had arrived from Connecticut, and next Thursday the five piers will be completed. The length of the bridge is 550 feet.

Great Value in Tea.

The great popularity of Red Rose tea in the maritime provinces is due to the fact that it combines good strength and excellent flavor with a moderate price. It is the best value in tea that is offered, and its flavor suits the taste of our people. Red Rose is blended and packed by T. H. Estabrooks, tea importer and blender, 13 and 14 North Wharf, St. John. Mr. Estabrooks has a blending plant operated by electric power and the largest warehouse devoted exclusively to the tea trade in all Canada. Red Rose tea is sold in bulk and in pound and half pound lead packets, at 35 cents per pound. Are you drinking Red Rose tea?

Believes Andree is Safe.

E. B. Baldwin the arctic explorer and observer in the United States Weather Bureau at Washington, has received a letter from Captain Ernest Andree of Sweden, brother of the polar aeronaut, expressive of Andree's confidence in his brother's safety and his conjecture that he must have come down to the west of 180 degrees and between 63 and 87 degrees north. "At the same daily progress made by Nansen," says Captain Andree, "of three miles, it would take him two years to reach the coast of the Parry Islands and another year before he could communicate with civilization."

Bridge Notice.

Notice is hereby given, that the Plan and Descriptions of the proposed Bridge to be erected over the St. John river at Hartland in the County of Carleton, N. B., by the Hartland Bridge Co. have been deposited with the Minister of Public Works, and a duplicate thereof in the office of the Registrar of Deeds for said County of Carleton.

THE SALVATION ARMY.

The Life of These Self-Sacrificing Workers Often One of Hardship.

While On Duty Capt. Ben. Bryan Was Stricken With a Supposed Incurable Disease, and Forced to Relinquish The Work—He Has Now Recovered His Health

From the News, Alexandria, Ont.
The life of a Salvation Army worker is very far from being a sinecure. Their duties are not only arduous, but they are called upon by the regulations of the Army to conduct out-of-door meetings at all seasons and in all kinds of weather. This being the case, it is little wonder that the health of these self-sacrificing workers frequently gives way. Capt. Ben. Bryan, whose home is at Maxville, Ont., is well known through his former connection with the Army, having been stationed at such important points as Montreal, Toronto, Kingston, Guelph, and Brockville, in Canada, and Schenectady, Troy, and other points in the United States. While on duty he was attacked by a so-called incurable disease, but having been restored to health through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a representative of the Alexandria News thought it worth while to procure from his own lips a statement of his illness and recovery. He found Mr. Bryan at work, a healthy, robust man, his appearance giving no indications of his recent sufferings.

The story of his illness and subsequent cure by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills reads like a miracle, and is given in his own words as follows:—While stationed at Deseronto in July, 1897, I was attacked with what the doctors called "Chronic Spinal Meningitis." The symptoms were somewhat similar to those preceding a pleuratic attack, but were accompanied by spasms which, when the pain became too severe, rendered me unconscious. The length of these unconscious spells increased as the disease advanced. After spending four months in the Kingston General Hospital, and on the Salvation farm, Toronto, I regained some of my former strength and returned to my work. The second attack occurred when I was stationed at Schenectady, N. Y., in October 1898, and was more severe than the first. The symptoms of the second attack were very similar to those which preceded the first, the only apparent difference being that they were more severe and the after effects were of longer duration. Owing to the precarious state of my health, I was compelled to resign my position and to return to my home at Maxville. While there a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I began using them in March, 1899. I have used only a dozen boxes and am once more enjoying perfect health. I feel that I am perfectly well and can cheerfully say that I attribute my present state of health to the effects produced by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mrs. Bryan has also used the pills, and has benefited very much thereby."

Our Clothing.

"Few people have an idea of the extent to which they are used by mechanics as walking advertisements," said a business man. "Look on the inside of your hat. The name has his name imprinted in letters easily read. The tailor makes use of the name as a part of your coat collar as a means of finding his place of business on your memory, and the hatter's name sticks to his name on shirts and neckwear, while the collar manufacturer has an imprint on the linen you wear. The shoemaker does not forget to leave his mark on the footwear; not content with his name woven on the sole for padding the shoe on the foot, he frequently utilizes the sole with the announcements. But anything at all anywhere, and on the package their is always a business announcement for your own and the public perusal."—Atlanta (N. Y.) Press.

One On Sousa.

John Philip Sousa has an intense dislike for the mutilation of his musical compositions. To hear one of his marches played out of tune or time not only sets his teeth on edge, but provokes his anger beyond his power of resistance. Not long ago he went down from his home in Youkers, on the Hudson, to New York city, and in front of the Grand Central station he heard an organ grinder playing "The Washington Post March." He was turning the wheel with the utmost slowness and extreme irregularity. It sounded like a funeral march. Sousa stood it as long as he could and then rushed across the street and exclaimed: "That's not the way to play that! Don't do it any more! It's awful!" "How should I play?" asked the grinder impassively. "Faster, faster!" "Ah!" "Yes. This way. Let me show you." And he took the crank into his hands and turned it with much spirit and vigor that he soon had a crowd around him. "Thank you," said the organist. "Who are you?" "I'm Sousa. That's the proper way to play that march." "Thank you, sir," replied the organist, bowing profoundly.

The next day Sousa came to town on the same train and found the same organ grinder in the same place playing "The Washington Post March" just as he had been taught the day before, but with much greater success. Muttering and evidently awe-stricken spectators were dozens deep circled around the musician. Sousa forced his way to the front to see the cause of the excitement. He found it. On the organ was a large canvas sign reading: "The Washington Post March Composed by John Philip Sousa. Played by a Pupil of Sousa."

Mr. Sousa has not given any more music lessons to strangers.—Columbus (O) Press-Post.

The Queen's Horses.

All the horses in the royal stable of Her Majesty Queen Victoria have been drilled in the presence of an automobile. The horses in the three stable yards at Windsor Castle were first led and then driven around the stationary car, then the car was propelled around the horses and finally the horseless carriage was moved between the horses as they stood near each other. The horses behaved very well, as they had already been schooled to such noises as the playing of bands, the sound of cannon, railway trains, and the cheering of crowds. Strange to say the best bred horses seemed to care the least about the automobiles and according to the New York Sun a pure bred Arab stallion showed the least concern of all. Few lives are watched with such care as the Queen's, and those of the members of the royal family, hence the trouble which has been taken to protect Her Majesty from any danger while driving, through the meeting of automobiles.—Scientific American.

THE MODEL PRIMARY TEACHER.

Her cheery smile reflects a heart as genial as the sun,
And warms the juveniles from morn until the day is done;
She wins their loyalty through love until they firmly stand
For her and for her efforts, a devoted, trusty band,
Resolved to conquer knowledge, guided by the golden rule,
All rallying 'round this teacher who has magnetized her school.
Not perfect is this maiden who would rule the juveniles,
But she must know intuitively urchin ways and wiles;
Must frown effectively at times to supplement her smile,
And puncture like a bubble childish ugliness and guile;
Though these may be real angels that her duty to her brings,
They're in the chrysalis as yet and have not sprouted wings.
They change from good to variable or violent in a trice,
Though hearts be warm and level, manners are not always nice;
Their faces wrinkle readily to pucker, pout or sneer,
And instantly when chided pump they up the facile tear;
Her eyes must be like gimlets gauged to puncture false pretense,
And back of them a brain well stocked with kindly common sense.
In serious emergencies, when some are darkly bad,
She may be called to shingle an erratic lass or lad,
Though this of course is drastic and the very last extreme
For little angels who are not so heavenly as they seem;
Sometimes a little anarchist his parents do not rule,
Must have "The Rogue's March" played on him when sulking like a mule.
But mostly rules she all her realm by noblest laws of love,
Thus placing kindness and calm all other things above;
She reaches minds through little hearts whose portals open wide
To one who wins them to her way, a wise, magnetic guide:
The primary instructor lays the corner stones and sills—
Molds men from slippery urchins with most stubborn souls and wills—
And from her fount of knowledge every little pitcher fills.

A Matter of Memory

BY R. K. ANNOUNCE

SHE had been on a shopping tour since morning, and therefore seemed very happy when she joined her husband on the home-bound evening train.

She almost glared at him in her sudden chagrin and disappointment. "Now, I'm in a nice fix! Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Jones-Brown-Smith are coming out to luncheon to-morrow, and what am I going to do?"

"I should think," he responded, with a philosophic smile, "that when these people hitch their various names together in that way, linked sausage would be the most correct and consistent edible to place before them."

"Linked sausage, indeed!" she said, with emphasis; "perhaps you think you can get around your forgetfulness with a joke, but I can tell you it's no joke. I am always the victim of your negligence, and you think that everything is satisfactorily settled when you come out with your flimsy excuse—I forget it. I'd like to know where we'd be if I were to forget all the time?"

"We'd be a great deal worse off, my dear, because you never forget, and to that fact I attribute all the prosperity that we now enjoy. If you had forgotten, for instance, to follow up the advertisement that offered three pairs of one dollar and a quarter gloves for two dollars, I should have to give you one dollar and seventy-five cents. You have saved me that amount—one dollar and seventy-five cents—on your glove deal, and I think I can now afford to buy myself a pound of tobacco costing that amount. You see, you didn't forget my wants in your beautiful economy. You said to yourself: 'That dear, good-for-nothing husband of mine is running short on tobacco, and I'll just save him enough money on this glove purchase to lay in a stock. I wish you had purchased about 30 pairs.'

"Why, dear?" she asked, with a half-satisfied, inquiring gaze. "Why, because then you would have saved me twenty-one dollars and a half, and I would be in a position to lay in a much-needed topcoat."

teen smile. "No," he replied, "the quilt for luncheon."

"I will be the string on when we go home," she said, with a frown. "It will be the string around the glove. But then the luncheon will be to-morrow, and I suppose I'll have to go out and purchase a few pounds of..."

"Then buy the chops in the same spirit that you bought the gloves; you will thereby save two dollars and a half, with which I can buy a long-needed briar pipe in which to smoke the tobacco I am to purchase with the gold you saved on the glove deal."

"There," he said, tossing her the bundle gracefully, and kissing her in her tears, "you forgot that I stuck it in my overcoat pocket when the train started. There is only one woman that never forget her gloves, and you are lovelier than she, my dear."

There are situations in which a timid man cannot, out of consideration for his own safety, show the slightest fear. A writer describes such a situation on board a ship which was transporting a great number of coolies across the ocean, many of them desperate and brutal men.

One fearful-looking coolie aimed a blow at Lim with a broken basin, but before the blow could descend the dog brought the man down on his back and held him there. The two principal offenders were caught, their heads banged together until the fight was out of them and an explanation asked. Everybody wanted to talk at once, but the captain held up his hand till there was silence, and then called one man after another and heard each through an interpreter.

Her Dearest Friends. "She's as homely as a mud fence, but I can't see that she looks sickly. No, you think she'll never live to see her fortieth birthday, do you?" "I didn't say she'd never live to see it. I said she'd never see it."—Chicago Tribune.

Other poultry is not in very much demand yet.

Election day passed off very quietly here. Some little attempt at decoration was made as a few of the store had flags displayed. J. T. G. Carr had strung across the street at his store a canvas on which was printed "Vote early and trade at Carr's," which advice was evidently taken as the attendance at his auction showed a large crowd.

It is now over five months since the Indiantown fire, and one would naturally suppose that the actual fire had been stamped out long ago, although its traces remain. On Friday evening a blaze was discovered in the ruins of the old Indiantown Hotel. Sparks were issuing freely, and it was only with some trouble that the fire was stamped out.—Globe.

The shooting affair at Glassville last week in which Alex McKenzie was the victim, has proved to be more than accident. It is a clear case of suicide, so Coroner Welch found. It appears that McKenzie had been very despondent for several weeks out no one seems to know the cause. He had tied the gun to a tree and fastened a string to the trigger which he pulled, the shot going through his head. About $60 in cash was found upon his body, besides a bank book showing an account of $500 in the bank.

R. A. Estey reports a great activity in the woods this fall and the outlook is for an unusually large cut. One cut upon the Tobique this season is expected to reach 26,000,000, as compared with about 20,000,000 last year.—Gleaner.

The chief attraction in the village on election day was J. T. G. Carr's auction sale. He had procured the services of U. R. Hanson of Woodstock, and for real live work in the talking line this man is alright. The old expression that ladies will always follow up a bargain was not verified in this instance as the men did most of the bidding. A few ladies thought were in attendance and got splendid bargains. Mr. Carr got rid of much surplus good and purchasers got many things very cheap so all hands were satisfied.

European Nations eagerly Follow Course of events in the Transvaal in Search of an Opportunity.

The Paris correspondent of the Times writes: There is much uncertainty as to the real state of affairs in the Transvaal, and until the French know which way the cat will jump the common opinion is not very frankly expressed, and is therefore difficult to guess. All the new papers are outwardly hostile to Great Britain, but the editors of the chief organs to whom I have talked admit that they are with the English at bottom, although the traditions of the French press prevents them from saying so.

The view entertained by M. Delcasse, the Minister of Foreign Affairs are precisely the same, and it is nonsense to declare, as some of the Paris papers are doing, that France and Russia propose to intervene in Africa and help the Boers.

France is watching with great interest the attitude of the German Emperor with regard to the war. For some years past every successive French Cabinet has been hypnotized by the movements of this young potentate, just like some hysterical subject under the manipulation of a professional mesmerizer. Whatever Emperor William does or seems inclined to do calls for a great outcry here.

France which is emptying more and more, both politically and socially bids fair to become a mere hall of echoes. The French are inclined to believe that Emperor is no longer sympathetic with the Boers. Independent Republicanism was never really to his liking, and he has felt the fascination of that imperially-minded personage, Cecil Rhodes. The German Emperor does not and cannot regard the Boers as possible allies for any present or future scheme of German expansion in Africa. There reduction would enable him to treat with their victors on terms of do ut des, which have never been within his reach before.

Russia is entirely disinterested in the Transvaal. The Russian press denounces Great Britain on broad principles of morality and justice; a log must occasionally have its muzzle taken off to allow it to drink. The Russian newspapers' articles must be read between the lines, and sometimes "England" stands in them for "Russia." The French papers quote these articles, but they know their significance and value, for the French statesman are even better posted on the subject.

With Russia indifferent and Germany friendly, Great Britain has nothing to fear from France. Moreover, France has now but one plea, and that is the Paris Exhibition. Any statesman who would jeopardize the success of the show would bring about a revolution.

The friendly tone adopted by the United States towards the British also influences French opinion greatly, though not outwardly and visibly. If British success continues, I am certain the French will alter their tone altogether, and frankly leave the Boers to their fate.

Free War Maps.

We learn that every reader of the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal is this week receiving a large colored map of South Africa. To possess one of these maps when reading the war despatches is essential to intelligently appreciate the position of affairs. It is also announced that at the close of the war a revised map of Africa, will be issued by the Family Herald and Weekly Star for its readers. A comparison of the two will show Great Britain's gains by the present war. It certainly pays in these times to be on the safe side on that of that great paper. In addition to the map each subscriber receives on receipt of his subscription the two beautiful pictures, "Battle of Aint" and "Pussy Willows."

Address to Rev. J. L. Wetmore Who Comes to Hartland Baptist Church.

The farewell service of Rev. J. L. Wetmore took place on Sunday Oct. 29th. Text, Hebrews 13: 2, 21. At the conclusion of the service the following address was presented by Mr. B. W. Morgan of Feb. 11 of the church.

OUR BELOVED PASTOR AND FRIEND. It is with great reluctance that we are gathered here to hear your farewell as our pastor, but when we consider that this step taken by you has been in accordance with the guidance of Divine Providence, we must humbly submit and in so doing, we feel we cannot allow you to go from among us without first giving expression to the high esteem in which you are held, not only by those of us who had the honor of being connected with the church of which you have been pastor during the last three years, but also we who have been members of the congregation.

We have recognized in you a loving pastor a teacher of more than ordinary ability a confident adviser and true friend.

In addition to the above qualifications you have been a man whose life has been a stimulus to each of us not only in our religious life but in our business relations as well. We regret that it has not been your lot to remain with us and continue to carry on your good work which has been yours to accomplish during the last few years. However we trust that the blessing of Almighty God may follow you and yours in your new field of labor and that the efforts put forth there by you may be abundantly blessed in the salvation of souls for Christ's Kingdom.

Remember that as you go out from among us you carry with you the best wishes of one and all both young and old, of church congregation and community. You will have the earnest prayers of God's people here that His richest and choicest gift may rest upon you and yours in your new home and do not forget the Salt Springs Baptist Church shall at any and all times be pleased to hear of your future success and that a warm hand of Christian welcome is ever awaiting you at any time it is your lot to pass this way.

In expressing our feelings of sorrow that the relationship that has so long and so pleasantly bound us together is to be broken, we can but assure you that the benediction of your life here will long remain as a sweet memory with the people of this place.

Please bear to Mrs. Wetmore our kindest feelings of regret and esteem and for her, yourself and family accept our earnest wishes for your future happiness. (Signed on behalf of the church by James B. Anby and B. W. Morgan)

Rev. Mr. Wetmore in reply, said at the commencement of his ministry he had many friends, now he felt that their members had increased. He highly appreciated the expression of good will toward Mr. Wetmore and himself. These expressions he knows to be sincere. Much of the success that had attended his efforts was due to the hearty co-operation which he has received from the members of the church and congregation. He urged the people to rally around their new pastor and give to him a hearty and undivided support.

Mr. Wetmore leaves to-morrow for Hartland.

West Side Notes.

Will! After a silence of many "months" Nicodemus wishes to assure the "Tiser" people that he is still on top of the heap and still manufacturing news on the West Side.

Interesting news in this section has been for some time, like the water in the St. John river, at a very low mark, but now that the West Side social season is about to open, when the inevitable krominole crank will drench the war paint, and the Short Notice Band will hold their customary midnight "Mistakes" there will surely be no lack of interesting matter for my department.

Master Emery Shaw and his little sister, Pearl, will leave on Friday for Nashua N. H., where they will join their parents who preceded them some months ago.

The election of Wakefield's county Councilors was held last Tuesday, and resulted in the return of Saw and Bell. Fred Harding is again doomed to act as third Councilor for another term. The party line was drawn pretty tight in some sections, but this resulted in a material change on either ticket.

Some few weeks ago, A. B. Boyer having decided to enter the U. S. B. resigned his position as teacher in the Victoria school and was succeeded in that capacity by Mr. Clark of Centreville. To know the general "Gone" is to know his friend and his dear friends by the dozens already.

Henry K. York left for St. John on Tuesday last, where he will seek employment. Henry's many friends were loath to see him go, but it is the usual tendency of young men to drift to the city for employment.

Mrs. H. Bakar who was visiting her son at Presque Isle was called home last week by the report that her daughter, Mrs. Oriver, had the scarlet fever. The lady in question was quite ill for a few days, but is now fully recovered.

S. R. Boyer and lady and Miss Alice drove down from Florenceville on Tuesday and made a pleasant visit among friends in Victoria.

A. W. M. Ann and his little girl, baby Ann, and Miss Tom, who have been visiting in Victoria several days, left on Wednesday for Montreal. From thence they will return to Mr. M. Ann's home in Kildon, B. C.

Last Tuesday night was Halloween and the West Side kiddies, especially those at Victoria, indulged in all the frolics and pranks that the productive brain of a 21st Century (?) could conceive of. In fact, the congregations at the Corner succeeded in upsetting the "government" generally.

Mrs. Holmes has gone to board with Russell E. yet in the "Widow" and has leaves her old home the "Yellow Aster Cottage" vacant.

We were favoured with a good rain in the fore part of the week and everybody was willing to endure a seasonal rainy such for once in their lives. The West Side is one of the most habitually "watered" sections of the County but the unusual long delay in the weather department was edging on the springs and wells.

I will close by congratulating Brighton on the choice of Richardson and Phillips as Councilors for the coming term.

Andover Notes.

The long looked for rain arrived on Saturday and rained steadily until Sunday evening. All were delighted especially the farmers.

Andover has at last decided that it should afford a real Post-Office. The site has been secured directly opposite the old Office. A. E. Kupkey with three others are talking of erecting a building at their own expense, one part of which will be rented for a Post Office and the other as a dwelling-house.

Mr. D. R. Boddell left yesterday on a business trip to Montreal.

A meeting of the Church Corporation of Andover parish met in Fruit Church last evening. It was decided that it was advisable to sell the glebe land in Biddisville, and also that the old church in Andover be taken down and the lumber utilized in making a horse shed.

The man, who a few weeks ago made a disturbance in front of Mr. T. J. Carter's office, has been found to be well known by the police in St. John. He was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary where he was taken last week.

Buttercups have been recently seen in the fields showing what beautiful weather we are having.

J. P. Murray has about completed the horse house and the frame of the second one is up. This is opposite Mr. McVetter's store.

Our men in May had sold small pieces of paper and cashed at the banks we are offering for paper and small pieces of money, bank tickets, clothes lines, etc. Combs of all kinds, paper, etc. Estey & Curtis, Medical Hall.

Soldiers Insured.

The following letter is being sent to all the members of the Canadian contingent:

Montreal, October 23rd, 1899.

To the officers and men of the Canadian contingent of the Transvaal: As a result of negotiations for some time ending with this company, we have this day concluded an arrangement with Sir Charles Finlay, Bart., who by his assistance a sum of £100,000 has been advanced to the Canadian contingent in the Transvaal to be paid to each man, or to their heirs, the sum of one thousand dollars is to be paid by this company, or receiving satisfactory proof of such while engaged with the enemy in Africa, or death within thirty days of engagement, or for loss of both feet or both hands, or both eyes. In case of loss of one foot, or one hand, or one eye, five hundred dollars will be paid.

This is desired as far as practicable before the departure of the men, so that they may be able to make their own arrangements for the future. The office of this company, 185 St. James Street, Montreal, by letter or wire, that they may be recorded in the company's books.

KEITH & PLUMMER

The Companion for the Rest of 1899.

The principal attractions offered by The Yuletide Companion for the remaining weeks of 1899 will make the reader's month water for good things to be served up in the volume for 1900. In early issues of November will appear "Hints on Reading" by James Bryce, author of "The American Commonwealth"; also a story by Frank R. Stockton entitled, "The Wolf and the Wheelbarrow." In the issue of November 16th will begin W. D. Howells' serial story, "A Pocketful of Money," and this will be followed by another serial by Jane Barlow, the celebrated English writer, entitled, "Dinno and the Dams." In the same issue containing these serials, or following them, will appear "Some Reminiscences" by Ex-Postmaster Gray; an excellent article on "The Growing Child," by Dr. Mary P. Jacob of New York; a remonstrance sketch by Bret Harte, of the early California experiences, under the title, "How I Went to the Mines," a story of good old times, "Society Maria at School," by Mary E. Watkins and under the head of, "For Life and Liberty," the narrative of a blood-curdling adventure in Darkest Africa, by Henry M. Stanley. Those new subscribers who send in their subscriptions now for the 1900 volume will receive all this year's November and December issues to the time of subscription, free, and then the 52 issues of the new year to January 1, 1901.

A Good Cure.

THE GROSSER DYSPEPSIA CO. LTD. ST. JOHN N. B.

GENTLEMEN—For over one year I suffered with what the four doctors I consulted in N. B., called dyspepsia. For hours at a time every day I suffered the most excruciating pains. The cramps would double me up so that I would have to grope, I would vomit up every thing I ate for days at a time. I was terribly weak and so weak that I could scarcely raise a wash tub to my mouth. Nothing I could eat would do me any permanent good. Finally a friend persuaded me to try Grosser's Botanic Dyspepsia Syrup. I took four bottles and am now able to do a good day's work. It is six weeks since I finished the last bottle. I eat anything I ever was fond of and still find no inconvenience. I send you this voluntary testimonial, hoping that you may use it and that some one who reads it may be benefited by the use of Grosser's Botanic Dyspepsia Syrup as I have been.

Yours Truly, RICHARD JACKSON, Hartland, N. B., Aug. 30th, 1899. 131
