EDITORS "ADVOCATE."

A letter appears in the last issue of the Advocate, over the signature of "Wm. Murray," embodying a form of Affidavit made by Mr. Murray before "Alex. Atchison, J. P." Permit me to call the attention of such of our J. P.'s as are not conversant with the law to the "Act for the Suppression of Unlawful and Extra-Judicial Oaths," and particularly to SECTION 2, which reads: "Any Justice of the Peace or other person administering or receiving, or causing, or allowing to be received or administered any Oath, Affidavit, or solemn affirmation contrary to the provisions of this Act, shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and shall be liable to be imprisoned for any term not exceeding three months, or to a fine not exceeding fifty dollars, at the discretion of the Courts."

LONDON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

LONDON, ENGLAND, Jan'y 28, 1880.

Consistent to the last in its disastrous character, the old year passed away amid wild weather, and a succession of gales which did much mischief to property, and in one instance attended by an appalling sacrifice of human life. Sad, indeed, in many ways have been the lessons this country has had to learn in 1879; for what with war, bad trade and worse harvests, few things, social or agricultural, can be said to have prospered, and it has been a very Pandora's box of evils, but like it, they are fast to believe in having hope at the bottom. Certainly the past year takes with it few regrets, and if the horizon does not seem altogether cloudless at the present moment, it is not unreasonable to anticipate better times, as a repetition of the painful experiences of the past twelve months can hardly be deemed probable. The start, it must be allowed, in agricultural affairs is in the worst state. Frost set in early, very shortly after the termination of a protracted harvest and consequently much land intended to be sown with wheat could not be planted. This was especially the case in the midlands and fen districts, and a report, recently received from these localities, affirms that only about one-half of the intended quantity of wheat has been sown. As, however, the frost has now disappeared, some at any rate, of the losses will be speedily made up. No opinion can yet be hazarded as to the effect of the past severe weather upon the growing wheat in this country, as the plant is only just beginning to appear above the surface; but it may be remarked that in France increased apprehensions are felt on this point. Roots have been much injured by frost, and it will be difficult and expensive matter for stockowners to tide over the winter, as the many stores of food are rapidly diminishing. The damp weather at the beginning of the week has deteriorated the condition of freshly-threshed grain, but the quantity offered for sale at Mark Lane has been very small, and prices have not undergone any notable reduction. Last Monday's list of arrivals into London showed only about 10,000 qrs. of foreign wheat, but the import has materially increased since then, last Friday's return giving 65,500 qrs. Although not speedily made up, the undertaking extremely hazardous, having regard to the fact that the price of wheat in this country is by no means unduly low. With an abnormally depressed level of value, such as existed during the first half of the past year, speculative manipulations such as those in question, could hardly fail of success; but having a rise of 10s to 12s per qr., the possibility of a "corner" is materially diminished.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 28, 1880.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

TERMINATED THE JANUARY SITTINGS ON

Saturday last, at two p. m., after a session of five days, during which a large amount of work was performed,

the Councilors devoting themselves to their duties with praiseworthy diligence. The efforts of the Committee on the Public Accounts

to keep the expenditure in connection with the gaol within proper limits, as well as to scan closely all other public accounts, is very necessary

and proper, and our representatives will receive the commendation of the people for so doing. Did they do otherwise they would lay themselves open to censure, for the people look up to them as the custodians of their interests. In the expenditure. This could be more effectually carried out were the suggestions embodied in the Report submitted to the Council put into practice.

In connection with heating

the gaol we have more than once directed attention to the unwisely policy

pursued with reference to the prisoners, in allowing them to spend their time in idleness. Instead of the cost of cutting the wood for the gaol being a public charge, this work

ought to be performed by prisoners

who occupy the gaol at the public expense. Yet notwithstanding that this has been agitated in the Press,

and has also been referred to by a

Judge in Court, who recommended

the change, things remain as they were, to the cost of the ratepayers,

many of whom find it difficult to pay their heavy taxes annually. It is for the people, through their representatives at the Council Board, to insist that this shall be done, and that speedily.

The Butter Question.

This topic was naturally discussed at considerable length at a recent meeting of the Illinois State Dairy-men's Association, and from a paper read by a Mr. C. C. Ball, of Rock Falls, Wis., we make the following extracts:—Can summer butter be so handled and packed that it will retain its freshness and sweetness for winter use? Whether butter can be thus preserved so as to be good, sweet, old butter, without rancidity or bad flavor, is a question which we believe can be answered in the affirmative, and we propose to discuss it under two heads, viz:—As to place of storage, the package, and the contents.

1. As to the place of storage.—The first requirement is that it must be a cool place. A cellar or other apartment the temperature of which rises above 60 degrees Fahrenheit, we do not believe will keep butter good under any conditions. Most cellars show a temperature of 65 to 70 degrees. A deep cellar, protected from the hot rays of the sun, and remaining uniformly below the temperature of 60 degrees, sweet and properly ventilated, is without doubt one of the very best places of storage for butter.

2. The package.—Butter, to remain sweet, no matter what the temperature, must be preserved from contact with air. In midwinter, even butter exposed to their, will become bad; in summer this will occur in much less time. The perfect butter package, therefore, will be air and water tight. The butter must be immersed (surrounded) by very strong pure brine—or, possibly, as some recommend, by strong brine with a little saltpetre and refined sugar added. It matters little what the shape, size or material of the package is, provided this object is obtained. As it was intimated at the beginning of this paper, butter can only remain sweet, and must be expected to lose a certain aroma and freshness of new butter. No long-kept butter can be expected to remain in the class of fancy butter. A fancy or expensive package, therefore, is hardly in place in handling butter of this grade unless it is really better than a cheaper one, and is so accepted by the trade. Now we know of no style of package so acceptable to the trade in butter, all things considered, for accomplishing the end desired, than the old style oak firkin. Properly prepared by packing in hot brine, afterwards in cold, and handled in the approved methods, we consider it quite as reliable as any other, and decidedly cheaper than any other we know of. We express this opinion with our present knowledge of the trials made in this direction.

3. As to the contents.—The first thing to be said under this head is that butter to keep must be good butter—butter well handled from the milking to the packing—and nothing but butter. It is well understood that rancidity comes from that in the butter which is not butter—fat, and the butteric acid which develops chemically, and the development of which is greatly hastened by bad handling; by the presence of casein, buttermilk, water or other foreign substances not butter. The jar should be shallow, and packed down with salt, over the jar placed an earthen plate, then over the top of that placed about two inches of salt, then a board and set the box away. In this way the butter had an additional protection against the changes of atmosphere there may be in a common cellar, the butter being doubly excluded from all air. When the steel trier probed it at our fair something new had made its appearance to our committee. The butter was hard and firm as when made, and retained all the rich aroma it ever had, and became well ripened. The creamy buttermilk taste it first had had all disappeared. Here I have a success from my experience in the use of dry salt upon the outside of the package, by keeping an ever cool temperature in the butter, and the butter in a place that it could lose none of its natural dampness. The salt proves to be cheaper and better than ice.

Diphtheria in Russia.

SLAYS 40,000 CHILDREN.
The ravages of diphtheria in Russia have been truly horrible. Originating in Bessarabia, this horrible disease has laid its grip epidemically upon thirteen of the government districts, and in the Caucasus alone no less than 40,000 children have been slain by it. The Russian, however, does not fold his hands in the presence of gigantic disaster, and exclaim, like our friends the Turk, "It is the will of Allah."—A Christian nationality, however, low its present grade of culture, always possesses the germ of civilization in its conviction that no evil whatever can possibly be the will of the source of all good. A plan for a general campaign—a Russian aggression—upon the dreadful epidemic has been worked out by Professor Byströf and adopted by a commission of experts to whose examination it was submitted. We learn that there is something else besides Nilism occupying the Russian mind when we read that it is proposed within the next fortnight to dispatch 300 selected physicians and 300 Sisters of Mercy to Potosi for the doctoring and nursing of those seized by the disease. Each physician is to receive 500 rubles for travelling expenses and 100 rubles a month as salary, while each sister receives 100 rubles for cost of journey and 25 rubles as monthly pay. The resolutions of the Commission on Diphtheria have been laid before the General Assembly of the "Red Cross" for approbation.

TURNIP GRIDDLE GREASER.—My new cook uses a small flat turnip, cut smooth, slightly dipped in lard, and has hardly a bit of pancake smudge in the kitchen. For the Little Folks.

Gipsy's Arithmetic Lesson.

A TRUE DOG STORY.

BY MISS M. E. WINSLOW.

A curly dog was Gipsy. And knew a thing or two. Affectionate and frisky. And many a trick he'd do; Stood upright in the corner. March straight across the floor. When told, he'd shut the door. While standing on his hind feet. With two spary paws or more.

When Gipsy's little master asked him to school each day, "I was such a bad boy," he'd say. "I was such a bad boy," he'd say. "I was such a bad boy," he'd say.

One day the boy's "example" Taxed all his little brain. The rule he had forgotten. The figures were not plain. He poked up his forehead. And whispered low and low. But still the sum was "crooked."

"The driver won't go," "The answer was mistaken," "The book was always so."

Poor Gipsy's furry forehead Looked wrinkled and distressed. With his curly tail wagging. He his sympathy expressed; Then from a hidden corner Came the cleverest of dogs.

Where he kept his bones and buttons And all his precious stores. Brought forth three tiny mousies And piled them on the floor.

Extended close beside them His little paws he crossed. His bright eyes wisely winked. In reverie he seemed lost; Then gravely brought one mouseie To George and one to me.

But held the other firmly As pressed as dog could be; And thus solved his "example" In the simple "rule of three."

Minnie's New Year's Gift.

"Mother gave me a Bible last New Year's," said a little girl, complacently, "and Aunt Lou gave Cousin Harry one at the same time. Just look at them now, and see the difference!"

Harry's was worn. Its gilt edges were tarnished, and the newness was gone from the cover, but it looked as if it had been read very often. Here and there I saw pencil-marks near favorite verses, and in one or two places it seemed as if tears might have fallen. Little Harry Gordon had become a Christian lately, and his Bible had evidently been very precious to him.

Minnie said, triumphantly, after I had finished my look at Harry's, "Now, see mine!" She unfolded the tissue paper from it, and there it was, just as fresh and fair and uninjured as when it came out of the shop.

"I've never had it out of the drawer but once," said Minnie, "and that was to show to somebody."

"Minnie," said I, "if your father were away from home, and should send you a letter, telling you just what he wanted you to do and be, would it be good treatment never to break the seal, and to lay it away in a drawer unread? Would it not be better to take it out every day and to read it over and over, trying each time to obey its injunctions?"

"Yes," said Minnie, blushing as she began to say my meaning.

"This is God's letter to you, my love. Like the man who folded away his talent in a napkin, you have folded up your precious Bible. Hereafter, my child, use it as God wants you to."

"Search the Scriptures, for in them you think ye have eternal life, and they are they which testify of Me."

A GOOD HORSE.—"Wind," says an old horseman, "is the grand secret of a good horse." Good lungs will cover a multitude of faults, while on the other hand perfection of shape and form are useless when the wind is out. The chest, therefore, in all cases, should be large and capacious. It may vary somewhat in shape, according to the service to which the horse is to be put. If he is apt to be kept for slow work and heavy draw-

What to Teach.

Rev. Charles Brooks, father of the State normal schools in America, was asked by a teacher this question: "What shall I teach my pupils?" He answered, "Teach them thoroughly these five things: 1. Rev. Charles Brooks, father of the State normal schools in America, was asked by a teacher this question: "What shall I teach my pupils?" He answered, "Teach them thoroughly these five things: 1. To live religiously. 2. To think comprehensively. 3. To reckon mathematically. 4. To converse fluently and, 5. To write grammatically. If you successfully teach them these five things, you will surely have done your duty to your pupils, to their parents, to your country, and to yourself."

SEWING MACHINES.

1,300,000 IN USE.

The only MACHINE which received the FIRST PRIZE, A GOLD MEDAL, at the last World's Fair in Paris.

The only MACHINE which received TWO DIPLOMAS OF HONOR and TWO MEDALS OF MERIT, at the Centennial Exhibition, at Philadelphia in 1876.

And the only MACHINE which ever received the FIRST PRIZE for Sewing Machines at the Centennial Exhibition.

THESE JUSTLY CELEBRATED SEWING MACHINES HAVE BEEN GREATLY REDUCED IN PRICE, so that for CASH, notwithstanding the increase of Tariff, one can be obtained at about the same price as the ordinary Cheap Machines usually sell for on time.

The principal qualities which recommend them over the Common Machines in use, are: 1. They are simple and easy to run. 2. They are durable and will last for years. 3. They are light and portable. 4. They are cheap.

THEY RUN LIGHTER AND MAKE LESS NOISE, AND ARE MORE DURABLE THAN ANY OTHER MACHINE.

But most important of all they make THE MOST PERFECT STITCH obtainable with a Lock Stitch Machine, as a comparison with the work of any other Sewing Machine will prove.

MACHINES sold on Monthly Payments, and at LOW PRICES FOR CASH. All Orders addressed to our Principal Office, 20 King St., will be promptly attended to.

A GOOD ACCOUNT.—"To sum up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters, taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since, without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it for their benefit."
