Handicapped.

Parents often wonder why their children do not take more interest and make better progress in music. Sometimes they blame the teacher and sometimes the pupil, while in many cases neither the one nor the other is to blame. Both are handicapped by the inferior instrument on which the pupil has to practice. Perhaps there is no instrument at all, and the practicing has to be done at the teacher's house. This is equally unsatisfactory.

Denial of the Story of Disaster—A

Three-Days' Gale on the Lake.

Port Arthur, Oct. 27.-A report was in circulation on Saturday evening that the steamship Huronic had been rammed by a whaleback and sunk. A wave of relief swept over the town later when the report was contradicted last night, the departure of the Huronic having been delayed at Sarnia.

A gale swept Lake Superior for three days, compelling vessels to seek shelter where it offered. The Monarch and America lay in port on Thursday night, and cleared on Friday morning, the Monarch for Sarnia and the America for Duluth. The ships arriving in port on Friday and Saturday reported having a very rough passage. On Saturday morning the storm signals were hoisted, warning navigators of an easterly gale. The storm swept down in the afternoon, and in the evening a howling storm raged, the high winds sweeping the accompanying rain along in waves and sheets.

Mr. George Edminson, of Peterboro, has been gazetted a local judge Hon. A. G. Blair in an interview urges the need for vigorous railway construction in Western Canada. Mr. Justice Lount, of Toronto, has been granted three months' leave of absence owing to ill health. Mason Logan, the hero of a highway robbery story at Niagara Falls, now confesses that he did the trick himself. E. W. Rathbun, of Deseronto, has offered to deliver to the Kingston, Ont., City Council for the poor, 50 cords of wood at $2 50 per cord, at Napanee station.

New York, Oct. 27.-With tracks comparatively free from passenger raffic all the anthracite roads rushed trains eastward on Sunday to fill the gap in the coal marts caused by the great strike. More than 10,000 tons reached the receiving yards, and piers n Jersey City, and its neighborhood. That coal will be divided into small lots and put on the retail market today with the understanding that consumers shall not be required to pay more than $6 50 a ton for it in any instance. Some dealers even went so far as to promise they would sell it to the poor at the rate of 10 cents a bucket, which really would be $6 60 a ton.

Many dealers who still have coal bought at high prices during the strike will still charge $2 50 a ton more than the dealers who are handling the new supply.

CAR SHORTAGE. Railroad officials declare that the indications of a serious car shortage throughout the country are becoming more and more pronounced, and the outlook is causing no little apprehension, says the Journal of Commerce. The movement of freight, both east and westbound, is reported to be unusually heavy. Under normal conditions the principal lines would find their facilities heavily taxed. The termination of the coal strike however, and the resumption of mining has resulted in abnormal demand for cars of all kinds suitable to carry coal by the anthracite roads and the heavy coal shipments are expected to severely positions.

ADVANCE IN MINERS' WAGES. Sharon, Pa., Oct. 27.—Westerman, Filler & Co., of this city, operating five bituminous coal mines in this county on Saturday granted their miners an advance in wages of eight cents per ton, for the run of the mine. The firm employs 600 miners. Other firms in the eastern part of Mercer County have also given their miners a similar advance. All told 1,500 men are benefited in this district.

A DANGEROUS OCCUPATION. The resumption of work has claimed a life for each day it has been going on, despite the additional care the men have been taking, as advised by President Mitchell and the mine inspectors. Thomas Doran was killed at the William A. colliery at Duryea on Thursday, John A. Davis at the Mahanoy City colliery yesterday, and today Henry Rupple, who was injured at Duryea on Thursday, died. PRESENTATION TO MITCHELL. Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 26.-This afternoon President Mitchell was presented with a gold badge and gold watch by the Polish, Lithuanian and Slavish members of the United Mine Workers. The presentation took place at President Mitchell's headquarters and a large crowd listened to the speech of presentation and acceptance.

A large force of men are at work today clearing up the mines for general resumption tomorrrow. Nearly all the collieries are now in shape for work, and there will be a heavy output of coal tomorrow. The number of Parnell's Sister Wants to Know Chicago Men in the Colonization Where Funds Raised for the Late Leader Have Gone.

> London, Oct. 27.-The apprehension with which the Government views the condition of Ireland can be judged from the fact that the chief constable of Birmingham has issued a warning to all arm and ammunition manufacturers not to sell goods for shipment to the proclaimed districts of Ireland. A special order has also been issued that even to such parts of Ireland as are not proclaimed, shipments of arms must be clearly marked as such, under pain of stringent penalties. With this echo of Ireland's stormiest days comes the announcement of the release of the three Joyces who were undergoing life sentences at Maryborough jail for the murder of a whole family of a similar name in 1882. THREE MURDERERS PARDONED. The crime was well known in those days as the Maamtrasna massacre. Ten persons were originally convicted. Nine of them were sentenced to death, but six had their sentences commuted to life imprisonment. The last three of these convicts have now been released, owing to the clemency of the new lord lieutenant of Ireland, the Earl of Dudley. The Earl and Countess of Dudley, during their inaugural trip through Galway, were approached by the wives and other relatives of the imprisoned men. wives begged that they might have a chance to meet their husbands again after 20 years of separation. One of the women seized aly Dudley's hand and wept bitterly, as she begged for her intercession. Lord Dudley was three men followed.

THE PARNELL FUND. Mrs. Dickinson, sister of the late Charles Stewart Parnell, has published bitter correspondence between herself and John Redmond, chairman of the United Irish League and of the Irish parliamentary party, in which she demands an accounting of the funds

A proposal being made that the Parnells and Mrs. Dickinson could reside in the park at Avondale, Mrs. Dickinson wrote: "As to the condition that any members of the family should be allowed to reside at Avondale should they desire to do so, that is to say, on sufferance, as either caretakers or gatekeepers, all I can say is that think the family has suffered enough through the murder of their brother Charles, through pecuniary difficulties and through the loss of their ancestral home for the good of their country, without the insult of Avondale being placed at their service on such terms. London, Oct. 27.-The last ceremonies connected with the inauguration of the reign of King Edward occurred yesterday when the King, accompanied by Queen Alexandra, the Prince of Wales the President's commission which is to and almost all the members of the family, drove to St. Paul's Cathedral and offered up thanks for the recovery of his health which had enabled him to be crowned. The weather was rainy and small crowds marked the royal progress through the metropolis. At Temple Bar, the Lord Mayor of London and the corporation, met the King and escorted him to the cathedral. In the nave of St. Paul's were gathered several thousand persons, including Premier Balfour, leading members of the nobility, almost all the members of the cabinet and foreign ambassadors to Great Britain, among

In spite of the rain King Edward ordered that the carriages be kept open, and Queen Alexandra bowed and smiled from beneath a small umbrella.

The pardon of the a fire at the Guildhall, which contains priceless city relics and an immense library, would have caused a commotion, but occurring so nearly in con-junction with the King's visit, the feeling of alarm was intensified. Many members of the corporation and a number of visitors were still in the precincts when the alarm was given. These hurriedly departed to make way for several hundred firemen, who dragged ladders over the crimson cloth, on which the King had so recently walked. Crowds of servants, removing the luncheon debris and carrying gold cups and other signs of the feast, rushed hurriedly to and fro amid the police, soldiers and aldermen wearing their costly robes. The fire is said to have been caused by a fused hopeful that they will be abe to complete the preliminary arrangements at one sitting. So far as the operators and the miners have expressed themselves, they have indicated a willingness to subordinate their desires in the matter of time and place of hearing to the wishes of the commission. It is the general understanding that practically all the meetings for the taking of testimony will be held in the anthracite regions, and it is believed that the commission will be able to start work during the present week. Another preliminary question which will require attention is that as to questions to be taken up by the commission. Mr. Mitchell, who reached Washington early this morning, accompanied by District President Fahey, will press for a very general inquiry, while it is understood that the operators will seek to restrict the inquiry. MORE MINES WORKING. Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 27. — More mines are in operation in the anthracite region today than at any time since May 12 last, when the strike be-

Miss Helen Clergue Officiated-15,-000 Persons Sat Down at the Banquet.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 26. -The great water power canal of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company, on the American side, of Sault Ste. Marie, has been opened. The first water started through the turbine engines at noon yesterday, and with it a gust of enthusiasm seemed to strike the city. All business was practically suspended, and the inhabitants of the two cities celebrated the event. The day was replete with important inci-dents, but the greatest of these was when the contractors, under whose direction the work of building the power canal, the power house and the installation of the enormous amount of machinery, turned the completed plant over to Francis H. Clergue, represent-ing the Consolidated Lake Superio: Company.

TURNED THE GOLDEN SWITCH. Mr. Clergue, after thanking the contractors, relieved them of further responsibility, and stepping aside, gave way to his sister, Miss Helen Clergue, who stepped to the center of the large platform adjoining the power house, and turned the golden switch, which opened the gates at the foot of the canal. At once the waters of Lake Superior rushed into the turbines, starting the machinery, and putting finishing touches to the herculean task which has taken four years to

As Miss Clergue turned the switch, Mr. Clergue, the great promoter, remarked that in doing so she was put-ting the waters of Lake Superior through the wheels of a great enter-prise. Those on the platform stood with bared heads waiting for a few seconds, and then a shout went up as the electric lights sent out their announcement that the electric current of the power house had been brought into life.

Mr. Clergue complimented the engineers and contractors upon the thor-oughness with which the work had been done. He said the confidence which had been placed in their hands had not been misused, although at many times they had stood nearly in the face of loss. In closing his brief remarks, he assured them of his high appreciation and wished them success in their future undertakings. George Rice, president of the E. Smith Company, of Philadelphia, which built the two sections of the canal, replied to Mr. Clergue's acceptance, He wished the industry success in behalf of the contractors and thanked the Consolidated Lake Superior Company, Mr. Clergue, its chief engineer, H. Von Schon, and the board of directirs for the hearty manner in which they had stood by the contractors.

BANQUET FOR 15,000. Immediately after the opening of the canal, the fourth floor of the power house, which is half a mile long and several hundred feet wide, was thrown open, and the residents of the Soos, together with the visitors, were given a banquet. Fifteen thousand persons participated. Two great tables, each half a mile long, were spread, and an army of waiters provided for their

There seemed to be millions of flags strung from wall to wall on every girder the entire length of the structure. Mr. Clergue, as he passed and saw the multitude accepting the hospitali-

YOU CAN TEST

And Find Out for Yourself Whether or Not You Are Becoming a Victim of Painful, Fatal Kidney Disease.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

It is not necessary for you to consult a specialist on kidney disease to find out if you are a victim of this dreadful derangement. You can test your kidneys at home, and satisfy yourself on this point.

Allow some urine to stand in a glass for 24 hours, and if at the end of that time you find sediment in the bottom of the vessel you can be sure that your kidneys are diseased.

Pains in the small of the back, and smarting when urinating, frequent desire to urinate, especially at night, loss of flesh and strength, are other marked symptoms which indicate kidney disorders. Make this test for yourself, Consider whether you have any of these symptoms, and if you conclude that your kidneys are out of begin at once to use Dr. Chase's Kid-ney-Liver Pills. They will bring ney-Liver Pills. prompt relief and will thoroughly cure

On account of their direct action on the kidneys, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure ailments of the kidneys when ordinary kidney medicines fail. They have proven their efficacy in many thousands of cases, and are indorsed by more people than any other kidney medicine extant.

Mr. James McGuire, blacksmith, Mount Forest, Ont., states: "In my work as blacksmith there is probably more straining and exposure to sudden changes of temperature than in any other trade. This no doubt accounts for so many blacksmiths suffering with backache and kidney disease.

"I was troubled a great deal with my kidneys and the bending over my work so much caused great suffering from backache. I found Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pil's the best treatment I could secure for this trouble. They act directly and promptly, and I would not think of using any other medi-Iroquois Hotel. At the head table were the Philadelphia capitalists, and at the right side of Mr. Clergue sat Hon. J. Israei Tarte, former Canadian minister of public works, and at his left sat William Livingstone, president of the Lake Carriers' Association. The banquet was interspersed with witty remarks by the party, selections by the famous Calumet and Hecla band, to whose music the party sang "Cod Save whose music the party sang "God Save the King," "Star Spangled Banner" and "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

A NOISY WELCOME. The day opened with an uproarious salute. At daybreak every craft on the river, every factory on both sides of the river and every bell in the town sent out its noisiest and the guns of old Fort Brady boomed. Chief Engineer Von Schon's promise of a surprise was a surprise indeed, and the half hour of racket got nearly every slumberer at the Soo out of bed and up betimes for the big show.

The morning, before the opening ceremonies, was devoted to a grand parade of military and civic organizations. These were reviewed by Mr. Clergue and his party from the Iroquois veranda. The line of march ended at the power house, where the military companies surrounded the stands and the ends gathered to witness the inauguration of the enterprise. The industrial parade during the afternoon would have done credit to a city many times the size of Sault Ste. Marie. There were 400 floats, representing the business and industries of both sides of the river, and showing the growth from the time of the Indians and their rude modes of travel to the latest pattern of 1,000 motive of the Algoma Central Railway. There was a large band of Indians in line with squaws and papooses, dogs, sleds and tepees. The naval parade on the river just before and during the opening exercises, was worth traveling many miles

The first power from the new plant was used to operate a street car on the American side. Dr. F. A. C. Perrine, president of Stanley Electrical Manufacturing Company, came over from Pittsfield, Mass., to see the first

ON SUNDAY. Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 26 .- Bright and early this morning the three special cars occupied by the Philadelphia capitalists were joined by Mr. Clergue's private car, and a trip was made over the lines of the Algoma Central and Hudson Bay Railways, visiting the Helen and Josephine ore mines, the Gertrude and Elsie nickel mines, the lumber and logging camps of the Michipicoten range and Ontario.

A Cherished Autograph. Windsor, Ont., Oct. 27.-Miss Alma E. Oliver, a young Windsor girl whose death occurred at Hamilton two months ago, shortly before her death wrote her name across the face of a $2 bill, and by a strange dictate of fate, it turned up among friends. Clerk - Rochford laid it aside and brought it to the dead girl's father, James Oliver, of Windsor, last night. Mr. Oliver identified the writing as that of his daughter.

The deceased was in the employ of the Bell Telephone Company, at Hamilton up to the time of her death and the father stated that he thought his daughter and another young lady friend had written their names on bills at the same time with a view to seeing whether either of the two would ever turn up. The bill is still almost new, and indicates that the signature was placed there but a short time before the young lady's death.

Reality of Stage Mechanics. many years ago since even the simple device of depicting a snowstorm was regarded as an achievement. I remember on one occasion I was out with y 'ten twent' and thirt' company, playing 1epertoire, and in one melodrama-I don't even now recall the name, for it was pirated play-I took the part of an old man whose daughter, the heroine, had been abducted. I was supposed to be blind, and my strong scene was in the third act, when I went out into a snow storm in search of my daughter. was lying in a drift, and as I hobbled across the stage, I kept crying: 'Me che-ild! Where is me che-ild?' Well it was early in the season, and the play was the first attraction at that theater. The scene painters had been at work, and had dropped several paint brushes, hammers and other articles into the sheet that held the snowstorm. As the stage hands in the flies shook the sheets to make the snow come out a couple of hammers came down and just missed me by an inch. I was blind, and didn't dare to look up, but when a monkey wrench just grazed my temple I had presence of mind enough to yell: 'See yonder moon! The storm is over.' The stage hands took their cue and let up on me, and the audi-ence never stopped to question how a blind man could see yonder moon." ## Conforming.

Foot soles are curved and soft.

Shoe soles are flat and hard! Breaking in new shoes invariably means shaping the foot soles to the shoe soles, till wear moulds the insoles to the curves of the feet. The RESILIA is the only shoe which conforms to the shape of the foot sole immediately, from the first moment it is borne upon, and without any "breaking in."

It does this through the compressible nature of the resilient, elastic, cushion centre-sole, which is placed between the leather insole and outsole, instead of the usual scrap filling.

A Gentleman of Methodical Habits

A gentleman of methodical habits, who had adopted the practice of retaining a copy of every prescription issued by his family physician, became interested as time went on to note that the same ingredients were pretty certain to be prescribed at some point of the treatment of every case. For a poor appetite or a sore throat, for restlessness which disturbed the baby's sleep, and for troubles which blast the aged grandparents, the favorite medy was always turning up, although slightly modified from time to time, and used often in conjunction with others. One day our friend happened to observe that the formula of Celery King was almost identical with the latest prescription he had received from his own physician, and in some surprise he stated the case to him. The family doctor, after listening to him, "The case is about this way: Whenever there is a disturbance of the functions of the body, no matter of what nature, it is pretty certain to be accomplished by a derangement of the stomach and the blood. When these are all right the patient gets well. That particular formula that you have ob-served me write more frequently is the result of an age of careful experiment, and is pretty generally agreed upon now by all educated physicians, who keep up with the times. The discovery is the medicine that nine out of every ten persons require, and I have no doubt that making it so easy to obtain, as the proprietors of Celery King have done, it will tend to prohuman life during the present generation.'

The freight running regularly be-tween Petrolea and London was on its backward trip, and it had been intend-ed to take the siding at Komoka to permit the fast Windsor freight to pass without delay. When very near Komoka on an upgrade, a coupling parted and the cars plunged back down the grade and met the engine of the freight, which was pounding along trying to make speed for the grade. The freight, pulled by engine 324, struck the caboose of the other train with tremendous force, crashing clean through it and then leapt into the ditch, pulling with it eight cars. A car of logs, which was a few cars behind the engine, received such a jolt that the logs were pitched forward, breaking into and smashing the contents of the cars ahead. The cars of the train in front were also considerably damaged by the bad shaking up

The others arrested in connection with the theft are Lillian Lovell, whose picture is in the rogues' gallery; Arthur Weber, George Stanton and Robert Thomas. Weber is a fairly well known jockey. He rode several mounts at the recent meet at Fort Erie. Stanton is a brother to the proprietor of the saloon. Frank Cook, known as Cookie the Dude, also was arrested, but the police will probably charge him with vagrancy. The others are charged with grand larceny in the second degree. The police claim to have found Canadian money on each of the men arrested, and the supposition is that they knew of the robbery, even if they had nothing to do with drugging Gee.

CRAWLED INTO A COFFIN

in a Gruesome Hiding-Place.

New York, Oct. 27.-Three stowaways named Johnson, Jensen and Hansen have landed in New York despite the immigrant officials, who were bent upon shipping them back to Norway and Sweden. They came over on the steamer Oscar II. Johnson hid himself away by crawling into a coffin, where he remained for several hours. The three men stowed away on the Oscar II. the night before the steamship sailed from Christiansand. On the second day out all were discovered by an officer. They were haled before the captain, who set them to work in the stokehole.

There they heard startling stories of the fate that awaited stowaways when they arrived in New York. It was too much for Johnson. He learned that a steerage passenger had died and that his body had been inclosed in a pine box to be brought to port. Johnson saw his opportunity, and, going down into the hold that night, he tore the top off the box, took the body out and hid it under a pile of matting. Then he crawled into the coffin himself. He replaced the top so carefully that the nails fitted into the holes from which ne had wrenched them. Twenty-four hours later Johnson was dragged out after the ship had been searched from stem to stern. He was half-famished and badly frightened, but with his companions he managed to dodge about from the deportation pen at Ellis Island into the booth for admitted immigrants, and reached shore.

London Monday, Oct. 27.

A Welcome Announcement. The announcement that a manual training course is to be extended to the London Normal School, through the kind offices of Sir William Macdonald, is a matter for congratulation. the Dominion owes a great deal to Sir William Macdonald's munificence. In the short time since his plan of introducing manual training in various provincial centers was set in motion, the results have been highly encouraging, and a permanent impulse has been given to a branch of education which no country can neglect if it is to keep in the van of industrial progress. There is a popular misconception as to the nature of manual training. It is often confounded with technical instruction, and some labor organizations have opposed it in the belief that it involves the teaching of trades in schools, to the detriment of working mechanics. The system does not contemplate the teaching of trades, but it will develop aptitudes in a boy which Wik make him a better mechanic if he afterwards chooses an industrial occupation. The primary object of manual training is intellectual exercise, not mere physical dexterity, although it does not require to be proved that skillful handwork is mindwork in a high degree. The instruction cultivates the perceptive and the inventive faculties. The pupil is given a set of tools, and is set to work fashioning wood, under the teacher's directions. The mere act of making something, cf seeing form and design grow under his own hand, is a mental stimulus to the boy, calculated to develop his constructive powers, his ingenuity, and adaptiveness. While manual training and technical education are distinctive, the former is a groundwork for the latter. The more general manual training becomes, the better basis there will be for a national system of technical education, and consequently

Sir William Macdonald, at his own expense, has brought skilled teachers from Great Britain to conduct the classes in manual training, and has afforded facilities by which Canadian teachers may acquire instruction at home and abroad. One of the teachers | way in which they are making amends from England will be in the city this this week must no doubt be accepted Normal School. The arrangements are such that Collegiate Institute classes may attend, free of charge, in the afternoons if the local Board of Education sees fit. It is to be hoped the school trustees will take advantage of the opportunity without delay. Domestic science and manual training are complementary, and in time both will be extended to the public schools of this city. Manual training is already a part of public school instruction in nearly 20 Canadian cities and towns, pupils. Domestic science is also becoming general. It is to be regretted that a majority of the school trustees in this city have opposed these progressive tendencies, and are now denying public school girls the advantages be obtained at very small cost by utilizing the equipment at the Collegiate Institute building and the services of the teacher there. An absurd ruling by the chairman of the school board should not be allowed to stand in the way of this very necessary and an efficient industrial population.

The Danish West Indies.

Nations are still governed to a large extent by sentiment. The sale of the Danish West Indies to the United States would be a good business bargain for both countries, but in this particular case Danish sentiment is fresh. stronger than Danish commercialism, and the deal is off for the present. The value of the islands to the United Ftates consists solely in the usefulness of one of them-St. Thomas-as a paval base. Neither Cuba nor Porto Rico can quite supply the Americans open-faced youth with the fishing-pole with what they are looking for, a large and safe deep water harbor from which the Isthmian Canal, among other things, may be protected. St. Thomas precisely supplies this, Steamers and battleships of the heaviest draught can coal in security in the harbor of Charlotte Amalie. The entrance to it is narrow and almost landlocked, and the island in addition is furnished with a large drydock and cable station. Forty or fifty years ago it was the rialto of the West Indies, the meeting place and the distributing center of the South American trade. Now that merchants purchase direct in the European or American markets its commercial importance has almost vanished; but it remains, as an American admiral once described it. "the keystone of the West Indian arch, the central point from which any or all of the West Indian islands may be assailed."

In 1867, Denmark offered to sell both Bt. Thomas and St. John for $7,500,000, but the United States Senate rejected the proposal. Now the United States is willing to buy, and the Senate last February ratified the treaty, which fixes the purchase price at £1,000,000 for the three islands of St. Thomas, St. John and St. Croix. The Lower but a few days ago the treaty was rent report in the regiment that be covered most of them,

The islands have been in the possession of Denmark for nearly 200 years, and have been administered on a mild and equitable system; but latterly owing to the changed conditions of trade, the fall in the price of sugar, and the high tariff of the United States, they have ceased to pay their way and are now heavily in debt to the imperial To the breath of smoke on you far hillexchequer. The islanders are mainly negroes, who are not anxious to come under American rule, knowing how negroes are treated in the Southern States. The upper class of Denmark have been all along opposed to the sale, from motives of national pride, and they have carried their point in the

Tarte Before and After.

The suddenness with which our esteemed contemporary, the Free Press, discovered the virtues of Mr. Tarte, when he ceased to be a cabinet minister, causes the Ottawa Journal some amusement. "Who shall say," asks the Journal, "that our politics are rude or venomous when a party organ can so handsomely make amends for somewhat flippant remarks? Laboring under some sad aberration, the London Free Press on Sept. 30 remarked absent-mindedly, no doubt, that Mr. Tarte's cranium was enlarged, but now nobly, on Oct. 22, it admits, without solicitation, that he is most capable. Unthinkingly, of course, on Sept. 30 the Free Press let slip an idle theory that Mr. Tarte has a vanity like unto a peacock's tail feathers; but on Oct. 22 the Free Press manfully concedes that he is an attractive and clever statesman. On Sept. 30, too, thoughtlessly, the Free Press happened to drop a remark that Mr. Tarte thought himself the whole earth; but on Oct. 22 bravely the fact is accepted that Mr. Tarte is a leader of broad ideas for Canadian advancement. A misconception by the Free Press on Sept. 30 so strange that the Free Press cannot itself understand the aberration now, was that Mr. Tarte was willing to smash Sir Wilfrid to rise upon the ruin, whereas on Oct. 22 the Free Press fully realizes that Mr. Tarte is a highminded and consistent statesman on the same level as the Conservative leader, Mr. Forden. Thus at the moment when we see it illustrated how politics may contain at times the strangest injustice, we also see illustrated how ample and eloquent a reparation may be. Mr. Tarte must admit that nothing can be handsomer than the remarks of many of the Conservative papers since his retirement say about him for a few years before they find to have been a most mysterious misconception. The whole-souled week to inaugurate the course at the as an exemplification of the political virtues of our people, or at some of the party press."

It was intended by the author to be the first of a trilogy, and it is not yet known whether he had completed the second of the series, which was to deal with the bulls and bears of the wheat pit. #### SPLENDID CHARGE OF BRITISH

Col. Swayne and His Forces Continuing Their March to Berbera Unmolested.

London, Oct. 27 .- A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Simla, India, reports hat Col. Swayne and his forces are continuing their march from Bohotle to Berbera, Somaliland, East Africa, and that they are not pursued.

THE MULLAH'S PLAN. The correspondent of the Daily Mail, who is with the force of Col. Swayne, says, in a communication to his paper, that the original idea of the Mad Mullah to hold and fortify Mudug, which he found commanded the only wells available, and compel Col. Swayne to attack him at enormous disadvantage, was a good one, but was spoiled by an unexpected drought and terrible heat, which dried up the wells and killed the Mullah's live stock and ponies by the thousand. Finally, in the beginning of October, it was reported that the Musiah's forces were scattered, and that the Mullah himself had only a few riflemen left with him. It was then that Col. Swayne decided to advance on the chance that a decisive

GLOOMY TALES FROM CAPE COLONY

The Transvaal and Other South African Sections.

CHAMBERLAIN WILL GO THERE

The Colonial Secretary May Also Pay a Visit to Canada While Traveling.

London, Oct. 27.-Gloomy accounts of the state of affairs in Cape Colony, the Orange Colony and the Transvaal have been received from time to time through private channels, but there has been a tendency to discredit them. The announcement of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's decision to proceed to South Africa in order to examine on the spot the troubles presented by the termination of the war and the settlement of affairs in the new British colonies consequently caused the utmost surprise in political circles.

It seems tolerably certain, that if the situation had not been one of peril, the Colonial Secretary would have left the whole matter absolutely in the hands of Lord Milner. The feeling between the British and Dutch people in Cape Colony just now it said to be more bitter than it was in the days before the war. The Transvaal and Free State colors are worn freely in the Dutch towns of the Cape. The loyalists are naturally alarmed at this state of things. Ever since Mr. Chamberlain became colonial secretary he has disregarded precedent. One notable instance was is visit last autumn to Malta to inquire into the petition of the Maltese against compulsory adoption of the English language. When he returned to London he consulted with his colleagues and soon afterward came an intimation that the objectionable edict had been withdrawn. It is possible that it is this experience which has prompted him to study for himself the present position of affairs.

LOYALISTS ANNOYED. A Cape Town correspondent says that the Government order for the disbandment of the town guards throughout Cape Colony has caused strong indignation among the loyalists. Afrikander Bond, the correspondent adds, resents the very existence of these local forces, which were raised to defend the loyalists throughout the country, and it naturally desires their abolition.

The postponement of the Transvaal loan bill has been considered with considerable consternation, says a Johannesburg correspondent. People have been waiting in the hope that extraneous circumstances would them the first start on the road to progress. They must now make up their minds to look only to themselves to make the country go ahead steadily. A Brussels correspondent says that the Dutch subscriptions received by the committee formed to aid the Boer war sufferers exceeds $105,000. The Belgian subscriptions amount to $9,000 which is less than a penny per head for the population of Brussels.

WILL SOON START. Mr. Chamberlain proposes to start for South Africa towards the end of November and to return the early part of March. His visit will embrace the Cape, Natal, the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal.

MAY COME TO CANADA. The Daily Telegraph thinks that this step will be the precursor of similar visits to Canada and Australia. Varous references are made to the "new diplomacy" and the new statesmanship, as well as to the political aspects of the absence of the strongest minister at a time when the Government is passing through a critical phase of its existence. There are also some hints that Mr. Chamberlain will be glad to be absent during the awkward discussions arising from the Government's education bill. On the whole, however, the Colonial Secretary's decision is warmly welcomed as timely and sen-

He has striven to ameliorate the condition of downfallen humanity from his early youth and the great army that he has recruited is the embodiment of his conception of a something that might reach down to depths that other means fail utterly to sound. That his idea was a sane one is proved by the success and growth of

The Salvation Army is a power for good in this world whose influence can in no way be measured. It leavens the substratum of society in a way that one knows not of. It bears its gospel into places that the other churches do not go to—places that the average church member shuns. It is one of the bravest armies that ever marched. Its soldiers never shun work, est. and they run a gauntlet of jeers, jibes, taunts and supercilious smiles every day of their warfare—a running fire of ribaldry, and yet the army stands firm. #### CONVERTED WHEN FIFTEEN.

Born on the 10th of April, 1829, in the city of Nottingham, England, William Booth was converted at the age of fifteen. Standing on an ash barrel in the market places, or in the slums, his slender and striking personality soon became associated in the minds of the passers-by with that zeal in behalf of others which has characterized his entire career. As an evangelist he met with extraordinary success. The largest buildings were unable to contain the multitudes who flocked to his meetings, and thousands were converted. Realizing, however, that his congregations consisted largely of those who were church members, he determined to devote himself to reaching the unchurched masses.

It was in July, 1865, on Mile End Waste, in the east end of London, amid vice, degradation and squalor, probably without parallel in any corner of the globe, that he commenced his work of spiritual and social reform. Looking back to that starting point, truly it seems that centuries of accomplishment have been crowded into the interval.

It was in 190 the General wrote his famous book, "Darkest England, and the Way Out." In it he describes his fascinating and intensely practical scheme of social reform for what ne terms the submerged tenth of Great Britain. He had the great advantage of not setting forth a theory, but combining in a comprehensive, well-organized whole, and extending further some of the social reform measures already carried out on a considerable scale in many cities. His plan comprised all understand why he should be such a force among his followers, but hard to believe that it could be otherwise. He conditions and emergencies of the poor, the helpless, the workless, the fallen. the oppressed, and the discharged prisoners, and has since then been seemed the spirit of evangelism, in- worked out practically throughout the world.

The difficulties which an ex-convict

Discharged prisoners are therefore met by army officers and asked to place themselves into the army Prison Gate Home. There work is given according to the skill and intelligence of each man, a wholesome discipline tempered with sincere care and the personal interest taken by the officers in each man works wonders. Many young criminals are saved from a life of disgrace and imprisonment, and quite a number of hardened cases have been permanently reformed by the army's methods.

Miss La Pont's father and brothers seriously objected to Mullin as a suitor, so the couple say, but both the girl and her lover were firm in their determination to wed. On Friday night there was a stormy interview between Mullin and Miss La Pont's father and the young man was driven from the house and told never to return.

Later in the evening a voice asked over the 'phone for Miss La Pont, and when she responded Mullin substituted himself for the woman who called her up and arrangements were made for an elopement. Late that night she met her heart, but the couple missed their train out of Petoskev and the girl's absence was discovered and a search was begun.

However, they reached Detroit, but had no time for the marriage before boarding the train. As Rev. Wm. Ashton, of Toronto, Can., was on the train he came to the couple's relief, and in the smoker of the train, where the minister was located, the couple were made man and wife.

Elwell had traveled through Europe, Asia and Northern Africa on the machine that caused his death.

Infringement of a Trade Mark. In an action in the high court of justice for Ontario, recently tried before Chancellor Boyd at Toronto, the Slater Shoe Company and Charles E. Slater, president, of Montreal, makers of the famous Slater Shoe, obtained a judgment forever restraining F. C. Wilkinson, a boot and shoe dealer of Owen Sound, from advertising, offering, exposing for sale or selling boots or shoes not made by the Slater Shoe Company, as "Slater Shoes," "Slater Goods" or "The Slater Shoe." chancellor also ordered Wilkinson to pay the heavy costs of the action. It seems Wilkinson was offering for sale, shoes made by a manufacturer in Montreal, whose name was somewhat similar to the Slater Shoe Company. This maker came up from Montreal and gave evidence at the trial and appeared to be looking after the defense for Wilkinson, but the chancellor after hearing the evidence decided that no one, except the Slater Company had a right to use the name "Slater "Slater Goods." "The Slater Shoe" or any similar names in connection with boots and shoes, and that Wilkinson had no right to use any name or names in connection with boots and shoes which might enable him to pass off a shoe not of the company's make, as being of their make, nor in any way to reap the benefit of the reputation which Slater Shoe has acquired throughout the Dominion of Canada. #### MANLINESS AS A FEATURE OF THE CHRISTIAN LIFE

7th Regiment on a Subject of Vital Interest.

The Seventh Regiment attended divine service in St. Andrew's Church yesterday, when Rev. Dr. Johnston preached from the text in II. Peter, i., 5: "Add to your faith virtue and to virtue knowledge."

Manliness, said the speaker, was not looked upon as the conspicuous characteristic of the Christian life today; the Church was a hospital, rather than an army, but everywhere in Scripture the Christian life was represented as strenuous, vigorous, manly. In commercial life, social life and political life subterfuge, misrepresentation and adulteration abounded, but the man of thorough maliness cried with Carlyle, "Truth, though the heavens crush me in following her; no falsehood, though a celestial lubber-land were the reward of apostasy."

Purity.—The true man is a pure man. He would urge purity in thought and word and deed, not only for their own dependent on their strength. The man

> Courage.-Alike in deciding for Christ, a step which many of them were persuaded they should take, but timidly avoided, in addressing themselves to difficult tasks, in associating themselves with great reforms. We needed in the Christian life today the courage that had been so often dis-played by those who fought under the flag that we honored, courage to oppose great evils, undaunted by numbers or strength. And all such manliness must rise on the foundation of faith. Christ did not call us to the impossible. He set be-fore us the ideal, then by his own indwelling in our hearts he gave the power for accomplishment. Faith in him then was the secret of true manliness, the inspiration to all that was best in life.

Calcutta, Oct. 27.—The Government of the Punjab recently took what it considered was an extreme step to prevent the spread of bubonic plague in that province. It issued an order directing that the entire population should submit to inoculation against the disease at the hands of the sanitary officers, but at the same time it was feared that the natives, with their usual antipathy to anything partaking of the nature of sanitary precautions, would bitterly oppose compliance with the order. Much to the surprise of the authorities however. no opposition is being offered, and the work of inoculation, which is a tremendous task, is progressing satisfactorily. As instancing the willingness of the inhabitants to undergo the operation, several native regiments have presented themselves in bodies for the treatment.

No Opposition Was Offered and Work Husband Was the Central Figure in Music Hall Tragedy.

> The New York theatrical papers chronicle the death of Laura Wilson Emerson at St. Peter's Hospital, Brooklyn, last week, after several months illness from tubercular pneumonia. She was the wife of W. D. Emerson, the actor, who gained undesirable prominence through his shooting of James Tuttle, on the stage of the Music Hall, now the London Opera House. Tuttle, it will be remembered, was manager of the company in which Emerson and his wife were playing, nd in a quarrel between the men, just before the curtain was due to rise on the evening performance, Emerson' seized a loaded revolver and fatalig wounded Tuttle. The cause of the quarrel was variously given, one reason assigned being an alleged insult to Mrs. Emerson, and another being a disagreement over money matters. Emerson was tried on the murder, but was acquitted. He afterwards managed the Woodstock Opera House, and since leaving there has been connected with the scenic spectacle, "The Johnstown Flood," produced at the Pan-American and at Coney Island. She started out in June and she is racing yet. In only one of her races over a halfmile track this season has she been beaten, and that was at Concord, N. H., week before last. She has won during her career over 200 heats, and this season reduced her record from

One of the best performances during the first week of the Memphis meeting was that of the New York bred gelding, Major Delmar, when, in winning race he equaled the world's race record for trotting geldings by stepping a mile in 2:05½, a feat that also makes him the fastest trotting gelding of the year. Onward Silver's further reduction of the two-mile record to 4:28¼, was another good performance, and still another was that of the brown mare Fresno in winning the 2:11 trot, reducing her record from 2:10¼ to 2:07¾, making her the third fastest trotting mare of the year. The notable events of the second week will be the Queen's cup race, open to all pacing mares; the Memphis, $5,000 gold cup, open to all trotters, to wagon, amateurs to drive; the free-for-all trot the 2:12 trot; the 2:09 pace and several special time events. Buffalo Express: The most remarkable thing about this year's new list of 2:10 trotters and pacers is not the number it contains, but the large proportion which started the season without records. In the list of new 2:11 trotters which now numbers 27, there are six that began the season without record, and most of the six never a record, and most of the six never started in a race till last July. These six are: Chase, 2:074, by Keeler, 2:13, dam by Enola D.; Prince of Orange, 2:074, by Prince of India, 2:134, dam by Cdyler, Rhythmice, 2:08, by Oak-land Baron, 2:09¼, dam Duchess, 2:20½, by Strathmore; Dulce Cor, 2:08½, by Baron Wilkes, 2:18, dam Nancy Gla-dys, by Ntbreaker; Baron de Shea, 2:08%, by Oakland Baron, 2:0914, dam Orillia, by Strathmore: Wentworth, 2:09%, by Superior, dam by Highland Chief. AMERICAN LEAGUE FOR 1903. Chicago, Ill., Oct. 25.-From the office of President Ban Johnson, the American League, today there was made official announcement of the make-up of the league's circuit and of the eight clubs for 1903. Not only does this include New York in the young league's circuit, but it demonstrates that his often repeated claim that the fans of Manhattan would be given a strong team to support was not an idle boast.

The list of players announced includes only those who have signed 1903 contracts to play with the clubs to which they are assigned. It discloses that the young magnates have been conducting their usual quiet, but effective, campaign all summer, have practically riddled the Pittsburg team of champions, drafted a number of star players from other National League teams and held most of their own men of first class caliber.

Nineteen National League players have been signed, and all of these are included in the list given out, although several of them have been reported as signed by the National League for next year. The American League intends to make a fight for these players. Pittsburg is hardest hit, as the list shows. Of the present champions from our grasp next August.

> WEDDING DAYS Propitiating Good Fairies Is All

> > Important.

Origion of the Wedding Ring, Throwing Shoes and Rice, and Other Time-Honored Customs.

There is much marrying and giving in marriage these October days, and at each and every ceremony bride and guests are careful to preserve hallowed traditions, says a writer in the Washington Star. Superstition may be defied on all occasions but these. A wedding without blue garters and rice and old shoes is almost, if not quite, as bad as "Hamlet," with the Prince of Denmark out of the cast. But although everybody knows what should be done to propitiate the good fairies, few have any idea of the origin of the hundred and one customs attending the wedding day.

The use of the ring is, without doubt, the most ancient and symbolic accessory of the celebration of marriage. So prevalent is the feeling regarding its indispensability that strange substitutes have been used in cases of emergency, when the conventional hoop of been forgotten. Curtain rings and key rings rave done duty, and a more personal substitute often been devised by cutting a ring from the bridegroom's glove. Anciently a ring marked an office of great dignity, being worn only by a king or given by him to his messen gers, that their authority might be established. As civilization advanced and woman's position was more chivalrously regarded the ring was bestowed upon her in the marriage ceremony. The choice of the form of the ring is for a twofold reason-the poetic meaning ascribed to it, and the fact that its plainness makes it more practical for constant use. Among the Egyptians a circle was the hieroglyphic expression of eternity. Its adaptation for use as the marriage token in preference to a pin or earring or any other it can be worn constantly and is not put off with any particular garment; also that it is always within sight of the bride, keeping the bridegrom in Various reasons are given for the adoption of the so-called ring finger as the resting-place of this emblem, and to this usage also the fanciful and utilitarian mind has ascribed diverse origins.

POETICAL ANATOMY. The former interpretation has it that the belief was very current, before the days of advanced anatomy, that a small artery ran from this finger to the heart directly. What could be more to the purpose of poetical logic than that the wedding ring should rest there? The choice of the left hand is by some supposed to symbolize the submission of the wife to her hus-

The practical mind disposes of these fancies by suggesting that in this position the ring was more protected from wear and injury or loss, as the left hand is not so much in use as the right, and this finger is protected on either side, and is capable of a less de-gree of independent action than any other finger.

In many pictures of the Virgin, her ring was painted on her forefinger, as was the custom for the wearing of it in ancient Greece and Rome. This finger is the one nearest the mount of Jupiter, indicating the pride of dignity.

Instead of a token of compliment or expression of goodwill, it was anciently of much more practical import. It was frankly considered that the friends should by this means help the young people starting out on their life

The wedding cake is a development of the three ears of wheat carried by the bride in very olden times as a presage of plenty of the good things of life. In time the grain thus formerly carried was ground and made into small cakes, which were thrown over the bride's head as she entered her first house. A pile of these flat cakes were laid one upon another, after the manner of shew-bread in old illustrations of Bible times. Thus by a natural evolution came the present form of one huge, round cake, for whose elaborate appearance and composition we have the French to thank. THE BRIDE'S KNIGHTS.

It is also an old Belgic custom for the groom to give a pair of gloves to the bride during the ceremony, as he gives the ring; gloves as the covering of the ring; gloves as the covering of the hand in good faith. The probable precedent for the tying up of the bridal carriage and baggage of today in white is found in an account of an English country wedding of 1785. This tells of the decorating of trees and poles in the street where the bridegroom lived with white paper cut in the form of gloves and ribbons. The bestowing of the bride's garters is probably a relic of the very ancient custom of untying the bride's girdle immediately after the wedding and bestowing it on some favored friend. Formerly the garter (or garters, as many were often used) were given by the bride to some young men as a mark of favor, and some authorities quote this as a probable beginning of Order of the Garter," rather than the more familiar legend. The only allusion to the throwing of the shoe in former times is an account of a wedding in 1640, in which the sole of the groom's shoe was placed on the bride's nead, indicating submission.

Every country has particular legends and superstitions on this subject, and every usage connected with the wedding had its origin as a symbol of some sentiment.

GERMAN "INVASION"

Teutonic Chemical Apparatus In British Colonial Colleges.

In a letter to the board of governors of the Canterbury College (New Zealand) by Dr. W. P. Evans, professor of chemistry, several reasons are given the London Chronicle. Some of the reasons are as follows:

1. Many of the lines required are not made at all in England. 2. The German goods are, as a rule (1. e., for material, and are very much better apparatus) are ridiculously inadequate. scientific appliances, while the remainyears, in no way truly descriptive of the goods catalogued; and in nearly every case the illustrations, where supplied, were simply "cribbed" from elaborated into the using of twelve continental price lists, without any acstones, one for each month, that no knowledgment, and ofter with omisknowledgment, and ofter with omissions of essential details. 6. The Through this custom the ring became methods of packing employed in Engsevere tax on many a humble groom land, though much improved during in the middle ages, and hence the revulsion to the plain circlet of gold in those employed by the best German firms 7. The German houses carry larger stocks, are nearer the actual articles are ordered "as per plan in-closed" one can be certain that the overseer of the German house will see that his workmen do work according to the plan; while many an English firm, of old and honorable name, rests content if, after many days, it returns you something "distinctly resembling" your plan. 9. The first-class German firms make their expansive standard instruments to exact gauge, and hence one can order parts to fit at any time. American firms have also seen the advantage of this method; but the English manufacturer seems to make no two pieces alike; so that parts ordered late cannot as a rule be used without alteration.

The House Number Evil.

Police officers, messengers, physicians and newspaper men will bless the man or men who cause to be incorporated into the city ordinances a clause making it a serious misdemeanor to allow a house to stand unnumbered or numbered so the characters are pot visible at all times of the day and night, says the Buffalo Express. If each house were designated with large white generaled forces are press. If each house were designated with large white enameled figures, so plain as to be seen at night time, much useless annoyance and unrest would be avoided. If those numbers were placed avoided. If those numbers were placed in a certain known and accepted portion of the house more trouble and annoy-ance would be avoided. Almost every use on inhabited streets is numbered but that is the best you can say of a great many of them. Numbers hidden by vines or tacked in some obscure corner have caused the waking of every family in an entire block, much blashery and ways. family in an entire block, indention of the remedy be appnemy, and no end of ill-feeling. The question is, how can the remedy be applied? It would seem a householder had every reason to be particular in regard to the designation of his house, so his friends might experience as little trouble as possible in looking him up. Some of them don't however. The number grandpa tacked on the house in '61 stays there, growing fainter and more indistinct with each passing year. each passing year.

Color in the Camera.

A dispatch from Geneva to the London Chronicle says: A Swiss amateur photographer, M. Adolphe Gartner, residing at Berne, has, it is said, discovered the secret of color photography after a number of years of experiments. The inventor takes his photographs on glass, porcelain and paper, and in any color; the best results, however, being obtained from blue, red and yellow. His productions on glass are veritable pictures, being true to nature in every detail. Even the shades of coloring in a rose are easily distinguished in the photograph. The photograph of a landscape, viewed from a distance, resembles a painting. Some of the bolder colors give better results than the quieter ones, and M. Gartner is at present occupied in remedying this partial defect. The secret lies in the "bath" and in the developing process, for the photos, it is stated, are taken with an ordinary camera. Many continental firms are taking a great interest in the discovery. A dispatch from Geneva to the London

JOKE ON CARNEGIE

Clerk Sold Him Third-Class Railway Ticket.

London, Oct. 27.-A story comes from Scotland, which is one of those little ironies of life about a millionaire being found traveling first-class on a railroad with a third-class ticket. The story refers to Andrew Carnegie and is to this effect: He went to a small station and asked for a ticket. The average passenger at this point is very democratic and travels third-class and is certainly not a millionaire. The clerk, therefore, gave Mr. Carnegie a third-class ticket, and the philanthropist only discovered this when he was sternly asked on the train to pay the difference in fares. Of course, Mr. Carnegie produced the necessary amount.

Rice, who is an old London boy, possesses a fine baritons voice, which he uses intelligently. The olio possesses several commendable features. Campbell and Campbell form one of the best musical comedy teams ever seen here, their playing of the brass being really artistic. Varin and Turenne do a clever axe-juggling turn, and Rice and Harvey pleased the au-

Shortly before leaving for America they entertained the Shah of Persia at the request of King Edward, LeRoy will be remembered as having headed "The Great Triple Alliance," which created such a favorable impression here three years ago. Mlle. Talma is claimed to be the most expert palmist in the world. In addition to her wonderful manipulating of coins she will introduce her apparently simple and amazing illusion "The Magic Screen." Bosco's forte is in deceiving the audience while he makes it laugh.

AT THE GRAND THURSDAY. "A Trip to Coontown," headed by the original Tom Brown, is making a bid for first place in the ranks of shows made up entirely of colored performers.
