No Peace Proposals.

Tribesmen Fiercely Attack the British Pickets.

The Terrible Ravages of Dysentery in Japan.

British Engineers' Strike Situation Unchanged—Serious Accident to an Actress.

DECIMATED BY DYSENTERY.

London, Nov. 3.—The cases of dysentery in Japan up to the end of the first month totalled, according to the statistics compiled by the government, 64,642. Of these 14,263 proved fatal.

THE HAYTIAN INCIDENT.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—Little is known here regarding the difficulty that recently arose between the German minister to Hayti and President Simon Sam over the arrest of a German subject named Luecders. There is a disposition to regard the situation as exaggerated. It is unofficially declared that the matter has already been settled.

THE SEAL QUESTION.

Important preparations are being made for the signing of the new treaty between the United States, Russia and Japan for the suspension of pelagic sealing in Bering Sea and the North Pacific. The formal ceremony of signing is expected to occur next Friday. It is stated also that the attitude of Great Britain will in no way affect the conclusion of the treaty.

AN ACTRESS DISABLED.

London, Nov. 3.—Geraldine Ulmar, the actress, met with a serious accident yesterday. She was driving with a lady friend to Twickenham, when their carriage collided with an omnibus. Both ladies were thrown out of the vehicle with much violence, and Miss Ulmar sustained a compound fracture of the ankle, in addition to receiving a severe shock to her nervous system. Her friend had her shoulder dislocated.

THE ENGINEERS' STRIKE.

London, Nov. 3.—An official of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers stated yesterday that he had received a cablegram from New York quoting a London dispatch, which asserts that the engineers' strike has been ended. This statement the official declares to be untrue and unwarranted by any of the existing circumstances. The situation is unchanged. The chances of a conference between the strikers and the employers is now remote, but the attitude originally assumed by the Amalgamated Society is unaltered.

SPAIN'S REPLY.

Madrid, Nov. 3.—A semi-official note was circulated here yesterday, giving a fuller indication of the contents of the Spanish note in reply to the communication of the United States on the subject of Cuba than has hitherto been published. It says the first part of the reply is a paraphrase of the note of United States Minister Woodford, and it concludes with the assurance that Spain is animated by the same friendly feeling as expressed in behalf of the United States. The second part goes into elaborate details concerning the various filibustering expeditions which have left the United States for Cuba. Spain expresses the hope that this phase of the situation will be changed, and that the United States will try to prevent further violations of international law. Replying to the offer of mediation made by the United States, Spain says she hopes the United States will act loyally in helping Spain to pacify Cuba, especially in view of the fact that such an extended form of autonomist government is about to be sincerely granted. The general feeling at Madrid is more hopeful of a peaceful outcome of the situation, but it is pointed out that the submission of the insurgents cannot be expected unless they are entirely abandoned by the United States.

CABLE NOTES.

The prospects of a British artillery team coming to Canada in the year 1898 to compete with the Dominion batteries are now considered excellent.

The report that Spain has purchased a number of warships from English builders is denied. Spain is said to be negotiating with Chili for the purchase of the armored cruiser Esmeralda.

The returns for exports of cutlery from Sheffield to the United States show that they amounted to only $60,000 for the last three months, as compared with $150,000 for the same period in 1896. This is the worst showing made for the past seven years. The exports of steel, however, have increased $25,000, but the total exports have fallen from $600,000 to $415,000.

The Japanese Government is being urged to send a military commissioner to the Indian frontier to inspect the operations of the British troops against the Afghanistans.

It is said that the proposed lease by Russia of Beed Island for the purpose of constructing a coal depot there will be declined by Corea on account of the greater part of the island being already in possession of Englishmen and Japanese.

An accident occurred to the service train near Oyama, on the Tokio railway, by which five railway employes were killed on the spot and fourteen more badly injured.

Foreign postage rates from Japan have been doubled, and it is proposed to advance domestic postal and telegraph rates 50 per cent.

FIERCE FIGHTING.

The Frontier Campaign by No Means Closed.

Simla, Nov. 3.—The insurgent tribesmen in the Maidan Valley are very active. They made several fierce attacks upon the British pickets, reconnoitering parties and transport detachments. Two British officers were wounded. Six Sepoys were killed and thirteen Sepoys were wounded.

A dispatch from Mastura says that Sir William Lockhart's columns are encamped in the Maidan Valley, a hitherto unknown district, which the Afridis had boasted no invader could penetrate. A column has visited the notorious mosque and grove at Bagh, where the Afridi rising originated, and which has been the center of the political and fanatical intrigue which has animated the outbreaks of the tribesmen. The mosque was left untouched and was not entered, but the trees and the grove were hewed down as a mark of punishment and a sign of victory. The enemy offered the feeblest resistance, and was easily dispersed, but as yet the tribesmen have made no proposals of peace.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRE.

The residence of Dr. Kennedy, law clerk of the Ontario Legislature, was visited by burglars on Monday night, and many articles of value were taken.

The directors of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Halifax have been authorized to increase the capital from $150,000 to $2,000,000. It is not proposed to make the increase immediately.

The inland revenue returns for the port of Hamilton for October show receipts to be $41,751 90, as compared with $53,751 81 for the corresponding period of last year; decrease for October, 1897, $11,963 91.

Miss Mary Inskip, a fashionably-dressed woman of 26, residing on St. Catharine street, Montreal, was taken to the Notre Dame Hospital Tuesday morning in an ambulance. She died two hours later of carbolic acid poisoning. Her lips were terribly burned. The lips of her 2-year-old baby, which still lives, tell a similar story. The woman belonged to Montreal.

At a meeting of the Toronto Presbytery on Tuesday, a resolution was passed expressing deep regret at the disasters by bush fires in the eastern townships, especially the destruction of two Presbyterian churches, and directing the attention of the church to the necessities of the district. An illuminated address of congratulation on having celebrated the 50th anniversary of his ordination was presented to Rev. Dr. Gregg.

Van Wyck Wins

Tammany's Candidate for the New York Mayoralty Elected.

The Democrats Make a Clean Sweep in Buffalo.

Big Republican Pluralities of Last Year Reversed—Nine Large Cities Go Democratic.

Buffalo Swept by the Democrats—The Republicans Likely to Lose the Ohio Legislature—Results in Other States.

New York, Nov. 3.—Tammany's victory in the first municipal election in Greater New York is a sweeping one. The only question remaining to be settled is the one of the plurality, by which the entire ticket, headed by Robert A. VanWyck, has carried the gigantic municipality. That plurality at present appears to be over 85,000—and his vote falls only about 32,000 below that of all the other candidates combined.

Seth Low (Citizens' Union) was successful to the extent of polling an aggregate vote in excess of the 40,000 pledges implied by the signatures to the petition upon which he became the candidate of an independent movement which at the outset offered to join hands with the Republican party organization in a concerted effort to exclude Tammany from power in the greater city to come into being on January, 1898. The offer was declined on the ground that in any such movement the Republican organization would participate only coincidentally with the other party to the compact, and the Citizens' Union, on the other hand, refused to recall its nomination of Mr. Low in order that the form of selecting a candidate might be carried out conjointly with the Republican organization. The total number of votes cast was not far either way from half a million.

The legislative branch of the city government is Tammany Democratic. It is a double-headed body, one branch being the municipal council, consisting of the president and 28 members, and the other, the board of aldermen, comprising sixty members.

Whatever might have been the result had Henry George survived the campaign, the indications from the earliest returns were that the substitution of the son for the father as the mayoralty candidate of the Thomas Jefferson Democracy had proved a failure from any but the sentimental point of view.

The Herald, which has maintained an independent position in the campaign in Greater New York, concedes the election of the entire Democratic ticket by a large majority.

Erastus Wiman was elected to represent in the municipal council of Greater New York, Richmond borough, which is composed of Staten Island. Mr. Wiman ran on the George ticket.

The Morning's Developments.

THE TOTAL VOTE.

New York, Nov. 3.—Following is the grand total of the votes received by the candidates for mayor in Greater New York, complete returns having been received from all the districts:

Van Wyck	235,181
Low	149,873
Tracy	101,823
George (about)	16,000

BOSS SHEEHAN'S STATEMENT.

John C. Sheehan gave out this statement when the victory was certain: "All over our great city a cosmopolitan people have stood shoulder to shoulder, and brought about a triumph and victory for the party of the people. Mayor VanWyck will inaugurate a wise, liberal and democratic government, in place of the present costly, wasteful and illiberal administration. His administration will stand for home rule and the personal liberty of the citizens in the practice of innocent customs and in pursuit of harmless pleasures. The promise of the platform to furnish the people with dollar gas will be kept as soon as Democratic control of the legislature can be secured. Liberality will be shown in furnishing adequate school accommodations, and every effort will be made to furnish rapid transit in the near future. Public improvements, which will make the metropolis more attractive and healthful, will be encouraged, and the city government will be administered for the benefit of the many and not for the favored few."

HENRY GEORGE.

Henry George said to his supporters: "One thing is certain. We have kept the faith, and we are not ashamed of it. Many a man has sacrificed himself without gaining anything. I am inexpressibly happy tonight. We cannot always have the spoils of victory, but we have kept our self-respect."

Amid cries of "Good boy" and "We'll try it again!" Mr. George made his way out of the crowd in the room after shaking hands with many of those present. After giving three cheers for the candidate, the crowd in the room of the committee on speakers gradually dispersed.

REPUBLICAN LANDSLIDES REVERSED.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 3.—The complete returns from the state are coming in slowly, but they demonstrate that the Republican landslides of the past two years have been reversed, if not by giving as large a majority for the Democrats, at least by changing something like 240,000 votes. Gov. Black's plurality in the state last year was over 200,000. John Palmer, the Republican secretary of state, won the year previous by over 100,000. The indications are that these enormous pluralities have been swept away and a reverse plurality of between 30,000 and 50,000 is given. It is evident that the Republicans will still control the Assembly, although by a very largely decreased majority.

NINE BIG DEMOCRATIC CITIES.

More surprising, perhaps, than the returns on the state and assembly district tickets were the results of the municipal campaigns in the large cities. New York, Buffalo, Rochester, Binghamton, Syracuse, Utica, Albany, Troy and Schenectady elected Democrat mayors.

SUMMARY OF THE SITUATION.

New York, Nov. 3.—The result of the first municipal election in Greater New York completely reverses the conditions of 1896, when McKinley's plurality in the same territory was 56,865. The plurality of Van Wyck, the Tammany candidate for mayor, is about 85,000 and the balance of the ticket is elected with majorities ranging from 70,000 to 100,000. Such a rush to the polls has never been known except in presidential years. Rainy weather failed to dampen civic enthusiasm.

The vote for Tracy, the Republican mayoralty candidate, was divided by the candidacy of Seth Low upon a citizens' ticket. Low was second and Tracy third in the contest. The George vote was inconsiderable. The death of its leader evidently disintegrated this following, and thousands evidently voted for Tammany candidates. It is claimed that young George lost many votes through the failure of inspectors to affix his paster to mayoralty tickets.

THE UNOFFICIAL VOTE.

for mayor of Greater New York follows: Van Wyck, 235,100; Low, 149,873; Tracy, 101,833; George, 20,386; Gleason, 581. The vote for Van Wyck is about 44.25 per cent of the total vote cast.

The united vote for Low and Tracy shows 14,127 more than Van Wyck received. The Metropolitan district is normally Democratic, and the plurality for Van Wyck is a return to normal conditions in an election not influenced by national issues.

NEW YORK PRESS COMMENT.

New York, Nov. 3.—Following are brief editorial expressions from the New York papers:

The Herald (Independent): The campaign is over, and in the good old American way, the people will accept the result at the polls. It is of their own doing. If they have been wise in their action, they will reap its reward. If they have committed a folly, they have themselves to blame, and consequent evil to bear.

The Tribune (Low): The Tribune never concealed from its readers, its apprehension that Tammany would win, but we firmly believed and faithfully declared that the candidacy of Seth Low offered the only chance of escaping defeat. We hoped, and for a time believed, that Gen. Tracy would finally refuse to bear the burden of discredit and condemnation which must be his portion for the rest of his life. He chose otherwise. He consented to betray and to be betrayed, not realizing as we prefer to believe, the full nature and consequences of his course."

The Journal and Advertiser (Van Wyck): New York is once more a Democratic city — the first Democratic city in America. The impregnable stronghold of Democracy in the Union. The prophecy of a Republican member of the legislature that in the creation of Greater New York the Republican party would be committing suicide has been fulfilled. The people have voted for Democracy, but not for Crokerism. They have voted against sham reform, but not against true reform. They are as anxious for good government, with all that implies, as the most superior member of the Citizens' Union.

DEMOCRATS SWEEP BUFFALO.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 3.—In this city the Democrats made a clean sweep, electing their candidate for mayor, Conrad Diehl, by probably 5,000 majority over John N. Scatcherd (Rep.), and all of the aldermen. Diehl was supported by but one paper, the Evening Times, while J. N. Scatcherd, his opponent, had behind him two morning and three afternoon dailies.

FOOTBALL.

HURONS, OF SEAFORTH, VS. DUBLIN STARS.

Seaforth, Nov. 2.—The Hurons, of this place, and the Stars, of Dublin, met for the first time to do battle for supremacy in the football arena. The game was one in which the Hurons had to hustle harder than they have had to do in the past six years. They scored their first and only goal in the first half after 25 minutes' hard play. In the last half the Dublin boys got into the game and made their doughty opponents exercise themselves, the last ten minutes keeping the ball right down on the Hurons' goal, but were unable to score. Looby, Williams and Darling were shining stars for Dublin; Carpenter and McDermid played a superb game all through. About 300 rooters from Dublin cheered on their warriors, and fairly rent the air with their shrieks. The following were the players:

Hurons—Morrison, Duncan, Aberhardt, J. Jackson, H. Jackson, McNairn, McLean, T. Jackson, Barnett, Wilson and Hill.

Stars—T. Sullivan, Carpenter, McDermid, Looby, Purcell, Darling, Devereux, Sullivan, Dorsey, J. Williams, M. Williams.

ROWDYISM.

As to rowdyism, about every magnate in the National League has declared himself upon the neecessity of reform. Ned Hanlon is the latest manager to express his opinion, which is especially interesting, in view of the fact that the Orioles were so generally regarded as one of the worst teams on the field in this particular during the past season. President Brush, of Cincinnati, says: "Baseball cannot stand any more of the disgraceful scenes that have brought the game into disrepute in the last season or so, and at the next league meeting this matter will come up for the most severe discussion it ever has had. This year has shown us that only by the most severe measures can this disgraceful conduct on the part of some players be suppressed. Why, during the season language has been used on the field by certain players that should debar them forever from playing another game in any team that is under the national agreement. And I, for one, am heartily in favor of any legislation that will punish players who disgrace the game."

After Constable Ward.

London West Council Refute His Account Until He Explains It.

Councilor Hamilton's Remarks Regarding Mr. Ward—Borrowed More Money—The Solicitors' Account.

The days of the London West Council are fast drawing to a close, and after two more meetings—the regular one on the first Tuesday in December, and the statutory meeting on Dec. 15—that august body will cease to exist. The council held the regular meeting last night and passed two bylaws. One was to authorize the borrowing of $600 to tide them over until the taxes come in, and the other was a bylaw legalizing the sale of a parcel of property to Mr. Wm. Cotton.

The village solicitors in a communication inclosed an account for $222 43, which covered everything to date except the mandamus proceedings of Bartram against Rockett, as to which Mr. Bartram has given notice of an application to the court of appeal for next week, to appeal against the judgment of the divisional court without giving securities for costs. It also included charges in connection with the Horsman arbitration, but stating that the arbitration charges are all finally payable by the street railway company. The letter also stated that the charges in connection with the street railway bylaw should be refunded by the company, and possibly some arrangement might be made regarding the same. This matter was laid over for further consideration.

Mr. Wm. Wilson applied for some boards for a sidewalk on Carolina street—a short street running west from the Wharncliffe highway. He had asked for them repeatedly, and Councilor Hamilton had promised them as many times.

Deputy Reeve Collins—Is that the way you do, Mr. Hamilton—promise people things that they don't get?

Reeve Saunby (smiling)—Why, Mr. Hamilton is as bad as Ald. Cooper.

Mr. Wilson said taxes had been paid for the property on that street for about 40 years, and the residents couldn't get so much as a load of gravel.

Councilor Hamilton promised to attend to it, and on motion the matter was left in his hands.

Among the accounts was one from Constable Ward for $25 50, two months' salary.

Councilor Hamilton wanted to know why Constable Ward was not present to explain some matters. The sidewalks in some parts were in a disgraceful condition, having been broken and torn up, yet no reports had been made. "A woman fell on the sidewalk the other day and injured herself, to the cost of this village," said Mr. Hamilton, "and Ward was only a short distance away, and no report was made. I cannot see what in the world we have been paying that fellow for. It is a piece of robbery. If he is going to work for Lacey & Co., I want him to be paid by them. The boys were raising Cain over here, and there was no one around to keep them quiet. He was sent for, but there was no one around."

Reeve Saunby said Ward was away looking for Glassford.

Councilor Hamilton thought it was not his place to go out and fix sidewalks, nor to find out who pulled them up and broke them. While Ward was away looking after other people's business, the village had to pay another constable for services to keep the boys from doing damage on Hallowe'en. This he thought a disgrace to the village.

Reeve Saunby—I must say he has been very slack in his duty the past three months.

It was decided to lay the account over until next meeting, when Mr. Ward will be asked to attend and explain.

A motion passed requesting the treasurer to provide a statement showing all the expenditures to the different accounts for the past year.

The report of the treasurer was received, showing a balance on hand on Oct. 30 of $2,185 21, and receipts to have been $142 from taxes and $25 from W. Cotton, making $2,352 21. The expenditure had been $2,214 71, leaving a balance of $137 50 on hand.

Deputy Reeve Collins and Mr. Hamilton wanted to know when the street railway company were going to gravel their portion of the street they occupy. The reeve explained that a "Y" would shortly be put in at William street, when the company would put a gang of men on and do the roads up in proper shape. "At least they promised to do so," he said.

Laymen in Convention.

A Strong Presentation of Their Duty in Promoting Christianity.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

The public have been treated to a report of the meeting of the lay workers in Huron diocese. Their society has been in existence seven years, and I judge the "Lord hath done great things for them." I am glad of it, and what I want to know is, what are they doing for the Lord? Having freely received, they should freely give. The evening service of the first day was conducted by one clergyman and three laymen, the latter reading the lessons and the Psalms. All very good as far as it goes. But is that the kind of help the church needs, and is it of primary importance? There were many clergymen present at the service, so it would not appear there was any special "needs be" for laymen to do that which the church prescribes as the inalienable heritage of the priesthood or ministry, when the ministry could do it. Uzzah did a similar thing when "he put forth his hand to the ark of God, and took hold of it," but God was not well pleased. The clergy need help, and Professor Watkins said, well, "that every man worked better for a warm support." But what is the practical support the clergy need from lay workers? Inspiration puts it in this way, "If we have sown unto you spiritual things, is it a great thing if we shall reap your carnal things?" How do these lay workers stand in this respect? It is very strange that at the evening meeting of the second day the "bishop announced that this week the widow of a clergyman, lately deceased, had heard that owing to the deficiency in the mission fund, the clergy had their salaries reduced," and as practical evidence of her sympathy she had sent $2,000 in cash to assist them. When reading it, I thought the commendation given by our Lord to another widow might be given to her. "Of a truth, I say unto you, she hath cast in more than they all." She came to the help of the poorest paid clergy in the diocese, "without any display of observation." It is passing strange that she came to the help of the priesthood of God at the very time these lay workers were in convention. Was it the hand of God pointing out to them their duty? If they had done their duty as church workers, there would have been no deficiency in the mission fund, for they have enough and to spare. They "fare sumptuously every day" as compared with her necessities. What a comment is her action upon theirs! Better, far better, for them to give of their abundance than to publicly read lessons and Psalms in the sanctuary of God. Who are the clergy upon whom the widow bestows such heartfelt sympathy? Are they bishops? No. Are they government rectors? No. Are they those who have the wealthy parishes? No. They are the clerical workers in the poorest parishes, or they would not receive from the mission fund. What will these lay workers do? Will they, with callous indifference, be eclipsed by the widow who "did what she could," and allow the stain of neglected duty to remain upon them? or, by clearing themselves, prove the sincerity of their profession as lay workers in the Church of God? What a false position in which to place the overseer of the diocese, as presiding at their convention, unless they honor God and the church by doing their duty. God declares, "Them that honor me I will honor, but them that despise me shall be lightly esteemed."

Hints for Gold-Hunters

By a Practical Miner of Long Experience.

Mr. E. H. Sanders, of Watford, Makes Some Useful Suggestions.

Tales of untold wealth being dug up every day by miners in the Klondike and other places make people's eyes glisten who were in former times engaged in working below the surface of the earth. Old men become young in spirit again when gold is in prospect, and, did strength only permit, a few months would find scores of veterans of this section once more en route for the land where the precious yellow metal is said to be found in such abundance.

Mr. E. H. Sanders, of Watford, was speaking to an Advertiser reporter the other day regarding Mr. W. Hyman's recent trip to the Michipicoten region, which the latter claims to be so rich in gold. Mr. Sanders is a practical miner of long experience, coming from Cornwall, where for many years he worked in copper and tin mines, picking up while there many useful tricks in the hazardous trade.

"There is very little utility in Mr. Hyman's proposal to use a sand pump," said Mr. Sanders, "because the gold being heavy, it would always be found too deep to be reached in that way. The pump would always draw from the surface. I would advocate the use of an eleven-inch cased augur, with a valve attached similar to a sand pump. By this means the surface sand could be avoided. Another useful appliance would be a small dredge, the knife of which should be about eighteen inches, the bag, or cod, of dredge to be composed of thick canvas. This would allow of much more sand being lifted in an hour than in two days with the pump. Prospectors would find augurs of great use, for much time can be saved by this means. People who intend striking for the gold fields should make up their minds that it is all hard work, and a sound constitution is requisite to stand the privations always endured when in a new country. Care should be taken before a start is made that all supplies are provided. I think in the spring there will be a number from this district who will emigrate to try their chances in the various places where gold is said to be abundant."

Mr. Sanders is doing a thriving boot and shoe business in Watford, but he is an enthusiast on mining operations.

LIFE SAVED.—Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs, and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believed it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good."

Ground Broken for a New G. T. R. Roundhouse at Sarnia.

Movement in Freight Very Active On the Canadian Roa — C ondition of the M. C. R.

It is reported that three crews will shortly be removed from the G. T. R. roundhouse at Stratford to Sarnia.

The G. T. R. have broken ground for the new roundhouse at the Sarnia tunnel. The new structure will contain 35 stalls.

Brakeman A. Betcone, of Walkerville, will run on the Port Stanley division in the place of A. Devitt, who has been transferred to Walkerville.

Operations on the new G. T. R. station at Berlin are well advanced, and if the weather continues favorable, it will be ready for occupation by Christmas.

The movement of freight is very active on the Canadian Pacific, notwithstanding the crippling of a few engines. Monday was a record breaker, no less than 267 cars of freight going through Toronto from the west, via the main line, through London, and 101 cars via Hamilton.

A Saginaw, Mich., telegram says: It is practically certain that the Grand Trunk Railway will not immediately put on a noon train service from this place to Detroit and Chicago, in spite of the assurances in the affirmative recently made by Assistant Superintendent Atwater. It is stated from authentic sources that if the state roads have not renounced the interchangeable plan by Jan. 1, the advisability of the increased noon service from this city will be considered. The local agent of the Grand Trunk states that the sale of tickets from their office in this city for the month of October will exceed that of any previous three months for several years past.

President Ledyard, General Superintendent L'Hommedieu and Chief Engineer Torrey, of the Michigan Central, returned yesterday from their inspection trip along their lines and divisions in the western part of the state, says the Detroit News. The general superintendent said that the condition, as seen by the party, was most favorable. There were improvements being made all along, the agents reported prospects as excellent; but the greatest indication of all was the number of requests received for the placing of the sidings in the industrial towns, showing that the manufacturers were beginning to feel the demand for more ready shipment, and the cause of this was, of course, increased business. He said that the building of these industrial sidings was a mark of increasing and improving business relations that a railroad man was quick to note and understand.—St. Thomas Journal.

MR. SECORD'S DEATH.

Sudden Demise of a Wealthy Farmer of River Road, Howard.

G. N. W. Special to Advertiser.

Thamesville, Ont., Nov. 3.—George Secord, a prominent and wealthy farmer of the River Road, Howard, was stricken with apoplexy while sitting at his supper table, surrounded by his family last evening, and died this morning, after being ill eleven hours. Mr. Secord was a man of sterling integrity and industry, a Methodist in religion, and a Reformer in politics. He was 64 years old, and leaves a widow and two sons and three daughters.

MIDDLESEX.

Messrs. H. Brodie and A. Jenkins, of Delaware, passed through Wardsville on Saturday night with 46 birds which they claimed to have shot in two days. They report game plentiful, but rather dry for the dogs.

On Saturday morning last Rev. Geo. Bennett, of Lambeth, had a very narrow escape from death. Intending to take medicine, he took carbolic acid in mistake, the two bottles being placed side by side. Mr. Bennett found out his mistake as soon as he took it in his mouth, and so swallowed very little, if any. Dr. Routledge was at once called in, but found no serious damage done except a very badly burned mouth.

LAKE SHORE—BOSANQUET.

Lake Shore, Bosanquet, Nov. 1.—There was quite a pleasant ripple in the Congregational Church on Sunday morning last, as Mr. Sanford Blunden, of Lake road east, and his charming bride entered. The event came off at the residence of the bride's parents, Oct. 27. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. Mr. Beverly, of Forest, and the happy couple began house-keeping the same evening. As the bridegroom has lived all his life here, and the bride is from the fourth concession of Bosanquet, they are well known and have plenty of friends all around. We all congratulate them and welcome the bride in our midst as one of us.

IVAN.

Ivan, Oct. 30.—The Ivan Choral Club have again resumed their study and training under the very able leadership of Mr. J. T. Dalton, of London. The officers for the following year are: President, Mr. E. T. Caverhill; vice-president, Mr. Wm. McIvor; secretary-treasurer, Mr. J. N. Empey. Mr. Empey reports that the club is in splendid financial standing.

We are pleased to report that Mr. Dugald Graham, who was so dangerously ill, is rapidly recovering.

Mr. J. M. Empey, our genial and successful teacher, has again been re-engaged at an increase of $50 in salary. John merits this, since in the recent tests he passed seven for entrance and one for public school leaving, and all who wrote for promotion.

Mr. J. McEachron, of Dewar's school, has been re-engaged, with an increase of salary.

Mr. Henderson, of Appin, is to follow in the footsteps of Mr. Smith, of Lobo village, after the new year begins. Lobo loses one of its star teachers in Mr. Smith, who is retiring for a time.

Mr. H. D. Johnston, I.P.S., gave two excellent addresses in this vicinity on "The moral development of children," one at Dewar's school on Friday evening, Oct. 22, and the other at Lobo village on Friday evening, Oct. 29. Mr. Johnson handled his subject in an excellent manner, and succeeded in deeply interesting all present. The lectures were accompanied by excellent programmes of vocal and instrumental music, rendered by the following gentlemen: Messrs. A. D. McDonald, G. Smith, J. McEachron, M. Paul, J. Dewar, W. Dewar and R. Squires. The children of each school rendered a number of very suitable and patriotic songs, which reflected great credit upon their teachers as musical instructors. Mr. J. M. Empey filled the chair in each case in a very able manner, to the entire satisfaction and pleasure of all present.

KOMOKA.

Komoka, Nov. 2.—Mrs. W. G. Smith and Mrs. Ward, of London, were visiting friends here one day last week.

Miss Minnie Stilson has returned to Wanstead.

The W. F. M. S. of the Presbyterian Church held their missionary anniversary on Thursday evening. The programme consisted of music by the choir and excellent addresses on missionary work, delivered by Rev. Mr. Moyer, of Dalaware; Rev. Mr. Ross, of Glencoe, and Rev. Mr. Wylley, pastor of Komoka Presbyterian Church. Everyone present went away satisfied with the evening's enjoyment.

The Lord's Supper will be observed in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday, Nov. 7; preparatory service on Friday afternoon at three o'clock.

This week is rally week for all good Royal Templars.

Anniversary services were held in the Methodist Church last Sunday. The church was most beautifully decorated with flowers and evergreens. Rev. Mr. Moyer, of Delaware, occupied the pulpit in the morning, and in the evening Rev. Mr. Blatchford, of Lambeth, preached a very able sermon to a large congregation. On Monday evening a concert and entertainment was held. Although the evening was rather disagreeable, the church was well filled. Mr. Finch very ably occupied the chair. The excellent programme rendered was as follows: Music, by the choir; chairman's address; solo, Miss McQueeney, London; recitation, Miss Davis, Delaware; selection, Delaware Harmony Quartet; address, Rev. Mr. Mortimore, Melrose; duet, the Misses Mowat, London; recitation, Miss Howard, London; solo, Miss Finch, Komoka; speech, Rev. Mr. Moyer, Delaware; solo, Miss L. Mowat, London; speech, Mr. Keath, Komoka; club-swinging, Misses Perkins and Finch; solo, Miss P. Mowat, London; words of advice, Rev. Mr. Moyer; closing selection by the choir. Several of the numbers were encored. All present were satisfied that they had obtained the worth of their 25 cents. The receipts realized a handsome sum, and will go towards repairing the church.

GLEN OAK.

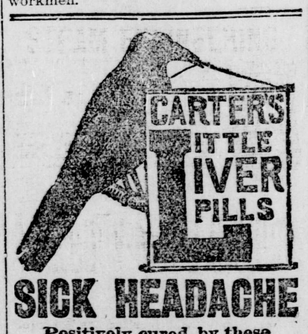

Glen Oak, Nov. 2.—Mrs. Stephenson, of this place (William Stephenson's mother), died in the general hospital, London, on Tuesday of last week after a long illness. The circumstances of the case were somewhat peculiar. Although a postal was sent here to her son William at once, it was not received till Friday evening. In the meantime the body was sent to the undertaker's, where it remained until Saturday, when it was sent to Strathroy and buried beside that of her husband.

THE TORONTO HOMICIDE.

Toronto, Nov. 3.—At the adjourned inquest into the death of John Charles Hutton, who was killed by his father on Saturday evening, the jury returned a verdict to the effect that death resulted from a blow from a pair of shears in the hands of the father of deceased, but that in the opinion of the jury there had been provocation.

THURSDAY, NOV. 4.

BREAKFAST—Boiled sweet apples. Crisped bacon. Potatoes in cream sauce. Corn cakes. Coffee.

LUNCHEON—Potted ham. Hot biscuit. Honey. Tea.

DINNER—Sago soup. Chicken, with mushrooms. Potato croquettes. Dates in cream. Coffee.

Cut out these recipes and paste them in a scrap-book.

Boiled Sweet Apples—Wash one dozen sweet apples; put in a porcelain saucepan, with one cup of sugar and hot water enough to half cover. Cook until the apples may be pierced with a fork, which will be about one-half hour. Take out the apples, pour the syrup over them. Eat cold. Enough for two meals.

Corn Batter Cakes—One and one-half cups white cornmeal, sifted with a teaspoonful of sugar and a half teaspoonful of salt. Add one cup of boiled rice and a teaspoonful of lard. Mix all together and scald with two cups of boiling water, stirring constantly. This with one and one-half cups of sour milk, one-half teaspoonful of soda dissolved in milk; last stir one beaten egg and bake on hot greased griddle.

Potted Ham—The scraps from a boiled ham may be utilized for a small jar of potted meat. Chop all the scraps very fine, removing all the gristle and hard, dry pieces. Pound it to a paste in a mortar, or a wooden chopping bowl, and a potato masher may be used. Measure the paste, and to every half-pint add a half-teaspoonful of mustard and a half saltspoonful of cayenne. If dry, add a teaspoonful of melted butter. Pack tightly into small earthen cups. Paste papers over them, lay covers over the papers and set the cups in a pan of boiling water. Bake slowly one hour. Remove the covers, and, if it is to be kept a length of time, pour melted fat over the top of the meat. Eat cold, sliced very thin.

Chicken, with Mushrooms—Have ready one pound of cold cooked chicken, cut in dice, and one-half pint of mushrooms, cut in small pieces. Cover mushrooms with hot water and cook five minutes. Skim out into a hot dish. Add enough milk to the liquid to make a coffeecupful. Thicken with a tablespoonful of flour rubbed smooth in the same quantity of butter. Season with a saltspoonful of salt and half as much of white pepper. Add the chicken and mushrooms and cook two minutes longer, stirring constantly. Serve on hot platter.

Dates in Cream—Remove the stones from one-half pound of dates. Cut the dates fine and put them in a glass dish. Cover with two cupfuls of whipped cream and let stand in a cold place one-half hour before serving.

SUDDEN DEATH AT LONDESBORO

Seaforth, Ont., Nov. 3.—Thos. Neilands, an old resident of the township of Hulett, died very suddenly at Londesboro yesterday from heart failure. Deceased had been tax collector for the township for over 25 years, and was on his annual rounds yesterday, and stopped at the hotel for dinner, when death came while he was sitting at the table. Mr. Neilands was postmaster at Harlock, and had the contract for carrying the mail between that place and Seaforth for many years. He was a prosperous farmer, widely known and highly respected.

BURLINGTON BANK ROBBERY.

Hamilton, Nov. 2.—Mr. R. G. Baxter's loss will be greater than at first reported. The big safe, which is a total wreck, cost $800, and the bank vault is damaged to the extent of $100. As $1,800 was stolen, the damage done will reach $900, and the insurance only $2,000, his loss is $700. No arrests have been made in connection with the case yet.

ASPHYXIATED.

Newmarket, Ont., Nov. 3.—Mrs. F. Irwin and hired girl were asphyxiated by stove gas last Saturday night, but the fact was only discovered yesterday afternoon. It appears that Mrs. Irwin had filled the stove with coal on Saturday evening, after which she and the girl retired to their respective rooms. Apparently Mrs. Irwin had discovered there was an escape of gas, and had made an effort to rise and reach the middle of the room, when she fell heavily to the floor, receiving some ugly bruises. Mr. Jared Irwin called at the house the following morning, but found the door locked, and thought Mrs. Irwin was not at home. He again called at the house yesterday afternoon, and found everything the same as before. Finally the doors were forced and Mrs. Irwin was found lying on the floor, apparently lifeless. The hired girl was in bed in the same condition. After considerable work the doctor brought both around. The girl is fast recovering, but Mrs. Irwin's chances for recovery are very slim.

A greater number of men than women become stout late in life. No satisfactory explanation is offered of this fact.

Mr. Jacob B. Brown, of Grahamville, S. C., was troubled with chills and fever, and unable to procure relief, until he began to take Ayer's Pills. He is now enjoying excellent health, and is a warm and sincere advocate of Ayer's Pills, for all complaints of stomach, liver or bowels.

A Balm for Many Wounds.

Rev. Dr. Talmage Offers Comfort for the Loss of Children—Taken From the Evil to Come.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—From an unusual standpoint Dr. Talmage offers comfort at the loss of children, and this sermon must be a balm for many wounds. His text is Isaiah, 57,1: "The righteous is taken away from the evil to come."

We all spend much time in panegyric of longevity. We consider it a great thing to live to be an octogenarian. If any one dies in youth we say, "What a pity!" Dr. Muhlenbergh, in old age, said that the hymn written in early life by his own hand no more expressed his sentiment when it said:

"I would not live alway."

If one be pleasantly circumstanced, he never wants to go, William Cullen Bryant, the great poet, at 82 years of age, standing in my house in a festal group, reading "Thanatopsis" without spectacles, was just as anxious to live as when at 18 years of age he wrote that immortal threnody. Albert Barnes, so well prepared for the next world at 70, said he would rather stay here. So it is all the way down. I suppose that the last time that Methuselah was out of doors in a storm he was afraid of getting his feet wet, lest it shorten his days. Indeed, I some time ago preached a sermon on the blessings of longevity, but I now propose to preach to you about the blessings of an abbreviated earthly existence. If I were an Agnostic I would say a man is blessed in proportion to the number of years he can stay on terra firma, because after that he falls off the docks, and if he is ever picked out of the depths it is only to be set up in some morgue of the universe to see if anybody will claim him. If I thought God made man only to last 40 or 50 or 100 years, and then he was to go into annihilation, I would say that his chief business ought to be to keep alive.

But, my friends, you are not Agnostics. You believe in immortality and the eternal residence of the righteous in heaven, and, therefore, I first remark that an abbreviated earthly existence is to be desired, and is a blessing, because it makes one's life-work very compact. Some men go to business at 7 o'clock in the morning and return at 7 in the evening. Others go at 10 and return at 4, I have friends who are ten hours a day in business. I have others who are one hour. They all do their work well; they do their entire work, and then they return. Which position do you think the most desirable? You say, other things being equal, the man who is the shortest time detained in business, and who can return home the quickest, is the most blessed.

Now, my friends, why not carry that good sense into the subject of transference from this world? If a person die in childhood, he gets through his work at 9 o'clock in the morning. If he die at 45 years, he gets through his work at 12 o'clock, noon. If he die at 70 years of age, he gets through his work at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. If he die at 90, he has to toil all the way up to 11 o'clock at night. The sooner we get through our work the better.

Again: There is a blessing in an abbreviated earthly existence in the fact that moral disaster might come upon a man if he tarried longer. Recently, a man who had been prominent in churches, and who had been admired for his generosity and kindness everywhere, for forgery was sent to state prison for fifteen years. Twenty years ago there was no probability of that man's committing a commercial dishonesty. The number of men who fall into ruin between 50 and 70 years of age is simply appalling. If they had died 30 years before it would have been better for them and better for their families. The shorter the voyage, the less chance for a cyclone.

There is a wrong theory abroad, that if one's youth be right, his old age will be right. You might as well say there is nothing wanting for a ship's safety except to get it fully launched on the Atlantic Ocean. The fact is, the great temptation of life sometimes comes far on in mid-life, or in old age. Concerning many people, it may be said it seems as if it would have been better if they could have embarked from this life at 20 or 30 years of age. Do you know the reason why the vast majority of people die before 30. It is because they have not the moral endurance for that which is beyond the 30, and a merciful God will not allow them to be put to the fearful strain.

Again: There is a blessing in an abbreviated earthly existence in the fact that one is the sooner taken off the defensive. As soon as one is old enough to take care of himself he is put on his guard. Bolts on the doors to keep out the robbers. Fire-proof safes to keep off the flames. Life insurance and fire insurance against accident. Defense against cold, against heat, against sickness, against the world's abuse, defense all the way down to the grave, and even the tombstone sometimes is not a sufficient barricade.

If a soldier, who has been on guard, shivering and stung with the cold, pacing up and down the parapet with shouldered musket, is glad when someone comes to relieve guard, and he can go inside the fortress, ought not that man to shout for joy who can put down his weapon of earthly defense and go into the king's castle? Who is the more fortunate, the soldier who has to stand guard twelve hours or the man who has to stand guard six hours? We have common sense about everything but religion, common sense about everything but transference from this world.

Again: There is a blessing in an abbreviated earthly existence in the fact that one escapes so many bereavements. The longer we live the more attachments and the more kindred, the more chords to be wounded or rasped or sundered. If a man live on to 70 or 80 years of age, how many graves are cleft at his feet! In that long reach of time father and mother go, brothers and sisters go, children go, grand-children go, personal friends outside the family circle whom they have loved with a love like that of David and Jonathan. Now, suppose the lad goes at 16 years of age? He escapes 50 funerals, 50 caskets, 50 obsequies, 50 awful wrenchings of the heart. David lost his son. Though David was king, he lay on the earth mourning and inconsolable for some time, at this distance of time, which do you think was the one to be congratulated, the short-lived child or the long-lived father? Had David died as early as that child died he would, in the first place, have escaped that particular bereavement; then he would have escaped the worse bereavement of Absalom, his recreant son, and the pursuit of the Philestines, and the fatigues of his military campaign, and the jealousy of Saul and the perfidy of Ahithophel and the course of Shimei, and the destruction of his family at Ziklag, and above all, he would have escaped the two great calamities of his life, the great sins of uncleanness and murder. David lived to be of vast use to the church and the world, but so far as his own happiness was concerned, does it not seem to you that it would have been better for him to have gone early?

Now, this, my friends, explains some things that to you have been inexplicable. This shows you why, when God takes little children from a household, he is very apt to take the brightest, the most genial, the most sympathetic, the most talented. Why? It is because that kind of nature suffers the most when it does suffer, and is most liable to temptation. God sees the temptest sweeping up from the Carribbean, and he puts the delicate craft into the first harbor. "Taken away from the evil to come."

Again, my friends, there is a blessing in an abbreviated earthly existence in the fact that it puts one sooner in the center of things. All astronomers, infidel as well as Christian, agree in believing that the universe swings around some great center. Now, the center is heaven. That is the capital of the universe. That is the great metropolis of immensity.

The best way to study a piece of machinery is not to stand on the doorstep and try to look in, but to go in with the engineer and take our place right amid the saws and the cylinders. We wear our eyes out, and our brain out, from the fact that we are studying under such great disadvantage. We are down in the cellar trying to study the palace of the universe, while our departed Christian friends have gone upstairs amid the skylights to study. Now, when one can sooner get to the center of things, is he not to be congratulated? Who wants to be always in the freshman class? We study God in this world by the biblical photograph of him; but we all know we can, in five minutes of interview with a friend, get more accurate idea of him than through pictures or words. The little child that died last night knows more of God than all Andover, and all Princeton, and all New Brunswick, and all Edinburgh, and all the theological institutes in Christendom. Is it not better to go up to the very headquarters of knowledge? What fools we all are to prefer the circumference to the center. What a dreadful thing it would be if we should be suddenly ushered from this wintry world into the Maytime orchards of heaven, and if our pauperism of sin and sorrow should be suddenly broken up by a presentation of an emperor's castle, surrounded by parks, with springing fountains and paths up and down which angels of God walk two and two.

We stick to this world as though we preferred cold drizzle to warm habitation, discord to cantata, sackcloth to royal purple; as though earth and heaven had exchanged apparel, and earth had taken on bridal array and heaven had gone into deep mourning, all its waters stagnant, all its harps broken, all chalices cracked at the dry wells, all the lawns sloping to the river plowed with graves, with dead angels under the furrow. Oh, I want to break up my own infatuation, and I want to break up your infatuation with this world. I tell you, if we are ready, and if our work is done, the sooner we go the better, and if there are blessings in longevity, I want you to know right well there are also blessings in an abbreviated earthly existence.

If the spirit of this sermon is true, how consoled you ought to feel about members of your family that went early. "Taken from the evil to come," this book says. What a fortunate escape they had! How glad we ought to feel that they will never have to go through the struggles which we have had to go through. They had just time enough to get out of the cradle and run up to the springtime hills of this world and see how it looked, and then they started for a better stopping-place.

And if the spirit of this sermon is true, then we ought not to go around sighing and groaning when another year is going; but we ought to go down on one knee by the milestone and see the letters and thank God that we are three hundred and sixty-five days nearer home. We ought not to go around with morbid feelings about our health or about anticipated demise. We ought to be living not according to that old maxim which I used to hear in my boyhood, that you must live as though every day were the last; you must live as though you were to live forever, for you will.

On Christmas Day I witnessed something very thrilling. We had just distributed the family presents on Christmas morning, when I heard a great cry of distress in the hallway. A child from a neighbor's house came in to say her father was dead. It was only three doors off, and I think in two minutes we were there. There lay the old Christian sea captain, his face upturned toward the window, as though he had suddenly seen the headlands, and with an illuminated countenance, as though he were just going into harbor. The fact was he had already got through the "Narrows." In the adjoining room were the Christmas presents waiting for his distribution. Long ago, one night, when he had narrowly escaped with his ship from being run down by a great ocean steamer, he had made his peace with God, and a kinder neighbor or a better man than Capt. Pendleton you would not find this side of heaven. Without a moment's warning the pilot of the heavenly harbor had met him just off the lightship.

He had often talked to me of the goodness of God, and especially of a time when he was about to enter New York harbor with his ship from Liverpool, and he was suddenly impressed that he ought to put back to sea. Under the protest of the crew, and under their very threat, he put back to sea, fearing at the same time he was losing his mind, for it did seem so unreasonable that when they could get into harbor that night they should put back to sea. But they put back to sea, and Capt. Pendleton said to his mate: "You call me at 10 o'clock tonight." At 12 o'clock at night the captain was aroused and said: "What does this mean? I thought I told you to call me at 10 o'clock, and here it is 12." "Why," said the mate, "I did call you at 10 o'clock, and you got up, looked around and told me to keep right on the same course for two hours, and then to call you at 12." Said the captain: "Is it possible? I have no remembrance of that."

At 12 o'clock the captain went on deck, and through the rift of a cloud the moonlight fell upon the sea and showed him a shipwreck with 100 struggling passengers. He helped them off. Had he been any earlier or any later at that point of the sea he would have been of no service to those drowning people. On board the captain's vessel they began to band together as to what they should pay for the rescue and what they should pay for the provisions. "Ah," says the captain, "my lads, you can't pay me anything; all I have on board is yours; I feel too greatly honored of God in having saved you to take any pay." Just like him. He had never got any pay except that of his own applauding conscience.

Oh, that the old sea captain's God might be my God and yours! Amid the stormy seas of this life may we have always someone as tenderly to take care of us as the captain took care of the drowning crew and the passengers. And may we come into the harbor with as little physical pain and with as bright a hope as he had, and if it should happen to be Christmas morning, when the presents are being distributed and we are celebrating the birth of him who came to save our shipwrecked world, all the better, for what grander, brighter Christmas present could we have than heaven?

All the poetry, all the romance, all that is ideal in the wide, wide world, is bound up in that one word: "Motherhood." A woman's greatest happiness, her greatest duty and her greatest privilege is to become the mother of a healthy, happy child. Untold thousands of women fall short of this because of weakness and disease of their womanly selves. Either they live childless lives, or for a brief spell are the mothers of puny, sickly children that bring them only pain, and leave them only sorrow.

The woman who suffers from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organs is certain to become an invalid. No woman can suffer in this way and be a healthy, happy, amiable wife and a competent mother. Troubles of this nature sap the strength, rack the nerves, paint lines of suffering upon the face, destroy the temper, make the once bright eyes dull and the once active brain sluggish, and transform a vivacious woman into a weak, sickly, invalid.

This is all wrong. It is all unnecessary. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a marvelous medicine for ailing women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs that bear the burdens of maternity and makes them strong and healthy. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain and tones and builds up the nerves. It banishes the discomforts of the expectant months and makes baby's coming easy and almost painless. It guarantees the little new-comer's health and an ample supply of nourishment. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits. An honest dealer will not endeavor to substitute some inferior preparation for the sake of an extra little selfish profit.

"I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription previous to confinement," writes Mrs. Corda Culpepper, of Tanks, Cottle Co., Texas, "and never did so well in my life. It is only two weeks and I am able to do my work."

In most healthy families you will find Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. For a paper-covered copy send 31 one-cent stamps, to cover customs and mailing only. Cloth bound 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Greater New York Makes Its Bed.

Apart from the contest in Greater New York, the elections in the United States yesterday were without much interest to outsiders. But the campaign for supremacy in the second city of the world was of such a character as to concentrate on it the attention of the people everywhere. The result is as foreshadowed in these columns. The Tammany Democracy has triumphed, Mr. Van Wyck, its candidate for the mayoralty, and its ticket generally, has been indorsed, and the vote for the nominee of the Republicans falls below that given to Seth Low, the candidate of the Citizens' Union, or non-partisan candidate. This must be a humiliation to Senator Platt and the McKinley managers in the State who forced a Republican candidate into the contest, though well knowing that the only hope of beating the Tammany Democrats lay in concentrating the opposition vote on a man like Mr. Low, who could find many backers in the ranks of the Democracy, and whose record as mayor of Brooklyn proved that he was a man who could be trusted.

Now that the Tammany Democrats have elected the mayor of Greater New York, it is interesting to note the importance of their triumph, the responsibilities it involves, and the power placed in the hands of the chief magistrate. The mayor has been elected for four years. He has a salary of $15,000 a year, or over double the income paid to a Dominion Cabinet Minister. He is not eligible for a second term immediately following the first. His powers and responsibility are large. He appoints—and may remove during the first six months of his term—all heads of departments except those which the charter declares elective, such as the controller. As Greater New York will begin with a total of 33,000 employes, the power of the mayor is thus shown to be enormous. He has a force under his control greater than that of the standing army of the American Republic. Of these, 7,000 will be policemen, and 4,000 will work in the department of streets—armies which in the nature of things, notwithstanding all safeguards thrown about them in the new charter, are peculiarly amenable to the influences of the man who is practically dictator during his term of office. It is estimated that the annual salaries of these employes will average $1,000 each, giving a grand total of $33,000,000 a year paid out in salaries to public officials in the city. The whole expenditure of the Greater New York will amount to about $70,000,000. The mayor of Greater New York will have almost supreme power over the executive departments of the metropolis. He is not only a member of the two great executive boards—the board of public improvements and the board of estimate and apportionment, which may be called the practical and the financial departments of the government—but he himself appoints a majority of the other members. Of the fifteen members of the board of public improvements he is one, and he appoints eight more. Of the five of the board of estimate and apportionment he is one and appoints two more. He thus controls nine-fifteenths of the one and three-fifths of the other. He appoints these members on his own authority, without need of confirmation by any other body, and he has the absolute power of removing any of them, with or without stated cause, at any time during the first six months of his term. Nor is that all. He is to appoint in the same way a great number of other officers, executive and judicial, all constituting such a roll of patronage as is scarcely to be found elsewhere. To these officers, appointed by the mayor, is given the power of appointing their assistants, subject to their passing certain examinations. Thus the personal composition of the entire city government will depend upon the mayor.

When the Republican majority in the New York Legislature passed the charter of Greater New York, its party was in power, not only in the State, but in the city, and it was hopeful that under the favorable conditions existing, and the discrediting of the Tammany Democracy through the exposure of Croker and others, the extended municipality would declare for Republican control. It has not done so. Senator Platt's intervention with a candidate of his own after so many Republicans had declared for Low, and against the Boss in municipal management, no doubt aided to this result. It matters little now how it was brought about. Mr. Van Wyck is on top. Tammany reigns. For four years to come, or after the next Presidential election, the Democrats will dominate the affairs of the great city. If they govern wisely and honestly, they will not only benefit Greater New York, but falsify the prophecies of their opponents, founded in large measure on past experience, and gain reputation outside the city, thereby aiding the next Democratic national ticket to attain victory. Van Wyck has a great opportunity. Will he rise to it?

The Ontario Opposition leader has been professing that he knows just what the people of this Province require. This has been his attitude for a long time back. But now, within a few months of the general election, up bob leading Conservative journals with demands for a convention of the party that it may be ascertained where they are at. Poor Mr. Whitney! In the multitude of his counselors he does not find wisdom at the eleventh hour.

Canadian Banks and Surplus Cash.

The Winnipeg Free Press joins with those who adversely criticise Canadian banks for taking up a part of the late Dominion loan, and plainly tells the capitalists that while this disposal of surplus cash will not be disastrous, it was a mistake nevertheless. If the money were to be withdrawn from circulation for the benefit of Canada for any length of time, the course followed by the bankers would no doubt be objectionable. With so many undeveloped resources, Canada needs all the capital, at low interest, that she can obtain, and it would not be advisable to permanently tie up any portion of her working capital. But it may be fair in the meantime to accept the explanation of the bankers as reasonable. The directors of the leading bank which took up the new bonds, at 2½ per cent, explain that they did so as an ordinary investment. For the purposes of their business in Great Britain, they have to keep money permanently in England, and they considered the new 2½ per cents of Canada as safe an investment as could be obtained, seeing the bonds will always be readily convertible into cash. It is also understood that other Canadian monied institutions were purchasers of these bonds as an ordinary speculation. They reason that Canada's standing as a nation will from now out constantly better—that her credit, because of her constantly developing great natural resources, must improve, and that 2½ per cent bonds bought now, on undoubtedly most advantageous terms for the Dominion, at less than 92, will soon be worth more than par. The temporary purchase of our bonds by Canadian bankers is thus a tribute to the high financial standing of the country and an exhibition of faith in its future. If the Dominion continues to progress at the rate which now appears more than probable, it will not be long before every cent of Canadian money invested in 2½ per cent bonds is diverted into investments in Canada of a more permanent character.

You cannot run a man on the reputation of his father. Henry George, jun., discovered that at the close of the Greater New York contest yesterday.

Corn in Evidence.

The Hamilton Spectator professes to commisserate with the farmers of "Essex, Kent and other corn growing counties," because, as it asserts, corn is selling in them for 20 cents a bushel. Middlesex is a corn growing county, and London is the commercial center of the corn growing counties. But corn is selling here for from 31½c to 34c per bushel, according to quality. Our contemporary should be sure of its facts before it builds up its grumbles against existing conditions, which, for farmers as well as for every other class of citizens, have steadily improved during the last year.

East Grey Conservatives have nominated Mr. J. B. Lucas, barrister, Markdale, as their candidate for the Legislature. Mr. John Boland, the popular Artemesia farmer, is the Liberal nominee.

A Big Oil Deal.

The Standard Oil Company continues to gobble up independent producers in the Pennsylvania oil field. Three influential organizations—the Devonian, Watson, and Emery Oil Companies—owning 20,000 acres of partly developed territory in the Bradford, McKean county, field, have sold out to the South Penn Oil Company, a producing branch of the Standard Company. On the property are located between 400 and 450 producing wells, having a total output of more than 5,000 barrels a day. There are also 20 drilling wells, some nearing completion. The three companies have sold all their properties for a cash consideration of $1,400,000. This deal ends one of the most persistent efforts by independent persons to compete against the Standard—notably that of Mr. Emery. His warfare against the ruling corporation on behalf of the independents, their fields and the pipe lines, is still fresh in public memory. But no ordinary oil organization, around which the Standard is able to cast its octopus claws, can long withstand it.

A Winnipeg dispatch says that winter apples from Eastern Canada are preferred by Manitobans. Dealers prefer to pay a higher price for Ontario apples than for apples from Missouri and Kansas. The preference proves their good sense. No apples possess the keeping qualities of our northern fruit, or are more delicious in taste, even after storage of months.

Good News for Workers.

Because of the improved outlook in trade, Senator Sanford, of Hamilton, has advanced the wages of his hands—1,000 in number—10 per cent, bringing the remuneration up to what it was when a reduction took place in 1896.

In Quebec, a number of shoe factories, which were shut down or running short time for a considerable period, are now working the full day. Over 700 hands were effected.

Now Mr. Potato Pingree is out of the swim in Detroit, the Republicans are not in it.

Give Them Life Sentences.

Chancellor Boyd takes the ground that the best way to dispose of habitual criminals would be to confine them for life in jail. Such a course would be better for them and for the community upon which they prey. The Chancellor does not say what should be done to the thief and burglar caught in his unlawful pursuit with murderous weapons in his possession. As such an one is always prepared to kill when his liberty is in danger, surely he too should be given a life sentence. There would be much less temptation for burglars to resort to firearms, slung-shots, or bowie knives, if it were known in advance that a life sentence awaits the thief found with them in his possession.

Men and Things.

In reading the reports of the World's W. C. T. U. Convention, recently held at Toronto, I was impressed by some remarks made by Father Ryan, of Toronto, on the plan of pledging boys to abstain till 21 years of age. I wrote Father Ryan, asking him to give me any additional particulars as to the success and the underlying principle of the plan adopted. In courteous compliance with my request, Father Ryan sends me the following interesting letter:

"In reply to your note, asking for a further explanation of Archbishop Walsh's plan of pledging young people to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, I would say in brief: The Catholic Church is quite in sympathy with every well-meant and wisely-directed effort to promote the cause of temperance. As to particular methods, and sometimes, perhaps, as to principles, we may differ from our separated brethren, but in the main we are united with all who honestly and zealously work for the cause of Christian sobriety. In my address at the W. C. T. U meeting, I illustrated our church's views and methods in this matter by the action of Archbishop Walsh.

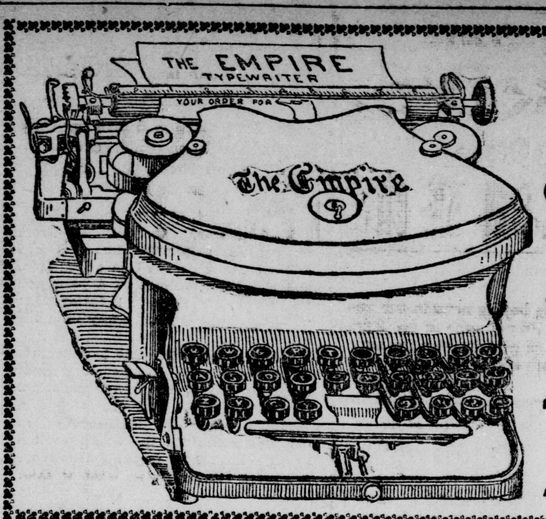

"He makes it a rule when administering the Sacrament of Confirmation, to pledge the children he confirms to abstain from intoxicating drink till they are 21 years of age. During his episcopal ministry in London and Toronto he has confirmed over 60,000 children. The average age for confirmation is about 12 years, so that during this most important, difficult and dangerous period of their lives, these children are total abstainers. His Grace has made it his business to ascertain at recurring episcopal visits to the various parishes how the total abstinence pledge has been kept, and he has found that the vast majority of boys and girls are most faithful to their promise, and a very large number continue this virtuous habit of total abstinence during their lives. This is a splendid instance of the beneficial action of our church in the temperance cause, and it is not only the work of our bishop. Other bishops, I believe, adhere to the same rule when administering the Sacrament of Confirmation. It is worth noting that we hold that confirmation is a sacrament which makes us strong and perfect Christians, and we believe, as a matter of fact, that our children keep their total abstinence pledge because of the supernatural strength that they receive in confirmation, and the continual supernatural aid supplied by two other sacraments—Penance and the Holy Eucharist—as well as the help obtained by daily prayer.

"We hear a good deal nowadays about scientific temperance. We Catholics believe in scientific temperance, but Archbishop Walsh believes more in supernatural temperance—supernatural in motives and means—which he knows is the only kind of temperance that can be rightly called Christian. Respectfully yours, F. RYAN.

In the November North American Review Dr. Prince A. Morrow writes on "Leprosy and Hawaiian Annexation." Dr. Morrow very pertinently says, "the maritime importance to this country and the advantages which would follow Hawaiian annexation from a commercial standpoint have been fully set forth, but the sanitary aspects of the scheme have received no attention. When it is considered that more than 10 per cent of the Hawaiian race are afflicted with leprosy it becomes a serious question as to what will be the effect of the absorption of this tainted population upon the health interests of this land."

An article by Mark Twain written in the style of "The Innocents Abroad" and illustrated by A. B. Frost and Peter Newell, is a promise that magazine readers do not have held out to them every day. It is in the November number of McClure's Magazine that this rare feast of humor is to be served.

HENRY GEORGE'S METHODS.

[Montreal Herald.]

When Henry George was last in Canada he told an admirer with whom he was talking, that his first book, "Progress and Poverty," was read over page by page to his wife, who was innocent of any knowledge of economics or politics. Where his wife could not understand what he wrote, he rewrote and rewrote it until every sentence was plain to her. In this way he sought to make his message clear to the unlearned. Thus at the outset of his career was shown the unusual character of the man.

ALASKA DOGS WEAR SHOES.

[Spokane Spokesman-Review.]

In Alaska even the dogs are required to wear shoes—at least, part of the time. It is not on account of the cold, for the shaggy Eskimo dog will live and be frisky where a man would freeze to death. The dog does all of the work of dragging and carrying which in this country falls to the horse, and in trotting over the rough ice of the mountain passes his feet soon become bruised and sore. Then his driver makes him soft little moccasins out of buckskin or reindeer skin and ties them on with stout thongs of leather.

SHIFTED INTEREST.

The football season comes again,
So, rouse ye braves with flaunting hair,
While echoing over hill and plain
Applause proclaims your merits rare

Who heeds the diplomatic row
Conducted in soft civil tones?
That's far too mild to suit us now,
It blacks no eyes and breaks no bones.

These Bering disputants must learn
That o'er their words we can't enthuse.
The sealskin gives us small concern.
The pigskin's what the world pursues.

The London Echo gives a list of large landowners in Australia. One of them has 620,000 acres, another 1,200,000, a third 3,600,000, while the Union Bank owns no fewer than 7,800,000 acres.

The Prince of Wales does not take so much interest in his wardrobe as he did some years ago. DROWNED IN A CISTERN.

THE WAIFS OF TORONTO.

Toronto, Nov. 3.—Dr. Sheard, city medical health officer, on Tuesday morning presented a report to the board of health, showing that no less than 500 illegitimate children are born in Toronto. A very considerable number of these children are disposed of within 24 hours after birth, and before they have been seen by the mother. They are sent to public institutions in Montreal and Ottawa, which are said to be constantly on the lookout for children which cannot be identified afterwards by parents.

World's Biggest Cannon

It Weighs 126 Tons and Shoots Sixteen Miles.

It Hurls a 2,300-Pound Shell With the Impact of a 2,000-Ton Ship at Full Speed.

[Philadelphia Times.]

The largest gun ever built in the world is now being constructed at the Bethlehem iron works. This enormous piece of ordnance will weight, when completed, 126 tons. It will exceed by six tons weight the monster gun which Krupp, of Germany, exhibited at the World's Fair in Chicago, and in length it will be nearly five feet longer than the German gun. This monster weapon is being fabricated under the orders of the war department. It is the biggest order ever given to any establishment in the world.

The intention of the war department, it is announced, is to mount the great piece on a specially-built foundation on Romer Shoals. The protection for this gun will be a turret, which will wholly inclose the crew and the greater part of the gun. From its position on Romer Shoals the great piece of ordnance will have a full sweep of the channels leading into New York harbor. There is not, it is declared, a vessel afloat today with armor of sufficient strength to resist its shot. John F. Meigs estimates that a blow from the new gun would have a striking energy equal to that of a 2,000-ton ship when running at full speed. The shot from the gun, he adds, would smash, crack and batter down any armor which it would be possible for a ship to carry.

The caliber will be 16 inches. The length, from breech to muzzle, will be 49 feet 2 inches. Through the breech in a vertical line the gun will have a measurement of exactly 5 feet. Mr. Meigs computes the weight of a shot for the new gun at a little over 2,300 pounds. That means more than a ton of metal. The heaviest shots fired in England have not weighed over 2,000 pounds.

The powder charge for the American gun will weigh nearly 1,000 pounds. Provided extreme elevation for range could be obtained, a shot from the New York harbor should be able to travel more than sixteen miles. The greatest known range ever attained was from the famous "jubilee shot" in England. The distance measured about twelve statute miles.

The United States has never before attempted any heavier piece of ordnance than a 12-inch gun. The weight of a piece of the latter caliber is approximately 50 tons. In the 16-inch gun there is observed a jump of 76 tons increase in weight.

The building of the new 16-inch gun is an expensive undertaking. The gun itself will cost about $120,000. For single guns the average cost to the government for all fabrication work in this country is roughly $1,000 per ton of gun. The cost of the gun carriage and turret will bring the cost up to as much again as the weapon, while the cost for foundation will, it is estimated, round out a grand total of at least $300,000. The foundation for the 16-inch gun will require a depth, it is said, of 50 feet if earth be the basis. This foundation must be constructed of concrete.

FACTS ABOUT HEALTH

It Is Easy to Keep Well if We Know How—Some of the Conditions Necessary to Perfect Health.

The importance of maintaining good health is easily understood, and it is really a simple matter if we take a correct view of the conditions required. In perfect health the stomach promptly digests food, and thus prepares nourishment. The blood is employed to carry this nourishment to the organs, nerves, muscles and tissues which need it. The first great essential for good health, therefore, is pure, rich blood. Now it is certainly a fact that no medicine has such a record of cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is literally true that there are hundreds of people alive and well today who would have been in their graves had they not taken Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is depended upon as a family medicine and general regulator of the system by tens of thousands of people. This is because Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood pure. This is the secret of its great success. Keep your system in good health by keeping your blood pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla, which absolutely cures when other medicines fail to do any good whatever.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

The grain receipts were only moderate. Prices ruled steady, and there was really no change, excepting in wheat, which advanced 2c per 100 lbs during the first part of the week, and has remained steady since. Today $1 40 was the price for No. 1 at the close of the session. There is a good deal of poor wheat offering, a lot of which is spoiled, and for this class $1 to $1 25 is paid.

Oats came in clowly, and ranged from 63c to 66c per 100 lbs, according to quality.

Peas were scarce, and sold mostly at 70c, though buyers seemed to want to pay less, most loads being started at 70c; one lot was run up to 79c under extreme competition.

Barley sold at 60c, and buckwheat at 60c to 65c.

No rye offered, and the price quoted for it is based on transactions at least a week old.

New corn sold from 70c; demand limited.

Beans were quiet; very few offered; 50c to 60c was bid.

No timothy or clover seed came forward, though there is considerable talk about both. We see Toronto quotes $3 to $3 10 as the price clover is being offered at west.

Eggs have been quite firm, at 14c to 16c by the lot, and 17c to 18c by the single dozen.

Butter sold from 14c to 20c according to make and quality.

Honey was plentiful and sold from 7c to 10c per lb.

Cheese has been very dull, and prices so low that few of the salesmen for factories have done any business. The local wholesale trade has been at 7c to 10c.

Chickens were steady at 40c to 50c; quite a quantity of small birds came in; duckes were steady at 50c to 70c a pair, and sold a little lower; turkeys brought 8c to 10c per lb, mostly 8c and 9c; geese were quiet at 50c to 75c each.

Beef quiet; sales 2½c to 4c on foot, the latter for export only; by the quarter 4c to 6c was the range.

Lamb sold at 8c to 9c, and veal at 5c to 6c.

Dressed hogs were easy at $5 50 for choice dressed; heavy sold at $4 50 to $5.

Live hogs brought 4c.

Hides, skins and tallow show no change; demand good.

Apples offered freely and sold at 50c to 75c by the bag, and $2 to $2 25 by the barrel.

Pears were quoted at $2 75 to $3 per barrel. Grapes ranged from 1½c to 4c, the latter price for fancy. Peaches ranged from 40c to 60c a basket, and quinces at 30c to 35c by the basket.

Potatoes opened at 75c to 90c per bag and closed at 75c to 80c; demand and supply both moderate.

A good selection of squash offered, and quite a lot of cabbage and celery; prices were steady.

Feeding carrots went from 15c to 20c a bushel; turnips, 25c to 30c a bag; mangels, 11c to 12½c bushel.

Live chickens sold from 30c to 40c a pair; ducks, at 50c; young pigs at $4 to $4 50. No cows offered.

Hay—Sales were steady at $6 to $7, $7 50 being occasionally realized on extra choice lots.

Live Stock Market.

TORONTO.

Toronto, Nov. 2.—Receipts at the Toronto cattle market today were fairly heavy, being 44 cars, including 700 sheep and lambs, 1,600 hogs, 22 cows and 14 calves.

Export cattle were dull, on small receipts and a limited demand. Cables were discouraging. Nothing touched 4c, the best price being $4 90 per cwt, and from that to $4 50.

Butchers' cattle — The quality was better and prices were firm, owing to a better demand for Montreal and local butchers. Some choice sold at $3 75 per cwt; the general run for good loads was 3¼c to 3½c. Quite a few loads of medium sold at 3c.

Bulls—Some good export sold at 3½c, and stock bulls sold at 2¾c to 3¼c. Distillery men want a few good feeding bulls.

Stockers and feeders—There was an active demand for light stockers for Buffalo, at $2 90 to $3 30 per cwt. Distillery men and farmers are buying a few feeders, at $3 40 to $3 60 per cwt, some half-fat steers going perhaps a little higher.

Sheep and lambs—There was scarcely any inquiry for export sheep, on account of depressing cables; prices ruled from 3c to 3¼c per lb. Butchers' sheep quiet at $3 50 to $3 75 each. There was a good demand for lambs for Buffalo, and prices were firm at 4¼c per lb.

Calves—Choice sell readily at top prices, too many poor calves coming forward. Quotations rule from $2 to $8 each.

Milch cows and springers — There were quite a few dairymen on the market looking for newly-calved cows; choice cows and early springers sold readily, but common cows were not wanted. Prices were firm at $25 to $46

Hogs — Offerings were lighter, and the market was firm at 4¼c to 4½c, for choice selections, weighed off the cars. Thick fat light and stores sell at 4½c; stores are wanted.

MONTREAL.

Montreal, Nov. 1.—In local export live stock circles there is no new feature to note; demand here for shipment is exceedingly quiet, owing to the continued discouraging advices from abroad and the steady downward tendency to values; shipments of live stock from here for the month of October were 16,715 cattle, 12,405 sheep and 915 horses, making a total to date of 103,111 cattle, 54,828 sheep and 8,853 horses.

The offerings of live stock at the east end abattoir market this morning were 500 cattle, 500 sheep, 500 lambs and 25 calves; the supply of cattle was smaller today than it has been for some time past; the tone of the market was steady, and prices show no material change; the demand from butchers was good, and a fairly active trade was done; there was also some buying of common bulls for shipment to Buffalo, at prices ranging from 1¼c to 1¾c per lb; good beeves sold at 3¾c to 4c; fair at 3c to 3½c; common at 2¼c to 2¾c, and inferior at 1¼c to 2c per lb, live weight.

In small meats the feature was the demand for lambs for shipment to Boston, and as the supply was not large, prices were fully maintained, good to choice stock selling at 4c to 4¼c, and culls at 3½c to 3¾c per lb, live weight.

The demand for sheep on export account was slow, only a few small bunches of choice stock being taken at 3c; lower grades sold at 2½c to 2¾c per lb, live weight.

Owing to the scarcity of good to choice calves, prices for such are advancing, sales today being at $12 to $15 each for choice; $8 to $10 for good; $5 to $7 for fair, and $1 to $4 for common to inferior.

At the Point St. Charles stock yards the receipts were 125 cattle and 200 hogs; there was a fair demand for cattle from local dealers, and sales were made at 2½c to 3¼c per lb, live weight. The feature of the market is the continued weakness for hogs, and a further decline of 40c per 100 lbs, with the demand slow at 4½c per lb, live weight.

EAST BUFFALO.

East Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Cattle—Receipts, only one car of Canadas, and not over that; many held over from yesterday's trade; the market ruled quiet and easy for the few on offer; the total supply of stockers and feeders was fully as many as last week, when all were in on Monday; the market for strictly firm lots of well-bred and shapey stockers or feeders was nearly as good as last week, but at best full easy; while common to fair grades and light lots of yearlings sold slowly and lower, but all were cleaned up; fine colored and shapey, clean-cut Michigan stock outsold the common to fair or fairly good Canadian stock; fair to good stockers sold at $3 25 to $3 75; fancy, $3 85 to $3 90; few $4; good to choice feeders, $3 65 to $3 90; up to $4, with a few very extra well-bred at $4 10 to $4 15, and a load of big, but coarse and thin staters, of 1,233 pounds, at $4.

Hogs—Receipts, 12 cars; fair demand, with stronger reports from Chicago and other western points; there was a general advance of 5c per cwt. on all grades except pigs; prime select Yorkers, $3 80 to $3 85; mixed packers' grades, $3 80; medium weights, $3 80 to $3 85; heavy hogs, $3 80 to $3 85; roughs, $3 30 to $3 40; stags, $2 75 to $3 15; pigs, $3 25 to $3 80.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, about 10 cars, including five loads of Canadians, and nine loads held over from yesterday; the demand for lambs was very tame, and while prices were without decided change, the general tone of the trade was no stronger; sheep were again in light supply, and ruled about steady for the limited number on offer; the fifteen loads of Canadian stockers that came in Sunday and Monday, the bulk of them late Monday, sold at about steady last week's closing prices, all but one load being sold at the close; heavy Canada sheep, fat and smooth, sold at $4 25 to $4 35; lambs, yearlings, choice to prime, $4 65 to $4 75; fair to good, $4 15 to $4 50; culls to common yearlings, $3 60 to $4 10; native lambs, choice to extra, $4 50 to $5 50; fair to good, $5 10 to $5 35; culls to common, $4 25 to $5; native clipped sheep, choice to selected wethers, $4 50 to $4 75; good to choice mixed, $4 to $4 40; common to fair, $3 50 to $3 90; culls to common, $2 50 to $3 25; export ewes to prime wethers, $3 75 to $4 50.

OLD COUNTRY PRICES.

London, Nov. 1.—Owing to increased supplies and the falling off in the demand, the market for both cattle and sheep was weaker today, and prices for the former declined ¼c to ½c, and for the latter ½c to 1c. Choice States cattle sold at 11¼c; choice Canadian western at 9½c; ranchers at 8½c, and Argentine at 10c. Choice Canadian and Argentine sheep brought 10c.

Messrs. John Olde & Son, live stock salesmen, of London, Eng., write W. H. Beamen, live stock agent of the board of trade, as follows, under date of Oct. 21: There was a slight improvement in the trade both for cattle and sheep; 1,177 States cattle realizing 5½d to 5¾d per lb, 140 South American sold at 5d, 1,400 South American sheep at 5¼d per lb, 1,270 Canadian realized 5¼d, 86 South American cattle were not offered for sale.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Mr. Tracey O'Brien, of This City, Dies After a Short Illness.

John Tracey O'Brien, of 379 Horton street, died suddenly at his home last night after a very short illness. Deceased was a well known young man, and the news of his death will be received with sorrow by his numerous acquaintances. Mr. O'Brien, for the past year, had been employed as bookkeeper and stenographer at John Labatt's brewery, and was looked upon by his employer as a young man of exceptional ability. On Saturday he worked all day, and towards evening felt a little unwell. On Sunday he complained of pains in his chest and stomach, and Dr. Hodge was summoned. He grew gradually worse, notwithstanding the combined efforts of three physicians, and died last night. Drs. Moorhouse, Hodge and Neu held a post-mortem this morning to ascertain the cause of death, but were unable to do so. J. Tracey O'Brien was a member of St. John's Lodge, No. 203a, A., F. and A. M., secretary of the Conservative Club, and a hard worker in its interest. He was a member of the Church of England, and took an active part in all church undertakings. He leaves three sisters, one of whom is Miss Florence, school teacher; one brother, and father and mother to mourn his loss. It was the first death in the family, and his parents—Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien—will have much sympathy.

LIQUOR LICENSE LAW.

Interview With the Government on Amendments Proposed by the Prohibitory Alliance.

Toronto, Nov. 3.—A deputation from the executive committee of the Ontario Prohibition Alliance yesterday waited upon the cabinet, asking for some slight amendments to the license law. They asked that power be given to the majority of the electors in a polling sub-division to prevent the renewal of an existing license in any year, and also that the electors of any municipality shall have power still further to limit the hours of sale. Ald. Spence, who introduced the deputation, said they very much appreciated the progress that had been made—there was no doubt that in regard to the liquor question in the last few years there had been great progress. Not as much had been done as public sentiment would warrant, but they recognized the advance and appreciated the efforts that had been made to meet this sentiment.

In reply to Premier Hardy, Mr. Spence said that they wished the first provision to apply everywhere, town and county alike. Mr. Spence objected to the present law, as it compelled those anxious for the removal of a licensed house to give the man notice.

Mr. Hardy asked why this should not be done, as they were going to take away a man's property.

"Especially," interjected Mr. Gibson, "as you can get a petition signed for anything, even to hanging a man."

Mr. Spence said they were not objecting to the notice, but to the kind and extent of the notice, in that a notice had to be served upon every interested owner in the property as well as the occupant.

The attorney-general pointed out that one could not go into a division court for $5 without giving notice, but here a man would be attacked for $10,000. It never occurred to him to think there was anything unjust about it.

The recent granting of a license in Lorne Park was discussed, it appearing that it had occurred through an accidental confusion of Lorne Park with Long Branch. Mr. Hardy said that the license would not be issued for another year if the government had power to stop it. He promised consideration of the requests made by the deputation.

THE YANTIC.

Montreal, Nov. 3.—The difficulty in regard to the United States gunboat Yantic has been arranged. Lieut. Hodges, of the Michigan Naval Reserve, has received a message from Gov. Pingree ordering him to accept the Yantic at once in her present condition, on behalf of the State of Michigan. The owners of the steamer Canadienne will look to the underwriters for compensation. The Yantic will proceed on her way through the canals to Detroit.

AN ULCERATED TOOTH

Proves Fatal to a Young Man in Woodstock—Blood-Poisoning Ensued.

Woodstock, Nov. 3.—Mr. Jasper Stamp, a young man who has been boarding at the Rapson House for the past year, died Monday, the result of blood poisoning caused by an ulcerated tooth. Stamp went to a dentist a short time ago, and was treated for a tooth. Shortly afterwards the affected part burst, blood poisoning set in, and death ensued yesterday. Deceased was 24 years of age, and was the son of Thomas Stamp, Railway street.

Enlarging the Hospital.

City Doctors Favor Plans for Its Remodeling.

And Recommend Them to the Trust—Great Extensions Proposed.

A largely attended meeting of the medical profession was held last night, about 40 leading physicians being present. Dr. Moorhouse occupied the chair. The purpose was to consider plans for the remodeling and enlargement of the general hospital, which had been prepared by Messrs. Moore & Henry, the architects of the hospital trust. The plans outline very extensive additions and improvements to the present building. In the original form they provided two large wings for general purposes, a third wing for private patients and a fourth for children. Besides these, a separate building for infectious diseases was proposed.

Dr. McCallum took exception to the idea of a children's ward, as the infectious hospital rendered it unnecessary. The majority were also of the same opinion. The plans, omitting the children's ward, were heartily approved, and suggestions were made which the hospital trust will doubtless profit by. The trust will consider the plans at its next meeting, and it is probable that the work will soon be undertaken.

The present hospital will accommodate only about 70 patients, private and public. If enlarged, as suggested, it will accommodate 108 patients, exclusive of the private and infectious wards.

METHODIST WOMEN WORKERS.

Quarterly Meeting of the London District—Reports From the Various Branches.

The district quarterly women's missionary meeting (Methodist) was held yesterday in the London West Methodist Church. The attendance was not large, on account of the rain, but this did not detract from general interest being taken in the meeting by those present. The meeting opened by the singing of a hymn and a prayer by Mrs. Eccles. Mrs. Fife, president of the London West Auxiliary, occupied the chair, and gave an address of welcome, which was followed by an interesting programme, as follows: Bible reading, Mrs. (Rev.) Russell; prayer, Mrs. (Rev.) Boyd; duet, Misses Green and Greenway; solo, Mrs. James; solo, Miss Smart; reading of minutes of last district meeting by Mrs. Winnett, which were adopted, and reports of auxiliaries from the First, Dundas Center, Wellington Street, Askin Street, Centennial, Colborne Street and London West Methodist Churches. Of the country circuits only Arva was heard from, the delegates of the others not being able to attend on account of the rain. The reports of mission circles and bands showed signs of prosperity, and an increased interest along missionary lines. A talk was given by several members on systematic giving. All spoke well of it, and some thought it would be the next form of revival to sweep over the churches. A question drawer was presided over by Mrs. McMechan, who answered all questions in a clear and concise manner. Rev. Mr. Harris addressed the gathering. A collection was taken. At the conclusion of the programme the ladies of the London West Auxiliary held a reception to the audience in the school room adjoining the church, where the tables were invitingly spread.

Topics of Today.

On Monday morning next, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Louis Davies and Prof. Macoun will go to Washington to participate in the Bering Sea fisheries conference. The conference is consented to by the Canadian Government only on the express condition that it is solely for the purpose of hearing the experts and collecting the evidence which they have gathered by personal observation of the seal rookeries during the past few years.

The record for a high price is held by Mr. Caine's latest book, "The Christian." Mr. Heinemann's first check, and that only an advance on royalty account, was for £10,000. It is related that the author's notes for the book filled six barrels.

Ontario's mining industries are booming. A Port Arthur dispatch states that this week three large properties on the Upper Seine River have been acquired for development by the English capitalists. Other developments are expected soon. It is said that two English syndicates have decided to withdraw their interests in British Columbia mines and confine their entire attention to properties in the Lake of the Woods, Mine Center and Manitou regions.

Under the new order of things, those who phophesied the destruction of coal mining in the Dominion, because the Liberals rule, find themselves in a bad box. No wonder the leading Conservatives of Pictou would not let Sir C. H. Tupper resign his seat in Parliament when he removed for good to British Columbia.

The report, however, again advises against any shipment of grapes.

There are two possible causes for the outbreak of tuberculosis at the Dominion experimental farm at Ottawa. It may have been brought in by cattle purchased just after the outbreak of four years ago, and never properly tested by the farm authorities. This, according to a dispatch to the Toronto World, is looked upon as the more likely theory. Again, it may have spread from the animals which were kept for purposes of experiment. In the latter case the contagion might come through the manure. Under the existing conditions there is no chance for contagion at the farm. The sound cattle are kept by themselves and the unsound in other quarters. The milk from the latter is thoroughly sterilized, and even then is only used for feeding to the hogs.

Last year the total for October was $32,097 42, but the difference arises from the fact that little malt and spirits are now being warehoused, while last year spirits ex-warehouse amounted to $8,028 99, and malt ex-warehouse was $5,077 77.

A FRACTIOUS PRISONER.

Kicked a Turnkey in the Stomach—Glassford's Request To Be Allowed to Exercise in the Yard.

John Glassford, the escaped prisoner, who was recaptured near Chatham on Sunday last, has been very mournful in captivity in London jail for a couple of days. His companion in the cells is Michael Doxtator, an Indian, who is in jail charged with cattle stealing. Doxtator speaks very poor English, and the conversation between the two is of a very limited character. Today Glassford wanted to go out in the jail yard for exercise, but was denied the privilege. He continues to talk to the turnkeys, and speaks of going to a big brick house in Napier, where he says he has a job to husk corn. His conversations sometimes are about the same as those expected of a lunatic, but this is thought to be put on, and from the every-day character of the man, those who know him think that a billet behind the penitentiary walls would be a good thing for him.

James Martin, who was given a month in jail at hard labor for vagrancy by Magistrate Parke on Oct. 3, yesterday became very refractory, and refused to work at the wood-pile. Turnkey Pole threatened him with the "black hole," if he persisted in his refusal, but this only brought vile epithets from Martin's lips. Governor Boston was notified, and had Martin placed in the dark cell for 24 hours, with bread and water for his diet. When being placed there he made several vicious kicks at the turnkeys, and one of these took effect in Mr. Pole's stomach, nearly doubling him up. Martin's time expires today, but on being discharged he will be rearrested on the charge of assaulting a turnkey.

STRAWBERRIES IN NOVEMBER.

Mr. T. A. Weldon, of the Eddy Company's office, in Toronto, received yesterday a box of strawberries from the garden of Mr. James Weldon, St. Thomas, where the vines seem to have produced a second crop this year owing to the mild weather.

LOOKING FOR THE CASHIER.

New York, Nov. 3.—The Herald today says that Aleck Uhlman, a member of the Metropolitan Turf Association, and one of the heaviest layers of odds in the betting ring at local race tracks, made public yesterday the fact that he was looking for Frederick Fishel, his cashier, and a sum of money estimated at from $12,600 to $18,000. Uhlman said that Fishel carried the money for his book, and that he had not been at the Morris Park race track for several days, and had left no notification of his departure.

The great lung healer is found in that excellent medicine sold as Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and air passages, and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hoarseness, pain, or soreness of the chest, bronchitis, etc. It has cured many when supposed to be far advanced in consumption.

At Point Levis, on Monday evening, Eugene Morency, aged 28, was drowned at the Grand Trunk wharf. It is thought that while taking the cars on the siding alongside the river bank, on which there was some ice, he must have slipped and fallen into the river.

Borne to the Grave.

Large Attendance at the Funeral of Dr. Gardiner.

Physicians, Medical Students and Society Members in Large Numbers—The Services.

The remains of the late Dr. J. H. Gardiner were conveyed to their last resting place this afternoon. Seldom has there been a more largely attended funeral in the city of London. Friends of the late physician began to gather at the family residence, corner of Dundas and William streets, at an early for a last look at his well-known features. Many indeed were the residents of the city, and more particularly those of East London, who enjoyed a warm personal friendship with the genial doctor, and they paid their last tribute by attending his obsequies.

The services were conducted at 1:30 o'clock by Rev. Robert Johnston, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Turnbull, of Toronto. Shortly after 2 o'clock the cortege proceeded to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. At the head of the long procession were the members of the medical fraternity in carriages. They were followed by the medical students, who marched in a body. Members of the Masonic, Oddfellows and Foresters lodges, to which Dr. Gardiner belonged, were also present in large numbers. The pall-bearers were the four surviving brothers of the deceased—Alex., of McKillop; Peter, of Mount Pleasant, Mich., and James and Robert of Usborne township—and James Weldon, brother-in-law of deceased, and Mr. James Morrison, of East London.

Magnificent floral offerings had been sent in abundance. Among them were a large broken column twined with pink roses, sent by the medical students of the Western University; a pillow with the inscription "Our Confrere," from the faculty of the Medical School; a stand and cross from the board of managers of St. Andrew's Church; a large and beautiful wreath from the pupils of Rectory street school; a pillow with square and compass from Corinthian Lodge, No. 330, Masonic; a design in the shape of three links from Dominion Lodge, No. 48, I. O. O. F.; a spray of roses from the W. C. T. U., and a great many tributes from private individuals.

Deceased's mother, who lives at Usborne, is an invalid, and could not be present at the funeral.

Merry del Val to Canada.

THE STITTSVILLE SMASHUP.

Conductor and Engineer Charged With Manslaughter.

The coroner's jury, in the case of the railway disaster at Stittsville, in which James Hasleg, Frank Larondeau, Jas. Kearney and Robert Peden lost their lives, rendered their verdict early this morning. The verdict indicts Conductor Harry Hawes and Engineer Alexander McCuaig, of the special freight, for manslaughter, on account of not complying with the rules of the railway company as regards the flagging of approaching trains.

[G. N. W. Special to Advertiser.]

Toronto, Nov. 3.—A westbound freight train on the C. P. R. was running into a siding at Havelock about 11:30 last night, when it came into collision with a yard engine. Both engines were smashed, also several cars.

Brakeman Copp and Fireman Curtis were slightly injured. Engineer Hatton had a couple of ribs broken and received other injuries.

the Republicans 40 out of 50 senators, and 61 out of 100 representatives. Chairman McMillan's closing claim is 3,000 plurality for Shaw (Rep.) for governor.

MARYLAND.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 3.—The Republicans have elected their municipal ticket in Baltimore by majorities ranging from 4,000 to 6,000, but the state ticket is in doubt.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 3.—Wolcott (Rep.) was elected governor of Massachusetts yesterday by about 85,000 plurality over Williams (Dem.) and Everett (Independent).

MICHIGAN.

Detroit, Nov. 3.—The whole Democratic ticket elected in Detroit. Maybury has about 1,000 majority for mayor.

OHIO.

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 3.—Shortly after 3 a.m. the Republican state committee quit work for the night, and telegraphed all committees in the close and doubtful districts to be on guard and report today. Just before closing headquarters for the night Chairman Nash and his assistants indicated that the plurality on the Republican state ticket would not be over 9,000. On the Legislature Chairman Nash claimed the Republicans would have a majority of two on joint ballot.

VIRGINIA.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 3.—The election story in Virginia is briefly told. The Democratic state ticket is elected by 55,000 or 60,000 majority, and that the Democrats have two-thirds of the House of Delegates and four-fifths of the Senate.

It is estimated that the Democrats elect 13 out of the 21 senators and 74 out of 100 members of the house voted for. McCaull, the Republican candidate for governor, did not carry his own precinct.

SAYS HE'S SUITED.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 3.—"I am well pleased with the result of the election, as it indicates that fealty to the Republican party and the principles it represents are as strong as ever," said President McKinley this morning. "This is a very peculiar election all round," said he. "You see, there are so many local issues in the different states that the national aspect has been lost sight of. In many states the election has resolved itself into a fight against bossism, irrespective of party."

Baldimore, Md., Nov. 3.—With semi-official returns from all the counties in the state except St. Marys and Calvert, and fairly good estimates from these, the Democrats appear to have elected enough members to the next Legislature to give them a majority of five on joint ballot, and to insure them a United States Senator to succeed Senator Gorman.

New York, Nov. 3.—The Republicans retain control of all the branches of New Jersey's government. While the Democrats made gains, the Republicans will have a large majority in both the Senate and the House.

FATAL ELECTION FIGHT.

Frankfort, Nov. 3.—A riot, in which Frank Egbert, of the Frankfort fire department, was riddled with bullets, and Deputy Sheriff Teakins, Howard Glore and Walter Gains were killed, occurred here yesterday at 1:45 a.m. The tragedy was the result of an attempt on the life of Ben Marshal and other political workers about midnight. Marshal and others heading the fight for the Democratic municipal ticket started to the country at 11 o'clock with a load of negroes, in order to prevent them voting. Egbert, a desperate character, full of liquor, organized a band and started in pursuit. As Marshal and John Smith were returning from the country Egbert fired, wounding Smith in such a manner that he will lose a leg. Marshal's friends and the friends of Smith armed themselves, and from 12 till 1, 50 men were located in various parts of the town, commissioned by County Judge Williams as deputy sheriffs. At 1:45 o'clock Egbert came down Main street in company with Walter Gains, both brandishing their revolvers in the most threatening manner. Egbert began firing. Deputy Sheriff Teakins fell mortally wounded. Instantly 50 shots were fired and Egbert fell riddled with bullets. Walter Gains fell close by Egbert. Several others were wounded.

The election in Lexington and county was a most bitter contest. The Republicans and National Democrats were led by Hon. W. C. P. Breckenridge, and had a fusion ticket opposed to Silver Democrats. Every hardware store sold out its stock of firearms.

HONORE'S FATE.

"I am pleased to see you now," remarked Hervey, with lazy patronage; "I was saying to Theo, only this morning, that your manners were very much improved."

"At least," observed Miss Trent, indifferently, "you said they were a pleasant contrast to Phoebe's."

"Only this morning," echoed Honore, with willful misconception. "I'm glad you only said it that once. Unfortunately you have not taken so much trouble with Phoebe as you have with me," she added, stooping to inhale the fragrance of the flower beside her plate; "you must make allowance for us both, but especially for her."

"Phoebe Owen, Mr. Keith," said Miss Trent, turning to Royden, who sat beside her, "is the only one of Mr. Myddelton's relations whom you do not know."

"Except——"

It was Honore who began the sentence, and stopped, blushing vividly, even painfully.

"Except?" Mr. Keith echoed, interrogatively.

"Honore, what pleasure can you find in dragging up forbidden subjects?" inquired Mrs. Trent; and Honore understood the hidden anger in the smooth, soft tones.

Hervey looked down upon his soup-plate, and Theodora attempted to quench her cousin with a glance and a curl of her lip; but Mr. Keith waited for his answer.

"I was going to say," Honore remarked, looking fully into his questioning eyes, while the bright pink faded slowly into its own delicate hue again, "except my own cousin, Gabriel Myddelton. I forgot that his name was never mentioned here. And I—I don't know why I should have spoken of him tonight. At home he is talked of only with horror and contempt. When I mention him, even myself, it is simply in utter bewilderment."

"Why?"

For a moment she read his face with a frank, gentle gaze, and then she dropped her eyes again and answered, very quietly:

"I can see that you know why."

"Please don't bring up that horrible and detestable story again," exclaimed Theodora, with a well-feigned shudder; "we are not hardened to it by hearing it perpetually, as Honore says she does at home."

"No, Mr. Myddelton's murder is not quite a perpetual topic of conversation, even at the Larches, Theodora," said Honore, speaking fearlessly, though her beautiful eyes had a great wistfulness in them.

"Mr. Keith," remarked Miss Trent, to change effectually the subject of conversation, "what a splendid horse you were riding today, and how tired he was! From where had you ridden?"

"From home."

Theodora glanced up with a start. One word or look of encouragement from him, and she could ask the question to which she longed to hear the answer, "Where is your home?" But there came no word or smile of encouragement, however slight, and she was fain to content herself with having achieved her primary object, and turned her guest's attention from a name which she would have given much to be able to expunge from the family tree.

Yet had Theodora quite succeeded, after all? She had shown her hatred of the subject; Mrs. Trent had skillfully withdrawn from it; Hervey had languidly ignored it; Honore Craven had blushed with a keen sense of pain or shame in mentioning it; yet no sooner had the servants left the room than this dreaded topic was uppermost once more, and even handled by each one of the little group with an apparent indifference. Was it because Gabriel Myddelton was now spoken of only as old Myddelton's nephew, and not as a friend or relation of anyone present? Or was it because there was one strong will present, which, without evidence of its power, could lead where it chose, and chose thus?

"If I am really to go with you to Abbotsmoor," Royden said, "I must first hear the entire story of old Myddelton's murder, or what interest will there be for me in the place, Miss Trent, will you tell it?"

"I suppose I must, if you ask me," she answered, smiling; "but it is a very horrible story to tell, and I am not sure that I shall be able to get through it. Honore, you look as if you were prepared to interrupt me in every sentence. Eat your grapes, please. Must I really tell it all, Mr. Keith?" and again she looked up, smilingly, into the handsome, dark face.

"If you will—unless you cousin will help you.'"

He did not mention which cousin, but Honore very suddenly began to attend to her grapes.

CHAPTER III.

"I know, Mr. Keith, that you have not been in this part of the country very long," Miss Trent began; "but still you must have heard of old Mr. Myddelton. You must have heard how he saved and accumulated his wealth until the very mention of old Myddelton's money became a proverb conveying an idea of unlimited riches."

"Our uncle's existence was one long course of amassing and hoarding," remarked Honore, speaking almost absently, while her clear, listening gaze was fixed upon Theodora's face; "and I think the people about Abbotsmoor are quite right when they whisper that wealth—acquired and used so—must bring the very reverse of a blessing to its possessor."

"Its probable possessors do not happen to think so," put in Capt. Trent, lightly.

"They know, of course," added Royden Keith, as he raised his glass slowly to his lips, "that it depends upon themselves and upon their use of the wealth."

"You really want to hear the story of old Mr. Myddelton's murder, do you, Mr. Keith?" inquired Miss Trent, as she deliberately pealed the peach which she could not stop to taste; leaning forward a little so that when she turned to Royden she could see the expression of his listening face. "I wish you had seen Abbotsmoor before I told you. We shall be there on Thursday, and I will show you the window through which the murderer forced his way."

"I have seen Abbotsmoor; I know the window," remarked Royden, calmly.

Miss Trent looked round, surprised.

"Oh, I did not know," she said, vexed, it would seem. "Then Lady Somerson, I supposed, anticipated our picnic? That was very unkind of her, because I told her of it two weeks ago."

"No, I went alone," said Royden, in his cool, grave tones. "One evening, as I passed the lodge, I was tempted in to see the gloomy old place."

"You will not think it a gloomy old place on Thursday," observed Theodora, with her most charming smile. "But I must get on with my story, or you and Hervey and mamma will be bored to death."

For an instant Royden glanced across at Honore, as if wondering why she should not be bored, too. The girl's look of eager, yet sorrowful interest, was answer enough.

"I told you, didn't I, that old Myddelton's brother had one only son—Gabriel? He was educated to no profession, because, of course, he was known to be his uncle's heir. After his parents died—they died when he was quite a child—he lived entirely at Abbotsmoor. His uncle did not send him to college; and he wasn't very well educated, was he, mamma?"

"As I remember him," remarked Mrs. Trent, indifferently, "he was a quiet, gentlemanly young man, amiable and easily led, but with a pernicious habit of arguing certain matters with his uncle. At that time I never imagined what awful passions lay beneath this quiet demeanor; still, I always, even then, considered him inexcusably ungrateful for what was done for him; of a moody nature, and sadly deficient in refinement of taste. He could not bear the restraint of a regular life at Abbotsmoor; indeed, he made no secret of the fact that the order and punctuality of his uncle's life were irksome to him."

"But order and punctuality were not all, Mrs. Trent," put in Honore, speaking with quiet earnestness. "I have often heard that life at Abbotsmoor was sordid and utterly solitary."

"And Gabriel Myddelton," remarked Royden, refilling Theodora's glass with great leisureliness, without one glance into Honore's face, "was perhaps by nature neither utterly sordid nor utterly solitary."

"He proved himself both to no mean extent," returned Capt. Trent.

"He proved himself," added Theodora, with a slow elevation of her eyebrows, "a hundred thousand times worse than that; and it is no wonder—is it, Mr. Keith?—that we are all ashamed of even belonging to the family of Gabriel Myddelton."

"Miss Craven, I believe," said Royden, "is the only one at all allied to him. How does she bear the heavy yoke of such a connection?"

As he gazed into Honore's face, he saw her cheeks burn; and, knowing the color must be born either of a great pain or a great shame, he turned the question aside:

"Now, Miss Trent, what a long time we hover on the verge of that murder!"

"Honore, do not interrupt me again," said Theodora, once more taking up the thread which it pleased her to fancy Honore had broken. "Well, Mr. Keith, once Gabriel and old Mr. Myddelton had a quarrel, and it ended in Gabriel's either being turned out of the house or voluntarily leaving it. A message was sent at once to summon Mr. Myddelton's lawyers—the firm in Kinbury was Carter & Haughton in those days; now Mr. Haughton (I told you he was one of old Myddelton's relations and Honore's guardian) has the whole business. Well, Mr. Carter came, and Mr. Myddelton made his will, leaving his property, as I told you, to his sister, Lady Lawrence, to be, by her, bequeathed among his connections. The lawyer was at Abbotsmoor nearly all day, and when he left the house at last, he met Gabriel returning to it. They stopped a little time talking, and Mr. Carter, being a silly, chatty old gentleman, told Gabriel of the will he had just left in his client's secretaire, and which would leave him penniless instead of a millionaire; adding a word of advice to him to try to regain his old position before it was too late."

Fortunately, the fire in the stove was low, or the result would have been serious.

The Dufferin House, on the market, Woodstock, was sold at auction by Sheriff Brady. The sale was brought about by a case in the high court of justice, in which Maria H. Swartz was plaintiff, and Nell and Mary Valinda Swartz were defendants. There was a fair attendance, and the bidding was splendid. The hotel, exclusive of stables, was finally knocked down to the present lessee, George Douglas, for $5,000.

W. R. Riddell and A. D. Crooks, for the defendants and the parties added, opposed plaintiff's appeal, and also appealed from the order of Street, J., in so far as it refused to strike out the name of Hiram Walker altogether. After argument the court directed that the appeals should stand over until after the amendments to the statement of claim necessary to charge the proposed parties have been prepared.

A big black collie dog belonging to James McDonald, Broadway, Woodstock, developed symptoms of rabies on Saturday afternoon, and if the dog was really mad, E. Schwalm probably saved his own life by his cool-headed action. Schwalm was working on the new sidewalk at the foot of Perry street shortly after four o'clock, when the dog rushed from the west side of the street to where the men were at work. It was frothing at the mouth, and its eyes were gleaming and bloodshot. When a foot or so away the dog crouched and made ready for a spring at Schwalm's throat. The latter was armed with a crow-bar, and just as the animal was about to jump at him, dealt it a terrific blow on the head, killing it almost instantly. Several men who witnessed the affair say that the dog showed every symptom of madness.

Our representative interviewed Mr. J. Holland, the popular shoemaker, Talbot St., with the following results. Said Mr. Holland:

"Speaking of myself I have had sever pains in the small of my back, in both sides and between my shoulders for over seven years and I was also troubled with urinary difficulties, dizziness, pain in the head, etc., so much so that I could get but little sleep, and frequently got up as tired as when I went to bed, and feeling totally unfit for work.

"I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they have cured me of all my kidney troubles. They have taken away the tired feeling, built up my system, and made me feel like a new man.

"My son James, now 13 years of age, was attacked four years ago by malaria, which left him with severe pain in the back and weakness of the kidneys. He has been troubled in that way ever since, and until he took Doan's Kidney Pills could get no relief, but they have cured him entirely.

"It is no wonder that I speak highly of these remarkable pills, for they are undoubtedly the best kidney cure in the world, seeing that they cured both myself and son in such a short time." 291

They feel as though there was nothing to live for. There, however, is a cure—one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will do wonders in restoring health and strength. Mandrake and Dandelion are two of the articles entering into the composition of Parmelee's Pills.

—Another slim audience greeted the Conlan company last night in "The Merchant of Venice."

—The vestry of St. Matthew's Church will ask the bishop to appoint Rev. George Cox as their rector.

—The many friends of Mr. Archie Black, one of the city assessors, will regret to hear that he is confined to his home by illness.

—A resolution of regret at the death of the late Dr. Geo. C. Davis, ex-president of the Young Liberal Club, was passed by the Young Liberal Club of Toronto at a meeting Monday night.

—Mrs. S. P. Leete, of Montreal, who has been attending the recent world's convention of the W. C. T. U. in Toronto, is now visiting in London, at the residence of her uncle, Mr. C. F. Colwell.

—Mrs. Boomer, of London, and Mrs. Gibbs, of Port Arthur, have kindly consented to address a meeting of the Local Council of Women, to be held in the lecture room of the Centenary Church on Tuesday evening, Nov. 9.—Hamilton Times.

—Mr. Jas. Turville, of Amherstburg, died suddenly on Monday. He was a son of Wm. Turville, of this city, and his brothers are: George, of the Wallacetown mills; Daniel, of Toronto; Thomas, of New Mexico. He was about 50 years of age, and leaves two children.

—James R. Covey, a porter at the freight sheds, and residing at 136 Maitland street, met with a mishap Monday evening. He was moving a large bale of goods with a hand-hook, when the implement slipped and penetrated his body, making an ugly wound. Dr. Drake was called and dressed the injury, which is not serious.

—A Salvation Army wedding took place at Chatham Monday evening, at which Staff-Captain Turner, of London, officiated. The groom was Captain Nelson Roque, of Chatham, and the bride Captain Rosanna King, of Leamington, both popular officers. The ceremony was witnessed by as many as the hall would contain.

—Mr. Duncan, of 941 Queen's avenue, a carbuilder at the G. T. R. shops, a day or two ago had his foot badly smashed. He was at work on a car, when a heavy timber slipped and fell on his foot, fracturing three of the toes. The bones of the great toe protruded through the flesh, which was badly torn. Dr. Drake was called, and dressed the wound, after which Mr. Duncan was removed to his home.

—In speaking of Mrs. Andrew Denholm, sen., of this city, who died in Blenheim, the Chatham Banner's correspondent in that place says: "The demise of this estimable lady is a severe blow to not only husband and son, but to the family of young motherless grandchildren to whom she was a mother in every sense of the word. The entire family have the heartfelt sympathy of the whole people of Blenheim in their sad affliction."

—Long periods of incarceration in jail and prison seem to have little effect upon some of the hardened characters in London. An evidence of this is George McDonald. This morning he appeared before Magistrate Parke with a black eye, charged as a drunk. George McDonald has only just completed a sentence of eighteen months in the Central Prison for placing spikes on the G. T. R. track near Glencoe. Frank Walters came up as a drunk. This was his second appearance before the court, but he was allowed to go on account of his family. Jeremiah Savage, of Brockville, was charged with being drunk, but was discharged.

—Rev. W. J. McCaughan, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Toronto, and one of the most popular lecturers in Canada, is announced to deliver a lecture in Knox Church, South London, on the evening of Monday, Nov. 8, the subject being "The Royal Standard, an account of the heraldry of the Queen's own flag and its historic and moral significance." Last summer five thousand people crowded into Massey Hall, Toronto, to hear him lecture in connection with the Queen's jubilee.

D. A. Black, general secretary Y. M. C. A., Belfast, says of him: "When he has spoken in Ulster Hall we have had frequently to close the doors to prevent dangerous overcrowding. He possesses marvelous powers of pathos, as well as rhetoric, and he stands the most prominent figure in pulpit life in Belfast."

—Rev. James Gundy, brother of Rev. J. R. Gundy, pastor of Windsor Avenue Methodist Church, Windsor (formerly of London), died at his home in Brantford Sunday morning. He entered the ministry at the Methodist Church in 1859 and three years ago retired from active work on account of failing health. About two weeks ago he became worse, and sank gradually, till Sunday morning, when he passed away. Rev. J. R. Gundy left for Brantford Monday morning.

—Some luscious apples displayed in front of a King street store proved too strong a temptation for a little street arab last evening, but the urchin was detected by the clerk while attempting to pocket the fruit. A chase was at once instituted, and the little fellow, after a lively run for a block, was overtaken, made to return, pick up the apples he had thrown away, and restore them to their place. He was then allowed his freedom, and lost no time in putting a considerable distance between himself and the temptation. The exciting chase and the boy's cries attracted much attention.

—At the regular meeting of the London Tent, No. 17, Knights of the Maccabees, held in the hall, Edge Block, last night, a school of instruction was conducted by Messrs. Joseph Jenkins, supreme stenographer, and F. E. Jull, of the supreme offices, Port Huron. The initiation of five candidates was conducted by the following team, under the supervision of the visitors: C. Lambert, as the king; Robert Wilson, Mathias; John Douglas, Judas; C. Etherington, scribe; S. Ralph, peasant, and C. Smallman, T. Heeney, John Hardy and H. Farnan, soldiers. The work was performed with the greatest satisfaction. After the ceremonies the visiting knights were entertained.

—St. George's Church, London West, held their thank-offering gathering last night in the school room. The inclemency of the weather deterred some of those billed on the programme from making an appearance. The room was decorated with flags and bunting, and was well filled. Rev. G. B. Sage presided as chairman in his usual acceptable manner. During the evening the London West council entered in a body, and were heartily welcomed by Mr. Sage, who said it would likely be the last time Reeve Saunby and the councilors would honor them with a visit while acting in their present capacity. The programme was a good one, and among those taking part were Mrs. Chapman, Miss Anundson, Miss Owrey, Miss Smart, Miss Saunders, Miss Mary Smith, Miss Hea, Miss Beaton and Mr. Milligan. After the concert refreshments were served by the ladies of the congregation.

The annual meeting of the London branch of the Mission to Lepers was held in Somerset Hall Monday afternoon, and was well attended, notwithstanding the unpleasant weather. After the opening exercise, Mrs. Evans gave an instructive Bible reading on the union between Christians and Christ, taking for the subject of her remarks the Scripture verse, "I am the vine, ye are the branches." A very interesting article from Chandag was read by Miss Mayell, describing very graphically the life led by the poor outcast lepers of that asylum. A missionary solo, rendered with much sweetness and good taste by Mrs. McCrimmon, added materially to the enjoyment of the meeting. The thank-offering texts were read by the Misses Gunn and McDougall. The secretary's report showed a membership of fifty-six; nine meetings were held during the year, at all of which information from the different mission stations was given to the society. The treasurer's report showed that the finances of the society were in a satisfactory state, $107 being the amount raised by the society during the year. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Honorary president, Mrs. Brown; president, Mrs. Robertson; vice-president, Mrs. J. W. Jones; organist, Miss Smallman; secretary, Miss Boon; treasurer, Miss Morris.

THE WATER COMMISSIONERS.

The water commissioners met yesterday afternoon, Mayor Little, Mr. Judd and the officials being present. Mr. T. H. Purdom guaranteed a revenue of $16 a year if a main were laid on Wilton avenue, east of Egerton street. From Oct. 26 to Nov. 1 there were 16,261,922 gallons of water pumped. There are 13 feet 6 inches of it in the reservoir. Inspector George C. Robb reported that the waterworks boilers were in excellent condition. It was reported that several persons had been using city water without permission—some for two years. The inspectors will investigate. The secretary was instructed to pay the city solicitor the costs of the Ward arbitration.

The York street premises will be vacated on Dec. 1. The board will hand over $10,000 surplus revenue to the city treasurer.

Principals Changed

New Appointments to the Colborne and King Street Schools.

Inspector Seath's Gratifying Report on the Collegiate Institute.

He Urges, However, the Addition of Three New Teachers to the Staff—Other Matters Before the Board of Education.

The regular meeting of the board of education was held last night, when Miss Coyne was appointed principal of the new Colborne street south school; Mr. Latta, principal of Colborne street school, and Mr. F. Bryant, principal of King street school, the appointments to come into effect on Jan. 1, 1898. There were present Trustees Greenlees (chairman), Dr. Campbell, Logan, Bayly, Johnston, Stephenson, Macpherson, Gillean, Strong, Evans, Dr. Wilson, McCormick, Burdick, Martyn, Wilkins, Dr. Teasdall, and Dr. English, Inspector Carson, Principal Merchant and Secretary McElheran.

Inspector Seath's report of his visit to the London Collegiate Institute on Oct. 5 and 7 was received from Mr. John Millar, deputy minister of education. Mr. Seath called attention to a couple of recommendations in his previous report to the effect that the teachers' private rooms should be carpeted, and the class rooms should be electrically lighted. He reserved the grading of these items until the board reported its action thereon. All other accommodations, excepting halls and cap rooms were graded first-class. The two exceptions were placed in the second grade. With regard to equipment, the inspector had no remarks to mark. About organization, he said that the provision made for teaching reading was insufficient in most cases. The staff were all legally qualified, he said, but Mr. Dickenson should secure a commercial specialist's certificate. The discipline was characterized as "good," the text-books as "all authorized," and the daily and general registers, supplementary reading in English literature, sight work in classes, as "satisfactory." The character of the teaching was graded "good" in all subjects, except in reading, which was graded "fair." The inspector added that if he took into account the excessive size of nearly all the classes, he should be obliged to make a different report.

As to the character of pupils' work, the inspector said that in the last class of entrants, of 54 examined, 17 were good, 30 fair, 7 poor and none were bad. Among other pupils, of 79 examined, 16 were good, 27 fair, 31 poor and 5 bad. The character of the pupils' work in bookkeeping, drawing and drill was referred to as "good," but he said it would be well if a cadet class of boys was established. Mr. Seath's report concluded as follows: "The attendance is largely in excess of the teaching power. I desire to emphasize now the advisability of prompt action in the matter of increasing the staff and providing more class room accommodation. In my last report I mentioned two teachers as being necessary. Since then the increase of the number taking the languages and the present distribution of the attendance point to three as a minimum if the efficiency of the institute is to be maintained. I commend the subject to the attention of the board. As before, I have pleasure in bearing testimony to the general efficiency of the staff."

Trustee Bayly said the report, as last year's, was a matter of congratulation, but he believed too much attention was directed to the high school to the detriment of the public schools. He thought the grading of the institute should not depend on such little things as carpets and the style of lighting of the rooms. As for the urgency of the addition of three teachers to the institute staff, he said if done the trustees would be confronted with the old charge of extravagance. They were obliged, owing to lack of funds, to refuse the petition for a much-needed school in the north end of the city.

"The inspector is always ordering something," said Trustee Logan. "The next thing he will order slippers and smoking outfits for the teachers."

Mr. Merchant explained that Inspector Seath had not in reality ordered anything, but had merely called attention to the fact that certain things were necessary for the first grading of the institute. The report was referred to No. 1 committee.

Principal Merchant reported that the number on the roll at the institute was 736, the average attendance during October 695, an increase of 25 over the corresponding period last year.

The names of Misses Strongman and O'Brien were added to the substitute staff.

No. 2 committee recommended that Mr. F. Bryant be appointed principal of Colborne street school, at a salary of $800 a year. Dr. Wilson supported this recommendation.

Dr. Campbell moved, and Trustee Burdick seconded, that Principal Latta be transferred from King street school to Colborne street, at a salary of $800, and that Mr. F. Bryant be appointed to King street at $700.

Trustee Martyn thought the committee had overstepped their powers in bringing up such a motion. They had been asked only to report on the advisability of appointing a male principal to Colborne street school, and they had gone much further.

Trustee Logan claimed that the action was justified as a matter of expediency.

Dr. English wanted Mr. Bryant's salary placed at $600, but his motion to this effect was lost by a vote of 5 to 12.

Mr. Bryant was, Dr. Campbell said, the holder of a first class certificate, and was an able teacher. Dr. Campbell's amendment carried without objection.

The subsequent clauses of the report recommended that Miss Coyne, the present principal of Colborne street school, take Miss Yates' place, and that Miss Yates and the teachers of other grades be each moved down a grade.

Trustee Macpherson opposed this.

Dr. Teasdall then moved that Miss Coyne be given the principalship of the new Colborne street south school. Carried.

All the changes will take place on Jan. 1, 1898. Miss Sutton will also be then transferred from St. George's school staff to the new Colborne street south school.

A request from Miss Jessie Hobbs for permission to hold club-swinging classes in Colborne street, Princess avenue and Lorne avenue schools after 4 o'clock was granted.

On motion of Trustee Burdick, books will be procured for the children of an east end family who are unable to buy them for themselves.

The request of the Mission Circle of Dundas Center Methodist Church for the use of the assembly hall at the Collegiate Institute on or about Nov. 16, for an illustrated lecture by Mr. Frank Yeigh, was refused.

Trustee Bayly gave notice of motion that the board memorialize the Legislature to amend the Public School Act so as to empower the department of education to make regulations providing that the clergy of any denomination, or their authorized representative, shall have the right to give religious instruction to the pupils of their own church in each school house for half an hour on each day before the hour of closing the school in the afternoon.

MOODY AND BLAKE.

Evangelist and Ex-Chancellor Make Remarks That Draw Forth Clerical Criticism.

Hamilton, Nov. 2.—An unusually interesting meeting of the Ministerial Association was held yesterday, when the subject of "Higher Criticism" was brought up, owing to recent remarks on the subject in this city by Evangelist Moody and Hon. S. H. Blake.

Rev. Dr. Burns took exception to the reflection cast on local ministers by Mr. Moody, objecting strongly to the evangelist's remarks about higher critics.

Rev. Dr. Lyle said those who followed higher criticism were doing a good work for Christianity, and critics of higher critics deserved rebuke. In his opinion the memories of these higher critics would live when the wretched, squealing pigmies who belittled their work would be forgotten. He thought the higher critics should not be held up to public scorn, and the language used by Mr. Blake was unworthy of that gentleman.

Dr. Lyle was surprised that Mr. Blake had not been hissed down.

Rev. S. Marshall expressed a doubt as to whether or not those who attacked the higher criticism understood Messianic prophecy.

Rev. Neil McPherson was prepared to forgive Mr. Moody, because of the evangelist's intense enthusiasm, but he felt ashamed of Mr. Blake, who should have known better than to speak as he had done about the higher criticism. Other members expressed opinions somewhat similar, and it was suggested that a resolution should be passed condemning Messrs. Moody and Blake, especially as the latter had intimated that higher critics were filled with gas, but the resolution was not pressed.
