[Canadlan Press.]

St. John, N. B., Jan. 8.—Addressing the Canadian Club here last night, Mr. Justice Russell, of Halifax, referring to the attitude of the United States Government on the European war, said: 'I have long been an admirer of President Wilson, but I was disappointed with his weak and washy prayer for neutrality, which I am pleased to say has hardly found support in the great Republican organs of opinion of United States today. I have seen him measure up to a higher standard and pass judgment as which side was right in the war. If he not help with fleet or army, he could have passed an official opinion. "The United States was a party to The Hague convention, but does this have nought to say concerning such wanton destruction as at Louvain and Rheims? Should bombs be thrown upon innocent noncombatants? vomen and children and bables be slaughtered? Is that according to The Hague convention? It is humiliating to think of the United States being silent these outrages, not making a single word of protest upon them and only crying out when their pocket is touched

Place-hunters and self-seekers should be given a wide berth. The new board will have to adopt an up-to-date policy for the department, and it would be well that the medical men of the city should be consulted as to the best program to be laid down. The combined ability of London's physicians should be invited to the task of giving London the best health department in Ontario. From this statement there should be no inference that there has been lack of ability on the boards of health in the past. But there is

Whether to manage the health department as an independent service or by amalgamation with the Institute of Public Health, is a problem of first importance. The latter might be a good scheme for the city as well as for the institute. But whatever plan is adopted it is essential that only an expert sanitarian should be appointed medical health officer for this city. As conditions at present exit, the first requisite is the selection of a capable and independent board of health. Paris Dec. 22 - (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—What might be-called the civilian administration of the French army is probably the most gigantic business proposition the world has ever seen. It is as though all the railways of the United States with their metal mines with their 1,005,281 workers, | ingly alarming. were all under the direction of one officer, and, besides these, over a million more employed in a half-hundred other of the great corporations in America.

The French war office, through its and many of them already have been civilian administration, must assemble, sent away. transport and distribute food for nearly 4,000,000 men. It must supply the men with transportation from one part of the fighting line to another, from the front to the interior and from the interior to to the front in their periods of recuperation. It must provide clothing, medical attendance, dentists and every variety of service necessary to keep a man in Besides all this, it must look out for to decide to quit the present capital the families of the men at the front, supplying their wives with the equivalent of 25 cents a day, and in case of children with the equivalent of 10 cents a day.

All Trained Heads.

The smooth working of these immense ousiness transactions is only possible because the work is distributed among the trained railway managers, steamship directors, great corporation officials and businessmen of capacity, who, although they are wearing uniforms, have been trained and prepared by civil life for Hose Got To Work this sort of work in war time. Some thousands of the most competent businessmen of France have been organized into this supply side of the war. (Special to The Advertiser.) Ingersoll, Jan. 7.—Starting from the coal stove, fire which broke out in the Bell street, today, completely destroyed the building. The firemen responded to the alarm with alacrity, but owing to the distance they had to travel, and the fact that it was necessary to lay two thousands feet of hose, the house was comed to destruction. Willing hands promptly set to work to remove the conents, and the work was marked by nuch success.

The house was a frame cottage. The loss is partly covered by insurance. The high wind today caused the col-lapse of the large smoke-tack at the crew works. ALLIES DEFINITELY ON THE OFFENSIVE

War In Western Theatre Has Entered Upon Fourth Phase.

WILL AWAKEN THE ENEMY

Official British Observer Speaks Optimistically of Struggle.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, Jan. 7 .- "The new year has opened up on a more favorable situation for the Allies than any they had known since the commencement of the cam 'aixn." says a report made by a milita derver attached to the British art. leadquarters at the front.

The report, made public today by the official information bureau, is dated January 4, and supplements similar naratives given out at intervals during the progress of the war.

"So far as the British are concerned," says the report, "the small evpeditionary force of four divisions which took the field in August has now been swelled into a great army which is steadily increasing in numbers, has become inured to war and can look back on a record of hard fighting such as British troops seldom have sustained in the past. In Fourth Phase.

"The struggle of the last four months has entered upon its fourth pnase. slow but none the less marked change which has taken place has resulted in the definit bassing of the initiative to the hands of the Allies. This is not shown so much by material results obtained, although at some points of the allied front ground has been gained and in some places very marked progress has been made, resulting in the capture of guns and strongly entrenched positions; but our advantage lies in the fact that it is now the Allies, who for the past few weeks have assumed and maintained the offensive role, while the enemy has been acting on the defensive The fact that the enemy is acting on the defensive does not mean that he has given up attacking altogether, but his attacks have been in the nature of counter-attacks, undertaken either in order to regain ground previously lost or to relieve pressure on some other part of the German line."

Progress Is Marked. "It is only by balancing the total results of these attacks by both sides that a clear idea can be obtained. Really marked progress has been achieved by the Allies.

"If we retain the initiative it will mean that the German soldier gradually will become increasingly conscious that he is no longer marching on Calais or cember 31, and near Vermes on Jan-Paris; that instead of pressing forward his role is merely to maintain what aldy has been won, and that even this cember 30 Hmited object has not been attained. mud kyee

Advance Will Be Slow. After referring to the ultimate conequences of repeated small successes the British observer adds:

must not, however, be thought that this is other than very slow and laborious progress, or that the final result is within immediate reach. every capture by the Allies of a trench represents lost ground for which the enemy expended much blood and treasure, and is a step forward in the process of attrition which eventually will bring the war to an end." The British observer states that he is able to confirm reports that there is most nothing but artillery encounters, considerable sickness in the German ranks. "On December 31 in the region of the Vosges we kept up our activity, which brought us happy results. The attack against the Tete de Faux on December 25 was repeated three times from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m. with extreme vigor. It was repulsed by the bayonet and then by artillery. The enemy suf-fered heavy losses. We counted 500 bodies in front of the position. We have pushed our trenches further, and they are now 20 metres from the Ger man trenches.

"After the capture of Steinbach, the region of Thann, our progress has been remarkable. From December 25 to January 5 the operations, we under took in the Vosges, in the region from Cernay to Uffholtz, Steinbach and As-pach-le-Haut were particularly profit-able. I think Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are one of the best of Cernay we reached the enemy's wire entanglements and to the south of Cernay, and, in spite of flerce resistance, we occupied the outskirts of the wood near Stein-back. These concentric attacks progressed steadily during the next day. "On the 26th we advanced in the Forest of Steinbach and in the ravine of Uffholtz. To the west of Cernay we reached the enemy's wire entanglements and to the south attacked the northern limits of Aspach-le-Bas. This progress became more noticeable December 27. We picked up more than enemy's trenches. On the night of Jan. 3-4, the Germans, exasperated by this continuous advance, made two fine counter-attacks, and forced us to evacuate our trenches. They also recaptured the cemetery and church of Stainbach.

"Without waiting for daybreak, our troops began anew the fight, and before dawn had retaken the whole of the village of Steinbach, and compelled the enemy again to abandon his position.

Unlike Mr. Irvin Cobb, of the Saturday Evening Post, who was personally escorted by the Germans to all points of advantage (to the Germans), Mr. Palmer did not use his newspaper credentials to get close to German officialdom. Instead, he travelled as an American tourist, and when the little American flag in his lapel was covered by his overcoat, he was frequently mistaken for a Britisher. trodden, oppressed Germany!

By imperial edict, the sentiment that nothing is changed by the war, is inforced in Germany. Business as usual! Germany must win! The man who circulated news of defeat was subject to a year's imprisonment. The people laugh by law, though secret tears stain their faces, and are cheerful to the point of being hysterical. It all struck Mr. Palmer as a false courage. Germany's grief is forbidden by the Kaiser, yet she is eternally asking "How long do the British say the war will last?" And she shudders before she can force a sneer, when the answer comes "Three vears."

It all struck Mr. Palmer as terribly pitiful. The egotistic boastfulness of the Germans is belied even by their excessive optimism. Britain figures the possibility of disaster; Germany has only the delusion of divine intervention

TO WILLIAM, ON HIS TRIUMPH.

[BY ERIC ROSS GOULDING.]

Now comes the fifth month since your Prussian horde Plunged thro' the Belgian land and on to France, Hacking your path of culture with the sword In order to enhance

The glory of your throne and prove by might The Prussian claim to bask within the sun But have you yet attained the dazzling height Where your ambitious run?

You have accomplished this: you show the beast Is rampant in the hearts of those who pray To Harnack's god and in the hearts, at least; Of those who sought "The Day."

Your god is proven false, and still "The Day" Is distant and remote as ever now. How shall you alter this? What can you say? Twere wise to cry "Enow!"

The prestige of your armies is as nought;

Your fleet still cowers in its base at Kiel. All, all you've done is this: you vainly sought To make brave women kneel. In piteous supplication lest you throw Your bursting missiles from the upper air To kill them and their babes and thusly show

Your strength, you vile Corsair! Art, Faith and Charity-oh, what are these When each is shattered by your vengeful strength?
A day of reck'ning comes; exacting fees

Are yours to pay at length. Here are your total triumphs wrought by force: Your people ruined and a world laid waste; Insulted beauty mixing your remorse

In cups of bitter taste! It were a greater triumph if you trod Your homeward way and, upright in defeat, You prayed in tears forgiveness of your God. Yea, 'twere your noblest reat.

But as things stand your pinnacle of fame
Is still unscaled; your throne of vast estate Is empty, too; hence try to feel your shame Before it is too late!

The speaker feared no panic among the Canadian people. He thought he knew them well enough to say that under a stress of war there was no fear of any such panic, but that they could rise to an occasion.

Mr. Meighen pointed out that the British Imperial Government had made every effort to avoid war, but that it was thrust upon them. He believed England was right, and that her action would be vindicated.

Kidneys If Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority. because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches. acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithiawater drink which m, one of men and women take now and hen to keep the kidneys and urinary frans clan, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

RUSS CELEBRATE CHRISTMAS DAY

Event Marked by Three Days of Festivity and Great Rejoicing.

PETROGRAD, Jan. 7 .- (Via London, 10:55 p.m.)-Russia today is celebrating Christmas. War shadows have failed to darken the customary Christmas spirit, which is more variously and intensely manifested in the Russian capital than elsewhere in the world.

The Christmas celebration is anything but a brief ceremony. Officially lasting three days, it is often prolong. festivities well beyond New Year's, during which time business is suspended, and the stores are closed, while the country is given up to one festive season, which breaks the long period of winter.

As in other places in Europe, the war has interfered to some extent with the Christmas customs in Russia, such as feasting and drinking, which suffer from the rigid enforcement of the prohibition laws, and the difficulty in importing fruits and Christmas dainties. Oranges and apples were selling on the Russian Christmas Eve at 25 cents

Religious Side Shows. But if some homes are empty of the material accessories to the Christmastide, the spiritual and religious side of Christmas life has been given an unusual impulse by the Russian military successes in the Caucasus and the tion at war. On the streets, the holiday season manifested itself in the sharp wind, which sent the mercury 4 below zero, the children gathered around blazing street fres, singing Christmas carols, and F bustling, parcel-laden crowds exc. ngn g greetings.

The Simplest, Easiest, Cheapest Way, Too

Concerns both large and small realize that there is only one kind of Stenographer worth employing—the efficient kind. But, as in all help, the right sort is hard to find. There is a way, however, that the "wheat" kind can be separated from the "chaff" kind. Simply insert on our classified page a Want Ad which states exactly the qualifications YOUR Stenographer must have. The response of suitable applicants will delight Our little Want Ads go everywhere in this city. They are read daily by many competent Stenographers. Also, scores of Employers, constantly on the alert for able Stenographers, regularly read the "Situations Wanted" ads. So, if you want the "gilt edged" Stenographer, or the "certified" sort of position, spend but a few pennies for a Want Ad in this paper and the right (Suggestions for You to Adopt) result follows. Here are two sug-
