

UNIONIST HOPES BLASTED BY SPEAKER OF COMMONS

Refuses To Declare as Out of Order Premier Asquith's Motion to Rescind Decision of Committee—Prolonged Debate Is Expected.

[Canadian Press.] London, Nov. 23.—The hopes of the Unionists in connection with the home rule bill were destroyed by the Speaker of the House of Commons today. The Unionists desired the Speaker to declare out of order Premier Asquith's motion to rescind the decision of the committee of the House, which amended the home rule bill and defeated the Government on Monday.

Speaker James Lowther said the Premier's motion was unprecedented, but was quite in order.

The Premier then submitted his motion, and in support of it said if the House did not reverse the decision reached by the committee on the amendment of Sir Frederick Banbury, the Government would be able to proceed with the bill.

A prolonged debate is anticipated.

DIVORCE COMMISSION DIVIDES ENGLAND

Two Bitterly Hostile Camps Are Formed Following Radical Recommendations—Canon Doyle For It While Lord Robert Cecil Predicts Chaos.

[Canadian Press.] New York, Nov. 13.—A cable to the New York Herald from London says: England is dividing into two bitterly hostile camps over the report of the divorce commission. The supporters of the minority report hold that the easier and cheaper divorce recommended by the majority will have a demoralizing effect upon the home and the moral life of the country.

There is unanimous indorsement of the provisions that the two sexes shall be on equal footing as regards the divorce, but the supporters of the minority insist that otherwise the grounds for divorce be not extended, and they object to the recommendation that causes be heard in camera, and the details not published until the trials are ended.

OHIO PORCELAIN COMPANY TO ESTABLISH A BRANCH

Electric Concern Bonds a Site Along Line of L. and P. S. R.—City Proposes to Loan the Firm the Sum of Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars.

Arrangements were practically completed Tuesday afternoon by Ald. Spittal and Mr. J. Grant Henderson, commissioner of industries, whereby the Findlay Electric Porcelain Company would establish a branch of their business in London.

Five acres of land in the vicinity of the London and Port Stanley tracks have been bonded, which will be used as a site. The factory will cover an acre, and will cost $85,000 to build. A four-kiln plant will be constructed.

A bylaw to loan the company $25,000 will be submitted to the ratepayers in January. Representatives of the company were here yesterday from Findlay, Ohio. The branch here will be the only manufacturing establishment of the kind in Canada.

"It is a good industry," said Ald. Spittal. "It looks as if we have landed something worth while."

"This company is a strong one," said Mr. Henderson. "We are fortunate in securing them."

The London street railway have purchased seven acres of land near Sunshine Park from Mr. C. H. Mills for an amount between $4,000 and $5,000. The land will be used as a gravel pit.

THE ROSS RIFLE AND THE TWELVE-INCH GUN

Mayor Graham Came Out Flatly Against Electrification a Few Weeks Ago, But Mr. Beck Threatened to Run for Mayor.

Colonel the Honorable Adam Beck had concluded his address at the meeting of the board of trade Monday evening. His Worship Mayor C. M. R. Graham was next called upon. He rose, and with Spanish modesty, in effect, made the following remark:

"Coming after the gentleman who has just addressed you, I feel like a Ross rifle would when fired after a 12-inch gun."

Appropriate to Col. Beck's royal entry into the service of his country, this remark added a military flavor to the proceedings.

But what Mayor Graham went on to say in approval of the electrification scheme proved that he did consider himself in the relation of a Ross rifle compared to a 12-inch gun.

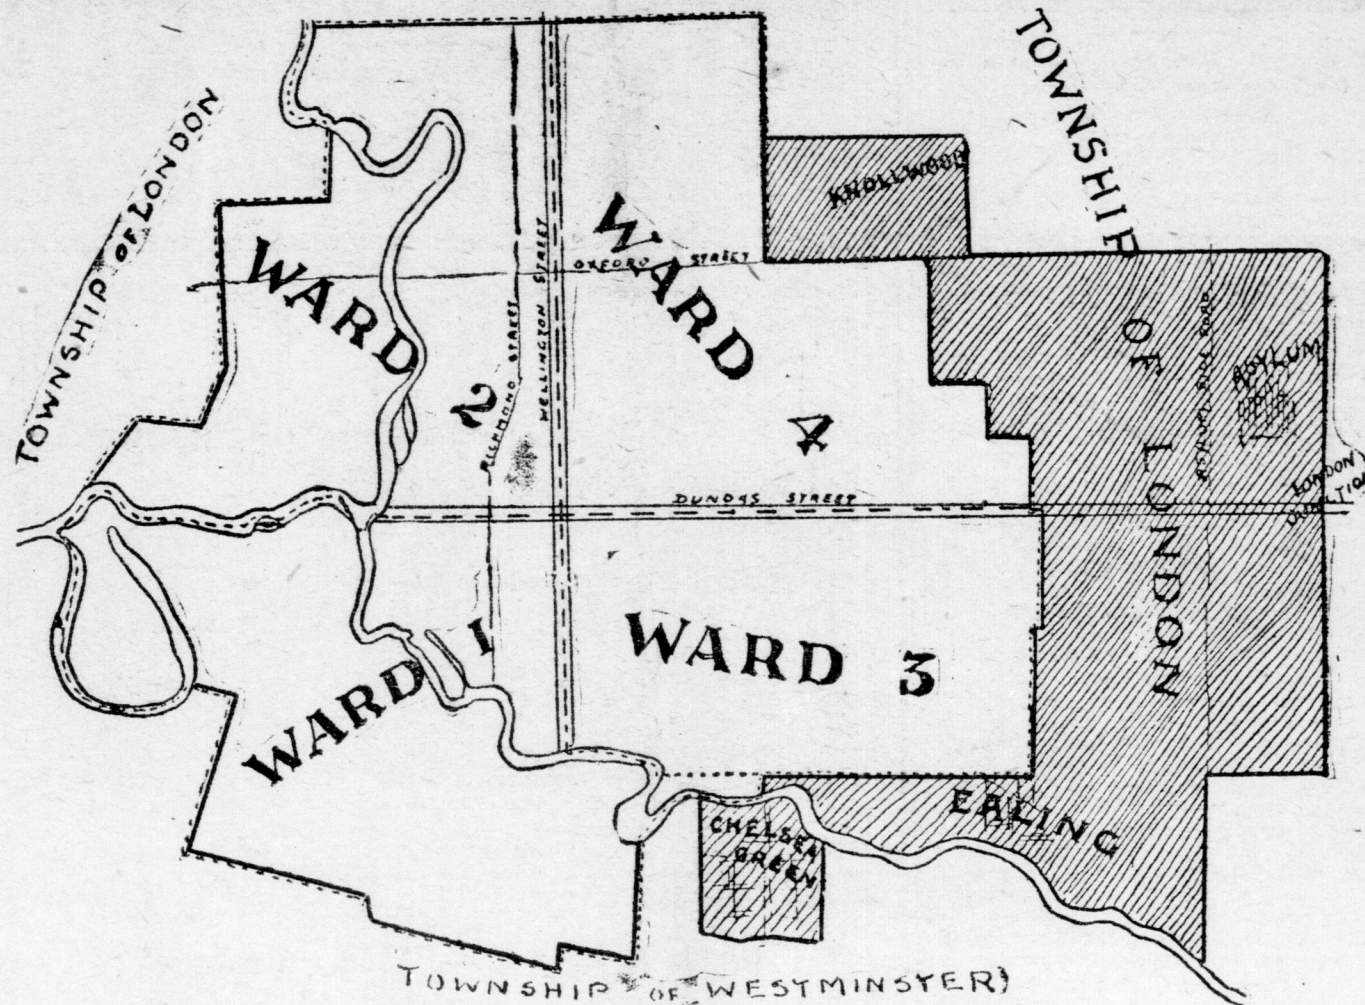

To Mayor Graham Col. Beck was the 12-inch gun that thundered so soon after Mayor Graham had been quoted in both the Free Press and The Advertiser as declaring himself against the electrification at a meeting of the

BUILDING PERMITS TO DATE TOTAL SUM OF $1,027,356

Permits for November Thus Far Reach an Aggregate of $300,000.

Building continues to boom, permits being in steady demand at the city hall. Already this month no less than $39,115 worth of permits have been taken out. This brings the total for the year over one million dollars. To be exact, permits to the value of $1,027,356 have been issued thus far in 1912. This is almost

THE LOCAL ANNEXATION PROJECT

The annexation project, which comes before the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board on Friday, is illustrated by the map above. The white space represents the area within the present boundaries of the city. The shaded portions are the suburbs—Knollwood, London Junction, Ealing, and Chelsea Green, in Westminister—which it is proposed to add to the city.

Area and Population.
The area of the city proper is 4,478 acres. The area of the suburbs mentioned is between 1,800 and 1,900 acres, or nearly 50 per cent. of the area of the city of London. The new area is distributed roughly as follows:

Ealing 690
London Junction 585
Asylum grounds 300
Knollwood Park 200
Chelsea Green 100
The population of the portion of London Township embraced in the scheme is 2,255, of which the asylum represents 1,237. The population of Chelsea Green is about 400.

The Township Assessments.
The assessments of the three districts of London Township for 1911 were:
Ealing $283,750
London Junction 335,895
Knollwood 63,215
Total $682,860
The assessment was raised to $884,685 for the present year, an increase of $201,825; but the city council of London has agreed to take in these suburbs on the assessment of 1911—the township assessment of $682,860.

SKY IS CLEARING OVER THE BALKANS FOR GREAT POWERS

All Capitals Working to Prevent a Clash Between Austrians and Servians.

RUSSIA DECLARES SHE WILL NOT GO TO WAR

Turkey Is Again Reported To Have Made a Direct Appeal to Allies for Conference.

[Canadian Press.] London, Nov. 13.—A much more hopeful feeling prevails today in regard to the international situation created by the Balkan war. It is still full of difficulties, but the attitude of all the powers, in working for a peaceful settlement, or of the Servian army, in avoiding an actual conflict, is encouraging.

Russia for Peace.
The Russian Government, acting in direct disregard of public feeling in Russia, which is all for support of Servia, has notified the Servian minister at St. Petersburg that Russia will not go to war over the question of an Adriatic port for Servia. The Russian foreign minister, Sergius Sazonoff, at the same time informed the Servian minister that Russia would give friendly support to Servia in her negotiations with Austria-Hungary. Before making this statement, M. Sazonoff, who recently had frequent interviews with the German ambassador to Russia, must have received assurances that Servia's demands would receive consideration, and that if they could not be granted in full, she would be awarded something in return for the sacrifices she has made.

A dispatch from Berlin confirms this action of Russia.

Germany's Position.
Germany, according to this dispatch, regards the Albanian situation with entire confidence. She thinks it would be better that Servian troops should not enter Durazzo as such an act might provoke an Austro-Italian naval demonstration. Even that, however, is contemplated by Germany without anxiety.

It is understood that Count Von which is to hold good for fifteen years. If the scheme goes through.

The Comparative Tax Rate.
The township tax rate in 1911 was 9 mills on the dollar; this year it is 15 mills on the dollar. Neither figure includes school taxes, which last year were 7 1/2 to 10 mills in Ealing, 4 9/10 to 10 mills in London Junction, and 4 6/10 to 10 mills in Knollwood. The city has offered them a tax rate of 15 mills (including schools), for 15 years. Under this arrangement the annexed London Township districts, with an area of 1,775 acres, would pay into the city coffers in taxes $10,250 in round numbers, being 15 mills on $682,000. The city proper, with an area of 4,478 acres will pay in taxes this year $628,467, being 22 1/2 mills on an assessment of $283,750. $283,539, allowance being made for certain exemptions. The assessment figures of Chelsea Green are not available.

The City's Responsibilities.
To give this great additional area fire and police protection, new roads, sewers, sidewalks, and all the services which the city itself enjoys, will involve a large initial outlay. Even on local improvements a considerable percentage of the cost comes out of the general rate. In addition to the expenditures at the outset, the cost of maintenance will appreciably swell the city's annual expenditure. The bulk of this must be paid by the taxpayers within the present city limits.

It is surprising that so little attention has been paid to a project which will enlarge the area of London by nearly 50 per cent., and will increase the annual expenditure far beyond the revenue received from the new territories. If the annexed suburbs are to receive the same treatment as the rest of the city.

FOURTEEN PERSONS KILLED IN A HEAD-ON COLLISION

Passenger Train and Freight on the C., H. and D. System Came Together at a Suburb of Indianapolis Early This Morning.

[Canadian Press.] Indianapolis, Nov. 13.—At least fourteen persons were killed and fifteen seriously injured at three o'clock this morning, when an inbound Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton passenger train ran into a freight train at Arlington avenue, Irvington, a suburb. The train was coming from Cincinnati at the rate of 40 miles an hour.

The Dead.
Fred Hutchinson, fireman, passenger, Madison, Va.
C. Imholt and wife, theatrical people, of Los Angeles, Cal.
Albert Allen, of Los Angeles, Cal.
Bert White, brakeman, freight, Indianapolis.
Joseph L. Palmer, Eta-Wah, Tenn.
Charles Clancy, aged 13, Jackson, Ky.

John Clancy, aged 52 years, Jackson, Ky.
Mrs. Clifton Clancy and infant son.
J. Dawson, porter of the passenger train.
Two unidentified men.
One unidentified woman.
Fifteen seriously injured were taken to the Deaconess Hospital in this city. The wreck caught fire, but was put out before any damage was done. Most of the dead were found in the wreckage of the first car, which telescoped the baggage car. The engineer of the passenger train is supposed to be in the wreckage.

What London Most Needs in Way of Electric Traction

The building of the London and Lake Erie Railway and Transportation Company as an electric line was the first entering London. It is the kind of line that London most needs to build it up. It is a pity that the lines from Sarnia to London, from Stratford to London, from Ingersoll to London, from Lucan to London and from Aylmer to London are not built. That would do London and its businessmen incalculable good, and they could all be secured for less than half the advocates of electrification of the Port Stanley propose to spend on it. Is the proposition a sensible one? The summer being such a wet one they were seldom needed. It is fair to assert that extra accommodation is not needed between London and Port Stanley, that the existing facilities are ample.

Look at the two pictures: You spend nearly a million to electrify the Port Stanley, and what do you get in return? Another customer for hydro. Increased accommodation to Port Stanley in summer. Will anyone contend that the Pere Marquette and the traction company have any difficulty at any other time in handling all the traffic, either freight or passenger? For summer traffic alone, the traction company bought four new cars, but the summer being such a wet one they were seldom needed. It is fair to assert that extra accommodation is not needed between London and Port Stanley, that the existing facilities are ample.

Now, then, if electrification is needed, if at all, only during the months of July and August, will it pay the city to spend half a million, to say nothing of a million for any possible profit obtainable, during these months? The Pere Marquette can easily handle all the coal and any other freight it can get. It can handle all the passenger traffic easily. Electrification is not necessary for the manufacturer or merchant. There is no trouble in handling all the freight that comes to Port Stanley by boat. If, as has always been asserted, we need the Port Stanley to be kept by the city as a check and whip on the other roads to compel them to give good rates, would electrification have any effect in reducing the rates on steam roads? No one would make such an assertion.

If it is checks and whips to hold the steam roads in order that are wanted, why let the years go by without securing the traction lines from Stratford, Lucan, Sarnia, Ingersoll and Aylmer, referred to? The city gave nothing to the traction company, but the cold shoulder when it was built. It will pay the city, and pay it well, to help all these lines into London, but it will drive London towards bankruptcy to assume another million dollars of debt that will yield absolutely no return and in all probability be a disastrous loss.

The city would be like the dog with the bone in its mouth looking down into the water. In order to reach the bone it thinks it sees it lets go the one it has.

prize by the Popular Educator, an American magazine, for the best answer to a series of question on the uses to be made of a library. The competition was open to teachers in the United States and Canada, and a large number competed. Miss Fleming has donated the books to the library of the Grand avenue school.

Another Canadian, Miss Spinney, of Montreal, was awarded second prize.

THREE HOURS' DRIVE OVER CITY'S AWFUL STREETS

Advertiser Reporter Found Thoroughfares of London To Be In a Most Deplorable Condition—Roads Leading Into City Are a Disgrace—Some Pointers for Council and City Engineer.

Not in many years have the roads of London been in such a deplorable condition as at present. It is doubtful if in the history of the city there has ever been worse.

Outside the pavements, there is scarcely a good street here, and motor drivers, cartage companies, bicyclists, and other vehicle owners, lead in their condemnation of existing conditions. Nothing like the pitch-holes of London can be found anywhere, it is stated, in the province. The township of Middlesex can give the city pointers on road-making apparently.

An Advertiser reporter took a three-hours' drive about the streets yesterday, and were it not for the fact that he has a sound constitution, he would now be shattered beyond all possibility of recovery. As it is, he is as sore as "Bill" Taft, from the shaking up. He thought that a Swiss cheese was the best word in the matter of holes, but the roads here make the aforesaid Swiss cheese look like solid ivory. A vessel rocked in the storm is like sleeping in a trundle bed as compared with a ride in an automobile or a buggy on the streets of London.

A Disgraceful Condition.
A city is judged largely by its streets, particularly the thoroughfares leading from the outside. There are six or seven streets leading into London, and not one of them can be compared with any road in the county. Take the Wharncliffe road, for an example. This is travelled a great deal, particularly in the summer time, four-ists from Detroit and that direction coming into the city along this highway. In the spring and summer it was a very bad road, full of ruts, and as rough as a road could possibly be. Between the Grand Trunk bridge and the city limits, this highway was abominable. But that condition is not a circumstance compared with what it is today. The holes, instead of being filled with gravel during the summer, have increased in size and number with the traffic, until the Wharncliffe road is almost impassable. It is one of the worst streets in the city.

Ridout Street Is Very Bad.
Ridout street is another leading highway. Early last year, the residents petitioned for a pavement, and the city's portion of the street is one of the worst streets in the city. It was much better then than now. The street railway tracks form a depression, in many quarters, while the city's portion of the street is one series of holes, some nearly a foot deep. It is a much-travelled thoroughfare, and its condition is being widely commented upon.

It is not necessary to mention the other streets in South London more than casually. They are in a fearful condition. Elmwood avenue is a quarter of an automobile having been mired there the other day. Every street is fair, but a score of the others are nothing more or less than sideroads in the country, and not half as good as the majority of these. South London has not what can be termed a first-

Fasted Forty Days and Forty Nights

A rather interesting story is told of Mr. James Lighthart, an aged St. Thomas blacksmith, who died a few days ago at Victoria Hospital here, following a lengthy illness.

Mr. Lighthart, who was 87 years of age, had been a man of exceptionally fine physique, and only a few years ago undertook a fast that very few people have ever accomplished.

During a term of forty days and forty nights he did not taste food, it is said, and completed his long ordeal in good physical condition. The remains were interred at St. Thomas, where a son resides.

FOUR BYLAWS TO LOAN MONEY TO INDUSTRIES

People Will Be Asked to Provide $81,000 For the Purpose.

Four bylaws to loan money to industries will be voted on by the people in January. They will be brought up at the meeting of the manufacturers' committee this afternoon, and probably sent on to the council. They are as follows:
Dennis Wire and Iron Works $25,000
Findlay Electric Porcelain Company $25,000
The C. N. W. Shoe Company $25,000
To purchase factory sites on the L. and P. S. R. $6,000
The Dennis Wire and Iron Works are enlarging their plant, and will commence the manufacture of a new line of goods.

WILL LODGE PROTEST AGAINST ANNEXATION

Railway Board Will Be Asked by Citizens to Delay Their Sanction.

At the meeting of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board here on Friday, the petition to consider the applications of Portersburg, Ealing, Knollwood Park and Chelsea Green to be annexed to the city, a petition extensively signed by citizens, will be presented, asking that the matter be delayed until next year, in order to allow the ratepayers to decide on the matter.

A number of the aldermen have been approached by parties interested, and asked to delay the whole proposition until next year. However, there is no regular meeting of the council between now and the session of the board, it is improbable that the aldermen will consider these requests. The petition will be presented to the railway board on Friday, no matter what action the council takes.

The petition is now being circulated, and a number of businessmen have signed it. It will be considered by the board.

The London Township Council will be represented, and will oppose the annexation.

News Notes About Women

WHAT EVERY WOMAN WANTS TO KNOW

All About an Imaginative
— Little Maiden. —
Cynthia Grey's Answers.

HERE'S "KIDDIKEE," AND "LOWDGE," AND "HITCHPENNY!" ALL WRITTEN INTO A BOOK BY FOUR-YEAR-OLD JOAN MAUDE.

London, Nov. 13.—Joan Maude's little book, "Behind the Night Lights," has just been published by John Murray, one of England's most prominent publishers, and even the biggest literary folks in England are reading it.

And no wonder! Joan is less than 4 years old. She can't read or write. And what's more, she doesn't realize that she is an authoress!

The wonder of her book is her imagination. Pompous psychologists say the book is a revelation of the depths of a child's fancy. The book was written like this:

When Joan was less than 3 years old she began to talk to her mother of a queer lot of creatures whom she numbered among her fanciful friends. There was the "Kiddikee" and the "Hitchpenny" and the "Lowdgie" and the "Hibbertoo." Of these and 17 other animals Joan was almost continually talking to her mother, telling her what they did and what they did, what they looked like and what recent adventures they had passed through. No butterfly lover ever knew his butterflies better than Joan knew her animals, no biologist ever had surer information about insects than Joan had about her friends. For instance she never changed a description of an animal. The "Kiddikee" had nineteen legs. One day when her mother was writing down what Joan was telling of her friends—for in this manner the book was written—mentioned twenty legs for the kiddikee. Whereupon Joan actually cried, and declared that "my kiddikee" has nineteen legs.

The "Hitchpenny" is the only bird in Joan's imaginary zoo.

In preparing the book the publisher secured the services of an artist to draw pictures of Joan's friends. When they showed her the picture of the "Hitchpenny," Joan burst into tears.

"Don't you know you can't see a 'Hitchpenny'?" she cried. "Nobody ever really sees one. That isn't my 'Hitchpenny'."

Joan's "Lowdgie" is an extremely interesting and wondrous creature.

She told her mother this about it, never once, during a whole year, changing her description:

"He's purple and ugly. He runs very fast; faster than a doggie; quicker than the quickest animal; quicker than the graffer; quicker than the hare; quicker than a bird. He throws his legs up very high. He has only two legs, but there is a large space between each. His toes are turned up when he runs, and he turns them down when he has finished."

JOAN MAUDE and some of her strange friends as our artist draws them—but not at all as Joan sees them, OF COURSE!

He likes to run along the little streams, because he can never catch them."

The "Hibbertoo" is her best friend.

"I can see him," she says, "but nobody else can. Though, of course, you can think you can. We go to palaces at night and have long talks with the kings. All the kings like 'Hibbertoo,' 'cos he is very wise. He likes smiling faces. We always stay to breakfast with the kings, but 'Hibbertoo' always brings me back to bed at 6 o'clock."

When you come in my room at night and think I'm lying in bed, I'm not. It's only 'Hibbertoo' making you think I'm there. 'Hibbertoo' doesn't have any mamma. But all the other animals help him, whenever he needs it, and that makes it very nice for him."

John Murray, the publisher, read the manuscript on the day he first received it; the second day he wrote to Joan's mother that "it was an astonishing production," and he wanted to publish it."

Mr. Gentleman's Fashion Talk Is Suddenly Interrupted

Was Telling His Wife Why He Disliked Fashions in General and Long Feathers in Particular. When—Oh, Read It Yourself!

"The styles this year make me tired," snapped Mr. Gentleman, folding up his evening Advertiser and tossing it at the cat. Mrs. Gentleman looked up quickly from her Irish crochet work. "Which styles, the men's or the women's?" she could not refrain from asking. She had known that her better half was in a bad temper when he arrived home simply from the way he stamped up the front steps, and the vicious manner in which he had kicked his umbrella.

"Don't try to be funny," retorted Mr. Gentleman. "I suppose if that woman's umbrella HAD gone through my ribs you'd crack a joke about it."

"Oh, nonsense John. Now do tell me what it was that upset you," coaxed his wife in her sweetest voice.

She was thinking of the new set of furs which she meant to have before the week-end. "Upset—well, that's just about the right word for it."

You know what a jam there always is getting on the street car at 6 o'clock on a wet night like this?" Mrs. Gentleman nodded sympathetically. She had experienced the crush very often, but before John rescued her from the monotonous life of a sales girl in a Dundas street store.

"Well, of course everybody was trying to get onto the Belt line car at the same time, the men standing aside until the women were safely on. Just as I went to climb up a woman rushed up, squeezed through the crowd of men, and hopped up the step in front of me. In some way her high heel caught in her tight skirt and flap she came against me, giving me such a crack with the point of her umbrella. I honestly thought I had a hole in my side for a minute. Why any woman carries her umbrella sticking straight out from under her arm in a crowd, I don't know."

"It is a silly habit," replied Mrs. John, handing him a fresh match for his pipe. "Why that all?"

"ALL? I should say not. That's scarcely the beginning. I had to stand up in the aisle, of course, and the confounded woman next to me had one of those spike, dangly feathers in her hat. Wondered at first what was tickling my neck. When she kept still I was all right, but, of course, it wouldn't do to let me be too comfortable. She'd keep wiggling around trying to catch the eye of some fellow way up in the car, and every time I'd get a dab with that wet feather. Women that want to wear a yard or two of asparagus in their hats ought to ride in a carriage, all by themselves, and not crowd onto a street car at 6 o'clock."

Mrs. Gentleman stirred the fire into a cheerful blaze. She was dying to laugh, but thought it the part of wisdom to swallow her mirth. "Did you say anything, John?"

"Did I? I stood it as long as I possibly could and then I turned to the lady and asked her if she'd mind keeping her head still; that her feather annoyed me. And oh, did I get an icy glance then? She asked me how dared I be so impudent in a lady's car."

"Did I? I stood it as long as I possibly could and then I turned to the lady and asked her if she'd mind keeping her head still; that her feather annoyed me. And oh, did I get an icy glance then? She asked me how dared I be so impudent in a lady's car."

Mrs. Gentleman's assumption proved correct. It was the Smith-Bronsons. It was cousin Marie. Mr. Gentleman gasped—and turned purple. The young lady appeared somewhat similarly embarrassed. Then as they shook hands, Marie burst into a peal of laughter, followed by one no less hearty from her host. "Why, what ever is the matter?" asked the others breathlessly. "Mr. Gentleman and I have met before," explained Marie.

"In fact, this is the lady of the feather," murmured Mr. Gentleman, turning to his wife. And then she laughed. And when the Smith-Bronsons heard the story they laughed, too.

The Birthday Calendar

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Your health is in danger. Be temperate in all things which effect your well-being. Good fortune in financial things is also indicated for you.

Those born today will be lively and attractive and will succeed best in careers which, though full of action, are under the supervision of others. Traits to be subdued are passion and cruelty.

WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB MEETS THURSDAY NIGHT

Miss MacMillan, of London, England, Will Speak on "Schools of Tomorrow."

The meeting of the Women's Canadian Club, which was scheduled for 4:15 Thursday afternoon in the Normal School, has been postponed until the evening at 8 o'clock. Miss MacMillan, of London, Eng., who will be the speaker for the occasion, desires to illustrate her lecture with lantern slides, so it has been thought best to hold the meeting at night, when they can be used to much better advantage.

Miss MacMillan is doing excellent work in one of the worst slum sections of Old London, has had varied experiences within the past twenty years, and her address on "Schools of Tomorrow" is sure to prove of vital interest.

WOMANKIND

At a congress of farm women, held recently in Lethbridge, Alberta, one of the speakers dwelt upon the place of women in the farm home. "They are creators of new wealth," she said, "for by their labors the poultry industry has assumed one of the most important places in the list of farm outputs; millions of pounds of butter annually pour forth from their unremitted toil; the home garden, filled with laden with filled fruit jars—all these bear testimony to their thrift."

"Farm women who were denied an education in youth, need not despair. By systematic reading they may acquire a self-cultivation that will serve them well."

In Denmark the young girls form marriage clubs, each member of which subscribes a certain sum monthly. When the fund reaches the neighborhood of a thousand dollars, a raffle is arranged, and the luckiest girl gets the appropriation. In some occult manner the eligible young men learn which girl has won the dowry, and before very long there is a wedding.

Miss Christabel Pankhurst is being urged to return from exile in Paris to star in a suffrage play entitled "The Member for Sioctum." This play was written several years ago by George Sims, but is being remodeled and modernized somewhat. In case Miss Christabel refuses, it is said that her sister Sylvia will be asked to fill the leading role of a militant suffragette.

In Chicago a nursery is to be the latest quirk at the court of domestic relations. Women who have been compelled to bring their babies to court, heretofore, have had to sit with them in the corridor until their cases were reached. Now a large, bright room is to be fitted up, Jane Addams of Hull House, promising to supply toys for the youngsters. In an adjoining room little cots will be provided where the babies may not be deprived of their regular naps in case of long waits at court.

Spangled and beaded tunics for combination with satin gowns, are to be found in plenty in the shops.

Problems of the Fair Sex Solved by Cynthia Grey

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn as they are received. No letters can be answered privately.]

Bashful Jamie.

Dear Miss Grey: I am 18 and in love with, O! a beautiful girl of about 16. I wish your aid for when I am with her or any other girl I haven't any thing to talk about. I really don't feel bashful. JAMES.

A.—James, can't you talk about yourself? Most men love to tell what wonderful things they are going to do, are doing, or have done. If you haven't any material from that source I would advise you to read the daily newspapers, magazines, and good books, attend theatres and talk about what you see and read. Learn also the art of paying graceful compliments to women. Women are almost as susceptible to flattery as men are—not quite, but almost.

Making Marguerites.

Dear Miss Grey: Please tell me a simple way to make Marguerites?

PARTY GIRL.
A.—Buy a box of wafers or long thin crackers. The matter is very simple. Partly beat the white of an egg and add to it about two tablespoonsful of sugar. To this put half a cupful of some sort of nuts, chopped very fine. Walnuts are nice. Stir the ingredients together, spread some of the mixture on each wafer or cracker and then put the whole in the oven to brown.

Mint Sauce Recipe.

Dear Miss Grey: With what do you use mint sauce and how is it made?

YOUNG COOK.
A.—Mint sauce is used correctly with roast lamb and mutton. Cut up several pieces of mint very fine and pour over half or two-thirds of a cupful of vinegar in which you have previously put one or two spoonfuls of white sugar and a pinch of pepper.

A Budget of Queries.

Dear Miss Grey: Would you mind answering the following questions, please?

1. How do you make a bandeau for the hair?
2. What does a man say when he proposes to a girl?
3. What are the latest books?
4. What is the latest music?
5. How should a girl of 18 do her hair?
6. Is George Barr McCutcheon alive? Where does he live?
7. Where does Edison live?

SOLIO.

A.—1. Bandeaux are made of silk or velvet ribbon of varying widths, fancy colored banding, etc. Any of the notions counters in the local stores have them for sale.

2. According to novelists and popular song-writers it is usually something like "Darling, will you be mine?" or "Beloved, bestow on me that lily-fair hand."

3 and 4. Inquiry at a book store and music counter will elicit much fuller information than I can give.

5. The style of dressing the hair close to the head and simply rolling it behind in small coils seems to prevail.

6. A letter addressed to "General Delivery," Chicago, would reach him, I think.

7. Orange, N. J.

Her First Question.

Dear Miss Grey: I am a reader of The Advertiser, and this is the first question I have asked. Kindly publish the calendar for September 13.

A. A CONSTANT READER.

A.—"Risk nothing on uncertain schemes," is the motto of the man of earnest endeavor to advance rather than look for short cuts to wealth.

"Those born today will have cheerful, talkative dispositions, with great gentleness and will succeed best if under the direction of those more experienced than themselves."

Mother's Cook Book

Cheese Sandwiches.

Rye bread seems to call for a cheese as a filler, and it will grate the cheese instead of slicing it. It will be found to work very much better. Cottage cheese with chopped parsley, watercress, chopped sweet pepper or a mix bit of chop when cool stir in the bread and fill with a filling of raisins and marshmallows. Don't forget that these sandwiches must be made with the same care as the white ones. Bread must be forty-eight hours old, cut thin, and spread delicately with butter and all crusts removed.

Creamed cheese and currant jelly mixed makes a nice filling, particularly if put between salted wafers.

Lemon Cream Pie.

Cream a tablespoonful of butter with a cupful of sugar, dissolve a heaping tablespoonful of cornstarch in a gill of cold water, and stir it into a cupful of boiling water. Stir until smooth; then pour over the sugar and butter. Mix with a spoon and cook in the graded rind and juice of a large lemon, and one beaten egg. Line a pie plate with puff paste, fill with this mixture and bake. When done, cover with a meringue, and return to the oven just long enough to brown lightly.

Emergency Soup.

Dissolve two and one-half teaspoonfuls beef extract in three cups of boiling water. Add to this three tablespoonfuls of milk and one-half tablespoonfuls of flour and salt and cayenne pepper to taste. Just before serving add three-fourths cup of cream. This serves six persons.

Mint Sauce.

Mint sauce is correct with roast lamb. A very few persons may know

THE PROGRESSIVE DRUGGISTS.

Ideas For the School-Girl Frock

An amusing and attractive Scotch plaid effect is used in a new model for a child's frock, which is made of serge and checked Scotch plaid in red and black. The serge of which the frock is made is of dark navy blue. The yoke, which extends in long points over the shoulders, is made of the Scotch plaid. The full bishop sleeves are gathered in to a pointed cuff of the plaid. The frock is long waisted, and the little skirt is plaited in the back and at the sides. Four fans of the plaid material are set into the skirt, two at the sides of the front, and two at the sides of the back. There is a crush girde of heavy corded silk, which is fastened at one side of the front with a buckle. With this little frock, dark blue stockings, with red and black plaid tops, give a most attractive effect. A dark blue Scotch cap may also be worn or a cloth tam-o'-shanter.

A quaint little suit for a small girl is of mouse brown cloth, the coat and skirt both buttoned straight down the front, with large cloth-covered buttons edged with rims of darker brown velvet. The bodice of the little under-frock is also buttoned down the front, so that the line of buttons on the skirt is continued on the waist when the coat is removed. All of the little under-frock is plaited and belted in below the waistline. A yoke of mouse brown corded silk raised in little rectangular tucks and finished with a batiste frill is worn with the under-frock. The jacket has lapels bordered with bands of the brown velvet and straight coat sleeves.

A slight variation on the sailor costume is made of old blue cashmere of a soft and fine quality, suitable for shirring. Plain colored challis would also be admirable for the development

Apricot Jam

Take the required quantity of the dried fruit, rinse well under running water, then soak in fresh water for about fourteen hours. Next, prepare a syrup to taste by adding best white sugar to boiling water. When the syrup has come to the boil, place the soaked fruit very carefully in the syrup, and allow it to simmer for fifteen minutes. On no account let the syrup boil when once the fruit is in it, as, if you do, it will become pulpy and unslightly.

Serve cold or hot, as required, as stewed fruit or in pies and tarts.

To make jam prepare the dried fruit as for stewing. Place the required quantity of soaked fruit in a preserving pan, and add one pound of the best white sugar for each pound of fresh fruit, but it is necessary to add more water.

Moreover, one pound of dried fruit will make four pounds of jam.

SCRAMBLE FOR THE BALL AT THE ARGONAUT-OTTAWA CHAMPIONSHIP GAME AT TORONTO LAST SATURDAY.

PERRINS WILL MEET C.P.R.
FOR $100, NOT TROPHY

Biscuit Makers Will Agree to Trainmen's Terms if Advertiser Cup Is Considered Out of the Question—It Is Their Property and They Intend to Keep It.

The C. P. R. tug-of-war team have accepted the challenge issued by the Perrin team for the championship of the city on the condition that the Perrin team put up a suitable prize to make it worth while. This practically means that the Perrin team are asked to put up The Advertiser trophy, which they won at the manufacturers' meet, and which is emblematic of the city championship.

Secretary St. Clair, of the C. P. R. team, in accepting the challenge, states that the roundhouse men would like 30 days in which to prepare in. They are willing to meet the Perrin club at any place, or any time named by them, provided they are given the thirty-day notice.

Perrins' Side of It.

Whether the Perrin team will accept on these conditions is a question, although they are confident of beating the C. P. R. pullers. Mr. William Evans, anchorman of the Perrin team, stated to The Advertiser today that they were willing to meet the C. P. R. team, but that they would be very foolish to put up The Advertiser cup. "The Advertiser cup is now our property," said Mr. Evans. "We fulfilled the conditions by winning it two years in succession, and we had to beat all the best teams in London. At the manufacturers' meet, when The Advertiser cup was at stake, we defeated the C. P. R. team, and such teams as the Wortman & Wards and the London Rolling Mills. We pulled the C. P. R. team right out of the cleats that day, and the victory was decisive. Beat C. P. R. Three Times. "We have met the C. P. R. team five times, and have beaten them three out of the five. Both times that we lost, there was nothing at stake, and our men were not in condition. We would be very foolish to give the C. P. R. a chance for The Advertiser cup now, no matter how small their chance may be. It is our personal property, and we won it fairly.

"However, we would be pleased to meet the C. P. R. team for $100, or any amount of money they want to put up. We can raise four or five hundred dollars if necessary. If they will meet us on these terms we will get ready immediately and prepare for the contest. We will put up anything but The Advertiser cup. That trophy is our own, and we do not intend to let anybody have another chance for it."

Will C. P. R. Agree?

It is now up to the C. P. R. team to agree to the Perrin terms. The C. P. R. did not state that they would accept the challenge, but they merely said they would be willing to meet the Perrin team. They should be willing to stage the contest if the money is put up.

Both teams are at a loss to pick a place to hold the pull. If 30 days is given to prepare in, snow will be on the ground by that time, and holding the contest at one of the parks would be out of the question. One of the local theatres was suggested, and if arrangements can be made, the event may be staged in that way.

PETROLEA FOOTBALL STAR
MAKES A HIT IN REGINA

Harry Crapper Is Sensation of Western Champions.

Harry Crapper, the former Petrolea football star, is making a big hit in Regina. He was a star in the game Saturday when Regina won the western championship and the papers of that city are loud in their praises of his playing.

The Regina Daily Province, one of the big newspapers of the west, gives "Crap" the following write-up:

"Turn the spotlight this way just a moment. There, J. H. Crapper. 'Crap.' Petrolea, where the oil comes from, claims the honor of being the birthplace of the speedy outside left wing player of the Regina team, and to that town Crapper gives the honor of having taught him rugby. And it's some honor, for Crapper is recognized as being one of the best outside wing men in the Saskatchewan League, and then some. Speed, tackling ability and nerve are the three traits which have made Crapper

MORRIS KNOCKED OUT
KEATING IN SECOND

Former White Hope Battles With a Supposed Canadian Champion and Trims Him Easily.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 12.—Carl Morris, the Sapulpa, Okla., heavyweight pugilist, who was for a time the leading "white hope," knocked out Jack Keating, the Canadian heavyweight champion, in the second round of a scheduled ten-round bout here tonight.

Three right uppercuts to the chin put Keating down for a count of nine, and Morris put him out a few seconds later with a left-handed blow to the body. Keating was carried from the ring and did not revive until after he reached his dressing-room.

Ottawa Club Will Drop Out Next Year if No Alteration Is Made—Toronto Will Also Have Trouble, It Is Predicted.

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—As a result of the decision of the National Hockey Association, which has decided to play seven-man teams, the Ottawa club has indicated it will break away from the league next year and form a new organization. Apparently the club has no other alternative but to tide over the approaching season and go along as best they can. The Ottawa club has a more formidable feat for the seven-man game, the league would have readily agreed in. What stands against the Ottawa club, however, is the fact that last year when the question of the change first arose, Ottawa voted in favor of the abbreviated game.

There is no town in the universe whose citizens follow any game as the people of Ottawa pursue hockey. They are practically all thorough students of the game, brought up on seven men comprising a team, and can see no reason why mongrel hockey should be foisted on them by other men in the league. The decision of the National Hockey Association in Montreal on Saturday has created a bitter feeling among local hockey fans, not at the Ottawa club, who appear to have had their hands tied in the matter, but at the Montreal end of the league.

Canadian Horses Proved Big Money Makers on Grand Circuit

Canadian horses had a great season on the Grand Circuit this year. The two biggest money winners on the circuit were Joe Patchen II. and Knight Onwardo, the former clearly nearly $25,000. The Eel, whose death occurred at Columbus, was also a good winner, and had the Grey Ghost lived a few weeks longer, it is certain that his winnings would have been double and treble what they were. Such horses as Johnny Hube, Hal B. Jun., and Hal H. cleaned up a bunch of money on the Grand Circuit, and the names of their sires, and the amount each won on the Grand Circuit, are as follows:

Joe Patchen II., 2:03 1/4, by Joe Patchen, 2:01 1/4	$23,050.00
Knight Onwardo, 2:05 1/4, by Twelfth Night	10,485.00

CINCINNATI MAY RELEASE
CHANCE AFTER TINKER DEAL

Former Cub Manager Is Now Property of Reds, But He Will Not Manage the Club—Tinker Trade Nearly Completed Although Not Announced as Yet.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Despite the fact that Manager John Evers of the Cubs spent Monday in Chicago, and had numerous conferences with President Murphy and Joe Tinker no definite announcement was made by any of the parties concerned regarding the release of Joe to the Cincinnati Reds. So the bugs will have to remain in terrible suspense for a day or two longer.

When the news of Tinker's departure from Chicago does come, no one is likely to be much surprised or shocked, for the trade does have been given a prominent place in the public prints for several weeks.

Several facts are already known, to wit: Tinker is going to be manager at Cincinnati next year. This is the positive statement of Garry Herrmann, owner of the Reds, and who, therefore, ought to know.

Cincinnati has offered three players in exchange for Tinker. The three are Outfielder Mike Mitchell and Infielders Grant and Phen.

Manager Evers wants to be sure that he is going to acquire a capable shortstop before he consents to the deal. He has a healthy respect for Eddie Grant, but he is left-handed hitter, and he doesn't want to crowd the Cub batting order with men who hit from the off side of the plate.

Frank Chance is now the property of the Reds, but it is not the purpose of Mr. Herrmann to use him as manager. Garry's heart is set on Tinker. Chance will probably be given his outright release by Cincinnati if the Reds can secure waivers on him. Chance would have been the Red manager if the Tinker deal had fallen through.

Christmas night, while Wanderers and Tecumseh play on Dec. 28.

The Detroit management sent a representative to Woodstock to get Bryson, Sandorock and others of last year's juniors, but met with failure. The Detroit City will have one team, a junior septette, in the O. H. A. this season.

"To be" Rankin, the Stratford senior O. H. A. goalkeeper, has received offers from the Toronto professional teams, and will accept the terms of the highest bidder.

The skin of the face is a tender membrane, and should be treated carefully. Shaving leaves it covered with minute scratches. Preparations containing a large amount of alcohol, such as Bay Rum, Colognes, etc., enter into these little wounds, causing irritation and smarting. Seeley's After-Shave is prepared from Witch-Hazel and antiseptics which cool, soothe and heal. It has just enough perfume for the man of taste. 25 cents at all Drug Stores.

Amateurs Organizing. The outcome means the reorganization of a strong amateur league to play seven-man hockey. Already, Stewarston, New Edinburgh, Nationals and Redfrew are in line, and it is stated many of the star players of the interprovincial last year who were intending to jump this season will remain amateur and figure in seven-man hockey again.

May Find Trouble in Toronto. The National Hockey Association will have its difficulties trying to buck the Ontario Hockey Association game in the province. The Ontario Hockey Association has been in the line of the Ontario Hockey Association game in the province. The Ontario Hockey Association has been in the line of the Ontario Hockey Association game in the province.

Producers Mentioned. The fact that the league will not revert to the old game this season is to be regretted, as Ottawa has a likely looking aggregation to place on the ice, and could have just about landed premier honors. The six-man game makes any old team look good, vide Quebec, with the Marks-All-Producers combination, some of whom were supposed to have seen their best days eight years ago.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR CITY LEAGUE

Preliminary Meeting Was Held at the Tecumseh House Last Night.

MEET AGAIN ON FRIDAY

Four Clubs Were Represented at the Gathering and Two Others Have Signified Intentions.

The preliminary meeting of the City Hockey League was held at the Tecumseh House last evening, and representatives from four teams were present. The attendance was kept down owing to a misunderstanding as to the place where the meeting was to be held. It was announced earlier that the Y. M. C. A. was the chosen spot, but at the last moment it was found out that a room at the Y. M. C. A. could not be secured.

However, the real organization meeting has been laid over until Friday evening at the Tecumseh House. The officers will also be elected and arrangements made for drawing up a schedule and otherwise prepare for the season.

A Six-Club League. It is likely that the City League will be composed of six teams. The Bank of Toronto, Hyman's, the Football Club and the Orient Club were represented at last night's meeting, and it is known for certain that the Meds and another team are desirous of entering. The Rugby Club has a few good hockey players on its line-up and it is anxious to get into a league. The C. S. Hyman Company, having won the championship of the East End Baseball League, are about to enter into hockey, and will put a strong team in the league. The other teams will also be strong. The outlook for a fast league is exceedingly bright and Friday's meeting should be largely attended.

Westminster Rink May Be Chosen.

The games will most likely be played in the Westminster rink. If six clubs comprise the organization, the elimination process used by the Manufacturers' League last season may be adopted. By this process, the two weakest clubs dropped out at the end of the first section of the schedule, and the other four teams fought it out for the championship. The scheme worked well last year and it will likely be used in the Manufacturers' League again this year.

EVEN MONEY ON GAME AT OTTAWA

Not Much Betting on Varsity-McGill Play-Off Next Saturday.

ADMISSIONS ARE BOOSTED

Conference Was Held Last Night to Make Further Arrangements for the Big Game.

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—Further arrangements for the McGill-Varsity play-off were made here tonight at a conference between Secretary Gray of Varsity and Manager of McGill. Prices of admission will likely be boosted to 50 cents, 75 cents and $1. Just how the rise will affect the attendance remains to be seen. McGill has ordered 1,900 seats, while Varsity will take 500 or more. Officers of both clubs expressed confidence, though from McGill came stories to the effect that both Paisley and Hamilton might be out of the game on account of injuries. Lee is also on the sick list, and there is no possibility of Dan Gillmore playing.

Even money rules in the betting, but there has been little placed to date. Ottawa players, presumably on advice from the Argonauts, are backing McGill, but Varsity graduates are out in support of the Blue and White.

Suffered From Boils
Constipation
And Sick Headache.

There is no more frequent source of illness than that arising from bad blood. When the blood becomes impure the whole system is impure; boils and pimples break out, the bowels become constipated, and the head aches more or less.

Do not neglect to purify the blood on the first appearance of a pimple or boil. Cleanse it thoroughly by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters and thus prevent untold suffering.

Mr. D. M. McBlaine, Niagara Falls, Ont., writes:—"It is with pleasure I testify to the sterling qualities of your Burdock Blood Bitters. After the Boer War, through which I served in the 1st L.I., I suffered from boils, constipation, and sick headaches, and tried many preparations, but got relief from none till I used Burdock Blood Bitters. To say I got relief is to put it mildly. It made me myself again, viz., a man who knows not what it is to be sick, and who has been, and is still, an athlete."

"To anyone in want of purified blood and the resultant all-round vigorous health I can conscientiously recommend B.B.B. Get the 3's. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont."

SLIDING SCALE SALARY LIMIT MAY BE ADOPTED

Serious Opposition to Plain Salary Limit at Milwaukee Meeting.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 12.—A "sliding scale" salary limit, probably will be adopted by the National Association of Minor Leagues, it was said here today at the brief opening session of the association's annual meeting. According to a plan informally broached, a limit for each league, graded according to its class, will be proposed, and after some possible adjustment of detail will become a rule, the magnates predicted.

Serious opposition to a salary limit that they thought would tend to "impair the quality of baseball" developed among representatives of the American Association and the International League. Some magnates appeared afraid of confusion from the "sliding scale," and several favored a deposit with the league president of all players' salary money and a penalty for payment to a player of sums other than the acknowledged contract price. This salary limit question will be the principal matter of official business to appear before the association at its meetings tomorrow and the day after. It may not be settled without a fight, it was agreed, and the contention promises to extend the meeting by a prolonged wrangle.

The sale of Catcher, Charley Smith, of the Providence International League team to the Mobile Southern League club was announced tonight.

MANOR KING TRAINING FOR BIG ICE RACES

Thomas Hodgson, of Orillia, Ont., has sent his pacing horse, Manor King, 2:24 1/4, to the Chasley Barratt, of Park Hill, Ont., to be prepared for the big ice race meeting in Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa next January and February. This young stallion was sired by Dilbert Hal, 2:04 1/4, dam Lady of the Manor, 2:04 1/4. Mr. Hodgson picked out Joe Patchen II., 2:03 1/4, when a green one, and raced him over the ice the year before selling the champion money winning sidewheeler of 1912 to R. J. McKenzie for about $7,000. Manor King was raced a little for education at the fall fairs in Ontario, and took a record of 2:23 1/4, at Peterboro. He will be entered in a number of $1,000 stakes this winter.

The Silent Barrier

(BY LOUIS TRACY.)

Helen was quick to note the new tone of black amid the vividly white patches of snow. She waited until the booming thunder peal was dying away in eerie cadences. "Why are the rocks black here and almost white in the valley?" she asked.

"Because they are young, as rocks go," was the smiling answer. "They have yet to pass through the mill. They will be battered and bruised and polished before they emerge from the glacier several years hence and a few miles nearer peace. In that they resemble men. 'Pon my word, Miss Wynion, you have caused me to evolve a rather poetic explanation of certain gray hairs I have noticed of late among my own raven locks.'"

"You appear to know and love these hills so well that I wonder—if you will excuse a personal remark—I wonder you ever were able to tear yourself away from them."

"I have missed too much of real enjoyment in the effort to amass riches," he said slowly. "Believe me, that thought has held me since—since you and I set foot on the Forno together."

"But you knew? You were no stranger to the Alps? I am beginning to understand that one cannot claim kinship with the high places until they stir the heart more in storm than in sunshine. When I saw all these giants glittering in the sun like knights in silver armor, I described them to myself as gloriously beautiful. Now I feel that they are more than that—they are awful, pitiless in their indifference to frail mortals; they carry me into a dim region where life and death are terms without meaning."

"Yes, that is the true spirit of the mountains. I too used to look on them with affectionate reverence, and you recall the old days. Perhaps, if I am deemed worthy, you will teach me the cult once more."

He bent closer. Helen became conscious that in her enthusiasm she had spoken unguardedly. She moved away slightly but unmistakably a step or two out into the open. The hut on that side was not exposed to the bitter violence of the wind.

"It is absurd to imagine us in a change of role," she cried. "I should play the poorest travesty of Mentor to your Telemachus. Oh! What is that?"

While she was speaking another blinding flare of lightning flooded moraine and glacier and pierced the veil of sleet. Her voice rose almost to a shriek. Bowers' hand was on her shoulder.

"Better come inside the hut," he began.

"But I saw someone—a white face—staring at me down there."

"It is possible. There is no cause for fear. A party may have crossed from Maloja at this hour."

Helen was actually trembling. Bower drew her a little nearer. He himself was unnerved, a prey to wilder emotions than she could guess till later days brought a fuller understanding. It was a mad trick of fate that threw the girl into his embrace just then, for another far-flung vision of the figures of Spencer and Stampa on the rocks beneath. With brutal candor, the same flash showed her nestling close to Bower. For some reason she shuddered. Though the merciful gloom of the next few seconds restored her faculties, her face and neck were aflame.

"The almost felt that she had been detected in some fault. Her confusion was not lessened by hearing a muttered curse from her companion. Careless of the ringing sleet, she leaped down to a broad tier of rock below the placid air of the hut and cried shrilly:

"Is that really you, Mr. Spencer?"

A more tremendous burst of thunder than any yet experienced dwarfed all other sounds for an appreciable time. The American scrambled up, alarmed at the sight, and stood beside her. Stampa came from his heels, moving with a lightness and accuracy of footwork amazing in one so lame.

"Just me, Miss Wynion. Sorry if I have frightened you, but our old enemy here has been insisting that we should hurry. He has been tracking you since nine o'clock. He even raised his cap, and the fury of the ice-laden blast might well have excused this formal act of courtesy. Helen was still blushing so that her face became angry with herself, and her voice was hoarse under control. Nevertheless, she managed to say:

"How kind and thoughtful of you! I am all right, as you see. Mr. Bower and I were standing by the door, watching the lightning. When the door was open, you I was so stupidly startled that I screamed and almost fell into Mr. Bower's arms."

"Put in that way, it did not sound so distressing. As Spencer had no desire to add further difficulties to a situation already awkward.

"Guess you scared me, too," he said.

"I suppose, now we are at the hut, Stampa will not object to my waiting five minutes or so before we start for home."

"Surely you will wish to see. Every thing is set out on the table, and we have food enough for a regiment."

"You would need it," Helen remained here another couple of hours. Miss Wynion, Stampa tells me that a first-rate believe, is blowing up. This thunderstorm is the preliminary to a heavy downfall of snow. That is why I came. If we are not off the glacier before two o'clock, we will become impassable till a lot of the snow melts."

"What is it that you are saying?" demanded Bower, brusquely. Helen and the two men had reached the level of the cabane; but Stampa, thinking they would all enter, kept in the rear. "If that fairy tale account for your errand, you are on a wild goose chase, Mr. Spencer." He had not heard the American's words clearly, but he gathered sufficient to account for the younger man's motive in following them, and was furiously annoyed by this unlooked-for interruption. He had no syllable of thanks for a friendly remark, though no small risk attended the crossing of the Forno during a gale. It was evident he strongly resented the presence of both Spencer and the guide, Helen, after her first eager outburst, was tongue-tied. She saw that her would-be rescuers were dripping wet, and was amazed that Bower should greet them so curtly, though, to be sure, she believed implicitly that the storm would soon pass. Mr. Bower already inside the hut. He was haranguing Stampa and the porter vehemently, and they were listening with a curious submission.

Spencer was the most collected person present. He brushed aside Bower's acrimony as lightly as he had accepted Helen's embarrassed explanation. "This is not my fault at all," he said. "Stampa heard that his guide signora."

"Stampa! Is that Stampa?"

Bower's strident voice was hushed to a hoarse murmur. He finished one of his hearers of a growing gloom suddenly cowed by fear. Helen's ears were turned to this perplexing note, but Spencer interpreted it according to his dislike of the man so called.

"Stampa heard," he went on, with cold-drawn decision, "that Miss Wynion had experienced guide to be found on this side of the Alps, and he believes that any remaining up here today will surely be imprisoned in the hut a week or more by his weather. In fact, even now an hour may make all the difference between danger and safety. Perhaps you can convince him he is wrong. I know nothing about it, beyond the fact that my senses, backed up by some acquaintance, tell me that Stampa is a liar. I am inclined to think that Miss Wynion would be wise if she listens to the points of the argument she hears."

"Perhaps it would be better to return at once," said Helen timidly. Her sensitive nature warned her that these two men were ready to quarrel, and that she herself, in some nebulous way, was the cause of their mutual enmity.

FREE LIBRARIES IN THE RURAL DISTRICTS

The Ontario Library Association Asked to Take Steps to Establish Them.

At the closing session of the London District Library Association on Tuesday afternoon a resolution was passed asking the executive board of the Ontario Library Association to take steps for the establishment of free libraries in the rural districts, and to request the Ontario Government to pass legislation to this effect. The need for rural libraries formed one of the principal libraries, Toronto, opened the session, and it culminated in this resolution.

Mr. R. W. Nursey, inspector of public libraries, Toronto, opened the session with an address on "Library Accounts, Government Reports and Invoices." The inspector told of several instances where the Government had withheld library grants on account of mistakes made by the librarian in his annual report. He also explained various ways in which a library could be financed, but the method of selling off old books and magazines as a source of revenue was illegal.

Mr. J. Davis Barnett, of Stratford, conducted the question and answer period, and gave valuable information in reply to several queries on libraries and how to conduct them on a paying basis. What Mr. Barnett didn't know about libraries is very little, as in his home town he owns a library containing over thirty thousand volumes.

The delegates tendered a vote of thanks to the Middlesex county council for their grant of $25 to each library in the county.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY HELD "AT HOME"

Empress Avenue Social Attended by a Crowd of About 250.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Empress Avenue Methodist Church were "At Home" last evening to the members and adherents of the church, and the social was attended by about 250 people connected with the church. During the evening the secretary's report for the year just completed was read by Mrs. North, and Miss Woodward presented the treasurer's yearly statement.

Mrs. Elson, the president of the Ladies' Aid Society, made a short address, in which she stated that the society was in a far more flourishing condition than at any previous time. The pastor, Rev. T. Wesley Cosens, who presided, also made a short address. A short program was given by the Sunday school orchestra, the choir Miss McBride, and Mrs. Cosens.

SUBPOENAS FOR 30 WITNESSES

State Determined to Probe Deeply Into Chain of Explosions in Western States.

Indianapolis, Nov. 12.—Thirty witnesses from the Pacific coast, it was announced today, have been subpoenaed to testify in the "dynamiting conspiracy" trial concerning explosions in the West. These include officers who assisted in the dynamite cases at Los Angeles, and men in San Francisco, Seattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore., who, the Government stated, will be called upon to testify concerning the movements not only of J. E. McNamara and Orville E. McNamara, but also of Eugene A. Clancy, Olaf A. Tveitmo and other labor leaders. More than twenty of the Pacific coast witnesses have arrived or are on their way to Indianapolis.

After an hour's session the trial today was postponed until tomorrow on account of the illness of Allen Spaulding, a juror.

In relating his preparations to blow up jobs at Kansas City, Mo., and Peoria, Ill., McNamara testified about going to Rochester, Pa., where he found a hiding place had been invaded by unknown persons and 32 quarts of nitroglycerin taken. He said he reported the loss to J. J. McNamara, who appeared greatly worried.

McNamara, said McNamara, then provided the explosive out of a supply kept at union headquarters in Indianapolis.

According to J. A. G. Bador's testimony, Herbert S. Hocking, on trial, arranged the Rochester hiding place, but in August, 1910, in "double-crossing" the tender of a steamer from Pittsburgh, who six weeks before the Los Angeles Times explosion, dug up and destroyed the nitro-glycerin.

LETTERS OF A SLIM-MADE WOMAN TO HER FAT SISTER

Ninth Letter: On Taking the Weight Off Your Feet.

Dear Sis,—Have just returned from an art exhibit, and you'll laugh when I tell you the thing that has impressed me most. It's the fact that with all the standing and walking my feet aren't tired a bit.

You remember the exhibit last year, how I cried about my feet—how my heels and corns—I'll never forget.

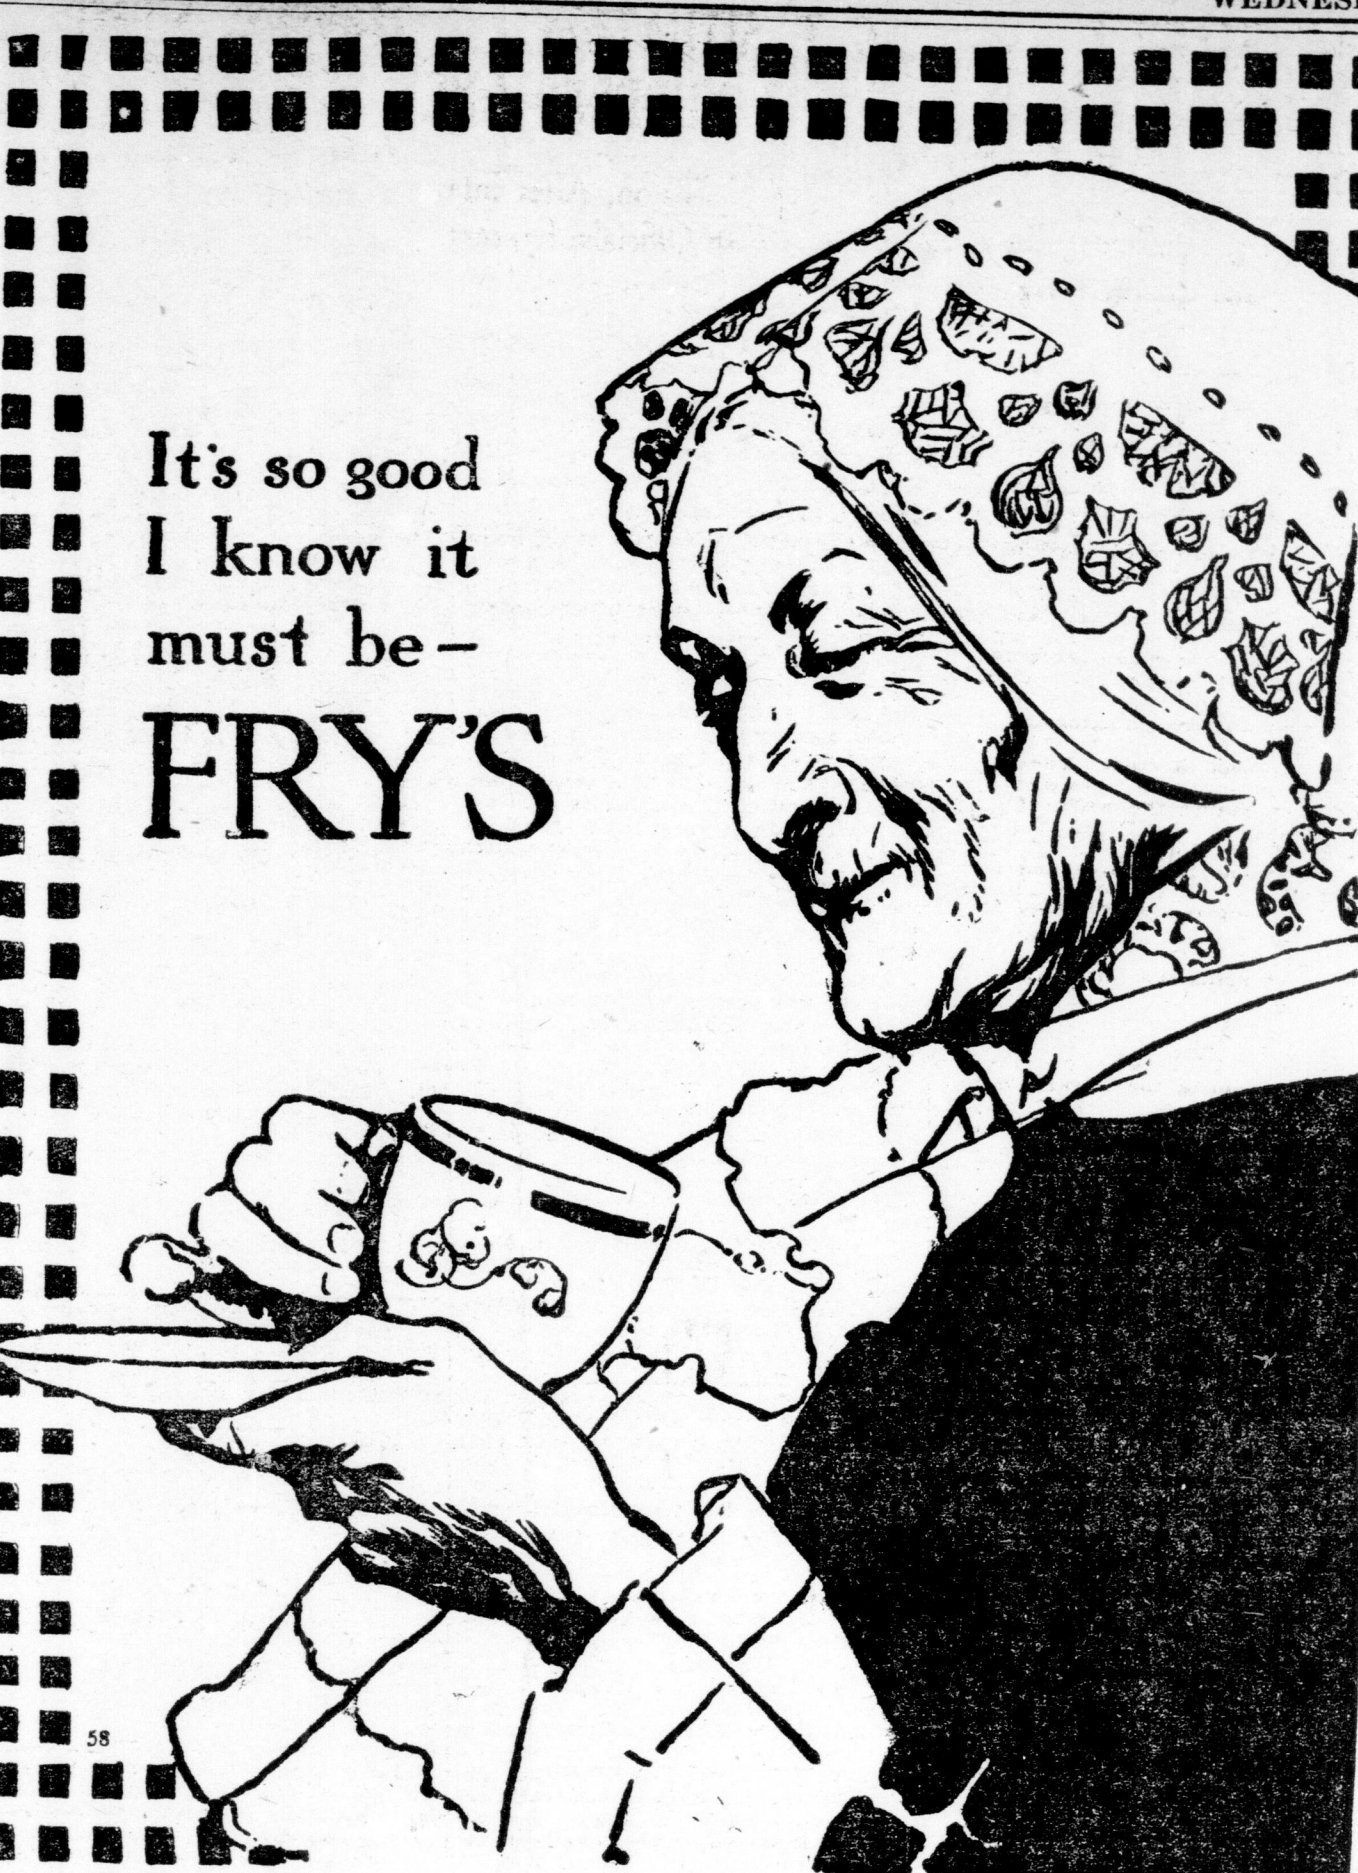

It set me to thinking, and "Mrs. Columbus" has discovered something that burn and ache. I used to think it was rheumatism, but since I took that wonderful Marzola Prescription and got rid of all the wobbly, heavy fat, my feet are "glad" all the time—and they're better shaped, too—if I do say it myself. My ankle is trim and the Los Angeles Times of my foot has faded away.

Oh, what a list of blessings have come to me in place of that awful curse of fat—slimness, health, good digestion, better complexion and a greater capacity for enjoyment of life's good things.

Yes, sis, dear, that formula will be a benefit, not a harm to you. Just get from the druggist the 1/2 oz. powdered Marzola, 1/2 oz. Casarea Aromatic and 1/2 oz. Peppermint water; take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime. Take the weight off your overfat body, give your feet a rest and your foot troubles will disappear.

Remember the gratifying experience of your joyful, loving

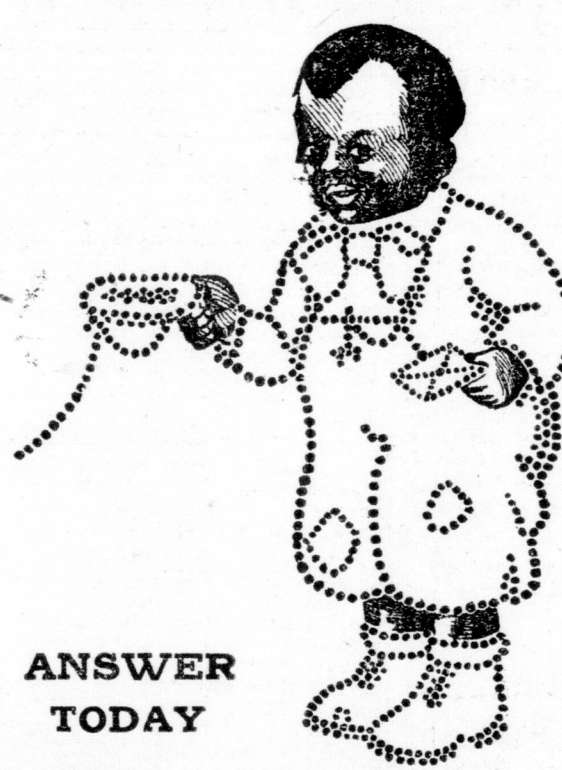

BETTY.

FEDERAL DISTRICT TO INCLUDE OTTAWA

Borden Favours the Idea, But Not If Under Municipal Control.

[Canadian Press.]

Ottawa, Nov. 12.—A committee of the city council is to consider the advisability of the creation of a federal district to include Ottawa and some of the adjacent territory. Assurance of this was given a deputation from the city which waited on Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden at noon today. The Premier stated that he was favorable to the proposal of a federal district, but he did not favor the proposal that it be a municipal form of government. This, he thought, would only serve to give the Government added responsibility without control of expenditures. Incidentally the Premier read the delegation a lecture on the condition of Ottawa's water supply.

PLAN TO "BUST" TRUSTS

Montreal Hebrews Combine to Buy Necessities From Independents.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—Matters concerning the high cost of living in Montreal, took a new turn today, when it was announced that at a mass meeting of Jewish workers, which is to be held in Coronation Hall, St. Lawrence Boulevard, on Thursday evening next, resolutions would be adopted calling on the Hebrews living in the city to help smash local "food trusts" and "combiners" by buying all their necessities, food, clothes, coal, wood and effects from dealers known to be outside the pale of any combination in restraint of trade.

The meeting, which has been called, was arranged by Alderman Blumenthal, whose "food trust" disclosures have been appearing in the local newspapers, will be under the auspices of the local Hebrew Tailors' Union. Representatives of all Hebrew labor unions will also be present to speak and act for their respective organizations.

Alderman Blumenthal claims to have discovered evidence of a butter trust, an egg trust, a milk trust, a fish trust, and a sugar combine, while Alphonse Veronique, M. P., who was the principal speaker at a meeting held at the labor temple a week ago to discuss the local food question, emphatically gave it as his opinion that there was a canned goods trust in local operation.

Prominent French and English speaking labor men are expected to speak at Thursday's meeting, which, according to present arrangements, will be held in Coronation Hall.

TURKS FIGHTING WELL IN THEIR LAST DEFENCE

Bulgarians Find Sultan's Soldiers Putting Up Strong Resistance at the Tchataldja Forts—Bulgarians Charged With Atrocious Acts.

London, Nov. 12.—The Bulgarians struggling for the last defence of Constantinople are apparently awaiting the arrival of their heavy artillery before they take the last step of the journey which they hope will bring them into Constantinople. Nazim Pasha, behind the Tchataldja forts, is holding grimly to this last position left him, judging from the vague reports from the front, and is making an unexpectedly strong resistance.

There are constant rumors that more of the Tchataldja forts have fallen to the Bulgarians, but none of those has been verified. Everybody in Constantinople is awaiting the news regarding the fighting at the Tchataldja lines. The suspense is acute. It is asserted tonight that skirmishing between advance patrols has been in progress for some days. The enemy is now steadily approaching the north end of the lines. The main body of the enemy is advancing along the railway, and it was believed that two days ago the enemy was fifteen miles west of the town of Tchataldja. It is expected that the attack will begin on the north, as the southern end is covered with lake marshes and the guns of the warships in the Bosphorus.

Bulgarian Manoeuvres. From the shores of the Marmara Sea to the south of the Tchataldja lines comes the word that there a Bulgarian column is manoeuvring. There is a report in circulation in Constantinople to the effect that the Porte has asked Bulgaria to grant an armistice. The report has not been confirmed as yet. In the other fields of the war operations the progress of the allies is slow. The Serbians and Greeks have not yet reached Monastir, where it is reported, Ali Riza Pasha, the ex-Turkish minister of war, has 50,000 troops prepared to offer a vigorous resistance. The Montenegrins have suffered a setback in their prolonged efforts to capture Scutari, largely owing to the defection of the Malissori tribes, who demand guarantees of Albanian independence. The Greek advance in the direction of Janina also appears to be retarded. It is probable that the weather conditions have much to do with the slow progress.

Bulgarian Atrocities. The Turks insist that the Bulgarians in their march upon the capital are responsible for many atrocities. The Ottoman authorities say that Bulgarian troops cut off the hands of peasant women and are pillaging and burning. They say at Constantinople that there is an object in this. The Bulgarians hope to drive the peasants to seek shelter behind the walls of the capital, so that conditions there, where about 15,000 fugitives are gathered, will become intolerable and surrender will be forced on the Turks. The Serbians are finding but little trouble in the government of the conquered land. They have promised the Albanians law, justice and honesty and peaceful lives under the reign of King Peter.

The shooting of the Egyptian Prince Aziz by the Turks for his alleged failure as head of the Turkish cavalry at Kirk-Kiliseh has caused the greatest indignation among the Egyptian Mohammedans, and the brother of the dead prince, Prince Ibrahim, who was preparing to leave for Constantinople, has decided not to fight for the Sultan. In the meantime the diplomats are struggling with the problem of calming Austria, indignant because of the Serbs' advance to the Adriatic. From all the powers come words of moderation and the offer of a general conference over the Balkan situation at the close of the war, at which the differences can be smoothed down, is put forth by Germany.

LABORITES NOMINATE A MAN TO CONTEST WITH MR. CODERRE
Montreal, Nov. 12.—Hon. Louis Coderre has to fight for his seat after all. Although no Liberal or Nationalist candidate was nominated, the Labor party decided to bring out a man, and nominated Mr. Leo Paul Doyon. Mr. Doyon, who is a real estate agent, will run as an independent Labor candidate, and expects to give the new minister a hard fight. In St. Henri there is a large labor vote, which Mr. Doyon and his friends think can be mustered in support of his candidature. The cabinet ministers have taken the opposition seriously, as several of them have already decided to speak in the riding and work for the election of their colleagues.

CHASED A STEAMER TO SERVE WITH WRIT
U. S. Deputy Marshal Takes a Daring Chance in Carrying Out His Duty.
Windsor, Nov. 12.—After an all-night vigil and a mad race down the river, the steamer Fleetwood, which rammed and sank the steamer Pine Lake just above Belle Isle some weeks ago, was overtaken early yesterday and served with an attachment in a suit for $21,250. As the boat rounded the head of Belle Isle near the scene of the recent accident, the tug C. A. Lorman, bearing Deputy United States Marshal Lyon, ran out from the shadows of the island and signaled the Fleetwood to slacken speed. The boat, however, continued on her way, without noticing the Lorman. Refusing to be baffled, the master of the tug signalled for full speed ahead, and ran alongside the Fleetwood. Lyon shouted to one of the tug's crew to lower a ladder, but was refused. Then followed a race between the tug and the steamer. As the tug tore alongside at full speed the deputy marshal attempted to reach the top of the steamer, which was high out of the water. Finding he could not reach the bulwark of the boat, the Government officer made a flying leap, and succeeded in getting a firm hold of the stanchions. There he hung suspended for nearly a minute before he managed to clamber to the deck. Once on deck he proceeded straight to the captain and served the attachment for the amount claimed by the C. H. Little Company for the value of the Pine Lake. He then ordered the captain to land at once, and as the boat swung around near the Canadian shore to make a landing, the steering gear broke and the boat ran aground. She was there nearly four hours, and then released herself and pulled into the dock, where she was furnished for the amount of the attachment. After taking coal and having her steering gear repaired, she proceeded on her way.

"The Only Cure for Piles"
Writes Mr. Taylor in Telling His Experience With Dr. Chase's Ointment.
Because Dr. Chase's Ointment brings almost immediate relief from the dreadful itching, burning, stinging sensations of piles, it is well worth the attention of everyone suffering from this annoying disease. In most cases, even after years of standing, Dr. Chase's Ointment makes a thorough and lasting cure of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. Mr. Maxwell Taylor, Charlotte, N.C., writes: "To all sufferers from piles in any form I would recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as the only cure. Over a year ago while in Boston I became afflicted with a dreadful itching. I went to a doctor, who gave me some ointment, which made me no better. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and by the use of two boxes I was entirely cured. You may publish this statement in order that other sufferers may profit by my experience." Dr. Chase's Ointment can better prove its value by the relief it affords than by all the praise it has won. It is in its price, 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

SMALLPOX AT MONTREAL
Montreal, Nov. 12.—Montreal has now twenty-one cases of smallpox in the new smallpox hospital, there being seven new cases reported today. This is the most serious outbreak since the scourge of 1885. None of the twenty-one cases in the hospital had ever been vaccinated.

AN OPERATING RECORD
Eight Hundred Clinics Held By Congress of Surgeons at New York.
[Canadian Press.] New York, Nov. 13.—A new operating record, so far as available data goes, was set yesterday in connection with the third annual Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America, in session here. In 171 institutions in the city no less than 175 clinics were held, with over 800 operations and demonstrations for the benefit of upwards of 2,500 delegates who are attending the congress. It was officially stated that the congress now constituted the largest body of surgeons that had ever met in the history of the world. The operations covered a broad field in almost every branch of surgery. There will be a hundred or more operations daily until the congress adjourns Saturday.

A Rousing Appetite Is a Keen Delight
And What Is of Greater Interest, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Enable the Stomach to Digest Whatever Is Eaten.
We all like to see the way healthy children devour their meals. Would we could do the same! To be sure, it is a delight. It is one of life's chief enjoyments. People who cannot relish a good meal are apt to be dissatisfied and in a mood from which they view the world as a sorry place to live in. So let us learn to employ the best means of harnessing our existence and thus extract from our daily grind all the pleasure there is to be had. Let us have a strong stomach in prime, active working order. A majority of people have come to know the blessings which an occasional use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets confer upon the stomach. They are unquestionably the most popular remedy known for the reason that dyspepsia is the national disease, and these wonderful little tablets have long since acquired a national reputation as a thoroughly reliable and efficient cure for all forms of dyspepsia and indigestion. No matter how great the excess of food taken into the stomach, one or two of these tablets will digest every particle of it. A package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets should always be in the house. Many persons have saved themselves from a serious attack of acute indigestion by using them after heavy meals, such as are eaten at Christmas, Thanksgiving, and other holidays and festive seasons. After attending banquets, late suppers, heavy family dinners, after-theatre parties, etc., where one has dined sumptuously and luxuriously, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets should be taken, as they will digest the food perfectly and completely, and prevent all possibility of dyspepsia, which, without their use, is more than likely to ensue. Americans are exceedingly fond of the good things of life, and every one is apt to be great excess of eating, and the only way to overcome its bad effects on the stomach is to employ a powerful and efficient digestive such as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which always insure a good digestion. G. T. SITUATION IS MUDDLED ONE

Citizens of Boston, After Interview With Officials, Express Displeasure.

FITZHUUGH MAY RESIGN

President Chamberlin Says the New England Project Has Not Been Abandoned.

Boston, Nov. 12.—The Grand Trunk situation seems to be very muddled one. Officials of the Central Vermont Railway and the Southern New England Company were in conference in Boston today, trying to find out where "they are" at this point. The work of the Southern lines was brought about without the knowledge of the officials, counsel, or engineers of the New England extension, so it is asserted, and as a result, President H. Fitzhugh, of the Central Vermont and Southern, may resign. After Chamber of Commerce officials had discussed with President Fitzhugh the causes of the cessation of work they issued a statement tonight declaring that President Fitzhugh did not clarify the situation, and that he was unable to furnish the facts desired.

The executive committee of the chamber decided to send two representatives to Montreal to meet President E. J. Chamberlin, of the Grand Trunk, and Mr. J. Hubbard, of the committee on transportation, and D. O. Ives, manager of the chamber's transportation bureau, left for Montreal tonight.

Mayor Fitzgerald announced that he has sent a telegram to President Chamberlin inviting him to come to Boston and talk over the situation.

A Montreal Denial. In the face of a general belief that the Grand Trunk has permanently abandoned its project of building a new line from New England, comes a dispatch from a trustworthy Boston newspaper man, sent to Montreal to interview President Chamberlin, who is quoted as saying that his company will build into Providence and into Boston under the charters already secured when the money stringency ended. The Montreal dispatch says: "No traffic agreement has been made between the Grand Trunk Railway and the New Haven Railroad is either under consideration or contemplated as far as the information of E. J. Chamberlin, president of the Grand Trunk, goes. Furthermore, Mr. Chamberlin says that he knows of no arrangement to which the New Haven would consent which would influence the Grand Trunk to discontinue permanently the construction of the Southern New England Railroad extensions to Boston and Providence."

The only interpretation to be given the statement of President Chamberlin is that the Grand Trunk has agreed to build the railroad into Providence, but that it knows of no arrangement to which the New Haven would consent which would influence the Grand Trunk to discontinue permanently the construction of the Southern New England Railroad extensions to Boston and Providence.

IMPERIAL NAVY FOR FUTURE SAYS FOSTER
Expects to See Warships of the Dominion Floating by Side of Home Fleets.
London, Nov. 12.—The Royal Colonial Institute opened the winter session this evening with a dinner meeting in the Imperial Rooms. Grey, the president of the institute, was in the chair, and Hon. George E. Foster was the principal speaker. Others attending were the Hon. A. L. Sifton, Hon. Malcolm Mackenzie, and Hon. Sir Arthur Lawley. Sir Rider Haggard, W. K. George, J. G. Colmer and Norton Griffiths, M. P.

Hon. Geo. E. Foster, in the course of an interesting address, reviewed the various influences making for the unification of the empire in literature, science and art. There were, he said, other influences which perhaps were more palpable—the army and navy. The empire today, he continued, consisted not merely of British soldiers, but British sailors. The soldiers and sailors were representative of every part of the empire. It was the empire's army and navy. The dominions had not done all that they should have done in the past in the matter of defence, but they had been respected and relied on that army and navy, and out of this respect and reliance had grown a policy which today enabled them to realize the spectacle of the ships of the empire, dominions floating side by side with British ships in British waters. As the years passed still more of the dominions' ships would be floating side by side with the British ships in British waters until the empire had no longer a British but an imperial navy.

MACCABEES IN CONVENTION
London District Meeting at St. Thomas Elects New Officers.
St. Thomas, Nov. 12.—The convention for London district, No. 3, of the Knights and Ladies of the Maccabees, met here today. Sir Knight H. B. Burroughs, of the district, presided. The following new officers were elected: Commander, George Sumner, London; lieutenant-commander, Mrs. C. Muller, St. Thomas; chaplain, Mrs. C. Beattie, Waterloo; secretary, Mrs. A. E. Massel, Waterloo; second lady of the guards, Mrs. A. Schim, Belmont; tenth physician, Mrs. F. Finch, Springfield; picket, Geo. McConnell, Aylmer. It was decided to recommend to the supreme body that provincial, instead of district, meetings be held in future. Next year's meeting will be held in Waterloo.

PLUMBERS INJURED WHEN TANK EXPLODES

Victim of Accident in Windsor Shop May Lose His Eyesight.

Windsor, Nov. 12.—William Langlois and Leslie Lewis, plumbers, were badly burned about the face and hands today, when a gasoline tank in L'Heureux's plumbing shop, on Wyandotte street, exploded. Langlois, it is feared, will lose the sight of both eyes. His hands are also painfully burned. Lewis is in a less serious condition, but likely will be scarred for life. The explosion is said to have been caused from a lighted match coming in contact with leakage from the gasoline tank. The building was badly damaged, the front and back being blown out.

BOER WAR VETERAN ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

Discharges Gun Into His Head While Hunting Along Shores of Lake Simcoe.

Barrie, Nov. 12.—The accidental discharge of his gun caused the death of Alfred Garner here yesterday afternoon. The body was found on the bay shore at the landing place, opposite the summer residence of Archdeacon Cody. It is thought he was seated on a knoll at this point, and pulling his hammerless gun towards him caused it to go off, discharging the contents at close range into his face. Half the head was shot away, the brain being scattered in all directions. Deceased was about 45 years of age, and was employed by D. T. Rees. He served in the British army in India, was all through the Boer war, and had been a commissioned officer in the Thirty-fifth Regiment for several years. He leaves a wife and four small children.

Miss Aggie Atchison and Mr. Fred Johnston sat Saturday with Miss Florence Atchison at Stratford. Mr. Alex. Davidson, of Leamington, visited Miss Olive Scott recently. Miss Ethel Rodgers and Mr. Bert Elliott have returned from their Western trip.

Mr. and Mrs. William Maxwell are at present visiting friends in Leamington. Miss Gertrude Murray, of Toronto, visited recently at the home of Mr. Adam Cleghorn.

Blyth, Nov. 12.—Mr. James Potter, one of the oldest settlers in this locality, owing a farm in East Wawanosh, on the outskirts of the town, passed away on Sunday morning. Very few people knew that he was so seriously ill. Those left to mourn him are four sons and one daughter, who all reside in this locality, with the exception of one son who is practicing medicine in the United States. His wife predeceased him some years ago. The deceased was an active member of the Anglican Church, and in politics a Conservative.

Mr. R. R. Sloan left Monday morning for Toronto to be in attendance at the Ontario fruit growers' exhibit, being one of those appointed to look after the Huron County exhibit there. He also has an exhibit of his own. The anniversary of the Presbyterian Church took place on Sunday evening last, and as the weather was fine there was a large attendance at both services, especially in the evening, when the church was packed on account of the Methodists closing their church. Rev. Mr. Abraham, of Guelph, occupied the pulpit, and preached two splendid sermons, making a good impression on the congregations. The choir also was assisted by Mrs. (Rev.) J. T. Small, of Hespeler, and a quartette. The collections hardly reached the amount asked for by the management.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 12.—General Felix Diaz, leader of the latest revolution in Mexico, has escaped from prison, according to a letter received here by R. G. Kirwan, of this city, from R. H. Dickinson, at Oaxaca, Mexico. Dickinson is from Boston, and is interested in mining in Mexico. The letter was dated Oaxaca, Nov. 3, and that part of it bearing on Diaz's reported escape follows: "This afternoon a special edition came out here, saying General Felix Diaz had escaped from prison by bribing sentries, and gone by boat down the coast. The whole town is wild, and Emilio goes round with a broad grin on his face. Emilio says he is going with several other Mexicans here."

Kirwan says the Emilio referred to is Felix Diaz's nephew.

SPANISH GOV.T WILL NOT RESIGN

Assassination of Premier Canalejas Will Make No Difference at Present.

RECORD OF PARDINAS

Young Anarchist Was Expelled From Buenos Ayres for Anarchistic Agitation.

[Canadian Press.] Madrid, Nov. 13.—The body of the assassinated Premier Canalejas lay in state from an early hour this morning on a catafalque which had been erected in a temporary chapel in the Chamber of Deputies. The body was dressed in diplomatic uniform, and beneath the corners of the gray silk canopy covering the catafalque stood a military guard of honor, the men with their heads inclined on their arms which rested on their reversed rifles.

A vast silent crowd of people gathered both in and outside the chamber to pay their last respects to the dead statesman. The population of the capital appears to be deeply impressed by the crime. Work has been almost entirely suspended, and nearly every business house is closed, while most of the houses in the residential section are draped with mourning decorations.

The Liberal cabinet will continue to hold office under the temporary presidency of Foreign Minister Marquis Manuel Garcia Prieto for the present, at least, until the signature of the Moroccan treaty with France, which should have been completed today. Premier Poincaré, of France, however, telegraphed this morning to the Spanish Government to defer the matter, until a more convenient date. The assassin, whose name is Pardinas, is a man of distinguished appearance. He has regular features, is smooth-shaven, and has luminous eyes. When arrested he had several manuscripts in his possession, one in cypher was inscribed on the outer sheet, "The International Conflagration." Another was a thesis on the anatomy of the human stomach. He also carried one of Flammarion's astronomical books, and the photo of a woman, on which was written, "To my unforgettable Manuel."

The recent movements of Pardinas are known in outline to the Spanish police. He was expelled from Buenos Ayres last March on account of his participation in anarchistic agitations. He returned to Spain and stayed for a few days in Madrid, whence he travelled to Paris, London, Biarritz, Bordeaux, and Marseilles, and then again to Paris, which city he left ten days ago for Madrid. The Paris police notified the authorities in Madrid of Pardinas' departure and informed them of a matter a great deal of consideration, and I do not think it would be wise to electrify the line and operate it as a civic enterprise. There is no hiding the fact that the railway corporations are opposed to such a proceeding. In fact, they would open hostilities against us, and would practically ruin the line. They would give us no freight whatever, and all that the city would have would be a good passenger business in the summer, and little for the remainder of the year. I do not think it would be wise on our part to expend $500,000 or $750,000 on this enterprise under present conditions. It is a step too far in advance.

WORK AND PLAY

[By Elbert Hubbard.] The people who can do big work are always those who have the ability to play.

When we play, we equalize our circulation and keep our nerves from getting on the outside of our clothes. If you haven't a good digestion, and if you haven't a good digestion, you are an awful tax on the patience of your friends. If you haven't a good digestion, don't feel sorry for yourself, feel sorry for the people who have to live with you.

And when you play, go where the air is charged with ozone, where the granite of the hills gets into your blood and the purr of the pines lulls you to rest.

Canada is the winter playground of the North American continent. Health and healing are in the vibrant air. If you want to know more about the winter playgrounds of Canada, write to the Grand Trunk folks for literature, which will be sent free. All the Grand Trunk family from president to sectionman believe in and practice courtesy. They are public servants. This vast highway of steel is dedicated to the people. Canada invites both the summer and winter pleasure seeker.

TORONTO TELEGRAM SEES A WAR CLOUD

Declares Army Reservists in Canada Told To Be Ready for Mobilization.

[Canadian Press.] Winnipeg, Nov. 13.—The Telegram says it has become known that reserve men of the British army residing in Winnipeg to the number of supposedly nearly two hundred, have received notices to hold themselves in readiness for the call to muster. It is reported that the summons has gone out throughout the Empire. At Port Osborne, the headquarters of the Winnipeg garrison, it was stated nothing was known of any notice to men in the British army reserve to hold themselves in readiness, and little credence is placed in the rumor. The Telegram says as the men notified received personal instructions in the nature of a confidential order, it is easily understood that no official statement from the military authorities could well be forthcoming, and the sudden departure of the reservists at any time need cause no surprise.

and maintenance. It would seem that if this money were spent on the Port Stanley line the citizens could find their system antiquated within a remarkably short time. If anyone disputes the statement, I can provide him with ample proof.

"Are all the Solomons in this province, I should like to ask?" continued Mr. Gray. "Are the competent engineers employed by the great railways of the continent to be all considered 'dubs'? Why do they not install an electrification system on the Michigan Central at Welland, where the trains, running at short intervals, pass so close to the province's power-house that you could flip a penny through the window."

Overriding and Bulldozing. "There seems to be a tendency to knock some of London's enterprises (when everyone should be trying to hold everything we have and secure more) to the glorification of certain interests. London has had a sufficient dose of over-riding and bulldozing. Let us get down to doing business as we do it in our own affairs. Are we getting the best out of what we have now?"

"I have been given to understand while in Toronto recently that before the ratepayers had voted on the second bylaw, which was to finance the scheme for the Queen City, the hydro-electric people had spent almost the full amount, it being all charged up as an overdraft by a bank. Is this the sort of business that anyone would allow his business manager to do? I also have good reason to believe that the Toronto and Hamilton are getting it for $15. What chance has London to get an industry in the face of this? When the city builds its waterworks system, does it charge the people on St. James street more than it charges those on King street? It does not, but builds its transmission lines (for the water pipes are transmission lines), and gives water to one and all for the same price. On the other hand, the province builds a transmission line, and because Hamilton is lucky enough to have it on London geographically, Hamilton gets the industries. Let me say here and now that the city will lose more in granting bonuses and exemptions to new industries in the next ten years than it will save on hydro-electric in a hundred years. Why haven't publicity commissioners been able to get factories here? Both are able men. I have been told by unprejudiced parties, and Mr. Henderson got industries for Hamilton. Why did Mr. Carrothers give it up? If we could read Mr. Henderson's thoughts, we should find that he is hard set to get factories with the big power handicap. Otherwise, why is the city trying to annex suburbs and provide free sites? Because the city must have some advantages to offset the disadvantages it labors under with this great buncio of hydro-electric system. Better far for London if private monopoly had a strangle hold all over the province than that Toronto and Hamilton could sell power for $16 to manufacturers, while London can only offer it to them at $27, saying, 'Yes, my dear, but you really should come to London.'"

Some Pre-Election Promises.

"Do Londoners remember some of Mr. Beck's pre-election promises that we would have two-cent fares on our street railway—that we would have mills taken off our tax rate? Has hydro-electric done either of these things? Has it made one more factory start its wheels in this city?"

Mr. Gray certainly believes that London should be on the lake. He goes further. He would have London put on "the lakes!"

"Build a line to Grand Bend, and we will be two lakes nearer the north-west, and will be the only Canadian city on Lake Huron," was the way he put it. He predicted a great advantage for London shippers to the West if a line were in operation in this direction. And it would go through a virgin territory. How many more ships would call at the port of London through electrification. "I think most of them would call by wire," Mr. Gray smiled as he remarked.

"Let anyone look at the map and they would discern the benefits to be derived by getting on Lake Huron. We would have a great advantage over Toronto and Hamilton in rates, and would be very close to the Northwest. Besides, we would open up a splendid territory. "One danger that strikes me forcibly is the danger of losing the connections with the Michigan Central and Pere Marquette. I do not know that we would lose this, but it has been stated that we would. One-third of London's shipping is done over these smaller lines, and it would be a very serious matter if the citizens saw fit to end this connection."

road," said his worship. "We must either lease it, or electrify it, and operate it ourselves as a municipal enterprise."

"The road is not for sale. I could have had several bids for the purchase of the line, but I informed all who inquired that under no circumstances would the road be sold."

"As for electrification, the report on this feature was ready and can be seen at any time. I have given the matter a great deal of consideration, and I do not think it would be wise to electrify the line and operate it as a civic enterprise. There is no hiding the fact that the railway corporations are opposed to such a proceeding. In fact, they would open hostilities against us, and would practically ruin the line. They would give us no freight whatever, and all that the city would have would be a good passenger business in the summer, and little for the remainder of the year. I do not think it would be wise on our part to expend $500,000 or $750,000 on this enterprise under present conditions. It is a step too far in advance."

The Free Press' Report.

The Free Press, reporting the same meeting, printed the following: "The mayor then explained that the spending of between $500,000 and $800,000 on the electrification of the road was, in his opinion, too big a proposition to handle an account of action taken by all large corporations in fighting ownership."

"If we go ahead and electrify the road," he said, "there will be a concerted stand taken by all the trunk lines to boycott our line. The Lake Erie Coal Company does not want to dicker with the city for carrying freight; now, as was at first intimated to me, and in that move I can see that these corporations are already fighting us. If we can make a good arrangement with any of the trunk lines to take this line, and give us a differential freight or lake rate with a cheap fare into London from all points between here and Port Stanley, I think it would be a good proposition."

Can't Recall Remarks.

"There must be some mistake," said Mayor Graham, when asked as to the above. "My meaning must have been misunderstood. I have consistently advocated the electrification of the London and Port Stanley, before I was mayor and since. I advocated in the last municipal campaign that London be put on the lake, and I have never ceased to stand by that policy. I have endeavored to obtain the best possible returns for the road, in case the people desired to lease or sell it, but my own opinion has always been in favor of electrification."

The above statement, in view of the report of both newspapers of his remarks at the meeting of the London and Port Stanley board, is best explained by the metaphor of the 12-inch gun.

GAS, SOURNESS AND INDIGESTION VANISH

As Soon as "Pape's Diapepsin" Gets in Stomach All Distress Is Gone.

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and cruetate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvellous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back. It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, safest and most harmless stomach doctor in the world.

Such has been the popularity of the moving picture shows, according to an article in "McClure's," that one of the promoters of these enterprises not long ago proposed to lease the Metropolitan Opera House in New York City for their production, and offered a rental of $150,000 a year; this being refused, he is now building a moving-picture theatre in Harlem that will seat even more people than the opera house.

Iliderton Lady Dead.
Mrs. Margaret J. Robson, an old resident of Iliderton, died at the family residence there on Tuesday evening, aged 80 years. Mrs. Robson is survived by a grown-up family, all living in the vicinity of Iliderton, but her husband predeceased her several years ago. The funeral is to be held tomorrow afternoon and interment will be made at St. George's Cemetery.

Retail Grocers Meet.
A large number of the local grocers attended the meeting of the Retail Grocers' Association last night, but the business transacted was of little interest to those outside the trade. The members are arranging for a number of meetings during the winter, and also report that much progress is being made in the organization of the Ontario Retail Grocers' Association, which was formed last summer.

Succumbed to Injuries.
Mrs. Jane Fleming, widow of Thomas Fleming, formerly of Stratford, succumbed to injuries sustained at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. Daniel J. Kenney, of 223 Hyman street, Tuesday night. Mrs. Fleming, who was 78 years of age, slipped while descending the stairs several days ago, and no hope for her recovery had since been entertained. The funeral is to be held Friday morning to St. Peter's Cathedral and then to the Grand Trunk depot. The remains will be forwarded to Stratford for interment there on the arrival of the morning train.

Mr. Harwood Promoted.
Mr. Ernest Harwood, who for twenty years has been connected with the G. T. R. in this city, first as a telegraph operator, and in later years as chief clerk to Master of Transportation J. C. Crombie, has been given notice of his promotion to agent of the travelling car service department for the company's western division on all lines between Chicago and Detroit. His headquarters will be at Detroit. Mr. Harwood will be succeeded here by Mr. Fred Deering, of the local car distributing department, who will be followed in his position by J. E. Ven Kuren, at present of Stratford. Mr. Deering, a car distributor here, will go to Stratford to fill the vacancy there, while Allison Welch, a stenographer in the local offices, will succeed Mr. Laing. Mr. Harwood, prior to coming to London, had been telegraph operator at Niagara Falls, and other places, on the road, and his excellent service is now rewarded in the promotion to the western division.

INGERSOLL NIMRODS TAKING DOWN GUNS

Squirrels in the Oxford Woods Are Numerous This Fall.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, Nov. 13.—Local nimrods are taking down their guns again and studying geographical conditions in anticipation of a heavy slaughter of squirrel when the season opens Friday. According to reports from various sections where timber exists squirrels are said to be plentiful. Many of the hunters have been making inquiries and have their hunting territory all "staked" out, so there will likely be much craning of necks and "velvet" treading through forest aisles when the season opens. During recent seasons, and particularly since the time was extended, till the 15th of November, comparatively few squirrels have been killed. The weather has been adverse and the squirrels have had an opportunity of increasing.

Word has been received here of the death at Los Angeles, Cal., of a former highly respected and widely-known resident of West Oxford, in the person of Dr. Bradford S. Galloway. According to information received by his sister, Mrs. J. F. Williams, of this place, Dr. Galloway died very suddenly and unexpectedly of heart trouble while waiting for his dinner in a restaurant. He had been in somewhat declining health for over a year, but had not been confined to his bed. He is a son of Mr. George Galloway, formerly of West Oxford, now residing in Dakota. Besides Mrs. Williams, deceased is survived by another sister, Mrs. J. G. Currie, of West Oxford.

Local Salvationists are at present interested in the memorial to the late General Booth, which it is proposed to erect in Toronto. Ingersoll people always manifest a friendly and liberal interest in the work of the army, and no doubt the response in the present case will be very satisfactory.

KATE WAS CAPRICIOUS BUT A REAL FIREHORSE

Old-Time Animal of Fire Department Died After Fourteen Years' Service.

Kate, one of the old-time fire horses of the local department, died this week at No. 5 hall, from blood-poisoning. She was 19 years of age and had been in the department for 14 years.

This removes one of the picturesque animals from the department. Kate was purchased when 5 years of age, and was placed in the central station. Firemen declared that she was one of the best horses that ever looked through a bridle.

However, she was as temperamental as a prima donna, and many fire ladders will remember Kate's attentions to them for years to come. She had an almost fiendish desire to kick everything and everybody in sight, and the careless fireman who got too close to Kate's heels paid for his temerity by spending a few days in the hospital. Fortunately, no person was ever killed by her.

At the Perrin fire, a bystander, not knowing Kate's habits, got too close to her, and as a result carried his leg in a sling for some days.

Her bad habits were the cause of her death. A few weeks ago she took a notion to kick the fire hall down and back out her legs. Blood-poisoning set in, killing her this week.

It was the intention of Fire Chief Aitken to dispose of her. About two months ago she fell on the corner of Dundas and Waterloo streets, while galloping at a furious rate to a fire, and the heavy rig ran up on her. The mare was crippled after that, and lost her usefulness. Before she could be disposed of she died.

FEEBLE-MINDED STAND IN NEED OF HELP

National Council of Women Are Working to Provide a Home for Such Women.

The local branch of the National Council of Women are in harmony with all branches of the council throughout the country in having seriously discussed in their meetings the need of providing a home for the feeble-minded. The matter will be taken up at the National Council conference meeting in Hamilton on Nov. 19 and 20.

The council feel the dire need of safeguarding the Dominion from the dreadful heritage of feeble-mindedness which will affect the destiny of the Canadian people so seriously. The National Council throughout each branch have perpetually tapped at the official doors to get a hearing for the plea of custodial care for the afflicted ones, but they state that they have not been recognized.

Mrs. Boomer and Yarker will act as delegates from the local branch when this question comes up in Hamilton at the conference.

WYOMING BECOMING BIG FRUIT PRODUCER

Almost All Kinds Are Thriving and a Large Market Being Found.

Wyoming, Nov. 13.—Wyoming and surrounding country is awakening to the possibility of a bright future before it as a fruit-growing country. The soil being so suitable to the raising of almost any kind of fruit. A portion of the village seems ideal for the berry crop, and for years the gardening of such has been carried on for considerable extent by the holders of small lots within the town limits, who disposed of their produce by carting to Petrolia and even as far as Sarnia.

However, of late, owing in a large measure to the opinions of such experienced men as Johnson brothers, Mr. S. Todd and others, who are in a position to know whereof they speak, fruit growing is receiving a new impetus among the busy farmers.

On almost every farm is found an apple orchard even above the average in variety of fruit, many being planted largely to the King, Northern Spy and Baldwin, all favorites, that should find for themselves ready markets, and even in an uncultivated state present a healthy appearance.

Mr. S. L. Borrowman, one of our leading fruit growers, some few years ago bought 15 acres a mile and a half from town, which, being of a sandy nature, the owner was of his dual purpose. This he planted to apples of all marketable varieties, which peaches as fillers, which has presented a perfect picture of a well-cared-for plot, and this is the result of his dual purpose.

That our locality is gaining in reputation is evident, as only last week a farm of 100 acres of this same class of soil, a short distance further west, was bought by a Leamington man for almost $7,000. This buyer, who is versed in fruit culture, considers he has secured first-class soil for his purpose, and wishes to secure 50 or 100 acres more near by.

Even at distant parts of Ontario are the possibilities of our locality becoming known, several having been engaged in fruit growing elsewhere in looking carefully over our soil. pronounce it, the lighter soil, a least, equal to that of the Niagara belt or adaptability to peach growing.

A GAS PIPE SET FIRE TO THE ROOF

Fire Department Had a Run to a Home on King Street.

The fire department had a run to 351 King street last evening shortly before 8 o'clock, to the residence of Mr. D. McArthur. It seems that a pipe, to carry away the fumes from a gas-burner, was run into the attic, but was not carried through the roof. A space of about six inches intervened between the pipe and the ceiling. The heat from the burner ignited the ceiling. The blaze was noticed by the family, who summoned the brigade. The fire was extinguished, the damage being about five dollars.

SOCIETY RESPONSIBLE FOR THE McNAMARAS

Dynamiting Case Referred To at Convention of American Federation of Labor.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 13.—The second day's session of the thirty-second convention of the American Federation of Labor was occupied almost entirely with the reading of the report of the executive council. In it Wm. J. Burns was arraigned as an example of his own characterization of private detectives, and the investigation of the federation since the McNamara trial was declared to show a concerted attempt by employers' associations and subsidized newspapers to destroy the federation and bring its officers to disrepute.

The report reviewed the attempts by leaders of the scout movement to eliminate the features that were objectionable to labor, and recommended that the convention this year refrain from denouncing the movement. Of the McNamara offense was a social crime. Thinking people who were made to realize the poisonous, mischievous influence of the atmosphere of industrial life were well-nigh overwhelmed by the weight of collective responsibility devolving upon them as a result of the existence of such conditions. The McNamaras were either criminally insane or insanely criminal—either condition due to imperfect education, incomplete education, or defective mentality. In any case, society is responsible for not remedying the conditions. What concerns labor and society generally is preventive measures and human betterment, so that life and working conditions may be pure, wholesome and clean. Those infected by deadly social poisons, due to social neglect, are the heritage of our own aims and those of our fathers.

Of Burns' connection with the McNamara case, the report said, in part: "Burns has not and could not substantiate his oft-repeated misstatement, 'Gompers knew.'"

ECZEMA ITCHED AND BURNED

Until She was Nearly Crazy. Began with Watery Blisters. On Ears, Eyes, Hands and Ankles. Could Not Sleep for Scratching. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Brunswick St., Fredericton, N. B.—"I had a very bad case of eczema. The trouble began with watery blisters and itched and burned until I was nearly crazy. It was on my ears, eyes, hands and ankles. I could not keep the bed clothes over me at night for the burning and itching. My ears would swell. I would scratch until the blood would run and then form a scab. I felt as if I could take a knife and cut the flesh on my hands. It would disfigure my face and make it smart and burn and swell. I could not sleep at night for scratching.

"I tried everything I heard of without getting any benefit. I used lots of home remedies, such as lard and sulphur, and also was treated for it. Then I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they gave me great ease. I used them about four months and I am happy to say I am never troubled now. The Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me completely." (Signed) Mrs. A. S. Thompson, Mar. 9, 1912.

The regular use of Cuticura Soap for toilet and bath not only tends to preserve, purify and beautify the skin, scalp, hair and hands, but assists in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads, redness and roughness, yellow, oily, mothy and other unwholesome conditions of the skin. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post card Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 44D, Boston, U. S. A.
