WIRTH CLAIMS AMERICA MUST ACT AS UMPIRE

Former German Chancellor Sees Need for World Economic Conference.

ADVISES QUICK ACTION

Pictures Ruin and Bolshevism for Europe Unless U. S. Moves.

Special Cable to The Advertiser. Berlin, Nov. 17.—(By Karl A. Bickel, general manager of the United Press. Copyright, 1922, by the U. P.)—"America must call a world economic conference. It is her duty," Dr. Joseph Wirth, former chancellor of Germany, declared in an interview today, his first since the fall of his government.

Able to discuss frankly the situation within and without Germany, unhampered by diplomatic reticence, which prevented utterance during his nineteen months at the head of German affairs, Wirth's first thought was for the need of American intervention as arbitrator in European affairs.

The United States, he declared, must take a decisive role in the settlement by naming official delegates to the conference. It must be umpire for Europe. Unless America does this, Dr. Wirth foresees utter ruin and Bolshevism throughout Europe.

Determined to Carry On. For himself, he said he was determined to carry on, playing a part in the Reichstag somewhat similar to that of Lloyd George in the British parliament. Wirth is now a deputy. He pointed out that the United States through Woodrow Wilson was pledged to the "fourteen points," adding, "But it now appears that nobody in America is willing to carry out these principles."

"Who is to settle the European problem which now has become a world problem? Not politicians. Not Premier Poincaré," Wirth continued. "America must take a hand as soon as possible, and must call a conference which will deal with the problem from an economic viewpoint."

"America now has two gentlemen—these are the names—on the reparations commission; but why doesn't America have official representatives? America must have official representatives, so she can play the decisive role of arbiter."

At this point I interrupted Dr. Wirth with the question whether he meant that America ought to speak what the Germans call the "Machtwort" (Might word). He replied: "I would not say that; but you can say that America should play a decisive role and be officially representative."

After a pause, he added: "I have done my best to fulfill the Versailles treaty demands."

"Perhaps I have done too much, but there is nothing to show for it. After the London ultimatum, the Allies occupied Düsseldorf, and Ruhr. Their troops are still there. Why? When one asks, they only shrug their shoulders."

"Occupations must cease. The whole problem must be treated from an economic standpoint."

He asked what would happen if the United States did nothing. "The misery and wretchedness throughout Europe will increase constantly, and Europe will go to ruin."

He paused reflectively, and then continued:

"I had a delegation from several hospitals and clinics here a few days ago. They told me their institutions were being forced to close."

"He paused another second. Then: "That is not all. Science is crumbling, universities are badly off, and the middle classes are becoming beggars. There you see the situation. Our patience is not exhausted yet, but our resources are."

TEST ALLEGED HUSBAND POISONERS FOR SANITY

Chicago Expert Concludes Women "Bluebeard" State Insane When They Joke at Examination.

Special to The Advertiser.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 17.—The sanity of Tillie Kilmek and Nellie Koulik, charged with the wholesale poisoning of husbands and relatives for their insurance, was tested today.

Dr. W. J. Hickson, city psychopathic expert, who made a four-hour examination of the feminine "bluebeards," believes the women are not insane, although he has concluded they are both suffering from a case of dementia praecox. The two women sneered and grinned at the questions of the alienist.

Mrs. Kilmek, who is alleged to have poisoned at least four husbands, gloated over deeds, Stella Grant Kowalski, a former friend of the woman, told the state attorney.

Mrs. Kilmek told me, she said, "that she had lifted the body of her third husband, Frank Kupczyk, up in the coffin and laughing in his face, said: 'You'll never get up again.'"

B. C. LIQUOR TAX FINES AMOUNT TO $227,267

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 17.—Although the cost of enforcement of the liquor control act since it became operative, amounts to $103,927, receipts from taxes on imported liquor, confiscations, fines and expropriated ball amounts to $227,267 at the end of September, showing a surplus of $123,340. These figures came out before the legislative public accounts committee yesterday in its investigation of liquor affairs.

Went To Meet Wife; Finds Her Dead in Auto Wreck He Aids

Special to The Advertiser.

WAMEGO, Kas., Nov. 17.—Dr. Benj. Bruner, traveling from Wamego to St. Marys to meet his wife, was called to a motor car party struck by the train. "My God, it's my wife," he cried when he approached the scene of the accident. Mrs. Bruner was dead, and the other victim was Mrs. Noah Tabaka.

Ruth Bruner, three years old, was found lying seated in the wrecked automobile. She had suffered only minor injuries.

RIDICULE STORY ON RAIL RIGHTS

G. T. R. Union Officials Do Not Fear Protests From Ousted Men.

Officials of both the Grand Trunk Railway and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen laugh at the rumor, recently circulated in local railway circles, that the non-union employees in the passenger service of the Grand Trunk in the London division will register an appeal against their places being taken by union men who participated in the strike of 1910, and who within the last few weeks, by a new ruling of the road, have had their pension and seniority rights restored to them.

Thomas Kelley, the general secretary of the members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, employees of the Grand Trunk system, and well known in Western Ontario rail circles, declared that the rumor was one of the wildest and most laughable he had heard in some time, when interviewed Friday morning.

"Common Sense Prevents. The men are lucky to have their positions, let alone protest against the ruling of the road," he said. "They do not belong to the B. T. R. because they are strike-breakers and will not be admitted to the union. Common sense alone should prevent them from appealing; they have no organization to back their contention, and it would only make matters from worse."

A well-known G. T. R. official also stated Friday morning that, in his opinion, an appeal to the railroad authorities was one of the most unlikely things that could happen.

For the past twelve years the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen has been fighting to have the pension and seniority rights restored to those who walked out in 1910, but up till a few weeks ago no definite action was taken in the matter. At that time W. D. Robb, the newly appointed vice-president and general manager of the Canadian National Railway, changed the ruling.

In accordance with the new ruling, the pension and seniority rights of personnel of trains running out of London and other changes are to follow.

"The men have always contended that one of the conditions under which they returned to work after the strike of 1910 was that they would not lose their pension and seniority rights. It is said that one of those who was chiefly instrumental in the new ruling being put into effect was W. D. Robb, the newly appointed vice-president and general manager of the Canadian National Railway."

Mr. Robb held that was a misunderstanding between the road, and the men when they returned to work and feeling that it would blunder the railway as well as the employees if their lost rights were restored did all in his power to see that it was done.

More than 1,200 men in the train service of the G. T. R. are affected by the ruling.

DIES IN WINDSOR MOTOR CAR CRASH

Windsor, Nov. 17.—Pinned beneath the wreckage of a limousine he was driving, Charles Kovinsky, 26, of 804 Ouellette avenue, was killed instantly when the machine collided with a small touring car on Ouellette avenue at 12:15 p.m. today.

The force of the collision completely smashed the big limousine, hurling Kovinsky through the windshield, according to a statement made by Ben Kovinsky, his brother, a passenger at the time.

DOWN-AND-OUT CLUB MOVES. New York, Nov. 17.—The St. George's Society, an organization to relieve the down-and-out, has been forced by too many robberies to move from its present location.

Analyze Popular Vote in British Election

London, Nov. 17.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Approximating the probable vote for unionist conditions at 10,000 each—which is a conservative estimate in the British election—the following is an analysis of the "popular vote" parties, including all acclamations and the results to date of the exceptionally heavy polling on Wednesday.

Conservatives, 5,821,246. Labor, 4,326,245. Liberal (Asquithian), 2,784,050. Georgians, 1,501,500. Ulster Unionists, 100,000. Independent, 250,000. Irish Nationalists, 12,614. Farmers, 11,456.

REDUCE DEATH LISTS IN CHILE QUAKES TO 548

Government Estimates Show First Reports From Country Greatly Exaggerated.

INJURED "INNUMERABLE"

At Copiapo Shocks So Severe Bodies Unearthed From Graves.

Santiago, Chile, Nov. 17.—Revised figures given out by the minister of the interior place the total of those killed in last Saturday's earthquake at 548, which is considerably below the earlier reports.

The number of injured is only partly estimated, the total being set at 837, but those coming under this category in Valparaiso and Chancal are described in the report as "innumerable."

Going into details, the report says that the destruction at Antofagasta consisted of the partial demolition of some privately-owned houses, the loss of a number of boats, and damage to the wireless plant. Iliapel, Topocilla, Melillones and Pampa Saliterra escaped unscathed. At Talta eight boats were lost.

Valparaiso City is in ruins, with 333 dead, and the injured "innumerable," but estimated at around 600. Twelve prisoners were killed and eighteen injured in the collapse of the Chilean prison at Valparaiso.

The entire lower section of Chancal was razed. Seventeen are dead and many injured.

At Copiapo approximately half the houses were destroyed and others rendered uninhabitable. The earthquake was particularly violent in the vicinity of the Copiapo Cemetery, the movement thrusting a number of corpses from their graves.

At Caldera the tidal waves carried away the railroad station, workshops and customs house. There were no casualties. Similar damage was suffered at Carrizal Bajo. Prelina was destroyed. Eighteen were killed in the town, and sixty in the district. At Huasco, the tidal waves caused small damage, but eight deaths.

The extent of the damage at Riva was considerable, but has not been definitely established. At La Serena 30 houses are uninhabited and three persons were injured.

The Victoria quarter of Copiapo was swept away by tidal waves, the railroad station was destroyed, and the building of Grace & Co. demolished. Twenty-four are dead and thirteen are injured. The town of Ongo was destroyed, but there were no casualties.

Three more earth shocks were felt yesterday at Copiapo. The sanitary relief column which arrived on Wednesday at Copiapo from Antofagasta is proceeding to Valparaiso.

FLAMES DAMAGE QUEBEC ASYLUM

Quebec, Nov. 17.—Fire broke out this morning at the Beaufort Asylum, one of the largest hospitals for insane in the province, but was got under control when only a small amount of damage had been done.

Rev. Father Delorme, suspected of murdering his half-brother, Raoul, whose case has figured prominently in the courts here recently, is interned in Beaufort.

FIND BODY OF UNKNOWN MAN IN OLD ERIE CANAL

Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 17.—The body of an unidentified man was dragged from the old Erie Canal basin near the General Electric Company's plant here today.

Found in one pocket read: "In case of accident or illness notify Mr. George J. Haag, 210 York street, Rochester, N. Y."

KLONDIKE FREEZE-UP BEGINS; YUKON CLOSED

Dawson City, Y. T., Nov. 17.—The Klondike freeze-up began today. The Yukon River, in front of Dawson, closed completely over between 8 and 10 o'clock yesterday. This is the latest closing on record except in 1916, when the river closed on the same date.

For two weeks ice has been running in the Yukon, gradually getting heavier.

Gruff Words and Slamming Doors Sends Woman to Death in New York

Special to The Advertiser. New York, N. Y., Nov. 17.—It is nothing unusual for a New Yorker to have a subway door slammed in his face, but when a subway door was slammed in the face of Mrs. Joseph Gallo, a farmer's wife from South Dakota, it meant the death of Mrs. Gallo. It was the first in a series of events, as tragic as any New Yorker has known in years.

SIR WILLIAM HORWOOD. Poison concealed in candy is believed to have caused the illness of Sir William Horwood, head of Scotland Yard, detective and police headquarters of England.

CITY LABOR TO CHOOSE SLATE

Party To Hold Nominations at Temple On Friday Night.

London Labor prepares Friday night to battle in real earnest for a larger representation on the various civic spending bodies. Final nominations will be held at the Labor Temple at 8 p.m.

While a definite decision must be expressed by a vote of the convention, it is considered highly probable that a candidate will be officially entered in the race for the mayor's chair.

Three have been suggested for this contest, Alderman H. B. Ashplant, ex-Ald. John Colbert, president of the London Street Railwaymen's Union, and Frank McKay, president of No. 1 branch of the London Labor party.

Colbert Will Stand. While all three have not as yet announced themselves definitely, it is believed that in any event, ex-Ald. Colbert will again seek re-election to the city council. The party is urging him to allow his name to be placed on the Labor slate for Ward 3.

While candidates have been suggested for every ward in the city it is an established fact in this city that Labor wages its big fight in Ward 3. The contest in that section will be more than warm this year, and the outcome will be watched with every interest.

Both Aldermen John Ashton and Fred G. Watkinson, who were elected last year on the Labor ticket, are seeking re-election, but have not as yet received the indorsement of the Labor party. The question now pending is whether either of them can be elected to office in an acknowledged Labor ward without Labor's official support.

Watch With Interest. Mayoralty candidates already in the field are watching with interest Friday's session at the Labor Temple. If, as anticipated, no candidate for this office is entered, the mayoralty will be left open for a "show-down." A tremendous vote is polled in this district, and the Labor party is fighting for the mayor's chair with every effort to convince the electors of southeast London that he is the only choice for the workers' ticket.

WIDOW SPLIT SALARY WITH WIDOW OF MAN HE KILLED

Redwood City, Cal., Nov. 17.—A charge of manslaughter against John Swanson was dismissed by superior Judge Buck yesterday when Swanson agreed to sign over one-half of his earnings for five years to the widow of James Bolt, who was killed by Swanson's automobile Sept. 23.

Swanson also agreed to sell his automobile and give the proceeds to the widow. Swanson earns $5.50 per day.

DAUGHTER BORN ELECTION

London, Nov. 17.—(Canadian Press).—The gift of a daughter on election day was the solace received by the Marquis of Hartington, son of the Duke of Devonshire and son-in-law of Lord Salisbury, who sustained defeat in West Derbyshire, where he ran as a Conservative against the Liberal, L. C. White.

The exact movements of Mrs. Gallo are also swallowed up in the hurry of the city. She was found wandering weakly on the street in search of her husband, who had taken her to a police station. From there she was taken to Bellevue Hospital. There she died of fright.

The heart, which had beat steadily for her husband and children as they struggled for eighteen years on a South Dakota farm, gave way when she was taken to the morgue to identify the body of his wife. The gruff voice of the subway guard, the slamming of a door, the difference between a word of kindness and harsh haste, spelled the difference between a long-awaited happiness and black tragedy, and death.

WENIGE WANTS VOTING ON ALL CITY SPENDERS

Urges Police Commission and Other Public Bodies Be Elected.

FEELING IS WIDESPREAD

Present Council Looked With Disfavor on Request From St. Thomas.

The personnel of all public spending bodies should be elected by the popular vote of the ratepayers, declares ex-Ald. George Wenige.

This includes, he points out, the police commission as well as the board of health. At this moment these boards, he reminds, are "selected" bodies, not "elective" bodies.

Mr. Wenige claims that as the members of these boards handle public money, there is no reason whatever why they should not be directly responsible to the taxpayers.

At this time, a suggestion to this effect is claiming the attention of several municipalities scattered throughout the province. A few weeks ago, as a matter of fact, the London city council considered a resolution to elect the members of the board of health.

The new proposal was sent without discussion to the board of health, which considered that it was worthy of consideration.

The proposal has received considerable attention, however, at different meetings of the Ontario Municipal Association, at which attend delegates from every municipality in the province.

The local police commission consists of three members—the county judge, the police magistrate and the mayor. The latter is the only one of the three who is directly representative of the people.

Mayor Wilson and the majority of the present council have been decidedly against the inauguration of any elective police commission.

Canadian Press Comment On British Election

OTTAWA CITIZEN: Most people will be inclined to agree that having decided on a negative policy, it is the duty of the government to carry it out without being dependent upon other groups.

The Labor party's gains seem to show that the country is not too much alarmed over the possibility of a change of government. At the same time it is quite possible that Labor has made headway in spite of this somewhat futile policy.

OTTAWA JOURNAL: A dominating desire on the part of the British people for a return to equipoise, to calm and certainly to the peaceful pursuit of their lives and to the assurance of protection against social revolution—this assisted by strategic advantage and superior organization—has given the Unionists a decisive victory.

This result cannot be viewed as other than altogether gratifying to the Unionist cause.

Much criticism is appearing in the Turkish newspapers regarding alleged propaganda in the United States against Turkey. The Anatolian news agency, official mouthpiece of the Ankara government, declares this campaign is being conducted by United States missionaries and relief workers, who, it is alleged, are attempting to bring about war between Turkey and the United States.

LLOYD GEORGE MAY GET CONTROL OF OPPOSITION

Defeat of Arthur Henderson May Increase Difficulty of Leaderless Labor To Keep Welshman From Winning Post—Await Complete Returns.

LANDSLIDE RETURNS CONSERVATIVES

Special to The Advertiser. London, Nov. 17.—With a clear majority of 85 seats over all other political parties in parliament, Premier Bonar Law is to have ample opportunity to test his policy of "tranquillity," when commons convenes next Monday.

The Conservatives won a tremendous victory; a victory that was a surprise to the country, coming as it did after early announcements of success of the Labor party. Heavy losses were suffered by the Liberal party in the industrial districts had put many Labor candidates into office early, but when returns from outlying districts came, a British general election of Wednesday proved to have been something of the nature of a Conservative landslide.

Bonar Law's government will be unhampered for the present. His majority makes it possible for him to rule parliament in an autocratic fashion as did Lloyd George, while at the helm of the Coalition government.

SULTAN FLIES IN FEAR TO MALTA

Former Turkish Ruler Believes Life in Danger at Constantinople.

Constantinople, Nov. 17.—Mohammed VI, the Turkish sultan, had fled from Constantinople on a British warship, bound for Malta. Upon embarking the sultan emphasized that he was not abdicating, but merely removing himself from immediate danger.

Reports that the Turkish sultan had fled from Constantinople and taken refuge on a British warship, were current in both London and Paris last week, but the reports were subsequently denied in British official quarters in London. The foregoing dispatch from Constantinople, however, was sent without qualifications, and there seems to be no reason to doubt its truth.

The sultan, it is known, has been greatly exercised over the reports of the action of the Turkish Nationalist assembly, at Ankara, early this month, voting to deprive him of his throne, and declaring him a caliph, or religious head of Islam, would hereafter be selected from the imperial house by vote of the grand national assembly.

In the face of the filtration of Nationalist military elements into Constantinople, and the knowledge that the Ankara authorities would eventually be in full control in the Turkish capital, the sultan and his advisers have been frankly at sea as to the proper course for him to pursue.

The bulk of his guard went over to the Nationalists, and Constantinople dispatches have pictured him virtually at the mercy of the Kemalists, should they decide to make a descent in force on his palace. There have been rumors that he had abdicated, or was about to do so, but there has been no official confirmation of any such action on his part. There were strong intimations, however, that he would ask the allies for protection if the need arose.

Much criticism is appearing in the Turkish newspapers regarding alleged propaganda in the United States against Turkey. The Anatolian news agency, official mouthpiece of the Ankara government, declares this campaign is being conducted by United States missionaries and relief workers, who, it is alleged, are attempting to bring about war between Turkey and the United States.

CITY COUNCIL WILL DISCUSS ACTION TODAY

Mayor and Ald. Childs To Meet Officials of Society.

WILL MOVE CAUTIOUSLY

Want Assurance Magistrate Graydon Will Retain Post of Judge.

Whether the juvenile delinquents act will be proclaimed in London is expected to be decided at a special conference at the city hall Friday afternoon, between representatives of the city council and the Children's Aid Society.

Mayor Cameron Wilson and Ald. H. J. Childs, chairman of the finance committee, will represent the council, and commenting Friday morning upon the question, they intimated that they were not going to be "stampeded" into any one particular decision.

The society desires that the act be proclaimed to facilitate, it is believed, the appointment of probation officers, with the authority of the province, and while the councillors extend no direct opposition to this move, they want reasonable assurance that Police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon is to be retained as juvenile court judge.

It is explained that once the act is proclaimed the provincial department reserves the right to appoint the judge, probation officers, etc.

ARGUES GAS MORE HUMANE THAN GUNS

Admiral Sims Claims Less Casualties Result From Use of Poison Fumes.

Special to The Advertiser. Port Hope, Nov. 17.—"If anyone doubts my statement that poison gas is more humane than other instruments of warfare, let him refer to the official medical facts on poison gas during the war."

This was the statement of Admiral W. S. Sims, given exclusively to The Advertiser reporter here in connection with his recent utterances in Toronto.

"I have not expressed any opinion in Canada on poison gas," he continued. "All that I did was to state what the official facts show in reference to poison gas. The official facts compiled by our government and by other governments show that poison gas caused only one-twelfth as many casualties as did wounds by other means."

"These records also show that men fare at the cost of not more than one-twelfth of the number of casualties."

"That is not all. Don't imagine poison gas is humane. All instruments of warfare are inhumane, and war in itself is inhumane; but poison gas is more humane than any of the other means of killing."

Freida Hempel Radiates Happiness At Pleasing Concert
At Winter Gardens.

Freida Hempel! Was ever vision so delectable as Freida Hempel at the Winter Gardens last night, stepping forth in snowy silken loveliness to a bower of ferns and flowers and Japanese lanterns clustering round her,
a bevy of radiance.

And were ever notes more golden,
or voice so lightly sweet as that of Freida Hempel when her rare femi-nity and charm stepped into a frame of the century past and became a reincarnation of Jenny Lind, "the Swedish nightingale," a glorious songster, enshrined in the memory of nations.

It was Jenny Lind's program, but glittering from every number was Freida Hempel's delicious personality, her sweet graces, her bewitching manner.

For every song she swept into a new mood, stirring and magnificent, as she sang "God Save the King" to commence her program; inspired,
with Schubert's Ave Marie; agitated with ecstasy as her voice gave forth the rapturous strains of the Blue Danube waltz.

Were not a lovely disposition evident in every movement, the prima donna, one might have later regretted the greedy demand of her audience for encores, but singers like Freida Hempel are rare to London, and as every number closed there was the thought, "And this must end for us tonight."

Spell Was Broken.
So it was that when the last note of "Home Sweet Home" had melted into silence, and the spell was broken, that the realization of the end came and there broke out a frantic call for the singer's return.

And she came. Winsome in her bouffant skirt, with its billowy chif-fon, its twining flowers, the diamonds twinkling about her, and clasped on her wrist the bracelet that Jenny Lind herself wore, she came to sing the Blue Danube, transposing her audience to a vanished period of grace and beauty where lovely women had moved to lilting rhythm and stately men bowed and stepped with a chivalrous dignity that this old earth knows no longer.

"O Had I Jubal's Lyre," commenced part one, and was there ever happier choice of encore than "The Last Rose of Summer."
Miss Hempel's next group were Schubert's "Ave Maria" and "The Trout," in tones and fascinating manner which gave forth a picture of green banks and flashing silver streams, with gray, mossy stones in their cool depths. "The Hut Tree" (Shumann) and "The Song of the Swallow" (Norwegian melody, "The Herdman Song," to the latter number playing her own accompaniment, as did always Jenny Lind.

Her only departure from the songs of Jenny Lind was "By the Waters of Minnetonka," sung in accordance with a request.

The loveliness of her voice, its melting sweetness, and its silver clarity, together with her own winsomeness, were never more lovely than in the opening number of Part Two from the opera of the Brides of Venice, "Grand Aria di Bravura."

Not Creature of Moods.
From her youthfulness and her fair prettiness, her lovely blue eyes and her golden, wavy hair, it was not to be expected that Freida Hempel would be a creature of moods or deep, thrilling emotion, but there was a genuine wealth of feeling in her "Home Sweet Home," a suspicion of a sob in the heart-hunger which made itself felt in every note.

And this from a singer, who, with roughness, adopted a gloomy mask and sent out little chills and tremors of fear with her Farley's "Night Winds."

Freida Hempel seemed delightedly happy all through her performance, and in truth she was, were her happiness equal to the amount of pleasure she gave her audience.

Too, in the program, there were a pianist and fiddler, who lent to their role of flawless accompanists to appear as soloists of thrilling power.

Conrad V. Bos, pianist, gave two numbers, Chopin Romance and Waltz in G flat, forced to reply to a demand for encores.

Louis F. Fritz, who played flute obligato to several of Miss Hempel's songs, gave first "Andante Pastoral," by Beethoven, following that with the unsurpassed Beethoven minuet, a lovely thing, creating zest for more.

Great were the expectations of this concert; great was the joy of its realization, and long will be the memory of it in the hearts of the hundreds who heard it.—O. H.

Special to The Advertiser.
Sarnia, Nov. 16.—It is learned to-

of the trial of Dr. James Allan McEwen, London dentist, charged with percused will appear before the county judge's criminal court on Tuesday that County Judge A. E. Taylor presided at the original trial of Edward McMullen, when the alleged perjury was committed, Judge Wallace of Woodstock will probably try the case.

J. E. McEwen, K.C., of London, will defend Dr. Milne.

WARNS AGAINST FREE CAR RIDES

Inspector of Taxation Favors
City Acquiring Street Railway.

Declaring that he could see no reason why the city would not be able to place the London street railway on a paying basis and even sell seven tickets for a quarter, George Tambling, inspector of taxation for the London district, pointed out that there was only one danger in a municipality owning its own road and that was the allowing of "dead heads" to ride.

"Just because the city owns a railway is no reason why employees of the police, waterworks and other departments should ride free of charge," Mr. Tambling asserted.

Charged to Department
The various civic departments whose employees must ride the street railway should either buy tickets for these men or another arrangement could be worked out whereby the use made of the road by the employees whose duties compel them to ride on street cars, would be charged up to each department.

"The system is worn down now," he went on, "and the city can't make it any worse by taking the road over. The matter of price is another consideration, but that could be settled by an arbitration board."

Mr. Tambling was strong in his contention that if the city purchased the road all new rolling stock should be obtained, and that a large annual saving of needless expense would be realized if this was done.

"Is that the line is only about 28 miles long, and sufficient equipment, graders, engineers, and other things must be used to maintain a railroad with ten times the traffic."

When questioned regarding the advisability of using one-man cars, Mr. Tambling replied that in his opinion the road could be made to pay and give good service and still use two-man street cars. It is only in the case of small places, like St. Thomas, that for the economical maintenance of the road, one-man cars must be employed.

"The average citizen will pay if he gets something for his money," the inspector concluded. "If sanitary, clean cars are obtained, and the proper service is maintained there will be no trouble about fares."

Curzon Leaves to Confer With Poincare on To Be Pursued.

London, Eng., Nov. 17.—Foreign Secretary Curzon leaves for Paris today to consult Premier Poincare on the policies to be pursued by the allies at the Lausanne peace conference.

Curzon plans to proceed to Lausanne, possibly accompanied by Mr. Poincare, in time to hold another preliminary conference on Sunday with Premier Mussolini of Italy.

If the size of the British delegation will be the largest, and perhaps the most important conference since Versailles.

Although officials are reticent concerning the personnel of the British delegation it is believed Lord Curzon will be supported by a retinue of at least fifty persons.

KIWANIS HOLDS KICKER'S DAY

Revise Bylaws at Weekly Luncheon Held at Tecumseh House.

Today was "Kicker's Day" at the Kiwanis luncheon. The bylaws of the local branch were examined, and several were revised.

Kiwanian Albert Murphy, chairman of the bylaw committee, and legal adviser, submitted the revised laws to the members.

In speaking on the revision of the bylaws, he stated that since the inception of the order, one and one-half years ago, many of the laws, which were then anticipatory, were seen to be incomplete and inadequate. It was for this reason that the meeting would consider the changes that his committee would submit.

It was decided that in the case of a member joining in another locality, and moving later to this city, he should be allowed to attend here, without the privilege of voting, or holding office. As soon as a vacancy occurred, that member would be eligible for full membership.

The "number of members" clause was enlarged to permit the membership of four members from newspapers, universities, and transportation offices, instead of two members as in the past.

It was said that in the case of universities, there were many professors who were in departments as vastly different as the business of two different businessmen. The same thing applied in the different departments of the transportation companies, and papers.

There were several other changes, among which was the raising of annual fees from $15 to $20.

J. A. Nash Speaks.
John A. Nash, in a three-minute talk, stressed the value of "reflections." As a child, he liked to reflect on a new business man. He liked to see the new man succeed. He said that that feeling toward the other fellow had been reflected in his own business.

"This city—London—has never known a real business slump," he said. "In 1881, the best jewelry business in Canada was done in London."

He was interrupted with cries of "it is yet," and "it always was."

"Now, both in the jewelry business and in other business, we are experiencing good conditions. Why? Because we have learned to apply Kiwanian principles in our business life. Kiwanis—we build; we build best by helping the other fellow."

Miss Procter, a former London girl, sang delightfully, and was obliged to respond to two encores.

The message stated that the Doris of London, had sprung her foremast and desired a tow as quickly as possible.

LATE SPORTS IN BRIEF

GREEK WRESTLER THROWS PARKER.
Boston, Nov. 17.—George Kotsosoras, Greek light heavyweight wrestler, last night defeated Farmer Parker of Iowa in two straight falls.

PLAY ELIMINATION CHESS TOURNAMENT.
The second meeting of the London Chess Club was held in the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night, with eighteen players present. As it is most desirous to have the players classified according to playing merit, an elimination tournament was started, with that purpose in view. Fourteen games were played with very keen competition and interest. Four players were advanced two degrees, and seven were raised one degree.

It is hoped that this tournament will be completed shortly, and a regular tournament will be started—members of this are to be decided from the elimination tournament. As a challenge cup will be put up, the competition will undoubtedly be very keen.

Anyone interested in chess are urged to attend next meeting to be held at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday night of this week at 7 o'clock.

WOULD TURN FROM PRO TO AMATEUR.
Ottawa, Nov. 17.—Dennis Crichtow, the well-known local welterweight boxer, made formal application last night for his reinstatement to the status of an amateur. Crichtow some time ago took a fling in the professional boxing world on the strength of promises by promoters to stage all kinds of pro bouts.

After being out of competition for some time he decided to place himself at the mercy of the local amateur officials.

PANCHO VILLA WANTS DOUBLE TITLE.
New York, Nov. 17.—Pancho Villa, the fighting Filipino, who holds the United States flyweight boxing title, today had strengthened his claims to fulfill an ambition to duplicate Johnny Buff's feat of holding both the flyweight and bantamweight belts. He demonstrated convincingly last night that he could concede considerable weight and reach without handicap, by decisively whipping Abe Goldstein, New York bantamweight, at Madison Square Garden.

Villa entered the ring weighing 110 pounds and Goldstein scaled 115 1/2. The former's 112-pound title, as a result, was not at stake. The Filipino outboxed, out-generalized and out-punched Goldstein in nearly every round, and thus got revenge for a reversal at the hands of the New Yorker in one of his first bouts in this country last summer.

PRINCETON MEETS VALE IN CLASSIC.
Princeton, N. J., Nov. 17.—Led by Johnny "Take a Chance" Gorman, the Princeton Tigers, the gridiron's greatest gamblers, will push everything they have to the middle of the board here tomorrow against what is generally regarded as a better hand held by Yale.

Better hands held twice before this season by Chicago and Harvard, have been overcome by the reckless abandon and the wild chance-taking spirit of little Gorman and his band.

Applications for more than 200,000 seats were received, and only by providing 500 extra seats in the special wooden stands at the end of the stadium was it possible to take care of 55,744 applications. This will be by 6,000 the largest crowd that has ever seen a game in the Palmer Stadium.

HARRY HELMAN TURNS OTTAWA PRO.
Ottawa, Nov. 17.—Ottawa Hockey Club has secured the services of Harry Helman, well-known amateur right winger, Helman, who is to undertake "Punch" Broadbent, leading goal scorer of the N. H. L. last year, was reckoned among the best amateurs here last season.

Ottawas are well equipped with players, and if they get Ed Gorman will practically have the deck of forwards and defense players. Jack Darragh has not signed yet, and there is no word of Frank Nighbor. Ottawas opening practice will take place in about two weeks.

PLAYS 34 CHESS GAMES AT ONE TIME.
New York, Nov. 17.—Playing 34 chess games simultaneously last night, Jose Capablanca, world chess champion, won 30, lost 2, and drew 2. The two winners were S. Katz, secretary of the Manhattan Chess Club, and A. B. Sannopiere, also of New York.

BARS FRESHIES FROM VARSITY ATHLETICS.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—Washington and Jefferson College has adopted the use of freshmen in Varsity athletics, and limiting an athlete to three years' participation in sport, the faculty announced. It will become effective in 1924.

BIG BARGE GOES ASHORE
ON LAKE ONTARIO ISLAND

With Boat in Middle of Lake Communication Made With Difficulty.

Special to The Advertiser.
Oswego, N. Y., Nov. 17.—The big steam barge Molton is ashore on the southeast point of the main Duck Islands in the middle of Lake Ontario. There is no way of communication between the islands and the mainland excepting by means of a boat, and there are no facts yet obtainable. The scene of the wreck is about thirty miles from this port, and the same distance from Kingston, Ont. The news was brought here by Captain Robineau of the steamer Linden.

The Molton was formerly the steamer Peck. She was purchased by the Matthews Steaming Company of Toronto, and transferred to Canadian registry about two years ago. Her captain is G. A. Smith of Toronto.

The steamer was lighted off her way from Montreal to Buffalo to load grain to Montreal. It is believed that she can be released by lightening her fuel supply.

DUTCH SUPPER AND ARK STRIKE NOVELTY NOTE

First Methodist Ladies' Aid Bazaar Offers Original Features.
Weesley Hall presented a gay scene Thursday afternoon for the bazaar given under auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the First Methodist Church. The attractive booths, effectively decorated, were surrounded with eager shoppers taking advantage of the wares offered for sale. Darting among the crowds were gypsy girls in quaint costumes selling colored balloons and peanuts.
One of the most attractive booths was the candy table, adorned in red and white, with gaily-dressed Christmas trees. Here Mrs. Harkness was in charge. A most picturesque stall was the home-cookery, with yellow and white as the color scheme. The booth was conveyed by Mrs. Pearson. The tea-room, in charge of Mrs. W. H. Sanborn, was most popular. Tea was poured out by Mrs. R. C. Struthers and Mrs. Samuel Seraton. The tea-table was done in silver, with yellow mums in the center and tall yellow candles at the corners.

HELPS ITALIAN DEPUTIES HE WILL BE FIRM

Mussolini Throws Down the Gauntlet To Members of Parliament.

PHOLDS REVOLUTION

Rome, Nov. 16.—Premier Mussolini, his initial address to the chamber deputies today, threw down the gauntlet to that body, and indicated unmistakable terms that he was there to ask favors, but to receive them.

"What am I doing today," said the Fascist leader, now at the head of the Italian government, "is a small act of courtesy towards you, but I do not desire any special extension of gratitude."

For too many years ministerial offices have been settled by the chamber of political manoeuvres, but for the second time—the first was in 1915—the Italian nation has thrown the cabinet and given it a ministry outside of, above, in and against parliament.

I leave to the melancholy workers of super-constitutionalism, the dissections and complaints, but say that revolution has its rights, and that I am here to defend, and put into execution its highest duty: the revolution of the Black Party to introduce it as a force of development, progress and balance in the history of Italy."

CLAIM SUN SPOT NOT QUAKE CAUSE

S. Naval Observatory Experts Claim Solar Phenomenon and Shock But Coincidence.

Washington, Nov. 16.—The spot that appeared on the sun's surface today, in the opinion of scientists, is not the cause of the earthquake, but a coincidence.

The fact that the earth shock coincided with the passage of the spot, or the central meridian of the sun, is merely a chance occurrence, according to leading seismologists and astronomers.

Experts at the U. S. naval observatory verified the fact that a sun spot was visible at the time of the quake, but they also point out that it is a time of relatively few sun spots. Disturbances on the sun's surface which can be seen as dark patches through the telescope seem to rise from a minimum through a maximum back to another minimum in a period of about eleven and a half years, which is almost identical with that of the orbital revolution of the planet Jupiter.

But the relation that sun spots bear to movements of the earth's crust has been seriously investigated by scientists using the data of past earthquakes that have been recorded.

Dr. Ellsworth Huntington of Yale University recently published conclusions showing a comparison of destructive earthquakes with sun spots during the past century. He concluded: "There is high probability that directly or indirectly sun spots and earthquakes are somehow connected."

The same data led him to say that world-shaking earthquake in one direction during a given month probably creates conditions that favor similar earthquakes elsewhere during the next month."

O. R. T. WILL CONTINUE CO-OPERATE WITH BIG 4

Special to The Advertiser.

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 16.—"The otherhood of Railroad Trainmen will continue its work," W. G. Lee, president, declared, commenting on reports of a split in the "Big Four." "I have not denied the truth of statements in Wednesday's papers, saying the engineers have lined up with the switchmen against the firemen," Lee said, "but I decline to discuss it. We are going to co-operate with the other members of the Big Four regardless of comments made."

Lee explained his stand against the recent strike was taken because he believed railroadmen suffered no loss from reduced salaries than did strikers in other industries.

TORY OF ALLEGED BRIBERY "LEAKED OUT"

Winnipeg, Nov. 16.—"Somebody has leaked the beans." This is the general opinion voiced here today by Dr. W. Gordon's declaration that Attorney-General Craig had been offered $50,000 to "let up" on enforcement of the liquor act.

Locally, Mr. Craig has confirmed the report by telegram from Ottawa, where he is, but voices the declaration that he was not talking for publication when he told this to Dr. Gordon, known in the Canadian world of letters as "Ralph Connor."

The chief confidant of the attorney-general, however, said that the leaking report has been confirmed.

"What will Craig do about it?" "Will he prosecute the man who approached him with the offer, or will he forget all about it?"

Rumors are flying around as to the person who made the offer and whom it represents. Dr. Gordon remains silent.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills The Great Liver Regulators

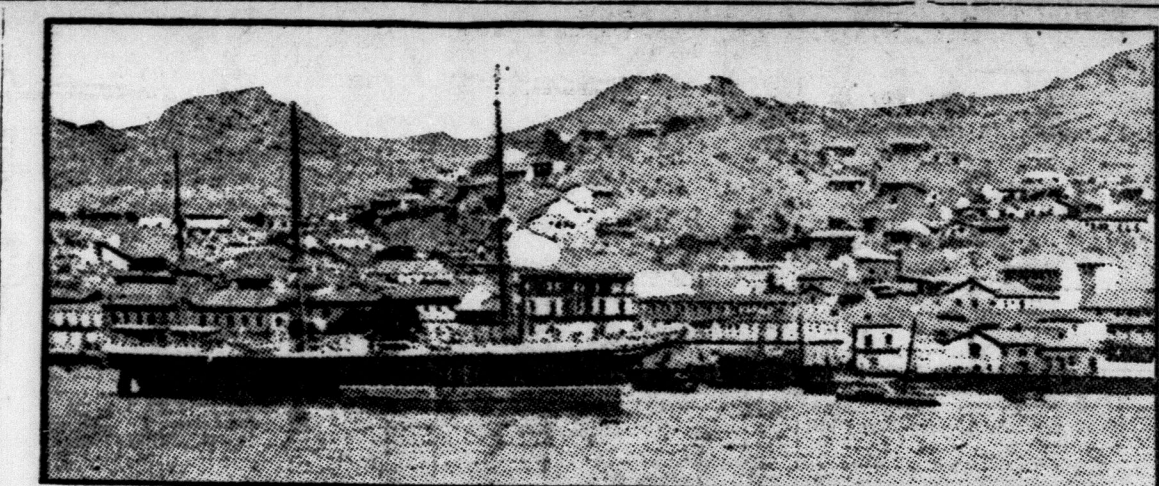

The duty of the liver is to prepare and secrete bile and serve as a filter to the blood, cleansing it of all impurities and poisons.

Therefore, when the liver is inactive and failing to secrete bile in sufficient quantity constipation and other liver troubles soon follow.

Mrs. H. D. Hutchinson, Peterborough, Ont., writes: "I have been using your Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and they have done me a lot of good."

My liver bothered me a great deal, was drowsy and tired all the time and didn't feel like doing anything, alone my housework. I tried everything, but your Pills seemed to do the work far better than anything I had ever taken."

THAT part of Chile shaken by the earthquake of Friday night, Nov. 10, extends, approximately from the Tropic of Capricorn to the south about 1,200 miles.

The most northerly town of any consequence mentioned in dispatches is the important port of Antofagasta (shown at right). The most southerly are Victoria and Valdivia, below the large south Chilean town of Concepcion.

Between these points, cables speak of Caldera, Guasco, Chamaral, Copiapo, Valparaiso, Coquimbo and Talcahuano as having suffered.

Coquimbo (shown above) is a port of considerable importance. Talcahuano is the port of Concepcion. The others, though centers, and most of them ports of some South American note, have never figured largely in world news.

With the exception of Victoria, all are on or near the coast, which suggests that the tidal wave must have been much more responsible than the earthquake for the enormous damage done.

Valparaiso, the greatest of Chilean coast towns, and the sea outlet for Santiago, the capital, is not referred to as having suffered on this occasion, though a few years ago it was nearly wrecked with enormous loss of life, by a quake and tidal wave, Concepcion, next in importance to Valparaiso, appears also to have been much more responsible than the earthquake for the enormous damage done.

The Andean range, which covers practically the whole of Chile, except for a narrow strip of coast and a few valleys, is one of the world's newest geological formations. Earthquakes, especially in about the latitude of Santiago and to the southward, are of very frequent occurrence, though the territory in which many of them are felt is so little settled that they are never reported.

SEEK NAME OF MAN WHO OFFERED BRIBE

Party Leaders Discuss Astounding Statement of Rev. C. W. Gordon.

Special to The Advertiser.

Winnipeg, Nov. 16.—Party leaders today discussed the astounding statement of Rev. Dr. C. W. Gordon, made at the Presbyterian synod Wednesday afternoon, in which he said he had it on good authority that Hon. R. W. Craig, attorney-general, had been offered a bribe of $50,000. Leaders declared the attorney-general should reveal the name of the man who attempted the bribery but Mr. Craig, who is in Ottawa, said that the man was "too respectable" to have his name made public.

"If Attorney-General Craig has been offered a bribe it is his duty to come right out in daylight and disclose the name of the man who tried to bribe him," said Major F. G. Taylor, leader of the Conservative party in the Legislature. "Otherwise there should be a most searching investigation, and the Legislature will have a great deal to say about it. It is a mighty serious thing to admit that the chief law officer of the crown in Manitoba has been approached with a bribe, and the facts should be most fully disclosed."

John T. Haig, leader in the last House, endorsed the stand of Major Taylor. "Dr. Gordon's revelation makes it a grave public issue," he said, "and the attorney-general should reveal the name of the man who tried to bribe him or should be compelled by the government or Legislature to do so."

I. W. W. WANTS NO MORE "TIN GODS"

Special to The Advertiser.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—The I. W. W. want "no more tin gods." They served notice to that effect today when the national convention adopted a ruling declaring that officers would be allowed to serve for only one year.

The action was a slam at "Big Bill" Haywood, who fled to Russia while under sentence to Leavenworth Prison for violation of the espionage act, deserting many other members of the I. W. W. who were convicted with him, and also leaving many members of the organization who had furnished his $30,000 bail "holding the bag."

"Never again will any individual be permitted to build up a reputation and become a 'tin god' at the expense of the organization," said a statement issued by the organization. The meeting was attended by 35 delegates, representing all classes of workers in industries. About 200 spectators are present at each session.

CUNO WILL FORM NEW MINISTRY

Director-General of Steamship Company To Be New German Chancellor.

Berlin, Nov. 16.—Wilhelm Cuno, director-general of the Hamburg-American Steamship Line, was commissioned by President Ebert this afternoon to constitute a new cabinet, and immediately Herr Cuno got into informal touch with the party leaders for the purpose of ascertaining their attitude towards supporting "a cabinet of work," which he proposes to organize. This will comprise members of the Middle and Socialist parties, but, according to Herr Cuno, will not have an outspoken partisan complexion.

After this advanced survey he informed President Ebert of his readiness to accept the chancellorship, and then left for Hamburg for the purpose of adjusting affairs in connection with his position on the Hamburg-American line.

On his return to Berlin tomorrow he will resume negotiations with the Reichstag leaders. Although the reception accorded to him in Reichstag circles thus far has been reported as of a cordial nature, it is not believed that he will succeed in definitely constituting the new ministry before Monday.

Herr Cuno is an old friend of President Ebert's, and was first in line among the so-called leaders who the president had in view as meeting his conception of leader of a ministry which would undertake the nation's economic reconstruction along broad and nonpartisan lines.

The opinion is held in Reichstag circles that Herr Cuno, who is wholly a novice in parliamentary affairs, at least has the advantage of being unencumbered by party affiliations, and that he is qualified to deal effectively with the acrimonious situation growing out of the present crisis, and might even succeed in reconciling the warring factions to a patriotic program of national reconstruction based on mutual inter-party goodwill and understanding.

The Chilean ports, for the most part, are without harbor facilities and ships are compelled to anchor in exposed situations off the coast, so that they have practically no protection from heavy storms and tidal waves. With storms threatening, discreet mariners always put promptly to sea, but when caught suddenly by tidal waves the damage done to them invariably is great.

Children need Dominion Rubbers

right through the winter

DOMINION Rubbers mean health protection. They mean freedom from colds, sore throats and tonsillitis, caused by getting the feet wet or sitting all day in damp shoes.

Don't limit the children to a single pair of rubbers each.

You'll find it a real economy to have a pair of rubbers for each pair of shoes, because both shoes and rubbers will wear longer.

Try this plan yourself. DOMINION Rubbers come in styles, shapes and sizes to fit every shoe for men, women and children.

Don't ask for "a pair of rubbers"—insist on getting DOMINION rubbers, the perfect fitting, comfortable, long-wearing rubbers.

New High-Grade Overcoats

at prices which forcibly demonstrate the fact that Grafton's maker-to-wearer prices are always lowest.

LABOR MAKES GAINS

London, Nov. 16.—Owing doubtless to the difficulty of classifying certain of the successful candidates, summaries of the state of the parties differ somewhat, but one of the most reliable authorities gives the Conservatives 245, the National Liberals or Georgians 52, Independent Liberals 57, Labor 144, and other groups 10, with ten results yet to be announced.

London, Nov. 16.—The long-drawn-out fight between former Premier Lloyd George and Sir George Younger has for the time ended with a victory for the chairman of the Unionist party. Younger and his adherents staked their political fortunes at the famous Carlton Club meeting which smashed the Coalition and sent Lloyd George "into the wilderness" on the conviction that the country was ripe for a return to straight-party politics, and in the firm belief that the nation would support their conviction by sending the Conservatives to the House of Commons with a good working majority.

Their confidence has been amply justified. Yesterday's elections have returned a parliament with almost the same overwhelming predominance of Conservatives as the last parliament, elected in 1919 on a wave of grateful enthusiasm to Lloyd George as "winner of the war."

In the new parliament Premier Bonar Law will command a majority over all parties combined of approximately 80.

While this cannot properly be described as a landslide, as the Conservatives at the time of the dissolution of parliament numbered about 380, it amounts, considering the peculiar circumstances of the time and the high hopes held by the Labor and Liberal parties, of the return of the country to progressive views, almost to the same thing, and it may be supposed that the Conservatives themselves hardly expected such favorable results.

It means a parliament with little changes, except that Mr. Bonar Law replaces Mr. Lloyd George as prime minister, and that the former premier's attenuated following, reduced by the elections to under 50, will presumably henceforth be in opposition instead of working in co-operation with the Conservatives.

The downfall of Lloyd Georgeism is the outstanding feature of the elections. The coalition Liberals at the dissolution numbered 129; they are represented in the new parliament by only 44 members. There will be many regrets among the former premier's admirers that he failed to

Steel Corporation Will Pay Indians On Sarnia Reserve $200,000 For Land

Special to The Advertiser.

Sarnia, Nov. 16.—Payment to the Sarnia reserve Indians for the land sold by them to the Dominion Alloy Steel Corporation commenced today by representatives of the department of Indian affairs, and before the end of the week $200,000 will have passed into the hands of individual members of the reserve, the amounts paid by check varying from $350 to $3,500. The department is holding $100,000, the balance of the purchase price in trust for the Indians.

The announcement created much gratification here today, as it forestalled the advice of some of his well-wishers and relief for a time entirely from the political stage.

LABOR MAKES GAINS.

The Asquithian Liberals lately improved their position, rising from 34 in the old parliament to 62 in the new, but they did not do so well as they expected. On the other hand, Labor, although it failed to fulfill the high hopes the party entertained at the dissolution, has done exceedingly well, rising from 78 to 136 seats. It is generally believed that Labor would have done better but for the traditional mistake of its advocacy of a capital levy.

While the strength of Conservatism in the country is a matter of surprise, perhaps the keynote of the election was the decline of Liberalism and the growth of the Labor party. This seems to show that henceforth the struggle will be between the Conservatives and the Labor party on the one hand, and the Asquithian Liberals on the other. The position now is that Labor is the second strongest party in the house, and in case of the Conservative government being defeated in Parliament, it would be to the Labor party that the king would naturally turn for a leader.

One striking feature of the election is that the women voters have taken an unexpectedly strong interest in the election, their participation probably accounting more than anything else for the exceedingly heavy polling. But, however keen their interest, they do not appear to be in the mood to elect women to Parliament, only Lady Astor and Mrs. Wintringham, already in the house, being returned.

Estimates on the present distribution of parties in the House of Commons differ somewhat, owing to a certain confusion in party boundaries and the number of isolated members representing independent groups, such as "co-operators." Included in the Conservative group are 13 Ulster Conservatives.

There are still 10 seats, the result of which will not be announced tonight, namely, some of the universities and distant scattered Scottish constituencies, from which the result may not be available before Saturday.

HARD BLOW TO LLOYD GEORGE.

There have been many noteworthy casualties among all the parties, the most striking perhaps, being the defeat of Arthur Henderson, Laborite leader, and Winston Churchill, former colonial secretary, and the overthrow of five members of the new administration, for whom safe seats will somehow have to be found. The defeat of Mr. Churchill, Sir Hamar Greenwood, former chief secretary for Ireland, and Frederick G. Kelly, former postmaster-general, were severe blows to Mr. Lloyd George, who, however, had the satisfaction of seeing his son returned by a big majority, while both his secretaries, Sir Edward M. Grigg and C. H. Shackleton, were elected.

Mr. Asquith himself had a somewhat narrow escape from defeat, his chief henchmen, Sir Donald Maclean and Walter Runciman, went down.

Major Lloyd George, the former premier's son, had an enormous majority in Pembroke, his poll being 5,149 to 3,703 for the Laborists, Jenkins. But the Georgians continued to fare badly, and although Mr. Lloyd George was elected unopposed, for Carnarvon, the Georgian candidate, Major C. B. Breece, was defeated for the County of Carnarvon by the Laborite, R. T. Jones, by more than 1,600.

A noteworthy return was the re-election of the new pensions minister, Major George C. P. Tennant, who defeated the Conservative, Mr. J. H. Thomas, by a large majority.

Several defeats were due to three-cornered contests. Labor suffered a bad one in the loss of Arthur Henderson, but, on the other hand, J. Ramsay MacDonald, Philip Snowden, Sidney Webb, chairman of the Independent Labor Party, and other labor stalwarts have been returned.

A notable feature was the change in the attitude of the country towards men of pacifist persuasion who were rejected in the patriotic war wave in 1918. Among those successful candidates are Ramsay MacDonald, Snowden, Arthur Ponsonby, Charles P. Trevelyan, Noel Buxton and George Lansbury, former editor of the Daily Herald.

Mr. Lloyd George said tonight that he was "quite satisfied" with the results, but declined to be interviewed.

Mr. Asquith declined to express any opinion on the results until he had an opportunity to examine them in detail.

The Labor party issued a manifesto, stating that they find "abundant reasons for satisfaction" in their success and their gains. The exposure of both Liberalism and Conservatism, and declare that their party will constitute the most vigorous and efficient opposition that the House of Commons has seen for many years.

At Labor headquarters the opinion was expressed that everything points to a labor government in the near future.

Labor's success is believed to be largely attributable to Sidney Webb, who has been in great measure responsible for the campaign organization of the party for the last three years. Mr. Webb has been, with George Bernard Shaw, the leading spirit of the Fabian Society, which represents "intellectual socialism" and closely co-operates with the Independent Labor party.

Thorndale Co-operative Dairy Company Plan Erection of Modern Plant.

Thorndale, Nov. 16.—The Thorndale Co-operative Dairy Company, which was organized in 1921 for the purpose of erecting a dairy plant in which the various forms of dairy products could be manufactured, have been successful in selling stock to the value of $15,000. The company was capitalized at $40,000. Five provisional directors were selected from among the residents of the township who had been most progressive in promoting projects beneficial to the community. The provisional directors were: John Dawson, president; Dr. T. W. Wilson and John McKay, vice-presidents; and John McKay, secretary-treasurer.

This board took charge of the business of organizing and disposal of the stock without receiving any remuneration for their services. When $15,000 was subscribed, the company decided to begin building operations. A meeting of the shareholders was called and the permanent directors appointed as follows: John Dawson, Hugh Jones, W. G. Pitt, W. A. Baines and John McKay.

PRINCETON COUPLE HOLD WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. George Marshall Recipients of Many Tributes on Diamond Jubilee.

Special to The Advertiser. PRINCETON, Nov. 16.—An event of unusual interest took place on Tuesday, Nov. 14, when Mr. and Mrs. George Marshall of Princeton celebrated their diamond wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall were married Nov. 14, 1862, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilson, 7th con. of Burford, by the Rev. William Donald, Presbyterian pastor of Norwich.

About 2 o'clock a party of 20 sat down to dinner, and in the afternoon and evening several friends and relatives called to offer congratulations.

The aged couple were presented with a large diamond ring, and daughters, seven in number, and received numerous bouquets of carnations and chrysanthemums, cards and letters of congratulations. Mr. Marshall is a native of Edinburgh, and among the diamond wedding guests was a grand-nephew from the city.

Mr. Marshall is 88 years of age and Mrs. Marshall 80.

WOMAN INJURED WHEN AUTO SMASHES BUGGY

Special to The Advertiser.

Moretown, Nov. 16.—Mrs. Roy Turnbull suffered a severe shock and injury last night while returning home in the early part of the evening, when the buggy in which she was riding was struck by an auto, throwing her out between the buggy and auto. The accident was due to a fog. Mrs. Turnbull was taken to Dr. Aitken's office, where several stitches were put in her lip. She is at the present time at her mother's home in Courtwright.

The extinct bird known as the dodo, undoubtedly existed in considerable numbers as late as the end of the seventeenth century.

EXPECT GALT ROAD COSTS TO BE $9,700

Is City's Assessment For Improvements To Highways During 1921.

Galt, Nov. 16.—While no official word has been received, unofficially it has been learned by civic authorities that the Galt's assessment towards the cost of provincial highway work done in this district in 1921 is $9,700, and with most of the work having been done this year on the Galt-Hamilton highway. In this section, and the Preston-Galt highway nearly completed, the city fears a very large bill to be expected next year.

J. W. McVicar, arrested on a charge laid by Martha McCulloch of assault, causing actual bodily harm, was remanded by Magistrate Blake this morning until Saturday so that the crown attorney could be present.

Copying the action of Shade street residents, the ratepayers of Landsdowne road south today filed a petition with the court of revision on assessments of local improvements, appealing against the cost of their men, the work of paving the Galt-Preston highway is being rushed ahead in fine style, with about half the distance of the road completed.

VILLA OUTPOINTS ABE GOLDSTEIN

Coach Tom Rowan, Capt. Ernie Dennis, and President Judd of the club and a few enthusiastic fans. Boyd Fisher's position was unofficial, but he was one of the fans whose enthusiasm made the season just past possible.

It is more than possible, however, that London fans will be able to see the Sarnia team in action here this fall, as one of the sudden-death play-offs are almost sure to be played at Tecumseh park.

The London rugby club closes the season second from the bottom in the group standing, but otherwise may be credited with putting rugby back on the map in London and pioneering with results that will show next year.

It has been shown that the material is in London, and only reader organization is needed to bring late line. The O. R. F. U. team and Western U. squad share equal honors in London for having led a revival of the history of the city, as five Collegiate teams and the Elks in addition confirm.

Great credit for the O. R. F. U. crew's work goes to Manager Ernie Nelles.

The next three rounds were slow. Villa's win over his left effectively in the seventh, while Goldstein missed a number of swings for the first time. The Philpino, who had been in the right in the eighth, but apparently with little effect. The Philpino swung wildly in the eighth after Goldstein landed a hard right to the jaw, but came back with a piston-like attack to his opponent's body.

Villa set a faster pace in the tenth and eleventh rounds, driving with his left to Goldstein's body as he ducked and danced around his opponent. Goldstein whipped over his left and crossed with his right to the chin several times in the twelfth round, but the Philpino rushed the fighting at the bell and forced a fresh stream of blood from Goldstein's forehead.

Goldstein blocked most of Villa's rushes in the thirteenth, but was out absorbing considerable punishment, as his opponent directed a two-handed attack to the head and body.

Villa had the best of the exchanges in the fourteenth, his hard lefts and swinging rights keeping Goldstein on the defensive throughout.

Villa started the fifteenth furiously, driving Goldstein about the ring as he shot over damaging lefts to the face. He shook Goldstein with a wicked hook in the sixteenth, his final bell rang as Villa pounded both fists to Goldstein's body.

ST. THOMAS PUTS ON FIGHTS

Card Will Be Put on Nov. 27 at Elgin Armories.

St. Thomas is planning another boxing card for Nov. 27, at which a number of Londoners will appear. The card will be staged at the Elgin Armories, which will send a contingent of boxers and wrestlers to the London Garrison A. A. Dec. 29.

Davey Smith will meet Barney Barrow, Owen McGill meets Charles Wood, and Dan Morley, the London welter, has not had an opponent picked for him yet. Cy Books and Bob Killian are another pair who will mix it.

Four wrestling bouts are carded as well, one of which will bring Bob White of the Second Canadian Machine Gun Brigade out against Ed Lewis of St. Thomas.

Sergeant Tommy Wallace's protegee, Bobby Bell, will appear on this card against a lad named Brown in a feature moultweight event.

Wallace will referee the bouts.

Galt Pays Tribute To Galt A.A. and Terriers At Banquet

TERRIERS GIVEN GOLD WATCHES

Galt Athletes Shown Appreciation For Conquests.

Galt, Nov. 16.—The Galt Amateur Athletic Association, which has done so much in the past couple years to put Galt on the sports map, tonight paid tribute to the Terriers, Ontario's senior baseball champions, when they were tendered a complimentary dinner at the Memorial Home attended by 200 enthusiastic fans.

This is the second provincial championship that has been brought to Galt since the G. A. A. A. came into being. The Terriers in hockey won the intermediate O. A. A. championship for the season of 1920-21.

Tonight's event was probably the most successful gathering ever held in connection with sports in Galt, the community in a most appreciative manner expressing its thanks to the boys. The players and management were each presented with magnificent gold watches by the G. A. A. A. Mark Dumas of Guelph, secretary of the O. A. A. A., made the presentation of the cup, emblematic of the championship, while Charles Pothol of Guelph, president of the Intermediate League, and a member of the O. A. A. A. executive, made the presentation to the players of the gold medals provided by the O. A. A. A. Harry Eversell of Guelph donor of the Intermediate cup, made the presentation of that trophy. The players and management also received gold pencils, the gift of F. H. Chapple, a local merchant.

Elloquent addresses by Louis Blake Duff, editor of the Western Telegraph, and R. E. Knowles, the well-known author and orator, featured the toast list, while Walter Galt, president of the Galt City Council, and Bert Ure Cutt of this city provided the musical program.

President Pat Kennedy and other officials of the O. A. A. A. and officers of the Belleville and St. Thomas clubs sent their regrets at being unable to be present. Among the guests were John Deschamps of Toronto; Messrs. Hewitt and Cookman of the Guelph club; representative of the Kitchener ball team; Frank Patterson, president of the Preston A. A. A.; and Mayor Charlton and members of the Galt city council.

Following the dinner, a dance was held at the armory, open to the public, which was largely attended and served the purpose of a public reception to the baseball champs.

STOVE LEAGUERS' GOSSIP

GEORGE SISLER of the St. Louis Browns, who bids fair to be baseball's greatest athlete, erased another record last summer that the Georgian has held for years, the consecutive hitting record.

Last summer Sisler made one or more hits in 41 consecutive games, breaking Cobb's record of 40 straight games in which he had hit safely. Cobb's record was made in 1911. It stood eleven years.

In 1921 Sisler erased another Cobb record that had stood since 1911. In that year Cobb made 248 base hits during the season, the greatest ever amassed by any American Leaguer.

A year ago Sisler came through with 257 safe wallops, nine more than credited to Cobb.

Sisler began his consecutive batting streak on July 27 against New York.

With Bob Shawkey pitching. He broke Cobb's record on Sept. 16 against New York, with Bob Shawkey again doing the pitching.

Joe Bush, pitching for New York, the following day, stopped Sisler's batting streak, the star of the Browns being unable to get the ball out of the infield in four trips to the plate. Ed Walsh was the pitcher who stopped Cobb.

Cobb, in making his record of 40 straight games batted .44, while Sisler hit .461. Sisler made two more runs and two more hits than Cobb, but was charged with nine more times at bat.

A perusal of the two records shows that Cobb made one hit in 15 games, while Sisler had 19 games with two hits, and Sisler 12. Cobb had 7 games with three hits and Sisler 10. Cobb made four hits in one game and five in another. Sisler got four hits in two games, but failed to register five hits.

The record for consecutive hitting is held by Willie Keeler, who in 1897, went 44 games in which he hit safely. However, the foul strike rule was not in vogue then.

MICKEY WALKER IN CIVILIAN AND FIGHTING TOGS.

HOW long will Mickey Walker hold the waterweight title?

Some of the boxing experts are inclined to the belief that Mickey's tenure will be a short one.

There are a half dozen writers entitled to a match with Walker, and every one of them is a dangerous contender.

George Ward and Jack Malone, who hold decisions over Walker, are more than anxious for a shot at the new champion. Johnny Karr, who has a verdict over Malone, is equally anxious.

Then there is Dave Shade, the brilliant Californian.

GLADIOLUS SOCIETY MEETS AT GUELPH

Dr. F. E. Bennett of St. Thomas States 1923 Show Will Surpass Other Years.

Special to The Advertiser. St. Thomas, Nov. 16.—Dr. F. E. Bennett, president of the Ontario Gladiolus Society and of the local Horticultural Society, on his return from the O. G. S. executive meeting in Guelph yesterday to arrange for the 1923 "Glad" show, expressed great optimism for next year's activities of the society.

"I learned many things at the meeting," he declared, "but they were of a secret nature."

Dr. Bennett reported, however, that the 1923 show in Guelph would be held in the Field Husbandry Buildings at the Ontario Agricultural College. The date for the show has not been set.

At a meeting yesterday morning with Dr. Reynolds, president of the O. A. C., a convention hall was selected, and also a site for the O. G. S. trial plot for next year. The plot will be in the O. A. C. grounds.

The O. G. S. executive met with committees from the Guelph Chamber of Commerce, the O. A. C. and from horticultural societies, and next year's "Glad" show promises to be a big affair. Dr. Bennett addressed a meeting of flower enthusiasts in the evening.

One of the attractive prizes for the show next year was that donated by J. E. Carter of Guelph, who has put up $100 for the best seedling, Canadian-grown.

ELLIS TO FIX PRICE OF ST. THOMAS COAL

Fuel Controller Will Advise Civic Officials His Decision On Dec. 1.

Special to The Advertiser. St. Thomas, Nov. 16.—That J. J. Ellis, provincial fuel controller, will fix the price of hard coal in this city on December 1, after a consideration of the data in reference to the local fuel situation, was the gist of the report of W. Stokes, chairman of the fuel committee, that was in Toronto yesterday interviewing Mr. Ellis. The committee carried a resolution from the city council, asking that the price of coal in this city be fixed, providing that move did in the controller's opinion, jeopardize the local supply.

The fuel committee at Toronto this afternoon was composed of Aldermen W. Stokes, Alderman Butler, Alderman Jago and City Solicitor W. B. Doherty. No intimation of the price to be fixed locally was divulged by the controller, according to the reports this evening. The local coal merchants attending the conference were M. B. Johnson, Major W. F. L. Edwards, representing the Griffin Coal and Ice Company, C. B. Turville, W. Swift, P. J. Moore and P. H. Marlett.

The action of the controller in stating that he would fix a price for this city, according to the chairman, would indicate that such a price fixing would not in any way cause a local famine. Mr. Ellis stated that several of the American Coal Companies, including the D. L. & W., the L. V. and the Hudson, had agreed to ship quantities to Canada beginning the first of December, and this coal should materially help the local situation.

We often hear of blessings in disguise, but never a word about the numerous curses that make a specialty of doing masquerade stunts.

It is never too early to mend one's ways.

URGEMUNICIPAL REPRESENTATIVES

Northeast Residents of St. Thomas Feel Entitled To More Consideration.

Special to The Advertiser. St. Thomas, Nov. 16.—As a rapidly growing district, the northeast part of the city is probably not sufficiently represented on the city council and board of education, and a concerted effort will be made this year to elect representatives from this quarter.

Among the names mentioned is that of James Trembley, whose retirement from active business should enable him to devote the necessary time to the municipal affairs, the electors believe. Mr. Trembley is well and favorably known all over the city, and will undoubtedly poll a large vote if he permits his name to stand for the council or the board of education. The school accommodation question is a particularly vital one with the northeast residents, and it is likely that their greatest effort at the forthcoming elections will be exerted in this direction. A feeling prevails among many parents there that they have not been receiving as much consideration as they are entitled to from the board of education, and the failure of the board members to get a bylaw prepared for submission next month, providing for the issuing of debentures to erect a four-room cottage at Balclava street school, where the congestion is particularly bad this year, has caused much unfavorable comment. Many persons in the district, according to reports, favor the erection of a new school in the neighborhood of the Mantoloka school, with the discontinuance of that institution.

After the grand master had delivered a masterful address on the history and teachings of the order, the grand secretary gave an exemplification of the secret work of the degrees, which was interspersed by the opportunity given those present to ask questions. This was followed by a round table conference on the problems met with in the work of the different lodges. Bro. Brookes, who is possibly the best authority on the continent, answered all questions satisfactorily to the present. Past Grand Master Evanson of Kingston also gave a stirring address, especially eulogizing the work of the relief association.

ODDSFELLOWS MEET AT TILLSONBURG

Grand Officers Visit Session of I. O. O. F. Districts 16 and 17 in Otter Lodge.

Special to The Advertiser. Tillsonburg, Nov. 16.—Otter Lodge, No. 50, I. O. O. F., and District No. 17 and a portion of district No. 16 were favored this evening with a visit from Grand Master Bro. Thomas Sharp, who was accompanied by the Grand Secretary Bro. T. Brooks and Past Grand Master Bro. Evanson. There were members present from Norwich, Delhi, Otterville, Caledon, Port Burwell, Aylmer and Springfield Lodges.

The grand lodge officers mentioned, along with D. D. G. M. Bro. Simons and D. D. G. M. Bro. Finch, were introduced to the gathering, composed of a committee of Past District Deputies Thos. Fero and Geo. Whaley and Past Grand Master Bro. Evanson, who were warmly welcomed by the noble grand of Otter Lodge, Bro. F. Porter. D. D. G. M. Simons then took the chair and the program that was introduced was a new departure in meetings of this nature.

ALL THE FAMILY HAD BAD COLDS

"Did you ever notice that if one of the family contracts a cold it generally runs to all the other members?" Many people when they contract a cold do not pay any attention to it, thinking perhaps it will pass away of itself in a day or two. This is a great mistake, for before they know it, it has become settled on the lungs. Never neglect the first symptoms; get a bottle of and see how quickly your cold will disappear.

Mrs. A. Coghlan, Magnolia, Alta., writes: "Last winter we all had bad colds in our family, and I didn't know what to do. TRIUMPHS OF M. JONQUELLE

By Melville Davison Post.

Begin Here Today.

Seated in the box of the MARQUIS DE CHANELLE, impoverished husband of a wealthy American woman.

M. JONQUELLE, greatest detective in France, is discussing the mystery of the theft of the diamond necklace of the Marquise.

Before them, on the stage, is the beautiful

MME. ZIRZENOFF, idol of Paris. Before entering the marquis' box, M. Jonquelle halted an usher who was leaving and managed to secure for a moment a bouquet of orchids which the marquis was sending to the singer.

M. Jonquelle reviews the theories of the theft. The marquis had suggested the theories which led to the arrest and confession of Jean Lequex. Lequex was sentenced, but did not tell where the jewels could be found.

"It was my assistant, Forneau, who followed your theories," M. Jonquelle told the marquis.

Go On With the Story.

CHAPTER III.

"It now occurred to Forneau that this robbery had been committed by some one of the hotel thieves of Paris, who were accustomed to enter the building which they were able to get into, and to search any apartment that they happened to find open," continued M. Jonquelle.

"But the marquis reminded Forneau that the person committing this robbery had brought with him a piece of paper from the apartment, that mere thieves entering on the chance of finding some valuables would not have taken this precaution."

"This theory pleased Forneau, and he adopted every excellent suggestion which the marquis was able to make. But he ventured to wonder from what source the thief had been able to obtain the combination to the safe, since it was known only to Mme. la Marquise."

"The marquis again able to indicate a valuable suggestion. Women, he ventured to suggest, had always the same habits. They did not trust their memories for anything that required an accuracy of numbers. The marquis would have somewhere this memorandum written down. He suggested that Forneau make a search of her writing-table."

"To their surprise they found the lock to the drawers of this table broken, and among some papers hastily turned over, at the back of one of these drawers, a small book with a red leather cover. On the last page, in pencil, was precisely the same memorandum which the marquis had picked up on the slip of paper under the door—the combination to the safe of the Marquise de Chanelle, and following, the four columns of four figures."

"The problem which now presented itself was to discover what employee in the building could have written this memorandum. Forneau and the marquis had before them the handwriting. With the histories and associates of the valet, the concierge and the older employees they were familiar, and were convinced that it was not one of these persons; but there were other employees in this apartment, and the problem was how to obtain specimens of their handwriting without incurring suspicion. In his perplexity Forneau asked the opinion of the Marquis de Chanelle."

"The marquis suggested the following clever device: The Service de la Surete should send an agent official of the government concerned with certain mental tests required in order to register citizens for the electorate. Among other tests, he should require them to write the names of the president of France and that of the premier, the close of the war. This would include the names of Millerand and Clemenceau, and by this means they could obtain the M of the word marquis and the C of the word Chanelle, which had been written by the unknown thief upon the memorandum which contained the combination of the safe."

The prefect of police stopped. The attention of the Marquis de Chanelle seemed to have passed from the narrative to a contemplation of the opera.

Mme. Zirzenoff was at the point of her greatest scene. Her voice filled the immense hall like a silver bell, like innumerable silver bells—a quality of the human voice that no other diva had ever brought to Paris. Her youth, her alluring beauty, added to the enchantment. Monsieur le Marquis de Chanelle was looking at her, one hand fingering his mustache, the other turning the monocle at the end of the silk cord. The prefect of police did not interrupt the absorption, but he continued to speak.

"MAY I TROUBLE YOU TO PRESENT THEM TO MADAME LA MARQUISE?"

"And as it happened," he said, "it was the ingenuity of this device suggested by the Marquis de Chanelle that enabled Forneau to locate the one who had committed the robbery. He found an employee lately taken on by the concierge because he offered to assist in cleaning the building at a lower cost. The agent from the Service de la Surete neglected to mention to monsieur an item or two of their discoveries; the writing on the slip of paper had been made with the left hand; and the concierge, as it happened, seeing the Marquis de Chanelle go out leaving his door ajar, closed it."

"Ah, monsieur, we have been engaged in a bit of comedy. Pardon us if we have deceived you. . . . It was I who conducted the investigation of your affair, disguised as Forneau; and it was the agent, Forneau, disguised as Jean Lequex who confessed to your robbery and took a mock sentence of imprisonment under an arrangement with the court. . . . We did not find, then, the thief who opened the safe to your apartment."

The marquis regarded the prefect of police with an amazed expression, his lips parted, his eyes wide.

"Then, monsieur," he stammered, "you have discovered neither the thief nor the necklace."

"Ah, yes," replied M. Jonquelle in the modulated voice of one who bids another adieu. "We have discovered both."

He took a mass of jewels out of his waistcoat pocket and handed them to the marquis.

"I found these in the bouquet of orchids which you were sending to Mme. Zirzenoff. May I trouble you to present them to Madame la Marquise when she shall return from America tomorrow?"

"The little scamp," said Fingers, another thrilling adventure of M. Jonquelle, will begin in our next issue.

Old Mother Nature made all free. And thus intended they should be. —Farmer Brown's Boy.

The morning that the young Fox escaped from Farmer Brown's barn, where he had been shut up, he was not missed at first. Farmer Brown's Boy brought out his breakfast, as usual, and set it down just outside the door of the box which was the home of the young Fox. Usually the young Fox was outside, waiting for him, but once in a while he had been inside and not come out at once. Farmer Brown's Boy thought that this was the case this time. He called two or three times, and then, having work to do, left without looking inside that box.

This was one time when Farmer Brown's Boy failed to use his eyes. He didn't notice that there was no longer a chain attached to the post close to the entrance to the box. Had he noticed this, he would have known at once that something was wrong. It wasn't until noon that Farmer Brown's Boy came back that way.

"The little scamp has escaped!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy.

OUTLINE OF HISTORY

By H. G. Wells.

ONE fact, we may note, is common to all these accounts of developing social structure in the west and east, and that is the immense power exercised by the educated class in the early stages before the crown or the commonality began to read and consequently, to think for itself.

In India, by reason of their exclusiveness, the Brahmins, the educated class, retain their influence to this day; over the masses of China, along entirely different lines and because of the complexities of the written language, the mandarin class has prevailed.

The diversity of race and tradition in the more various and eventful world of the west has delayed and perhaps arrested forever any parallel organization of the specially intellectual elements of society into a class ascendancy. In the western world, as we have already noted, education early "slopped over" and soaked away out of the control of any special class; it escaped from the limitations of castes and priesthods and traditions into the general life of the community.

Writing and reading had been simplified down to a point when it was no longer possible to make a cult and mystery of them. It may be due to the peculiar elaboration and difficulty of the Chinese characters rather than to any racial difference that the same thing did not happen to the same extent in China.

The World 400 B. C.

Up to this point we have traced in outline the whole process by which, in 4000 or 6000 years—that is to say, in something between 150 and 200 generations—mankind passed from the stage of early Neolithic huddling, in which the primitive skin-clad family had reaped and stored in their rude mud huts the wild growing fodder and grain bearing grackles of the stone, to the days of the fourth century B. C., when all around the shores of the Mediterranean and up the Nile and across Asia to India and again over the great alluvial areas of China spread the fields of human cultivation and busy cities, great temples and the coming and going of human commerce.

Galleys and lateen-sailed ships entered and left crowded harbors and made their careful way from headland to headland and from headland to island, keeping always close to the land. Phoenician shipping under Egyptian owners was making its way to the East Indies and perhaps even farther into the Pacific.

Across the deserts of Africa and Arabia, and through Turkestan to the caravan trade, the remote trade; silk was already coming from China, ivory from Central Africa and tin from Britain to the centers of this new life in the world.

Masters of Arts and Crafts.

Men had learned to weave fine linen and delicate fabrics of cotton, wool, they could bleach and dye; they had iron as well as copper, bronze, silver and gold; they had made the most beautiful pottery and porcelain; they had found a hardy variety of precious stones in the world that they had not found and cut and polished; they could read and write; they could make maps and charts; they could make a thousand miles long.

The fifty or sixty centuries in which all this had to be achieved may seem a long time in comparison with the three-score and ten years of a single human life, but it is utterly inconceivable in comparison with the stretches of geological time. Measuring backward from these, Alexandrian cities to the days of the first stone implements, the rostrum-carinate implements of the Pliocene age gives us an extent of time fully a hundred times as long.

We have tried in this account, and with the help of maps and figures and time charts, to give a just idea of the order and shape of these fifty or sixty centuries. Our business was not to draw an outline. We have named but a few names of individuals; though henceforth the personal names must increase in number. But the content of this outline that we have drawn here in a few diagrams and charts cannot but touch the imagination.

If only we could look closer we should see through all these sixty centuries a procession of lives more and more akin in their fashion to our own. We have shown how the naked Palaeolithic savage gave place to the Neolithic cultivator, a type of man still to be found in the backward places of the world. We have given an illustration of Sumerian soldiers copied from a carved stone that was set up long before the days when the Semite Sargon I. conquered the land. Day by day some busy brownish man carved those figures, and no doubt whistled as he carved. In those days the plain of the Egyptian delta was crowded with gangs of swarthy workmen unloading the stone that had come down the Nile to add a new stone to the current pyramid. One might paint a thousand scenes from those ages; of some hawk merchant in Egypt spreading his stock of Babylonian garments before the eyes of some pretty, rich lady; of a miscellaneous crowd swarming between the pylons to some temple festival at Thebes; of the excited, dark-eyed audience of Cretans like the Spaniards of today, watching a bullfight, with the bull fighters in armed with a bronze sword, stanking motionless on some Egyptian mountain crest, struck with amazement at his first vision of a many-oared Cretan galley crawling like a great insect across the smoky sea, the horror of the Adriatic Sea. He went home to tell his folk a strange story of a monster, Briareus with his hundred arms. Of millions of such tales of the tightly girded, exactly like any contemporary bull fighter; of children learning their cuneiform signs at Nippur the clay exercise tiles of a school have been found; of a woman with a sick husband, at home, slipping into some great temple in Carthage to make a vow for his recovery. Or perhaps it is a wild Greek skin-clad and stitches in each of these 200 generations is the fabric of this history woven. But unless they mark the progress of a primary seam or joint we cannot pause now to examine any of these stitches.

CLEAR DRURY ON CHARGE OF PATRONAGE

Legislative Committee Conducts Inquiry Into University Affairs.

RUSSELL TO DEFENCE

Toronto, Nov. 16.—Premier Drury was exonerated of playing party politics, or of discharging political patronage in appointments to the board of governors of the University of Toronto, before the legislative committee which commenced an inquiry into the administration of the university at the Parliament Buildings today.

H. H. Dewar precipitated the discussion by asking T. A. Russell, chairman of the university finance committee, whether it was advisable to have the university placed beyond the realm of political patronage, as regarded appointments to the board of governors.

Mr. Russell declared that someone had to bear the responsibility of appointments. From experience it seemed that this responsibility should still be borne by the government.

Premier Drury bluntly inquired whether Mr. Russell had known any indication of governmental patronage or interference as Mr. Dewar had inferred, to which Mr. Russell replied, "No, it has been singularly free from governmental interference or anything in the shape of petty politics."

The members of the committee are: Premier Drury, Hon. Manning Doherty, G. H. Ferguson, H. H. Dewar, C. McCrea, Thomas Marshall, Edgar Watson, C. F. Sweeney, F. H. Greenway and J. McNamara.

Col. T. Gibson is acting in an advisory capacity as counsel for the Alumni Association of the university.

Speeders Forced To March Through Hospital and View Maimed Children

Special to The Advertiser.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 16.—Seventy speeders today paced slowly through the children's ward of a great hospital here, past rows of tiny kiddies maimed for life in traffic accidents. This mental torture was decreed by Judge Bartlett. It cures the speed maniacs, he declared to the United Press, urging that every judge in the country force reckless drivers to submit to this torment of conscience, and so put a stop to the mounting auto casualties.

Judge Bartlett led the 70 convicted traffic law violators down the long aisle under police guard. There was a rustling in the beds. A lifting of heads from pillows, a focusing of children's eyes on the crowd.

"Children," said the judge, "I have sentenced these men, said he had prepared no statement. The statement of the board of governors had been presented last year by Sir Robert Falconer and set forth the operation of the present form of government.

"I have nothing further to add to answer any question particularly in regard to finances. So far as the general government of the university is concerned, in detail of course, the president is more qualified to speak than I am."

Replying to Thomas Marshall, he said that he served on the 1921 commission, and his views were embodied in its report, which was unanimous. "Our finding concluded that the university should continue to be administered by a board of governors as it is at present."

DELOIRME MAY GET 3RD TRIAL

Superintendent of Asylum Does Not Accept Judge's Decision.

Quebec, Nov. 16.—A report to the lieutenant-general of the province on the mental condition of Abbe Delorme will be made shortly by Dr. Brochu, medical superintendent of the Beauport Asylum, and the appointment of an impartial medical commission to examine the patient once more is likely in view of the divergence of opinion between Montreal and Beauport alienists.

Information to this effect was obtained this morning from unquestioned sources, though Dr. Brochu himself would make no comment on action to be taken as a result of Delorme's interdiction in the Montreal courts and the rejection of the certificate Dr. Brochu has already furnished, expressing the view that the priest's mental condition is such that he can manage his own affairs.

The step will be taken by Dr. Brochu and his colleagues of the Beauport Asylum within a short time. Since the Beauport view of Delorme's condition varies so widely from that held by the Montreal alienists, a third examination by a medical commission appears to be the only solution, and is expected to be the next development in the sensational case.

TO PURCHASE HOGS BY GRADED SYSTEM

Ingersoll Packing Company To Work in Conjunction With Other Plants.

Special to The Advertiser. Ingersoll, Nov. 16.—That the graded system of buying hogs has been adopted by the Ingersoll Packing Company, in conjunction with other packing plants of the Dominion, was the announcement of interest to farmers of the district made today.

G. Barbour of the Dominion Livestock Branch, Ottawa, who is in charge of the grading at Brantford and Ingersoll, stated that farmers should look carefully to the marketing of their hogs. It was stated that locally the market price is being paid for thick smoothies, with an additional premium of 10 per cent for selects.

Farmers in the districts near the packing plants are advised to do their delivering and therefore to get the premium themselves. To obtain the premium at the shipping points they should demand grading, and also identify their hogs. The graded system, it is believed, will prove advantageous not only to the farmers and the packers, but also to the trade of the Dominion.

MERCHANTS OF THE city report considerable Christmas buying this week, many citizens having become educated to the advantages of "early shopping." Gent's furnishes and dealers in china, glassware and novelties have been particularly well patronized by the gift seekers. As was the case last year, there appears to be a tendency on the part of the public to buy the better class and more useful gifts.

A STRANGE WOMAN, believed to be demented, has been causing considerable excitement in the vicinity of the local M. C. R. depot the past few days. The woman, who is conceded to be a stranger in this city, was found one morning sitting on a truck, on which she had presumably spent the night. Thursday morning she spent considerable time sitting in the upstairs hall of the depot, working diligently at fancy work. She also journeyed to the waiting-room and created excitement. It is understood that either the police or the health authorities will be notified of the woman's whereabouts and something done for her.

REGRET DEFEAT OF GREENWOOD

Courageous Course in Ireland Believed To Have Affected Canadian's Vote.

Toronto, Nov. 16.—A number of the individual results of the British elections will have particular interest for Canadians. Even among political opponents there will be keen regret for the defeat of Sir Hamar Greenwood in Sunderland, where six candidates ran for two seats, the two Conservatives heading the poll with majorities of nine and five thousand respectively over the ex-Canadian newspaper man. With labor a poor fourth and fifth, and the Asquithian Liberal nowhere, Sir Hamar's courageous course as secretary of state for Ireland during the irreconcilable days immediately before the settlement, no doubt proved his undoing. Canadians cannot regret the defeat in Taunton of Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen, minister of health in the Bonar Law cabinet, who as minister of agriculture in the Lloyd George cabinet actively and persistently opposed the removal of the embargo on Canadian cattle. Canadian farmers are also interested in the defeat of Winston Churchill, colonial secretary in the Lloyd George Government and author of the famous invitation to the overseas dominions to send contingents to the Near East on Sept. 16 last.

No doubt his campaign suffered from the fact that he had but recently been operated upon for appendicitis, and a dead set on him was made by the Dundee Conservatives. It is significant that the poll was headed by a prohibitionist with labor taking the second seat and Mr. Churchill's Georgian running mate being ahead of him in the poll. He will be a sad loss to Lloyd George in the debating strength of the next house unless a seat can be found for him.

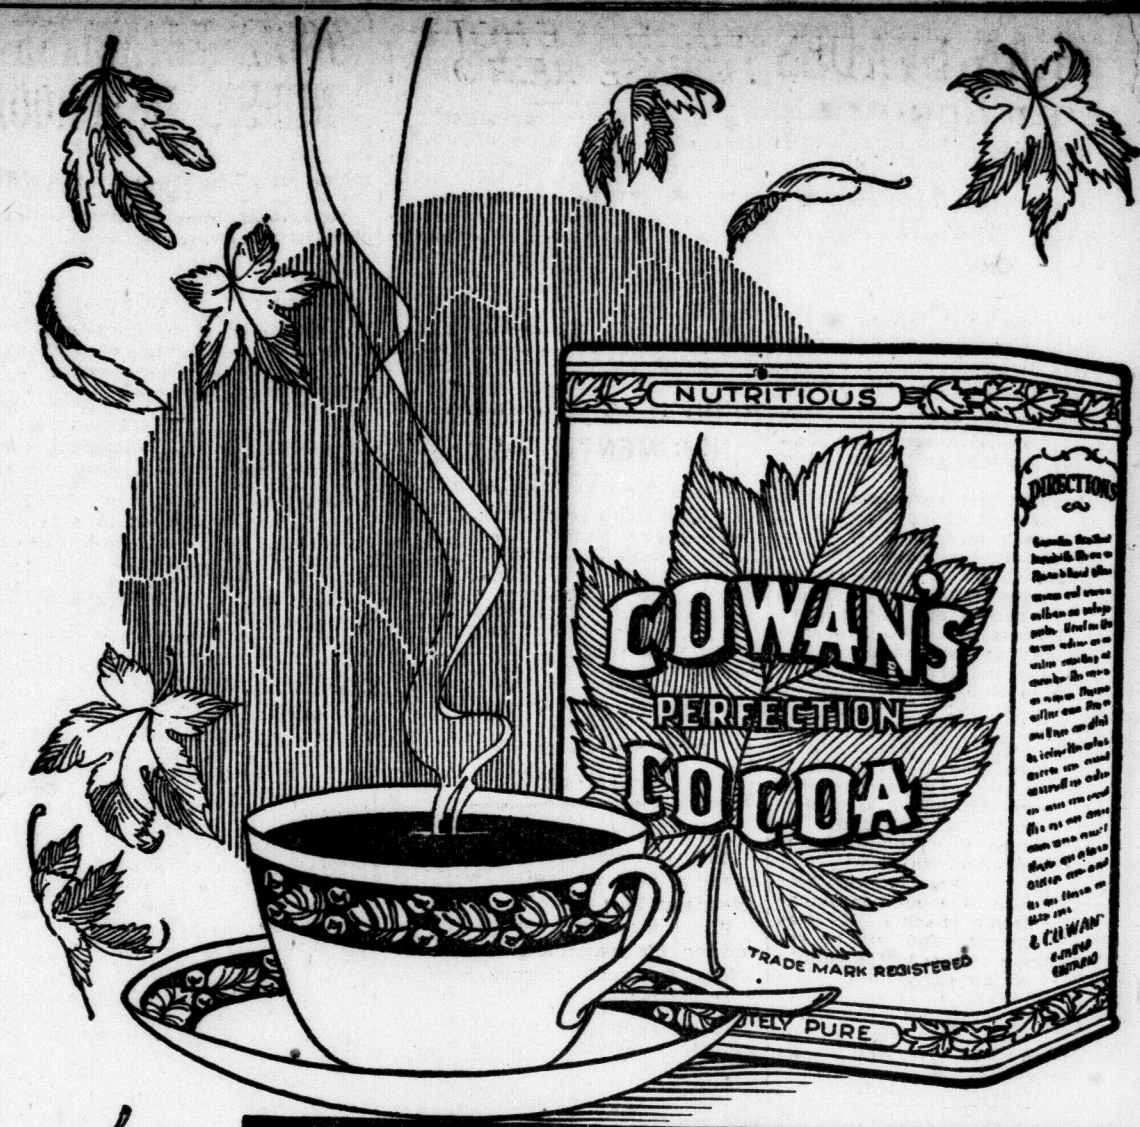

EXPECT CONTEST FOR MAYORALTY

Special to The Advertiser.

Woodstock, Nov. 16.—A mayoralty contest at the January elections is now more than a possibility. Mayor Paul has served two terms, and it is likely that he will retire from the municipal arena. For some time past the names of two prominent aldermen, Robert Murray and William Roddick, have been named as mayoralty candidates.

While they have not definitely announced their candidature, it is known that their friends are busy working in their behalf. A contest between Aldermen Roddick and Murray should prove an interesting one. Alderman Graves' name was also mentioned, but he has decided to seek re-election as an alderman.

BELGIAN EVADES KENT OFFICERS

Surprised While Making Whiskey in Shack Near Canal.

Special to The Advertiser.
Chatham, Nov. 16.—After an exciting chase of several miles through marsh land, small canals and creeks, Emile Housson, a Belgian, finally managed to evade a squad of Kent County officers late yesterday afternoon.

Housson had been surprised by the officers in the act of bending over a pot of whiskey mash in his shack close to one of the canals. He left the building so quickly that it was several seconds before the officers realized he had gone. They gave pursuit, however, following Housson to the marshy change mouth of the River Thames in Dover Township. Several times Housson was sighted, but on darkness setting in he made a good getaway.

A complete still, including a double "worm," as well as 40 gallons of mash, which had been prepared for distilling, were seized by the police. They also located a cave under an outhouse, where it is claimed the Belgian stored illicit whiskey.

John McKay, a farm laborer, was found in a state of sudden intoxication in Housson's shack. He was brought to the city and will be required to face charges before the county police court at an early date.

Great For Bad Coughs and Colds

You'll Say It's Good When All Mucus Disappears and Clean Healthy Membrane is Your Reward.

Here is an inexpensive home-made remedy that you can't beat and one that will quickly bring up that phlegm, stop the sneezing, relieve the clogged air passages, make breathing easy and cause stubborn colds and persistent coughs to vacate—many times over.

Try it right away if you suffer from Catarrh, Chest Colds or any irritating cough or throat trouble, and you'll be glad you ran across this little bit of advice.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly, that it dampens a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautiful, dark, glossy, soft and lustrous.—Adv.

POLICE RE-ENACT DOUBLE SLAYING

Detectives Find Mrs. Gibson's Story Stands Up Under Test.

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 16.—Mrs. Jane Gibson's story as to the physical details of the murder scene was correct.

With the Somerset grand jury to be convened Monday, Wilbur A. Mott, special deputy attorney general in charge of the investigation, said: "The last thing I have in mind is an attempt to force the grand jury to find an indictment against anybody. My duty is performed when I lay all available evidence before the grand jury. The responsibility of indictment serves no purpose and an attempt on my part to force an indictment would be beyond my sworn duty to the public."

The opinion still prevails that a move will soon be made by the interested parties to attempt to release the Abbe from the asylum, and this recent development may result in representation to that effect, being made to the lieutenant-governor and the provincial secretary.

Bonar Law's Clear Majority.

Judging from his pre-election utterances, PREMIER BONAR LAW believes in using diplomacy whenever possible rather than threats. He has made repeated reference to the fact that he is certain both Greece and Turkey will be parties to a fair settlement, and he has also intimated that he desires the friendship of the French people. The one difficulty between France and Britain at the moment is the matter of German reparations, France being of the opinion that Germany can and should pay faster than many of the British authorities think possible.

The premier believes that United States should have a seat at the League of Nations, and has said so openly, holding that such a move would allow the republic to better appreciate the problems of Britain and the nations of the world.

In his campaign BONAR LAW made reference to the relationship of the home government to the dominions, stating it to be his intention to have a conference looking toward the development of empire resources. Such a conference might mean much or it might mean nothing.

The British premier is not expected to bring in much new legislation. He is perhaps of the school that believes the best way to cure some ills is to leave them alone. Now that he has a working majority over all other parties he will be in a position to go ahead on that basis. He will not find it necessary to yield to any other group in order to secure support for his own policies. In this way he occupies a position that is extremely desirable from the viewpoint of unhampered action. It should give the party a chance to deliberately frame its policies and carry them through the House and into practical operation.

Labor made an unusual showing in Glasgow, where it took 10 of the 16 seats. Glasgow has suffered from unemployment to a very pinching degree, and there has followed as a result a feeling that the working-men must have greater representation. Then, too, the house-renting situation was a sore spot. During the war the landlords were given permission to increase rents, the majority of them going up as much as 50 per cent. Landlords did not in many cases serve notice on their tenants, but simply put the high rents into effect. It all added to the feeling that fell in with the platform and general outlook of the Labor party and its candidates. Labor's showing was a complete reversal of form from the setback suffered a few days ago at the municipal elections in England.

The Late William Magee.

The late WILLIAM MAGEE, whose death occurred in this city, was well known to Londoners of other days. He came to London from Ireland when about 12 years of age, and immediately commenced attendance at the old Union School under NICHOLAS WILSON and J. B. BOYLE. It was not long until he was recognized as one of the brightest boys in the school. Upon leaving school he joined the staff of THE LONDON ADVERTISER. He remained there for many years. His death recalls the names of ARCHIE BREMNER, WILLIAM CAMERON, HARRY GORMAN, W. J. MCINTOSH, JESS STYMONT, ATWELL FLEMING, LUD K. CAMERON, M. W. ROSSIE and many others, including FRANK ADAMS and R. D. MILLAR, who were on THE ADVERTISER staff together with "BILLY MAGEE," as he was then called. He was chief accountant when he left THE ADVERTISER to take another situation.

He was a brother of Mr. JUSTICE JAMES MAGEE. As boy and man he was courteous, kind and possessed of ability much above the average. His death will be regretted by many old-time Londoners, and his family will have their deepest sympathy.

Winter Feeding of Cattle.

Feeding cattle through the winter months is an industry in Western Ontario that has developed during recent years. Conditions are very favorable for winter feeding, as the crops for this purpose were well up to the mark. There are seasons when some of the shipping points in Midwestern are sending out more cattle than any point in the Dominion.

One of the most important requisites in the successful finishing of beef cattle is the proper type of steer to start with. Some feeders raise and finish their own steers; others may raise a few head, supplementing these by purchasing from neighboring farmers who do not make a practice of finishing their own steers, while still others concentrate their efforts on finishing steers, purchasing their stockers locally or on the larger markets.

The farmer who raises his own feeders can safeguard type and quality in his animals. The man who buys his feeders must show even more care, in that he must secure evidence of beef breeding and a fair degree of beef type. Most important of all, he must "buy them right." A cent or a fraction thereof per pound in the purchase price of the animals may mean the difference between profit and loss for the feeder.

The "cheap" or "common" feeder (in the sense of his being an inferior one in breeding and type) is nearly always a loser for his owner in the end. Such steers have not the ability to make economical use of the feed consumed. Such feeders must be bought on a much wider margin than the higher grades, in fact the economy of such buying is ever in doubt. Steers of good breeding and type and in good feeding condition should be bought in preference. A premium of one-half to one cent can be paid for these as compared with common stock. The same class of steers, if in extra good condition, yet not fat, can be bought on an even narrower margin for a shorter feeding period and subsequent quick turnover. Usually, however, there is a greater risk with this latter class of steers. Should the price drop just as they were finished and ready to market only a rapid recovery would permit of other than a loss.

One Middlesex cattle man states his preference for the animal compact and broad of back from shoulder points to hips, wide body, short and almost thick neck, wide, deep, full breast; broad, fleshy hind quarters—in short, a "blocky" sort of animal. He does not care much for "rangy" cattle, nor for those that run to legs. Either of these, to use a good barn phrase, "is apt to eat its head off."

The Dominion Department of Agriculture, through its annual husbandry branch, has recently sent out in print the results of feeding various kinds of steers, superior, good and poor, over a period of 116 days. A few figures are summarized in the following table, col. 1 being superior, col. 2 good, and col. 3 poor steers.

Average gain	234	262	211
Buying price	50.53	38.89	31.13
Selling price	75.49	69.21	53.95
Cost of feed	17.92	17.60	18.18
Profit per steer	7.04	12.72	4.65

The best return was made from the good steers, not from the superior. This is easily understood, as no doubt the best quality did not require much feeding, and were at their best in advance of selling point. Keeping cattle after they cease to put on weight, even in the hope of a better market, is a business with considerable risk attached.

Hair Cuts and Castor Oil.

New styles in everything, even in dealing with revolutionists. The old way used to be shooting or hanging or exile.

In Italy younger members of the Fascist have a number of old cases to deal with where anarchists had grown long whiskers and dangerous ideas together.

Instead of any method looking toward assassination the Fascist now of these whiskers and administer huge doses of castor oil. Sometimes when a communist is particularly wild he finds the top of his head shaved clean and the national emblem painted there in colors that neither fade, nor wash out. So every time he takes off his hat—and he's apt to wear one under the impression of cheering for his country. The treatment has much to recommend it, and it is carried out with an entire absence of funeral processions and scenes of bloodshed. There's small chance of any of these new-mown gents posing as martyrs, and a man filled to the muzzle with castor oil cannot do much damage to his native land.

In truth, the new Italian mind is working along new and correct channels.

Keep the Tax Roll Clean.

Several of the municipalities of Western Canada have found it necessary to put on campaigns during the last year or so for the payment of taxes.

Meetings and conferences were held to discuss ways and means, and at these divergent views were brought out. It was charged by W. E. McCONNELL, president of the Saskatchewan Land Mortgage Corporation, that the rural municipalities of Saskatchewan were more drastic collectors than any other class of creditor in the province, and were making seizures right and left for repayment of relief and seed loans. Of course, the answer to such a charge was quickly furnished, and the statement made that the closer these collections were made the better standing the municipality and district had in the eyes of the banks and loan companies, and the more readily would these people advance money to such a district.

Defaulting debenture payments is a dangerous practice, because it gives an idea of bankruptcy away beyond the real facts of the case. Some months ago Swift Current received its share, and perhaps more, of notoriety owing to the fact that a bank had taken possession of the town's finances, or something to that effect.

That report was carried in every paper in the country, and comment was made on it very widely. The popular idea was that Swift Current had almost ceased to exist, and the future financing of the place would be a matter of serious jeopardy.

A resident of that western center was in THE ADVERTISER office a few days ago, and naturally conversation turned to the financial standing of the place. The comment was made that the east seemed to entertain the idea that Swift Current had passed into the hands of the receiver, and that the banks there owned every house and store in the community. Business is going on as usual; taxes are high, but no higher than in a number of other places, and our informant also made the claim that there were other places in Western Canada whose finances were in no better shape than those of Swift Current. The only difference being that a determined effort was being made to straighten things out in the latter place.

Back taxes have a habit of accumulating, and becoming a load instead of an asset. Men who loan money do not like to see a large arrearage against the place that is seeking a line of credit in the way of a new debenture issue. There is nothing that will keep municipal credit so sweet and wholesome in the eyes of the country in general as a clean tax roll.

It may have been thought that affairs were complicated in the House at Ottawa by having three political leaders. In Britain they have four: BONAR LAW leading the Conservatives, JOHN R. CLYNE leading Labor, HERBERT ASQUITH with the Liberals behind him, and LORD GEORGE with his following of Liberals. The two latter might very well have a meeting in the lobby some day soon and pull straws for the leadership. Three House leaders is a fine sufficiency.

As to Psychoanalysis

By H. Addington Bruce.

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Handicaps of Childhood," etc. (Copyright, 1922, by The Associated Newspapers.)

FROM the many inquiries that come to me, there evidently is a general belief that psychoanalysis as a method of treating functional nervous and mental disorders is equally applicable to all types of patients. Responsible for this gravely erroneous belief must be shared by "quick" psychoanalysts and poorly informed writers on the subject.

Actually, helpful as psychoanalysis is in many cases, there are victims of nervousness for whom it can do little or nothing. This has always been appreciated by the chief workers in this field of mental medicine. Thus some years ago Dr. I. H. Coriat of Boston, one of America's pioneer psychoanalysts, issued the warning: "Psychoanalysis should not be used in delirious states, in persons over fifty years of age, since their nervous systems lack a certain plasticity, in cases of acute hysteria, or in persons who are unable to understand."

Not only are the nervous systems of persons over fifty usually lacking in sufficient "plasticity" to make them responsive to psychoanalysis, but because of the basic principles of psychoanalysis itself its applicability as a means of dealing with nervousness is necessary first to unearth and recall the later memories.

All functional nervous and mental maladies, psychoanalysis holds, have their roots in "forgotten memories," commonly memories relating to painful experiences of early childhood. As years pass and experiences accumulate other "forgotten memories" are overlaid on these earlier ones, which sink still more deeply into the subconscious. In order to get at them it is necessary first to unearth and recall the later memories.

And, just as obviously, the more memories there are unearthed the longer and more difficult will be the psychoanalyst's task. Also, because of the decreased "plasticity" of the mind after middle age, the co-operation of the patient, indispensable to a successful analysis, will be less easy to obtain.

Psychoanalysis, as I have frequently pointed out elsewhere, is only one among several methods of combating nervous and mental diseases. There are many patients whose "complexes" are so loosely rooted that a mere suggestion of health, given under favorable circumstances, believe me, is sufficient to restore them to health.

In fact, the one type of functionally nervous patient for whom nothing will avail—neither psychoanalysis nor anything else—is the patient who at heart does not wish to get well. Such patients, however much they lament their nervousness, oppose to the best efforts of medical science a resistance that is quite invincible unless and until by some means a sincere desire for health is created in them.

And, unbelievable though it may seem, there are not a few such patients. They are persons who, in the face of their nervousness, confers on them some real or fancied advantage—freedom from work, for instance—which they are reluctant to yield. So they run about from doctor to doctor, clinging to old symptoms or perpetually developing new ones.

In so doing they are honest enough. It is not a question of malice. They are not less than the curably nervous are influenced by a subconscious factor. Only in their case it is a factor making for a veritable incurability.

Your Health

By Royal S. Copeland, M.D.

Commissioner of Health, New York City.

PERHAPS the surest evidence of health is to be utterly unconscious of your body and its functions. Of course, this statement is not absolutely dependable, because several serious and even fatal maladies may produce no symptoms whatever.

Most persons are more fearful about heart disease than they are of anything else. They turn pale if it is suggested.

If the heart is normal there is no consciousness of its action. But—please remember this—to become conscious of the heart need not mean disease, nor does it mean death. There are all sorts of symptoms, including palpitation and irregular heart action, which are purely functional and which bear no relation to life.

What we mean by "palpitation" is action of the heart so rapid and forcible as to attract the attention of the victim. He can feel and even hear the powerful contractions. There is another condition in which the victim has all the subjective symptoms or palpitation—that is, he hears and feels what he believes to be the rapid and strong heart beats—when, as a matter of fact, the heart action is perfectly normal.

The causes are the same for both conditions. They are purely nervous in origin, dependent usually on nervous exhaustion, hysteria, indigestion, or the excessive use of some stimulant or other drug.

Women have this symptom more frequently than men. At particular periods and during the change of life it is not an uncommon symptom.

Anything that lowers the vitality predisposes to this trouble. A long-continued or serious illness like typhoid fever or influenza may leave the patient weak and nervous. Palpitation of the heart is not uncommon in such cases.

Worry, continual mental excitement, over-work, over-study and chronic fatigue may be followed by "nervousness."

The excessive use of tea, coffee, tobacco, alcohol or other drugs may produce much lowered nervous vitality. Palpitation is one of the disagreeable symptoms.

Chronic indigestion, especially if associated with constipation and intestinal fermentation, is a causal factor in nervousness. All sorts of nervous symptoms are produced by indigestion of this type. Sleeplessness, restlessness, irritability of temper, and lowered vitality are all too common results. It is not surprising, therefore, that palpitation is found in such cases.

The white and pasty-faced victims of indoor life, of poor ventilation, of sleeping and living-rooms, of lack of exercise and wrongly-selected food, are apt to have palpitation of the heart as one of the many symptoms which may be expected.

If you have palpitation and wish to get rid of it, forget all about the symptom itself. Seek out the cause. Find the underlying physical or mental disability responsible for the difficulty. Correct the fault in the manner of life—because in the last analysis there is some fault which must be overcome. When your way of living is made what it should be, the palpitation will disappear with the rest of the annoying symptoms.

In the meantime, don't worry about yourself, and, above all else, don't think that you are going to die because your heart has made itself felt.

Q.—I am 4 feet 7 inches tall, and I weigh 135 pounds. How much should I weigh?

A.—You do not give your age, but your weight is a very good average for your height.

C. Z. Q.—I am a young man 22 years old, and am 5 feet 6 inches tall and weigh 135 pounds. What should my correct weight be?

A.—You are a very good average for your age and height.

Q.—Will you please tell me whether tomatoes are harmful to a person suffering from rheumatism?

A.—If you are suffering from rheumatism you should not include tomatoes in your diet.

The Evening Story

THE WRONG SUITCASE.

Emmy Worth reached the station just two minutes before the train pulled out. She was the last person to enter the coach. It was crowded with shoppers, all more or less laden with the day's spoils. Emmy found a place beside a very stout woman and squeezed in with a murmured "Thank you" and shoved her suitcase, which she had borrowed from Mrs. Stevens, under the seat.

Emmy was very tired. She had finished her work at Mrs. Stevens' at 7 the night before. It was the hardest place she had ever worked in, for there were three small children besides the new baby, and Mr. Stevens was a terribly hearty eater. Emmy sometimes wondered where he put the seventeen pancakes which he ate for breakfast every morning and the great bowl of potatoes he consumed at noon, to say nothing of bread and meat and pie and coffee. Then there were the great washings and ironings and dishes. Well, it was going to seem just like heaven to have no more than two of everything to wash after this.

The thought brought a smile to her face. Two of everything—two plates, two cups, two spoons, one for her and one for Andrew. Andrew had them all waiting in his little box in Pine Street, the house where he had considered her worthy of succeeding his mother. And tomorrow, after she was married, they would have and begin housekeeping. What she wanted was a home. She never had had a home since she could remember. First it had been Aunt Mol's, where she was always considered an interloper, though they were fairly kind; then, just as soon as she got big enough, she had begun to "work out," and she had kept on working out until 6 o'clock last night, when she had stopped for good and all.

She had arisen at 6 o'clock this morning and made ready and stolen away up to the city to buy her wedding things. And she had them all there in the suitcase. She could count them off on her fingers, for she had planned and saved for them so long. Andrew had considered them unnecessary and would have married her just as readily without them, but she had a woman's pride to offer herself duly apparelled to her bridegroom. It was true that all her life she had dreamed of a white satin wedding dress, but, of course, that was utterly impossible. So she had bought a white lawn with a little lace on it and a blue ribbon for a girl's dress. There was the petticoat and other underthings to go with it, and a cheap little pair of white canvas shoes and near-stocking. There she had them all. Other things she had wanted very much, but she had already spent so much money on towels and things like that, which she had packed away in her trunk, ready to be taken to her new home, that she could not afford to buy any more. As it was, she was quite content and happy with the prospect of being a dainty white bride for Andrew after all.

At Ninth Junction some people left the car, and at Vega some more got off. But the stout woman stayed on till they came to Northbrook. There she removed herself and took her parcels from the rack. It was dark by this time and Emmy began to feel pretty sleepy. She had room now for her suitcase, so she reached under the seat and hauled it out into the space between her seat and the next one. The seat behind was empty, she noted, of the stylish, dark-haired girl who had sat there reading a book all the way out from the city. She, too, had had a suitcase.

Far down the valley the lights of Candor sparkled like fireflies. Emmy aroused herself and yawned. Andrew might have been at the station to meet her only that she had not let him know that she was going to the city. She wanted to surprise him with the new dress on the morrow. Dear Andrew!

The train reached the station. Emmy caught up the parcels and stepped into the dimness, scurried across the tracks and made for Aunt Mol's. She lived on a shabby street in a dark corner of a town in an old green house, with all the grass stamped out of the front-door yard. Emmy was glad that Andrew liked fresh growing grass as much as she did. At least they would keep their home neat and attractive. A smell of fried potatoes greeted Emmy as she entered.

"I kept some supper hot for you," said the woman, who rose up from the light of the gray-shaded kerosene lamp.

Meanwhile Aunt Mol was curiously eyeing the suitcase. "That don't look to me just like the satchel you borrowed of Mrs. Stevens," she said, at last. "Of course, hers wasn't marked, and this one isn't, but I thought her was a lighter shade than this one." "It must be the same one," Emmy said. She felt a curious sense of alarm. It felt as though she were opening it, she added. She knelt beside the suitcase and spread it open there upon Aunt Mol's dining-carpet. And from it came an odor of sachet, amazingly rare. The store smell was lacking. Emmy turned pale. Her small hands began to titter nervously among the things. What had she? A georgette blouse, a shimmering white satin skirt, long silk hose, clocked, high-heeled suede slippers, a petticoat and quantities of other things that were a mass of lace, embroidery and ribbon and silk, and a negligee of wonderfully flowered crepe, with a little cap to match.

"You've changed suitcases with somebody, that's certain," said Aunt Mol. Emmy looked up at her, dazed. "No! No!" she cried. "I took the one that was left. Oh, Aunt Mol, who could these things belong to?" "How are you going to find out? There isn't an initial or mark anywhere to tell," Aunt Mol fingered one of the suede shoes. "See if this'll fit you, child."

"Oh, I can't wear clothes that don't belong to me," Emmy shrunk. "What you going to be married in, then? Your old blue serge?"

Emmy's lips quivered. "Up to, I can't wear that. But maybe these won't fit me."

"Aunt Mol was swiftly measuring. 'They'll fit you to a T. Now you're all tired out and hysterical. A pretty bride you'll be tomorrow. Now you put these things away and pop into bed. And let me hear no more of you tonight.'"

For once Aunt Mol was kind, and Emmy obeyed willingly. She fell asleep wondering who that crowd had got her little white lawn dress. "It looks as if I was going to have my wish and be married after all," she thought, with a faint sense of amusement. An hour before the dark-haired girl who had changed at the station stepped out of a limousine under the porte-cochere of her uncle's summer home. The chauffeur carried her suitcase to the door and there a maid received it and bore it aloft to a beautiful blue and white room such as little Emmy had never seen or dreamed of. Presently the girl came up to dress for the late dinner. She was going to stay only one night and had brought only a single change. When she opened the suitcase she gave a little cry. Then she began to laugh. Later she explained to her aunt why she had to appear at dinner in her traveling suit.

"I must have taken the suitcase that belonged to the little, fair, tired-looking girl in the seat ahead," she said. "Well, I hope she'll be able to wear those things of mine. As for her things, you can give them to your maid, auntie—that is, if she will wear them."

ABANDON DAKIN STREET TRACT

Members of Board of Education Will Purchase Oliver Street Site.

Members of the board of education have settled the long-debated "Dakin street site" issue. They are purchasing property at the corner of Oliver and Trafalgar streets at a probable cost of $19,500.

At this moment it appears to be the intention of the trustees to dispose of a section of this land together with such buildings thereon, thereby reducing the actual expenditure to about $15,000.

The final abandonment of the Dakin street location was not effected, however, without a battle at Thursday's session of the board, and the presence of a deputation of women from Southeast London, protesting against the proposed sale of the Oliver and Trafalgar street site, lent variation to the proceedings.

The recommendation from the public school committee, introduced by Trustee Rev. A. A. Bice, seeking the board's sanction of the purchase, was supported by the following trustees: A. E. Silverwood, Casselman, Mrs. John L. Hunt, A. Langford, Harry Hayman, Rev. A. A. Bice, B. N. Campbell and Edwin Smith (chairman).

Opposed to Purchase. Those trustees who opposed to the purchase of this land, and insisted that the Dakin street site be used, were Trustee A. N. Udy, chairman of No. 1 committee; Trustee Thomas Rowe and Trustee J. B. Wright, chairman of the technical school committee.

The adopted report was as follows: "1. Under the authority of the board at its session June 15 last, your committee has agreed to purchase the several lots on Oliver and Trafalgar streets at the price of $14,500, and our solicitor has been instructed to complete the deal.

"2. Further options have been secured on lots adjoining this property on the Hamilton road and Cameron street.

"We recommend: "1. That you authorize us to purchase the following parcels of land: (a) that portion with a frontage on Trafalgar street (or Hamilton road) of 66 feet and a depth of 222 feet and adjoining the east side of Trafalgar and Oliver street site, optioned price $4,000; (b) that parcel adjoining the east boundary of the Oliver and Trafalgar site and situate on the north side of Cameron street, having a frontage of 66 feet and a depth of 111 feet, purchase price $900.

Presents Report. The afternoon's event opened with Secretary W. A. Tanner reading a report, which was, he explained, the combined views of both school inspectors, together with the principals of the public schools to be affected by the construction of a new institution.

They were unanimous in their opinion that the Dakin street site was the most central location, and incidentally expressed the desire that the trustees accept the responsibility if the new school did not measure up to requirements.

Trustee Thomas Rowe moved immediately that this report be spread upon the minutes in detail, and the next order of business was the receipt of a communication from ex-Ald. Adam Palmer, offering a site for school purposes, for $3,732. This was filed.

In the meanwhile, a deputation of the fair sex having arrived from Southeast London, it was moved that they be received.

"We are here to urge that the Dakin street site be purchased," explained the spokesman, Mrs. Stearn. "We feel that this location would better serve the needs of the district, and we have submitted a petition to that effect, signed by nearly all the people there."

Urges Dakin Site. "We have heard that there has been criticism against the Dakin site by those who said that there was an offensive odor from the sewerage plant. We think that is merely 'scare' talk. I have lived there three years, and it hasn't bothered me."

"We do not feel that the Oliver and Trafalgar site is a safe one for our children. Cars pass the Hamilton road at terrific speed, more particularly since that thoroughfare has been paved."

Trustee Rev. A. A. Bice, as chairman of No. 2 committee, explained that the members had been faced with three outstanding difficulties. First, he said, the Dakin street property was inadequate to satisfy the provincial department. In the second place the city solicitor had warned that in order to secure adjoining property by legal means, it would mean another long delay, and thirdly, the mayor and city councillors had refused to issue debentures for a school on that site.

Upon a request from Trustee Rowe, Inspector V. K. Greer explained that the statutes had been amended in 1921, whereby the city could expropriate such property with but little delay.

Trustee Rowe rose to remark that he was surprised that his colleagues were not "alert to ask questions from the visiting deputation."

Campbell Defends Tract. Aroused to defend the Oliver street tract, Trustee Bryden Campbell asserted that while he appreciated the same, he must disagree with the opinions of the school inspector and the principals. He still judged the Oliver street location as the most favorable. "We must look to the future," he said, "and by placing a school on the Trafalgar Square we will have an institution that will be a credit to the city."

"I want to ask mothers here if they want a school that will serve the children or be something to show off with?" questioned Trustee Wright.

"I suggest Victoria Park for that purpose then," he added, while the visiting ladies applauded vigorously.

Trustee A. N. Udy rose to explain that he still felt that the site at Beatrice and Price streets, considered about 18 months ago, was the ideal location. "I can't get away from that," he said.

"Then stick to it," cautioned Trustee Rowe.

"If Trustee Wright was to build a valuable house would he place it on the bank of a river?" questioned Trustee Silverwood during his remarks upon the work of the committee who had considered the problem quite thoroughly, he said, and had reasoned that the Dakin street land must be abandoned.

Would Exceed Price? Trustee Rowe questioned if the Oliver purchase would not exceed the price of the Dakin site. Trustee Bice said no, that $10,000 had been set aside for the purpose. Trustee Wright held that he was mistaken in a connection, as it would have been possible to secure adequate land for $10,000.

Trustee Rowe explained that he had a negative vote upon

TRAVELERS HONOR MANAGER OF HOTEL

Guy M. Ferguson Presented With Club Bag At Banquet in Tecumseh House.

Commercial travelers of Western Ontario and other parts of the province, at a most enjoyable banquet, which owed its organization to a committee of three—J. Harry Dodge, George Wilmet and Alex. Cook—presented Guy M. Ferguson, manager of the Tecumseh House, with a fine traveling bag as a mark of their appreciation of the courtesy he has extended them and the service he has given them since the hotel has been under his management.

With instructions to give it and their kind regards to Mrs. Ferguson, the host of the evening was given a bouquet of roses.

S. M. Sterling, president of the Commercial Travelers' Association during 1913 and 1914, read the address and made the presentation.

In reply, Mr. Ferguson declared: "I can assure you the presentation just made by Mr. Sterling is a great surprise to me. I have only done my duty as manager of this hotel. It has always been, and will be my aim and object to make my guests as comfortable as possible."

"As you know, we are sometimes overtaxed for room for guests, but everything is done by myself and staff to secure accommodation for you gentlemen."

Expresses Appreciation. "In conclusion I wish to state how highly I appreciate your good feeling toward Mrs. Ferguson and myself, trusting to see you all at the Tecumseh House for many years to come, where you will always be welcome."

Numerous toasts, solos and community singing were included on the somewhat lengthy program. All of the 100 or more traveling men expressed themselves as having thoroughly enjoyed the affair, and were most unanimous that it should only be an annual but a quarterly affair.

Best Savage lead the community singing in a most capable manner, and George L. Wilmet ably filled the chair.

During the course of his speech to the toast "Canada," John Hamilton stated that he was indeed delighted to learn that a Canadian was now Britain's premier.

E. S. Little, in response to the toast, remarked that the country was not passing through a period of depression, but merely a period of adjustment. Within a short radius of Guy Ferguson's hotel, as much business could be secured as anywhere in Canada, he reminded the travelers. It had been said the 20th century was Canada's, and he felt sure Canada was coming into her own, for the Canadian dollar was now quoted at 100 cents plus in New York, and Canada's exports per capita during the past year had been $180, in comparison with $65 in the United States.

Replies to Toast. Giles R. Taggart, American consul, in replying to the toast, "The British Empire," stated that although a small minority was trying to drive a wedge between his country and the empire, every thinking person in the United States knew what Britain means to the United States.

E. W. M. Flock, responding to this toast, said that it had been predicted that the final war would be between the East and the West. With the English-speaking peoples shoulder to shoulder there could be no doubt as to the outcome, he said. After the war would come the millennium and a little child riding on a British lion and under a canopy of the wings of the American eagle would lead. Then he contended, the English-speaking peoples will have fulfilled their destiny.

In the absence of Mayor J. C. Wilson, Ald. Leonard Douglass spoke to the toast, "London," and handed the travelers the key to the city, knowing full well, as he aptly put it, that they would not abuse their privilege.

President-elect J. Harry Dodge spoke to "Sister Associations," telling of the work already accomplished by the five travelers' organizations in Canada and outlining plans for the future. The travelers' associations were 40,000 strong, and it was the members' duty to be boosters and to put the travelers on the plane they belonged to. They were strong enough to have sitting members in the federal and provincial houses, he believed.

the issue, as other action would be directly opposite, he declared, to the advice of the educational experts. It was also against the wishes of the ratepayers of Southeast London, who should be supreme in the matter.

"Two arguments have been presented for the Oliver street property, neither of which I feel are conclusive," he said. "The first is that it will be a picturesque corner, as has been beautifully described by one of my colleagues."

"The second is that the mayor and city council is to dictate to us where we shall build our schools while we are compelled to discount the advice of our inspectors. They are both lame excuses. If the trustees had not pursued such a 'wobbly' attitude all year we might have got somewhere on this."

Trustee Wright moved an amendment to the original motion, suggesting that the proposal be referred to the 1923 school board. So much time had been lost, he said, that another couple of months would not make much difference.

When the vote was called, Trustee Rowe asked for the "Yea's" and "Nays" in order that the opinion of all the members be registered for publication. He insisted also that the chairman, Trustee Edwin Smith, cast his vote.

VERMILION PENCIL THRILLS AT GRAND

Stupendous Southern Picture Features Fine Bill At Popular Theatre.

A mighty volcano bursting into smoke and flame as it belched out its fiery torrent of molten lava, and an earthquake that rocks the countryside for miles and sends buildings crashing to the ground in a thousand fragments, fleeing natives in a state of panic, running wild-eyed for safety in the outlands. This is but a short word-picture of the great thrill episodes that make "The Vermilion Pencil" one of the really important motion pictures of the day. It was shown for the first time Thursday, at the Grand Theatre, where its engagement will last for three days.

Sessue Hayakawa, the noted Japanese actor, interprets three separate and distinct roles in this most recent R-C production. Others in the cast are Bessie Love, who takes the opposite role, Ann May, Miso Seki, Sidney Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, Toto Du Crow and Omar Whitehead.

In point of spectacular effects "The Vermilion Pencil," adapted from the memorable novel of the same title by Homer Lea, probably outdoes any other production of its kind seen in London for some months. Where, for example, has there been a scene filmed to match the great earthquake and volcanic catastrophe that breaks with tremendous dramatic effect in "The Vermilion Pencil"? Then, too, there is the thrilling rescue of Bessie Love, as Hyacinth, by Mr. Hayakawa, as Li Chan, as the swift ties of a mountain stream sweep the girl into a rushing whirlpool. The flood of blazing lava that fairly inundates the Chinese village, and the havoc wrought by the earthquake, are portrayed with smashing realism.

Tse Chan, young viceroys in Old China, discovers his beautiful young wife in a compromising situation with another man, and without investigating, condemns her to be executed by Ling Chee, the "death of a thousand tortures." In accordance with the custom then prevalent in the Orient of putting faithless wives to death. The wife is executed.

Later Tse Chan learns of her innocence and is broken by remorse. He abandons his throne and his domains and becomes a hermit, wandering in the mountains. His motherless young son is sent to America, where he is educated. After years pass he returns to his native China a full-fledged engineer. While at work on a dam he meets Hyacinth, a beautiful little flower that has blossomed

FORESEES "LIBERALIZING OF PROHIBITION ACT"

Special to The Advertiser. New York, Nov. 16.—President Harding, in a letter to Mr. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson, foresees a "liberalizing of the prohibition enforcement act."

According to Mrs. Robinson's interpretation, she read the letter to members of the Republican Neighborhood Association last evening, but refused to show it to reporters who were present. She could not be reached at her home at 9 o'clock this morning when an attempt was made to confirm her statement. Mrs. Robinson told members of the association that the president had written her that he did not expect the amendment to be abolished but that "undoubtedly" the public mind was shifting somewhat in regard to prohibition enforcement, and that while it would never be removed from politics, it would lose some of its importance as a political issue after the enforcement laws had been liberalized.

WILL RECEIVE RED HAT. Rome, Nov. 16.—Among the cardinals who will receive the Red Hat at the papal consistory Dec. 14 are the Archbishops of Rennes and Toledo, the Bishop of Orleans and Mgr. Mari, secretary of the congregation of the council.

U. S. IMPOSES NEW DUTY. Ottawa, Nov. 16.—(By Canadian Press.)—The department of trade and commerce has been notified that the United States treasury department has placed a dumping duty against roofing or denaturing felt imported from British Columbia.
