off and stabbed Field in several places with a sword. Field is dying.

Field's assailants drove off in the direction of Drumcondra. Field is still alive, but his condition is precarious. The men stabbed him with a cane sword. He seized the weapon and broke it. The men then knocked him down and wounded him in the back. Field complains that several persons saw him lying on the ground but did not offer to assist him.

ATTACK ON A DUBLIN HOSPITAL.

A mob to-night attacked the James street hospital, where Dolan, who killed Detective Cox lies, with the object, it is believed, of removing him. The mob shouted, yelled and tried to break open the doors. The inmates were greatly alarmed. A large force of police soon arrived, armed with swords and batons when the mob dispersed. They remained however, lurking in the vicinity. The police are now patrolling the neighborhood and guarding the hospital.

How Inexperienced Girls are Captured for Bagnies—A Sad Story. BUFFALO. Nov. 27-Yesterday morning man named C. E. Lewis, of Caton, near Corning, in Steuben Co., came to town in search of his foster daughter, a girl fifteen years of age. The police succeeded in tracing her to the bagnio kept by Mrs. Dean on Exchange street. The girl said that she left home on account of receiving a letter from Mrs. Dean, saying if she came to Buffalo she would obtain for her a lucrative position as a dressmaker, and she did not know the character of the house for some time after her arrival. Before the arrival of her foster father the girl had yielded to temptation and lost her jurity. The case is a very sad one considering the youth of the richtim.

A Fatal Railway Accident. BUFFALO, Nov. 27-A serious and fatal ecident occured to train No. 3 on the Erie railroad at Hornellsville about 8 o'clock yesterday morning. The train yesterday was somewhat heavier than usual, consist ing of seven baggage and mail cars and ing of seven baggage and mail cars and fourteen passenger coaches drawn by two engines. Just before reaching Hornellsville the steel tire of one of the driving wheels of the second engine broke, throwing the engine off the track and driving the baggage and mail and smoking cars after it, smashing two of the baggage cars into kindling wood and throwing one of them directly across the track. Upon leaving the track the engine turned over on its side, burying the fireman, a young man named M. Andrews, aged 21, under it. Steps were immediately taken to get him out, and it was diately taken to get him out, and it was finally accomplished after much hard work. He lived but ten minutes after being res-

Arrested at Last. DETROIT, Nov. 27 .- Amede Montava was arrested Saturday for alleged outrage on a young English girl in Springwells in August last. The victim was walking along the track, near the car shop, when Montavan is alleged to have approached and told her that no one was allowed to walk on the track, and unless she left it he walk on the track, and unless she left it he would have to arrest her. Then he offered to conduct her to her destination by another route, she accepting his services. He took her to an isolated spot, and in spite of her entreaties brutally outraged her, after which he fled to Canada, and later, went to Chicago. The police made an unavailing search for him, and only by accident an officer who knew Montavan met him.

Fighting Over the Telegraph Wires. LEAVENWORTH, Ky., Nov. 27-W D Hoyt, telegraph operator here, had a dispute the other day over the wire with Bailey, train despatcher at Lawrence. Froebel's System Explained and Illus trated at the Normal School Last Night. The invitation extended to the public to ttend a tree exposition of the kindergar en system, in the theatre of the normal school, last night, was numerously responded to by those most immediately erested in educational matters, namely, members of the school board, teachers o the city schools, and students of the normal school. There was also a very fair representation of parents. The chair was taken (in the absence of the minister of education) by Mr. Galley, chairman of the school board, who briefly introduced Miss Blow and Mrs. Hubbard, the ladies who were advertised to explain and illustrate the system. They have both been prominently identified with the introduction and extension of the kindergarten in St Louis, and are evidently well adapted not less by their intellectual endowments than by their personal magnetism and intelthin by their personal magnetism and intelligent enthusiasm for the work in which they are engaged. To "report" the meeting they held last night—in the ordinary sense of the word—would be impossible owing to the limitations of time and space, and would be next to useless if it were possible. It is needless to remark that this is said in no disparagement of the ladies, but simply because, like any adequate representation of Froebel's system, not merely the language of the speaker would have to be reproduced, but every gesture, and action and even the facial expression would have to accompany it. Miss Blow began by giving a brief historical account, first of Pestalozza's not very successful efforts at systematizing infant instruction, and of the new method built upon it, or perhaps more systematizing infant instructiou, and of the new method built upon it, or perhaps more correctly suggested by it to the mind of Friedrich Froebel, who found after long and earnest study that Pestalozzi's system rested on no scientific basis. She then proceeded to give a verbal sposition of the system—a knowledge of which she evidently acquired by travel and stuly in Europe before engaging in the work at St Louis—and was assisted at intervals by Mrs Hubbard, who illustrated in a most interesting way the methods adopted for the gradual development of the physical, intellectual and spiritual faculties of the child's nature, especially those in which the aid of music is invoked. A dozen or so young ladies connected with the public schools had undergone a few hours' training by Mrs Hubbard, and they showed by the intelligent assistance they hours' training by Mrs Hubbard, and they showed by the intelligent assistance they rendered her that they had grasped the idea underlying the system. A few simple nursery songs were sung to piano accompaniment, first without the appropriate action and gesture and then with them. The effect which the contrast produced on a heretofore rather staid and undemonstrative audience of adults was at once a high compilipment to Mrs. Hubbard and her tive audience of adults was at once a high compliment to Mrs. Hubbard and her assistants, and a wonderfully vivid illustration of the attractions such a method must possess to a class of young children in comparison with those ordinarily pursued. Of the dreary abstractions which pedagogy has been trying for centuries to "educate" into the delicate faculties of tender children there were none; but of the unconscious and symmetrical education of the physical, moral and intellectual faculties of the children there was enough to make many moral and intellectual faculties of the children there was enough to make many parents, we hope, hail the system with a hearty "Eureka." These practical illustrations of the kindergarten were interspersed with verbal explanations by Miss Blow, which were as interesting and as instructive as Mrs Hubbard's illustrations. To enter into any technical description here of Froebel's graduated series of "gifts" and "lines" and "sticks" would be useless, because in the first place most educationalists nowadays—including Mr Hughes, the city school inspector—are thoroughly conversant with the system; and in the second place, those of the general public who are not so favored can get only a very imperfect idea of its methods and in the second place, those of the general public who are not so favored can get only a very imperfect idea of its methods and possibilities by any such description. One supposition which led to the temporary prohibition of Freebel's system some thirty years ago by a few of the minor German states and is occasionally hinted against it yet was clearly shown to be fallacious by Miss Blow last night, namely, that it inculcated materialism or atheism. One can easily see how such an idea originates, when reading the description usually given of the system, as they are generally contined to the mere "materials" employed in the various educational processes, while their moral and spiritual phases are entirely dissociated. One can just as readily see, too, how unjust such an impression is to the kindergarten by listening to Miss Blow's explanation of its actual operation—to say nothing of her distinct statements when questioned specifically on that point. The spiritual idea—in the sense usually underscood in a christian community—is ever questioner specimanic of the speciman specimal dea—in the sense usually understood in a christian community—is ever present, and is indeed the very center of the whole system. Miss Blow gave from her own experience some very striking examples of its beneficent effects upon the lowest classes in St Louis, and showed that its application exerted a strong moral influence upon the family as well as the individual. The proceedings last evening were closed by a very hearty vote of thanks to Miss Blow and Mrs. Hubbard, which was moved by Dr. Wright and seconded by Mr. E. P. Roden, who also made a quasi official announcement that the school board was likely to move in the direction of introducing the system into the public schools.

Miss Blow and Mrs. Hubbard will continue their exposition of the kindergarden that he respectively. tinue their exposition of the kindergarden at the Normal school at 2 o'clock to-day.

It was thought that judgment would have been given in the Hall extradition case yesterday, but it appears that one of the judges is not yet ready. A decision will be given in two or three days.

The argument before the court of queen's bench in the Phipps' extradition case beg in yesterday. Dalton McCarthy, Q C, and B B Osler, Q C, appeared for the prisoner and McMartin, Q C, Hamilton, for the crown.

Mr J E Rose, Q C, on behalf of J D Nasmith, baker, Toronto, obtained an order from the queen's bench divisional court for the corporation of Toronto to show cause the corporation of Toronto to show cause why the city by law compelling bread dealers to stamp on each loaf the weight thereof, should not be quashed.

TUESDAY MORNING, NOV. 2 1882.

THE BREAD QUESTION. Attention has previously been called to the impossibility of carrying into effect with justice to the public and to the trade certain city by-laws affecting the manufacture and sale of bread. The difficulty evidently arises from no other cause than the general uselessness of such by-laws to prevent unfair dealing, or to protect such bakers as desire to do business on the square. The business of bread making is perhaps fully up to the average in facilities for crooked dealing. While a certain amount of legislation judiciously applied will in some degree prevent dishonest practices, it is impossible, in a business where there is so much variation of weight; and bulk in the materials handled, for any body of lawgivers to attempt their total eradication by a fixed code of rules. Evidently it was towards this impossible goal that our alder men were striving, when by laws 375 and 1128 referred to above were passed, or rather in the case of the latter rushed through the council. In these it is enacted that all bread sold or offered for sale in Toronto, of whatever shape, form or fashion, shall be in loaves of one pound, one pound and a half, two pounds and four pounds respectively, and also that its respective weight shall be stamped on each loaf. The penalty for non compliance with these and other regulations is twenty dollars fine and also seizure of bread not thus legally manufac ured.

That such law-giving as this when brought into practice would prove inoperative, if not a positive injury, is clearly evident to whoever takes the trouble to give the matter a serious thought. In the first place, a law compelling dealers to sell their bread in one, one and a half, two, three and four pound loaves under penalty of confiscation, will not hinder a baker whose loaves were seized to-day from making light weight tomorrow. The only serious detriment he will be under consists in a slight deterioration in popularity, which he soon regains, as is proved by the result of numerous He says that there was nothing approaching confiscations in the city.

The injustice done to the bakers in having to submit every loaf to the merciless scrutiny of an inspector is considerable. It is easy to conceive how difficult a matter it is to put a certain quantity of flour through the different processes of mixing. raising, baking, etc., to weigh a fixed and unvarying number of ounces, on being set

The stamping regulation from the outset was a decided unalloyed failure. No baker living can stamp his bread on putting it in strangely now. And this brings us to the the oven so as to depend on its coming out recognizable. And supposing it were what guarantee is there in the mere stamping of bread, that the public are getting their proper weight? And yet by neglecting to quote the last paragraph of the present stamp a single loaf the trade are liable to article : a heavy fine?

Recognizing the total inefficiency and general stupidity of such a by-law the present eral stupidity of such a by-law the present city commissioner has wisely declined to put it in force. For over a year it has remained a part of our civil code, a dead letter, yet liable to be put in force any day should Commissioner Coatsworth bereplaced by a man of less good sense. Lately, howby a man of less good sense. Lately, however, a prominent baker has determined to have the matter settled in court and disposed of once and forever. An order nisi and by Archbishop Lynch. I am equally confident that no Roman catholic would have consented at that period to be a memour aldermanic government that a Mr. Brown. Had the Marmion controprivate individual is compelled thus to seek in a law court protection from such Globe would most assuredly have taken blundering edicts as those in question. Though they have been inoperative for a whole year, owing to their utter uselessness, not a step has been taken even towards reconsidering them. They still remain and probably would ever remain for anything our aldermen have done towards removing

THE LATE HON GEORGE BROWN AND SIR

The Montreal Journal of Commerce last week contains the first of a series of articles from Sir Francis Hincks, reviewing "The Life and Speeches of Hon. George Brown," by the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie. There was a disruption of the reform party in Canada about thirty years ago, Mr. Brown taking one side and Sir Francis Hincks the other. It is of course Sir Francis' object now to show that he was right and Mr. Brown wrong on that cccasion: that is, taking the well understood principles of the reform party as the siandard of judgment. He begins with a tribute, of respect to Mr. Brown personally. and admits that it would be impossible to justify Mr. Brown without condemning himself (Sir Francis) who at a critical time took an antagonistic position questions of the first importance.

Coming to the subject proper of his criticism. Sir Francis holds that in the introduction to the "Life" injustice is done to those who were "the leaders of the popular party" prior to Mr. Brown's taking up his residence in Canada. Against them the allegation is made that they "gave comparatively little attention to the advocacy of fundamental principles of government:" to which Sir Francis replies that such "funda mental principles" were advocated by Canadian reform leaders from as far back as 1829. It is even maintained (in Mr. Mackenzie's introduction) that "the principles of responsible government were not the publication at his trial of the papers weil understood by the people, nor much of Arabi Pasha, which the khedive and the insisted on by their leaders," at the period porte have in vain tried to suppress. Arabi of Lord Metcalfe's government, and this, however, is England's prisoner and his says Sir Francis, after Mr. Baldwin had trial must be conducted in accordance with three times resigned office on that principle. English justice. If proof can be given The statement that Lord Elgin materially that Arabi is in any way responsible for influenced the policy of his ministers he the Alexandria massacre no doubt he will vigorously denies, and maintains that the be punished. But as far as the evidence as principle of responsible government through yet made public goes, there is nothing ministers was then fully carried out. Next to show that Arabi had anything life in Toronto amid a christian (?) commun. you, hatically deny that 'some very promine conservative on church questions, if, as the passage is likely to be understood, the reference is to Upper Canadian liberals. With regard to the Lower Canadian leaders, shall notice their views later. When I com menced the publication of the Toronto Examiner in 1838 with the motto, 'Responsible government and the voluntary principle,' my warmest supporters were Dr. and Mr. Robert Baldwin. During the protracted discussion of the clergy reserve bill in the session of 1839 40, when no effort was spared to obtain the consent of teformers to the division of the reserves, the Examiner fought the battle with the Christian Guardian and Colonist for complete secularization. and Mr Baldwin and all the other leading reformers approved of its course. Then followed the disallowance of the Colonial act in consequence of the opinion of the twelve judges of England, that the proceeds of the reserves already sold had been legally appropriated by the statute of 1791 to the churches of England and Scotland. The imperial act passed in 1840 was very generally believed to be a final settlement, especially as the policy of the imperial acovernment had been declared that the clergy reserve question should be settled clergy reserve question should be settled prior to the union. I have no doubt that Mr Baldwin believed that it would be impracticable to obtain the repeal of the im-perial act, and no better proof can be adduced of the prevalence of such an opinion than the fact that there was no agitation on the subject in Upper Canada until an attempt was made by the Church of Eng-land to obtain such an amendment of the Imperial act as would vest the reserved ands in the Churches of England and Scotland as corporations. It is admitted by Mr. Brown's biographer, after citing a remark of Mr Price, that 'vesting the land in colesiastical bodies was an infliction that the country could not and would not bear, 'that 'the infliction seemed for a time to be imminent,' and reasons are given for that opinion in which I entirely concur. Justice, however, is not done to Mr Baldwin and his Upper Canada colleagues who led the movement to obtain the repeal of the Imperial act and the restoration to Canada of the right to deal with the whole question of religious endowments.' Sir Francis denies that at the time of the Metcalfe crisis there was any want of concord amo: g the reform leaders of the day. to a rupture between himself and Mr. Brown until after he (Sir Francis) had ceased his connection with the press. On accepting office in 1842 he dropped connecion with the Examiner, and he took the same course again in 1848. He reproduces from the Globe of May 8, 1847, some renarks highly flattering to himself as a sturdy and consistent reformer, who took up the cause when it was at zero, and never flinched. It must be said that the Globe's eulogy of Sir Francis in 1847 reads rather pith and point of Sir Francis' contention. His main point so far is that there was a material change afterwards, not in his own views, but in those of Mr. Brown. We "I have expressed an opinion that Mr. Brown had in later years materially modified those views which caused the antagonism between him and myself during the period from 1851 to 1854. I will briefly state thirty years ago no catholic archbishop would have expressed the confidence in an administration, enjoying the support of the Globe, that was only a few days ago declara course diametrically opposite to that which it has but recently followed, one I which it has but recently followed, one I should think substantially the same as that should think substantially the same as that of Principal Grant of Queen's university. Again, thirty years ago the Globe would not have published such an article as that in its issue of the 11th inst, headed 'Protestant aid to Roman Catholic Objects.' I believe the Globe to be decidedly more liberal to day than it was in 1852, and I am moreover family convinced that at that time my own firmly convinced that at that time my own

The question as to what material change, if any, took place in Mr. Brown's views on great public questions, to what extent and in what direction—is really an important question in Canadian history. And while such reminiscences must have a special interest for the veterans of a former time of political trial and struggle who yet remain with us, they may have an interest as well for the younger generation, who look upon Canada as their country, and a country not without a history either.

Texas, like Toronto, has been having its trial for heresy. Rev. Mr. Shaw, one of the most popular of the clergy of the methodist church, has been bold enough to think or himself, and while retaining his christian faith and reverence for the bible, has examined into and has at last rejected the belief in all that is claimed to be supernatural in what are called miracles. He does not believe that the whale really swallowed Jonah, or that the ass held dialogue with the prophetic son of Teor. Hence, very justifiably, the methodist church has xpelled him. Churches to exist must have creeds, and if churches do not believe them they have their alternative, to quit the church. Nobody compelled Mr. Shaw to reason about miracles, which, like pills, are best taken at a. ewallow Mr. Shaw chose to think and reason; to chew his pill, and the process has not agreed with him.

ARABI'S VINDICATION. No more awkward revelation could have come upon the Turkish government than subscipient outrages on Europeans. On the other hand there is reason to believe that to the utmost of his power Arabi protected Suez canal from injury. We remember office last summer of Arabi's kind treatment of his son, Midshipman Dechair, then a prisoner within the Egyptian lines. Arabi was minister of war to the khedive, and his papers, now being published, show that he obeyed Tewfik's orders in resisting Admiral Seymour's bombardment and in subsequently fighting against the British invasion. All which makes it very likely that he will be made away with by some of those subtle modes of poisoning which Mr. Senior's paper on Egypt in the Fortnightly Review for 1877 shows to be so common in the country. With us it is comparatively difficult to poison a man, the natural question in case of a sudden death being, "with whom did he dine." But in Egypt, where a man drinks half a dozen cups of coffee in half a dozen houses, the poisoning business is more practicable. The oison used is of the kind called cumulative, it acts slowly, its effects are for a long time imperceptible, and when most serious simulate liver disease, for which they may easily be mistaken.

Next Monday will witness what will pro ably prove the crowning farce of the apotheosis of villainy which has for the last onth disgraced Missouri in the trial, if it can be called by a name connoting any reerence to justice, of the self-confessed murderer, bandit and desperado, Frank James. His jail life has been the ovation given by Missouri to her representative man. His cell is carpeted richly, delicacies and flowers are lavished on the prisoner; he is visited by crowds of the most hightoned people, including Governor Crittenden and his wife. The Missouri people have themselves to blame if law-abiding and respectable citizens show their state as an exceedingly undesirable field for settlement.

MR. WITHROW AND THE WORKING-

(To The Editor of The World.) SIR: The World deserves all praise for the impartiality it displays in the Withrow question. It opens its columns to both parties and publishes the result of its interview with Mr. Withrow. I presume that Mr Withrow in that interview made the best of his case and advanced the best defence of himself that he could; and when he states that "an air of mystery has been thrown around his record as an employer," he solves that mystery himself in his subsequent statement that he supposed he was regarded as a "representative employer." That is exactly the fact; and it is on that statement that the trade council is strengthened in its action and justified in its opposition. When Mr Withrow is simply an alderman he is the representative of a ward-of a section; but when Mr Withrow aspires to the office of mayor he seeks to become the

of the trade council, does so, not because his record as a city alderman is unsatisfac tory, but because on his own statement he has been the representative of the opposition party—the employers—in their resistance to the claims of the strikers.

Mr. Withrow states that he never had any special trouble with his "own men," "never any direct conflict with the carpenemployee in any way;" and as a climax to these claims to their votes, he adds that his firm has paid the highest wages to the em ployees in their service. This is perfectly clear, and it leaves the public to under stand that there is no personal antagonism, that the opposition stands on the higher ground of principle and makes all other motives subordinate. If his firm paid the highest current wages, that wa no mark of its superior liberality It made no sacrifice; it simply studied its own interests; it secured by that means the best mechanical skill at the lowest price that would be accepted and at the highest demanded by the union; and if the union would have sanctioned half the rate of wages there is no reason for be-lieving that the firm of Withrow & Hillock would have paid a cent more than the standard weges.

Mr. Withrow has not distinguished himself specially as an alderman above many of his confreres, and amongst them, there is no doubt, there are men in many respects better entitled to the honor which he seeks. Mr. Withrow's chief claim lie in the active part he has taken as a mem-ber of the exhibition committee. No doubt the exhibition by the influx of visitors to the city brought a temporary influx of money; that influx of money benefitted the hotel-keepers, the brewers, the whiskey distillers and the stores; but it is very doubtful if it benefitted the workmen; and the best that can be said of such exhi bitions is that they give an impulse to me-chanical and agricultural skill. But there is no doubt that Mr. Withrow has been fully recompensed in the prominence which his efforts secured, and in the popularity it won for him amongst the moneyed classes and those directly benefitted.

But in that very prominence Mr With-row becomes more dangercus in his antagonism with labor. Wealth always sym pathiz s with wealth; and as Mr Withrov advances higher amongst the wealth owners and classes he is stronger and better able in future contests to crush the antagonisms of labor.

I repeat, Mr Editor, what I advanced in my first letter this is not a political question with the workmen. Mr Withrow himself "deplores the introduction of politics in municipal matters." Let the workmen then unite and show at once that they are matching with Mr. Withraw in this they sympathize with Mr Withrow in this last sentiment, and are determined to exalt principle above party polities in civic affirs by voting against the man who re sisted their just claims, and who, in their trials, when they exhibited the highest moral qualities, implied by invoking the protection of the police, that they were capable of crime, of arson, of robbery and TYPO.

LAW AND GOSPEL.

(To the Editor of The World.) SIE: The deceased Thomas Carlyle was a worshipper of force, a believer in the god of battles. How he would have enjoyed the lives of all Europeans, and secured the distrust of all such trivialities as reason, Mr. Dechair's account when he visited our ness of life, lived and taught by the man Christ Jesus.

Is it the temperance question which is under consideration ?-then straightway we agitate for a law to prohibit the sale of liquor, leaving its manufacture free, in hope that by force we can prevent its sale after it is made; or at least compel its export to other countries.

Do we seek to inculcate morality and sound moral principles? The way we find to do it is to clamor for legal enforcement of bible reading in our schools. Yet well we know, or might know, that a man may read the bible regularly all his life, and only use its divine truths to cloak his sins and make the bible regularly are supplied and make the state of of himself a more accomplished and success ful hypocrite.

Do we desire to stop insolvency in trade

We take the simple, easy and eminently rational method of enacting that law shall cease to recognize the possibility of an such event. Legal force, we are sure, sufficient to make a man pay 100 cents on the dollar when his assets have suddenly shrunk to 60 cents. Of course it does it. Who shall dare to say we are piling up roten business which must reveal itself soon or later?

Suddenly become virtuous, do we cry out Suddenly become virtuous, do we cr, out against financial speculation. Then at once we clamor for legal force to rid us of the supply of men, blinded by dishonest selfishness, whose folly makes such speculation possible. Make the thing illegal, we say, and it will cease out of the land. What nonsense! Do theft, fraud, forgery, etc. although illegal, cease to exist among us? The exposure which speculation has had will save many a one from entering on any parts. Any new enactment prohibitsuch paths. Any new enactment prohibiting it would only be evaded by new methods ing it would only be evaded by new methods, as former ones have been, so long as public morality remains so sunken as to deem it right to make money by causing others to lose, wasting time and energy in producing nothing of use to the community. Speculation is gambling, and men should be let tree to do it and take the consequences. It is the quickest method of teaching them. All sensible men are slow to credit a gambler, or an institution which lives by supler, or an institution which lives by supporting gamblers. Threw light on these hem. Expose three-card monte to the Do we seek to suppress the social evil?
Legil force again becomes our panacea for moral reform. We have but to find of make a man degraded enough to frequent these places so that he may give evidence, and then surprise them by a raid. It is a small matter to do evil, if only good be our aim. That such a course is neither maller matter. -Texas Siftings Californians find the cultivation of walnut trees as a regular crop extremely profitable. Ten years growth produces a tree twenty inches in di-meter. Why should not other states find remuneration in walnut-tree culture? The demand for the wood for manufacturing purposes is as great in other sections as in California.

A father at Hudson, Mass., punished his sixteen year old daughter for some offence. He stripped her to the waist, and fasten-ing her securely to a ladder, whipped her on the bare back with a leather lash till the blood came. When this was known to his neighbors they were so enraged that he had to fly to escape being lynched.

In the Evangelist Rev Theodore L Cuyler speaks of Daniel Webster as "an example and warning to young men not to assassinate their brains with the bottle." And yet there are men, both young and old, who, if they were assured of making Daniel Websters of themselves by assassinating their b:ains with a bottle, would willingly ply that singular weapon night and day. All stories respecting Sir Garnet Wolseley are interesting just now, says the London Truth. It appears that he is fond, like Napoleon, of addressing himself directly to the soldiers under his command. "Now, my man," he said, "if you were told to highten your kit by half a pound what should you throw away?" "The Soldier's Pocket Companion," answered the man as he respectfully saluted his commander.

The first fleur mill in Minneapolis was built in 1860, and in that year the ship. ments of flour were 30,000 barrels, in 1872 they were 585,000 barrels, and in 1881 3,142,974 barrels. This quantity of wheat ground into flower in 1881 was 16,500,000 bushels, being 2,500,000 bushels more than the entire receipts at Chicago in that year. The foreign export of flour from Minneapolis began in 1877 with 109 183 barrels, and amounted in 1881 to 1,181,324 barrels. The products of the minufacturers for the year were valued at $15,000,000.

John Brown, having been sent the other day at Balmoral by the queen in quest of the lady in waiting, who happened to be the Duchess of Athole, suddenly stumbled against her. "Hoot, mam," said J. To which the queen replied with cutting severiy; "And pray, what are you?" All the ladies in waiting and ladies of the bedchamber have a deadly hatred of John Brown.

One of the Chinese students formerly at Hartford was understood to have been deeply enamored of a girl whom he met in so-ciety there, and to have had some expecta-tion of winning her But he writes back from China that he is involuntarily a husband. He found, on returning home, that his parents had chosen a wi'e for him. "I tried to break it off," he says, "but with out success, as the Chinese consider an enout success, as the Chinese consider an engagement of marriage the most sacred contract. If it is once made, it can never be broken. According to the Chinese custom the younger brother cannot marry before an elder one. I have two younger brothers who have to wait for me to marry before who have to wait for me to marry before they can. Therefore I was urged very strongly by my relatives to marry right away, so I consented. Of course it is not a love affair, but I shall try to do my duty."

TO THE MAN WHO THINKS

INSURANCE.

Suppose a wealthy man of your acquaintance, one whose word and whose ability to carry out his promises you placed full confidence in proposed to sell you a valuable farm, werth at this time, say $10,000, and would sell it to you as being an exceptionally healthy man, on a credit running through ten years, with a certain equal amount payable each veen of the ten, and that it was in your power to apply that sum each year to the payment required. Suppose further, that this friend said: You can make these yearly payments for any number of the ten years that you please, and if you see fit, for any cause, to stop these payments at the end of any of the years short of the ten, after two years have been paid for! I will make you a deed of the land in the proportion you have paid for; and, further, I agree to give you, at the end of each year, while you are making these payments, the annual profits, earnings, or dividends as the farm, and, each year; and he assures you that these earnings or dividends as the farm may earn that year; and he saure you that these earnings or dividends will probably increase each year, and materially reduce the amount of your annual payment, and that the farm in that ten years shall not be subject to onerous city, country, or town teachion, nor be liable for your debts, and he further guarantees that at the end of the ten years the farm shall be worth exactly $10,000. He then says: Take this offer and I will further bind myself and guarantee to you that if you keep up your annual payments, and die ANY TIME within those ten years, and before all the payments are made, that in such case, I will deliver or pay over to your heirs or administrator, or to any person you may will or devise it to, THE ENTIRE FARM, or $10,000 IN GOLD Coin, and require no further payments on the same. WOULD YOU NOT BUY A FARM UNDER SUCH CIRCUMSTANCES?

This is a fair sample illustration of a Ten Year Endowment in the ÆTNA LIFE INSURANCE COMAPAY OF HARTFORD. This is a fair sample illustration of a Ten Year Endowment in the Erna Lipe Insurance Compary of Hartford.

To save money for old age or for our families in case of death, is what all strive for, but outside of Endowment Insurance there is no certainty. Debts, endorsements, bad partnerships or failures, our instortunes or follies, all are so many trape lying in our way through life. Happy the man that can encape them all—to expect it is to expect too much. With all the rest of your investments, would it not be well to make one small one that may prove the BEST you ever made, and the one that shall at any time guarantee your family a support, or provide for your own old age. The thought that misfortune may come upon us, (and who is safe, positively safe,) reducing wife and children to want, is too painful. But add old age to this and it is unbearable. The wise man provides in time.

You may say, you have a Farm; is it certain you will always have one? You are a Mechanic: is it certain that the cunning of your hands will always provide for you? You are a Mechanic: is it certain that to cunning of your hands will always provide for you? You are a professional man: is it certain that you are above misfortunes? Do you know your brain will never eafle? Poes not the old man commit financial follies that sate middle age he would have deemed impossible? Now, grant that at .60 or 70 years of age, you will surely have a competence; that in a wonderful manner you will have escaped the thousand and one misfortunes in your way. If you had insured, it would have but added to your wealth; if financially unfortunate, it would have saved you from ruin! THINK OF THIS.

A Considerate Arkansan From the Arkansaw Traveler.

Probably the politest and most considerate man who ever lived was General Brads. bale of Arkansaw. Some time ago, boarding a train, he perceived his son, whom he had not seen for twenty years, occupying a seat, reading. The old gentleman sat down immediately behind the young man. After the train had gone about thirty miles the young man laid aside his newspaper, and, discovering his father, seized the old man with affectionat; warmth. "Why didn't you let me know that you was on the train father ?" "Because," replied the old gen father?" "Because," replied the old gentleman, 'I saw that you were reading, and I did not wish to disturb—" "That would have made no difference." "And "Ard besides," continued the father, "I thought that you might want to borrow a few dol-

Three or four days before election a Baltimore lawyer made a politi-cal speech in a country village, Being a red-hot republican he naturally gave the democratic party the best he had, and among other thiugs asserted that in case of democratic success the country would have to pay the confederate bonds. Two or three days after election a man walked not the lawyer's office opened a valies and Boswell, that a by-law be introduced to into the lawyer's office, opened a valise and took from it $920,000 of reb bonds and said: "What are they worth?" "Four cents a pound." "But the democratic party has triumphed." "What of that?" "But won't the country have to pay the bonds?" "New country have to pay the country have the countr who listened to your speech went and voted the democratic ticket in order to realize on our bonds you now tell me that you didn't mean what you said !'

Catarrh-A New Treatment.

From the Weekly (Toronto) Mail, Aug. 24.

Perbaps the most extraordinary success that has been achieved in modern medicine has been attained by the Dixon treatment for catarrh. Out of two thousand patients treated during the past six months fully ninety per cent have been cured of this stubborn malady. This is none the less startling when it is remembered that not five per cent of patients presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are benefited, while the patent medicines and other advertised cures never record a cure at all. Starting with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissue. Mr. Dixon at once adapted his cure to their extermination—this accomplished, he claims the catarrh is practically cured and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures effected by him two years ago are cured start. The application of the remedy is simple and can be done at home, and the present season of the year is the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being eurod at one treatment. Sufferers should correspond with Mr. A. H. Dixon, 305 and 307 King street weet, Toronto, Canada, and enclose stamp for his treatment. From the Weekly (Toronto) Mail, Aug. 24.

Murrich in the chair. There were present Alds. Turner, Booth, Blevins, Kent, Maughan, Adamson, Love, Clarke, Scarth, Hallam, Irwin, Defoe, Ryan, Evans, Tur-ner, Sheppard, Bell, Farley and Trees. Communications were read from the lord bishop of Toronto asking for a grant of land in the Island park for a site for a church and parsonage. From Delamere, Black, Reesor and Keefer claiming $5000 for Messrs. Elliot & Co. for damages done to their premises on Beverley, P. cebe and Soho streets in consequence of alterations of the grade of those streets. alterations of the grade of those streets. From the acting commissioner on inland revenues acknowledging the receipt of a p-tition from the council respecting the quality of gas furnished to the city. From Grorge A. Cox, president of the Midland railway company, acknowledging the receipt of a memorial from the city regarding an eastern passenger station, also from the Grand Trunk and Northern railways saving that they would give this matter saying that they would give this matter full consideration and report to the council

Petitions were read from Joseph Bowers praying for an appointment on the fire brigade, from Christopher Moore for a share of chimney sweeping, from W. J. Esgan praying for permission to erect a building within the western market for the sale of feed, from Robert Wilson against erecting a hay shed in the cattle market.

A statement of the taxes to be levied for 1883, as passed by the court of revision, was read from the city clerk, It reads as

The council then went into a committee on the whole to consider the report of the executive and other committees, Alderman Carlyle in the chair. Ald Booth, in reference to the report of the committee on property, which recommended the grant of part of the eastern park for the purpose of erecting an industrial school, said he could not see why park property should be let.

Ald Blevins said it is done every day.
Ald Boswell said this land is now used only for a cow pasture, and if the industrial ol be started the grounds would become b-autified, and as a consequence the park extended. Besides all this the school will do mach good and ought to recommend

The probable adoption of this system by the public schools of the city makes it a matter of great interest.

Hazael, the champion walker of the world, said to a New York reporter, in the course of conversation: "St. Jacob's Oil is a wonderful medicine; I'st. Dacob's Oil is a wonderful medicine; I'd not know what pedestrians would do without it, for it is nly not to go against it but to give it their hearty support.

Ald. Davies then wanted to know why he term of lease could not be limited to five years.

Ald Boswell answered that one of the Ald Dosweii auswered that one of the clauses on which the lease would be granted is that the property shall revert to the city at any time if not used for the purposes designed. Ald Davies' amendment that the property be released for five years was ost, and the original motion carried. In reference to the clause of the property committee referring to the releasing of the property of Messrs Hay & Co, and to valuing it en block, Ald Low moved that it be struck out. Ald Poswell said that Messrs Hay & Co have been the largest employers of labor in the city, and if the other manufacturers had any desire to oppose thisle se we would have received more than one petition us as public men if we drove out of our city such men as Messrs Hay & Co. Ald. Low said it was a very bad principle for the council to instruct the arbitrators for they would receive all information from the solicitors of both parties, Ald. Clark moved as an amendment that the clause of the report which recommended the council to instruct the arbitrators be Some men don't seem to understand the struck out. The clause as thus amended difference between political assertions and business facts. Three or four days before Alderman Boswell then moved, seconded

Ald. Clarke suggested that the most income he had also most income. meetings be held alternately in the afternoon and evening.

Ald. Defoe—"We would then have night and day aldermen."

Ald Geo M Evans thought this was the proper time to make the change. Many good men, he said, would not run as candidates for aldermen since the council meets in the evening. Let, therefore, the future aldermen know at what hour they

Ald Ryan said he thought that if the council met in the afternoon the business would be more thoroughly transacted, since now oftimes very important business is hurried over as it approaches 11 o'clock. The original clause that a by law be introduced for the council to meet every alternate Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock instead of 7 in the evening was then amended by Ald Turner for every Monday. This was adopted.

The council then adjourned.

Kidney Disease. Pain, irritation, retention, in continence, deposits, gravel, etc., cured by "Buchu-paiba," $1. Banking Affairs in the Dominion.

The banking inflation in Canada continues to attract considerable attention and has been the subject of no little discussion in the newspaper press. It is discovered by a leading newspaper that we are passing vant girls. Apply T. UTTLEY, 57 Queen st. East. through a period of inflation. Another devotes a column and a half of its space, bristling with statistics, to show that "the situation is one which demands the gravest consideration and the promptest action upon the part of all business men." alarming rapidity with which the people of Canada are getting into debt is a text for a much needed homily by a third, and if that people are not saved from the consequences of their own folly it will not be for quences of their own folly it will not be for the want of warning on the part of those watchmen on the towers, the newspaper press. But there is, as yet, no signs of any increased caution on the part of bankers. On the contrary, the current loans to the public, which in August had reached the unprecedented amount of $170.-375.289, increased in September another four and a half millions of dollars, while the liabilities increased three and a half the liabilities increased three and a half millions in the same time. Neither is there any attempt at strengthening the gold re-serves. The Bank of British North Amerserves. The Bank of British North America maintains a gold reserve in Canada and New York of some 40 per cent on its liabilities, the Bank of Montreal of about 35, and the gold reserve of the rest of the banks ranges from three to fifteen per cent. Under these circumstances it is not easy to see where a sudden demand for gold to settle European balances might land us. And that such a demand is by no means a remote probability is the opinion of many prominent bankers. The harvest was more than an average one, but the limited foreign demand and consequent low prices are preventing it from being exported to meet our foreign liabilities. These liabilities, too, are heavier than usual. The imports for the year ending 30th June last were $14,000,000 more than those of the previous year. These than those of the previous year. These will have to be paid for shortly and, un-less grain comes forward more rapidly than it is now doing, will have to be paid for in gold. If the demand should come with the gold. It the demand should come with the close of navigation, which seems only too probable, the six or seven millions of gold held by the banks will disappear like snow in summer. The small handful of gold held in summer. The small handful of gold held by government will vanish into thin air. The banks will apply to the government for gold which the government will not have to give them, and the government will appeal in vain to the banks for the return of the twenty millions on deposit there. The consequence of building a house of cards will be plainly visible, and a deluded people will have cause to regret the day when they entrusted a needy ministry with the power to issue notes for circulation. A retired financier—the father of the Canadian greenback system, is credited with the scheme which has not worked well, which means, of course, that it is unsound in

The unprecedented success which has attended the efforts of the proprietor of the above Institution, together with those of his medical associates is simpl, incomparable. Patients are now visiting the Institution from all parts of the Dominion, also from the Eastern and Middle States, while not a few are being treated from the extreme west. The inhalation system of practice is so simple, yet philo ophical in its effects, that physicians and patients are readily convinced of the superiority of this system of practice above all others in all the various complicated diseases of the respiratory organs. And readily convinced of the superiority of this system of practice above all others in all the various complicated diseases of the respiratory organs. And such has been the success of Dik. WILLIAMS in his efforts to render even Tubercular Consumption a curable disease, both in Canada and the United States, that not a physician in all the land can be found who is willing to testify that consumption cannot be cued, simply from the stero fact that there are to-day thousands upon thousands of living witnesses to this very fact. What mo e can we ask? Why should the sufferer become despondent while there are to-day thousands upon thousands of living witnesses to this very fact. What mo e can we ask? Why should the sufferer become despondent while there are so many who can testify as to the efficacy of this mode of treatment in diseases of the lungs?

I have seen so many case of consump ion cured that I do not consider any case as necessarily hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved, and ever then the patient should make every effort to arrest the disease, for in many cases even cavities of the lungs are known to heal, and a smooth cicatrix form, and the sofferer absolutely restored to permanent health. I would, therefore, urge that those who desire treatment should spend no time in writing; if you can come to the Institute this month or this week it may be of the greatest possible value to you; it may be the turning point of your disease for fatality or recovery. Later in the season probably you cannot come more conveniently nor as well.

BREAKFAST.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural aws which govern the operations of digestion and autition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selecte of Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy dectors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourisned frame."—Civil Service Gazetic.
