Incorporation.

In our article last week we confined our remarks to the question of the ease with which incorporation is compared with that incurred under present management, and we established the fact that increased taxation need not be a necessary consequence of incorporation.

—Patrol Clark's last missionary poem, published in the New York Messenger, is one of the best ever published in any of the provincial legislatures. This is a slow and clumsy way of doing business. It is necessary for us to take as much care as we can to get our business done in the most efficient manner possible.

—California Lumber Manufacturers in 1890. Published in the New York Messenger.

—Capt. Peter McKay, formerly of this town, and for many years proprietor of the daily paper in the station of the contemplated loan, would urge that the time for the ultimate redemption of the bonds should be set at 20, 30, or 40 years so that the burden should not fall in full upon the present generation. —The Annapolis Society has the following to say in reference to the action taken by our townspeople respecting the business of J. B. Reed & Sons.

—The action of Bridgetown with reference to the manufactory of J. B. Reed and Sons is worthy of every commendation and which evidently led to the closing of the manufactory of J. B. Reed & Sons, which has become quite a community in itself.

—This action of Mr. Reed's townspeople should be looked upon as a commendable one in the light of a compliment to himself, for commencing with the manufactory of J. B. Reed & Sons has been a business of which Bridgetown has boasted and prided for years, and the people are evidently determined that it shall not now go to the wall. The town will also express much sympathy with the payment of water rates. Good! That's the right spirit, Bridgetown!

—The difference touching the fishing Her farly question is not yet adjusted. Her offer of extension to the 15th of Dec. has not been accepted, because the form of submission proposed is not satisfactory to either party. To those who have favored us, we will be followed by their reading on other localities.
