BOOKS.

Are not companions—they are solitudes:
We lose ourselves in them and all our cares.
A learned writer says of Books—"They are masters who instruct us without rods or ferules, without words or anger, without bread or money. If you approach them, they are not asleep; if you seek them, they do not hide; if you blunder, they do not scold; if you are ignorant, they do not laugh at you."

History of the War with Russia, with full details of the operations of the allied Armies in the Crimea, the Black Sea, the Baltic, etc. By Henry Tyrrell.

Now that the smoke has fairly cleared away from our late battle-fields in the East, and we are able to view the whole theatre of our struggle with the Crimea calmly and with a clear eye, we feel the need of a thoroughly correct history of the events which took place in connection with it—some established authority, upon whose statements we can rely—for by no other means can we judge fairly and impartially of the war. There are many histories without number, written by all sorts of men and containing all sorts of incidents, which, if possessing the merit of truth, are jumbled so confusedly together, that they leave no set of ideas in the mind of the reader as to the scope, beginning, or end of the campaign. They have been too much in a hurry to give a strictly faithful narrative. "Facts" and "Alms" have been scattered about them and a thousand things which should not go unrecorded, yet of which comparatively speaking we know nothing from their works. Many rely with the most implicit confidence on information extracted from letters of correspondents from the seat of war, penned, in reality, by those who never saw more of Russia than the fellow by whose light they concoct their productions, or the hump which they may sometimes be fortunately straggled. Lecturers have declaimed on this "war and its causes," panoramas have opened our eyes to what the thing was like; we have had "Russian Wars" in dozens of styles of binding, with plates and without—all very interesting and affording us a great deal of disjointed information, but still in many necessary points leaving us as wise as we were before. In the work whose name stands at the head of this article the author has evinced more discrimination and judgment in his statements and in their selection; the most indisputable authority for their correctness; the description are given in terse and elegant language, and a clear, consecutive chain of events established from the first Russian aggression to the treaty of peace. It is precisely what has been wanting, and will eventually rank as the standard history of the war. Portraits of distinguished generals, statesmen and crowned heads, together with maps and views of all the places rendered famous by the war, profusely illustrate the work. A valuable presentation plate accompanies the completion of the work.—Yarmouth Tribune.

The Universal Pronouncing Dictionary, edited by T. Wright A. M. A complete Literary, Scientific, Classical, and Geographical Standard, and General Repository of the English Language.

The above, issued in serial form, the first numbers of which we have carefully looked over, we believe to be the most complete of all works of the kind. Nothing which could possibly enhance its value in any form seems to have escaped the eye of the indefatigable editor, who is acknowledged as one of the leading "solid" literary men of Great Britain. All the scientific terms employed in the language, and which are seldom found in dictionaries except in a disconnected manner, are here explained with the derivation of all doubtful words, and the best pronunciation. The definitions are terse and clear, and afford all the useful information without that superfluousness which characterizes many authorities. One of its most valuable features, however, is the biographical portion, which contains sketches of all eminent historical persons, illustrated with portraits. Each number contains a beautifully colored map, with fine steel illustrations. It is, take it all in all, a most valuable work, and one which no student should be without.—Yarmouth Tribune.

Sore on Horse's Ear. Correspondent of the Maine Farmer, in reply to an inquiry by another correspondent for a cure of a bad sore on a horse's shoulder, gives the following prescription:

Time and land are the best application to old, bad sores, of any kind, that I know, especially if the bone is any affected.

Take good stone lime, slake dry, and sift through a fine sieve. Put the flour in a bottle, cork tight, and keep it in a dark place from the light and air, and it will keep good for years.—Take one part of lime to three parts of flour, in bulk, and mix them well, cold, and apply a proper quantity to the sore, twice a day, and cleanse well each time with soap and water. If the sore extends below the outward opening, it must be opened to the bottom, or it will not heal sound. If the bone is affected, the sore probably will not heal, and ought not to, till the bone shall be healed. Some healed under this treatment always heal sound. If fungus be in the sore, this ointment will clear it all out, and keep it out.

The above proportions are about right, but the applicant will soon learn to vary them if necessary.—Some allowances will be necessary for the different strength of the lime.

Wonders of Calculating Machine.—The attention of the learned world is now engrossed, says the Independent Register, by a new invention, which promises to be of universal usefulness. Mr. Thomas of Calcutta, after thirty years of hard study and anxious labor, has at last solved the problem of calculation by a machine. His machine, which he has baptized "arithmetron," is applicable to the mechanical solution of all arithmetical operations, from the simplest to the most complicated ones. This instrument does, with infallible correctness, not only the four rules—addition, subtraction, multiplication and division—but also ascertains the powers of quantities, extracts the roots of numbers, resolves triangles, reduces ordinary and decimal fractions, and defines the rules of proportion, etc. Its rapidity of execution is such as to defy the ablest calculator. A multiplication of eight numbers with eight numbers is executed in eighteen seconds; a division of sixteen ciphers through eight ciphers in twenty-four seconds. The machinery is so simple that after the explanation of its various parts of instruction, the most ignorant head knows enough at calculation to defy with its help all calculators, in rapidity and correctness. The "arithmetron" is placed in a small, light box, which can be easily carried in the pocket, and is so constructed that its mechanism can scarcely ever be deranged. It is already in operation in several great commercial houses, the house of Rothschild, and in the Palais of France, and it will soon be as common as paper.

A King Word.—If a child word or two will render a man happy, he must be a wretch indeed who will not give them to him. Such a disposition is like lighting another man's candle by one's own, which does none of its brilliancy by what the other gains. If all mankind possessed this feeling, how much happier would the world be than it now is!

 the rustic, who seldom leaves his native woods. We think it the duty of those engaged in a business which has a tendency to promote the enjoyment of society, to give extensive publicity to such a business; for by so doing they are not only conferring a benefit on themselves and their posterity, but also extending a privilege to their fellow beings, by providing those unacquainted with the city with such information as may lead them, without incurring loss of time and other annoyances, to those places of business where they will not have old fashioned and inferior goods palmed off on them at exorbitant rates.

In accordance with the foregoing principles we have got up this sheet, hoping that the information contained in its columns, will prove amply sufficient to induce those parties receiving a copy to preserve it for future reference. It will also serve as a chart, or directory to many of the leading places of business in this city.

To Advertisers we would remark, that we purpose publishing a similar sheet from time to time, as occasions may serve, deeming that such an extensive circulation may prove mutually beneficial.

THE WAR WITH PERSIA.

White Statesmen and Politicians throughout the world, are freely discussing the probable results involved in the present difficulty with Persia, perhaps a brief summary or abstract of the past history of this Ancient, and once powerful Monarchy, as well as that of our British India possessions, may not at the present time be uninteresting to some of our readers.
 Although Persia does not occupy a very extensive space on the Map of Nations; and although she is shorn of her ancient grandeur and strength; yet from the hostile position she has lately assumed against our "Fatherland," there is an additional prestige given to her history, which now envelops her past and present history.

Persia has been known at different times under Media and Parthia. By reference to the map of Asia, it will be seen that on the North it is bounded by Independent Tartary, the Caspian Sea and the Russian Territories; on the East by Afghanistan or Cabool and Beloochistan; on the South and South East, by the Sea of Oman and the Persian Gulf; and on the West by Turkey in Asia.
 Its area comprises about 450,000 English square miles.

Persia appears to have been originally inhabited by several independent tribes; but in the days of Abraham a c 1921, that nation of Modern Persia known as Elam or Susiana was a powerful Monarchy.

The history of Persia from this period is fraught with much interest—it is a history of the overthrow of dynasties and the uprearing of others in their stead—a record of the deeds of successive ambitious Adventurers who by their prowess and bravery in war, set aside preceding Governments and reigned for a time in barbaric grandeur; but the mighty Revolutions that took place under their guidance were similar to those of more modern times,—too frequently baptized in blood and horror. Want of space obliges us to omit the details we had prepared for the "Literary Register" in order that we may devote more attention to our British India Possessions, which will doubtless prove more deeply interesting to the majority of our Nova Scotia readers: We would however observe "en passant" that it is with regret we pass over the times of Cyrus, Alexander the Great, Artaxerxes or the "Great Lion," Nasherwan the magnificent and a host of other men of talent who raised Persia to a higher degree of power and prosperity than it has ever since attained. But those names are familiar with every student of ancient history; we will therefore proceed to note down what more immediately refers to the present era. About the year A. D. 1722 a celebrated Adventurer by the name of Nadir Kooli raised himself to the Shah of Persia, and drove the Turks and Russians from Georgia, and the districts on the Caspian which had been taken from Persia.
 He died in 1747 having established the dynasty which still holds the throne of Persia. Until the close of the last Century, Persia had no diplomatic relations with Western Europe. In 1764 the Afghans threatened a descent on British India with 100,000 men. The Marquis Wellesley, then Governor General of India, instead of marching an army into the snowy mountains and desiles of Afghanistan, at least 500 miles from his resources, sent Major (afterwards Sir John) Malcolm on a mission to Persia, subsidized the Shah and urged an attack on the Afghans by the Persian Army.

Zemnun Shah the Afghani ruler finding his dominions attacked, and his army menaced in the rear, returned to his own Country and left the British Provinces unmolested; since that period until the late disturbance the sovereigns of Great Britain and of Persia, have been in friendly alliance; the troops of the Shah have been disciplined by British Officers, and large sums of money have been paid as subsidies to the Persian Government Persia has since the commencement of the present century been twice engaged in war with Russia. The Shah has lost thereby some of his finest territories on the Caspian, & been placed at the mercy of the Czar.
 We deem it unnecessary here to dwell on the absorbing thirst for dominion that has given tone to the character of Russian Rulers for ages past. The avarice that has prompted them to overlook the boundaries of neighboring nations is patent to the world, and doubtless the vast resources and wealth of British India have often occupied their thoughts.

BRITISH INDIA.—In proceeding to treat briefly our British India possessions, we feel impelled to remark that no language would do justice to the varied and magnificent scenery of the great Peninsula, or as it is commonly called Hindoostan; partaking as it does of the richly luxuriant and wildly romantic; here interminable plains, there inaccessible mountains, whose immeasurable summits are wreathed in perpetual snow; on the one hand an almost boundless landscape, verdant with the softness of perpetual spring; on the other rugged Alpine steppes, bordered by vast and towering forests; mountainous ranges on this shore, presenting a stupendous barrier to the Indian Ocean, while on that a low and sandy alluvium seems to invite the further encroachments of the deep and stormy Bay of Bengal.

Indeed the features of British India are so varied, that to convey an adequate idea of them would require volumes.

In order to give some idea of the magnitude of these vast regions, we would observe that the part held in trust by the East India Company for the British Crown, irrespective of the lately acquired Countries on the Punjab and in Scinde, is about 314,190 square miles—ten times the size of England; besides which there are in India, territories under the protection of the British Crown, whose extent is estimated at 1,128,000 square miles.

The earliest authentic European account of Hindoostan is given of Alexander's army, which the Macedonian Chief pushed across the different rivers of the Punjab without however reaching the Ganges. At this period a considerable portion of India was subject to the Persian Monarchy. Afterwards the disciples of Mahomet made the Hindus tributary to their all pervading sway; finally the subject of the victorious Moslems headed by Tamerlane, extended their conquests from the Irish and Volga to the Persian Gulf, and from the Ganges to the Eastern Archipelago. A century after the death of Tamerlane, the Portuguese appeared on the coast of India, and soon obtained a amount of influence over the other nations then trading on this Coast.

At one time they levied tribute on 150 native princes, and claimed and exercised a power to sweep from the Indian Seas every European vessel that sailed without their permission.
 The Dutch afterwards stripped the Portuguese of many of their possessions, and the enterprising spirit of the English was not long behind in establishing a trade in the Eastern Hemisphere, and shortly after when the trade of the Portuguese and Dutch declined, the French became powerful rivals of the English.

The first Charter for the incorporation of the East India Company was granted by Queen Elizabeth. To this Company England owes the acquisition of a large part of British India.

GOVERNMENT IN ENGLAND.—The Court of Directors of the East India Company under the control of an Indian Board representing the Crown. IN INDIA—A Governor General of all India aided by a small council nominated by the authorities in England. At Madras and Bombay there are local Governors, who under the control of the Governor General.—In the newly acquired territories of the Punjab and Scinde there are Chiefs under the direction of the Governor General.

The Revenue of British India is about £20-000,000 sterling per annum—the public debt is about £40,000,000 sterling.

The people of British India pay not only the whole of its Local expenses; but also ten per cent dividend on £6,000,000, the nominal Capital of the East India Company.

They pay the salaries of the President and Secretary of the India Board, and the whole establishment of Clerks at Cashon Row; they pay even the expenses of the Grand Banquets given at the London Tavern to distinguished Civil and Literary men, and it is estimated that the Remittances of British India to England for the last 50 years, have been nearly two hundred millions Sterling, of which not a shilling has gone back to India.

The population of this vast Country is vaguely estimated to contain about 200,000,000 of British subjects, irrespective of about 50,000, 000 tributaries and feudatory Allies. Education is being rapidly extended in many parts; especially in the vicinity of large cities.

Calcutta is the seat of the Supreme Government of British India. In 1717 it was a straggling village; but under the dominion of England it has grown into a "City of Palaces" and contains about 1,000,000 inhabitants. India is said to have one of the best organized and disciplined Armies in the world, consisting to times of peace of 195,000 to 200,000 regular troops, in the usual proportions of Artillery, Cavalry and Infantry. The Europeans are about one fourth the proportion of native troops, but every regular native Regiment is officered by Europeans.—The Annual cost of the Anglo Indian Army is about £10 000 000 Sterling, which is paid by the people of India. The Chief productions of this remarkable Country are Indigo, Silk, Cotton, Sugar, Coffee, Pepper, Saltpeetre, Tobacco, Tea, Iron, Copper, Lead, Antimony, Plumbago, Zinc, sulphur, Silver and Gold, together with inexhaustible supplies of Coal.

The foregoing will serve to give an idea of the resources of British India; it has been justly termed "the Casket" which contains the greatest treasures of the British Crown; and can it be at all surprising that England should buckle on her armour when she finds such a treasure threatened? From the page of History we learn that a feeble nation or even a single individual may do much harm when engaged in a bad cause; a Robespierre could devastate the fair regions of France—light up her cities, with the torch of civil discord, demolish those temples dedicated to the Deity, and lay thousands of her citizens warm reeking in the blood of butchered innocence.

And in the case of the present difficulty it requires no remarkable strength of judgment to perceive that Persia is but an instrument in the hands of Russia. Aggression has been the policy of Russian Czars for ages past Persia has long been encouraged by Russia to go to war with the independent principality of Herat which is the Key to Afghanistan, and consequently to the North Western provinces of British India, and would serve as a basis for Russian Military operations against India.— England knowing this made the Shah of Persia sign a treaty binding himself and his successors not to molest Herat; to carry his point the Emperor of Russia made a treaty offensive and defensive with Persia, promising to supply the Shah with men whenever he went to War; the result has been Persia has disregarded her treaty with England; Herat has been besieged by the Russo Persian Army, and reduced. The Key to India therefore now lies in the Czar's pocket. What may be the final result we do not presume to foretell; but we ardently trust that the ominous cloud again looming up in the Eastern Horizon, may be dissipated by sound and enlightened wisdoms but if the "Great Ruler of Events" permits the shrill clarion of War to resound the call "to Arms," we feel inclined to believe that under the Guiding Hand of Providence the present difficulty may terminate in disseminating the more genial influences of civilization, by dispelling the murky clouds of ignorance, that still shrouds the minds of the larger portion of the inhabitants of the Eastern World with reference to the benign principles of true Christianity. The "day of small things" is rapidly passing away. The "signs of the times" declare in emphatic language that the Empire of our Fatherland is entering its "Age of Motion, Progress, and its watchwords which now fill the azure vault of heaven, with their soul stirring accents and make Humanity's heart bound with fresh & quickened impulses; and under these mighty impulses nations and Hemispheres are being united together by the electric chain, and the forked lightning rendered tamely subservient to the will of man.— Surely when the great forces of Infinite Nature are thus being brought in daily requisition by the comparatively untaxed faculties of man, we may safely hazard the opinion that the influences emanating from those powers will help to extend knowledge rapidly throughout the Earth, by opening up fields of study and delight for man's intellectual nature,—by teaching individuals and nations, to rise superior to national animosities,—by showing the inhabitants of the Earth that as we are all descended from one common parentage, we should also live in one universal Brotherhood, and thus transform a world steeped in sin and misery, into an Eden of enjoyment and happiness. Who is there that cannot exult in prospect of such an era? there may be Wars and rumors of Wars previous to the ushering in of that day, but come it must since prophetic inspiration declares it. And since the Sun never sets on Britain's "wide domains," we may naturally expect, that so long as barbarous and aggressive nations border on those domains, to bear the declaration forth from the August throne of Old England "Stay the Aggressor."

England has a destiny to fulfil;—she has long served as a Beacon light to surrounding nations, and so long as she places her trust and confidence in the "God of Armies"—Nations may assail her vast dominions, Empires may lift up the standard of Rebellion against her, but all their base attempts will fall as powerless before her might as the angry foam that is dashed against her rock bound coast by the tempestuous billows of a storm swept Ocean.

THE ADVERTISING PRINCIPLE.

The agencies of Steam and the Telegraph are all important at the present day. But valuable and potent as are the advantages derived from these instrumentalities, the policy of Advertising is no less important to the commercial world. It is now a rare occurrence for a person in business to become extensively known and prove signally prosperous, who neglects the great medium of communication with his fellow countrymen, "THE PUBLIC PRESS." If a person be engaged in a business of which he has no reason to be ashamed, then we can see no reason why he should not let it be known to the world, especially if the extensive sale of his commodities should confer any benefit either by enlarging the understanding, cultivating the judgment, refining the taste, or adding to the happiness and comfort of his fellow beings.

In this sphere of existence, no man can be truly said to live for himself alone; the fabric on which human society is based, forbids the idea and teaches us that all mankind are mutually dependent.—We regard money or capital as only a MEANS to an END—that end or object—the amelioration of our race, both physically, socially and intellec-

The great object of the physician ought ever to be, the application of the proper remedy to the proper place, at the proper time, and be fails in curing disease just as he fails in carrying out this practical principle. Durno's Snuff reaches the spot in all cases of catarrh, sore throat, and pain in the head.

Among the Romans cosmetics were early in use. Chalk and Rouge were employed upon the face, and depilatory for the removal invented an unctuous paste, in esteem among the ladies of that period, as a softener of the skin; but no where do we read of any save or unguent of such universal celebrity, for the speedy cure of sores, cuts, bruises, burns, and every wound, as the popular ointment introduced by a Russian Soldier into Amer-

THE GREAT FAMILY REMEDY.

G. W. Stone's Vegetable Liquid Cathartic.
The public do not require to be told that a mild, safe, and reliable Cathartic in a liquid form, agreeable to the taste, and one which purges without violence, is a desideratum in medicine. This fact will be admitted by all.
Such a discovery has been often attempted, but without success, until the introduction of the above named Remedy.

No patent medicine ever met with such ready approval by physicians as this. Many regular practitioners are using it daily, all of whom have spoken of it in the highest terms of praise. Persons for the want of a better have been obliged to resort to the use of drastic, nauseous and oftentimes injurious purgatives, which cause more or less depletion, and fail to accomplish the object for which they are taken, on the contrary they often increase the difficulty and render the patient less curable. This invaluable remedy is composed of barks, roots and seeds, the medical properties of which are exactly adapted to the cure of those complaints for which it is recommended. This medicine is not intended simply as a cathartic; its value as such is insignificant, when compared with its power of purifying the blood from all humours, regulating the action of the bowels, during dyspepsia, restoring the appetite, producing a healthy action of the liver, freeing the stomach from bile, and invigorating and strengthening the whole system. It is a certain cure for the Piles, and those suffering from that complaint should give it a trial. For all diseases of the Bowels it cannot be recommended too highly. In Summer Complaints, Diarrhoea, Cholera Morbus, &c., it will be found invaluable.

Loss of Appetite, Indigestion, general Debility, &c. are often caused by wind in the Stomach, which this remedy will dispel at once. It is an excellent remedy for Sea Sickness. Those having occasion to travel by water, will find this a valuable remedy.

WHY WE GET SICK—Is a subject discussed by a late Magazine writer, who shows that "Auser" is subject to a sort of disease of the brain, nerves and stomach, which come in with modern civilization. Why do not cure ourselves, is a question of equal importance and quite as difficult to answer, when it is known that Stone's Liquid Cathartic cures constiveness and all disorders of the bowels. The Mountain Indian Liniment cures muscular & nervous diseases. The California Herb Pills cure jaundice, dyspepsia and liver complaints. Stone's Cough Laxative cures lung diseases and prevents consumption. Burns' Catarrh Snuff cures cold in the head, and deafness and catarrh in all its stages. Those who suffer from any of the complaints designated should try the appropriate remedy as here advertised. Agents in Halifax, G. E. MORTON & CO.

GOTTINGEN STREET, Halifax, Nov. 4, 1854. Mr. R. P. Gerry, Rochester, N. Y.—I wish to inform you of the benefits I have derived from using your Pectoral Tablets. Having for two years been troubled by a bad cough, with great oppression of the chest arising from cold, and accompanied by severe hoarseness, and seeing the Pectoral Tablets advertised here by your agents, Messrs G. E. MORTON & CO. I purchased a box at their Medical Warehouse, which relieved me, and before I had used three or four boxes I was quite well, and attribute my speedy cure entirely to your remedy, as all other cough medicines previously tried had failed to relieve me.

THE VEGETABLE OINTMENT is a most valuable remedy for all affections of the Throat and Lungs, and is highly recommended for such complaints, to give his ELIXIR a trial. Having done so, they will no longer hesitate what to take themselves, or recommend to others. A single trial will prove to them that this is the most valuable remedy ever discovered for the various affections of the Throat and Lungs; it will immediately relieve the most violent Cough, and in a few hours completely cure the most severe Cough.

So universal was the use of ointment and cosmetics in the latter days of Rome, that the household of a wealthy Roman was considered incomplete if he had not in addition to a host of other servants, an attendant ointment bearer, or unguentarius. Now, however, the discovery of the Vegetable Ointment, known as the Russian Salve, enables every householder, by the payment of 25 cents, to possess himself of an unguent more valuable than those of the ancients for the cure of cuts, bruises, burns, sores of every kind, and all wounds. BEST HAIR DYE IN THE WORLD.—This is strong language, yet Bogle's ELECTRIC HAIR DYE was proven to be so by the judges at the late Mechanics' Fair, held in Boston, among whom was Dr. Haes, the eminent chemist and State assayer, who awarded it the PRIZE MEDAL AND DIPLOMA over the choicest hair dyes on exhibition from all parts of the Union. Its unparalleled superiority consists in—1st, The ingredients are nourishing to the hair, not destructive as others. 2d, Does not stain nor hurt the skin. 3d, Is easily applied and dyes the hair any color required, from a delicate brown to a deep black, so natural as to appear marvellous.
 Wholesale, in Halifax, by G. E. Morton & Co.

What lady or gentleman would be without a bottle of The TOILET BALM OF ORANGE FLOWERS, when it will perfume the breath and remove offensive odors from decayed teeth, by using it as a dentifrice, for which it is unequalled.

For Shaving, it surpasses any soap—a few drops being sufficient to produce a rich, creamy lather, that softens the beard, and makes it an easy operation; and a few drops applied to the skin removes Freckles, Tan Blotches and Pimples from the face & hands, and makes the skin delicately soft and beautiful.

For the Hair it excels every other preparation; it effectually removes Dandruff by one application; and no oil or grease is necessary, for it beautifies the hair and makes it soft and glossy.
 As a Toilet Article it is unequalled, and its fragrance supplies the place of perfumes of every kind.

VEGETABLE LIQUID CATHARTIC

Cures the Piles, Rheumatic Affections, and disease of the skin, Liver Complaints and Constiveness, Humors of every kind, restores lost Appetite, cures Bilious Affections and Purifies the Blood, cures Dyspepsia and promotes Digestion, cures Neuralgia and Nervous Debility, cures Headache.

STONE'S LIQUID CATHARTIC
 May be relied upon in all the above complaints. It is pronounced by all who use it to be decidedly the best Family Medicine ever offered to the public; it is not intended to be used simply as a physic, but is designed as a complete remedy in those cases for which it is recommended. The reader is requested not to expect too much from its use in too short a time, but give it a fair trial.

Most persons requiring a cathartic labor under the erroneous impression that its action should be speedy and powerful; this is altogether a mistake. The bowels should be moved slowly and gently, giving the medicine time to cleanse the stomach and act upon the whole system. Rest assured that this remedy is sufficiently powerful and active for all the purposes of a family physic.
 Agents in Halifax, G. E. MORTON & CO.

TO THE LADIES—Do you know that Dr. Smith's "Electric Oil," is the most soothing remedy ever used for all painful complaints, like Broken Breast, Croup, Teething in Children, &c.; it quiets instantly. It is very much used in Philadelphia and New York, and nothing has ever equalled it. Try it for Rheumatism, and you won't wonder at its popularity.
 Agents in Halifax, G. E. MORTON & CO.

It is surprising how much affinity and sympathy exists between the organs of smelling, hearing, seeing and tasting. Let any one who is skeptical of this fact place himself in the way of obtaining an attack of catarrh, or a severe cold in the head, as it is commonly called, and he will discover that all these organs are immediately affected in unison; nor is it infrequent for total or partial deafness, with inflamed eyes, to remain long after the other symptoms of catarrh have vanished, with occasional shooting pains to the head. We consider we are conferring a boon upon our readers by directing their attention to a medical discovery, the use of which is pleasant, speedy and efficient in the removal of all the symptoms we have described. The worst forms of catarrh are cured by its use, whilst the sympathetic disease of the eye and ear, are immediately ameliorated. We allude to Durno's Catarrh Snuff, an admirable attention.
 Agents in Halifax, G. E. MORTON & CO.

G. W. STONE'S

THE PROPRIETOR would respectfully call the attention of the public to this invaluable Remedy for all affections of the Throat and Lungs, and begs of those who are undecided what to select from the numerous medicines advertised, and recommended for such complaints, to give his ELIXIR a trial. Having done so, they will no longer hesitate what to take themselves, or recommend to others. A single trial will prove to them that this is the most valuable remedy ever discovered for the various affections of the Throat and Lungs; it will immediately relieve the most violent Cough, and in a few hours completely cure the most severe Cough.

As a Preventive and Cure for Consumption, it has no equal. It is purely Vegetable, contains no poisonous ingredients, is quite agreeable to the taste, and may be given with perfect safety to the most delicate child. The numerous testimonials received almost daily from those who have been cured by it justify the assertion, that no family should be without this Medicine. Let Mothers give it to their Children who have the whooping Cough, or Croup, and they will alleviate at once the sufferings of their little ones; it will at the same time purify the blood, and completely expel all humors from the system. CHEAP OUTSIDE PAINT.—Take two parts (in bulk) of water lime ground fine, one part (in bulk) of white lead ground in oil. Mix them thoroughly by adding best boiled linseed oil, enough to prepare it to pass through a paint mill, after which temper with oil till it can be applied with a common paint brush. Make any color desired. It will last three times as long as lead paint, and cost not one-fourth as much. It is superior.

BARKETT'S CERTAIN PREVENTIVE OF THE POTATO ROT.—Sow unleached ashes over the field once a week for six weeks, commencing soon after the second hoeing. Apply two or three bushels to the acre, using care to dust the tops well. It has never been known to fail, where faithfully tested.
CERTAIN CURATIVE FOR CORNS.—One teaspoonful of tar, one of coarse brown sugar, and one of saltpetre. The whole to be warmed together and spread on kid leather the size of the corn, and in two days they will be drawn out.
