"'Wot 'as the gen'ral done?"
"'O, 'e's a Prince of the Royal Blood."
"An' they chucked 'im 'is rank for fun!"
But that was a lie, for I found out since
'E's ninepence a soldier an' thrup-pence a prince.
'E's stood fire in Egypt, and 'e didn't wince.
—From "Writ in Barracks."
EDGAR WALLACE.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—Advice received here to-day are that the coming to Canada of the Duke of Connaught, this year as governor-general, is now beyond all doubt. The English mail, which arrived to-day, brought the formal notice of his acceptance of the office, and the announcement of some appointments to his staff.

The Duke of Connaught, who is a brother of the late King Edward, will arrive in Canada towards the end of September or the beginning of October.

The duke's military secretary will be Major Henry Cecil Lowther, C.V.O., D.S.O., of the Scots Guards. He was for some time military attaché at Paris. He also accompanied His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught to South Africa, when he went there recently to open the first parliament of United South Africa, the latest dominion within the British Empire. He is a son of Hon. Gerard Lowther, speaker of the imperial parliament. The Duke of Connaught has also appointed his private secretary, Mr. William Arthur P. Sladen, who is at present private secretary to Earl Grey, the present governor-general.

Tumult Reigns at Central Liberal Meeting—F. S. Mearns Gains Presidential Chair.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—The Central Liberal meeting, which opened last night, was a scene of tumult and confusion. The meeting was held at the Grand Hotel, and was attended by a large number of delegates from the various Liberal organizations in the Dominion. The meeting was presided over by Mr. F. S. Mearns, who was elected president of the meeting. The meeting was characterized by a number of incidents, including a dispute over the election of delegates, and a vote on a resolution regarding the proposed union of the Liberal and Conservative parties. The meeting closed at a late hour, with the delegates expressing their confidence in the Liberal party and their determination to support the government.

NO UNSETTLING TIED TO A POST OF TRADE BY TREATY

Manufacturers Satisfied With Reply of Premier to Anti-Reciprocity Memorial—Nothing Will Be Done at Washington of Any Moment—Reply to Grain Growers.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—The Canadian manufacturers who composed the deputation which waited upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier to-day to emphasize their opposition to a reciprocity treaty with the United States, express themselves as satisfied with the reply given them by the premier. They are unanimous in saying they are convinced that the meaning of his words is that Canadian manufacturers will not be interfered with by any arrangement which will be reached by the tariff commissioners at Washington.

The words of the premier upon which the emphasis is laid are: "We do not intend to make any arrangements which would unsettle the prosperous conditions which we now enjoy. The government has been very careful not to disturb conditions which have prevailed in the manufacturing industries of the country."

An Unsettling Influence. "We are opposed at the present juncture to any tariff reductions or treaties of trade that would exercise an unsettling influence upon the prosperous conditions which now obtain," was one of the passages in the memorial presented by the manufacturers. The premier said he reciprocated this statement. "But it is not a party between the two countries," was another remark of the premier, which is construed here as meaning that nothing will be done at Washington which will be of any moment.

The agriculturists in parliament seem disposed to await developments, without committing themselves to a definite opinion as to the meaning of the premier's speech.

The Memorial. "Although the prospect of reciprocity," the memorial says in part, "has already caused some unsettling of business our confidence in the government is not shaken. But there should be a disposition on the part of our neighbors to listen to our demands on your government, in the expectation of finding an element of our population favorable to their view, we welcome this opportunity of assuring you that the interests of our country are not in jeopardy."

HORRIBLE MURDER OF WEALTHY OLD POLE NEAR WELLESLEY, ONT.—MOTIVE EVIDENTLY ROBBERY—TRACKS OF TWO MEN AND TEAM OF HORSES IN THE SNOW.

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—Murdered for his money was the fate of Franz Lobinski, a 70-year-old Pole, whose body was found tied to a post in the yard of his late home on the second concession, two miles west of Wellesley Village. His body was horribly mutilated, the heart being battered almost beyond recognition. A neighbor named Leves, passing by the house, made the horrible discovery at 10 o'clock this morning.

The body was found lying on the ground, being attracted by the loud howling of a dog. The dog was taken to the police station, where it was found to be a pointer named Leves, recognized by the house. The body was found lying on the ground, being attracted by the loud howling of a dog. The dog was taken to the police station, where it was found to be a pointer named Leves, recognized by the house.

Tracks of Two Men. The tracks of two men were found in the snow, also the tracks of a team of horses. Footsteps led to the front window, but an entrance had evidently been effected by getting Lobinski to open the back door, where he was attacked. The kitchen presented a terrible blood-spattered scene, and it was apparent that the old man had put up a fight for his life. Outside the door was a still worse spectacle of bloodshed, a pool of blood being frozen there.

A peculiar circumstance is the discovery in the house of a bottle of whiskey and a liberal amount of green mixed in with it. The officers' theory concerning this is that Lobinski's visitors had made an effort to get him to drink some of the poisoned liquid. Indeed, their belief is that they were successful in this, and that Lobinski had drunk some of the whiskey, they stung him and threw him outside through the back door.

It can only be conjectured as to the reason for the body being found in the yard, the most reasonable theory being advanced by High Constable Huber, who came back from the scene of murder this evening, to the effect that his assistants, apparently thinking they had done for the old man, threw him outside the door, which would account for the pool of blood there, but that he recovered sufficiently to come back at them, whereupon they dragged him to the post by his foot, using a wire. Fifty yards away a blood-covered hammer was found.

Murdered for His Money. There is no question but that the motive for the murder was robbery, as a little tin box, in which Lobinski was known to have kept gold, was found outside in the snow.

Interviewed by The World to-night High Constable Huber said that the man Leves had been the murdered man's confidential adviser, transacting the business of the Lobinski family, and was probably in the neighborhood of $10,000.

A complete search of the house has been made by the authorities, and among the articles found were a number of personal notes for good-sized amounts which had been held by Lobinski. The old man had often taken a delight in presenting gold to people, according to Leves' story. Since the death of his wife, six years ago, Lobinski had lived alone.

Coroner Gleister of Wellesley was notified in the morning, but could not proceed to empanel a jury as he had not taken the oath of allegiance since the accession of King George. Consequently he had to drive to Berlin, where he was sworn in by Crown Attorney Bowly, returning to Wellesley to-day.

The inquest consequently will not be held until 2 o'clock to-morrow.

TRAVERS PLEADS GUILTY DEFENCE COUNSEL HINTS OTHERS INVOLVED COURT PROBE FINISHED?

With Stage Set For Long Fight, Former Bank Manager Admits Forgery, Theft and Making False Returns—Public Fears Inner History May Not Be Disclosed.

As forecasted in The World a week ago, W. R. Travers, former vice-president and general manager of the collapsed Farmers' Bank and director of the Keeley Mines, Limited, pleaded guilty to charges of forgery, theft and making false returns to the Dominion Government, when arraigned in police court yesterday morning. Even when the rumor of a plea of guilty current in the streets, the denouement came as something of a shock to the courtroom full of spectators of a weight and prominence not often seen within its dainty walls. The staging was dramatic, and so arranged that the collapse of the defence at the last moment came as a bolt from the blue. At the close of the regular calendar, detectives and others marched into the courtroom bearing great shoulder-loads of pressive ledgers. The scene was set for an extensive probing, when Magistrate Denison looked up from his own book to remark:

Crown Was Ready. "Now, is Mr. Corley ready to go on in that Travers' case?" was the reply. "Yes, your worship," was the reply.

Which case will you take up first?" "We will take the general charge, that of making false returns to the government."

Here H. H. Dewart, K.C., counsel for the defence, interrupted to remark that Travers had not yet pleaded to the second charge, that of theft of $40,000. Crown Attorney Corley added that Inspector of Detectives Duncan had a further charge of forgery of minutes of a directors' meeting to add, and this was put upon the calendar.

The charge of theft was then read and Travers was asked to plead. Shock of Surprise. In answer to the magistrate's question, Mr. Dewart remarked that, upon the advice of counsel, he pleads guilty.

There was a stir in the courtroom, a quick catching of many breaths, and even the magistrate looked up with something of surprise.

"But what does he say himself?" he asked, "perhaps he knows better than his counsel."

"Guilty, sir," said Travers, who stood behind his counsel and directly in front of the magistrate. The whole man was eloquent of nervousness, bowed as he leaned upon the back of a chair, and from the tired eyes over the heavy flesh pouches of his cheeks.

The magistrate then read the charge newly laid by Inspector Duncan.

"That W. R. Travers did unlawfully make a false document in words and figures. That is to say: "The general manager reported the following credits of $5000 and upwards had been granted since last board meeting, viz., George Whart and Keeley J. W. Mho—$50,000."

"The general manager explained the formation and interests in the Keeley Mine, which was satisfactory to the board and further advances were authorized if necessary, with intent to defraud contrary to the form of the statute in such case made and provided."

Asked Summary Trial. Mr. Corley later explained that the final figures in the first and the words of the last paragraph of the quoted minute of a meeting of the bank directors had been altered by a clerk upon the order and at the dictation of Travers.

Travers elected to be tried summarily, and pleaded guilty to the same. The magistrate then asked if he had anything to say in defence. Then Mr. Dewart announced that his client desired to withdraw both plea and election upon the charge of making false returns, and in this case a plea of guilty was also entered.

Mr. Corley plunged into the reading of a document which he had announced was a statement of the case prepared by the liquidator. The magistrate interrupted:

"Before I can sentence this man," he said, "I must know some of the circumstances surrounding the case." "No, and you couldn't hear the evidence without understanding these features of the case. I was about to give you the facts," replied the crown attorney.

Turning on the Light. "No," said the magistrate, and Mr. Corley once more began to read the statement, elaborating its points from time to time. He said:

"On the 18th of April, 1908, Dr. Beattie Nesbitt obtained an option on the property for $500,000, payable $50,000 on May 15, and the balance in instalments spread over a period of time."

"On May 8, 1908, Dr. Beattie Nesbitt entered into an agreement under the terms of which William Travers and the Farmers' Bank were to participate in all benefits received by him from the option, and on the same day, he executed an additional agreement, the effect of which was to cancel the option without the consent of the Farmers' Bank."

"In May, 1908, the Keeley-Jowsey-Wood Mines, Limited, was formed, and at a meeting of the provisional directors, the Farmers' Bank was asked to purchase the option without the consent of the Farmers' Bank."

Travers Today

H. H. Dewart, K.C., his counsel, today has a broken heart. He is 57 years of age, and has been in the law for twenty years, but his present degradation, a term of three years would be longer to him than a term twice as long to a younger man.

Where Case Stands

Three things may happen when W. R. Travers comes before Magistrate Denison in police court on Monday morning.

He may be sentenced forthwith and the court enquiry closed as it stands at present with meagre, the sinister facts disclosed.

Magistrate Denison may go on with the probing which he opened yesterday morning, indeed, at least I will not need to worry. It will be a rest."

In his plea for his client yesterday H. H. Dewart, K.C., declared that there was no ground for a persistent rumor that Travers' plea would be a surprise, as he had been in the past blocking a searching enquiry into the facts which might disclose the guilt of others than his client in the wrecking of the bank.

Mr. Dewart had hinted at the implication of other than Travers in the matter. He asked that these men be supplied to him privately with the wrecking of the bank, and promised that the crown would trace any such persons down to the uttermost.

Nothing More to Say. Asked at the close of the hearing if there were any such persons to be disclosed, Mr. Dewart replied that he had nothing more to say, that he had said all he had to say in open court.

Whether or not Mr. Travers' has made or will make any further disclosure to the crown which will implicate others is another feature which is being discussed.

If views expressed broadcast by men in many quarters are any criterion, the public is still eager for a throbbing probe into the affairs of the bank, which shall show all its dealings from its initiation to its suspension. These say they look to either Attorney-General Foy and his associates in the Ontario House or to the appointment of a royal commission by the Ottawa government for a full and exhaustive probe should the present court enquiry cease.

Petitioners think that disclosures may come on Tuesday next when the shareholders, gathered in conclave, meet with the curator and interim liquidator of the bank.

A Live Issue. More than one name has been mentioned in general discussion and it is not wide of the mark to say that the question of the implication of others in the criminal proceedings is a live issue in the public mind than is the fate of the late general manager of the bank.

What that fate shall be is much discussed. Travers is liable to an accumulated penalty of 21 years in prison. For theft of $40,000, nine years may be imposed. For forgery of the kind to which he has confessed, the penalty is seven years, while for the making of false returns to the finance department, he may be sentenced to serve five years.

No case in the criminal annals has aroused wider discussion than this one, and there is no other topic to which the man-of-the-street has devoted so close and continued attention.

Laugh, Laughter and Then Some. To laugh is to feel good, and every person likes to feel good. There is a laugh a minute and "Seven Days" the attraction at the Princess Theatre this week. Matinee laughter to-day.

Henri Bourassa Welcomed Back From His Visit to Rome.

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—"I have come back to continue the fight I began some time ago for liberty, for justice for my race, for my country, and for equal rights to all," was the defiant message which Henri Bourassa flung into the faces of six hundred admirers who had gathered at the Windsor depot to welcome the idol back from Rome. Altho the Nationalist leader denied when he left Canada that he was going to the eternal city, he declared this evening that he received a great consolation from his sojourn at the seat of the Catholic world.

TRAVERS PLEADS GUILTY

COURT PROBE FINISHED?

tors held in May, a resolution was passed by the board to purchase the option from Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, and to issue to him the whole of the capital stock, except $25, the capital stock to be one million dollars in payment for the option. On the same day, Wishart was elected president of the company, Nesbitt vice-president, and Travers was the third director.

Acted Without Authority.

"On May 20, the bank made an advance to Wishart of $25,377, and to the Keeley-Jowsey-Wood Mines of $25,000, apparently to take care of a payment of $50,000 to be made under the terms of the option agreement on or about May 18 to 20. There was no authority at this time given to Travers to advance the money of the bank, such authority was not obtained until June 17 following.

"The bylaws of the bank prohibited the managing directors from lending more than $10,000 of the bank's funds to any person, firm or corporation without specific authority of the board.

"June 17, 1908, a credit to some amount in four figures was given to the Keeley-Jowsey-Wood Mines, Limited, and approved of by the board of directors; subsequently the minute book showing the change was changed so that in its changed form it permitted the general manager of the bank to advance to the mine in his discretion. It is claimed that the change in these minutes constitutes a forgery, and the crown is taking action in connection therewith."

Mysterious Blanks.

"At the end of every paragraph there are four blank lines left," said he. "I do not know what this is for unless it is to make it look nice. In this place we speak of the figures $50,000, and were formerly $100,000, but the figures under $100,000. Apparently this was inked over in some way."

"I don't know who made the alteration, but the original figures were made by Mr. Shaver, who says the sum was not $50,000 when he left it, and he didn't change it."

"What Shaver says is that at some subsequent period the minutes had been confirmed and the minutes finished, he was called in by Travers and ordered to write as his dictation. Now, why would he do this? It is not in the regular bold handwriting, but in a nervous, cramped writing."

This referred to the change which was the basis of the forgery charge. Then Mr. Corley continued reading the document:

Syndicate Sold Out.

"The bank continued to advance money to the mining company in large amounts until December, 1908," said Mr. Corley, "when the shareholders of the Keeley-Jowsey-Wood Mines agreed to sell its assets, subject to its liabilities, the liability of the company being about $150,000 to the Keeley Mines, Limited, on the condition that the stock in the latter, which amounted to two and a half million dollars, was to be held, one-fifth to Travers, one-fifth to Nesbitt, one-fifth to George Wishart, and one-fifth to the Farmers' Bank, and the balance to remain in the treasury. This transaction was put thru, and the Keeley-Jowsey-Wood Mines was wound up, Fitzgibbon, the chief accountant of the bank, being the liquidator."

"No authority appears on the books of the bank authorizing any advance to the Keeley Mines, Limited. The Keeley Mines, however, assumed the liability of $150,000 of the Keeley-Jowsey-Wood Mines, and from that time forward the bank loaned to the company another $471,000, so that at this date the mining company is indebted to the bank in $621,000 for actual cash advanced."

Travers Took $35,000.

"Of this $621,000 advanced to the mine, the general manager of the bank, Travers, took for his own benefit $35,000 in two amounts of $15,000 and $20,000."

"The $15,000 he obtained on Oct. 6, 1908, the bank when he discounted a note of the Keeley Mines in the bank for $15,000, and had the proceeds put to his own credit, subsequently using the same."

"The mining company books show this advance of $15,000 from the bank, and they also show the manager, Travers, indebted to the company for the same amount, but, in the statements of the mining company, rendered to its shareholders, both of these items are eliminated and not shown, showing that Travers was deceiving the shareholders of the mining company as well as those of the bank."

"With regard to the $20,000, it covers an amount obtained from the bank by Travers on November 3, 1910, when he discounted a note of the Keeley mine in the bank and had the sum put to his credit. This note is still in the bank, but the mining company has never received any of the money, nor did it get any benefit. This means that out of the $621,000 advanced to the mine, $35,000 went to Travers, or his personal use, and $586,000 apparently to the company."

$535,000 in Mine.

"According to the books of the bank, it has invested in stock of the Keeley Mines the sum of $535,000, of this amount $156,675 covers moneys taken by the manager of the bank for his own benefit and charged directly to the personal use, and $378,325 of the bank in Keeley mine stocks and bonds. These moneys were taken on the following dates:

"In 1907 Travers gave his note to the bank for $55,000 in order to hide a similar amount expended for organization expenses. It was carried on the books of the bank and returned to the government as loans made to customers. On Nov. 14, Travers procured the Continental Securities Co. to take this loan up by issuing its cheque for $55,000, and charging the other $10,000 on the same day he procured from the Continental Securities $21,675, for which he allowed them to overdraw. He then accounted these two payments of $45,000 and $21,675 off against Keeley Mines' account so as to make it appear that the bank had invested $66,675 in Keeley stock, when, as a matter of fact, the whole of that sum had gone to Travers.

Theft Was Hidden.

"On Feb. 28, 1910, Travers got the bank to pay $50,000 to take up two notes of the Keeley Mines, charging the same up as an investment of the bank in Keeley Mines stock. Travers had previously gotten this money and used it, and the charge was made in order to hide it."

"On March 2, 1910, Travers had a call loan in the bank for $40,000, on which he had got the money previously from the bank. He had this call loan charged up as an investment of the bank in Keeley stock and the note released to him. This means that Travers in this item alone withdrew from the bank $45,000, $21,675, $40,000, and $50,000, a total of $156,675, which he had taken out of the bank and used for his own benefit. The balance of $378,325 was charged up to cover losses and to permit the transfer of supposed profits so as to enable the bank to pay dividends out of apparent profits which had not been earned, and to which had been made in various directions."

Mr. Corley continued, saying that the bank needed deposits. A man named Crompton had deposited 100,000 shares of Keeley Mine stock. Dr. Nesbitt supplied 25,000, Mr. Travers 25,000, and bank 50,000 shares. The deposit was withdrawn and the bank had bought back the stock for $10,000. That was put in the returns as an asset.

Nesbitt Owed $60,000.

"The dealings with Dr. Nesbitt," he said, "were peculiar. He owed the bank $60,000. At that time he was a man of financial standing, and they took over his stock in the Keeley Mine, and that was returned to the government at an asset of $60,000."

"Another transaction referred to involved $40,000 borrowed by Travers in his own name on January 10, 1910. He had hypothecated as security stock in the Keeley Mine. He had covered this with his own note. On January 20 a note of the Keeley Mine had been substituted. On March 3 this note had been discharged, and the amount entered as an investment by the bank of $40,000."

"At the close of Mr. Corley's remarks, Mr. Dewart arose to address the court.

"But I want to see these false returns," broke in the magistrate. "What I want to know is what became of the moneys. Can you call someone who can explain these matters?"

"I will call them," said the crown attorney.

"And my client is anxious to render all the assistance that he can," said Mr. Dewart. "What I have to say will explain many things." He was then allowed to proceed.

Went Stop Probe.

"At the outset," said Mr. Dewart, "I would like to say that many of the delays and adjournments in this case were intended to hush up proceedings and are absolutely without foundation. Nor is the plea entered by my client intended to stop the investigation. Since the adjournment my client and I have had an opportunity of seeing the data in the hands of the crown, and in that way the time of the court was saved. I trust that what I am about to say will throw some further light on the unfortunate affairs of the bank."

Mr. Dewart then went on to say that he did not think his client should be made a "scapegoat" for others.

The several offences, he said, rose from one transaction, and were the effect of the first wrong act. He referred to an arrangement made at the time of the bank's organization, by which Travers was to receive 15 per cent. of the first $500,000 capital for organization expenses. Of this, $20,000 had gone to a stock seller named Simons, and $20,000 to others assisting in the organization.

Road to Ruin.

These payments had depleted the capital of the bank and made its succeeding history one big struggle for existence. Mr. Travers had had to steer the ship thru these shoals from the outset, and in face of the active opposition of every other bank consulting the Bankers' Association. The facts would show the need of a stronger government control of these institutions.

Under the necessity of making profits, from some extraordinary source, Mr. Travers had gone into the Keeley

Mine transactions. A much stronger institution had lost $5,000,000 in some of these transactions. In Mexico, and things the same way in Alaska, and there were many cases in which banks had carried out the flotation of mines. That the suggestion came from a former president of the bank seemed an additional reason for going into the transaction.

Original Option.

The original option in the mine came to Travers from Dr. Beattie Nesbitt as early as May, 1908. It was $300,000, and for it Travers was to pay $15,000, and as a current loan. Another person in this deal was Mr. Wishart of New York, but as time went on Travers had found himself alone in bearing the burden of the payments.

He was instructed, said Mr. Dewart, that the directors did understand about the advances to the mine. In the end the bank had paid the whole $300,000. This was secured as a call loan. Then $21,000 was advanced to the mine as a current loan. It was Travers who had suggested the bond issue to secure the bank for these advances.

Mr. Dewart said that Travers had been offered $50,000 for the mine. All the stock of the mine had been pooled, and all remained in the bank until the mining company's debt had been liquidated.

Travers a Victim.

"My client," said Mr. Dewart, "feels that he was very largely the victim of a strong majority working against a weak minority."

Mr. Dewart thought that the whole episode was one that showed the necessity for some form of independent audit, combined with a larger measure of government control.

"The Farmers' Bank, led by my client, is not alone in its investment in securities of a speculative nature," explained Mr. Dewart. "Only recently one of the strongest banks in Canada had done this. If it were not that such a loss was only a flea bite to the institution in question, but the venture in which that vast sum of money was lost was just as speculative in its character as the Nesbitt affair."

"The bank you mention is a member of the Canadian Bankers' Association," asked the magistrate.

"Yes," responded Mr. Dewart; "I believe that it is one of the strongest members of that body."

"But," pursued Mr. Dewart, "it is not surprising that Mr. Travers should find himself in a position where funds were urgently needed, and realizing the rich possibilities of the mine that was offered to him, should have attempted, in the manner he did, to tap the exhausted resources of his bank."

Nesbitt's Advice Taken.

At the time the Keeley mine was brought to the notice of Mr. Travers, the latter, Mr. Dewart declared, had the assurance of Dr. Beattie Nesbitt that the latter had personally examined the mine and that the advance made was justifiable.

"As to the defendant on one time president of this bank," asked the magistrate.

"Yes," answered Mr. Dewart, "he was its first president."

"I may say," remarked Mr. Corley at this juncture, "that as Mr. Dewart has delicately intimated that there are others besides Mr. Travers who have injured the bank, I will have to be put on my guard, and sometimes he will not put up with me being hit with a brass band, but I do intend that this matter shall be probed to the bottom."

"Mr. Dewart's right for Mr. Travers was the co-operation of others in swinging the Keeley mine deal, but that one by one these had withdrawn, leaving him to shoulder the responsibility alone."

Future of Mine.

Mr. Dewart wanted the court to remember that already Mr. Travers had offered $50,000 for the Keeley mine, and that the failure of the bank had sacrificed, its ultimate sale would go a long way toward preventing any of those connected with the failure from feeling the pinch of distress, if it were possible to provide sufficient to meet all liabilities.

Regarding the deceptive monthly statements supplied to the government, Mr. Dewart said that the stocks of the Keeley mine and set it over against losses that were made from time to time. The stock he valued at the exact amount of the losses, whatever they were. So that the bank was a perfectly irregular and deceptive piece of bookkeeping, his client was perhaps justified in thinking that it was permissible under the peculiar circumstances in which he found himself placed.

"The only justification I have to offer for my client," said Mr. Dewart, "is the unfortunate position in which he found himself, and the new move pushing him further and further into the maelstrom."

Plea for Mercy.

Counsel closed with a plea for mercy. He said:

"He stands here to-day a penniless, broken man, 57 years of age. Seven years is the utmost that you can say, but I think that I can ask for a sentence that, in view of the circumstances,

"Three years would be more to him than would twenty to a younger man. I think that I can ask for a sentence more from the humiliation and degradation of this day than he could suffer from any penalty which your worship could impose."

"He has made full acknowledgement of any guilt, and has shown in every way an earnest desire to repair the fortunes of the bank in any transaction into which he may have entered."

"He has given, and is giving, such assistance as he can to make good what he has done, in no way has the crown been put to any unnecessary expense."

"It was unfortunate speculation that ruined Mr. Travers, and it has ruined many another man besides Mr. Travers."

Accountant Called.

At the close of Mr. Dewart's address, the magistrate still wanted to know the names of those who had band evidence as to the facts involved in the charges presented.

"The accountant of the bank is the only one who can show these things properly," said the crown attorney, "he made them up from month to month. He has been practically used as a crown witness already in the investigation."

"Call him then," was the reply.

Chief Accountant J. G. Fitzgibbon was then called.

"You will know that this is the man who made out those reports," remarked Mr. Dewart with some asperity.

"Yes," replied Mr. Corley.

"Yes," will be given the protection of the crown, no statement you make will be used in evidence against you," said the magistrate in sweetening the witness.

Gave Guarded Replies.

Mr. Fitzgibbon is an older man than

Travers. He is tall and lean with an air almost of feebleness. His answers were very guarded, and sometimes he hesitated before making reply to the magistrate, crown attorney or counsel for the defence.

"I want to be shown where the false entries are," declared the magistrate. Mr. Fitzgibbon opened a large book, while the November report of the bank was handed up to the bench by an agent of the finance department, who was present.

The chief accountant certified various items as being correct, and then came to entries in which stocks of the Keeley mine were mentioned. This was one of the entries named in the charge of false returns. The magistrate wanted to know if the entry of current loans to the Keeley Mines was correct.

"I had no doubt but that the Keeley property was a very valuable asset," replied the witness in a voice very little above a whisper. "I am sure you know that the entries were deceptive?"

"No, I did not."

"Who was the inspector of the bank?"

"I was."

"Then couldn't you have found out about these assets?"

"No, you see I was inspector in name only."

"Then you had no system of inspection at all?"

"Oh, yes, the branches were inspected by the inspectors."

"Who inspected the head office?"

"I did."

Must Do as Told.

Mr. Fitzgibbon went on in answer to questions to explain that as inspector, a subordinate of the general manager, he was practically forced to do as he was told. He said that he and Mr. Travers had discussed the matter of the valuations set by a general manager, and that he also, in a measure, had held with that view.

"I have had forty years of banking experience and in another and much larger bank, in which I was with Mr. Travers, I learned that it is not the province of an accountant to question the valuations set by a general manager," he said.

Here Mr. Corley interjected the remark that inspectors were merely creatures of general managers, and if they did not do as told they were turned into the street to look for other positions. They had a better system in England, where a responsible firm of chartered accountants took charge of the books and verified their inspection by independent enquiry.

Disappointed.

"So your hair is coming out very fast," said the drug man.

"Oh, yes, in handfuls," replied the neighbor.

"Did you ever try my hair tonic?"

"Oh, yes, but I really don't think that is entirely to blame."—Exchange.

This is a condition for which doctors give many names, but which they really understand. It simply weakens—breaks down—as it were, of the vital force that sustains the system. No matter what its causes (for they are almost numberless), its symptoms are much the same: the more prominent being weakness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, while it is absolutely essential in all such cases that it be treated to a course of VITAL STRENGTH & ENERGY to throw these morbid feelings, and experience prove that as right as the cause may be, more certainly secured by a course of THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY THERAPION No. 3.

Renewal of Tremont Hotel Lease Shows How Prices Have Soared.

The old lease, secured 20 years ago, was for $5000 a year, which gives an indication of the bound in Yonge-street values.

The new lease is based on a ground valuation of $475,000, and as the property has a frontage of 69 feet by a depth of 110 feet, the valuation would be fixed at $6875 a foot.

Million and Half for T.N.O. Expenditure Will Be Upon Capital Account.

Considerable attention has been given this week by the Ontario Government to the financial proposals for the year. As previously stated in The World, the current revenue and expenditure for the past year accorded well with the Col. Matheson's estimates, with the result that the completed figures show a favorable balance.

Good progress has been made with the estimates, which will contain votes for a further expenditure of $1,500,000 for extensions and rebuilding on the T. & N.O.R. These expenditures are upon capital account, the sum required will be secured by a provincial loan.

A LEGAL MIX-UP. MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—Two eminent King's Counsel and a young lawyer engaged in a brief flat-out battle in the police court before Judge Lanctot yesterday. The participants in the scuffle were James Crankshaw, K.C., Horace Hutchins, K.C., and Jimmy Crankshaw. The Crankshaws were prosecuting a girl on a charge of perjury, and Mr. Hutchins was defending her. He offered to make an affidavit himself, and ironically remarked that his learned friend could then go after him for perjury. Mr. Crankshaw replied to the effect that this was not advisable as the Montreal Jail was already overflowing.

ALDERMEN APPROVE RIVERDALE CAR LINES

Double Tracks to Be Laid on Danforth-Road and Greenwood-Avenue.

Two new street railway extensions were recommended by City Engineer Rust yesterday, which the works committee approved and sent on to the council.

One was a double line of tracks on Danforth-ave., from Broadview to 200 feet east of Greenwood-avenue, the track allowance to be paved with brick blocks upon a concrete foundation, at a cost of $86,000. The other was for a double line of tracks on Greenwood-avenue, from Gerrard-street to Danforth-avenue, with the same foundations and pavements, to cost $54,060.

If the council approves, the Street Railway Company will be asked to connect its service with these lines.

On the suggestion of Ald. McBride, no concrete pillars will be erected on Palmerston-boulevard or St. George-street until legislation has been secured that will permit of the new street lighting system being carried on as a local improvement. The property owners on these and other thoroughfares are willing to pay a portion of the expense. In the meantime the city engineer will prepare a report on the whole scheme.

The several notices of motion were referred to the proper officials for report or sent on to the council.

The street commissioner was asked to consider the advisability of gathering garbage, ashes and cleaning the streets at night.

To inspect Storage Batteries. The board of control are considering a trip to New York, to inspect the operation of the Edison storage battery cars, before finally deciding upon their use for the new civic system.

Controller Ward stated that a commission will have to be appointed to carry out the improvement of the creek.

QUEENS DEFEAT VARSITY OVER TIME BY 4-3

One of the Greatest Games Ever Witnessed in Kingston—Queens Outlasted Varsity.

KINGSTON, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—With both teams traveling at a terrific pace from start to finish, after an argument lasting seventy minutes, Queens won the first intercollegiate hockey combat here to-night by a score of four goals to three.

It was the fastest game of hockey that has been witnessed on local ice in many seasons. Queens, much to the surprise of the general public, were favored with the services of Dobson, who was an important factor in securing the victory for the Presbyterians.

Varsity has one of the fastest and most perfect working machines seen here in many seasons, and during the early stages of the game looked like possible winners. Each player is a speedy skater, a clever stick-hander, and a probable playing the game.

Queens came back in the second half and determined to tie the score. This goal was scored in six minutes after the resumption of play.

Salvador BEER

THE FAMOUS NATIONAL DRINK

There's a story behind "Salvador" beer—Canada's most famous brew—that carries us back to the year 1651

The Grand Duke Ferdinand, the Bavarian monarch of the period, established the new cloister brewery on the Nockberg Mountain, near Munich, and appointed Father Sale the chief brewmaster.

The product of the royal brewery was first known as "Father Sale's Beer," until the more convenient title of "Salvador" was adopted, about a century later.

For over 150 years "Salvador" was brewed under the patronage of the Bavarian royal family. In 1860, Franz X. Zacher acquired control of the cloister brewery and purchased the secret formula of the royal brew.

From that day to this the formula and sole European rights have been in the most judicious hands, established by the famous brewer's family.

The rich, mellow flavor of "Salvador" is only attained by a special aging process, and if the output of the cloister brewery was great enough the people of Bavaria would drink no other beer.

Always order "Salvador" if you want the best beer brewed.

Semi-Ready Selling "Lonely" Suitings and all Overcoats

Half a thousand Garments go into the Annual "Lonely" Sale this month. As to why there are not more than 500 garments left for this sale, we offer the explanation that the Fall and Winter business was very large. Couple with this the highest values in the trade at prices you would pay for ready-mades or for the average little retail tailors' production, and you will realize this is not an ordinary clothing opportunity. Half a thousand is not many "Lonelies"—but read the prices for quicker interest!

O'Keefe's PILSENER LAGER

The Light Beer in the Light Bottle

Canadians laugh at any talk of the superiority of "imported lagers". They know that O'Keefe's "Pilsener" Lager is a purer, better beer than anything imported into Canada. They know that O'Keefe's "Pilsener" is brewed only of the choicest hops and malt—which cannot be said of any American lager.

T.R.C. Remodeled Club Rooms Formally Opened by the Mayor

The Toronto Rowing Club's remodeled club house was formally opened last night, when a large crowd of members and their friends were on hand. His Worship Mayor Gray did the honors, and Controllers Church and Ward and practically all the aldermen of the city were present.

THE TORONTO ROWING CLUB'S REMODELED CLUB HOUSE WAS FORMALLY OPENED LAST NIGHT.

The preliminary to the big bowling game of the night was an inter-club affair between the Don Rowing Club and the T. R. C., which the Don captured by 24 pins margin. The Mayor and Controller were burning last night to add to the homelike appearance of this pretty nook. Mr. Bert Stort, the genial manager of the club, was overwhelmed last night with congratulations by the large number who paid a visit.

BULLING ELECTRIC LIGHT.

A jump in the price of Electric Light Company's stock will have set the hearts of many widows and orphans. If we are to accept the assurances of the directorate as to their number, beating wildly. Those who have engineered the rise, if they are well-intentioned towards the widows and orphans have given said widows and orphans a straight tip to sell out on the bulge, and consequently we need expect to hear no further wails from the bereaved and afflicted.

The Star, which is credited with the friendliest disposition towards the company, displayed last night a suggestion that the examination of the plant, which was to have been made when permitted, on behalf of the hydro-electric commission for the benefit of the city, showed a better state of affairs than had been anticipated.

"This," says The Star, "would mean a higher price in case the city bought out the company." Note the subtlety of the suggestion. The Star does not say that the examination has been made, or that there is any new light on the situation, or that the plant is better than has been stated.

No report has yet been made. Consequently no outsider could have any new information. The insiders know all there was to know, good, bad, or worse, months ago. Why, then, do they seek to boom the stock, as it is clear the outsiders would not wish to do so. We are willing to take the view that the directorate is merely magnanimous and anxious to give the widows and orphans the chance to unload their burden.

CHIVALRY OR JUSTICE.

It is sometimes wrong to do right, just as a half-truth may not be true at all. It is not clear that the methods of chivalry, however admirable and self-denying in themselves, are fitted to the modern machinery of the law courts.

There is more than a suspicion in some quarters that the plea of guilty entered by the prisoner in the Farmers' Bank case had more chivalry to instigate it than of cold justice.

The complexity of modern society has left no place for a chivalry which considers one or a few and reeks nothing of a multitude of innocent sufferers.

Hon. J. J. Foy is not appointed as a minister of chivalry, but as an agent of justice, and his action in the Farmers' Bank case will lead many to a decision on his fitness for office in an up-to-date government.

THE TRADE CONFERENCE.

Nothing reliable is known regarding the progress of the reciprocal trade conference at Washington, and the fluctuations of sentiment as to its success or otherwise only confirm what was anticipated before negotiations were begun. It is plain enough that the United States authorities approached its subject matter from a different standpoint than that accepted by the Canadian Government, if the reply made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to the manufacturers' deputation is taken at its natural meaning. He reciprocated the statement made in the memorial read by Mr. Russell, that they were "opposed at the present juncture to any tariff reductions or treaties of trade that would exercise an unsettling influence upon the prosperous conditions which now exist," and disclaimed on the part of the government any intention of this kind. In due time it will be seen how far the government proposes to go without unsettling Canadian trade conditions.

United States manufacturers want two things—free access to Canadian raw material and a freer market in Canada for the sale of their products. Whatever The Globe may affirm about the great advantages Canadian manufacturers would derive from the adoption of free trade, their competitors across the line have no doubts whatever about the resulting benefit so far as they are concerned. They do not need to fear Canadian competition even were modifications made in the Payne-Aldrich tariff, and the fact that several companies, intending to establish branches in Canada, have delayed operations pending the outcome of the negotiations, is a clear indication of what would happen were Canadian duties to be removed or materially reduced. Sir Wilfrid regretted that the western farmers and the manufacturers had not endeavored to reconcile their conflicting views instead of transferring that delicate duty to the government. But if that policy is to be adopted which will "give the country the greatest amount of good," there can scarcely be much hesitation in reaching a conclusion.

CANADIAN BONDS.

Mr. E. W. Wood's review of the bond market in Canada for last year submitted to the annual meeting of the Dominion Securities Corporation and now published in separate form is well worth attentive perusal by all interested in Dominion financial affairs. Admirable in form and copious and accurate in the statistics it incorporates, the review again emphasizes the extent of Canada's dependence on the mother country for the sinews of war necessary to enable her people to conquer nature and to develop their vast natural resources. British capital which finds its most agreeable outlet into the empire itself has been a fruitfulty stream, not only profitable to those who have sent it on its mission, but to the rising nations whose expansions would otherwise have been checked and their resources prevented from receiving that publicity upon which their utilization largely depends.

In preparing this review Mr. Wood has covered a wide field, with conspicuous care and evident desire to make it really helpful towards assisting investors in judging the opportunities Canada affords. In doing this he has made a contribution of permanent value, accompanied as it is, by tables with statistics analyzed in detail. The mere compilation and separation of all these bond and stock issues means a great deal more than appears at first sight, and Mr. Wood deserves well-merited appreciation for the convenient and clear method he has adopted for their display. Much might be said about their general bearing, but the value of the imperial connection could not be better exemplified than in the statement that of Canadian bond issues no less than $1 1/2 per cent. were sold in the mother country, 17 per cent. in Canada, and only 1 1/2 per cent. in the United States. Britain, by absorbing high-grade bonds at low rates of interest, is doing an inestimable service to the Dominion.

"JOHN BULL" ON CANADA.

A good deal of publicity has been given "John Bull"—the newspaper, not the eminent cosmopolitan—by the discussion in parliament over an article which the English paper published maligning Canada. There is such a thing as taking "John Bull" too seriously. One must allow for his narrow insular point of view. He probably does not at all realize that Canada is larger than all Europe, and that anyone who began to run down England on account of what might be going on in Bulgaria or Russia, or Turkey would be rather silly.

In this case "John Bull" appears to be rather a silly, even if he be nothing worse. The west needs no defenders, and the yards about men wandering over frozen prairies and being eaten by wolves are really stolen from the penny dreadful. The wolves in France, where there is $25 a head royalty on them, are quite as dangerous as in any inhabited part of Canada.

"John Bull" had something to say about our degenerate women types. This may be accepted as retaliation for what the Canadian journalists said they saw in Sheffield and Birmingham and other cities in England when they attended the Press Convention. It is too bad that in some respects we may be no better than England.

There are too many English people living in Canada and doing well, and writing home and telling about it for "John Bull" to be able to change the tide of exodus to the land flowing with milk and honey which Canada offers to the landless folk of the feudalized nations.

Fortunately there are other sources of information than "John Bull," and intelligent Englishmen will avail themselves of these reliable means of knowledge. It is opportune that Mr. Arthur Hawkes has projected a newspaper which will furnish just such a corrective as is needed for stories such as "John Bull" has put into circulation. "The British News of Canada," which Mr. Hawkes has designed, will contain exact and trustworthy accounts of the conditions of all parts of this vast Dominion, larger than Europe, let us repeat, with all its varying life and climate and resources. The Spaniard might not feel at home in Finland nor the Italian in Iceland, but Canada has a variety of climate sufficient to give Spaniard and Finn, Icelandic and Italian a land and weather and skies like their own either for winter brightness or summer warmth.

Englishmen will find the climate conditions of their own home counties repeated in the British Columbia. Or they may find almost infinitely varying and different conditions in other parts of the Dominion. It should be one of the chief duties of "The British News of Canada" to direct intending emigrants in Great Britain to the locality that might best suit them.

MINISTERIAL FAILURES.

During the present revival movement reference has been made to ministerial failures and their cause has been attributed to lack of sympathy on the part of congressmen. The logic of this is not apparent since the enquiry has not been extended to include the reason for the congressional indifference. Some light is thrown on the situation by Mr. J. J. Kelso, superintendent of neglected children for the province, who is the author of a bulletin on children, their care, training and happiness, as future citizens, recently issued by the department of agriculture. PLEURO-PNEUMONIA AND BRONCHITIS.

Brought Mrs. Baker to Death's Door. Father Morrissy's No. 10 Saved Her.

Of the many hundreds of cures wrought by Father Morrissy's No. 10 (Lung Tonic) few are more remarkable than the saving of the life of Mrs. John S. Baker of 164 Rockland-road (North End), St. John, N.B. She wrote on Oct. 16, 1909:

"I began taking Father Morrissy's No. 10 on living to-day, saved from the grave by Father Morrissy's No. 10 (Lung Tonic). This time last year I had pleuro-pneumonia and bronchitis, and had been given up to die, and had my lungs tapped in the City Hospital, and never expected to walk again; I was continually getting worse every day. I came home from the hospital, and everyone was watching for me to die. I tried everything but there seemed to be no cure for me.

"I began taking Father Morrissy's No. 10, and the second day I could eat without pain. I used 22 bottles of No. 10, as I was run down right into consumption, and for six months was just a shadow. I began to use it, and now I am in good health, and surprising most of my neighbors by gaining so quickly. I feel it my duty to publish it everywhere I can, as with all I can say I cannot recommend it too highly—it was a life saver for me and I am very thankful to recommend it, as it is worth all it is said to be."

Father Morrissy's No. 10 is very different from the many preparations that simply relieve a cough. No. 10 relieves the cause of the cough, restores the membranes of throat and lung to a healthy condition, and tones up the whole system, giving strength to resist future attacks.

SHOULDN'T REDUCE TARIFF.

The Orange Sentinel's views on reciprocity are thus expressed: "Two members of the federal government are in Washington negotiating a reciprocity treaty. While the western farmers have asked for lower duties, we believe that the great majority of the electors are decidedly opposed to any reduction in the tariff now existing. The best informed newspapers and public men will agree with this. Indeed, even our neighbors are aware there is no substantial body of sentiment in Canada favorable to such a treaty.

"This being the case, the Laurier government will violate the essential principles of democratic government if such an arrangement is made with the United States before getting a mandate from the people to do so. When the

ROYAL BANK MAKES RECORD SHOWING.

Net Profits Equal to 18.29 Per Cent. on Average Capital—Increase of Over Twenty-Five Million on Aggregate Assets.

The annual statement of the Royal Bank of Canada, which this year received special attention owing to the absorption by it, towards the end of the year, of the Union Bank of Halifax. The consolidation explains, to some extent, the remarkable increases in the total deposits as well as in the current loans and discounts, but the fact that the absorption only took place on Nov. 1, indicates that the record net profits shown were due almost entirely to the operations of the Royal Bank itself.

The net profits for the year ending Dec. 31, 1910, reached the total of $351,338.98, equal to 18.29 per cent. on the average paid-up capital for the year of $5,200,000. These earnings, compared with $338,906.51, show an increase of $12,432.47.

One of the outstanding features of the statement, viewed from the standpoint of conservatism, would seem to be the very large increases in the amount of the assets of the bank represented by specie and Dominion Government notes, the gold and silver coin now standing at $4,141,664.06, compared with $3,669,847.62 at the end of the previous year, while Dominion Government notes now total $8,530,488.25, against $4,993,532.25 at the end of 1909, showing an increase for the both accounts of approximately $4,118,000.

As indicating the very important position the Royal Bank of Canada now holds among the leading banks of the country, its aggregate assets now stand at $22,510,248.95, as against $17,061,102.42 at the end of the previous year. Of this amount deposits bearing interest amount to $11,708,181.86, as against $8,455,828.55 at the end of the previous year, while deposits not bearing interest amount to $10,737,139.48, against $10,555,828.07 at the end of 1909. An issue of new stock made during the course of the year was responsible for a big increase, both in the paid-up capital and in the reserve fund, and capital now standing at $5,200,000, against $4,600,000 at the end of 1909. The average paid-up capital during the year, however, was only $5,200,000. The reserve fund made a big advance from $5,700,000 to $7,000,000, the sum of $1,300,000 of this increase being from premium on new stock, and $100,000 being transferred from profit and loss account.

While the statement is sure to be particularly satisfactory to the shareholders, it would seem only natural to infer that the Royal, which makes still greater strides in the next few years than it has in the past.

The surrogate court here does not often have to deal with a will involving such a large amount as that of John Kirkwood of Midlothian, Scotland, which was probated here yesterday. The estate was valued at $292,059.11, and consisted of more of which was invested in Canadian securities. Nine of the heirs reside in Canada.

John McMillan, laborer, formerly of 234 Bellwoods-avenue, left a will that presented some difficulties to the clerk of the court. He spent his name three or four different ways, but as it was signed as above, it was accepted as such. His daughter, Mary McMillan, also finds the will not entirely satisfactory, as she is left the munificent sum of $1.

GOVERNMENT MAJORITY ONLY NINE ON SNAP VOTE

Public Buildings for Quebec Villages, While Large Places Go Begging.

OTTAWA, Jan. 13.—(Special.)—On a snap verdict the government's majority was reduced to-day to nine votes, which is said to be the smallest since 1896. The question arose over a motion to reduce an appropriation of $17,000 for a postoffice at Marieville, Que., which the members of the opposition denounced as granting large public buildings to small places in the Quebec Province in the hope of affecting votes, while larger and more important places throughout the Dominion were suffering from the need of increased facilities for postoffices and similar purposes. The amount expended so far is $22,000, and the $17,000 additional is asked from the house. Marieville has only 800 inhabitants. The vote in question stood 43 to 34.

It is interesting to note that while appropriations of $15,000 for a postoffice in Arthabaska, was under discussion, Arthur Gilbert, the Nationalist member, remained silent.

Forest Reserves

Hon. Frank Oliver introduced a bill providing for the creation of a new schedule of forest reserves. Included in it is the reserve on the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains, the eastern boundary of which will be from the Yellow Head Pass north. Powers are provided for the expropriation of property which may be held by private individuals. Any rights which exist as for instance, timber limits or leases, will not be interfered with, but patents may be expropriated.

E. N. Lewis (East Huron) introduced two bills, one to make it possible to deport immigrants within four years of their landing in Canada, if found guilty of carrying offensive weapons. The other is to make it acceptance of secret commissions a criminal offence.

A Useless Department

W. D. Northrup (East Hastings) drew the attention of the prime minister to the fact that the minister of external affairs, Hon. Chas. Murphy had not been sent to Washington to conduct as such, the negotiations with the U. S. Government. It was proof that the new department was not required.

Mr. Northrup remarked that in not sending Mr. Murphy to Washington, the gaiety of nations, judging by the report of the investigation into the printing bureau, had lost a valuable contribution. Mr. Murphy had issued an order to the bureau that any employee found under the influence of liquor would be suspended one week. If found in a similar condition on a second occasion, he would be suspended two weeks, and on a third occasion he would be dismissed. Mr. Murphy added a note to the regulation, stating that this did not apply to those persons who did not use liquor.

Wants a Wharf

C. L. Owen (East Northumberland) after stating that there was not a government building in his riding, asked if it was the intention of the minister of public works to build a new wharf at the coming summer at Brighton. The farmers were wondering why they could not get five or six thousand dollars for a wharf, yet $15 was spent on militia and defence for every dollar spent on agriculture. Mr. Pugsley had promised one, but the promise had not been implemented.

Mr. Pugsley said he did not give any definite promise.

Hon. Geo. E. Foster pointed out that Sir John Thompson's memorandum of 1888 upon the fisheries in connection with Canadian bays, which he had asked for, had not been produced. The memorandum had laid the foundation of the negotiations which led to the Chamberlain-Bayard treaty, to the United States, and the recent Hague award confirmed that award, and made most important references to Sir John Thompson's memorandum. Mr. Foster urged that this should be made public.

The Premier Promised that the memorandum would be produced.

Hon. L. Borden, in a newspaper report that the American members of the International Waterways Commission had made a report on the Long Sault dam project, asked if the Canadian section had considered the question, or made a report upon it.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he had had no reply from the American commissioners. The Canadian commissioners had made no report.

George Gordon (Niagara) complained of the postal facilities in New Ontario. The railway only went as far as & N. O. Railway and that a number of new towns in the north were suffering as a consequence. The mail, including large quantities of newspapers, through irregularities in the mail service, was thrown into the baggage car from Engharsh, which was 114 miles from Cochrane.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he would be sorry to believe that there had been any neglect on the part of the department. He reminded Mr. Gordon that it was not always possible to grant applications for improved mail service without some delay. He promised to make enquiry at once, and to give Mr. Gordon an answer one way or the other.

When the house went into supply, the first vote taken up was a sum of $10,000 for a postoffice at Arthabaska, in the County of Drummond-Arthabaska. The population of the place is only 700, and this afforded the opposition an opportunity of renewing the complaint that a great part of the money set aside for public buildings is spent in small towns, while larger places, usually located in constituencies represented by opposition members, are neglected.

Mr. Lator (Hastings) instanced the case of Dunnville. T. W. Crothers (West Elgin) said that the system of apportioning votes for public buildings and other works was corrupt and degrading. Its sole aim was to strengthen the hands of the government. Then, here was a town of 900 population which was to get a public building, while these were places in Ontario with a population of 200 without one. A fixed rule should be laid down, stating what population and revenue would entitle a town to a public building. Then it would not be necessary for members to go down on their knees to the minister and ask for appropriations.

A Skeptic

"I have been reading in a magazine article that David Belasco always wears pyjamas when he is writing a play."

"Well," replied the producing manager, after he had gazed at the young dramatist for a moment, "I don't believe you could write a play, even if David were to lend you his pyjamas." —Chicago Record-Herald.

FRANCE URGED TO TAKE LEAD IN ARBITRATION

In a Better Position Than Ever To Carry Out Traditional Peace Policy.

PARIS, Jan. 13.—Following Foreign Minister Pichon's declaration in a speech in the chamber of deputies that France, by her policy of making ententes with Russia, Great Britain, Italy and other nations, now was in a better position than ever to carry out her traditional policy for maintaining international peace, M. Jaures, the socialist leader in the chamber, to-day urged upon the deputies that France take the lead in following up President Taft's plan for universal arbitration.

M. Jaures said that the projected treaty between the United States and Great Britain would be the first link of a chain which would bind all nations and peoples not to bear indefinitely the burden of armed peace, which was only a hideous caricature of real peace.

Approved in Germany.

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—The speech of M. Pichon is regarded with much satisfaction in semi-official circles in Germany. An assurance of the French minister of foreign affairs in his address to the chamber that France intends to respect fully the Moroccan agreements is welcomed here, while his utterances in reference to the recent Russo-German negotiations are viewed as tending to nullify efforts of the foreign press to international suspicions.

STARTS THE NEW YEAR A NEW MAN

Quebec Farmer Tells What Dodd's Kidney Pills Did For Him.

They Fixed Up His Kidneys, Made His Blood Pure, and Made Him Feel Young All Over.

FRANKLIN CENTRE, Que., Jan. 13.—(Special.)—The only way to start the New Year right is to get the health right, and Mr. William Gamble, a well known farmer living near here is telling his neighbors how he got his health right.

"I am a farmer sixty-seven years of age," Mr. Gamble says, "and I suffered with a weak back, and stoppage of health and energy for thousands of years. I used several boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and they made a new man of me. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best medicine I have ever taken."

Dodd's Kidney Pills will make a new man of you because they make the kidneys strong and healthy and allow them to do their work of straining all the impurities out of the blood. Pure blood means new life. It means good circulation and renewed strength and energy all over the body.

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all forms of Kidney Disease from Backache to Bright's Disease, and they are also doing a great work by giving renewed health and energy to thousands of Canadians who are run-down, tired and generally feeling no good for anything. Start the new year by toning up the kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills. It will pay you.

TAFT APPROVES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Significant progress was made to-day in the movement for the creation of a permanent tariff commission. Not only did President Taft in an address at the banquet of the National Tariff Commission Association openly endorse the Long-gularly bill, characterizing it as "a comprehensive measure that is necessary to make the commission effective," but he also stated that he would be glad to make the commission effective, but he would be glad to make the commission effective, but he would be glad to make the commission effective.

Dog's Long Laying.

It is impossible to say when dogs were first domesticated, but some of the earliest traces are found on Egyptian monuments, with figures of dogs, somewhat of the greyhound type, which date back to at least 3500 B.C. Even in these remote days the dog was highly esteemed. Coming down a little later we read that Ulysses, 3000 years ago, was recognized by his dog Argus after his swineherd had failed to do so.

STARTED SOMETHING

Noisy News Agent Quelled by Pugilist Constable Bob Day.

Joseph Weiss, 42 years, a married man employed as a railway news agent, started something at the matinee at the Gaiety Theatre yesterday, where he occupied a box seat. He raised so much of it that he was visited by Special Constable and Amateur Heavyweight Bob Day, who demonstrated who was boss, in addition to which Weiss was arrested, charged with disorderly conduct.

HYDRO POWER ON FROM LONDON TO WOODSTOCK

Satisfactory Test Made Last Night —Toronto Is Not Yet Prepared.

Another important step was taken in the completion of the installation of the hydro electric commission's long-distance lines last night.

At 6 o'clock the power was turned into the line from London to Woodstock, thus connecting up the loop system which is a feature of the transmission line.

During the day the power was sent from London by Guelph, Berlin, Stratford and St. Mary's. All the municipalities on this western circuit now get the current over two independent lines. This permits any one section to be cut out without disabling the others on the circuit, and means a great deal in the adjustment of the service.

As soon as St. Thomas is ready, the power can be supplied there, but the municipality is not yet prepared to receive it.

In this respect Toronto is like St. Thomas, and if the power was at the city limits it would have to wait. It will, however, be two or three weeks before the system is complete for use before the adjustment of the service. This is, of course, on account of the legal delays for which we are indebted to our public-spirited fellow citizen, Mr. G. P. Magan.

The transformer station has been ready for some weeks, but the city apparatus has not yet been installed. Toronto may have her own electric light for a Valentine, it is hoped.

MORE ANTI-RECIPROCITY.

PORT ARTHUR, Jan. 13.—The board of trade passed a resolution to-night opposing reciprocity with the United States. Minister of Public Works Pugsley is being invited to officiate at the opening of the Western Dry Dock and Shipbuilding Co.'s plant early next week.

She Makes a Suggestion.

"How beautiful and clean the horizon looks," said Polly as on the second out she came upon the deck and threw herself down in the steamer chair beside me.

"Well, it ought to be," said I, looking up from my book. "The captain has been sweeping it with his glass for the last six hours."

"That reminds me," said Polly, turning two very grave brown eyes upon me. "Did you remember to bring that vacuum cleaner along with you, as I suggested?"

"No," said I, wearily. "I remembered to forget it, however. What on earth does anybody want with a vacuum cleaner at sea?"

"It was only for you, dear," said Polly. "I thought you would like to have your brains massaged with it occasionally."

HOW IT WORKED.

On New Year's Day I vowed, forsooth, From wrong my soul to sever; I said I'd tell the gospel truth Forever and forever; And if perchance I failed to be Up to my promise living, For every lie to charity, A dollar I'd be giving!

A visiting friend of late To see my wife's relations; Respecting my financial state They made interrogations. Explaining all they asked about, I loosened fancy's tether— My vow and I are down and out. For we went broke together! —Chicago Daily News.

Crawling Up.

A little girl was greatly interested in watching the men in her grandfather's orchard putting bands of tar around the fruit trees, and asked a great many questions. Some weeks later, when in the city with her mother, she noticed a gentleman with a mourning band around his sleeve.

"Mamma," she asked, "what's to keep them from crawling up his other arm?"

No, indeed! Yeast—Don't you think woman is a puzzle? Crimzonbeak—Sure; but not one of those missing word puzzles!—Yonkers Statesman.

Yeggmen.

A "yegg" or "yeggman" might be defined as a cross between a tramp and a burglar. "Yeggmen" travel about the country always by stealing or begging rides on freight trains, and their operations are generally confined to banks or postoffices in the smaller towns. Eventually "yeggmen" are likely to come to grief thru the loss of a leg or an arm, when they take to begging, and become known as "ex-yeggmen."

Upward Movement in Effect With C.P.R. the Strong Point Pools on Wall Street Not Averse to Seeing Higher Prices--Buoyant Feeling in Toronto Market.

World Office, Friday Evening, Jan. 13. There were several outbursts of strength on the Toronto Stock Exchange in to-day's trading, sharp advances being recorded in various of the specialties.

The market was again a broad one and gave evidence of a responsible undertone, though it was noteworthy that there were no material changes in values in respect to the general list of speculative securities.

The feature of the day was the 6-1/2 point jump in Toronto Electric Light. This stock was bid up rapidly to the high figures, selling at 129, as against 122 1/2 yesterday.

There was no activity in respect to either of these issues. Rio was quoted lower in London today, and the security sold off here in consequence.
