SAYS SOLDIERS ARE ALL IN FAVOR OF CONSCRIPTION

Correspondent Tells How Men From Trenches Feel—Think Others Should be Forced to do Their Share

New York, Aug. 26.—C. J. Haig, of Edinburgh, correspondent and member of the Rosebery Royal Scots Committee, made an attack on German methods of warfare in an address at the Hotel Imperial here. Materialism of the most gross kind, he said, was prevailing in Germany and he blamed that influence for most of the barbarities of the war. Of the situation in England, Haig talked at some length, and predicted that conscription must come if the war lasted over another winter, although holding stoutly that England, which has always been looked upon as a naval rather than a military power has done better.

"When I went to the front I was a non-conscriptor, but now my views are changed," he says. "One of the most interesting periods I spent was when I interviewed the wounded soldiers at the hospitals. Those who were but slightly wounded and could be patched up and sent back to the front were crying in the field hospitals. I asked many of them if they were anxious to go back.

"Some of them said 'No, some were good soldiers and would go wherever they were ordered. Many others answered something like this:

"We are willing to go back and see it through now that we are here, but we don't think it fair that men who have been forced to stand the hardships and have been under the should be turned out as soon as their wounds are healed, when hundreds of thousands of young men in England and Scotland are not fit to finger to aid their country."

"The soldiers in the trenches are for conscription to a man, and I think now that the only way to take all the men of military age and make them go into the army. It is true that some are conscientious objectors, but they are a small part. The married men seem more ready to go than the single men. I think that men who have a more serious realization of their responsibility and of what the war means are more ready to go."

"The objective of the German nation was not Russia, France or Belgium," he continued. "It was England. Germany would have made easy terms with those countries, had she overpowered them. Then after time, perhaps four or five years, with a stronger army than ever, Germany would have tackled Great Britain single handed. Had England kept out of this war she would not have been in a position to call upon her Allies for support. Then, after, Britain had been overcome, Germany would probably have come over to America, certainly to Canada and possibly to the United States, Germany wanted to end Great Britain's supremacy of the sea and become the most powerful nation in the world."

In telling of the preparations Germany made for war, Mr. Haig said in he had found some first-hand information 25 years ago in a little town in Germany. He had seen a long row of wagons with their loads covered, he said, and had asked what they contained. He was told that they carried ammunition, clothing and food for the soldiers. The food, he said, was examined and if necessary, changed every week.

The lecture was given before members and guests of the Rotary Club, of which Mr. Haig is a member. Col. Edw. A. Haver, who introduced Mr. Haig, explained that the club was neutral and accepted the address as the English view.

"That's My Corn"

What a Confession!

Something hits a shoe. There's a flash of pain, and the victim says, "That's my corn."

"My corn," pined and coddled for years, perhaps, it's as needless as a dirty hand.

A Blue-jay plaster, applied in a jiffy, would end that pain instantly. And the B & B wax that's in it would terminate the corn in two days.

No pain, no soreness, no inconvenience. The corn loosens and comes out. It disappears forever.

It's hard to prevent corns while having deanty feet. But it isn't hard to end them. A million corns a month are ended in this easy Blue-jay way. You do yourself injustice when you suffer from a corn.

Half your friends have proved this.

NO CLUE TO LYNCHERS OF FRANK

Marietta, Ga., Aug. 26—Without being able to elicit from any one of eleven witnesses a single clue as to the identity of any person connected with the lynching of Leo M. Frank near this city, a coroner's jury returned a verdict that Frank came to his death by hanging at the hands of parties unknown.

City and county officials testified they had endeavored diligently to get at the facts of the lynching, but so far their efforts had been of no avail.

ST. JOHN, N. B., AUGUST 26, 1915.

STILL BORING!

The Standard this morning is found engaged in its favorite occupation of making borings in connection with the Valley Railway. For a moment it abandons its seven-years quest for a proper route from Gagetown to St. John, and bores in the hope of ascertaining how it came about that certain opinions and statements placed before members of the Board of Trade in committee by Hon. Mr. Hazen and the Attorney-General have become something like public property.

No doubt that is an interesting line of inquiry, but at the moment the public, which is aware that the Federal Minister and the Attorney-General made a sudden change of base at the meeting in question with respect both to the Valley Railway and the Transcontinental, is waiting to hear from the Standard and from the council of the Board of Trade precisely what was said at that meeting.

A full and impartial report of all that was said there should have been published long ago, and should now be made public without delay.

Are we to infer from the Standard's outcry that either the Hon. Mr. Hazen or the Attorney-General said anything at the Board of Trade council meeting which, or either of them, would not say in public? We trust not. These gentlemen, in their representative capacity only, and members of the Board of Trade in their representative capacity only, were dealing with matters which were essentially public, and not with the private concerns of individuals.

It became widely known after the meeting that the views expressed by the Ministers indicated sweeping changes of plans with respect to the whole Valley Railway scheme, changes vitally affecting the credit and future prospects of this city and province.

It has become known, also, that the views expressed at that meeting by representatives of the two governments were by no means in agreement with the views recently expressed by Premier Clarke, who still professes to be searching for a favorable crossing of the river in order that the railway may follow the east side route.

Although by seven years of boring Hon. Mr. Clarke may hope to build up a reputation for doing something, he scarcely can hope to avoid a public verdict against his administration which has wasted six years out of the seven and finds itself still at sea, or else is dishonestly misleading the public as to the real route and the real prospects of the Valley railway.

And speaking of Hon. Mr. Clarke's seven years of endeavor, one is reminded that mere persistence of that character is not necessarily a sign of genius. The premier is no doubt familiar with a gentleman mentioned by Dean Swift who "had been eight years upon a project for extracting sublimates out of cucumbers, which were to be put in phials hermetically sealed, and let out to warm the air in raw, inclement summers."

The Dean's man of research was engaged in his particular pursuit for one year longer than Hon. Mr. Clarke and his associates have yet occupied, but it may be feared that they cannot count upon another year of public patience.

If Hon. Mr. Cochrane, and Hon. Mr. Hazen, and Hon. Mr. Baxter, and Mr. F. P. Gutelius are firm and fast advocates now of the west side route and a Navy Island bridge, what will it avail the province or Hon. Mr. Clarke to bore for another year or so here and there along the banks of the St. John River?

As a matter of fact the whole Valley railway project is now up in the air. The recent re-organization of the company itself will probably be followed by the organization of a new construction company—and this is the next development upon which public attention must rest with the utmost vigilance.

Already reports are in circulation concerning this scheme. It may be hoped that if any such construction company is organized its personnel, and the connections and backing of its personnel, will be above suspicion. We shall see.

THE WAR.

What is certain in the Dardanelles is that the British have been pushing forward. Rumor says that two cruisers of the allied fleet have penetrated the Straits, but this is not confirmed. The tone of the despatches and the comments of military writers in London are, however, distinctly optimistic, and experts express hope of hearing of the Allies being in Constantinople by the end of September.

From Athens, whence comes much of the news relative to the campaign against Turkey, there is a report that the Porte threatens to make separate peace unless Germany declares war on Italy. This is but another sign supporting the general belief that Turkey sees that her end is near.

In Russia the Germans continue their effort to envelop the Grand Duke's retreating armies, but success seems no nearer and the softening ground is adding to Von Hindenburg's troubles in moving his heavy guns. The Grand Duke meantime has several lines of retreat still available and his rear guards may be counted upon to make the Germans pay dearly for every yard they advance in the world.

MANITOBA.

Conservative heads should hang for shame today in Manitoba. The Royal Commission's report on the parliament buildings scandal has been made public and, in its clarity and directness, is a tremendously farcical condemnation of the former Conservative premier, some political associates and a firm of contractors, for sheer robbery of the province.

The report of the Royal Commission is published in today's Times. It will be found to develop a sordid tale of theft from the people, a plot, designed with care and thoroughness, to pile up extra charges in the construction of the parliament buildings in Winnipeg. Of these large sums wrongfully taken from the people much was to go to an election fund. To carry out the scheme successfully it must be assured that Thos. Kelly & Sons be given the contract, and to do this all principles of right and justice were violated.

The Peter Lyall Company underbid the Kellys, but that was a matter soon adjusted. The head of the Kelly firm was told of the Lyall tender and was given opportunity to reduce his price, which he did by $3,250, and secured the contract. Here is an extract from the report of the Royal Commission:

"That before the contract for the parliament buildings was entered into, a fraudulent scheme or conspiracy was formed to obtain an election fund out of extra in connection therewith; and to defer contemplated changes until after the contract was let, for the purpose of creating large extras for this purpose; that the parties in said scheme or conspiracy in its inception were the premier, Sir Rodmond Roblin, Mr. Colwell, the acting minister of public works, and Thomas Kelly, the senior member of Thos. Kelly & Sons."

It is shown that the province, in the carrying out of the gigantic steal, was fleeced out of $362,000.10, and in language the purpose of which may not be misunderstood, Sir Rodmond Roblin, former Conservative premier of the province is declared one of the principals in this stupendous outrage.

As time went on fear of discovery arose and the Royal Commission plainly sets out its finding that Premier Roblin and Dr. Montague, then Minister of Public Works, deliberately destroyed an order-in-council and other papers bearing upon the matter.

Roblin's reasons for resignation have been well known for some time, but never have been so clearly shown as in the convincing report of the commission. He gave up office in time to save the ignominy of being cast out, but that is all he has saved so far as the respect of right-thinking people is concerned. The people, in the recent elections, expressed themselves in no uncertain manner and Conservative rule was ended in the province. But does that end the matter? Must not wrong be made right? Are the guilty to go unpunished?

It would be interesting to know how Hon. Robert Rogers feels after reading the report of the Royal Commission on the Manitoba scandal.

Germany is adopting a more conciliatory tone in its communications with the United States government over the sinking of the Lusitania. She is yet to be heard from, however, on the Lusitania murder.

Former President Roosevelt does not mix matters when he expresses his opinion of the course the United States has followed relative to the war. "An ignoble part among the nations" is his phrasing of it.

There should be general and prompt response to the campaign just being started here for recruits and for money for the Patriotic Fund. Those who cannot go to fight at least can do something in the way of contribution to ensure proper provision for the dear ones whom the fighting men have left at home.

St. John has a whole-hearted welcome for Captain H. H. Smith, a former resident, who is in the city today after gallantly doing his share at the front. All will wish him steady recovery from the wounds he received at Langemark. His tribute to the efficiency of Major Frank Magee's heavy battery adds to St. John's pride in the work of her gallant sons.

A happily married woman, who had enjoyed thirty-three years of wedlock, and whose husband was of four beautiful little children, had an amusing old colored woman for a cook. One day when a box of especially beautiful flowers was left for the mistress, the cook happened to be present, and she said: 'Yo' husband send you all the pretty flowers you gets, Missy?' 'Certainly, my husband, Mammy,' proudly answered the lady. 'Glory! exclaimed the cook, 'he sutenly an holdin' out well.'

A LIFETIME OF SICKNESS

Worn Out, Thin and Miserable Until She Took "Fruit-a-tives"

Palmetto, Ont., June 20th, 1914. "Stomach Trouble and Distressing Headaches nearly drove me wild. Some time ago, I got a box of "Fruit-a-tives," your famous fruit medicine, and they completely relieved me. Today I am feeling fine and a physician, meeting me on the street, asked the reason for my improved appearance. I said, "I am taking Fruit-a-tives." He said, "If Fruit-a-tives make you look so well, go ahead and take them. They are doing more for you than I can."

Numberless are the stories told of George Washington. Upon one occasion, while the American army was in camp, Washington heard that the colored sentries were not altogether reliable. He determined to test the matter for himself. One night, therefore, when the password was "Cambridge," the general went out, and walked up to a colored sentry.

"Who goes there?" cried the sentinel. "A friend," was the reply. "Advance, friend, and give the counter sign." "Roxburgh," said Washington. "No, sah," replied the soldier. "Medford," said Washington. "No, sah," was the response. "Charleston," said Washington. The sentry lost patience. "I tell you, Massa Washington," he said emphatically, "no man can go by here without he say 'Cambridge.'"

Serpt Pitts believed in handling his men firmly. Pausing before one recruit he eyed him sternly. "Now, then, pull yourself together," he barked harshly. "You're standing all wrong! Your uniform's not put on right, your buttons are dirty and you're holding your rifle like a hay fork. Let's see if you can march. Right about face!"

The recruit stood stock still and heaved a sigh of relief. "Thank goodness," he said, with resignation. "I'm right about something."

Two farmers, attired in corduroys and gaiters, were strolling through a picture gallery, where they looked, and apparently felt, decidedly out of place. But at last they brought up before a picture which really seemed to please them—a portrait of a lovely girl with a particularly ugly bulldog.

"This is something nice, Dick," said one. "What is it called?" Dick referred to the catalogue. "Beauty and the Beast," he said. The other man looked closer at the picture. "Ah!" he sighed, appreciatively, "he is a beauty, too!"

A Poor Advertisement

The Germanic assumption to all the virtues in a superlative degree is as amusing as the bombastic wording of certain advertisers or the frothy mouthings of cheap political spindlers.

Yet were we simply to say that we are showing a complete line of Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Diamonds and other Precious Stones, that we are Opticians, Watch and Jewelry Repairers, that we have a very fine selection of Sterling Silver, Electro Plate and Cut Glass, while it would be all with in the truth, it would be a poorly written ad.

HUSH MONEY SUITS SCORED BY JUDGE "They Are Absolutely Cold-Blooded Conspiracies," Asserts New York Magistrate New York, Aug. 26.—Woman's tears and woman's wiles and man's hard heart, together with a long description of the tough time Miss Yvette de Von had of it alone, or accompanied, in a great city, filled the Tombs Court with weep and lament and spectators at the hearing of her case. Miss de Von, driven to poverty by Andrew Cunio, an Italian banker, who gave her only flats and theatre parties and innumerable joy rides and dinners, and wound up his career of cruelty by sending her to Europe for a dramatic education, some time ago, filed a breach of promise suit against the banker for $20,000. But Cunio was married already, and furthermore, he insists that the woman knew it the first time she met him and also when she turned and bit the hand that not only fed her, but sent her abroad. The days of chivalry are dead. The banker called his erstwhile protégée a liar, and had her hauled into court to answer a perjury charge, based on her $20,000 suit in which she said she did not know he was married. After Magistrate Corrigan had heard the whole story, which began at the French student's hall and worked from there to a climax, he held Miss de Von in $1,000 bail to await the action of the grand jury and delivered himself of a lecture on "hush money" suits. Banker Cunio admitted that he had offered to pay Miss de Von $2,000 to withdraw the suit, but only "to avoid publicity and obtain peace." Miss de Von refused to take the stand, and after a protest from Mr. Reilly, Magistrate Corrigan held her in $1,000 bail. Then, after saying that his following remarks did not apply to the lawyer for the defendant in the perjury action, the magistrate flayed "hush money" suits in general. "They are absolutely cold-blooded conspiracies," he said. "They are legal 'shake-downs' and when a client fixes on a victim from whom he thinks he can extort hush money, he goes to a shyster lawyer and they cook up the evidence. "Any man in this city is likely to find himself a victim. I do not have to do more than point out the circumstances of the famous Oliver Osborne case." "There is no comparison between the two cases," Mr. Reilly cried, jumping up. "I said that I am not applying this to the present case," the magistrate answered. "I am saying this because I think it should be called to the attention of the public. It is time the magistrates should take action to stop this blackmail."

Had "Cholera Infantum." WAS WASTED TO A SHADOW. Cholera Infantum is one of the most common summer complaints of infants, and many die who could be saved if taken in hand on the first sign of the trouble. It begins with a profuse diarrhoea, very often accompanied by vomiting, and the matter ejected from the stomach has a bilious appearance. The child rapidly loses flesh and becomes weak and languid. Mrs. W. Falla, 455 Jones Ave., Toronto, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for my three boys, and I do believe it saved their lives. One of them had cholera infantum so bad he was wasted to a shadow, and the doctor had given him up, but 'Dr. Fowler's' cured him. I have also used it myself for colic and find it an excellent remedy. I would not be without it in the house." Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is the original remedy for the cure of all bowel complaints. It has been on the market for the past 70 years. When you ask for "Dr. Fowler's" see that you get "Dr. Fowler's." Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. Price, 35c.

RECENT WEDDINGS A quiet wedding took place yesterday morning at the Bungalow, Idlewild, when Ethel May Holder and Arnold W. Heas, of St. John, were united in marriage by Rev. Gordon Dickie, of St. John. The ceremony took place on the veranda of the cottage under an arch of maple leaves, trimmed with the national flag. The bride was nicely attired in a gown of hand embroidered with volles and she was given away by her father, Charles W. Holder. Later a dainty luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. Heas then left for a canoeing trip along the St. John river. At Farmington, N. H., during the 68 days ended Aug. 10, there were only two in which rain did not fall at some time in the twenty-four hours.

INSPECTIONS OF THE CANADIANS BY BONAR LAW

Inspiring Scene in Downpour of Rain—Mr. Law's Speech on Dominion's Share in Government

(London Times)

Bonar Law, secretary for the colonies, visited Folkestone yesterday to hold in the afternoon two inspections of the Canadian troops stationed in and about Shoreham. Major-General the Hon. Sir James H. MacBain, Minister of Militia and Defence in Canada; General Carson, representing the minister of militia; Colonel Watson, Lieutenant-Colonel Sir Max Aitken, M. P., and others travelled with Mr. Law by the boat train from London.

The scene of the first inspection was Bagrove Farm, some three or four miles out of Folkestone. Beachborough Park, the seat of Sir Arthur Markham, M. P., where the Queen's Canadian Hospital also is situated. Just before the hour for inspection a heavy thunder shower came streaming down, and the thousands of paraded men must have been wet to the skin before Mr. Law and General Hughes and Stone appeared upon the ground.

But an afternoon that was never fine and was mainly wet detracted nothing from the impressiveness of the scene. Indeed, the weather did something to lessen the air of a stately pleasure-gathering, a neo-line review, which was given by the fine lines on one side of the review ground, the fringe of spectators and motor cars on the other, the summer turf and the playing bands. These men have come many thousands of miles, the call of patriotism and civilization, to face worse things than a storm of rain.

With the cavalry, artillery and cyclists these masses of men made a magnificent spectacle in respect to the appearance of Mr. Law they stood arms, presented arms, and returned to the slope. In movement they were more impressive still.

Mr. Law and General Hughes, having driven down the long line in a motor-car, took their places by the flag, and the march-past began. The cavalry and artillery took no part in this, and at the distance the guns could be seen wheeling of the ground; but as the infantry went by, platoon after platoon, the officers saluting and the men turning "eyes right," their fine physique, their smartness, and their organization were unmistakable. To look up the long ground was to see the bayonets sweeping down on the spectators like a shimmering wave of steel. The moving masses gave, too, a great impression of numbers, although these thousands are only a drop in the bucket of what Canada has given and of what she is willing to give.

From Beachborough Park Mr. Law, General Hughes, General Carson, and other officers went by motor-car to that celebrated Moore Plains. The Canadians at present headquarters include mounted rifles, artillery and infantry.

All these troops were drawn up on the plain, and, commencing its progress, the name of O'Leary will always be prominent. The dining arrangements of the "Victoria Cross" will never be forgotten by those who saw the British Empire, to reflect upon them in the ages to come. Because the interest showed throughout the nation in the deeds of this young soldier, there was a special interest at the Gem Theatre yesterday in the showing of the Pathe News Gaiety which presented his picture as a hero of the Black Sea and the sinking of a Turkish cruiser. Pictures of Lord Kitchener in London won applause.

Hearty laughter was aroused at a "scarcely funny" Vitagraph comedy played by Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew in the leading roles. It was entitled "Booby's Baby" and there was a laugh throughout the picture. The 10th episode of "The Exploits of Elaine" was "The Life Current," which showed the heroine in peril through the machinations of "The Clutching Hand" aiming to destroy Craig Kennedy through the medium of "the poisoned kiss." This show will be repeated for the last time today.

gether, and with them pledges were not scraps of paper. There were some who suggested that Great Britain was only playing at war and not doing her share, but he did not think that fair. We had nothing to be ashamed of. This was a war that could not be carried on on the limited liability principle. We were in it, and had got to stick in it everything we had, and we should do so. We had got to win the war, and in order to do that we must make every man and every shilling we possessed. We had our full share of staying power, and we were not going to let us down. (Cheers.)

Major-General Hughes said that Canada might well be proud of her boys. At the front, and in nearly all the Canadian regiments, would be found men not only of English, French and Scotch blood, but of the German breed. They had learned what liberty meant in Belgium, and in Canada they had learned to call one recruiting meeting. All they had to do was to announce in various districts that they were about to raise another regiment, and in less than a week that regiment would be raised.

ROOSEVELT FLAYS U. S. FOR WAR ATTITUDE

Pittsburgh, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Theodore Roosevelt in an address tonight at the military instruction camp here, declared that for thirteen months the United States had "played an ignominious part among the nations" in that it had "lambly submitted to seeing the weak, whom we had covetously to protect, wronged," and "had seen our own men, women and children murdered on the high seas without action on our part."

The former president condemned the government for having "not taken the smallest step in the way of preparation to defend our own rights." Germany, he condemned as "utterly brutal and ruthless in its disregard of international morality" and declared that it "would be a base abandonment of morality" for the United States to make shipments "for the restoration of Belgium" to the United States. He added that such shipments should be put, he said, on a "bill of dishonour." He added that they should be encouraged "so that we may be able to hold our own in our turn," hour of peril comes to us in our turn.

That somebody in Beechurst, L. I., is conscience-stricken is the theory of the post office authorities to account for a $1 bill to which was attached a cent stamp and which was found in a letter box. The bill was forwarded to the "conscience fund" of the Treasury Department at Washington.

Thrilling Tale of Hill 60 Is Told in Masterly Style By Chaplain Watkins

Nothing in History to Equal Fight for Little Mound Near Ypres—A Story of Heroism Never Excelled—Human Endurance and Valor Put to The Furthest Test

The Christian Guardian of Aug. 18 publishes the following thrilling story of the famous fight for Hill 60, written by Rev. Owen S. Watkins, Wesleyan chaplain.

For days it had been common knowledge that we were on the eve of great events. The Germans were concentrating for attack, and all were anticipating one of the greatest battles that the world had ever seen.

An insignificant mound, but for all that, one of the most important strategic points in the German line, for it was their principal "observing station" for artillery fire, and also commanded the roads whereby they brought up their supplies and ammunition.

It was evident that in the event of an attack this position would be invaluable to them, and equally evident that if we could secure it their operations would be greatly hampered, and probably defeated.

At the stroke of seven it was as though a volcanic eruption had taken place. The whole hill went sky-high, and the sound of explosion was heard from all sides.

What the German loss in lives was nobody knows; we only found three or four wounded, mangled men, and they said they were all that was left of at least 500 who had been holding the trenches.

Now our losses really began, and I don't believe there is any man living who could describe that fight. We were instructed to hold it at all costs; the Germans were ordered to retake the position, however great the sacrifice.

At the stroke of seven it was as though a volcanic eruption had taken place. The whole hill went sky-high, and the sound of explosion was heard from all sides.

What the German loss in lives was nobody knows; we only found three or four wounded, mangled men, and they said they were all that was left of at least 500 who had been holding the trenches.

Now our losses really began, and I don't believe there is any man living who could describe that fight. We were instructed to hold it at all costs; the Germans were ordered to retake the position, however great the sacrifice.

For days it had been common knowledge that we were on the eve of great events. The Germans were concentrating for attack, and all were anticipating one of the greatest battles that the world had ever seen.

An insignificant mound, but for all that, one of the most important strategic points in the German line, for it was their principal "observing station" for artillery fire, and also commanded the roads whereby they brought up their supplies and ammunition.

It was evident that in the event of an attack this position would be invaluable to them, and equally evident that if we could secure it their operations would be greatly hampered, and probably defeated.

DINED GEORGE HAM ON HIS BIRTHDAY

C. P. R. Veteran Now 68 Years Old—Composed Menu But Did Not Know He Was to be Guest of Honor

(Montreal Mail) Sixty-eight guests paid homage to Colonel George Helpful Ham, as the menu described him, at the Place Viger hotel last evening.

The dinner was an informal one, and was a surprise to Colonel Ham. It was unique in detail—even more unique than the things with which Colonel Ham had to do.

Printed on the menu was a poem: "How Laughter Came to Canada," written for Colonel Ham and dedicated to him by Neil Munro, Aug. 23, 1908.

PEOPLE AGAIN BUYING JEWELRY FREELY IN THE STATES; A GOOD SIGN

New York, Aug. 25.—The fact that people are again buying jewelry was cited by T. J. Coombs, of Omaha, Neb., president of the American National Retail Jewelers' Association, at its convention here, as evidence that good times are returning.

"The jewelry business is a good barometer," said Mr. Coombs. "People are now buying jewelry and there seems to be no tendency to hoard money in the jewelry business the panicky war times are no more."

Samuel Hershenshtein, Assistant United States District Attorney, announced that he had filed an effort to bring a case in Congress to amend the penal code so that the time during which a bankrupt's absent from the jurisdiction of the state will not be included in granting exemption under the statute of limitations.

place was a shambles. In the midst of the horror wounded doctors, chaplains, nursing orderlies and bearers A confused stream of moved, groaning men poured in from the advanced dressing station, and a continual stream poured out, to proceed, in charge of the motor ambulance convoy, to the railroad.

Here a shattered man with, grim stoicism to try to get more bearers, and if possible more medical officers.

I met with a measure of success, for Captain Beddows had just returned from "collecting" in another part of the line, and was able to return with me, bringing his bearers with him. He now took command of the dressing station, working among the wounded, himself leading the bearers when they went again to Bean Foot Farm, and the dead railway cutting. Later he was needed at the Asylum, where the wounded were now gathered, in great numbers and Captain Lindsay was drawn in from his station on the hill. All through the night the ghastly stream poured in. I did not now attempt to picture that dressing station—blood, horror, shrieks and groans. I wish I could forget it, trying to get more bearers, and if possible more medical officers.

As Sunday dawned but there was no pause in the stream of horror and suffering which flowed in upon us from the hill above. Every available motor ambulance was ceaselessly at work the drivers only getting rest and time to eat during a few minutes spent in loading and unloading their cars. With the coming of daylight the whole of the road from the Asylum to the landing point was shelled persistently by the enemy's guns; car after car was hit, but fortunately no one was put out of action. Then the guns were ranged on to the advanced dressing station itself. Wounded who lay on stretchers waiting for the cars were hit again as they lay; the barn, into which we had gathered many of the cases, was struck several times, the patients being wounded and killed, and six of our R. A. M. C. bearers wounded. The barn caught fire. The patients had been rescued from the flames, with shrapnel burning over us. The whole day lives in my mind confused and horrible—the memory of a bad dream. The tidings from the hill above varied from hour to hour, sometimes the whole position was in our hands, later we learned that we hadn't a man left upon it, and all the work was to do again. When the sun set we were told the Germans had been completely driven from the position, but were preparing for another counter attack.

In the hill which followed we worked feverishly, striving to clear the hill of the wounded before the fighting started once again Major Hannafin arrived from his station on the hill, looking haggard and worn, but debonair as ever. He reported that he had 600 stretchers, which were being carried out. They had been gathered in the railway cutting, and must be moved out to the cars. The cars were fire every man of them would be torn to ribbons by shrapnel, for there was no shelter, and the cutting was swept from end to end by their deadly fire. Our bearers were done to a man, for long since all the regimental bearers had been killed or wounded, and we were now working right into the fire-trenches. Finally the motor ambulances were packed to secure yet further assistance, and by dawn the hill was clear and we were ready for the next phase of the fight.

A Hospital Scene The scene in the Asylum baffles description. The great wards were thought more than adequate to any emergency were packed to overflowing. In the corridors were long rows of stretchers, their occupants waving their hands to go to the operating rooms; the banks

Commission Finds Manitoba Charges Are Fully Proven

Sweeping Indictment of Former Premier, Sir Rodmond Roblin, and His Colleagues in Government—Conspired With Contractor and Robbed Province of $892,000

Winnipeg, Aug. 25.—The report of the Mathers Royal Commission, published this afternoon, summarises the findings of the commissioners as follows: 1.—That all the charges contained in the above in part rectified amendment and memorial have been fully proven. 2.—That before the contract for the parliament buildings was entered into a fraudulent scheme or conspiracy was formed to obtain an election fund out of extras in connection therewith; and to defer contemplated changes until after the contract was let, for the purpose of creating large extras for this purpose; that the parties in said scheme or conspiracy in its inception were the premier, Sir Rodmond Roblin; Mr. Caldwell, the acting minister of public works, and Thomas Kelly, the senior member of Thomas Kelly & Sons. 3.—That Thomas Kelly & Sons were informed of the contemplated changes before tenders were due. 4.—That the tender put in by the Peter Lyall Company, being the only one received by the department of public works, on the 2nd of July, 1913, within the time advertised, was on that day either shown to Thomas Kelly, or its contents made known to him, and on the following day a tender was received from his firm for $8,250 less than the Lyall tender. All the circumstances point to Sir Rodmond Roblin as the person through whom or whose authority Thomas Kelly obtained this advance knowledge of the Lyall tender. 5.—That the change from piling to caissons for the foundation was prudent, and although there is some doubt as to the wisdom of the change from concrete to steel we are satisfied that the stability of the building has not been impaired by such change. SCHEME TO RAISE ELECTION FUND. 6.—That the fraudulent scheme or conspiracy formed before the contract was entered into to obtain from the extra an election fund, as afterwards continued and carried out. For this purpose Dr. R. M. Simpson, V. W. Horwood, the provincial architect, and at least some of the other members of Thomas Kelly & Sons, became parties to and active participants in carrying it out, in addition to those by whom the original conspiracy was formed. There is no direct evidence that J. H. Howden, the attorney-general, was a party to the conspiracy at its inception, but his subsequent conduct convinces us that he early became a party to it. We believe that Dr. Montague, for some time after he became minister of public works, did not become a party to the fraudulent scheme or conspiracy entered into by his colleagues, but that he was informed of its existence and purpose by Dr. Simpson in January or February, 1914, and that he then became a party to it. 7.—That in pursuance of this fraudulent scheme or conspiracy very large sums of money belonging to the province were fraudulently paid out to the contractors, Thomas Kelly & Sons. 8.—That the contractors, Thomas Kelly & Sons, out of the monies so fraudulently obtained, paid large sums of money to Dr. R. M. Simpson for an election fund. PROVINCE ROBBED OF $892,098.10. 9.—That in pursuance of this fraudulent scheme or conspiracy the contractors, Thomas Kelly & Sons, were paid by the government the following sums of money, to which they were not entitled: In respect of the caissons, $680,704.50. In respect of the north wing steel, $102,692.36. In respect of the south wing central portion and dome for, $68,997.71. In respect of the brick for rubble, $37,963.73. In respect of the three feet of excavation dispensed with by the building being raised, but nevertheless paid for, $21,748.20. Total, $892,098.10. 10.—That in further pursuance of the said fraudulent scheme or conspiracy, the north wing steel contract by Sir Rodmond Roblin and Dr. Montague with the contractors for $880,100, a price known to all of them to be inflated to the extent of over $100,000 by the inclusion therein of a large sum for election fund. 11.—That in further pursuance of the said fraudulent scheme or conspiracy, Sir Rodmond Roblin entered into a contract with the contractors for the south wing central portion and dome for $202,650, he and the contractors well knowing that said price was inflated by the inclusion therein of a large sum for election fund, and there had been no plans prepared for the dome, and at that time no honest estimate of the steel required could be made. DR. SIMPSON, THE TOOL. 12.—That Dr. Simpson acted as financial agent of the then government in carrying out the aforesaid fraudulent scheme and conspiracy, and in respect of the caissons and the three steel contracts mentioned, either dictated the lump sum or the project for election fund, or he advised Mr. Horwood's estimate, and in pursuance of such dictation the architect did add to his estimate in each case the sum so specified. 13.—That Mr. Horwood accepted such dictation from Dr. Simpson, in the first on instructions from Mr. Caldwell, and he afterwards continued to do so with the knowledge and acquiescence of Dr. Montague. DESTROYED THE RECORDS. 14.—That Sir Rodmond Roblin and Dr. Montague, some time after October 18, 1914, and before January 1, 1915, fearing the consequences which would result from the discovery of the aforesaid contract, destroyed, or caused to be destroyed, the order-in-council passed on July 4, 1914, authorizing the execution of said contract and the several copies thereof, together with the said contract and every paper and record known to them by which its existence could be traced. 15.—That Dr. Montague agreed with the contractors, Thomas Kelly & Sons, to recoup them out of the dome construction to the extent of $75,000 at least, for the loss they sustained in the destruction of the destroyed contract, and he sent Mr. Horwood to Chicago in company with Thomas Kelly to arrange with E. C. Shankland to increase the weight of steel in the dome plans, then being prepared by him to the extent necessary to accomplish this purpose; that Mr. Horwood did so arrange with Mr. Shankland, who did increase the weight of the steel as required. 16.—That the steel plans for the dome December 8, 1914, when the last payment was made, until work was stopped, about the middle of May, the contractors are overpaid to the amount of $701,068.89. 17.—That the government agreed to pay E. C. Shankland five per cent, on the contract price of the dome to be erected from his plans and on December 29, 1914, this sum is more than double what his remuneration would have been based upon the necessary tonnage of steel in the dome at reasonable ton prices. 18.—That during the session of the public accounts committee in March, 1915, W. A. Elliott, the chief inspector, at the request of Mr. Horwood, certified the yardage of concrete on the last three applications for payment in respect of the caissons, and William Salt, also at Mr. Horwood's request, altered his records of the depth of the caissons for the purpose, in each case, of deceiving the said committee, and that in each case Mr. Horwood acted by instructions of Mr. Caldwell. Paid Official to Go Away. 19.—That when Mr. Caldwell and Mr. Horwood ascertained that William Salt would not falsely swear to the accuracy of the said altered depths of the caissons, he was by them sent out of the province, beyond the reach of the said committee. 20.—That this same witness, William Salt was paid various sums of money to remain out of the province during the session of the public accounts committee, and after the prorogation of the legislature he was paid large sums to remain out of the jurisdiction of your commission. That those actively instrumental in keeping William Salt beyond the jurisdiction during the period named were Mr. Caldwell, Mr. Howden, Thomas Kelly, Mr. Horwood and Dr. Simpson, and the agents employed by them that purpose were Mr. W. A. Elliott, Mr. M. G. Hook, two employees of the government, and Mr. H. W. Wilts. 21.—We find that after giving the contractors credit for all the work done and the value of the materials on the site, and of the steel fabricated but not delivered, including the work done from

THRILLING TALE OF HILL 60

(Continued from preceding page). iam puffed silently at a cigarette, there another writhed and shouted in delirium orderlies went from man to man with steaming basins of soup, doctors bent over stretchers lying on the floor, re-dressing wounds or administering the merciful morphine, others with some wreck of humanity stretched on the operating table were engaged in a last desperate struggle to save life, and in the midst of the bustle, noise and reek of blood a chaplain knelt in prayer by the side of a dying man. To get out into the fresh air again was like going into a new world. The duty that called one back to the fight was welcomed as a relief; the dangers and horrors to be found at the foot of Hill 60 were easier to endure than those words of suffering and horror. Monday passed and Tuesday dawned, and still the fight raged on. The shattered remnants of the 18th Infantry Brigade were drawn out, and others took their place, and at last Major Hannafin and his comrades, almost in a state of collapse were removed and given the opportunity of a few hours' sleep. Whether the hill was ours or not we did not know, but if the British could not hold it neither could the enemy, and their great attack which had meanwhile developed on every side of us, was greatly hampered thereby. Some Dauntless Heroes I feel I have failed in my effort to make you realize this fight and there are so many tales of heroism I might have told. The gallantry and devotion of Major Hannafin and Lieut. Morris, working on the hillside under dreadful fire, or in the railway cutting swept with shrapnel, and with its high explosive shell, would in a lesser way have won them special recognition. The sleepless labors of the Rev. D. F. Carey (Church of England) who from beginning to end of the rush walked the wards helping the doctors, comforting the wounded, praying with the dying—doing a work which brought fresh glory to the name of Christian minister. There were our gallant comrades of the British Red Cross who brought their care to our help over shell-swept roads, noteworthy among them being Mr. Fisher (in peace time a don at Oxford), who during all these days, never slept, was ready to turn his hand to any work, from driving a car to carrying a stretcher, and so give some exhausted bearer a brief rest. I was Mr. Gibbs of the Society of Friends' Ambulance (a barrister and the son of Sir John Gibbs), who did such good work with his own hands, bringing his "motor coffee-shop" as he men call it right up to the dressing station, always under fire, never stopping, dispensing to wounded and to exhausted doctors and bearers hot bowls of soup tea and coffee, and his own coffee, which he had lugged long since but for him," said one of the bearers, and he spoke so truly to the heart of the men that he lapsed under the strain Mr. Gibbs did the work single-handed, and when to-morrow he was to be sent to the front, he still found work to do, for he filled his coffee-shop with wounded men and stretched out on the floor, and he called him, for his caravan made a good mark for the enemy, he drove back triumphantly, and there are the stories of the fight itself many of which are now familiar to all, for have not they been heretofore decorated with the much coveted V. C.? The subaltern who at one period of the fight almost single-handed held the position against the enemy; the Home Counties (Territorial) Engineers, who when the fight was in progress, actually worked between the opposing lines, putting up wire entanglements—but I must stop, suffice it to say I was never so proud of the British name, or realised before how high human endurance and valor could go. I thank God that He has honored me by permitting me to call such men my comrades. A Sad Duty A night's rest, and we wakened to take our share in the second battle of Ypres, which was now raging but that story I must reserve for another chapter. Our first duty on that Wednesday when we awakened from the sleep of exhaustion was the sad one of burying the dead. One service will ever live in my memory, for we were laying to rest the officers of the East Surrey Regiment who had fallen in the fight; the officer commanding, Major Patterson, and all others who, on the previous Wednesday, I had talked with in the dug outs on the banks of the Ypres-Comines Canal. At the request of the regiment I assisted the Rev. D. E. Carey (Church of England), for though none of them were members of our church, all were my personal friends. It was an impressive service. All that was left of the shattered regiment was there and many eyes were wet, for Major Patterson was greatly loved by his men. We would av followed him anywhere, said a burly sergeant. "He was one of the best. God help us to follow him when he's gone for he's with God if ever man was."

MORNING WAR SUMMARY

London, Aug. 25, 10.15 p. m.—An official report on recent operations in the Gallipoli peninsula, issued tonight, set at rest rumors which have been in circulation for several days, crediting the British troops with having either cut off or outflanked the Turkish forces opposed to them. The report states that while the ground gained is of great value the true objectives have not been reached. In the first attack, early in the month, the Australians and New Zealanders reached the summits of Sari Bahr and Chanak Bahr, commanding positions on the west coast of the peninsula, but through the failure of the new landing party at Suvla Bay to make the progress expected, the troops from the dominions were compelled to fall back. Another attack was made last Saturday, but on this occasion, having lost the advantage of surprise, the British could not reach the summit and were compelled to retire again. The report admits heavy British losses, but adds that those of the Turks must have been heavier. Altogether the British hold a front of twelve miles along the west side of the peninsula, and at some points have penetrated a considerable distance into the interior. The Turks are making a very stubborn defense of their positions, but the Allies have confidence that with the strong forces at their command, and the assistance of the fleet, the Dardanelles will be forced before the arrival of the unfavorable weather, which is due towards the end of September. BAD ROADS DELAY GERMANS. Weather conditions also are playing a part in the operations on the eastern front. It is reported that the roads in Coufard are softening already, as the result of continued rains, and that the Germans are finding it more difficult to move forward their artillery. They are still trying, however, to force back the Russians, who are holding the line between the rivers Asa and Dvina, and claim to have been successful at one point, at least. General Elichorn, who captured Kovno, is advancing eastward, according to Berlin, while progress is reported by each of the five armies which are marching on Brest-Litovsk. One of these armies—that on the southwest front—is said to have broken through one of the advanced positions of the fortress. General Elichorn's plan, apparently, is to march rapidly on Vilna, and after occupying that town to attempt an advance to Minsk, thus placing his army on the Russian line of retreat from the Bug, while Field Marshal Von Mackensen and Prince Leopold of Bavaria continue their efforts to envelop Brest-Litovsk. As Grand Duke Nicholas still has several lines of retreat open to him, and as his rear guards heretofore have shown their ability to hold off the Austro-Germans until their retirement was effected, military writers here do not believe this plan will succeed. The only event of importance reported from the western front is the capture, by the Germans, of a portion of a trench they lost to the French in the Vosges. Elsewhere it has been only a repetition of artillery, hand grenade and mine fighting. New York, Aug. 25.—A news agency despatch, published here this afternoon under date of Athens, August 25, says: "Two allied cruisers penetrated the Dardanelles yesterday and bombarded the Kastanea batteries with considerable effect." London, Aug. 25.—Forcing of the Dardanelles and attack on Constantinople may be looked for at almost any moment now, in the opinion of military authorities here. Rumors were rife today that the Straits had already been forced, and one official, stating that he had it on unimpeachable authority, but refused to give details, made the following enigmatic statement: "Something of such importance has already occurred at the Dardanelles that the price of wheat will shortly be greatly affected." It is probable that many of these rumors took their origin in the statement from Athens this morning that two British cruisers had penetrated the Dardanelles, sunk four Turkish transports and destroyed several shore batteries, a story that caused great enthusiasm in London today.

Stomach Trouble Due to Acidity Stomach troubles such as indigestion, wind, and stomach-ache are simply evidence that fermentation is taking place in the food contents of the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acids. Wind distends the stomach, and causes that full, oppressive feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the fermenting food. Such fermentation is unnatural, and acid formation is not only unnatural but may involve most serious consequences if not corrected. To stop or prevent fermentation and to neutralize the acid, a teaspoonful of bisulphate of magnesia, probably the best and most effective corrector of acid stomach known, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of water immediately after eating, or whenever wind or acidity is felt. The action of the fermentation, and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments. Bisulphate of magnesia can be obtained from any chemist. It enables the stomach to do its work properly without being hindered by poisonous gas and dangerous acids. Bisulphate of Magnesia, No. 22 E. 2nd St., N. Y. C.

Art Finnamore Married.

Arthur Finnamore, known all over the maritime provinces as a baseball, hockey and football player and sprinter, and formerly of the Montreal Royals and City League teams, was married in Fredericton yesterday morning to Miss Lottie M. McLaughlin, daughter of the late Joseph McLaughlin. The groom is now engaged as a guard at a war munitions manufacturing plant.

Covaleskie As a "Come Back."

One of the most remarkable come-backs in baseball is Harry Covaleskie, the left-handed pitcher of the Detroit club. Covaleskie was considered out of major league baseball when, five or six years ago, he was sent to the Southern League. For a time his work there was only mediocre, and those who were responsible for his going there felt satisfied that no mistake had been made. But Covaleskie continued to improve and finally became a star in that company. He was drafted by the Detroit club, and he is now one of the best pitchers in the league and is very likely to make a better record this year than he did last season.

Connie Mack After Players.

Philadelphia, Aug. 25.—After experimenting with more players so far this season than most managers would try out in two years, Connie Mack still is far from satisfied with those he retains on his payroll, and in an effort to get more material from which to pick players for a pennant contender in 1916 has taken entire charge of the team and has sent his captain, Harry Davis, and his chief scout, Ira Thomas, on another hunt through the tall grass.

BOWLING.

Balley and Burk Win.

An interesting and very closely contested match was bowled last night on Black's alleys between three two-men teams. Balley and Burk won out, but only by a margin of one pin. The scoring follows: Balley 85 81 121 94 105 592 Burk 84 81 95 93 84 88 583

Boston, the birthplace of the Atlantic Coast Bowling Association and scene of the first great tournament of the organization which amazed the bowling world by its magnitude in Mechanic's Building last May, will be the scene of another big tournament for alley stars. Although the national tournament for tenpins, candlepin and duckpin bowlers will be held in Washington, a big tournament is planned for Boston as well as other New England, western and southern cities. In all sections the plans are being made and the organization of Boston chapters of the Atlantic Coast Bowling Association, which will act as "feeders" to the national event, is being

Union of Municipalities Hears Announcement by Attorney-General—Convention Urges Industrial Training

The tenth annual convention of the New Brunswick Union of Municipalities opened in Fredericton yesterday afternoon, J. King Kelly, of St. John presiding.

Addresses of welcome to the visiting delegates were delivered by Warden Harry Smith of York county and Mayor Mitchell of Fredericton.

The latter referred to the necessity of the union contributing to the patriotic fund. Responses to the address of welcome were made by Ald. D. S. Creighton of Newcastle and Councillor O'Brien of Lancaster, St. John county.

Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, attorney-general of New Brunswick, who represented the provincial government at the convention was heard in a very interesting address on "Public Service."

In the course of this Hon. Mr. Baxter expressed regret that the public should level "certain and illimitable criticism" at those who served municipal bodies without recompense and for the good of the community. He also said that the minister of public works would outline before the convention a proposed system for highway administration which would do away with some of the present difficulties.

A. R. Slipp, M.P.P. for Queens, in the course of a brief address, said that the same criticism referred to by Hon. Mr. Baxter also was directed toward members of the legislative bodies, high-ways and municipal councils.

F. H. Sexton, director of technical education in New Scotia, spoke upon "The new demands of industry on education."

J. J. Palmer, president of the Fredericton Board of Trade, led a discussion on the subject.

At the evening session the discussion of industrial training was continued and a resolution was adopted as follows: "That the industrial training before Municipalities urge upon the government of New Brunswick the establishment of technical industrial training in connection with the common public school system of this province and also pressed for the establishment of night schools in the cities and towns for technical workers."

Ald. W. F. Higgins, of St. Stephen, read an excellent paper upon the subject of "The municipality and patriotic work." The paper pointed out the registration of all men of military age by the municipal authorities as a means of industrial recruiting. The paper was heartily received.

Mayor Wallace, of Sussex, suggested that a grant be voted out of the union's funds to the patriotic fund.

President Kelley ruled that such a grant be voted out of the union's funds to the patriotic fund.

After a lengthy discussion the question of having Ald. Higgins' paper printed and a paper by R. B. Wallace, of Fredericton, upon the Union Jack delivered at the convention of 1914 also printed, was referred to the executive.

Success. Thousands of dollars worth of prizes were awarded for the Mechanic's building affair, and the next will be even greater.

Plans for the tournament of the Boston Chapter of the Atlantic Coast Bowling Association, which will be held next spring, were perfected some time ago, and there remains at present the problem of deciding in what establishment the event will be held. George W. Chandler, the best-known bowler in club circles in New England, is the president of the Boston chapter and C. M. Goodnow, vice president of the Boston National Baseball Club, is the vice-president of the chapter. John J. Donovan, secretary of the Atlantic Coast Bowling Association, is secretary-treasurer, but will later part with the financial end.

Every bowling alley owner in Greater Boston is invited to ask for the tournament.

Makes Hole in One.

Howard P. Whitney, secretary of the United States Golf Association, recently realized an ambition that he has had for twenty years—the making of a golf hole in one stroke. And Whitney did it with a borrowed midiron.

Whitney was playing on the St. Regis course. He came to the tenth hole—a 178 yard affair. The head of Whitney's own midiron had become loose and Whitney borrowed a club from his opponent. He teed up, swatted the ball right where it ought to be swatted, and the ball, after traveling about 155 yards in the air, landed and rolled right into the cup.

Oh, yes, Whitney owns that midiron now. He intends to show it to his grandchildren.

CAMPAIGN FOR PATRIOTIC FUND

Local Executive Will Engage Organizer and Begin Province-Wide Work—Hope For $50,000 From Patriotic Auction

Initial steps were taken at a meeting of the patriotic fund executive yesterday to inaugurate a campaign for an increased patriotic fund and to provide for a province-wide organization in an effort to carry on more efficiently the great work of caring for those affected by the departure of wage-earners for the fighting line.

Judge Forbes, who presided, spoke of the advisability of an expansion of activity and referred to an offer made by Sir Herbert Ames that the central fund would pay the expenses incurred in organizing along provincial lines.

The members of the executive deemed the time opportune for a thorough canvass of the province and it was moved that the name of Lieut.-Governor Wood be added to the executive for that purpose.

It was decided to approach the newspaper of New Brunswick with the object of conducting an educational campaign, a committee consisting of H. V. MacKinnon, R. E. Armstrong and C. B. Allan was chosen to assist in this work.

The president, Mr. Allan, and C. W. Bell were appointed a committee to make a report suggesting the name of a suitable person for organizer.

In regard to payments, the importance of bi-monthly returns on account of postage. It was pointed out that a monthly system would do away with a lot of office work.

The intention of the executive is to have payments made on the 15th of the month by the government pays on the 1st of the month.

Secretary-treasurer Allan spoke of the need of a filing cabinet for the office of the patriotic fund and H. V. MacKinnon kindly loaned the required article.

It was decided to ask the board of trade, the Rotary Club, the Knights of Columbus and the Automobile Association to join in the campaign for a provincial canvass.

H. V. MacKinnon said that the Daughters of the Empire had decided to conduct a patriotic auction with the object of raising $50,000 for the patriotic fund and R. E. Armstrong, a member of the patriotic executive, was named to assist the Daughters of the Empire in the auction.

Mrs. Josephine Christenson of Brookton saw her brother, Charles Swanson, recently for the first time since she left Sweden 49 years ago, when but ten years old. She did not recognize him, but he made his identity clear by relating experiences of their childhood.

DEATH OF JOHN R. GRAHAM

Bangor Commercial—News of the death of John R. Graham, president of the Bangor Railway & Electric Co., which occurred in Intervale, N. H., on Tuesday afternoon was heard with general regret by his numerous friends in Bangor and eastern Maine.

Mr. Graham was born in the north of Ireland, of Scotch-Irish parents, on Dec. 19, 1847. His parents moved to Boston when he was about five years old.

Mr. Graham was well known in St. John through his connection with the Suburban Railway Company, organized to build electric railroads in and around this city.

He was warned that he was liable to nine months in jail. An additional charge of going beyond the stand allotted to cabin was brought against him, but no action was taken with reference to it. Burton L. Gerow spoke on his behalf.

LIEUT. A. N. CARTER

NOW MACHINE GUN OFFICER OF BATTALION

News of Promotion Reaches Home—More Than 100 of Battalion Training in Machine Gun Work

Writing from Longmoor Camp, England, under date of August 8, Lieut. Arthur N. Carter of the 8th Battalion York and Lancaster Regiment, speaks of the great interest of the recruits in Kitchener's Army in machine gun practice. He himself has been promoted to be machine gun officer of his battalion, and has one tenth of its fighting force, over 100 men, under his command. Writing to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Carter of Fair Vale, he says:

"We are completing our course of rapid training and beginning our final practice one or two days tomorrow. I am hugely pleased with the progress everyone is making, and the men are delighted with the work and keener than anyone."

"Our new guns—of which we have three—are the best in the world, if the searching test they were given the other day is any proof. Fifteen thousand rounds were fired by twenty-five different guns without a serious stoppage, and with marvellous accuracy. When the Germans run into our batteries they're going to have a most interesting experience. The Lewis is absolutely the last word in machine guns, take it as you will. Light, small, reliable, air-cooled and simplicity."

"Another wonderful stroke of fortune has befallen me in having a sergeant of the 1st Battalion, who has just months at the front with the machine gun handed over to me the other day. He is one of the best and will be invaluable. "Altogether there are over one hundred men of the battalion being trained in machine gun work now, i. e., the tenth of the fighting strength. This will give you some idea of the importance assigned to our work, with this there is no limit to the possibilities open to a M. G. O., and I don't cease congratulating myself on my good fortune in the appointment."

"Rumor is as usual to the effect that we leave here shortly for France, and every one seems to credit the idea this time."

SOCIETY WEDDING IN ST. MARK'S, HALIFAX

Miss Blenda Morrow Bride of Lieut. Curry of the Navy

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 25.—This afternoon St. Mark's was the scene of a wedding of exceptional interest socially. Lemoine officiated was owing to absence of the bride's mother, who comes from the circumstances related to the war, a very quiet one, no formal invitations being issued. However, many friends were present.

The band of one of the warships playing the wedding march from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's March, and also the musical portions of the service.

Miss Morrow who comes away by Lieutenant Colonel Grant, wore a going-away gown of biscuit colored silk with black hat. She was attended by Miss Margery MacKeen, daughter of Senator and Mrs. MacKeen, as the bridesmaid. Mr. Stewart, of the naval college, attended as best man. The bride is a member of a family socially prominent in Halifax for many years.

Lady Who Sold Patent Clothes Lines Was Seeking to Aid Belgians

A report appeared in papers last evening to the effect that a lady has been selling patent clothes lines by house-to-house canvass, for the aid of the Belgian Fund, without authority. The lady in question, Mrs. Herbert Francis of 98 St. James street, who is so well known by a wide circle of friends that no defence or intercession is necessary, called at the Times office today to explain the matter. She said that she had been anxious to contribute to the fund and felt that if she earned the money she could give more than she could otherwise, and so undertook the work of canvassing, from patriotic motives, with the intention of giving half of the profits to the fund. She was naturally greatly surprised and hurt to find the way in which her efforts had been received.

Mrs. Francis called at City Hall this morning and tendered the amount of her profits, $7, to Mayor Frink but she was unable to accept the contribution in view of the fact that the point had been raised that she had, although unwittingly, been violating the by-law which requires the payment of $40 for a license for such work, a by-law of which Mrs. Francis had been entirely ignorant.

TAKEN FROM TRENCHES

James LaClare of Rockland road yesterday received an interesting package from the war zone—a cribbage board of wood and bone found in one of the trenches captured by the Canadians in France. It was sent to him by Paul Barnaby, who is in France with the first contingent. He wrote that he was in good health and would like to be remembered to his friends.

Advertising Economy

Newspaper advertising is sold in exact quantities. You can buy enough to cover one city or town in a hundred-one section or a continent.

A dollar spent in newspaper circulation works a good dollar's worth. The waste is the minimum.

Newspaper advertising is reasonable. You can employ it for summer goods where summer warmth demands them.

You can send a warning message to the frozen north while the sunny south is too busy keeping cool to be interested. That is economy.

Lieut. W. F. Brown Writes Home From Shorncliffe

EVERY MAN IS NEEDED

Tells of Seeing Battle in Air Against German Zeppelins—Every Man Now in Uniform Needed to Hold Enemy While Millions More Are Being Trained

Lieut. W. J. Brown, of the 6th C. M. B., writing on Aug. 18 from Delvise Camp, tells of meeting M. E. Agar, M. Lodge and F. W. Sumner that day, and observes that "apparently all roads lead to Shorncliffe Camp. He says further: "There is a big airship over me as I write here on a bench beside the road to Folkestone. It is about seventy-five feet long, looks like a large whale, and is made of aluminum. They sail along apparently without noise and can be steered in any direction and go up and down at will." In a later note Lieut. Brown says:

"I have just come back from the military funeral of Fred M. McDonald. We walked about seven miles there and back. Did I tell you a man named Rowwood was lost off the Herchel when two days out? He is supposed to have fallen overboard. I was talking with Arthur Welton today. We could hear the guns at the front today. There must have been a heavy engagement near Ostend. We're going again on the following day Lieut. Brown said—

"An aeroplane is hovering around. It is cloudy and anything might come. The crows. They get German submarines. You do not hear about the English success. They get German submarines but say nothing about it, and when the vessels for which the submarines were waiting are announced as having arrived safe the Germans wonder why. When their own submarines fail to report they do not know whether they are sunk or not, and so are kept guessing and worrying."

"With regard to the fighting on land, if it had not been for the British navy the British would have been beaten long ago. As it is, it will take every man we can put in the field. I have talked with dozens of women and they all tell the same story. They are sending troops out of England every day. I saw a colored last night who had been back from the front with his leg off. He says the British have had thousands of officers killed and three times as many permanently disabled as were killed.

"This hill is an uncomfortable place. A sand storm came up last night and this morning everything in the tents was covered with sand, and at breakfast everything was filled with sand. Tonight it rained tons, and all the ground is covered with water. The lightning was very bad but the rain is better than the sand. I tell you they work us here. Some of the troops are doing night work from 2 a. m. till morning, digging trenches. Our turn next.

"The nearer you get to the battle front the more you want to go and beat the enemy. I was in doubt in Canada whether I was needed. I am in no doubt now. All are needed and needed badly. I'd hate to think I didn't offer to go."

Writing on Aug. 11, Lieut. Brown said he was still without letters or papers, although Signaller Beidling had that day shown him a St. John Telegraph of July 29th. He wrote further—

"I had a battle in the night before last. Five German Zeppelins were trying to attack Folkestone and the Canadian camp. Although the night was very dark they were discovered, but before they had dropped some bombs at Dover, about four or five miles away. I was outside my tent about twelve o'clock when the sound of the heavy naval guns attracted my attention. On going over to the sentry he told me that he had seen a German Zeppelin, but that the shots had driven it back. Just then the four searchlights focussed on it and I could see the shells bursting in the air over the straits. The firing kept up for about half an hour. I believe out of the five Zeppelins engaged in the raid, four got away, and one was brought down near Ostend. One of our airmen was killed, and in Dover one man, four women and nine children were killed and five men and nine women and children wounded.

"I had a message from Charlie Knowlton at Sandling Camp. One of his men told me he is very popular, and the best marksman in the battalion. He would have been beaten long ago. You have to be here to understand. Germany bought the year before the war 60,000 machine guns from Maxim of England. Germany, a dozen different fellows who were wounded told me, had as many for our appearance and drill, and may go over before the 28th of August. We did not stay in Canada as long as any other regiment.

"Yesterday the registration started and it looks like conscription. It will take every man now in uniform to hold the enemy until an entirely new army of millions is trained. But for the navy we would have been beaten long ago. You have to be here to understand. Germany bought the year before the war 60,000 machine guns from Maxim of England. Germany, a dozen different fellows who were wounded told me, had as many for our appearance and drill, and may go over before the 28th of August. We did not stay in Canada as long as any other regiment.

"We expect to get to the front as a division of dismounted cavalry. That is the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd C. M. B. as First Brigade; the 4th, 5th and 6th C. M. B. and the R. C. D., Strathmore Horse and Fort Garry Horse as the Second Brigade. Our men passed all right at the review before Bonar Law. The enclosed verse expresses the sentiment of most of us. They were written by Second Lieutenant Alan Crawhall Chalover, 6th Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry, who was killed in action in Flanders on July 31. He was a brilliant scholar and clever athlete:—

"If I were killed today my chief regret in this, the greatest, worst of all the wars, would be that I had not been sure that I had my fate had met. Without a chance of furthering the cause. If I could put a bullet in a foe, but just one German helmet in my kit. Then, if I have to, I'm prepared to go. For, after all, I've done my little bit."
