ESCAPED A RICE SHOWER. Jersey City, N. J., June 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Stacy H. Briant, of this city, are happy in having eluded the gauntlet of old shoes and rice friends had prepared for them at their wedding. The ushers were chiefs in the plot to shower the couple, but the bridesmaid coun-terploted and defeated them by hoisting a ladder to the room on the second floor where the young people were preparing for their wedding journey. Mr. and Mrs. Briant stepped gayly down the ladder with their hand-bags, and before the waiting guests were aware of their ruse they were safely on board their train.

per, written by Jean de Bloch, the Russian chancellor of state and member of the Russian ministry of finance, on the lessons of the Transvaal war, was read at the United Service Institute today. Mr. de Bloch declared the South African war had proved that military service as practiced today, was absurd, and that the sacrifice made on the continent to support conscription was unnecessary.

The war showed that the theatrical Successful Scheme of Aggression Cannot spectacles called maneuvers were in no way related to the real warfare. One of the most remarkable features was the constant impossibility of determining the enemy's position. This was not attributable to British defective reconnoissance, but to the new conditions of war. It was not mis-takes made by the British nor the qualities of the Boers, who had shown Details of Gen. Elliot's Attack on Dewet's Force June an entire lack of rational strategy and tactics, which produced the results seen by smokeless powder and long-range, quick-firing rifles, which inthe possibility of providing riflemen with a larger number of cartridges. The action of artillery in South Africa had been, generally, absolutely contemptible against an entrenched

The main lesson, continued Chancellor de Bloch, was that a successful outcome of a war of aggression could not be hoped for against any great power. No results could be obtained in a great European war. Consequently it had become impossible to wage war decisively.

CHAMBERLAIN'S DICTUM. Mr. Chamberlain, the colonial secre-

BETTING SCANDAL. A great betting scandal has been discovered in British Government Telegraph Department. The operators in the central office in London have been in league with others in suburban and provincial offices for swindling bookmakers. The methods adopted have been ingenious, elaborate and successful, and including a resort to forgery. About a score of men have been suspended, preliminary to their dismissal and an exhaustive inquiry is now proceeding. The present intention is to institute criminal proceedings against the ringleaders. LARGE VESSEL WRECKED. A dispatch from the agent at Lloyd's at the Scilly Islands reports that a large four-masted bark capsized and disappeared off Bishop's Rock at 8 o'clock Sunday evening. The wrecked vessel was the British bark Falkland (Capt. Gracie), from Tacoma, June 30, for Falmouth, with a cargo of grain. The St. Anges lifeboat at midnight brought ashore 20 men, the captain's wife and child and the second mate. The latter says he fears that no others of the ship's company were saved. According to the mate's story a heavy wind early in the evening drove the Falkland among the reefs, and in enleavoring to clear them she struck on Bishop's Rock, her main yard actually striking the lighthouse, and she overturned, sinking in a few minutes. There is now no doubt that the cap tain, mate and four men of the Hulkland are drowned. The body of Mate Bateson was recovered yesterday af-

SALE OF THE ROYAL WINES. The sale of royal wines at Christie's attracted a large throng of dealers, says the New York Tribune's London correspondent. The aggregate sales for 1,169 dozen brought about £3,784, pointing to about £20,000 for the entire surplus stock. While the auction was well attended, the bidding was mainly confined to a few large dealers. It is understood that a considerable quantity of the wine was purchased for the American market. The wines were pale and golden sherries from St. James' Palace cellars, bottled in 1880, 1882, 1891 and 1894.

RURAL FREE MAIL DELIVERY

To Be Extended Over the "Star Routes '

In States North of North Carolina and East of Ohio-A New and Popular Departure.

New York, June 25.—The Journal says:
The new system of rural free mail delivery, devised by Second Assistant Postmaster W. S. Shallenberger, over all "star routes" in states north of North Carolina and east of Ohio, will go into effect on July 1 next.
These "star routes" carry mail to and from the direct line of a railroad, and are served by carriers, afoot, on horseback, in wagons or on bicycles, from the nearest railroad station. For instance a are served by carriers, afoot, on horse-back, in wagons or on bicycles, from the nearest railroad station. For instance, a carrier leaves a certain station on the New York Central Railroad, with mail for four or five towns not reached by the railroad, and returns the same day with mail collected from these places.

The new law prescribes that anyone along the route covered by this carrier may provide a box on the roadside for the reception of mail matter addressed to him. He must file with the postmaster at the postoffice to which his mail is addressed a request in writing for the delivery of his mail to the carrier on the route for deposit into the mail box provided by him on the roadway. The carrier is required to deposit all such mail, except registered mail matter, in the boxes provided.

No particular style or design of box is prescribed but the same station.

No particular style or design of box is prescribed, but it is required that each shall be fitted with a lock and leave an opening for the mail matter. All such mail is deposited at the risk of the owner of the box. The carrier is not required to collect mail matter from these boxes, but, if any mail matter is presented to him, properly stamped, he is required to but, if any mail matter is presented to him, properly stamped, he is required to deliver it for mailing at the next station at which he arrives.

Under this system James Upson Caesar, who lives four miles from Criss Cross Corner, may put up a box on the road, at the gate of the lane leading to his house, and have his mail delivered there daily, avoiding the necessity of hitching up the old mare to the buckboard and arving into town to collect will have to do is to go ackboard and road, or send one of his farm hands, unlock the box and take out the mail.

Rural free delivery is already in successful operation from upward of 400 distributing points, the routes radiating over 40 states and one territory. THIRTEEN TOWNS WERE STRUCK Bluefield, W. Va., June 25.-The cloudburst in the Elkhorn Valley Sarurday night did the greatest damage along the line of the Norfolk and Western Railroad. Thirteen mining towns were entirely or partially devastated. The towns are: Vivian, Langraff, Keystone, North Fork, Powhatan, Elkhorn, Ennis, Mayberry, Coaldale, Cooper, Bluestone, Falls Mills and Groham. Thirty miles of railway track are gone and 200 miles are useless. A score of coal plants were damaged. One hundred cars were swept away. Twenty-five bridges, perhaps more, are missing. A steamboat was sunk and pounded to pieces in Tug River. Sixty miles of territory from Vivian to Wil-liamson was swept by the flood. 200 TO 1,000.

Roanoke, Va., June 25 .- Norfolk and Washington officials here say that owing to lack of direct communication they are unable to estimate the damage caused by the flood in the coal fields. They do not believe the damage to property will amount to $500,000, as at first reported. Estimates of 200 lives lost are now thought to be too great. Governor White, who is here, making arrangements to get tents and provisions for the flooded district, fears the death list will exceed 1,000.

Richmond, Va., June 24.—Conflicting reports received here place the loss of life in the Flat Top region from the flood at from 200 to 300. It is pretty certain that Keystone has been virtually washed out, but the loss of life there probably is over-estimated. There has been a tremendous flood at Charleston, W. Va. Several children were drowned near Tazwell. NOT SO SERIOUS.

Roanoke, Va., June 24.-It is now reported that not over 60 people are missing as a result of Saturday's flood. The town of Keystone, while much damaged, is not washed out, as reported. No estimate of property loss has been made, but it is far up in the thousands. No definite news has been received from the coal fields, as all vires are still down. The estimate hat 200 or more lives were loss is certainly too great. The railway company's loss will reach $500,000. Men and material are being hurried to the fields from all over the line of the

to the Times-Star from Bluefield, W. says: Reports from the devastated flooded district in the Pocahontas flat top region say bodies are being rapidly recovered and identified. A relief corps has patroled a few miles of the territory, but no reliable estiate can yet be made of the number of lives lost. It will be several weeks before railway traffic can be resumed, and probably longer before the mines will be in operation.

TWENTY COLLIERIES AND COKE PLANTS DAMAGED. 'About 20 collieries and coke plants were damaged from $4,000 to $25,000 each. Thousands of homeless persons are camping in the mountains. Their distress is augmented by anguish over missing children and friends, whose fate is unknown. The bodies of John Lewis, a Hungarian, mother and her babe have been recovered. A graveyard was overflowed, and the disinterred by the torrent, floated away in all stages of decay. A tunnel several miles beyond Vivian, was cleared of the track from end to end. All bridges were destroyed. The railway company will be in the neighborhood of a million the boot being torn off one of the childollars. Damage to the coal mines

All stores, lumber camps and business houses in the Elkhorn Valiey were heavily damaged, and in many instances destroyed. Out of the 200 and odd estimated lives lost less than a score of bodies have been recovered and identified. This morning hundreds repair. Railroad shopmen, conductors, engineers and men of all callings, laid down their work to aid, while every available man on the Norfolk and Western system was rushed to the scene.

SAVED BY TELEPHONE. Residents of Keystone were saved by a telephone message apprising them of the coming of the flood. Losses es-timated at $60,000 ensued to the busi-

The Crane Creek branch of the Norfolk and Western, which has been recently graded, has been destroyed for seven miles, and will have to be rebuilt. The Big Four mines are flooded, and the delivery tracks were destroyed.

Six building gangs were hurried to the scene by the telegraph company. An electric light car has been obtained. It is equipped with complete electric lighting plant and apparatus, and will be brought from Hagerstown by special train, so that work can be prosecuted at night.

WIRES STILL DOWN. Roanoke, Va., June 24.—There has been very little news received here to-day from the West Virginia flood. day from the West Virginia flood.

How many are dead is not definitely known, and it necessarily will be several days yet before the exact number can be given out as official, but the various reports in circulation here are that all the way from 50 to 200 person; have been drowned. It is persons have been drowned. It is probably safe to assume the former figures as being more nearly correct than the latter.

THE DEVASTATED REGION. The devastated section covers an area of about 20 miles west of Blue-field. It is a very narrow valley, but much wider than a broad street in some places. Coal mines are scatter-ed all along the road. Keystone, the town reported to have been so greatly damaged, and at first believed to have been wiped out of existence, is a village of between 2,000 and 3,000 people, and is built along the narrow valley and on the sides of the mountains. There is a creek which runs through the town over which most of the houses are built on pile and rock foundations. This creek runs in a zig-zag way through the narrow village, and has a gradual fall. The mountains on either side loom up for hundreds of feet, and the town is so narrow in places that one is obliged to go into the middle of it to see the sky.

A DEATH TRAP. Persons familiar with the situation of Keystone said it would be a death-trap if the flood was as heavy as reported; yet they reason that, occurring in the daytime, there is no reason why many people should have been caught in the onrush of the waters. All reports agree that between 200 and 300 hauses were swept away in the Elkhorn Valley, but, of course, not all the occupants were drowned. The railroad people are rushing material and sup-plies to the scene, and nearly all the worktrains on the road have been sent to the Elkhorn vicinity.

Devastation Elsewhere.

Two buildings were swept away and the basements and lower floors of the notels, shops, stores, banks and every business place in the village were flooded, and goods of all kinds were destroyed. About 600 feet of railroad track was also destroyed. Soon after the cloudburst, a heavy hailstorm set in. It broke many panes of glass in houses and severely damaged farm property. The loss to crops in that section will be enormous.

Winnipeg, June 25.—Owing to heavy rains several bridges have been washed away in the Dauphin (Man.) district. SOMETHING LIKE A BLOW.

Boisse, Man., June 25 .- A terrible windstorm, accompanied with hail and rain, visited the section on Saturday noon. John Dixon's house was unroofed at Royal Schoolhouse. John Birney's house was completely demolished, and the stove was blown two hundred feet, and other damage was done. The crops suffered considerably.

Health and Vitality For the Old People

Wasted muscles, shattered nerves and failing strength may result from old age as well as from disease. As old age creeps on vitality is lowered, the heart beats more slowly, the blood becomes thin and watery and the power of resistance is lessened. It is the old people above all others who require the new life and energy which comes with the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Scores and hundreds of old people depend on Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to restore their exhausted nerve force and replace their wasted tissues. It calms and quiets the nerves, gradually and certainly enriches the blood and builds up the system, and makes old people feel again the thrill of new life and vigor in their shrivelled arteries. From childhood to old age this famous Food Cure is the greatest blessing which medical science has bestowed on mankind,

MANITOBA'S GREAT CROP PROSPECTS

It Looks Now as Though 1901 Would Be a Record-Breaker.

Winnipeg, June 25. - Reports from 125 points in Manitoba and the Territories gathered by Canadian Pacific Railway station agents indicate that this will be the most bounteous harvest in the history of Western Canada. The outlook is even brighter than it was in 1895, when the crop of wheat, cats, etc. aggregated over 60,300,300 bushels. The agents' reports cover pretty fully the whole region from Red River to the Rocky Mountains, and from the 49th parallel to the Saskatchewan. Along the main line of the C. P. R. from Winnipeg to Caigary the prospects are described as "never the prospects are described as "never better for a big crop," "crops looking fine," "crops splendid," "will be a grand yield," "heavy harvest expected," "yield will be above the average," "favorable for record crop," etc., and from not one solitary point is there a discouraging note. No damage to discouraging note. No damage crops from any cause whatever crops from any cause whatever is reported except from one isolated point, where the grub has slightly injured oats, and from another where the average yield will be reduced somewhat by locusts and wire worms, but the damage is scarcely appreciable. The weather is invariably reported as favorable with the except ported as favorable, with the excep-tion of one place, where rain has been too plentiful. Close estimates indicate that wheat will average 25 bushels to the acre, and as there are over 2,000,-000 acres under crop in Manitoba alone the magnitude of the yield, if present expectations are realized, can be easily estimated. The yields in the coarser grains will probably be correspondingly large, there being in West-ern Canada about three-quarters of a million acres under oats, and a quarter of a million under barley, with a large area under flax, potatoes and roots. The settlers, a large number of whom only arrived last spring, are jubilant over the outlook, and confidently anticipate that this year will break all not only in previous records, not only in the quantity, but in the quality of the

Must a Menagerie Be Renewed Every Three Years?

How a Western Manager Scored a Big Success.

Frequency of Insanity Among Caged Beasts-Their Lives Must Be Made Interesting - Effect of Restored Environment.

A common saying among keepers is that averaging one animal with another, a menagerie must be renewed every three years. Yet I know of one manager who kept most of his animals, those of Woodward's Gardens, San Francisco, alive, healthy and happy from the beginning of his time to the end sixteen years later, when the escape of the sixteen years later. end, sixteen years later, when the establishment was broken up, and the animals were ordered to be shot in their cages. The great secret of his success, he tells me, was caring for their minds as well as for their bodies. It is a well-known fact that items.

and many other animals in traveling circuses are healthier and live longer than those in ordinary menageries. At first one might think that the traveling animals get more fresh air and ex-Egremont. The bodies were found last night by a man who, suspicious at the absence of the couple, broke into the house. Mrs. Barnes' body was on a bed, while in the corner of the kitchen was Mr. Barnes' body death baying draughty ill-ventilated foul-smelling. draughty, ill-ventilated, foul-smelling place. The great advantage of the circus is the constant change of scene. the varied excitements that give the animals something to think about, and keep them from torpid habits and mental morbidness.

It has long been known that caged animals, especially the highly organized kinds, suffer from a variety of mental diseases. Mr. Ohnimus, the superintendent referred to, informs me that camels and several other species commonly end their cage lives in lunacy. The camels turned loose in Arizona some years ago were reduced at length to one old male. In course of time his solitary life affected his brain. According to local tradition, he went crazy, and used to attack every living crea-ture near, until he was killed by a mounted cowboy whom he had pursued with murderous intent. Captive bears are apt to fall into a sort of sullen despondency. Foxes and cats often go crazy, and no matter how obviously mental the disease, it is usually set dowr to hydrophobia, and the unanswered question is, How did they get it? Dogs that are constantly chained up commonly become sullen and dangerous. The higher apes and baboons rarely thrive in cages. Soon or late they become abnormally vicious, or else have a complete physical breakdown. All this is so human, and so emphasizes the great truth of evol-ution, that the wise keeper seizes on the cue, and in his management of his charge treats them like human beings of a lower development than himself. of a lower development than himseif.

No very many months ago the Macon Telegraph related an instance where somebody had stolen a red-hot stove from the kitchen of a Walnut street residence while supper was being cooked. Now omes a man who stole four beehives in which were a myriad of little stinger. It is well known that a professional chicken thief has a language by which he can persuade the barnyard fowls to keep a deadly silence at night while he picks over the lot of them and inveigles into a sack those on which his fancy fixed, but it is rather surprising to hear that any man can make bees understand that they must not sting him as he ilfts a busy hive to his shoulder in the dead hour of the night and marches across country with it. This is what has been done, how-

In a neighborhood, through which Ross street runs, a bee farm was robbed recently and four big hives were carried so far that the bees have not yet found their way back to their old homes. It is said that when bees want to go to any particular place they rise in the air and circle around until they find the proper direction, and then they make what is commonly known as a "bee line," going straighter to a place than a crow can

A Mad Mullah.

Our contemporary the Free Press seems to have started the day in a excitement, as if it might have been imbibing Junius or circus overnight. In double-leaded type, and with the tones of a steam calliope, it agonizes with the faithful forewarned and forearmed against that dreadful Premier Ross. It is true he sails next week for England for a well-earned rest; but may not this be only playing 'possum? Mr. Ross has said distinctly there will be another session of the Legislature, and a general election for the Ontario Assembly in June, 1902, but may not that have been said to lull our agitated contemporary into peaceful if not snoring somnolence? The Free Press is not to be caught off guard; but, like the improvement of the manner in Sister Ann, on the watch tower, cries aloud, and spares not. In our contempory's vision a field of the dead rises red in its sight, and the clans of Culloden are scattered in flight. "When Premier Ross gives the word, his hired blacklegs will sweep down upon the constituencies"-"bribery here, swindling there, and ballot-stuffing in other quarters." The way the Assyrian came down like a wolf on the fold, was nothing to what our contemporary seems to think Premier Ross contemplates.

Has our contemporary no remedy for all these detestable, horrible, heinous atrociously villainous intentions? It has. "The battle must not be left entirely to the candidates. There is work for all patriotic men to do. Vigilance committees must be formed." And much more of the same sort, from our esteemed contemporary.

Something other than much learning hath made our esteemed contemporary mad; for we cannot honestly say there is much method in its madness.

Canadian Products in Britain.

The London Morning Post contains an interview with Hon. Sydney Fisher. Minister of Agriculture, who is now on an official visit to Great Brit-The Minister dwelt upon the satisfactory progress made in agriculture in the Dominion during the past six or eight years. He attributed this success partly to increased emigration, and partly to the fact that the exodus to the United States had been changed to an influx of American settlers into our Canadian Northwest. "Another thing." said Mr. Fisher. that has contributed to our prosperity has been the diffusion of knowledge in Eastern Canada, and, indeed, throughout the Dominion, not only as to the methods of production, but as to the methods of marketing. A great deal of Government work has been done in this direction." The subject of cold storage was also referred to. The speaker told how a complete chain of transportation from the creameries, or butter making factories to the ports was effected. He told how the building of local storehouses was encouraged, in which butter could be put as soon as it is made, thence shipped in refrigerator cars from all sections of the country to the ports where steamships are provided with cold storage chambers for the further transportation to Britain. We give the following excerpt from the Morning Post, which contains the questions of man. the interviewer together with Mr.

"Are the British Isles or the United States your best customers?" Great Britain for things of this kind. We send comparatively few food products to the United States."

have been remarkably free from labor difficulties-more so probably than any of our rivals. The fact of the matter is that any laboring man in Canada who is at all thrifty can earn such a good living that he has no inducement to quarrel

"Do you suffer to any extent from what we call in this country the rural exodus?" "Well, to certain extent.
Until recently a good many of our young men went from the farms to large centers of population in the United States, but of late our farmers

There have been a few in Canada. have been on the whole more prosperous, and their emigration to the States has practically ceased. Very few of our people farm leased lands; young o marry can nearly always purchase farms of their own. The fact that they do not care to work for other people has made the problem of farm help a difficult one."

"What are your principal fruit cops?" "Apples, of course, form our largest fruit crop, but we are now sending to the home country a considnumber of pears in cold storthe problem of carrying them is somenot altogether solved it in the case of are concerned, I think it has been grow a great deal of fruit, and I think the quality of the fruit generally is better than that of any grown else-where on the American continent."

Referring to the matter of the exportation of apples, Mr. Fisher showed that the average amount of Canadian apples exported during the last four years was over a million barrels per annum. To remedy any defect in the packing of fruit and to protect British importers who handle our Can-adian apples the Canadian Parliament have passed a bill which will come into force on the 1st of July next. The three main provisions of this bill are as follows:

"1. It requires that the name and address of the packer shall be marked in a legible manner on every closed package containing fruit. 2. It prohibits the use of any designation such as 'finest,' 'best,' or 'extra quality,' unless the apples are all sound. well-grown specimens of the variety, of good color, properly packed, and unless not less than 90 per cent is entirely free from bruises and other defects. 3. It enacts that the faced or shown surfaces of the packages of fruit shall be representative of the quality of fruit Cuba against other nations and throughout the package; and it is to keeping it open for themselves. be counted a misrepresentation when more than 15 per cent of the fruit in any package is substantially inferior in of the girls from the public schools grade or variety to the faced or shown who have passed the entrance examisurfaces of such packages. In the administration of the act during the first season the intention is to have it aminations for the boys' free colleges; enforced in such a way that it will the best scholars of the public schools not embarrass trade, but will lead to girls and boys, being usually Jews." which Canadian apples are packed and delivered.

O'Grady-Haly.

It is not at Niegara camp as it was at Waterloo. At Niagara it is this yet in every walk of life the Jew is way: "Is Gineral O'Grady-Haly prisint?" "He is." "Well, shtop yer learnin' to shoot, go and driss up in yer best uniform, and put a ramrod up yer back."-Hamilton Spectator.

The costly and bloody war that has been in progress in South Africa for standing the fact that she possesses at the first blast of the bugle in danger's hour, cannot afford to neglect the essential of success in war, namely, a trained soldiery. Pageantry in times of peace is pleasing to the eye, but military splendor, after all, counts for but little in troublous times, unless with it goes the ability to shoot well and at the same time avoid the shafts of the enemy. Major-General O'Grady-Haly, commander of the Canadian forces, apparnetly does not recognize this. A fine uniform and a backbone coincident throughout with a ramrod are more to him than skill in marksmanship.

Lieut.-Col. Peters, D. O. C., belongs to a more modern school of military ideas, holding as he does that ability ronto, one of the oldest paper-making to shoot well is the prime requisite of firms of the country, coming so soon a soldier; whose personal comfort after the business embarrassment of should receive attention; whose dress the equally well-known firm of Copp should permit of the utmost comfort Bros., of Hamilton, is a rather paand freedom of limb, and whose ra- thetic evidence of the altered conditions should be sufficient for the ardu- tions of business, and the passing away ous duties of the field. When this is of the old order of things therein. New recognized throughout by superior of- conditions, new methods, new men ficers of the British army, then will the successes of British arms be of less expense, both as regards blood and money.

The Canadian Accent.

The following telegraphic item rather a strange one:

"London, June 19 .- Five Canadians are receiving military instructions at Aldershot. Recently the military structor told them that the first thing they must do before they could hope to be satisfactory officers was to drop their accent. Whether they consented to yield to the advice of the officers is not known.

The Canadian accent is far from correct, judged by accent of an educated English-Irishman, or Scotchman There may be a few differences, but these may be debatable. For instance, take the pronunciation of the word, "psalms." In Canada, it would be pronounced like "a," but in Great "Does the labor problem cause you Britain like "aw," and where one has much difficulty in Canada?" "We been educated to pronounce it "aw." been educated to pronounce it "aw," and it does not occur to you as affectation, it sounds better than when pronounced "a."

The voice of the Rev. Hugh Price Hughes, the great Methodist divine, could easily be taken, with the pronunciation thrown in, for that of the Hon. George W. Ross; and who would notice any difference in the accent of

There have been a few in Canada who have made themselves absurd by leaving out the letter "r" when pronouncing certain words. Such persons imitate the mistakes, although they believe they are imitating the speech of aristocratic people. But it is not so. Educated men in Great Britain drop neither the letter "h" nor the letter "r." Dropping the letter "r" is very common in the United States, and is age, and also some peaches and never pleasant. It is not common grapes. These all grow in great luxu- with really educated men anywhere It is due almost entirely to affectation; at least, so it sounds. Not long ago there was some talk of peaches and grapes. As far as pears introducing a change in the Canadian schools in accent and pronunciation, but it has not come to anything. We do not think the Canadian accent can be much improved. We doubt if there is any part of the King's vast Empire where the English language is, on the average, spoken as correctly by everytrue, but things grew so rapidly in one as in the greater part of all Canthe summer as to make up for the coldness of the winter. In the south-

"I am still a young man," said Russell Sage, the octogenarian New York financier, the other day, "for a man is young just as long as he takes an active interest in his own life and in the life of the world in which he lives." That is the true philosophy that leads to a green old age.

In St. Petersburg, cabmen charge women only half as much as they charge men. This seems "woman's rights" rather than an equality of the sexes, for the majority of women today, with their street-cleaning dress attachments, take up much more room in a conveyance than men do.

The trouble with the United States is that before the war with Spain, her statesmen promised to drive the Spaniards from the island of Cuba, and then let the people do as they pleased about their system of government. But they find that they are like the man who had hold of the mad dog by the tail. They see danger in holding on, but far greater in letting go, and besides wish to turn an honest penny by shutting the "open door" of trade with

They have a new jail in a down east county, and the local editor suggests that the way to fill it is to have all the wife-beaters sent up, and their wives given the keys. Magistrate Love, of this city, has a different experience. He finds that the majority of wives who bring their husbands before him are ready almost as soon as the keys are turned on the delinquent husband to plead for his release, and even to deny her sworn statement in order that he may be returned to her. It may seem odd to some, but it is human nature. It is a proof of the strength of the woman's affection which is worthy of a much

About Kickers. [Mitchell Recorder.1

We like what The Advertiser says about kickers. As Josh Billings used to say, them's us. We can kick as high and as wide as any fellow, when the political breechin' chafes, or the traces draw too tight. But The Advertiser is right about there being nothing to kick at just now in this vored people on earth, with a rich and and other fundamentals. fruitful land, and a prospect of development before us unsurpassed by any commonwealth in the world. And the Ross administration is equal to its opportunities and fully alive to the requirements of the province. Yes, we believe in kickers, when there something to kick at. It is better to be an honest and conscientious kicker than a mere party time-server. But is nothing to kick about now, with the lines in Ross' hands. By his progressive and admirable policy has knocked the kicker out.

It Is Too Much to Expect. [Chicago Chronicle.]

When Swift & Co. post up in their packing houses a placard which says, "No profanity permitted in this house," they furnish another indisputable proof that this is an age of iconoclastic reform. No Sunday saloons in the hotels, no tobacco in the universities, no waste paper in the streets, no crippled beggars on the sidewalks, and now no profanity in the packing houses! Where will this end? Are we really approaching a time when conductors and drivers of the coldness of the winter. In the southers aca, certainly in no part of Great Brit-street cars will be prohibited from an itself, with its numerous dialects.

The Dayton Strike.

[Philadelphia Manufacturer.] The strike at the National Cash Register Company's plant in Dayton, Ohio, is a matter of disappointment, to a wide circle of interested observers of the methods of this concern.

It would be difficult to imagine employers attempting to do more for their employes than this concern has done, and the response to their efforts at co-operation between employer and employe has been a matter gratification to all who advocate the "brotherhood of man." But it seems that even "brothers" have their troubles, and of late there have been om-inous rumblings from the Dayton region. President Patterson says things have come to such a pass that there was not a day when he was not visited by some committee or walking delegate and annoyed with petty complaints. The latest trouble was more than he could bear, he says. Four men were discharged from the molding department. They complained to the union. A committee appeared for them. The head of the molding department said the four men were trouble breeders, agitators and a men-ace to the welfare of the works. They had been discharged, and that was all there was to it. The committee de-murred to the charges and demanded the four men be reinstated. The company refused to do this, but offered to arbitrate. Then the committee declined further consideration of the matter and ordered out all of the molders. The metal polishers struck in sym pathy. It was seen that there was to be a general strike, so the company Mr. Patterson said, in explanation of his action, that fully three-fourths of his employes do not believe in strikes, but that they are kept in turmoil by agitators and walking delegates. Mr. Patterson will sail immediately for Europe. Frank J. Patterson is going to Canada to arrange with a factory there to fulfill his orders. He says he will keep his salesmen on the road. Not a wheel in his factory will turn, he says, until the union question is settled for years.

Veterans Are But Human.

Ev'ybody's fishin'-ev'ybody 'ceptin'

[Chicago Chronicle.] Captain Hobson's suggestion that

North and South should observe the same memorial day is hardly wise. In Chicago and elsewhere there is friction enough between the volunteers and the regulars. There is no telling what might happen if in the course of cooperative memorial parades and exercises two or more patriots who did not quite finish their fighting 40 years ago should chance to come into collision on a point of etiquette.

CURIOUS INSTANCES.

QUEER LIGHTNING FLASH. On Friday afternoon last the G. T. R. station building was struck by lightning under peculiar circumstances, says the Listowel Banner. There was only one flash of lightning, and no thunder was heard-apparently a sort of splinter from a spent bolt. Conductor McDonald was walking in the yard, when he saw the flash strike the building. Mr. Godfrey and Operator Pringle were in the station office at the time, but neither heard nor saw the flash; but shortly after smelled fire, and found the attic ablaze at the point where the telegraph wires enter the building. A few pails of water were sufficient to put the fire out. When lightning strikes it usually anounces itself somewhat emphatically, but this appears to have been a sort of long-distance shot of some kind, perhaps one of those messages from Mars of which Electrician Saturday afternoons. Tesla speaks.

Washington Authorities Will Permit Them to Cross Border With Arms.

The public school cadets who ex- TRAGIC DEATH OF pect to take part in the demonstration at Buffalo under the direction of Mr. W. C. Coo, will be pleased to hear that Mr. C. S. Hyman has already secured permission from the Washington authorities for the cadets to enter the United States carrying arms. The written authority cannot be issued, however, until the route and time of visit is fixed. The officers of the brigade desire to publicly thank Mr. Hyman for the promptness with which he acted upon their request. A num-ber of the boys' parents have been in-quiring as to the expense of the trip. The exact amount cannot be stated, but the boys will only have to pay their fare, together with meals, and one admission to the grounds. Cheap rates on the railways are being arranged, and food will be contracted for by a committee of the principals of the public schools. The total expense can-not be more than $5, and perhaps less. The boys will be taken care of while in Buffalo, and will not be allowed to leave the grounds unless having a permit from their parents. A teacher was overcome by a fit of dizziness, from each school will accompany them. The camp will be situated near the electric tower, and will no doubt be a model one. The tents will have wood floors, and cots for the boys, electric washing facilities, etc. The corps will consist of 200 boys, a number of whom have been photographed by the Pan-American photographer from Buffalo. It will be to the interest of boys of the brigade who intend going to attend drill Saturday, June 29, at the guns, Victoria Park, at 7:30 a.m., sharp. An excursion will be run by the railway company carrying the cadets to Buffalo on the same day they leave, at a very low rate, so that the parents can accompany the boys if they wish, and be with them for the first day and see that they are comfortable.

SUCCESSFUL OUTING AT SPRINGBANK.

Annual Picnic of Members of Reyal Arcanum Councils.

Merry Afternoon Spent in Games and Sports of Various Kinds.

At Springbank, on Saturday afternoon, the members of the London and London South Councils of the Royal Arcanum held their 24th annual picnic, and in every way it was a distinctly enjoyable success. The members had a great many of their friends with them, and the afternoon was spent very pleasantly. In a long list of wellcontested sports, none aroused more interest or occasioned more amusement than a baseball match and tugof-war between the two councils. It was freely alleged by both sides afterwards that reprehensible tactics were employed in an over-anxious endeavor to win. This was the case particularly in the tug-of-war, where all the devices known to old-time pullersholes in the ground, hinching and covert pulls from men on the sides, were employed. The London Council men ers won the two first pulls; but the who had been paid by boys the other fellows to hang on to the end of their rope, were too busy spending the money to help in time. This victory quite tickled the men from over the river, because they had been badly beaten before in the baseball match. The men from the city, anxious to be distinguished in some way, had brought with them a most wonderful suit, which had an effect other than they anticipated-it so overawed the Southerners that the game was won before it began. At the end of the second innings the score was 16 to 8 against them, and it might just as well have been 16 to 1 for all the chance they had to win. Some of the perennials on the city team showed astonishing vitality. They were all

ADELBERT HAY

Former U. S. Consul at Pretoria Falls From Window-Evidently Fell Asteep While Seated at the Casement.

New Haven, Conn. June 23 - Adelhers S. Hay, son of Secretary Hay, and former consul to Pretoria, was found dead on the sidewalk outside the New Haven House at 2:30 a.m. Mr. Hay retired to his room at 1 o'clock, after spending the evening with friends, in apparent excellent spirits. At 2:30 a passer-by noticed the prostrate body of a man lying on the side walk on the College street side of the hotel. The night clerk of the hotel was immediately summoned, and recognized the young man as the one who registered as Adelbert A. Hay. It is believed that Mr. Hay became ill and went to the window for air, and fell to the ground below.

Dr. Bartlett, the medical examiner, stated that the young man undoubted-ly came to his death by an accident. The clothes on the bed had been turned, showing his intention to go to bed. His clothes had been folded. On the ledge of the window was found a partly-burned cigarette. This discovery leads to the belief that Mr. Hay had lighted a cigarette before retiring and went to the window to smoke it Whether he was seized with a fit of dizziness or fell asleep on the window ledge cannot be determined. The Hon. John Hay, secretary of state, arrived in New Haven from Washington this evening.

New Haven, Conn., June 24.—The condition of Secretary Hay, who suffered a collapse last evening shortly after arriving at the residence of Seth H. Mosley, where the body of his son Adelbert S. Hay, now rests, was reported as considerably improved this

RINGLING BROS'. BIG PARADE.

Gergeous Spectacle Witnessed by First Reports of Loss of Life Arrangements Completed for Novel Thousands of People.

Nearly a Mile of Fierce Animals, Beautiful Horses and Pieturesque People.

The best circus parade ever witnessed in London was that of Ringling Bros.', which delighted thousands of people yesterday morning. Everything about the pageant was as new and bright as though it had just been turned out of a factory.

Thousand of strangers were in the city and all forenoon the streets were jammed with crowds who gathered to welcome the first circus of the season, and the greatest circus of all. They saw the display from the curbstones; they cheered the elephants from housetops, and the windows along the line were crowed with smiling

The procession was led by a great golden carved band chariot drawn by ten white horses. Following this cam a number of handsome new tableaux cars, illustrating scenes from mythology, and then was a long line of open dens and cages led by a hippopotamus as big as a car of coal. All the animals had costumed keepers. 'There were every species of bear, lions by the dozens immense tigers, leonards, two grave-robbing hyenas and any num-per of other menagerie animals.

Following the beasts came another band and more beautiful tableaux cars; then a Turkish orehestra, and a caravan of camels, on which were seated a troupe of Arabs. A family of Japs came next, and a veritable congress of Orientals riding horses. After this came the famous and terrible hand playing such music as would strike terror to the heart of a boiler-

The clown band led the children's section, in which were many little cages and floats on which were familiar characters from Mother Goose, carved from wood. Next came an excel-lent band of military musicians mounted on handsome white horses. Behind this came several hundred men and women equestrians costumed to represent the various military organizations

Then came a set of cathedral bells which filled the air with silvery notes. More gorgeous wagons followed, and holding in his trunk the tail of the one preceding him. More chariots and s, more equestrians and still more and tooted triumphantly.

On the tail end of the parade was an amusing hayrack scene, represent-ing Farmer Corntassel, his wife and "comin' ter town ter see the elephant." This trio of clever acrobats turned grotesque somersaults and cut awkward capers in the straw while the This afternoon's performance is attended by an immense crowd, and the Ringling Bros. are doing exactly what they have promised to do-they are giving London as great a performance as ever was presented under canvas. In every respect the performance excels all others ever seen here. The Holloway troupe of high-wire gymnasts, and Amelia Felley, the great rider, are two features entirely new. There are other novelties, but these two stand out prominently. The trained animals are among the best in the world, and the acrobats, the clowns and the aerial performers are vastly superior to those seen here in the past.

POCAHONTAS CATASTROPHE!

Believed to Have Been Exaggerated.

Passengers From the Scene Believe That Not More Than 100 Persons Perished—Experience of Survivors.

Roanoke, Va., June 24.-The passen ger train from the west over the Norfolk and Western Railroad, due here at 11:55 last night did not reach Roanoke until half-past five o'clock this morning. Among those who came in on the train and who had been in the storm, was a prominent business man of Roanoke, several railroad men and a woman and two children. They came direct to Roanoke from Vivian, having been compelled to walk a distance of 11 miles from that place to the town of Ennis to get the train for this city. These passengers declare that the number of deaths has been EXAGGERATED in their opinions, and feel confident that not more than 100 people have lost their lives, though they cannot say with any certainty as to the number.

The mountain districts lying back from the railroads probably have suf-fered heavily, and the exact loss of life will not be known for several

The rain started last Friday night and continued for some time in moderation, but shortly after midnight the heavens seemed to open and pour forth great volumes of water. When the cloud burst over the town of Vivian there was a passenger train standing in the railroad yards. About 40 passengers, of whom three were women were in the cars. The water rose rap idly, and soon was over the wheels.

HOUSES AND CARS AFLOAT. Houses and cars were being washed about before the eyes of the frightened passengers. Ropes were thrown to the cars and the male passengers caught them and waded through the water which was now waist deep to places of safety around the coke ovens on the adjoining hills. The ladies were too much frightened to get into the water and were placed on the tender of the engine, where they were safe. Other portions of the railroad yards were washed out and a hundred box cars were wrecked. The house in which the section master at Vivian lived was washed away, carrying a colored man with it. A young cages followed, and then finally the son of the section master rode on time-honored calliope, which smoked driftwood for four miles, and was then ledged in a tree, from which he was rescued. FLOOD SUBSIDING. The rain ceased falling about o'clock Saturday morning. There has been no rain since that hour, and the house were washed away at Vivian, as also were about a dozen small dwellings in the lower portion of the village. Two dead bodies, both col-ored men, were seen at Eckman, and Empire. Two iron bridges were washed away at Vivian and another at North Fork Junction, and three persons are reported to have been drowned near the atter place.

All the bridges and the trestle work have been washed away on the Si-mons River branch of the Norfolk and Washington system. All telegraph lines are down and the tracks are bady washed out on this division. people who came from Vivian did not come through the town of Keystone but around it. They state, however, that the damage done there is nothing like what was at first reported. They think that not more than a dozen houses were washed away. They cannot say how many, if any, lives were lost at Keystone. Of the ten miles of railroad between the towns of Vivian and Ennis it is stated there is not one hundred yards of track in one place. and it is thought this division will no be repaired for a fortnight. Fifty people walked over this washed-out territory to get from Vivian to Ennis. IN THE COAL DISTRICT. The damage done all over the coal fields is very great, but everyone seems to have been too much excited and too anxious to get away to take time to inquire into the affairs of their neighbors. It is certain, however, that much valuable machinery was washed awav. Many of the wrecked cars along the Elkhorn valley have been washed down the river, and probably will be a total loss. East of Ennis the train had little trouble getting through to Fluefield. A report from Keystone has it that a mob of negroes there refuse to work for $2 a day, but are loafing around there watching their chance to steal from the debris. Another report says that the number of dead is 17, and of this number 10 have een buried.

TWO HUNDRED DEAD. New York, June 24.-Mayor Land, of Bluefield, W. Va., wires as follows: "It is estimated that 200 lives were lost in the Elkhorn flood. The damage to the Norfolk and Washington Railroad Company is estimated at half a million dollars, and to the coal companies and individuals at two million dollars. There is no communication with any point further down the valley than Elkhorn."

He told the nagistrate that he was induced to purchase a copy of the paper because of a placard displayed by it reading "Botha's Surrender." ### GRAND TATTOO ON WEDNESDAY

Spectacle at Queen's Park.

Twill Be in Aid of Old Boys' Reunion Fund-Musical and Military Features.

The mayor was successful in arranging for the tattoo at Queen's Park for Wednesday night. The public is sure to appreciate this chance to help along the Old Boys' fund. When you consider the vast amount of pleasure that you get from the annual reunion, it will seem a very small thing indeed to pay ten cents or a quarter to make it more successful; and, besides, you have all the fun of the tattoo. Every one who saw the last one will know its pleasure-producing propensities, and will be among the most eager to go this time. Wednesday's tattoo will outshine the other completely. By the kindness of Lieut.-Col. Peters D.O.C., his staff and the officers of the brigade, all the men in camp and the bands will participate, and Lieut.-Col. Smith and officers of the Seventh have consented to let the Fusiliers and the band take part. Lieut. Uniacke's physical drill squad will go through their maneuvers, and Prof. Hand will supply magnificent fireworks. The whole thing will be well worth seeing. Apart from this you will assist the Old Boys' committee in swelling its fund. The home guard want at least ten thousand people there—more, if possible. The tickets for the open stand cost only ten cents, want at least ten thousand and those for the covered ones twenty

THE MANNISH WOMAN

Denounced by Bishop McEvay in Strong Terms-He Says Queen of Her Home is Woman's Position.

"I want to warn you from an abomination—the new woman," said Bishop McEvay in his address to the pupils at the commencement exercises of St. Mary's Academy, Windsor, Saturday. "She is a disgrace and a dishonor to her sex, and if you see her on one side of the street, you should take the other side to show your abhorrence of such creatures. It is a woman's position to be queen of the home, for there she is without peer or rival, but it is not her station to be posing as the mannish is the Great Fault of American Education, Savs Archbishop Ireland.

NITELLECTUAL LEVITY

New York, June 24.—Archbishop Ireland is quoted in a World dispatch from St. Paul as saying in an address to the graduating class of St. Joseph's

"One of the great evils of the present time is that women in so-called society are coming to regard with more and more toleration breaches of moral and civil laws committed by their own sex. The great fault of American education is lack of seriousness. There is no depth of thought or consistency of principle. An intellectual levity pervades society. America is decidedly inferior to other countries in intellectual culture."

AT THE PAN-AMERICAN

A Programme of International Canoe Racing Announced.

Buffalo, June 24.-One of the most interesting of the special events scheduled during the Pan-American Exposition will be the canoe races, which will begin this afternoon and continue over tomorrow. They will be held on the Park Lake, within the grounds of the exposition. There are 22 events on the two days' programme. The affair is under the auspices of the American Canoe Association, and is international in character, many canoeists having arrived here from Toronto. Montreal and other points. American and Canadian crews will compete in the half-mile war canoe races.

YACHTING.

PROTEST AGAINST THE COMING YACHT RACE. London, June 24.—The Field on Saturday had a very strong protest against the proposed yacht race across the Atlantic, which would probably result in disaster and loss of valuable lives and against Sir Thomas Lipton's defiance of all the traditions of British yachtsmen by encouraging such a proceeding for cutter yachts. In this connection the Field says: "We are aware that British sailors know no fear, but to say that experienced men are aware that British sailors know no fear, but to say that experienced men would delight to cross the Atlantic in a cutter like the Shamrock I. is the wildest absurdity. We contend that such a race would be no test of the strength of the yachts or of the seamanship, because if the weather were fine the strain would be less than in the choppy sea of the channel, and if the weather were foul the yachts would assuredly be wrecked. Mr. Thomas Lipton's assent is probably due to disappointment in other quarters, but we would be gratified to find that the owners of the Constitution decline to be drawn into a game of bluff at such an early stage of the cup proceedings."

WRESTLING. FITZ AND RUHLIN MATCHED. New York, June 24.—Bob Fitzsimmons and Gus Ruhlin were matched on Saturday to meet in a wrestling match at Madison Square Garden on the night of July 2. They will wrestle Graeco-Roman style, the winner of two falls out of three to be declared the victor. Charley White will act as referee.

TURF. A $50,000 RACER. New York, June 24.—It was announced on Saturday that W. C. Whitney has purchased Nasturtium, the 2-year-old colt by Water Curre—Margarique, from Al. Aste. The reported price is $50,000.

BASEBALL. HUGH JENNIGS SIGNS WITH PHIL-ADELPHIA. Philadelphia, June 24.—Hugh Jennings on Saturday signed a contract to play ball with the Philadelphia National League club for the balance of the season. His release was purchased from Brooklyn. Both the Baltimore and Athletic teams of the American League claimed Jennings' services, and as neither would waive claim, Jennings reported to Hanlon, of Brooklyn, who sold his release to the Philadelphia National League

PERRIN'S WON.

D. S. Perrin's team easily defeated the E. Leonard & Sons' nine in a fast game of ball at Springbank on Saturday afternoon. Peacock pitched a brilliant game for Perrin's, striking out eight men and allowing only four hits to be secured off his delivery. This is Perrin's third victory for last week. Following is the score: Perrin's. Evans, s. s. May, 2 b. Arthurs, 3 b. Wilson, 1 b. Totals .....Leonard's. Hutton, c. Wade, p.

THE 'PINO WAR

Surrender of Gen. Cailles and 650 of His Men With Their Rifles

Santa Cruz, Province of Laguna, P. I., June 24.—Gen. Cailles surrendered here today with 650 men and 500 rifles. He entered Santa Cruz to the music of native bands, which were drawn up in six lines in the churchyard. Cailles and his staff entered the church, and mass was celebrated by Chaplain Hart, of the 8th United States Infantry. The column passed in review before the United States army headquarters, and then returned to the convent inclosure, and surrendered their rifles, and received receipts entitling them to 30 pesos each.

During the surrender of the arms, Cailles and his staff, who were outside the inclosure, wept. The former officers afterwards walked to healquarters, where Cailles tendered his sword to General Sumner, who galantly handed it back. Gen. Sumner also handed back the revolutionist flag, which Cailles personally will present to Gen. MacArthur. Frank Mekin, the deserter of the 37th Infantry, who had been acting as a lieutenant with the insurgents under Cailles, and who surrendered today, was placed in irons. The former officers and the rank and file of the Filipinos took the oath of allegiance publicly on the plaza.

SABBATH SCHOOL DAY

It Was Appropriately Observed by Empress

Avenue Methodists. -Most interesting and instructive services were conducted Sunday in the Empress Avenue Methodist Church, West London. It was "Sabbath School Day," and the services were devoted to that very important part of church work. The morning service was conducted by Rev. R. D. Hamilton, the evening by Miss Carson, of New York, and Mr. C. E. German. The front of the prettily decorated church, in keeping with the bright and happy-looking children, was reserved for the scholars who attended in large numbers, and whose attention was constantly upon the speakers so very interesting were the subjects chosen. Numerous were the instances given of how the Sunday school had been the starting point to success of many brilliant, and noted men of the day, and how it is each year being increasingly regarded as a country's greatest means of producing morality among the people. Collec-The school is in a very flourishing condition under the superintendence of Mr. Chas. A. Gillespie, and has a membership of over 200, in addition to a home department.

Henley, England, June 24.—The University of Pennsylvania crew were cut early on Saturday morning, and posed for numerous photographers. They paddled to Temple Island and then to Hambledon Lock, where they disembarked and watched the New College rivals in the contest for the Grand Challenge cup, row past. Soon after them came the Dublin crew, Lightning Cuts Off Electric Power—Street Cars Stop and Exposition Paralyzed.

Buffalo, June 25.-That Buffalo and the exposition get their energy from Niagara's power was thoroughly de-monstrated to the visitors late Saturday night when a bolt of lightning struck the transmission power line between Niagara Falls and Tonawanda. Instantly Buffalo was in darkness, street cars stopped, and the exposition was paralyzed. The bolt came in the midst of a spectacular electric storm. Part of the fuse system of the transmission line was burnt out. Theoretically the big storage batteries of the power company should be automatically attached to the system until the direct line could be re-paired, but there was a delay of twenty minutes in making the shift. Meanwhile the street car system was at a standstill, and the city's electric lights were out. The builders of the exposition found long ago that they ing eastward. #### Life of Noah Webster.

Noah Webster, the American writer and philologist, was born at Hartford, Conn., October 16, 1758. His early life was spent upon a farm. He entered Yale College in 1774, but the war of the revolution broke out, and he spent a year in his father's company of patriot militia. The boy graduated from Yale in 1778 in the same class with many afterward distinguished men. He became a school teacher, giving his spare time to the study of Noah Webster, the American writer ing his spare time to the study of

In 1781 he was admitted to the bar, but as he had a good deal of difficulty in building up a practice he re-turned to teaching. While an instruc-tor at Goshen, N. Y., he published a number of school books. One of these, his famous speller, was so successful that it supported Mr. Webster and his family while he was at work on his dictionary.

In order to make his dictionary a perfect one, although he was 50 years old, he studied for ten years those languages from which our words are derived, after which he worked 11 years on the book. It was published in 1828, and is still considered one of the best works of its kind.

In 1778 Mr. Webster established a magazine in New York, and on its failure settled in Hartford, Conn. There he married, and four years later removed to New York again to try edi-torial work. In 1798 he went to New Haven, and in 1812 removed to Amherst, Mass., where he became one of the founders of Amherst College. In 1822 he resumed his residence at New Haven, where he died May 28, 1843.

One evening, after she had retired,
Clifton sent the nurse for Madame Marton, and had a long, confidential talk

"I want you to promise me that you will remain with Shirley after—when I go away," he said. "It will give her something to think of—an object in life, if she has you to care for."

Madame promised this readily enough. "She is like a dear child to me," she said, "and I should be desolate separated from her."

"She is like a dear child to me," she said, "and I should be desolate separated from her."

"And one thing more," the sick man continued, pausing a moment as if considering how best to frame what he had to say. "If, at any time in the future, there should seem to be an opportunity for to be happy as—as one so lovely should be, will you tell her that I thought of it—spoke of it—wished it?"

Ever brusque, stoical Madame Marton ould not quite bear this evidence of self-enunciation with composure, and for a moment she was completely overcome. But recovering herself almost as quickly, she gave the desired promise, and Clifton thanked her heartily.

He grew weaker more rapidly after this, and of course more and more helpless, and it was evident that the fatal paralysis was fast doing its dreaded work, although mentally he was as bright as ever.

The third day after his conversation with madame. Neil saw, when he came to make his usual visit, that the end was very near, and his eyes turned upon Shirley's pale face with a look of wistful tenderness which told how deeply he felt for her at this trying time.

He saw that grief and watching were telling sadly upon her strength, and he longed for the power to comfort her; but, alas! he knew that twas beyond his power to bestow.

The young wife was sitting upon the bed, fanning the invalid, and while the surgeon was watching her thus, with yearning solicitude, Clifton was quietly studying his expressive face with an intenseness which, under other circumstances, must have made itself felt. At length, however, his lids gradually closed and he seemed to sleep, when Shirley stole softly from the room to attend to some little duties before he should awake.

The door had scarcely closed after her when Clifton unclosed his eyes, and, meeting the glance of his friend, he smiled gravely up at him.

"The end is near," he said in a feeble voice.

His companion's face grew very tender His companion's face grew very tender and he longed to tell Clif how glad he would be to shield and watch over his darling in the future. But he did not speak—he felt that he could not without betraying the secret which he had so faithfully guarded in his own heart that no one suspected it, save Shirley, perhaps, to whom he had once confessed it. "I hope" the dying man went on his hope," the dying man went on, now fastened on the noble f le him, "I trust that she will "I trust that she will not beside him, "I trust that she will not always grieve for me—that she will not always be lonely. this—"
He paused suddenly, for Shirley reentered the room at that moment, and shortly after, making some slight excuse. Nell himself went out, his whole soul stirred within him, his brain in a whirl from mingled consternation and amazement, for he was now assured that Clifton Vining had discovered his long-cherished secret—that his keen, lovesharpened eyes had read his very soul, and knew that he loved the wife he was feaving with all the strength of his manhood.

More than this—and the thought filled him with wonder, admiration and a strange, sweet joy, though this was tempered with grief for the friend he was lasing—Dr. Wallace realized that what the invalid had said had been spoken with a definite purpose—that of making him understand that if, by and by, he could win Shirley, he would gladly commit her to his tender care.

It was long before Neil could recover his composure sufficiently to trust himself again in the sick room; but at last he schooled himself to calmness, and returned to his post, resolving that he would remain there until the end, which he knew must be very near.

Clifton was asleep when he entered, his cheek resting upon Shirley's hand. He had loved to lie thus of late, since the sense of touch in his own had failed him, and he could not feel her clasp, while it was her greatest pleasure to grant his slightest wish.

She was watching the sleeper with sad and heavy eyes, but with a look of patience upon her tired face that touched the young surgeon deeply.

He went to a table, poured out a glass of wine, which he brought to her, himself holding it to her lips.

She drank it obediently, then turned back to her silent watching.

Neil sat down by the opposite side of the bed, and for half an hour there was no sound in the room, save the subdued ticking of the pretty marble clock on the mantel.

ticking of the pretty marble clock on the mantel.

Once the nurse stole to the door and looked in, but seeing that he was not needed, he noiselessly went away again.

The sun was just setting and soft shadows were beginning to steal into the room, when Ciliton stirred slightly on his pillow.

"Shirley!" he breathed, as he turned his eyes, filled with a world of tenderness, upon her.

"Yes, dear," she responded, bending over him with bated breath, for something in that glance smote her with sudden dread.

Mr. Vining had rever ceased to do all in his power for his son after his removal to his own rooms.

He provided him with every comfort and luxury, and seemed anxious to have everything possible done to prolong his life. He and his wife went every other day to see him, and were very gentle and tender toward him; but they never softened one whit toward his sweet and faithful wife.

When Clif died they insisted upon showing him every mark of respect, and, accordingly, the most elaborate preparations were made for his burial.

Of course they were obliged to observe proprieties in order to avoid scandal, and so Shirley, attended by Madame Marton, was allowed her place during the last sad ceremonies, and in following him to his lost resting-place; but not one word or look of sympathy was offered her, excepting what Amie expressed; and she it must be confessed, was a very sweet little comforter.

Thus it all seemed like mockery—the costly, elaborate casket, the abundance of elegant flowers, the dirge-like music and formal services; and she was thankful when everything was over and she was allowed to go back to the rooms where she and Clif had spent so many tender, yet sorrowful days, and give herself up unreservedly to her heart-breaking grief.

Dr. Wallace became very anxious regarding her condition, and strongly advised her to go away for a change.

"Ah, but I must not leave Madame Marton," she replied, when he broached the subject to her.

"And who wants you to leave her?" madame abruptly demanded. "What's to hinder my going along, too."

"Of course I am equal to it," madame said, with an emphatic nod of her head, and between whom and the young surgeon this plan had previously been freely discussed. "I never felt smarter in my life, and I would like nothing better than to go over the sea with you, if you will take me and not feel that I'm a burden to you."

Shirley affirmed that she would rather have her than any other companion; and after talking the matter over a little more fully, it was decided that they should sail for England on the 15th of October, and after that they were so engaged with the necessary preparations that Shirley had very little time to indulge her grief.

Neil kindly made all arrangements regarding their voyage, introducing and putting them under the care of an acquaintance, who was bound for Germany to study in one of the noted hospitals there, and smoothing every possible difficulty out of their path.

"He laid out a route of travel for them, giving them many hints and directions to aid them in the different countries they proposed to visit, which his own experience had qualified him to offer; and so, at last, they went away well equipped for a long sojourn in foreign lands.

"Will you write to me, now and then, to tell me how you are enjoying your trip, and keep me posted regarding the state of your health?" Neil asked of Shirley just as he was about to take leave of her, after having seen her and madame safely settled in their state room on board the Teutonic.

"My health is the best now that it has been for four years," writes Mrs. Phebe Morris, of Ira, Cayuga Co., N. Y., Box 52. "I have taken but two battles of your medicine, 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Biscovery,' These medicines have done me more good than all that I have ever taken before. Before I took your medicines I was sick in hed mearly half the time. I couldn't do my work only about half the time, and now I can work all the time for a family of four. My ndvice to all who are troubled with female weakness is to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery'—the most wonderful medicines in the world."

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 24.—Last evening a well-dressed woman walked into the Parkside Inn, secured a room and handed the manager an American dollar bill. At two o'clock this morning she was called. Not receiving a reply, a key was procured and her door opened. The woman was found lying cold in death on the bed, fully dressed. On the dresser was the empty wrappers of two morphine doses. She was about 28 years of age. In the bosom of her shirt waist was found a bird's-eye linen napkin, with the letpitched an excellent game, being most effective at critical times, and holding his opponents down to seven scattered hits. If given perfect support a shutout would have been easily administered. Watts started the game for the Memorials, and was hit frequently. He was forced to retire at the end of the fifth inning, owing to illness, and was replaced by Peacock, who was hit equally as hard. A feature of the game was a clean home run by Steele.

THE RIFLE.

Alive, Yet Haif Dead.

Feeling miserable. This is the condition of thousands of growing girls and women. Can't eat enough to be truly alive. Digest so little of what they do eat, as to scarcely know what life really means. Miserable? Of course. Eat more, digest more, then feel streaming through life's renewed current, the buoyancy, the strength, the hopefulness of youth. Simply done if you'll just take Ferrozone, the wonderful blood maker, nerve strength and brain vigor. Mr. Strong, druggist, knows all about it. Call and ask him about it.

London, June 25.—The match held on Saturday at Glasgow between W. R. Crosby, of O'Fallon, Ill., and the Scotch Champion, Faulds, for f100, the conditions being 100 pigeons from ground traps and 50 pigeons from tower traps, resulted in a victory for the American. At the ground traps Crosby's score was 97, while Faulds' was 93; at the tower traps Crosby got 42 birds, while Faulds got 41. SCOTLAND VS. THE UNITED STATES. Glasgow, June 25.—The international clay pigeon match here on Saturday for a prize of f200, resulted as follows: America, 973; Scotland, 882. Fred Gilbert, of Spirit Lake, Iowa, and R. CANADIANS WON EVERYTHING. Buffalo, N. Y., June 25.-The first day's canoe racing at Park brought some good contests. The best race in yesterday's events was the half-mile club fours, over a half-mile course, with a turn. There were six course, with a turn. There were six crews in the race, and only inches separated the bunch over almost the entire course. The judge at the fin-ish caught the prow of the Toronto Canoe Club boat first, with the Grand Trunk second. Another close event was the war canoe race. Only two crews started, representing the To-ronto C. C. and the Buffalo C. C., the former winning by a narrow margin. The Canadians won every event of the day, and also took places in some of COLUMBIA'S FAST TIME. Poughkeepsie, June 25.-The Columbia 'Varsity crew performed the most sensational trial of time rowing ever seen on the Hudson Saturday afternoon, covering the 4-mile course in 19:07, 22 seconds faster than the world's record of 19:29 made by Cor-nell on the same course in 1896.

TRIALS AT HENLEY. Henley, England, June 25.—Some fast trials were accomplished here yesterday afternoon, the Pennsylvania University doing the best, covering the full course in seven minutes, three and one-fifth seconds, and half the course in three minutes, twenty-five seconds. Starting at 40 to the minute, the Americans never fell below 37, and somestarting at 40 to the minute, the Americans never fell below 37, and sometimes spurted to 42. A number of British oarsmen who accompanied the Americans, considered the trial a remarkable one. The Pennsylvanians at all druggists. #### BAKER'S BACKACHE

There are hundreds of bakers suffering from backache, pain in the back and kidney trouble, which make work a hardship, and life one round of misery, who will be thankful to know that Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets can give them speedy and permanent relief from all these distressing troubles.

Mr. George Bell, baker and confec-

tioner, River street, Paris, Ont., made this positive statement: "My back has been in bad shape for three years, and at 64 years of age we do not expect too much. I lay the trouble to an attack of inflammation of the back, which left the back painful and the attack of inflammation of the back, which left the back painful and the kidneys weak. I have tried all sorts of medicine with no relief until I got a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Trouble, at Paul L. Scott's drug store, and so rapid and great was the relief that I quit on one-half bottle, and have no symptoms of any trouble at all since. I am, so far as I can see, completely cured. This is wonderful to me."

Young Man Made a Desperate Slide for Base

And She Said "Safe" - Courtship on the Bleachers With Same Old Result.

The Chicago National League baseball team was oven on the West Side grounds facing the Cincinnatis, says cures all forms of indigestion or stomach trouble. It rejuvenates worn-out stomachs. It builds up stomachs that have been weakened by powerful cathartics and old-fashioned nostrums.

the Chicago Record-Herald. Menefee was in the box. A fair-sized crowd filled the bleachers. A girl from Clinton, Iowa, was in that crowd and a young Dearborn avenue man, who is young Dearborn avenue man, who is rather prominent in LaSalle street in-surance circles. The girl had been in Chicago two weeks and was going home next day. This was her first baseball game, and she was out to see it. The young man was there to see her, and to say a certain some-thing that had been unsettling his capacity for business for a fortnight. very much wished that he had taken her to Jackson Park instead of a baseball game. She seemed so terribly interested in the game. Perhaps she was, and then perhaps she was not.

"What funny trous-pantaloons mean—the men wear." she said. wonder how they get into them?" He ignored the query and casually emarked: "You said you liked Taylor, I believe.

"Why, I don't even know him." He looked mystified, and persisted.
"You told me last evening that you were most fond of his verse. "Oh, you mean the poet. I thought you meant the Taylor that's going to do something here today. See, there's his name."

Dearborn avenue was very much crushed, but gathered himself for a new turn, just as Menefee sent a ball over the plate and the umpire announced "One strike." Dearborn avenue said in a whisper

"I read those lines of Taylor last night after I left you, beginning: The rose of your cheek is precious,

Your eyes are warmer than mine The Clinton girl flushed up, fixed a pin in her fluffy hair, and demurely

"What does 'one strike' mean? I didn't see anybody strike. Is this as brutal as football? Is a strike the same as slugging?" Dearborn avenue made an effort to explain, but went on quite softly:

You catch men's souls in the meshes Of curls that ripple and shine

Then he stopped, but the Clinton girl was waiting for him.
"Your didn't finish it," said she "The last line is, "Catch, ah, not me." Another collapse on the part Dearborn avenue. The rooters began to shout as a base hit was made, and the girl grew so excited she waved her parasol and unconsciously punched her escort with it. "Go it, Chicago," she shrieked, although it was a Cincinnati man who was doing the "going," and Chicago was not in it. Her escort so explained.

"I don't care," she added. " I want Chicago to win. Oh, see, that man has fallen down." One of the players was making a base by sliding on his stomach. "Oh, is he hurt? I am sure he is. See how he wiggles. Oh, oh, can't you do something Dearborn avenue choked and turned its head away. The game proceeded. That is, the baseball game did. The game of love on the bleachers was not moving as smoothly. The young man ventured after a long silence to say:

"You always make me think of the line, "Your lips are sweet persua-

This was very pretty and quite suitable for a conservatory tete-a-tete. But the Clinton girl, hearing it in the presence of eighteen struggling and perspiring young men, shrugged her shoulders and remarked:

'What's a base hit?" "The remark you just made." 'Nonsense. I mean in the game."

"Well, what game?"
He slyly put one of his hands over hers. She withdrew her own, and again fixed her eyes on the diamond where Chicago was being chopped in-to mince meat and the pieces being laid away for future reference. What was going on in the field was a tre-mendous mystery to her. She wished her escort would tell her all about it. Instead he was determined on making a home run of his own-and she was going away in the morning.
"Foul! Foul! Foul!" yelled the crowd. The umpire gave a contrary de-

"Hang him!" yelled a Chicago rooter.

The Clinton girl moved about in her seat uneasily. The rage and enthusiasm about her was a little too much. She drew a little near to Dearborn avenue, and he, noticing this, suddenly leaned over and said:
"I am playing for the pennant of your love. I have made two or three fouls and gone out once or twice on strikes. I am going to hit now for a home run, and if I fail it will be be-cause you and no one else have put me out. Here goes, Nell—will you be my umpire for the rest of our days." Cincinnati was unmercifully pounding Chicago, despite all the good work of Menefee. The game was irrevocably lost to the home club. Nell looked out over the diamond. She did not know much about the game, but there was a little she understood. She gave Dearborn avenue one quick glance, and then she whispered back: "Safe."

They journeyed to Clinton together the next day.

Cash of the Ancients.

The little brass cash, the Chinese coins, are the lineal descendants, in unbroken order, of the bronze axe of remote celestial ancestors. From the regular hatchet to the modern coin one can trace a distinct, if somewhat broken succession, so that it is impossible to say where the one leaves off and the other begins. Here is how the curious pedigree first worked itself out: In early times, before coin was invent ed, barter was usually conducted between producer and consumer with metal implements, as it still is in Central Africa at the present day.

At first the Chinese in that unsophisticated age were content to use real hatchets for this commercial purpost, but after a time, with the pro-found mercantile instinct of their race, it occurred to some of them that when a man wanted half a hatchet's worth of goods he might as well pay for them with half a hatchet. Still, as it would be a pity to spoil a good working imby cutting it in two, the worthy Ah Ein ingeniously compromised the matter by making thin hatchets of the usual size and shape, but far too slender for practical usage. By so doing he invented coin, and, what is more, he invented it far earlier than the claimants to that proud distinction the Lydians, whose electrum staters were first struck in the seventh century, B. ## A LOCAL BUDGET.

-Pte. Fred Turner, who was sunstruck on Carling's Heights on Sun-day afternoon, only regained consci-ousness about 10 o'clock Monday morning. He is improving now.

—Mrs. Pyman, an elderly woman living at 442 Hamilton road, fell last evening about 12 o'clock, and broke her ignominiously by adding, "if you see her on one side of the street, you her hip. She was removed to Victoria should take the other side to show your Hospital in the ambulance.

-Rev. C. C. Owen conducted a service on the circus ground Sunday morning. It was attended by quite a large crowd, in which were many of Ringling Bros.' employes.

-The following officers were elected at a recent organization meeting of Buffalo Old Boys: President, George G. Street; vice-president, James H. Mustill; secretary-treasurer, F. A. Wilson. -Mr. St. John Hyttenrauch, of the London Conservatory of Music, will go to Sarnia, Petrolia, Watford and other points next Thursday to give examinations in connection with the London

Conservatory of Music. -Messrs. J. E. Jacques and W. F. Wilson, of the Strathroy Furniture Company, whose offer for the purchase of the Berlin Furniture Company's factory vas accepted by the creditors, are taking stock in the factory.

-A moonlight picnic will be given tomorrow evening at the residence of Mr. W. S. Calvert, M. P., by the ladies of St. Andrew's Church, Napier, who have been remarkably successful in the past in attracting and pleasantly entertaining large crowds. A programme of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, and speeches will be given, and the affair is sure to be enjoyable. -Bay City Times-Press: Peter Tierney and F. M. Russell have returned from London, Ont., where they at-tended the races. When returning home, this side of Port Huron, they report having seen a very exciting race between two good horses and the engine which was hauling them along.

The horses got on the track ahead of culverts they leaped over them with-

Whit. Lancaster has received a numcelebrated Hamilton boatbuilder, J. Massie. Mr. Lancaster's purchase was rendered necessary by the increasing business he is doing owing to the renewed interest being taken in aquatics by the people of the city. CONNOR PLEADED GUILTY. Thomas Connor, a London township farmer, appeared before Squire Lacey yesterday afternoon on the charge of

Harris and others, are expected to be present and deliver short addresses on the early days of London and the surrounding district. The movement is being undertaken here in common with other portions of the Dominion, where similar societies are being founded with the object of collecting and preserving valuable records, which would otherwise be lost forever.

GRIPMEN'S PICNIC.

The necessary funds for the expenses in connection with the Gripmen's picnic are to be provided by voluntary subscription, and a list that has been passed around was willingly subscribed to by all of the members, the amount realized being large. Gripmen seldom fail in an entertainment they take an interest in, and from all evidences Aug. 17 will be a record-breaker. Subscriptions from travelers willing to assist may be sent to the secretary or given to any member of the committee, as several hundred dollars will be required. An early response is requested from those who feel thus disposed. All commercial travelers will be asked to co-operate and assist in making the occasion one of pleasure and enjoyment to the visiting gripmen from Toronto, as well as the guests and travelers of Western Ontario.

BISHOP McEVAY TOO INDEFINITE

His Criticiam of "The Mannish Woman"-Editorial Comment of the Detroit Free Press.

[Detroit Free Press.] Bishop McEvay made a terrific on slaught upon the new woman in his address to the pupils of St. Mary's Academy, Windsor. So far as the published reports furnish a guide there will follow a general criticism of the bisnop for not being more specific. He was speaking to a lot of sympathetic and impressionable young people with whom it was dangerous to leave any material point in doubt. He should at least have favored them with a definition of the new woman before publicly branding her "a disgrace and dishonor to her sex," and seeking to ostracize derstood, is worse than the type to a representative of which the Saviour said to "go and sin no more." We can re-call no Scriptural sanction for the savage strictures in which he indulged, and are convinced that he would find an insurmountable difficulty should he attempt to seek justification from that source. A large and intelligent proportion of civilization will go with him in the statement that "it is woman's position to be queen of the home, for there she is without peer or rival, but it is not her station to be posing as

But we are convinced that in his zeal to make an impression the good bishop was carried entirely off his feet. We have no idea that the woman who en gages in intellectual pursuits, who henestly strives to become more than a subordinate convenience in the perpet-uation of the race, who sincerely seeks the establishment of a better, moral, physical and mental atmosphere, who aims at an emancipation from worst features of a position given he under a barbaric social regime, should in the bishop's normal sense of right receive the contemptuous and bruta treatment which he recommended in his address.

SOLDIERS LOOTED STRAWBERRY PATCH.

How Four Privates of His Majesty's Canadian Forces Ran Into Trouble.

Norman Ellis, Charles Miller, Percy Porter and John Kuntzie, all privates in one of the regiments on Carling's Heights, were arrested on Sunday, charged with stealing strawberries from the asylum grounds, and appeared yesterday before Squire Henry Ed-wards, and on payment of costs civil proceedings against them were drop-ped, but they were handed over to the military authorities who will take such further action in the matter as they see fit. The accused men, who had been released on bail, were escorted to and from the court house by a corporal's guard of their fellow soldiers

INCREASED ISSUES BY BIBLE SOCIETY

Only Troubled China Shows a Decrease in the Demand for the Scriptures.

The following abstract from the yearly report of the British and Foreign Bible Society's report will be of interest to many in London and Western Ontario who have felt a kindly concern in the society's success:

"If we count in each return a year's figures onward from those incorporated in the totals a year ago, the issues The bishop certainly cannot contend that the new woman, as generally understood, is worse than the type. ures with those of last year, it appears that the issues both of Bibles and Testaments have increased, while portions show a decline of 177,226 copies. This is more than explained by the fact that the Chinese crisis had re-duced our circulation in that agency by a quarter of a million copies, mainly portions. Apart from China, the so-ciety's circulation has advanced. And with one single exception, the returns stand far above all other annual totals achieved by the society. The total issues of the society for the 97 years since its foundation in 1804, amount to 169,971,544 copies."

WENT OVER AN EMBANKMENT!

Flyer Wrecked at Monaca, 30 Miles From Pittsburg-Two Persons Killed and Many Injured.

Pittsburg, June 25.-Train No. 23 known as the Cleveland flyer, was wrecked at Monaca about 30 miles west of here last evening, and at least two persons are dead, and probably 30 hurt.

THE DEAD. The dead are J. W. Cunningham, fireman of the train; Larry, or Lowey Black, baggagemaster, of Mount INJURED. Anthistle and Veda Campbell, pupils Alvira Mills, Bellaire, Ohio; Rev. A. D. Gavin Holy Ghost College, Pittsburg Mrs. Lola D. Herkins, Cleveland; W Stevens, Cleveland; Miss Luch Rose, Cortland, Ohio; R. L. Martin, Lisbon, Ohio; James Brown, engineer, Toront Ohio, James Brown, engineer; J. M. Jordan, New Castle; Thomas B. Warner, Toronto, Ont.; two men, names unknown, taken to Rochester, Pa., may die.

EVERY CAR TURNED OVER. From the passengers it is learned that the train, while going at very fast speed, ran into an open switch at Monaca, and the entire train went over an embankment some 25 feet high. Every car was turned over, two of them going over twice. The "flyer" left here at 4:30 for Cleveland and had its coaches well filled with passengers Fireman Cunningham, when taken from the wreck, was found to be horhibly crushed. His death must have been instantaneous. As soon as the news of the wreck reached the city Superintendent Yohe summoned corps of physicians and took them to the scene on a special train. This train returned here with the dead and number of the injured, when another train was dispatched to Monaca, which gives currency to the report that many more are hurt than as yet made known.

A MAN AND WIFE

Agree Perfectly in Their Warm Praise

of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Napanee, Ont., June 24.—(Special).— It is pleasant to see a man and his wife agree as heartly as Mr. and Mrs. Simon Warner, of this town agree about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I would like to recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to every one that I hear complaining of a pain in the back," says Mr. Warner.

"I was so lame in my back that my wife had to lift me out of bed. The doctors said they could do nothing for me. I was told by a friend to try a me. I was told by a friend to try a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and found they helped me right away. I recom-mend them to everyone and always after a trial the people are ready to recommend to others. My wife has used five boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and says exactly the same as I do. Neither she nor I feel safe unless we have a box in the house.'

CONSERVATIVE ORGANIZATION Ottawa, June 25.—Mr. J. P. Whitney, who is here, states that at the recent Conservative conference in Toronto it was decided to form three as-sociations in the province—western central and eastern—for organization for the coming campaign. These will arrange conferences, etc., to be held throughout the province.

SMALLPOX IN TORONTO. Terento, June 24.-No new smallpox centers have been reported to the provincial board of health, and Dr. P. H. Bryce thinks that in about a month the health authorities will have the disease all stamped out. A state-ment of the smallpox in the province up to Saturday shows that the disease exists in 22 municipalities and there are 40 cases. In Quebec they have 53 smailpox cases in 19 places.
