of the Government to pass the essential features of the budget, namely: the income tax, tea duty and sinking fund provisions; remove the pauper disqualification for old age pensions, and to dissolve Parliament on Nov. 28 should the lords in the meantime reject the veto bill.

Presenting this programme in the House of Commons today, Premier Asquith said that he had hoped up to the last moment, that the veto conference would reach a settlement.

There never had been a more honest or more sustained attempt by men of strong and conflicting convictions to find a basis of agreement upon which to build a structure promising stability and endurance. "A State of War."

In view of the failure of the Conference, Mr. Asquith said that it would stand for in the economic world. be useless to attempt to hammer out an agreement in the present Parliament to the accompaniment of the din of party collision.

state of war," declared the Premier.
"The Lords will be given an opportunernment's veto bill in the coming week. There is no question of amendment or stransformation. It is a question of acceptance or rejection.'

No Room for Argument. "It is a question of acceptance or rejection. The time has come for this controversy, which obstructs whole path of progressive legislation, to be sent for final, decisive arbitratment, to the national tribunal." Mr. Asquith denied the assertion of the Conservatives that the Government was acting under pressure, savthat he understood that the charge was that pressure was being applied "by the sinister hand of the black angel of this political drama, Mr.

The Legislation. Mr. Asquith then detailed the legislation which the Government proposed to pass before the dissolution of Parliament, and said that it would be necessary to appropriate $2,500,000 to carry out the provisions of the act removing the pauper disqualification from old age pensioners, and concluded by promising that if the Government obtained the requisite Parliamentary majority, he would next year bring in a bill to provide for the payment of members of the House of Commons, Union of Conservative Associations London, Nov. 17.-At Nottingham today great enthusiasm characterized the proceedings of the meeting of the National Union of Conservative Associations. The Duke of Portland said the situation was most serious and momentous. The safety of the empire hung in the balance. They must fight than that, they must enter the enemy's

It is also their intention to pass the budget before the dissolution, and the finance bill will be considered while the Lords are debating the veto bill.

Balfour Criticises. Arthur Balfour, leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons who made the Unionist keynote speech Nottingham last night, today attacked the Government programme as announced by the premier. Speaking in the House of Commons he described the Government method of procedure as unprecedented and unconstitutional

GREWSOME TALE IS RIDICULED

Those Awlul "Cells" in Old Goodhue House, Vaults for Valuables.

Historical Society Records Show "Thrilling" Story of Local Paper Without Foundation.

The sensational story published in a ocal paper regarding the discovery of ells alleged to have been used by the late Justice Goodhue, at his old residence on Bathurst street, near Ridout, together with a "grewsome suggestion" of hangings and bloodshed, is exploded by older residents of the city and records of the London Historical

Some days ago while excavating for an addition to the building now owned by Mr. John Cottam, heavy brick walls inclosing a space about eight feet square were discovered. This room which was entirely underground was about six feet in height and a brick partition ran up the centre, dividing opening was the only entrance to each, while a small barred window was the source of illumination. Over one of the ecompartments a beam about a foot square was placed. It was immediately guessed that this was the beam from which murderers were hanged, in the backyard of the justice of the peace, and a couple of blocks.

Idea Ridiculed. Mr. William Percival, of 36 Grosvenor street, who has resided in this district since 1826, the year in which the county jail was erected, ridicules the idea.

Prior to the erection of the present county jail in 1826 an old log jail existed near the site of the grammar school, which is now used for a storehouse by the waterworks department on King, between Ridout and Thames The first man ever executed streets in London was a person named Birley vho, in 1828, was hanged at the jai Four years later, Sovereign, who killed his wife and seven children at their nome, near the lake between Ports Burwell and Stanley, paid the penalty. He was the second man to meet capital punishment in this district, and hundreds gathered from all over the country as feeling was intense against

The cholera was at its worst about this time, and those who were daring enough to gather where they would meet others camped outside the village and scattered as quickly as possible, as soon as the execution took

It was many years after this before the erection of the old Goodhue residence on Bathurst street, where the "cells" were discovered. Mr. Percival who was well acquainted with the old magistrate, believes that the little compartments were nothing more than vaults in which Goodhue kept his valuable papers. He dealt a great deal in mortgages and had many Government documents, and was always very careful about these matters. No person, however, ever heard of prisoners being kept or hanged on the premises.

A DISGRACEFUL SCENE

Crowd Fights Over Body for Souve. nirs-Every Bone Broken.

Denver, Nov. 17.-With one wing tip of his machine crumpled like a piece of paper, Ralph Johnstone, the brilliant young aviator, holder of the world's altitude record, dropped like a plummet from a height of 500 feet into the inclosure at Overland Park aviation field this afternoon and was instantly killed. When the spectators, crowded about the inclosure, reached him his body lay beneath the biplane with the white planes that had failed him in his time of need wraped about it like a shroud. Nearly every bone in his body was broken. He had gambled with death once too often, but he played the game to the end, fighting coolly and grimly to the last second to regain control of his broken machine, Fresh from his triumphs at Belmont Park, where he had broken the world's record for altitude with a flight of 9,714 feet, Johnstone attempted to give the thousands of which has made the Wright aviators famous. Best Choice Now in Christmas Goods

Each day the throng of Christmas shoppers increases. Each day brings Christmas one day nearer, and each day lessens the assortment of Christmas things. Are you doing a little each day? Don't leave all until the last two weeks, when the cry will be, "So much to do," "So little time," and you are driven to distraction in the hurrying throng.

Another Great Bulletin for Saturday

No matter which way you come tomorrow, whether you enter by the Dundas or the Richmond street entrance, you'll find enthusiastic crowds of eager buyers, for the new and seasonable merchandise listed in these columns is only a partial list of the irresistible bargains which have been prepared for this November Saturday, covering almost every necessary article of wearing apparel for every man, woman and child in the vicinity of the city of London. As on previous Saturdays many lines won't last the forenoon.

Will feature the great Fur display at this store Saturday, and an assortment will be shown, such as cannot be duplicated in Western Ontario, not alone in these lines, either, but in all the leading and fashionable Furs. If you have a Fur Piece in mind, this showing will afford an excellent choice, and many pieces will be shown which will not be seen again this season; may be just the one that will suit your fancy. You may have it reserved.

Sale Manutacturer's Seconds, Men's Underwear We have been successful this week in securing from one of the largest and best makers in Canada, 486 garments irts and Drawers—called "SECONDS." With this manufacturer of high-class goods, every garment sent out from the factory must be perfect in every way. A discoloring in the wool, a drop stitch, or imperiection in the knitting, is detected by the examiner, and thrown aside. All imperfect parts in the knitting are neatly caught and mended, and from the wearing standpoint are just as good as firsts, but they are classed as seconds, and somebody gets a bargain, as a few hundred garments are nothing compared to the season's output of this mill, and the prices will tell the tale of how it would the customers who will get $2 garments for 59¢, or 75c garments for 39¢ Saturday at Underwear Counter. But remember, the forenoon for these if you want the best values. SOME CRITICS OF CANADA.

Some English friends, who visited this country are going home impressed by the Canadian pursuit of the Dollar Mr. Vivian, the promoter of garden cities, as shocked at the want of order and foresight in the growth and government of our urban communities Archdeacon Madden, returning to England, says that in Canada the passion for property is crushing out of the hearts of men the passion for God.

Mr. Vivian is wholly right, and there is some truth in the archdeacon's indictment. No doubt the same reproaches might be levelled against any country where great opportunities of material progress are open to all. In the hurry of accumulating wealth, men are apt to forget its wider uses: they become absorbed in the mere getting. When the fish are biting fast, the angler forgets everything mundane or celestial in the interesting activity of landing the finny prey.

Some ugly features on the surface of Canadian and American life are quickly seized by the British visitor. He is struck by the insecurity of life and limb on the railways and at the railway crossings. If one thing meant by "the passion for God" is to be a brother's keeper, though it is doubtful whether the archdeacon did intend that meaning primarily, the charge might well be laid at our door. Another evil sign is the degenerate patriotism in this country. Many men of ability and weight refuse to enter public life, while small-fry battle for its prizes.

On the other hand, are there not evidences of a true and thriving religious life in Canada? Perhaps Archdeacon Madden would not view the determined movement in this country for church union as a symptom of "passion for God." But, if so, m.st and he will retain his title in Canada people will disagree with him on the when he comes to take his position of whole, and express an admiration at Tucker's place. Property Owners' Association Moves to Establish One.

The weekly meeting of the East London Businessmen's and Property-Owners' Association was held in ciety Hall, East London, last evening. A large number were present, and eight new members were added to the already large membership roll.

The question of the fair grounds was brought up again, and every one was in favor of the removal

Municipal government by commission was brought up, and Mr. J. M. Parsons was called upon to address the meeting on this question. He outlined the commission government plan as it is being used in Des Moines. Iowa, at the present time. The people of that city found it very successful, and already many other cities throughout the States were establishing it. Mr. Parsons said that he had written to Sir James Whitney, asking him if it was constitutional or not, and Mr. Whitney replied that he knew of no reasons why it could not be established successfully in Canada as well as the United States.

The last matter to be brought up was the question of changing the name of the association. There is already an organization in East London called the East London Businessmen's Association, and this association has been complaining that the property owners have stolen the name. The East London Businessmen's Association is a society formed for the purpose of establishing trade in East London, and also to organize the picnics and games which are held in Queen's Park each year. Many people have got the two organizations mixed, and it is because of this that the property owners have considered the matter of a new name. After much discussion the matter was eft to a committee to decide

The following committees were also named: Intelligence, Mr. A. H. Doyle; municipal, William Pearson; press, F Barnett; property, A. E. Cook; manufacturing and industrial, Dr. Lindsay, R. Christian and Fred G. Mitchell.

The Broken Treaty.

The laconic Alec unlocked the door. The laconic Bosko returned his all-sufficing "Oui, monsieur," to the request that he would bring Mademoiselle Joan's French maid to Princess Delgrado, since it was in Alec's mind that Pauline might be disreet. Prince Michael, Beliani, Marulitch and

Nesimir had already formed themselves

Nesimir had already formed themselves into a whispering group. Stampoff was seated apart, morose and thoughtful. The old man's elbows rested on his knees and his chin was propped between his bony firsts. Princess Delgrado had flung herself forward on the table. Her face was hidden by her outstretched arms. This attitude of abandonment, the clenched hands, the convulsive heaving of her shoulders, were eloquent of tempest-tossed emotions. She looked so forlorn that her son was tempted to return to her side without delay, but instead he walked quietly toward the four men clustered in the centre of the room. They started apart and faced him nervously. It seemed that even yet they feared lest some uncontrolled gust of anger might lead Alec to fling himself blindly upon them. Had they but known it, he despite them. them. Had they but known it, he do spised them too greatly to think of maul-

"Have I your promise?" insisted Alec.

And yours?" he said to Marulitch. "Of course I agree," came the ready aswer. "I, like Prince Michael, feel that answer. "I, like Prince Michael, feel that it would be folly—"
"Prince Michael!" snarled the royal Delgrado. "You must learn to school your tongue, Julius! From this moment your tongue, Julius! From this moment I am King of Kosnovia. Let there be no manner of doubt about that!" Alec might not have heard the blusterer.

Alec might not have heard the blusterer. His calm glance fell on Beliani. "And what say you?" he asked.
"I agree most fully and unreservedly," murmured the Greek, conveying with a deep bow his respectful regret that such an assurance should be necessary. The disturbed President had already quitted the room, so Alec turned to Stampoff. His manner was quite friendly. Well he knew that this flery soul was not to be judged by the Delgrado standard.
"I will not inflict on you, my trusty comrade," he said, "the indignity of a demand that I felt was imperative in the case of the others present. Let us shake hands and think rather of what we have gone through together when I was King and you were my most loyal supporter, then of the proceedings. and you were my most loyal supporter, than of the poor climax to my brief reign that reveals me as an imposter." Those keen eyes were raised in a half-formed resolution. "Is it too late, Alec?" e growled sullenly. "For what?"

"For what?"
Alec's smile of surprise was the only bit of affectation he had indulged in that night. The fantasy flitting through Stampoff's brain was not hidden from him; but he wanted to dismiss it lightly.

"God's bones! Need you ask? Say but the world and you will be more firmly established on the throne than ever. Trust me to find means to still those babbling tongues!" and Stampoff flung out an arm in the direction of the uncle out an arm in the direction of the uncle and nephew, each manifestly anxious to hurry away, yet each so distrustful the other that he dared not go.

Stampoff rose and silently wrung Alec's Stampoff rose and silently wrung Alec's hand. He walked straight out of the room with bent head and slow, uncertain steps. For the hour his fierce spirit was chastened. He had done that which he thought would make for good, and it had turned out iil. His single-minded scheming bad gone awry. Another man in his position night had sought to curry favor with the new regime, whether of Michael or Julius, but Stampoff was not of that mettie: he wanted Alec to be King, because he believed in him, and now the edifice for which he had labored so ardently had tumbled in pieces about his ears.

Pauline came, and Alec went to his mother. He took her tenderly in his "Come, dear," he said. "Joan's maid will help you to reach your room. Our train leaves at midnight, and Bosko and Pauline will give your maid any help she Pauline will give your maid any help she needs in collecting your belongings."

The Princess raised her grief-stricken face to his, and it wrung his heart anew to see how that night of misery had aged her.

"Oh, my son, my son!" she murmured.
"Will you ever forgive me?"

He kissed her with a hearty and reassuring hum. "Forgive you, mother!" he cried. "It is not I, but you, who have suffered through all these years. Have

The Greek could only mutter a surprised "Yes. Who would deny your right to a far larger amount?" to a far larger amount?"
"Having your sanction, then, I take it," said Alec coolly. "Here, too, is my passport, issued in Paris, for which I believe I am indebted to you. I will now come in handy. May I ask in whose charge I leave the books and papers on this table? Some of them may be of use "I am afraid I cannot answer that

"Well, settle it among yourselves," said Alec dryly. "Now I must be off."
Without another word he passed from the room that had witnessed his triumph and his fall. Yet his face was remarkably cheerful when he asked an attendant if Lord Adalbert Beaumanoir's whereabout was known. It appeared this his Excellency the English milord had gone to the music hall in the Konigstrasse with a friend.

"Then send someone to say that he is wanted here at once," said Alec.

"Yes, your Majesty!"

"Your Majesty!" How incongruous the two words sounded in Alec's ears! By a trick of memory his thoughts flew back to the Montmartre review, wherein the stage prototypes of the Parisian band of exiled monarchs addressed each other by high-sounding titles and incidentally by high-sounding titles and incidentally sought to borrow five-franc pieces.

"If I possessed some literary skill I could write a review that would set the world talking," he mused, smiling to himself as he ascended the stairs to his own suite.

"What is the matter, old chap?" demanded Beaumanoir, strolling into his friend's dressing room a few minutes later. Lord Adalbert never hurried unless later. Lord Adalbert never hurried unless he was on horseback. He was in evening dress, and an opera hat was set rakishly on the back of his head. He was smoking, his hands were thrust into his pockets, and the mere sight of him served again to remind Alec of the larger world by whose daily round Kospayla and the again to remind Alec of the larger world in whose daily round Kosnovia and its troubles filled so insignificant a part.

In an oddly jubilant mood, Alec, took a pencil and wrote in large characters on Beaumanoir's immaculate shirt front, "Paris—with care."

"I have had a remarkable case of inebriety under my personal supervision. The patient drank heavily for fifteen years, and reached a degraded condition which caused the breaking up of his family and separation from his wife. Every hope was given up of ever saving the man from his strong desire for drink, and only a mother's interest finally persuaded him to voluntarily take treatment for his diseased condition. It was my pleasure to recommend Orrine, your liquor habit cure, and the treatment was taken faithfully. This was two years ago, and the patient is now in a healthy condition and still abstains from the use of stimulants. I have sold Orrine for a number of years, and have always found it to be satisfactory. I believe you have an exceptionally good treatment for this disease Orrine is prepared in two forms. CHILD LABOR IN EUROPEAN COUNTRIES

Investigations Made By Expert.

Washington, Nov. 17 .- A report dealing with child labor in Europe, covering more than 400 pages of the bureau of labor bulletin, has been made by Dr. C. W. A. Veditz, a professor of sociology in George Washington University, who made a special investi-gation in Austria, Belgium,, France, Germany, Switzerland and Italy. The investigator gathered all his data from official records and sources of infor-

Conditions Complained Of. Child labor in Belgium, not paid at all; children in Austria, beginning work before six years of age; child laborers in France, drilled to disappear through trap doors at the approach of inspectors, and a general indifferent enforcement of the child labor laws through which employers find it more profitable to pay the nominal fines imposed than to obey the regulations, are some of the conditions described in the

The general conclusion is that child tabor laws abroad are in many essential respects poorly enforced, and that the penalties imposed for violations are ridiculously small and of practically no deterrent value. The report gives data indicating that in most of these countries it would be a physical impossibility for the inspectors to do more than a fractional part of their work or to do that part thoroughly, and that the courts are astoundingly lenient with offenders against labor

Three Performances of "The White Squaw."

"The White Squaw" will open a two nights and Saturday matinee engagement at the Grand tonight. The stellar part will be taken by Miss Della Clarke. The Philadelphia Item says: "The picturesque romance at once imparts a delightful note of appeal that is irresistible. Miss Clarke, unaided by the figures of rhetoric, and relying on the simple metaphoric tongue of the red man, gives to the character all the eloquence and poetry that is inintended in this child of nature."

A very flimsy, albeit very funny, play was "The Captain," presented by Nat Goodwin and his company at the Grand Opera House last night to a large and nthusiastic audience. As a literary creation it was gauzy, but it served to exhibit Mr. Goodwin's peculiar humor, and that was sufficient rea-son for its existence. If the success of a play is measured by the number of a play is measured by the number of laughs it produces, this one is a wonder. The theme concerns the experiences of an army officer in the Philippines. One man become ill, and his friend impersonates him for certain reasons. As could be imagined, there are scores of opportunities for laughable situations, and Mr. Goodwin, in his own intmitable way, takes advantage of all of them. It is some years now since he played way, takes advantage of all of them. It is some years now since he played in London, but he has not lost any of his popularity or his skill as an entertainer. He is a prince in the house of laughter, and he is always welcome. His support was good, Miss Beatrice Morgan being particularly clever. This young lady is very charming and pretty, and she is an actress through and through. She was very popular with the audience.

Sidney Bracey was excellent, and the others, on the whole, were quite equal to the parts assigned to them.

The Bernhardt Sale.

The regular box office sale of seats for the Mme. Bernhadt engagement at the Grand Opera House, London, will open at 9 a.m. on Monday, Nov. 21. In order to avoid speculation of whatsoever nature, the management has wisely adopted the plan of the mail order system, which is nothing more than the retem, which is nothing more than the request for seats, including a stamped addressed envelope for its return with check or money order to cover the cost. These orders are filled in rotation, and have preference over the regular box office sale. This has been found in many ways to be the fairest method of disposing of the tickets. As soon as the order is received the tickets are mailed.

It appears that he has been doing some missionary work at the big city, for he had a conference last night with Secretary Martin Rosenthal, of the Ottawas, who will leave for New York today, presumably to attend a meeting. Mr. Rosenthal said that he was going for the purpose of arranging for a couple of exhibition games between Canadian teams next month.

The season will likely be opened by a series between Wanderers and Ottawa, or Ottawa and Renfrew, but Mr. Rosenthal will also confer with New York promoters while there with a view of forming the proposed league.

"Newsy" was the pivot on which the entire millionaire forward line worked last season, and without blee contents with New York promoters while there with a view of forming the proposed league. The Ottawa club has been very mysterious in its actions of late. It did not send delegates to the N. H. A. meeting, and announced that it would accept the new constitution without objections. The annual meeting was to have been held today, but has been postponed until Friday, when the outcome of Secretary Rosenthal's mission may be known.

It was learned that the scheme is to place Art Ross at the head of a new club at Montreal. Of course, the plan may not materialize at all, as the undertaking would also confer with New York promoters while there with a view of forming the proposed league.

INTERESTING BOOK ON COLLEGIATE GYMNASTICS

COLLEGIATE GYMNASTICS

The official handbook of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Gymnasts of America for 1910-11 has just been published in the Spalding Athletic Library. It is edited by Percy R. Carpenter, of Amherst College, and contains complete records of the Intercollegiate meets since 1899, and the official rules governing apparatus, the work of contestants, coaching, order of events, prizes, etc. The constitution and bylaws are given, and a review of the season of 1910. The latter contains the events gymnastically in the college world, and will be found very interesting. The book will be sent to any address in the United States or Canada by the American Sports Publising Company, 21 Warren street, New York, upon receipt of 10 cents.

Time has healed that wound in Japan, but evidently it has not died out here.

The Japanese are peculiarly ambi tious. When they found that foreign ers were getting all the trade in China and the Orient they went into They made contracts for which they didn't have capital, and that gave the whole nation a rather bad reputation. I think the business standing is entirea matter of reputation and I expect to see the time when Japan will have as good a standing in the business world as our own. TORONTO, Nov. 17.—Receipts for yesterday and today included were less care with 2252 head of cattle, 3584 sheep and lambs, 1709 hogs and 155 calves. While trade appeared to be a little slow and draggy, there was no real falling off in the demand for cattle of the first grades in quality, and prices in this class are not yet perceptibly easier. Butchers complain that they cannot get the particular kind of cattle they want, but they have a freer choice among a larger number of cattle of inferior quality, and for which prices may be a little easier than of late. As the latter, however, are a class of cattle that many of the butchers have no use for, the easier prices do not appeal to them. On the whole there is a fair and steady demand for good TORONTO, Nov. 17.—Receipts for yesterday and today included were 161 cars, prices is very slightly, if any, lower, than n the early part of this week. Choice outchers sell firm at $5.50 to $5.65, and anything fancy goes higher, a small bunch of eight fancy butcher heifers reported s selling at $5 85. Medium and common outchers slightly easier at $4 25 to $5 25 butcher sugnity easier at $4.20 to $0.25; butcher caws at $3.80 to $4.75; bulls, $3.25 to $4.75; canners, $1.50 to $2.50. Feeders— Choicest quality feeders, $50 to 1150 lbs, sold as firm as at the height of the season, but heavy offerings of Northwest cattle in the past two weeks have forced cattle in the past two weeks have forced prices down for secondary and inferior grades anywhere from 25c to 35c from the former prevailing prices. Heavy feeders, choice quality, steady, at $5.25 to $5.35; secondary quality, $4 75 to $5; light stockrs, $4.50 to $4.65; common rough light aixed stockers from $3.50 to $4.25. WALL STREET

[Special to H. C. Becher, from Logan & Bryan, New York and Chicago.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—Wall street, 16 a.m.—The interstate commerce commission charges the New York Central with padding its pay rolls, to improve its case for higher charges. Mayor Gaynor says he will not make up his mind on Triboro plan until after a public hearing required by law. Americans in London are firm, 14 to 12 higher. Wm. Sproule, of the American Smelting, elected president of Wells-Fargo Company. General market in London irregular, with no striking movements either way. New York retailers and market cliques fighting reduction of food pulsas. Pressed Stack Community. ers and market cliques fighting reduction f food prices. Pressed Steel Car surplus.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1–10 a.m.—Shotwell Rio Janeiro Tram 1031/8 says: Something of a reaction or resting R. and O. Navigation 96 spell should be seen in the market for a few days. It must be admitted that the chief reason for buying at this particular moment is that the Morgan group of operators are openly proclaiming higher prices.

London is steady with freedings of the control Electric Light 118 London is steady with freedings.

n looken is steady, with fractional advances, there being no special features. Cables from Europe are of a cheerful character, there being talk of a reduction in the Bank of England rate soon, which suggests the money situation abroad as favorable, and that the elections are less likely to prove very disturbing. Sentiment is mixed here, with conservative views preponderating, because of the rank manipulation of late in the stock market, which, it is said, may result in official investigation, as Wall street does public. The sale of bonds of Chicago and Northwestern at 4 per cent is suggestive of the change in the investment trend, the former bonds being 3½. Favorable comment is heard upon the reduction in prices of various commodities, including meat, this trend making for a readjustment in the high cost of living, and that there is a fair prospect of the steel that there is a fair prospect of the steel that there is a fair prospect of the steel.

HID A PAIR OF SHOES CHARGED WITH THEFT

Strathroy Young Man in Unpleasant Predicament Over Practical Joke.

Inability to differentiate between tealing and hiding a pair of shoes as a joke, and a consequent plea of guilty, have caused Thomas Ford Thornycroft, recently of Strathroy, a young Englishman, who was committed for trial by Magistrate Noble, of that town, much trouble, and confinement in the county jail for several days. According to the story told Thornycroft before Judge Macbeth this morning the prisoner is not guilty of stealing the shoes, and show.d statement be confirmed when he comes up again tomorrow he will be released. The matter was brought to light quite accidentally, when Crown Attorney McKillop casually asked the prisoner before entering the judge's chambers, why he had stolen the shoes According to his story, he, together with B. F. Duncan, who laid the charge, worked for Dougal Leach, a cheesemaker and farmer, four miles from Strathroy, Last Wednesday from Strathroy. morning he took Duncan's shoes as a joke and placed them in a tank in the The next day he disagreed with his employer and he was dismissed. That day he was arrested on a charge of stealing for the Victorian Order of Nurses, as the shoes. He claims to have told the last year, when they contributed $30 constable what he had done, but when to the god cause. Helen Pope was he appeared for trial he pleaded guilty twithout making any explanation. Thornycroft told the judge this morning that he thought he was guilty when he took the shoes, and hid them, although he had no idea of appropriating them for his own use.

The judge expressed the opinion that Thornycroft, who was not represented by a solicitor, should given every chance. However, as a recautionary measure, a couple of witesses from Strathroy will be brought in tomorrow to give the story for the

PECULIAR CASE

British Judge Had to Admit His Inability to Decide It.

London, Nov. 17 .- The public press durfng the last few weeks has pointed with pride to the scandalous contrast (for the United States) in the administration of the criminal law on the two sides of the Atlantic. The most sensational murder case of the present century is disposed of in London quietly, fairly and with the exclusion of all merely technical obstacles in a dignified trial of five days' duration. But the English law is not always so simple in its administration or in such resourceful brain of the lord chief justice could not solve according to the common authorities because he did not hold a was obliged to hold that a breeder of ! pheasants for the purpose of sale was a game dealer, as the law made no distinction between game birds dead or alive. "But if you hold that I am a game dealer," pointed out the bewildered defendant, "then I become liable to heavy penalties under another clause of the law, which forbids a game dealer to have in his possession any game bird, alive or dead, during the close season." The business of raising pheasants for restocking big estates which are denuded of birds during the shooting season is a large one in England, and the breeding on these pheasant farms must of course take place during the close time in the spring. The court struggled hard with the dilemma, but in the end the judges, after expressing the greatest sympathy with the victim, acknowledged their inability to reach any equitable solution of the problem as it stands. GREAT ROBBERY

ARGENTINA WHEAT CROP TO BE HEAVY

A Million Acres More Than in 1909 Will Be Harvested.

Washington, Nov. 17.—Foreign crop conditions for October are reviewed by the United States department of agriculture as follows:

In Argentina wheat will be reaped at the approaching harvest from a surface a million acres larger than last year and indications point to an increment of probably a half million acres in Australia. No definite figures are available respecting the extent of the newly-seeded areas in the northern hemisphere, but the weight of expert opinion is that agricultural sentiment has pretty generally favored a very considerable enlargement of sowings, in continuation of the increases made last year, In the two principal wheat producing countries of the southern hemisphere, the crops promise better than a month ago. Say Big Packers Are Trying to Curry Favor by Reducing Prices.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—"All this talk of reduced prices for meats has no foundation in fact. The big packers, alarmed by impending federal prosecutions, are trying to curry favor with the public and to make the retailer the 'goat' in the whole affair."

This is the explanation here today of the United Master Butchers of Chicago, of the interviews recently given out by J. Ogden Armour and other "beef barons," in which the assertion was made that meat prices

WORKS BOARD CLEARS THE DEPUTY ENGINEER

Mr. Wright Proves That He Was Not Responsible For the Richmond St. Work.

At a meeting of the board of works held last night, Deputy City Engineer Wright stated by letter his objection the rate of $1,000,000 a day, and the to being held responsible for the road treasuries to meet the demand of the easy in respect to some if he attends work on Richmond street north.

It seems that Ald. Pocock had written a letter to a local publication, in which he stated that the work was done by Engineer Wright without the knowledge or consent of No. 2 committee, and as a result, they were not that street. Some complaint had been made that so much money should have been expended on this improvement his communication Mr. Wright pointed out that he did the work, not on his own initiative, but on instructions from the board. He quoted the minutes of the committee, in which it was ordered that Richmond and other streets be put in first-class con-

ARMED POLICEMEN WATCH FOR GHOSTS

Two Families in Turmoil Over Mysterious Movements of Spirits.

Detroit, Nov. 17.-The ghosts at 604 Magnolia street, as interpreted by a woman medium, have decreed the death of Frank Beck. Frank says it's humbug, but his wife believes, and has induced him to stay all day tucked up in bed waiting for the angel of death to come and get him.

The doings of the roving disembodied spirits were so fearsome that Tuesday Mrs. Beck, hurriedly snatching up her two small children, fled and left her poor husband curled un-der the blankets to face the ghosts. She persuaded Mounted Officer Mc-Kay to go back with her and investigate. When she got him inside revolver handy for venturesome

LITERARY LIONS GATHER IN LONDON

Many Notables To Be Seen at the Big Savoy Hotel.

London, Nov. 17.—The American who remains in London for any length of time is apt to be impressed by the ease with which it is possible to come into contact with the literary lights of England. If he is not so fortunate as a Pilgrim banquet in London), he may So great is the demand for small at least have the opportunity of taking have their haunts and it is only necesresponsible for the money spent on certificates. may be after all even if they are cele-

Over here it is different. Americans know their authors, some of them, by pictures of them printed in the newspapers and the magazines, but the United States has no literary capital in the sense that England has, no matter what the claims of Indianapolis and Boston may be in that direction, and about the only literary treat in the way of the sight of a real live author to be had by the ordinary citizen in New York is when Richard Harding Davis takes the air of Fifth avenue or George Ade drops in upon Broadway to collect royalties on some of his plays, or Booth Tarkington, here on a semi-annual visit, stands at the door of a cafe declining invitations to enter. London, besides being a literary capital, has in a sense its literary capi tol, by which is meant that literary London in some way or other focusse in that region adjacent to the middle Strand, which is known as the Adelphi. There is the home of the Savage Club, and if you stand long enough at the corner of Adam street of an afternoon or evening you may see a whole liorary of authors go by.

But there is a better place near for anybody who has the price of a lunch. This is the grill room, or, as they call it over there, the Cafe Parisien, of the Savoy Hotel.

The United States is such a big country that American authors are scattered. Many of them come to New York at times. Some of the successful ones break into society. Some do not. Others have no wish to.

Many years ago Washington Square was looked upon as the centre of the literary and artistic colony of the city, but the literary folk who used to haunt its purlieus have been scattered and there is no public place where one may meet all sorts of literary lions face to face and know them for what they are, and perhaps see them eat. At one single luncheon in the Savoy during the season it is possible to make up a whole page of "Who's Who." For instance, that tall, thin man, with yellow hair and reddish face, who sits uncomfortably on a minute portion of his chair, talking to the Oriental-looking woman, is Wileyes, who is lunching with Charles Frohman, is J. M. Barrie. They usual-

MARRIAGE STATISTICS

Most Girls Find Husbands at Age of Twenty-One.

London, Nov. 17.—In the twentieth volume of "London Statistics," just issued by the London County Council, the curious fact is noted that although the marriage rate in London is falling and in Berlin and Paris is going up, The majority of London was so feared and execrated when he bachelors marry between the ages of 20 and 25; on the other hand the women in the continental capitals marry earlier than do those in London. The favorite age at which a London girl marries is 21. In 1908 no fewer than 14,800 girls of that age were married. One girl under 16 was married to a boy of 20. Of 33,449 London marriages recorded in 1908, 24,000 were those of persons between the ages of 20 and 25. One girl of 20 married a man of 50, and in two cases of brides of that age the husband was Turning to the other extreme in marriage we find two spinsters married at the age of 70, the husband in each instance being 75. One woman of 30 married a man of 75.

In 1908 only 118 of that age were married. more in favor, for 43 of 21 years of age were remarried to bachelors, mostly under 35. The best remarriage age for widows would appear to be from 30 to 35. One widow of 75 remarried a bachelor of her own age, while a bachelor of 75 secured a widow of 40. There is also a case recorded of a widower who entered upon his second marriage venture at the age of 19.

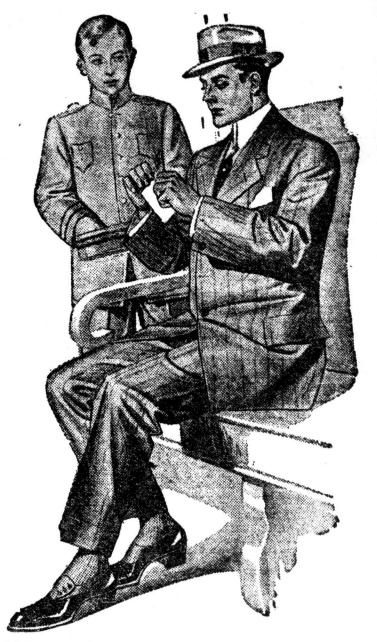

Many other interesting facts are contained in the volume. Thus it is pointed out that the number of theatres in the administrative county licensed for the performance of stage plays in November last was 51. Their approximate seating accommodation is

SANTA CLAUS HAS AIRSHIP FACTORY

Preparing to Distribute Silk and Celluloid Planes That Will Fly.

A NEW FLIRTING DOLL

Many Other Novelties in Preparation in His Immense Workshops.

London, Nov. 17 .- With Christmas just a little more than a month away, Santa Claus, the progressive old soul, having ordered the newest model of aeroplane to make his annual trip southward, is now, according to the latest authentic news from the north pole, laying in a stock of new style toys. The year that sees the toy mon-oplane will take Noah's ark and the Teddy bear away.

For the 364 days from Christmas to Christmas serious minded grownups are spending much of their time and brain power devising and manufacturing new toys, a little more splendid, a little more unusual, a little more mechanically perfect than those London, Nov. 17.—The London policeman is probably one of the most flattered old favorites does not wane, and most Ottawa, Nov. 18.—By instruction of classes in the world. No visitor to Lon- of the new ideas, however ingenious they are in themselves, must be modifications of the time honored favorites or run the risk of failure.

Dolls always have been and will be of first importance to most small girls and some small boys, and all that the manufacturers can hope to do is to make this year's dolls more like real babies than they ever were before.

Boy Wants New Inventions. With the small boy the problem is less complicated. He keeps an eye on current events and it is a queer boy who couldn't give the inventors points and magnetos. If an invention marks a step in progress the boy expects to see it duplicated in a toy and he has learned not to be content with makewill really go.

Not even second to the newest Teddy game are the toy aeroplanes which every boy will probably be demanding for Christmas. Some are made of celluloid, some of silk, but the important thing about all of them is that they fly. A key winds them up. For the boys whose aspirations are for special services from the London not aerial there are mechanical war-bobby. They pleaded that they spent large sums in making their shop windows tub harbor or Frog Pond bay by their own machinery. jewelers said they had recently spent new hybrid, half auto and half horse, $60,000 in this way, while a Holborn drap-will prance or whizz: in fact, a sort of will prance or whizz: will prance or whizz; in fact, a sort of ors of locomotion about equally with the hill climbing steam engines.

The police commissioner refused the of thing. But this year's dolls will have real before every trader in London would eye-lashes and real hair, some of them. There is also one magnificent creature who will soon make her debut in the shops, who is called the "flirting doll," because she rolls her eves coquettishly.

The Teddy bear, which threatened to be a dangerous rival to the waxen beauties, has this year formed a merger with the doll, and the result is unique, although losing perhaps some of the charm of both. However, the zoo-dolly has a charm all its own. It is dressed in a queer costume of feather or fur, but has a doll's face, left by Franz Botor, a wealthy tachelor with a hood which can be pulled over the face to make a complete animal or bird. At once the harmless doll becomes an elephant, a donkey, lion, cat, woman hater, but the cause of his andog, a rooster, or a frog.

MYSTERY IN DEATH OF TWO BARONETS

Father and Son Are Suddenly Lost to the World Under Strange Circumstances.

The family has been closely con-nected with India and the east since the eighteenth century. Several members of it served the East India company, the second baronet was charge d'affaires in Persia. Sir Claude was born in 1871, his father being Sir Gilbert Campbell, third baronet, of Carrick Buoy, County Donegal.

Very Versatile. Sir Gilbert was a captain in Ninety-second Highlanders in youth, and served throughout Indian mutiny. Later he became a novelist of some note, and published a well-known translation of Victor Hugo's "Toilers of the Sea." In 1890 he became connected with notorious "International Society

COULD NOT CROSS THE FLOOR PAIN WAS SO GREAT.

Miss Hazel Hess, Winchester Springs, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with my kidneys for five years. They were so bad, at times, I could not cross the floor for the pain. The doctor could not do me any good and a friend advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I bought six boxes and now I have been cured for over four years. I will recommend them to every sufferer."

No woman can be strong and healthy unless the kidneys are well. When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to filter out of the blood are left in the system. Then how important it must be to see to it that this system of sewerage be not clogged up.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a purely vegetable medicine, realizing quick, permanent relief, without any after ill effects. A medicine that will absolutely cure backache and all forms of kidney and bladder trouble.

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c. per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SEEK LOST BOAT

Searching Parties Are Trying to Find Steamer Wolverine.

Selkirk, Nov. 17 .- Manager Simpson, of the Northern Fish Company, stated today that the company had sent a party north to locate the missing steamer Wolverine.

The party will drive from Gimli to Cayhead Point and attempt to locate the boat from there. The owners do not think she has foundered, and she has large quantities of supplies on board which she was taking to fishing stations.

Fisheries Inspector Young says it is mpossible to act on instructions from Ottawa to send the Lady-of-the-Lake search of the missing boat, as the ake is entirely icebound.

an interesting story of relief from almost intolerable sufferings:

"I can hardly tell you how great my sufferings have been. Chronic liver complaint accompanied by biliousness were a daily source of trial to me. Every day I experienced the sickening effects of these ailments. I longed for some medicine that should permanently drive them away.

Hearing of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, I thought they were worthy of a trial. My surprise was indeed great. From the very first I experienced relief. Continuing with them I found my troubles were slowly but surely leaving me, and before long I once more knew what it was to be free from the harassing effects of the ailments that had long sickened and weakened me. So great is my faith in Dr. Morse's Indian Pills that I shall never on any account be without them."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cure Bowel and Kidney as well as Liver troubles, and keep you healthy. 25c a box at your dealer's.

Indianapolis, Nov. 17. - As the quickest and most direct plan of getting rid of Mayor Shank, a bill for a commission form of government for this city is being prepared, and will be backed by businessmen before the coming session of the legislature.

The bill will provide that any city Raleigh Township, crashed through Run an Apiary?" was the subject of in the state having more than 5,000 Run an Apiary?" was the subject of population may hold an election to dea splendid paper by Miss Ethel Rob-cide whether the commission form of son, of Ilderton, at the first session of government shall be adopted. If the the Ontario Beekeepers' Association proposition carries, a city election must be held within 60 days for the election of members of the council.

This council will govern the city, each member being placed in charge of certain departments of the city ad-ministration. One member of the council will be known as the mayor of "Over 5,000,000 pounds of honey is the city, but he will not have any more produced in Ontario," said President to do with conducting the city's business than any other member of the
