CHAPTER XXXIX.

"My dear, I think that this is the happiest moment I have known for years!"

There were tears in Lady Hastings' eyes—tears in her voice—but they were tears of gladness. It did not take much at any time to raise my lady's spirits to the seventh heaven of delight, or to plunge them leagues below the bottomless pit of despair. She did not allow her heart to be played with—her emotions were at all times superior to that. But now it seemed that she was touched to the core. She kissed Ada Craythorne in a way that surprised that young lady. It was a kiss of real feeling, and betrayed a depth of character that was rarely permitted to show itself. Lady Hastings' heart was really touched, for the news that Ada had brought her most particularly affected her own future comfort! No horrible wife looming in the future, and her son engaged to Miss Craythorne—It was almost too delightful to be true!

"I have known for a long time how fond he was of you," she said, complacently. "And I do not think that you will object to an early marriage, my dear."

Ada did not care to discuss this question at present, and while Lady Hastings rejoiced that her son would soon be on the highway to health and matrimony, she retired to the privacy of her own room to write to her mother.

Dearest Mamma—I have great news for you. I am betrothed to Sir Charles Hastings, the one man in the whole world that I can ever care for. He proposed to me to-day, and, of course, I accepted him. You will understand how judiciously I spread the news. I know that I can rely upon your tact for that. I do not think it will be a long engagement, for Sir Charles already evinces much impatience, being attached to me in a most devoted way. I am genuinely and thoroughly happy. (She winced a little at this.) I was not at all surprised to hear that the match between Lady Gladys Howard and Lord Cecil Stanhope was broken off and would advise you not to encourage Flossie to wear her heart away thinking of Lord Cecil. It is disgraceful for a girl to throw herself at any man's head, and there are other reasons which I dare not mention yet. Within a few weeks Lord Cecil will be quite a different personage! Be sure to keep me well posted with the news in our own set, as I quite miss your pleasant little chats.

Your loving daughter,

ADA.

Miss Craythorne posted this letter with her own hands next morning and as the dull weather had changed to crisp brightness and beauty, she took a long walk through the glittering fields and echoing woods. Winter had at length set in with a keen, healthgiving wind, that bound the earth in iron bands, and cast a million diamonds of frost work over her face, to sparkle in the sun.

Since Sir Charles had promised to marry her, Ada had not spoken to him again, beyond kissing him good-night. After the long conversation he had seemed tired, and relapsed into a heavy sleep. He was still sleeping when she left to post her letter, and she almost dreaded that the doctor would find him decidedly worse when he paid his daily visit.

"He cannot give me his love," she thought, with much bitterness. "His heart is with Lady Gladys. He cannot give it to me yet, but I will impell it by force of my own passion! Had she never crossed my path, how different it all might have been!"

She had wandered a mile beyond the village, and was standing within a thick belt of fire trees, that seemed like hoary sentinels guarding the forest beyond. She was listening to the chirp, chirp of the robins as they sang with their happy little songs and sparkling black eyes, and thinking of the changes wrought in a few short months in the lives of all whom she knew! How silent was the world about her, the only sound of life being the far-away shout of some village urchin.

How lovely must the woods have been in summer, when the thick carpet of brown leaves that lay at her feet clothed the gaunt branches above, as lovely as the woods of Swinford, the earth as green as the sweet meadows of Swinford, where she had first met the love that was her fate. The music of that day was still in her ears, its perfume in her nostrils. She remembered the tiny flower that Sir Charles had given to her, and the pleasure of that moment thrilled her yet.

It might be that she felt a sharp twinge of remorse, of sorrowful regret for the wickedness that had overtaken her, but she had no thought of faltering in her purpose. She would be Lady Hastings—she would be the wife of Sir Charles. To see him belong to another would be death. She had no thought, no ambition, beyond this. Now that she had gone so far, nothing should stand in her way.

She passed the belt of firs, and walked on into the thick wood, her steps making no sound among the dying and dead leaves that littered every way. So great and profound was the silence about her that she likened the forest to a deserted city—a city in ruin and decay. The cracking of a dried twig under her feet seemed to echo like a pistol shot, and the happy songs of the robins appeared to change to a mournful cadence.

Ada Craythorne was not superstitious, but she could not resist an icy shudder. This was strange, for her cheeks glowed with the hue of health and vigorous exercise. Her eyes were filled with the fire of splendid youth—the fire of self-will, of passion, and indomitable courage.

She shook off the feeling of chill depression, and turned to retrace her steps, but had not proceeded far when she found that she had no bearing to follow.

To the right and to the left, before and behind, everything looked the same—nothing but myriads of brown tree-trunks, that ended in darkness beyond. Above, patches of cold, gray sky, of illusory sunshine—below, an unbroken mass of decaying leaves.

Ada's first sensation was one of annoyance, not unmingled with fear, for the woods of Emden were thousands of acres in extent.

Fortunately the day was young, and she stood still for a few minutes, straining every sense to catch one faint sound of life beyond, which she might follow.

She now upbraided herself for her folly. She had wandered much farther than she had any idea of, and many ugly stories of tramps, of foxes, and wild dogs recurred to her—recurred to her with such vividness that she shivered with fear.

She had read that the Emden woods were the resort of these creatures, and sometimes the local newspapers gave thrilling descriptions of the personal encounters between good citizens and these wicked foragers of the forest.

While indulging in such fancies as these, a peal of demoniac laughter stilled her heart. It echoed from tree to tree, and was succeeded by the crashing of dried sticks, as a wild-looking creature advanced from a black, cavernous looking hole in the side of a piece of hilly ground. It was a man, with flaming eyeballs, a hideous distorted face, and Ada immediately recognized Spira, the would-be-murderer of Sir Charles.

His beard was unkempt, his hair straggling, and his clothes were mud-spattered and hung about him in rags. There was no doubt that he was mad—driven mad by fear, by rage, and disappointment—and for a few minutes the girl's heart seemed to stop beating.

The madman paused a dozen paces away, and repeated his savage howl. "So I have caught you, my sweet Lucy, at last. Ha! ha! I have killed him—shot him dead—Oh! it was joy to see him writhing at my feet. Joy! Then I came here, with the bloodhounds after me; I ran for days and days, until they were off the scent, but I will not betray you again, Lucy, never again. You have deceived and deserted me once, and now I must kill you! Ha! ha! kill you!"

Ada turned sick and faint at the thought of the terrible danger she was in. This maniac evidently believed that she was his wife, and that he would make an effort to take her life, she did not for an instant doubt. Realizing how desperate was her situation, her natural courage returned. She remembered that she was lithe and strong, and must use every effort to protect herself.

"You have made a mistake," she replied. "I am not Lucy."

He only repeated his wicked laugh, his fingers working convulsively the while, and crouching low, prepared to spring with the action of a wild beast. He ground his teeth, and his beard was flecked with foam.

Just say Blue-jay to your druggist

Pain Stops Instantly

NO PEDIGREE.

While chugging down a country track, I killed a farmer's rascal, an ancient and a battered swine, with long jug nose and bumped up spine. The farmer, sitting in a tree, beheld the grim catastrophe. "Fair—husband-man," I cried, "alack. I own I've killed your rascal; and I'm prepared to hear you tell how that it's pedigree is swell; I shall not doubt you if you swear it took the premium at the fair; I'm willing to believe this hog is named in royal catalogue, and that its sire was called the best of all the hench shows, east and west. But still I ask you, man to man, to treat me softly as you can, for I am poor and have no roll to pay a great, oppressive toll." "I'm glad the measly beast is dead," with smiling face the farmer said: "now that he's dead I'll have some peace; he killed my chickens and my geese; come to the house and have a swig of cider, since you've croaked the pig." I shed no blushes when I say I slumped right down and swooned away. Man learns to meet Fate's fiercest stunt with lofty and undaunted front, but when he's all wound up to face the foulest swat that Fate can place, and gets instead a large bouquet, it is 'Too Much—he faints away."

COAL STRIKERS RETURN TO WORK.

SYDNEY, N.S., Aug. 19.
All pumpmen engineers and maintenance employees in the Cape Breton mines who stopped work midnight Monday, will return to work tonight and wage negotiations between the company and the strikers will be resumed Tuesday. These decisions were reached at a meeting of miners at Dominion No. 1 to-day and this evening.

WAGE NEGOTIATIONS REOPENED.

SYDNEY, N.S., Aug. 20.
All pumpmen, engineers and maintenance employees in the mines of South Cape Breton returned to work last night. It was in this district that the collieries had been falling victims to the inflowing water since the beginning of the Nova Scotia coal strike at midnight on Monday. Wage negotiations between the Dominion Coal Company and the strikers will be resumed Tuesday. These decisions were made at a meeting of the United Mine Workers at Dominion No. 1 on Saturday afternoon and evening. Two hundred delegates were present and there was only one vote against the decision. The pumpmen were sent back to work after Premier G. H. Murray and Hon. D. A. Cameron, of the Nova Scotia government guaranteed wage negotiations with the company and the understanding that the agreement would be binding only while negotiations continued. Premier Murray made the offer of the reopening of negotiations at a conference Friday night, and the miners then countered that they would put the pumpmen back if the troops were withdrawn. Mayor D. D. Morrison, M.P.P. of Glouce Bay, himself a striker, appealed to Saturday's meeting not to "disavow the stand he had taken at the last session of the Nova Scotia House of Assembly when he had opposed a Bill, which would make it a punishable offence for maintenance men to desert their posts in time of strike, using as his chief argument that it was the policy of the United Mine Workers to protect the mines after the actual coal producers had stopped work. The conference also decided to allow the freight handlers on the company owned Sydney and Louisburg railway to go back to work if the locality to which they belonged were willing. It was pointed out that the walking out of the freight handlers caused considerable expense to the people of the colliery towns.

TARIFF BILL PASSES SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.
The Administration Tariff Bill, officially known as "The Tariff Act of 1922" was passed yesterday by the Senate after four months' debate. It now goes to a conference. The vote was forty-seven to twenty-five.

WILL NOW GO TO COMMITTEE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.
The House of Representatives will get the Tariff Bill back from the Senate tomorrow, just a year and a month after it first acted upon it. Republican leaders plan to send it to a conference under a special rule this week in an attempt to compose the two thousand and odd differences between the Senate and the House. The general expectation is the House will decide on accepting the Senate's foreign valuation plan with the so-called flexible tariff provisions, under which the rates might be raised or lowered by the President to meet the changing economic conditions.

The Magic Crystals.

WOMAN SCIENTIST AND THE BEETLE.

An astonishing claim, which appears to be supported by an amount of material proof, is made by Mrs. Maude Dickinson, a Brighton scientist. She states that she has discovered a certain minute "something," resembling in form the "self-created" scarab or beetle of ancient Egypt, whose properties are as marvellous as any that the Egyptians attributed to their chief amulet. It forms crystals outside and away from the bottle in which it is contained. If these crystals are placed in a sealed test tube and the tube is dipped in water, the water acquires inexplicable radio-active powers.

By means of its composite bodies are reduced to their elements. Flint becomes a fine powder. Pain is alleviated. Gold, it is even asserted, can be made.

All this sounds like a superstitious tale of long-past ages or the imagining of a medieval alchemist. Now comes the prosaic, common-place, matter-of-fact test.

The water is being used by the Brighton Corporation, with complete success to clear the hot-water pipes in their baths of an adamant-hard deposit.

HOW THE DISCOVERY WAS MADE.

"I was experimenting with oils for the purpose of making perfume and scented soaps," said Mrs. Dickinson, "when I noticed on the paper at the top of the jar some small crystals, whose presence I could not understand. I took them to chemists in London, and on their suggestion I fused them, using an ordinary Bunsen burner.

"There was an alarming and unexpected explosion, which, happily, did no damage. When it was over I found this fine white crystal like a diamond, and also the particle of vegetable, which I have since found to be the scarab. It puzzled me altogether when I examined it under the microscope, because of the rays it was emitting, and I placed it in the bottle.

"When this bottle is laid in the sunlight the scarab throws off through the air and through the glass the minute crystals which I use. To-morrow, when we sweep, we shall find more where the bottle has been lying today."

Mrs. Dickinson places the crystals in small sealed test tubes, and it is from these that the radio active emanates.

AFRAID TO LET WIFE BE ALONE

"My wife and I feel that we owe everlasting gratitude to Tanlac, for it has made her gain ten pounds and she now has better health than in years," said Clayton Zwicker, 2 Edwards St., Dartmouth, N.S., who works for the Maritime Telephone Co.

"My wife was in miserable health for seven years and although she tried many medicines she grew worse and I was afraid to leave her alone. She was so weak she could hardly walk across the room. Her appetite was very poor and no matter what she ventured to eat she nearly fainted from indigestion.

"Tanlac relieved her in a short time. She now has a splendid appetite and has regained her strength so she can do her housework again. We will praise Tanlac as long as we live. Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Docking a Ship.

She was late, and the night was falling when the pilot-boat thrust down Southampton Water. Night, a driving rain and a force six wind—with the 52,000-ton Berengaria to a swing, in a bare thousand feet of water, and to edge into the Cunard side of the Ocean Dock. A pretty prospect for the pilot.

We had glimpses of her through the squalls, swung down in the Solent, turning and twisting between the Brambles and Calshot Spit. Then, almost before we knew it, she was on us. We edged up to her, rubbing affectionately along her great side as a puppy rubs against your ankles. The pilot grasped the Jacob's ladder and jumped for it—and we were away again up the wharf, changing ahead of her to our place among the four other tugs that were to pull and push her into dock. They lay to on either side of the 600-foot channel, ranged like a guard of honor. She came up with them, and in a scurry of churned water they closed on her.

The great air lamps gleamed red-dish-naive against theinky sky above the dock as we edged and edged her into it.

We were in the lee of her, so that nothing but the wrack of brown smoke torn from her high funnel tops by the swooping wind told of the pressure that was keeping her away from the quayside. Two tugs could not overcome it. A steady tug slipped, up astern, bumped her broad, rope-fendered bow against the towering flank, and pushed.

A fourth, the tow rope slipped, panted down the dock, turned on her heel, butted into place—and pushed.

There was 5,200 horse-power behind that combined push. The big ship moved inward. Not by inches, but by sixteenths of inches we pushed her in. The outraged wind howled in her rigging and ore great clouds of evil-smelling smoke from her funnels. The water in the dock was churned to sandy cream as our propellers thrashed and thrust. Thirty-five minutes later long we pushed.

Then out of the darkness above came a megaphone voice, "All secure." The tugs curtseyed away from her side. A humorist skipper cheeped a curt "Pip, pip," with his stent. The Berengaria was home.—Er.

"Father of the Navy"

(From an Exchange.)

Some years ago, towards the end of Lord Fisher's term of office as first sea lord, a new class of destroyer was designed, the "M" class, many of which were named after the lesser-known of our naval worthies. Alongside the name of Myrnes, commemorating valiant Sir Christopher, was that of Moresby—and it was a name which few outside the navy had ever heard. It was a tribute paid by Lord Fisher to a life-long friend, a man after his own heart, John Moresby, "Father of the Navy."

Admiral Moresby was born in 1830, the son of the late Sir Fairfax Moresby. His naval record included service in the Baltic Fleet under Sir Charles Napier in the Russian war of 1854-5, for which he was awarded the medal; in China, 1861, including the attack on the Pelho forts; and in Japan, 1864. He was senior-officer at Bermuda in 1879-81, and retired in 1888, becoming admiral in 1893.

Moresby, however, was more in the line of James Cook, Franklin, Nares and Goodenough, than of the great fighting seamen, and it is as an explorer that his name will endure. His explorations were carried out in Australasian waters and he added to the known world no fewer than twenty-five large inhabited islands and more than 100 smaller ones. In all, he explored over 600 miles of previously unknown coastline in New Guinea and the neighborhood, and discovered the largest harbor in that island, which now bears his name—Port Moresby. These and other matters are recorded in his books, "Discoveries and Surveys in New Guinea," "A Cruise in Polynesia and Visits to the Pearl-Shelling Stations in the Torres Straits" and "Two Admirals."

Advertising Newfoundland.

If the effect of advertising Newfoundland, its scenery, resources and industries on the silver screen is one whit as rapid as the formation of the company organized for this purpose, then there cannot be the slightest doubt that by the end of November of this year a true knowledge of Britain's oldest colony will be in the possession of the people of two continents, and more will be learned of this country than has ever been gleaned from the pages of geography and history. Living, moving, realistic scenes from the daily life of our people will be features of the picture which is about to be prepared by the promoters and directors of Newfoundland Films, Limited, and produced in the cinema theatres of the world. As a great advertising scheme, nothing can beat it. But of course it has another side to it, and that is the financial one. The advertisement of Newfoundland Films, Limited, which is now running in the Telegram is an invitation to all who are interested in having faith in the project to become partners in the concern, and thus assist Newfoundland to become more widely known: to show that this is not a land of fog and ice and to convince those who know Terra Nova only in name that she possesses advantages in lake and sylvan scenes, such as no other country under the sun can lay claim to. There is surely much that can be said and written in favor and support of the present proposal to set forth the beauties of the tenth island in such a way that they may be viewed by millions. The names of the directors of the newly incorporated company is a guarantee of success. The name of the producer of Newfoundland's first cinema picture is no less a guarantee that nothing will be left undone to make it perfect. The bankers, the auditors, the solicitors, the brokers, all these give confidence to the movement, and at the last when the picture is made and produced, the most sceptical will have been convinced of its value and worth as a medium of display of such good things as the colony has to offer to the tourist or capitalist. Newfoundland's opportunity has arrived. Canada has been exploited for the screen and recently the Maritime Provinces have been taken up. New Brunswick and Nova Scotia have already come into the circle by the incorporation of companies for the production and exhibition of moving pictures setting forth the physical and natural attractions of both. Prince Edward Island, the garden of North America, will come in its turn, so that the whole of the seaboard of the North American continent washed by the North Atlantic will be featured. The motion picture for Newfoundland will begin to be made very shortly. For the principal characters in the story actors and actresses will be selected from the best screen material in America. Minor roles and small parts will be taken by Newfoundlanders. By the production of Newfoundland stories and pictures of the highest class, there will be established definite and correct knowledge of the colony in other countries, which will tend to dissipate the erroneous impressions unfortunately so generally held abroad, and this if nothing else, or if no other inducement were offered, is worth the venture.

PINALS WILL BE CONTESTED 400N. The finals in ladies' single, championship and handicap and the men's single championship, will shortly be played on the courts of the St. John's Lawn Tennis Club. In the Ladies' championship, Miss Vera Windler has earned the right to play Miss Mary Rendell, last year's champion, and in the handicap she plays Miss Beth Bartlett, who won this tournament last season. The team that visited Grand Falls will be strengthened by the addition of two or three footballers who travel with the basebatters from the paper town, and the City team will be a picked aggregation including all the local football stars. The proceeds will be used to defray the expenses of the team which travelled to Grand Falls and there, upheld the City colours. The game will take place on St. George's Field on Wednesday night, and will give the public an idea of the type of football which some of the Grand Falls players can hand out. The full Grand Falls team will arrive here soon, to attempt to wrest the cup from St. John's.

Bonne Bay Road On Contract.

600 MEN WILL BE EMPLOYED. To provide work for the unemployed in the outports, the Government has decided to continue the construction of the Bonne Bay Road. In all about 600 men will be employed, and it is expected that by late in the fall the salt water terminus in the main arm of Bonne Bay will be reached.

Until the Day Dawn.

The funeral of the late Miss Jean B. Johnstone, sister of Mr. J. W. N. Johnstone, which took place yesterday afternoon from her late residence, No. 1 Bee Orchis Terrace, Queen's Road, was largely attended. The casket was literally covered with wreaths sent by friends of the family. After prayers at the home the funeral took place, the cortege wending its way to the O. E. Cemetery at Quidi Vidi Lakeside. Rev. Canon Bolt and Rev. Mr. Erinton read the burial service at the Mortuary Chapel and at the graveside. The number of beautiful wreaths that adorned the casket was a testimony not only of esteem for the deceased lady, but was a touching tribute of sincere sympathy and regard for Mrs. Johnstone, the bereaved mother, and for Mr. J. W. N. Johnstone, her brother, to both of whom the Telegram extends its condolence.

COUNSEL ON JUDGING RUM.

Counsel for the defence in a prohibition case this morning, caused much amusement in court by telling the proper method of testing good rum. The case was brought by the police against a New Gower Street shop-keeper who was charged with selling liquor. The chief witness for the Crown was a resident of Bay Bulls. Asked by W. J. Higgins, K.C., for defendant, if he knew good rum by its smell, witness replied in the negative.

Arson Case.

SUMMARY TRIAL FOR BURNSTEIN. The charge of arson against Joseph Burnstein, which was preferred some time ago, came up for hearing in the Magistrate's Court to-day, the accused consenting to summary trial. H. A. Winter, B.A., prosecuted and accused conducted his own defence. In opening the case for the Crown, counsel stated that a fire had occurred in the store of the accused on April 1st last, shortly before midnight, and the premises had been badly damaged. Insurance had been carried to the value of $1500, but accused claimed the damage was $6,000. The lease of the premises had just nearly expired when the fire took place. Counsel said that he would prove that Burnstein had been on the premises at 11.30 p.m., although in his deposition he said that he had left for the last time at 10.30 p.m. Mr. R. G. Ash, Secretary of the Board of Fire Underwriters, stated that he had gone over the premises after the fire with an experienced dry goods man, and had calculated the total damage at $1,356.00, on which the insurance was $1,000. A night watchman gave evidence of seeing smoke issuing from Burnstein's premises at 11.45 p.m. and rang in the alarm. Other witnesses stated that a steady light, apparently an electric one, was seen in the shop about 11.30 p.m. Another witness saw Burnstein on New Gower Street, going west, at 11.45 p.m. A woman witness saw a big man go in and come out of the shop. She said it must have been between 11.30 and 11.45 p.m. when she saw the lights go out for the last time. The big man she saw appeared to be about Burnstein's build. The Court took recess until this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, the case for the Crown being concluded.

Boom for Island.

400 MORE MEN EMPLOYED AT IRON ISLE. As a result of the coal miners strike at Sydney, Bell Island is in for a boom and over 300 men have been added to the Besco pay roll. Some 17 boats which were under charter to take coal from Sydney to American ports have been sent to Bell Island and will arrive there to-day. These boats will be loaded with iron ore and will be sent direct to Germany where there is a ready market. Roy H. Wolvin has stated his determination to fight the striking coal miners to a finish, and it is unlikely that the strike will be over for some three weeks. There is sufficient coal at present in St. John's to supply all needs for three months.

Work Slack at Dock.

REMOVING WARSHIPS' BOILERS. Last week some thirty men employed at the Reid boiler shops were paid off owing to slack times. The engineers, too, are not finding much employment and the men are taking week about. The work of installing the boiler of S. S. Lobelia in the dock pumping station and the removal of the second boiler from the ship are the only big jobs going on around the dock. It is said that the sum of $35,000 was received for S. S. Lobelia, the Reid Co. paying part of this for the boilers now being placed in the pumping house. The other boiler, it is stated, will be installed in S. S. Terra Nova.

Telegram Correspondent Travels West Coast.

The Telegram has had a special correspondent investigating various aspects of West Coast conditions, and the industries in that section of the country, and articles from his pen will shortly appear in our issues. To-morrow, we publish a story in connection with the new pit prop industry at Hawke Harbour, which is now giving employment to over 400 men, and later there will be a special article on the oil fields at Parson's Pond. An article on the last cruise of H.M.S. Raleigh has already appeared in the Telegram.

Difficulty Settled.

Pack Buses Running Again. The trouble over the turning point for the buses to Bowring Park was settled this morning, as far as the bus owners are concerned, by the Inspector General allowing the conveyances to drive to the specially made turning point and unload. The buses, however, will not be permitted to take on passengers at this point, but must move to Mollie's Lane, some distance down the road. The inconveniences of this latter plan was pointed out in the Telegram of Tuesday last. However the busmen have accepted the agreement reached to-day, and the embargo which was on yesterday afternoon is now off.

Movie Men Coming.

WILL LOOK OVER GROUND. Mr. Ronald Young, who for the past two years has had connections with the Maritime Motion Picture Co. of Canada, was advised by last mail that Mr. J. H. Beason, Vice-President of the Canadian Maritime Motion Picture Company, Limited, of Sydney, Nova Scotia, would arrive shortly in St. John's. Mr. Beason is the man responsible for a great deal of the success of the Canadian Maritime Company since its reorganization, and credit is also due him in connection with the picture just completed by the Company. "The Sea Riders," a complete picture founded on incidents in connection with the history of Nova Scotia and its shipping industry. Mr. Beason will be accompanied by Edward Lawrence, Technical Director of "The Sea Riders" who has had an enviable record with a number of the larger New York producing Companies. He is said to be very enthusiastic about the possibilities of sea pictures in the Maritime Provinces and believes that Newfoundland should make an ideal location for the Maritime Company's next picture. In any case Mr. Beason and Mr. Lawrence will be here to look over the ground and if the territory is found to be up to expectations they will complete arrangements to make a picture here.

The "Hawke."

MAJOR COTTON HAS NEW YACHT. The new gasoline yacht "Hawke" which Major F. S. Cotton is using in connection with his pit-prop industry at Hawke Harbour, is undoubtedly the finest and fastest ship of her kind in the country. She is 60 feet long, and draws only a little over three feet of water, a point of the utmost importance, as she is used in cruising around the shallow waters of the West Coast. The "Hawke" has twin engines, each of 150 horsepower, and she is driven by two propellers. The engines are run off magnetos, and are started by storage batteries which are charged by a Delco outfit. The gas and oil are passed through several tanks by a small electric engine. The bilges are pumped by another electric engine. The ship is very compact, but exceedingly comfortable. There are three cabins, two containing two berths each, and one amidships, which has four berths. There are also two berths for the crew in the engine room. A comfortable dining saloon is situated amidships. The yacht also contains a bathroom with shower and hip baths. She is 25 tons gross, and 17 tons net, and is capable of a maximum speed of just over 30 knots. She can carry 500 gallons of gasoline, 25 gallons of oil, and 150 gallons of water. While at Hawke Harbour this morning, a propeller shaft was damaged but this was repaired with little difficulty, and the shaft was replaced while the ship was in over three feet of water. The "Hawke" recently came down to Curling with Major Cotton and party, and was sent back to Hawke Harbour under Capt. Olsen.

Dory Picked up.

The following message was received to-day by the Marine and Fisheries Department from the Sub-Collector at St. Vincent:—"A fishing dory was picked up at St. Vincent's Sunday morning, and apparently belongs to some vessel. One or two men were picked up in same vicinity; dory smashed considerably in the landwash before landing."

Dual Drowning Tragedy in Conception Bay

Wireless Man and School Principal Lose Lives When Boat Capsizes -- Thomas Anderson and F. L. Southgate the Victims.

Two well known residents of St. John's lost their lives Saturday in Conception Bay, when the catboat in which they had left Manuels for Kelligrews, capsized. The victims of the tragedy are: Thomas Anderson, Principal of the Presbyterian College, a native of Scotland, and F. Leslie Southgate, wireless expert and a native of England. The bodies have not yet been recovered, but the boat was found yesterday on the shore at Portugal Cove. A reward has been offered by St. Andrew's Society for the recovery of the bodies.

PUT TO SEA IN YAWL.

Mr. Southgate has for some time past been engaged as electrical engineer with the United Towns service in Conception Bay, and he recently paid a visit, in his yawl, to Kelligrews. There he met Mr. Anderson who was spending his holidays in that settlement with his family. Having to get in touch with some of the men working for him at Conception Harbor, Mr. Southgate decided to sail up to Manuels from where he could telephone. The boat was of the usual catboat type, about 12 feet long, broad in beam, with a centre board, and carrying some 19 yards spread of canvas. Another passenger was wanted to steady it, but nobody from Kelligrews would go. Mr. Anderson was prevailed upon to make the trip. A quick run was made and the business speedily transacted. On the return journey, a strong breeze was blowing, and Southgate reefed the sail and beat windward, keeping well off the land.

EYE WITNESSES' APATHY.

While opposite Long Pond, the boat was seen to turn over, the sail touching the water. It righted itself, but again went over, and this time did not recover. Several people saw the accident from the shore, and yet no effort was made to go to the rescue of the occupants of the yawl. The excuse offered is that no boats were available. This is the Telegram learns is not quite correct. News of the tragedy was immediately forwarded to town by Constable Forsey of Manuels, and arrangements were made for a motor boat, owned by J. B. Martin of Bell Island, to search for the bodies. This search proved futile, and thru the medium of J. J. McKay, the services of the S.S. Pawnee were obtained to continue the search. The Pawnee carefully skirted Little Bell Island, Kelly's Island, and the Southern shore of Conception Bay, and the overturned boat was at last located at Portugal Cove. The sad duty of acquainting the wife and family of Mr. Anderson with the news of his death fell to Rev. Hugh Facey of Kelligrews.

THOMAS ANDERSON.

The late Thomas Anderson was born at Dumfries, Scotland, where his parents still reside and he came to Newfoundland in 1912 as principal of the Presbyterian College. He enlisted at the beginning of the war, was rejected here, but proceeded to England where he was accepted and was attached to the Fifth Gordons. He subsequently received a commission and was later badly wounded and gassed in Belgium. He afterwards went to Coomassie with the West African Field Force, and remained there until the Armistice. He returned to Newfoundland to fill his old post, but before coming here he married in Scotland, and is now survived by his wife and two small children, the older of whom is only four years of age.

F. LESLIE SOUTHGATE.

The late F. Leslie Southgate was a young man of undoubted talent, and during his short life of 26 years, he had a most interesting career. An experienced wireless man, he served as operator on several steamers, later becoming a teacher of wireless telegraphy at the Civil Service School, Halifax. He enlisted at the outbreak of the war, obtaining a commission in the Royal Naval Air Service, later the R.A.F. Last November he came to Newfoundland and established a wireless school in the C.L.B. Armory. In June of this year, he formed the United Wiring Company, with which he was employed when he met his death. His parents reside in London, and he has a sister married to a resident of St. John, N.B.

NEW WATER FRONT FOR WOODY POINT.

The work of replacing the stores wharves destroyed in the fire which swept the waterfront at Woody Point a few months ago, is now under way. All the fine wharves and buildings which made Woody Point one of the most attractive waterfronts in the city, were burned to the water's edge, and beyond the temporary sheds erected as stores, nothing is now to be seen but piles of blackened timber. The wharves are now being rebuilt by the Fisheries Department. The work will be completed before the year ends. The new wharves will be built on the site of the former wharves. The Fisheries Department of the West Coast fishery will be responsible for the reconstruction of the waterfront.

Obituary.

She passed away, on Tuesday, August 15th (Lady Day), at her residence, Carter's Hill, Esther, beloved wife of Harry Devereaux. Hettie, as she was familiarly known, was a woman of great personal charm and a pleasant character, and had made many friends by her amiability and sympathy. When afflictions and troubles came upon her, she was ever ready to offer consolation and succor. She was born at Aquaforte, but resided in St. John's the greater part of her life. During her early years she was associated with some of the best families of St. John's, and her sterling character, intelligence and happy disposition endeared her to all her acquaintances. For over twenty years she was proprietress of the well known "Central House," William's Lane, and the many patrons of this popular resort will be sorry to hear of her demise. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved husband, also to her sisters, now residing in U.S.A. and Mrs. Anna of this city, and one brother, Patrick O'Brien, the well known Master of Aquaforte.—COM.

Dear Sir:—The action of the Base-Line League cars in charging 20 cents admission to the inter-town races and 20 cents extra for the Grand Stand should be resented by the publisher. If it possessed any independent spirit, would let the Base-Line League profiteers occupy the seats themselves, and let the Base-Line Party cents single; eighty cents payable to see a so-called "baseball game," it is time that went got wise to the extortion which has been put over the fans during the past two seasons. Let us show the Baseball League that they are able to fool some of the public some of the time, but not all the time. Public all the time.
Yours truly,
ANTI-GRAPHER.

LUCK AND WORK.
"I call her lucky. She's had to work hard." We were talking about a woman who has had a very unsatisfactory life. She has had ill health, love, disappointment and loneliness. I know of few people whose lives seem sadder to me than hers. But one of the group who were talking about her could not see why we pitied her. And the reason she gave was the above:
"My career had to work hard." As if that made a happy life! As if having to work hard made people unhappy!
Their Reward is to Come.
Of course it's a cruel thing to have to work beyond your strength. It's a heartbreaking thing to have to work when you are sick. I know of no one in the world who has more of my sympathy than the mothers of young children who have to keep on keeping on, no matter how sick or weary or sleep starved they are, just because there is no one to take their places and their work cannot be put off or neglected. And, of course, there are many other people who because of ill health, unfitness for their job, or too heavy burdens of one sort or another, have to struggle along doing work beyond their strength.
The Greatest Blessing.
But work itself isn't a curse. To have work to do and the strength and health and capacity to do it is the greatest blessing in the world.

Work gives savor to pleasure and to rest.
Undiluted pleasure never has the same poignancy as the pleasure of which we can only have a limited amount, the pleasure we have to work for and plan for and wait for. On that Monday morning when we come back from our two weeks vacation we think we should be perfectly happy if we could spend all our time that way. But we shouldn't. Part of the delight came from its brevity and from the contrast between work and idleness. That why people who try to make their lives all pleasure soon find that pleasure growing flat and tasteless and either seek unceasingly for new sensations or turn back to work.
The Man to Envy.
And as for rest, that soon becomes restlessness unless you have labor to give you an appetite for it.
Work is the balance that keeps us from growing insane when our hearts are full of breaking with grief, or our minds a chaos of whirling fears and anxieties.
Who has not experienced times like these when one would give anything if one could only work 24 hours a day?
Don't give envy to anyone because he doesn't have to work hard. If you must envy someone envy the man who has the strength and the opportunity and the capacity to do more than his share of the world's work. He is the lucky man, not the other.

In Memoriam.

MICHAEL O'BRIEN, DIED AUGUST 15th, 1922.
Gone, yes he is gone, he the good and kind-hearted,
A man always ready a kind deed to do,
Ah, "Mike" we will miss you, from us you will be parted,
But we will forever be thinking of you.
Most keen was our grief when the sad news was broken
Which told us death's angel to him did appear;
One whom we cherished with friendships unbroken
Whose word was his bond, and whose heart was sincere.
His good natured smile and his welcome so cheery
We will never forget while on earth we'll remain;
In assisting God's poor, sure he never grew weary,
He turned none away when in sorrow and pain.
What his right hand performed, his left one didn't know it
He gave not for love of his kindness,
But for the glory of God,
Ah, "Mike" there are many to-day and they show it
The grief which they feel since your spirit has flown.
May God above strengthen your loved ones and weary,
To bear your great loss, for you loved them most true;
They find it is hard now their sorrow to smother,
For their whole heart's affections were centered in you.
Gone, yes he's gone, and we hope he's in Heaven,
Clear of this world with its sorrow and pain,
The kindness he showed us, our sorrow 'twill lighten
And our love will hold green, as the grass o'er his tomb.
August 21, 1922. A FRIEND.

In the Realms of Sport.

THIS EVENING'S CLASH—GREAT ENTHUSIASM.

The much-talked-of Inter-Town Baseball series between the Grand Falls and St. John's aggregations will take the field in the opening game of the series for the Championship of Newfoundland and the R. G. Field Cup, at 6.30, sharp, this evening, when a large attendance of fans will no doubt be present to witness what is expected to be a game of ball full of thrills, reports and wit all the way through. The game will consist of nine innings of regular league ball, and it is to be hoped that it starts promptly on time, so that fans and players alike will enjoy the brand of ball right up to the last minute without darkness interfering any. The Grand Falls players under the management of Mr. Charles Schraaf, arrive early this afternoon and proceed at once to the Seaman's Institute, where they will partake of a light lunch before leaving for the field.

Grand Falls this year can boast of a splendid ball team, and intend to give the local nine a hard battle for the much-coveted honors. In Jim Purcell, the left fielder, those in attendance will receive good value for their money. He fields very gracefully and without any apparent effort in the outer gardens, grabs them hurriedly, while at bat he practically outguesses the pitcher every time. Purcell is a valuable addition to the Grand Falls team and they know it. "Buck" Hannaford, who also comes here for the first time, will be seen to advantage on the mound this evening with Arthur Cohen, who is so well known to local fans, doing the back stop work. On the other hand the local nine, under the careful tuition of Charlie Quick, has held several hard work-outs, each man has rounded off rapidly into shape and his team are quite sanguine of the outcome, and expect to take several falls out of their worthy opponents in what is anticipated to be a hard fought and interesting series for the championship. With this in view fans can rely on the city aggregation. Shout hard for them and bring plenty of horns, sirens, megaphones and whistles. The city colors are red and white. The players from the paper town are due in the city early this afternoon. Upon arrival they will be met at the station by the executive of the Baseball League, and motor cars will be placed at their disposal. All players of both line-ups are reminded to be on the diamond sharp at 6 o'clock in uniform, so that there won't be any delay in starting on time. "Play-ball" will be announced at 6.30 sharp. The gates will be opened at 5.45, while every preparation has been made for the comfort of the fans.

The series will be controlled by Mr. F. V. Chesman, St. John's, at the home plate. Mr. Red McVane, Grand Falls, will look after the interests of the bases. The official scorers will be Messrs. W. J. Goss, Grand Falls, C. I. Murner, St. John's.

The following are the line-ups for the opening game:

The City teams' battery for to-morrow's game will probably be Donnelly and Canning, while Allan Churchhill, the Wanderer's hurler, who has made such a good impression will be ready to follow in line. Catchers Clouston and A. Martin will also be on deck to help in the back-stopping. For Grand Falls Sebat Foran, the star hurler, who is well known here will take the mound in the second game.

Any players not participating in this evening's game who might have the St. John's baseball uniform in their possession are reminded to deliver same on the field sharp at 6 o'clock. Eight of these uniforms are missing since the last engagement.

HELP THE CAUSE. This is Child Welfare day on the city streets. A number of our prominent ladies have undertaken to dispose of some baseball tickets which will be good for Wednesday's morning's game. This fund is badly in need of replenishing, and that the public will greet the ladies in a most hospitable manner goes without saying.

CORRECTION.

A typographical error occurred in this column on Saturday last in connection with the Baseball League standing. It should have read Cubs, Played 6, Won 5, Lost 1, Percentage, .833.

MAJOR LEAGUE STANDING.

To those who are taking an active interest in the professional baseball series we give below an account of the three leading clubs in the two leagues up to the 18th of the month.

Table with 3 columns: Club, W, L, Pts. for American and National leagues.

SPORTS FOLLO.

Answers to Saturday's Queries. Harry Phillips was knocked out by Sam Langford. If batter hits ball which bounces off ground when thrown by pitcher, the umpire generally, rules it a ball, but sometimes it comes so fast the umpire doesn't know whether it came through fast or hit the ground first.

The Maritime track and field championships are scheduled for September 9th at the Wanderers Grounds Halifax.

You will enjoy the out door dancing on Wednesday at Major's Path Garden Party, Aug. 23rd.—aug21.21

Inter-Town Tennis.

A second Tennis Tournament was played at the Aero Tennis Club grounds, Brashead, yesterday afternoon Aug. 17th, between a visiting team from Bay Roberts and a local one. Play began at 2.45 and continued until 6. The line-up of the teams, with events in the order played and scores, were as follows:—

Table with 2 columns: Event and Score. Includes Gent's Single, Ladies' Single, Mixed Double, Ladies' Double.

The result was a win for Harbor Grace by three events out of five. The former tournament held at Bay Roberts was won by Bay Roberts, so at present it stands with one win to each.

A play-off is expected to take place at Bay Roberts at some future date. The several items were well contested and the afternoon proved enjoyable. The weather was very fine for tennis but rather cool for spectators. A large number of visitors from Bay Roberts were present and, following the tournament the visitors and members of the Aero Tennis Club adjourned to St. Patrick's Hall where tea was served. At 9 o'clock dancing began which was kept up until after midnight when the visitors left by cars for home. A most pleasant afternoon and evening were spent.

It is expected that a visit will be made to Heart's Content at the first opportunity for the purpose of playing teams there. Arrangements are, it is understood, being made for a team from here to visit Bell Island at some future date to try conclusions with players there. These Inter-town games provide pleasure, foster sport and help to widen the social circle, and are to be encouraged. At this tournament a charge was made for spectators from the town who are not members of the Club and many availed themselves of the opportunity to witness the games. Had it been a half holiday the attendance would have been far greater.—Hr. Grace Standard.

Mr. John Dooley (Cabman) is now living in his old residence (Phone 410), where all his old patrons will find him.—aug21.11

Forest Fires Out.

NO DAMAGE DONE. Heavy rain, which fell along the railway between Grand Falls and Norris' Arm during the past few days, has extinguished the forest fires which menaced several towns, including Grand Falls. For several days the last named town was in considerable danger and a change of wind from the westward would have resulted in its destruction. Luckily all danger is now over.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

AGITATED INDIANS.

LONDON, Aug. 21. All shades of Indian political opinion are agitated over the speech of Lloyd George in the Commons on August 2, in which he said that India would require the guidance of the Indian civil service for an indefinite period, says a Reuter despatch from Bombay. The speech is being used in an attempt to unite Indian Extremists and Moderates.

TWO MORE CAPTURES.

DUBLIN, Aug. 21. National Army forces have captured Dandon and Dummaway, two of the few remaining rebel strongholds in South Ireland, and irregulars are hastily retreating.

MINES BEING DEWATERED.

HALIFAX, Aug. 21. Nova Scotia coal mines are being pumped to-day by regular maintenance men, pending negotiations, opening to-morrow for a settlement of the wage discussion. Calm prevails throughout the mining areas.

ANXIOUS ABOUT AVIATORS.

LONDON, Aug. 21. A Calcutta message to the Times says considerable anxiety is felt for aviators Captain Norman McMillan and Capt. Marlin, who are thirty hours overdue at Akhah, for which place they left early yesterday, continuing the attempt of Major Blake to fly around the world. The flight should have been made in five hours.

LORD NORTHCLEIFF'S WILL.

LONDON, Aug. 21. News of the World estimates that Lord Northcliffe left a fortune of probably four million pounds. It is understood that even members of his family had no knowledge at the time of Lord Northcliffe's death of the dispositions made in his will.

GUERRILLA TACTICS.

LONDON, Aug. 21. A Press Association despatch from Dublin says there is ample evidence that irregulars, who admittedly have been defeated in the field, are planning a new campaign of terrorism and destruction. Irregulars intend to conduct a Guerilla warfare "by the same means as when war was being waged against the British."

Message to the Shipping Department.

MINISTER WIRED J. B. MARTIN ABOUT RESCUE STEAMER.

News of the tragedy in Conception Bay was received by the Shipping Department about six o'clock on Saturday. The Minister immediately wired to Mr. J. B. Martin, asking if assistance could be rendered. In reply the following message was received: "No steamer here. S. S. Mary at St. John's; Pawnee left for Harbor Grace and Carbonear at 4 p.m. Will try and get motor boats to go to rescue."

Wedding Bells.

MOULTON-TWIGG.

A very pretty and unique wedding took place on Saturday afternoon, August 6th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Moulton, 427 Bartlett Avenue, when their daughter, Miss Ida Moulton, was united to Mr. Miles Twigg, of this city. A large number of guests were present, and at three-thirty the bride entered the room accompanied by her father and bridesmaid, and in time to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, slowly advanced to the centre of a beautiful floral arch, where the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Capt. Robb, of Westmoreland Methodist Church. The bride was beautifully dressed in white satin and French nixon, with orange blossoms and veil embroidered with seed pearls, and carried a large bouquet of Ophelia roses and fern. The bridesmaid, Miss Maizie Moulton, wore a dress of shell pink gorette, with large black picture hat, and carried a bouquet of rose. The wedding march was ably rendered by Miss Pauline Inkpen, of St. John's Newfoundland, who also gave a vocal solo after the ceremony; the other soloist of the evening was Mr. J. L. Moulton, brother of the bride. The groom's gift to the bride was a necklace of pearls, and to the bridesmaid pearl ear-rings. The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. Charles Tait, of this city. A large number of beautiful gifts testify to the popularity of the bride and groom. After the usual toasts, speeches, etc., Mr. and Mrs. Twigg, amid showers of confetti, good wishes and congratulations, left for their honeymoon in the Muskoka Lakes district. Upon their return they will reside at 273 Bartlett Avenue.—Toronto Evening Telegram.

I OFFER Newfoundland Films Limited HEAD OFFICE - ST. JOHN'S Incorporated Under the Companies Act. AUTHORIZED CAPITAL: $100,000.00 Divided into 1,000 Shares at $100 each. DIRECTORS: E. A. Bowring, W. G. Gosling, A. E. Hickman, Jas. J. McKay, David Baird, J. C. Hepburn, R. B. Job, C. A. C. Bruce. The following gentlemen have also consented to become Directors:— Hon. Tasker Cook, Mayor of St. John's, J. P. Kiely, Proprietor Nickel Theatre, Ernest Shipman, Motion Picture Producer. Newfoundland Films, Ltd., has been formed for the purpose of producing a Newfoundland screen story, under the direction of Mr. Ernest Shipman, a Motion Picture Producer of world-wide repute. While the principal characters will be drawn from the Motion Picture centres of the United States, the minor roles will be selected from local talent. The Newfoundland picture will convey to the world the beautiful scenic attractions of this Colony, and thus advertise this country to prospective tourists and others. Millions of people will see Newfoundland in the studio. The public are demanding nature-made outdoor productions in place of the time worn studio-made fashion plate dramas, and a good reception is assured the Newfoundland film story. The extraordinary financial success of "The Sky Pilot", "God's Crucible" and "Cameron of the Royal Mounted", all produced by Mr. Shipman, give some indication of what we may expect. The takings of "The Sky Pilot", which has been released but a short time, now exceeds one quarter of a million dollars, and is estimated to gross $750,000 when the returns are in from all countries. In addition Mr. Shipman has produced film versions of three of James Oliver Curwood's Stories, which have already grossed receipts of over one and one half million dollars. Mr. Shipman is confident of a ready market and when the Newfoundland picture is made and released in October, it is anticipated the Company will receive in cash from $75,000.00 to $100,000.00. This would enable the Company to return the original capital to investors—who would, however, continue to share in the profits during the life of the picture, which is at least five years. A limited number of Shares are offered to the general public at $100 per Share. The Directors, however, reserve the right to refuse further subscriptions, if they consider that sufficient has been subscribed for the purpose of the Company. Copy of Prospectus will be sent on request. To make sure of your requirements communicate promptly with C. A. C. BRUCE Investment Broker - St. John's

Sugar—In the local market sugar continues to sell far below the cost of importation. After a rapid advance and heavy sales, the past month or so, the market seems to have again struck a quiet spell and some recent sales have been made in New York at lower prices. The St. John's wholesale quotation for American White Granulated in barrels is $11.50 per hundred lbs. The S.S. Sable I. brought in 717 barrels and one hundred bags.

Potatoes—Local sources are now giving an ample supply of potatoes to householders at 60 cents a quarter and $1.50 a half barrel and $2.70 to $3 per bri. These prices are likely to decline further in September and if the crop turns out as good as some enthusiasts anticipate, we shall again get back $2.00 potatoes. The fact that P.E.I. and Nova Scotia have big crops too, will ensure this. None are being imported now.

Apples—The apple season opened here this week when a few consignments of "Crimson Beauties" were imported from Nova Scotia. The earliest variety came in and were sold for $7.50 a barrel. Some boxed apples of last year's crop also arrived from California out of cold storage which sold at $5.00 per box. The next shipments from Nova Scotia will be "Duchess Apples" which will probably sell at $7.00 per barrel. The Nova Scotia crop is good and as the season advances, the price will decline to a lower level than last year.

Hay—All buyers are holding off waiting for lower prices. Hay is going down and they are waiting for rock bottom. The abundant local crop which is estimated to be two and a half times in excess of last year's is the big factor in the development of the bearish situation referred to above. Imports have completely stopped as the same situation prevails in Canada where dealers are offering to land hay here now for $40, large lots. The local price is still two and a half cents per pound and $2.00 a hundredweight.

Largest Sailing Ship Wrecked.

THE FIVE-MASTED "FRANCE"
The French steel five-masted barque France, 5,633 tons, the largest sailing ship in the world, has been wrecked on a reef off New Caledonia, at 21.23 lat. S., 165 long. E (that is, off the north coast of the main island on the opposite side from Noumea, the capital), the crew abandoning her in their own boats. She was on her way from London. At first it was thought that the France needed assistance. Her wireless S.O.S. was picked up by the Canadian Government's steamer Canadian Transporter, 6,700 tons, which was then 200 miles distant from the France and hastened to her aid.

The distress of those aboard the barque is vividly shown by the succession of wireless messages which the Canadian ship received. The first said that the vessel threatened to be a total loss and that the safety of the crew was imperilled. The excitement aboard the Canadian ship increased as the stokers did their utmost. Then at 3 a.m. the France wireless that big seas were breaking over the reef and that an attempt would be made to land the crew on the reef at dawn.

An hour later the France wireless: "Don't worry. You cannot help us."

A cable from Suva to Sydney later announced that the France's crew had abandoned the vessel.

HOW SHACKLETON FILMED HER.

Only 10 years old, the France was equipped with two auxiliary Diesel engines, which drove two propellers. Her best speed under full canvas with both engines going was 17 knots. Her average was about 12.

The France was built at Bordeaux. She was 418ft. long and 55ft. in beam. She had two decks and was fitted with electric light as well as wireless. She belonged to the Cie. Francaise de Marine et de Commerce, and her port of registry was Rouen.

Last year she left Washington, New Zealand, on September 5 with a full cargo, arriving at London on December 10. Near Ascension Island (close to the Equator) she sighted a little vessel tossing badly. Captain Le Port cried out that it must be an English ship, because the crew were bathing on deck. The vessel was Shackleton's Quest, and Shackleton sailed round the big ship and took a film of her.

A TRIBUTE FROM GRAND FALLS.
Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—Just a few words on the departure of the St. John's boys who were visiting this town and every one of whom proved himself a real sport. It was a very sporting action of the Football League that they should consent to have the Inter-town Football Cup competed for first at Grand Falls.

All the games were exceedingly well contested, and the City boys well deserved their victory, for the least that can be said of them was that they played the game, and they should desire no greater tribute than that. I sincerely hope that it will not be long before we see them again at Grand Falls.

Yours truly,
Grand Falls, Aug. 19th 1922.

Household Notes.

A delicious dessert-salad is sliced bananas served on lettuce, with a garnish of mayonnaise and a sprinkling of chopped nuts.

To prepare plain boiled squash, pare and cook as for mashing, but drain and serve in small pieces with butter, pepper and salt.

Little cakes will not object to having their tops lifted off if a spoonful of soft icing is inserted and the top replaced after filling.

Brigant croquettes are nice served surrounded with creamed cabbage with thick white sauce. Border with stuffed baked tomatoes.

Try stuffing chilled tomatoes, which will be easier to clean and much more sanitary if it is well sandedpapered and given several coats of linseed oil.

New ironware cannot be used for cooking unless it is first boiled, and the addition of potato parings to the water is a good means of getting the new-ware in proper condition.

Household Notes.

When making slip-on aprons put the pockets on the side seams, so you can wear the aprons with either side for the front and save laundering.

Serve raspberry ice cream with a garnish of the well-sugared fruit. Top with sweetened whipped cream and sprinkle with chopped almonds.

Grand Falls Pays Tribute To Its Founder.

FUNERILL SERVICES IN PAPER TOWN FOR LORD NORTHCLEFFE.

(From Our Own Correspondent)
A last tribute to the late Viscount Northcliffe was paid by the flourishing town of Grand Falls, which owes its existence to his industry, when on Thursday morning memorial services were held in all the churches, simultaneous with that held in Westminster Abbey, London. Business in the town was temporarily suspended, and flags flew from every public building and from many residences at half mast.

ANGELIC SERVICE.
In Holy Trinity Church the service was conducted by the Rector, Rev. T. E. Loder, and a large congregation, including A. E. Harris, Director of the A.N.D. Co., and many other prominent citizens were present. All present felt the solemnity of the occasion as the prayers appropriate to the occasion were said and the hymns sung. After "The Dead March in Saul" had been beautifully rendered by the organist, Miss Pearce, the congregation knelt for two minutes in silent prayer. Then the Rector concluded the service with the Benediction. The sermon was really a panegyric on the great life work of Viscount Northcliffe. Taking his text from 2 Samuel 3:33, "The king said unto his servants, know ye not that there is a prince and a great man fallen this day in Israel." The Rector reminded his hearers how unique and solemn was the occasion; solemn because the Empire had lost a great Imperialist and unique because Grand Falls—a town the existence of which dated back but little more than a decade—was joining sympathetically with the service at that hour being held in the ancient Abbey Church of Westminster. Referring to his text he showed that the deceased Viscount was indeed a Prince and a great man. In his life work he had clearly demonstrated that "the pen is mightier than the sword." He had by his indomitable will and unlimited energy made the press under his control an universal power. His wide knowledge of the world, his keen understanding of men, his wonderful foresight of the march of events even in national affairs made him all that the text has said of another. The great war gave him a further opportunity to serve his Empire well and he did. The weaklings in high office tottered and fell beneath his mighty sway; the munition supply was speedily increased when his pen revealed our terrible shortages. He advocated a more rigid enforcement of the blockade of enemy countries, compulsory service, offensive naval measures and concentration of the Allied forces in France and Belgium. But perhaps our great est tribute is due him for his splendid work in the Allies behalf in the United States and as Director of Propaganda. He cleared away misunderstandings, he made the neutral nations see that the Allies were engaged in a deadly struggle to maintain the freedom of the world for democracy. And Grand Falls owes a great tribute of gratitude to this prince amongst men. The paper mill here was conceived in his great mind. His interest in the Dominions beyond the seas is in this proved as more recently in his world tour. Unemployment elsewhere there has been in recent years, but Grand Falls in particular and Newfoundland in general must thank the founder of the A.N.D. Co., Ltd. not only for the industrial activity here, but also for the fair manner in which at his special request the mills have been conducted. Now the busy mind ceases to function on earth, but rest for such as Viscount Northcliffe will be still to serve and in service he will find his truest happiness. Enshrined with kindly thoughts we leave him, but will pray as years go on that he will find peace and life eternal in the realms above.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.
In the Presbyterian Church, Rev. Mr. Morrison, the pastor conducted a funeral service, beginning with the singing of the Doxology and the Lord's Prayer, followed by the call to worship and hymn "O God our help in ages past." The message was taken from John IV. 34, "My food is to do the will of Him that sent me and to accomplish His work." The depths of Christ's life are here revealed. The consciousness of a mission, a commission offered, accepted and discharged with an intensity of purpose that rises above the claims of the body. The demands of the flesh—hunger, thirst, weariness, pleasure, self. The secret of success, a clear purpose, a strong motion, persevering quest. This secures the right use of every moment of time of every ounce of energy and the right direction of every action. These were features of Lord Northcliffe's life. "It was always dead set upon some evident all controlling end." "His face was steadfastly set to go to Jerusalem." The secret of true success. A controlling purpose controlled, a high air, a great motive and the highest and greatest "The will of Him that sent me." In the last hours of his life he was in review and life's work weighed in the balance. Jesus could say "I have glorified thee on the earth. I have finished the work which thou gavest me to do." "It must be about my father's business." When we have discovered Christ's business (Luke 4:16) we have found ours. "As the father sent me even so send I you." At the close of life, be it early or late, this pursuit carried through to a finish is the only thing that will satisfy a thorough life. It will be meat and drink and sustenance and lasting delight.

METHODIST CHURCH.
The service in the Methodist Church was conducted by Rev. S. Bennett and a digest of the sermon follows. We have met this morning to pay our tribute of respect to the memory of a great man, one of Britain's noblest sons. Viscount Northcliffe was universally known, known because of the large place which he occupied in the public life of the realm. He may well be classed as one of the great builders of empire. Viscount Northcliffe was recognized as the great chief of the journalists. A prince in the journalistic realm. His movements were watched, his attitude towards the great events of the day was studied. His utterances were weighed. He was both feared and respected by government, because of his strength, integrity and loyalty to the nation. He was a patriot in the true sense of the term. The claims of empire held the highest place in his thought. Personal interest and friendships were sacrificed in the interest of his country. His attachment to individuals and governments was always subservient to the highest well being of the nation. He was true to his convictions. When a clear conviction was registered, he was prepared to defend that conviction at all costs. He often stood alone against the strong force of public opinion in his criticism of a policy which he believed to be detrimental to the cause of empire. As an organizer he had few equals. In the great campaign which he instituted against Germany during the Great War, there was a demonstration of his marvelous skill in this respect. Not until after the war was over was it known that Viscount Northcliffe had taken such a large place in the achievement of the glorious victory. His association with Newfoundland took place when the Anglo-Nfld. Development Co. established their great paper mills at Grand Falls. He was the leading factor in the promotion of the gigantic enterprise which has meant so much to our Dominion. He was the friend of the labouring class. He aimed at making the people of Grand Falls comfortable and happy. In the passing of Viscount Northcliffe the people of this town have lost a benefactor and friend. We shall never forget his name and cherish the memory of one whom we may think of as being one of the greatest productions of the British Empire.

C.C.C. Band Concert To-night, Bannerman Park.—aug 21, 11
This is "Old Nest Week" At the Nickel.
INDOOR SCENES GIVE BEST "MOVIE" EFFECTS.
"It is easier to obtain sub-ttle effects, to catch fleeting emotions, or record transitory whimsicalities with interior lighting than with exterior," declared Reginald Barker, director of "The Old Nest," the Rupert Hughes story made by Goldwyn, which may be seen at the Nickel Theatre beginning to-night. He makes this statement in answer to the question, "Do you prefer to shoot outdoors or in?" It is, of course, common knowledge among the picture going public that many of the scenes made apparently indoors are taken or "shot" on sets built outdoors. These are roofless, and in many instances with one or more walls missing to permit the sunlight to enter. But the majority are made in an enclosed stage illuminated artificially.
"So far as personal preference goes," says Mr. Barker, "I should rather photograph outdoors. But I realize, too, that my favorite type of picture can best be filmed under these conditions. That includes the vicinia sea tale, red blooded stories of the frozen North, in short all tales of elemental character. In them, subtlety is at a discount. But in a picture dealing essentially with society, in interior built indoors and artificially lighted conduce to the best results."

Bankers in Port.
The Lunenburg banking schooners Lois J. Thomas with 2,200 quintals, Marguerite Zinck, 1,800 quintals, Clara B. Cresser, 2,600 quintals, and Delawana with about 3,000 quintals of codfish, have arrived in port for supplies. The vessels report fish plentiful on the banks. After receiving the necessary supplies the schooners will return to the fishing grounds to complete their voyages.

Sell Sunlight Soap for Quick Sales and Sufficient Profits

Are you in business or just keeping shop? If you are keeping a shop you'll no doubt be able to keep it long as your money lasts.

If you're in business, then you want your shop to keep you, and it will if you make quick sales and sufficient profits.

If you try to sell to your customers any goods which they do not want, you may be able to do it; but the chances are against you. As a business person you should supply the goods your customers want and should try to make a profit on every transaction. Now take soap as an example: When you are asked to buy a box of soap which is said to be just as good as Sunlight Soap, consider carefully this important question: Is this other soap really just as good as Sunlight Soap? Unless this other soap will sell as well as Sunlight it certainly is not just as good as Sunlight Soap FOR YOU.

The soap which people want is the easiest and most profitable soap for you to sell. Sunlight Soap being the soap which people want, is therefore the easiest soap to sell; in fact, it sells itself—people ask for it.

Sunlight Soap requires no pushing, and because it sells best—it pays best.

Stick to Sunlight Soap, it always has been and always will be the very highest quality of household soap.

Sunlight Soap is the soap your customers want. You will sell 5 cases of Sunlight Soap whilst trying to sell 1 case of any unknown soap.

Summer Schools.

AMERICAN TEACHERS ON WEST COAST.
There are now five American ladies teaching school on the West Coast. The schools are held only during the summer and they are included in the Bonne Bay Mission. American college graduates come down to Newfoundland in the early summer to take charge of these schools, and they not only pay their own expenses, but also provide much of the equipment necessary for their work. The five schools and their teachers are:—Parsons Pond, Miss Osterberg; Mill Cove, Miss Walker; Birch Head, Miss Hoyt; Baker's Brook, Miss Jeffery; Chimney Cove, Miss Linton.
The Mill Cove school was visited Saturday by Rev. Dr. Bolt, Rev. G. L. Malmsten, Rector of Bonne Bay Mission, and Mr. J. R. Bennett, M.H.A. who was visiting the coast. Miss Walker, the teacher, explained the work of the school to the visitors, all of whom made short addresses to the scholars, in the course of which they warmly applauded the work of Miss Walker and other teachers, who had come down to the Bonne Bay Mission from comfortable homes to help in their education. Dr. Wood, and a nurse from the Grenfell Mission have visited the West Coast this year, examining the children and giving advice in connection with their diet.

West Coast Conditions.

COD AND LOBSTER FISHERIES ARE FAILURES.
The cod and lobster fisheries on the West Coast have been complete failures this year. This is particularly true about Fort Saunders, Bonne Bay and Cow Head. All these places have in former years done a thriving trade in lobsters, and the catch this year has been the worst on record. Many large salmon have been caught in traps but the price has been very low.
From Port aux Choix to Brig Bay, good catches of codfish have been made, some traps getting as high as 800 quintals. The condition of the people along the coast is fairly good, although a few cases of destitution have been reported. The crops have on the whole been good. Mr. W. Garland, Sub-collector at Port Saunders, told the Telegram that a great deal of the credit for the lack of destitution must go to the Aerial Survey Company, whose new pit-prop industry at Hawke Bay has given work to all men along the coast who want it.

Town Football.

ST. JOHN'S TEAM WINS OUT IN FINAL

After a strenuous battle the ultimate result in doubt, the whistle went, that the team for another year, won the town football championship. While the city team was the strongest that could be expected, the capital, it was the preparation and their wins were reserved because they were handicapped by the size and position of the ground. The Grand Falls field was formerly a golf course and has been raised by the city. Even when running over it a player's feet sink down a few inches. The Grand Falls team, who were smaller than St. George's, were in which to get control of the game. The Grand Falls team were very severely handicapped, and they play a really hard game. I think that they would have done very much at St. George's when playing on St. George's.

St. John's team arrived at the theatre Tuesday and the sleeper was occupied was taken to a room where it remained until Friday when the players left for Grand Falls. After Wednesday evening's smoking concert was held in the theatre and a very good entertainment it was given. The welcome made by the Grand Falls team, and Major Gower Rabbits replied. After the concert, the visitors were taken over the A.N.D. Co's. paper and the experience was very enjoyed. The fact that the team was in mourning for the late Lord Northcliffe, its founder, and further social events from the Grand Falls club, however, were by the team in the Cabot and their Grand Falls friends. One of their tennis courts was of the Grand Falls club to be of several took advantage of the courtesy. The team is very glad to Mr. Charles Hayward, who is in mourning for the late Lord Northcliffe, its founder, and for the parting gift of a box of cigarettes. Three football games were played, two of which were by St. John's and one by Grand Falls.

THE FIRST GAME

played on Wednesday evening, was won by the City by one goal. The game was very keenly contested, but the St. John's boys lost at their best, as they were to the ground. The only goal was scored by Flinn, who combined forward run, sent a shot past Lockyer, the Grand Falls, from the right wing, and keepers were kept on their feet throughout the game, and their saving kept the score down. Grand Falls defended well.

and time and time again, broke up the attack of the city forwards.

THE SECOND GAME

was a fairly easy win for Grand Falls, who completely outplayed the visiting team, and obtained one goal in each half, while completely defeating every effort of the city forwards to score. The City team lost the toss and had to play against a blinding sun, but fortunately, there was no wind at all. For the first few minutes they played all around the home goal but Lockyer brought off some clever saving, and the paper-ton backs were always on the job. Towards the end of the half, Grand Falls worked up towards their opponents' goal, and Pitcher opened the scoring with a shot from the right at a very difficult angle, which Voisey found impossible to save. In the second half, Grand Falls forwards combined well and forced the city defence, but Tait was playing a magnificent game at back, and always contrived to get in the way of the attackers. Finally, Bellamy, the home team's left wing, got possession of the ball and sent in a shot which completely beat Voisey. This was the last score for the game, and although the visitors worked hard until full time, they were unable to get through the home defence.

THE FINAL GAME

was played on Friday, and drew a very large number of spectators whose hopes had been raised by the victory of the home team in the second contest. There was no wind, and by this time the visitors were more accustomed to the ground. The game, from the beginning, justified the hopes of an exciting contest. The city pressed from the start, and were soon engaged in a struggle near the Grand Falls goal which resulted in a corner. The kick was well placed, and as the city forwards came on, LeMoine attempted to clear, but the ball curved round and entered his own goal, registering the first score for the visitors. From the centre, the home team exerted every effort to equalize, and were soon successful, Pitcher landing the ball in the city net after a mix-up in front of goal. The visitors again attacked, and some excellent forward work resulted in Flinn, placing a high shot behind Lockyer, from a pass by Jerrett. The half ended without further scoring.

In the second half, Grand Falls again attacked fiercely, and Stuckley managed to get his head to the ball near the St. John's goal, sending it past Voisey for the equalizer. Several minutes passed without further scoring, and it seemed that the game must be a draw, when Jerrett, shortly before full time, received a pass from Flinn, which he landed in the Grand Falls goal. The game ended 3-2 in favor of St. John's. During the last few minutes of the game, Goldstone sustained a fractured nose which compelled him to retire.

ARGUMENT.
I fancy to the end of time
Men will dispute with one another.
And for the dollar and the dime
Brother will quarrel with his brother;
Sages will gravely stroke their chins
And argue questions wise and deep,
And then at last with all their sins
Fall into long unbroken sleep.
Meanwhile the hollyhocks will bloom
And overhead the skies be blue,
Laughter will ring within the room
Where hearts are light and friendships true;
And while men quarrel, birds will sing,
And they fret their hours away
Debating some disputed thing,
Night will have closed a lovely day.
Men will sit down in solemn wise
To wrangle questions most profound,
But meanwhile under sunny skies
Unaccounted pleasures will abound:
Orchards will bring their trees to fruit,
The woods will fairly ring with song,
And joys that are beyond dispute
Will cheer the traveler along.
I would not spend my years with doubt,
Nor ponder dry and dusty books,
When there's so much of joy about,
But, like the laughing streams and brooks,
I would go downward to the sea
With all the morning brings, content,
Trusting in God for what's to be,
Nor answering Him with argument.
