Local and Other Items.

There is not at present a single prisoner in Berlin jail.

The salmon trout fishing on lake Huron has been so far successful.

Mr. STURTON, M.P., arrived in Guelph last night from Ottawa.

Wool.—Today, the deliveries were about 7,000 lbs. at 52 and 52½ cts. per lb.; at which latter figure about half the quantity was disposed of.

At a meeting of the London Athletic Base Ball Club, it was arranged to have a match with the Guelph champions on the 26th.

The Reporter says the potato bugs are in high glee in Galt, and are "going for" the young vines in an exceedingly lively manner.

FRUIT GROWERS' ASSOCIATION.—The spring meeting of this Association takes place on the 1st and not on the 3rd of July as stated in our impression of yesterday.

An old cow in East Garafraxa is suckling four lambs which were left motherless. There are two black and two white, but she shows equal affection for all, and defends them if anything comes near.

ILICIT STILL SEIZED.—On the 13th instant, Mr. District Inspector Romain assisted by Officer White and Constable Nichols seized an illicit distillery near Riverside, Township of Greenock, County of Bruce.

Mr. CHANDLER, Toronto, formerly of Guelph, proprietor of the bee-hive dry goods store, was assaulted on his way home on Wednesday night by two men, named Gow and Cunningham. He had a very large sum of money about him at the time.

BASE BALL CLUB.—Mr. John Anderson has imported for the G. M. L. Club, through A. F. Shellingsford, Esq., London, several pairs of clan tartan hose to match the uniform of the Club. Mr. Anderson has imported them simply as an act of courtesy for the Club.

DIED IN CHICAGO.—A telegram was received this forenoon, that Mr. Curtis Murton, well-known in Guelph, had died in Chicago this (Friday) morning at an early hour. His illness must have been very short, for a letter from him reached Guelph yesterday, and when he wrote it he was in good health.

We understand that some persons in the neighborhood of the Grammar School complain very much of having their geese stolen by night. As a certain party is suspected, and a watch to be put on, they had better save any further trouble by leaving them alone in future.

The Rev. H. D. Cooper, B.A., who has occupied the Incumbency of St. James' Church, Fergus, during the past five years, was presented last week with a purse containing $112, the members of the church at Fergus's, Ladies, sent in honor of the occasion. Mr. Cooper goes to Holland Landing.

The Fergus Express says that one day last week Mr. Wylie fell head foremost into a vat, in Mr. Johnston's tannery, and stuck fast under a plank. Mr. Johnston pulled him out more dead than alive. The poor fellow had a narrow escape with his life, having fallen in while in a fit.

GUELPH ADVERTISER.—The Listowel Bazaar states that Mr. J. H. Hacking, formerly proprietor of that paper, has purchased the Guelph Advertiser, and will the possession of the office on the 1st of July. We extend a hearty welcome to Mr. Hacking, and trust that our relations with him may always be of a friendly character.

The London Advertiser says that Col. Shanley's corps of artillery are to be supplied this week with steel guns (nine-pounders), which they will take with them to Windsor camp. The guns at present used by them, we understand, are to be handed over to the Guelph artillery.

Sir Harry Barrard, Bart., has been married at St. John, New Brunswick, to a Miss Anderson. The gallant Baronet served with his regiment, the fourth battalion 60 Rifles, in New Brunswick, in 1869; he succeeded to the Baronetcy in 1870, and is possessed of an income of £15,000 a year, chiefly from estates in England and Ireland.

The Galt Reporter regrets to learn that Mr. Oliver Clemens, of the village of Blair, brother of Mr. Isaac Clemens, M.P.P., met with a serious accident on Saturday morning last. He was cleaning one of his horses, which was very restless, he spoke sharp words to it and struck it with a piece of leather strap, and before he could get out of its way it kicked him on the right side, knocking him senseless. Mr. Clemens is in a very dangerous state.

McAULAY vs. LAIRD.—This action which was referred to the last assizes to the arbitration of J. T. Anderson, Esq., Q.C., has been by him decided in favour of the defendant. It was an action of ejectment to try the question of the ownership of the first one-fourth of lot 33, east side of the Owen Sound Road, in the township of Arthur. The claimant claiming as patentee, and the defendant showing title under the claimant's uncle of the same name, (Thomas McAulay.) Dr. McEldred and Mr. Mitchell for claimant; Mr. Biscoe for defendant.

THROWING STONES AT TRAINS.—Yesterday afternoon as the day express east on the G. T. R. was passing the crossing near Hall's Corner, some wicked lad threw a stone which went directly through one of the first class car windows, and came very near injuring a passenger. The perpetrator of such a wanton act ought to be severely punished. Every means are being taken to find out who the guilty party is, and we hope he will be detected, and receive such punishment as will be a warning to others not to follow his example.

THE FIRE BRIGADE.—We understand that at the usual monthly meeting of the Fire Brigade, on Wednesday night, the members in a body sent in their resignation to the Chief Engineer, to be handed to the chairman of the Fire and Water Committee. The reason for the men taking this step is because they are of opinion that they have not received that encouragement and remuneration which their services entitled them to. They petitioned the Council for more pay some time ago, and their request was not acceded to. The matter will no doubt be brought up at the first meeting of the Council, when we shall have full explanations on the subject. Meantime the men continue to hold their positions till the end of this month.

THE SOUTHERN EXTENSION RAILWAY.—The Listowel Banner says that Messrs. Hay & Co., who have the building of the line between Palmerston and Listowel, have pushed on the work very rapidly. They have in their employment over 200 men and 50 teams of horses. The fencing is nearly all done, and all the heavy cuts will be finished in a day or two. The bridges are about all built, and the timber for the cattle guards is on the ground and men are busily at work getting it ready to be put together for the country is expected in Listowel some time in August. Messrs. Hendrie & Co., who have the contract of building the road from Listowel to Wingham, are also pushing the work on rapidly. The road from Listowel to Newry will be completed by the 1st of July. There are over 300 men at work between Listowel and Ethel, and this part of road will be completed by the end of July. Between Ethel and Bluevale there are 200 men at work.

TORONTO UNION STATION.—The corner stone of the new Union Station, into which it is intended that all the railroads converging on Toronto shall run, and which is to be built on the vacant lot between York and Simcoe-streets, was laid on Thursday with full Masonic honors. From noon, the hour appointed for the ceremony, the crowd, till one o'clock, no attempt was made to start; but at the latter hour the rain ceased and a procession of Masons was formed in front of the Masonic Hall, Toronto-street. Thence they marched, headed by the Grand Trunk Brigade band carrying several banners and emblems of the craft, by way of King, York, Front and Simcoe-streets to the spot fixed for laying the stone, opposite the Grand Trunk freight shed. Nearly 300 persons took part in the procession, about 100 ladies were present. The ceremony which witnessed by a large concourse of people. After the ceremony of laying the corner-stone, Mr. Bridges entertained a large number of gentlemen at a champagne luncheon in the Music Hall. The chair was occupied by the host and the vice-chair by Mr. John Sheldon.

Interesting about the Saskatchewan.—The soil is remarkable for its fertility. Cereals and roots grow rapidly, and come to perfect maturity. This is especially the case in Manitoba and about Fort Edmonton. The banks and valleys of the Saskatchewan produce the most luxuriant crops, and seem possessed of an almost inexhaustible store of richness. At Edmonton last summer there were about 6,000 bushels of first-class potatoes raised; and some excellent samples of wheat were shown which had been raised from the same seed for 25 years. The river Bean and Beaver, which fall into the Saskatchewan, are said to present splendid inducements to anglers as well as to miners. At Fort Carlton the late and early frosts are sometimes very injurious to vegetation. Potatoes are often completely destroyed by spring frosts; and even more hardy fruits are not unfrequently rendered almost useless.

The whole country abounds with game. In Manitoba there are large quantities of wild geese, ducks, prairie-chickens, white cranes, &c. The cranes are very large, some of them being taller than an ordinary man, and are excellent eating. In the Saskatchewan valleys there is an abundance of deer and antelope, the latter animals being found in droves of from 50 to 100. In the mountains there are elk and moose. Last year the buffaloes on the plains were unusually numerous. Fish are abundant in all the streams and lakes. They are chiefly white-fish, pickerel, pike, and sturgeon.

The gold-fields of the Saskatchewan extend from the Rocky Mountains to Fort Lacombe, a distance of about 1,000 miles. Miners average from $6 to $8 a day, but the mining season is short, and supplies are not easily obtained. Some of the tributaries of the Saskatchewan, such as the Beaver and Bean rivers, are believed to be very rich in gold; but the Indians in these localities are not friendly and will not permit mining operations by the "white men." Coarse gold or gold quartz have not been discovered except in a few instances. The mines are reached most readily by way of Peace River, British Columbia. The coal beds near Fort Edmonton are enormous, and almost beyond all conception. Vessels can run up the river and take a cargo of coal from the overhanging banks without the necessity of either boring or blasting.

At a meeting of Reformers held in Cornwall on Monday evening it was unanimously resolved to nominate Mr. Darby Bergen, M. D. for the House of Commons, and Mr. John G. Snetsinger, of Moultonette, for the Local Legislature, in the place of the late Hon. John Sandfield Macdonald.

London, June 13th.

At the Session of Commons to-night, Mr. Gladstone, in reply to the question of Corraice, said that nothing official had been received by the Government in relation to the San Juan boundary question now before the Emperor William of Germany, for his decision.

In answer to an enquiry from Sir Henry Abbotson, Mr. Gladstone said the Government of the United States declined to become a party to the application for an adjournment of the meeting of the Board of Arbitration at Geneva, as was proposed by Her Majesty's Government.

Mr. Otway asked the Premier if, in case the arbitration of the Alabama claims failed, and no man could doubt that it would, the Convention for the settlement of the San Juan boundary in question which was provided for by the Treaty of Washington, would be maintained.

Mr. Gladstone replied in the affirmative. Viscount Bury asked if it was true that the American Government would oppose to the utmost any effort by the British Government to submit the argument at Geneva on the 15th inst. under protest, and if this was true how it was proposed to reserve the rights of Great Britain.

These questions were not answered by Gladstone, who said he would require that notice be given before doing so.

Another statement from Earl Granville is expected in the House of Lords to-morrow.

Madrid, June 13.

The Cortes is adjourned, and the Ministerial crisis still continues.

Lospos, June 12.—Details of the floods near Prague, caused by heavy rains, show that the destruction of life and property was far greater than at first supposed. The water poured over the country, sweeping everything before it. Fertile districts were devastated, and a number of villages swept away. The loss of life is appalling—the number of persons who perished being estimated at 700.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 13th.—The cholera has made its appearance in the southern part of Russia, and all vessels arriving here from Russian ports on the Black Sea are placed in quarantine.

New York, June 13.

Fifteen persons were killed and wounded in Philadelphia yesterday by the falling of a foundry smoke stack.

There were six cases of sunstroke in this city yesterday.

Miss Tennie C. Clafin was elected last night Colonel of the 85th Regiment of colored infantry.

The Herald's London special says:—Later advices from Zanzibar state that Stanley had arrived there, and that he had left Dr. Livingstone alive and well.

The Herald's Washington special says: The points of the draft of instruction from the British Government to their agent at Geneva has been received at Washington. The note recites correspondence had on the subject of the supplemental article, and the refusal of the United States to discuss propositions proposed in the article, and compel Great Britain reluctantly to withdraw from arbitration and leave the responsibility of failure upon the Government of the United States. Reference is made to the arrogance of the United States in attempting to dictate the treaty stipulations which the British Government must accept, and the refusal of the United States to discuss proposed changes is contrasted with the friendly spirit evinced by Great Britain in making these propositions.

POLICE COURT.

Before T. W. Saunders, Esq., J. P. M. June 11.

Ann Moore was charged with assaulting John Dealey. Case dismissed with costs.

A MARRIAGE was recently celebrated in Cleveland, O., under somewhat novel circumstances. The Cleveland Herald vouches for the truth of the story that, one day last week a young woman entered the tailor shop of a man named Rheinheimer, and asked for work. The proprietor then irrelevantly asked her if she would like to be married, and she "didn't mind." Mr. Rheinheimer called to him his man Frank, who agreed to wed the young woman, and in twenty minutes from the time the poor work-girl found herself the blushing bride of a man whom till then she had never seen.

BEN STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—A barn belonging to Mr. Elias Snider, Waterloo, was struck by lightning during a thunder-shower on Thursday afternoon, and set on fire; but by the exertions of Mr. Snider's family and some neighbors, the fire was extinguished. One end of the barn was completely demolished by the electric fluid, the yard being covered with the splinters. The foundations of the wall are also somewhat damaged.

BERLIN COUNTY SESSIONS.—The County sessions opened at Berlin on Wednesday and closed the next day. Its sittings were remarkable for the fact that not a civil case was entered for trial. There were four criminal cases of considerable importance. One of these was a very strong case against a German farmer for writing a letter to W. Fisher, of Waterloo, threatening to murder him. The trial resulted in the prisoner's acquittal. He was defended by Mr. King.

The Galt Reporter says it is rumored in usually well informed political circles, that the Dominion elections will not take place until fall—say during the month of October.

County Court.

COURT HOUSE, June 13.

KNOWLES vs. MORLAND WATSON & Co.—This was an action for a disputed account amounting to $248. Defendants admitted some of the items of the account. Verdict for plaintiff for $123.15. Mr. Drew for plaintiff; Mr. Guthrie instructed by Mr. Burns of Elora for defendant.

THE HORSE STEALING CASE.—Nelson Lepoint alias Morgan was again arraigned on the charge of horse stealing, having, on his discharge yesterday on an informally, been re-arrested by Chief Constable Kelly and brought up for examination at the Police Court this morning, and was again committed to take his trial at the Sessions of the County Court. The prisoner pled not guilty. Mr. Peterson for the Crown, Mr. A. H. Macdonald for prisoner.

John Neff testified, that the mare stolen was his property, and detailed the various steps taken for the animal's recovery.

John Neff testified, that he was son of last witness, and corroborated his father's evidence as to the mare being stolen, her recovery and her identity.

Constable Kelly testified, that in consequence of a telegram received, he was on the lookout for stolen mare; heard there was such a mare for sale at the Wellington Hotel; asked prisoner whose was the animal and the prisoner replied that it was his, and that the price was $70; I told him I would take the mare and him too on suspicion of having stolen her; he gave his name as John Morgan; told me that he had got the mare from a jockey whose name he did not know.

Mr. E. Devereux, livery stable keeper, testified, that the prisoner came to him for the purpose of selling him the mare in question; saw the mare at Bay Horse Hotel stables; did not buy her because she was too young for his purpose and also because he thought the circumstances attending the sale were somewhat suspicious; prisoner asked $100 for the mare; thought it a fair price for her; after the arrest of prisoner saw the name in the Wellington stables; prisoner said that he had raised the mare.

After Mr. Macdonald had addressed the Jury, His Honor summed up. The Jury brought in a verdict of guilty, with a recommendation to mercy, as this was his first offence.

THE PILKINGTON ASSAULT AND TARRING CASE. Moses Anger and John Cann surrendered on bail to answer to the charge of having assaulted Daniel Cornish and his wife, in the Township of Pilkington, on the 8th of June. We gave two days ago the particulars of this case.

Mr. Guthrie (instructed by Mr. Burns of Elora) for defendants.

Daniel Cornish testified that he was a small farmer in Pilkington. About 10 o'clock on Saturday night I was awake by the noise of sleep in my yard, got up and put them out; after I had put them out, I observed some one holding the gate, immediately after John Cann swung upon me, and Moses Anger helped him, also a third party whom I cannot recognize; Cann and I clinched, when he got me down and knelt upon me; I held him down and cried out loudly, "murder!" in the hope of some one hearing me and coming to my assistance; when Cann found I would not let him go he struck me a violent blow on the left eye, the eye still much blackened which rendered me insensible for some time; when I recovered, I found Cann tearing off my shirt and pants, and applying tar to my person; Moses Anger holding the can of tar, and the unknown man assisting; they also dipped a rag in tar and stuffed it into my mouth so as to act as a gag; my cries brought out my wife, who was similarly treated by some one else; lifted the masks from the faces of defendants and thereby recognized them; it was excellent star light at the time; was kicked on the shoulder; the defendants did not desert until a voice, recognized by me as that of my brother Thomas, called out, "Hold on, come away!" my brother and I are not on good terms; shortly after a wagon, with two persons in it, came up; they assisted me to get into Elora and have my wounds dressed by Dr. Pigot; I was throated and gagged.

Cross-examined by Mr. Guthrie. A good many persons were there; could not recognize them beyond Cann and Moses Anger; was unable to know the third party who was assisting from his wearing a mask; this man was holding me by the legs, whilst Cann was applying the tar to my left breast with both hands, and Moses Anger on my right side holding the tar can; I was never hit on from the first time I was thrown down; Cann and I had a quarrel a day or two before about my brother; Moses Anger was present, but said nothing.

Louis Cornish, wife of last witness, testified to most of the circumstances detailed by her husband; when I came out on hearing my husband's cries, John Anger laid hold of me and ill-treated me shamefully; he had on a mask and I tore it off, and thus recognized him; I recognized Moses Anger and Thomas Cornish; the latter was standing by; Moses Anger was holding the tar from my husband to me; apparently Thomas Cornish heard something coming, moved off and called out, "Hold on, come away;" and they all ran off as fast as they could; I was so ill-used that I could not swear positively as to time.

Cross-examined.—Never told Mrs. Ford that I was not in bed before the outrage occurred; when my husband was lying on his back he was not distant from my beyond two yards; was thrown down on my side; did not recognize the perpetrator; am quite sure that it was John Anger who threw me down; to his brother Moses to fetch the tar; Moses had no mask on then; my husband called to me to fetch the tar to knock the down; I replied that I was unable to do so as they had got me down too; was not aware of an ill-feeling existing between these parties and my husband.

The Foster Brother;

—OR— The Orphan of the Wreck.

CHAPTER I.

THE PAINTING—THE ARTIST AND HIS WIFE—THE STORM—THE DRIFTING SHIP.

The night was intensely dark, for, besides being moonless, the sky was overcast by masses of black clouds, which rolled in quick succession from west to east, their rugged edges opening occasionally for a moment to show, as they again closed over the stars, how madly they were rushing along. On the highest point of the Little Cambrae the steady gleam from the lighthouse showed through the gloom, for at that time the erection was not as it now is, on the northwest corner of the island, but perched on the top, where its disused tower still remains. This distant, steady gleam was all that broke the immensity of blackness which stretched on every hand, concealing the tempest-tossed sea, whose state of fearful disturbance was only too well indicated by the dashing roar of the waves as they broke in thunder on the rocks, and by the spray which flew in fitful clouds far up the heights.

Kenneth knew well in what direction the "Wreckers" lay—for the rocks which had received this significant appellation were those which appeared in the foreground of his picture, and with their position and conformation he was thoroughly acquainted. They formed a little island of savage ruggedness little more than half a mile from the land, and in the daytime could be seen from where Kenneth stood with perfect distinctness. On all sides, but chiefly seaward, they presented sharp jagged edges, over which in a storm the sea broke in whitish foam, and in a manner which showed that any unfortunate vessel which struck there would be battered to pieces. So hopeless was any chance of escape, and so often in the course of the century had ships been lost at the spot, that the rocks had come to pass under this ominous name of the Wreckers, and sailors never failed to give them a wide berth when making for the Clyde before a west wind.

Towards this spot, then, Kenneth directed his gaze starting, though vainly, to pierce the gloom and discern the form of the drifting ship. If she was near the spot she showed no light—perhaps the wind or the breaking seas had quenched it. There were lights on the beach, carried in the hands of some of those who had congregated there, and these were moved to and fro as steering signals, but surely with but the faintest hope that the approaching vessel could in such a storm have her course directed by those who navigated her. Still these anxious-hearted fishermen were doing all they could in the way of aid, and they waited there with trembling, beating hearts to learn the issue.

Suddenly, and at the moment Lucy emerged from the cottage wrapped for the walk, a vivid flame shot through the darkness in the very direction where Kenneth was gazing, and the report of a heavy gun was borne to the land. Almost at the same instant a blue light burst up with a great power of illumination, revealing the hull and rigging of the ship, on the prow of which it was placed. For many moments it burned with great intensity, and while the strong light lasted the size and shape and rig of the ship could be seen with startling distinctness.

She was a large vessel, with her sails all torn away. Shaky deep in the water, as if laden with a heavy cargo, and—most thrilling sight of all—several forms could be seen on deck clinging to the bulwark and lashed to the masts.

The sight was of but brief duration, for very soon the blue flame went out, and the ship was swallowed up by the darkness. But it was a sight which those who beheld it would never forget—not even the youngest of them, whose memory it would haunt through all their after years.

To those on board as well as to those on shore it must have given a revelation of despair, for it showed the ship to be driving straight against the fatal rocks, up whose black sides the white waves were lashing. In a few minutes it must inevitably strike, and as inevitably be dashed to pieces.

The loud cry of agonizing pity which burst from Lucy's lips when the harrowing sight was presented brought Kenneth to her side, and as he caught her in his arms she clung to him and sobbed hysterically.

"Return into the house, my darling," he cried, as firmly he held her. "This is no scene for you; return, return."

"Oh, no, no," she wailed. "Let us go to the beach. Perchance something may be done to save their lives. Oh, God, pity and secure them!"

"Amen!" groaned Kenneth in response, for he saw that human help could not reach the sufferers. Between the shore and the rocks was nearly a mile of foaming water in which no boat could live. The most courageous would not dream of venturing forth to the assistance of those in jeopardy; and where then had they the slightest prospect of escape.

Seeing that Lucy was resolute in her determination to accompany him to the beach, Kenneth offered no further opposition, but drawing her arm firmly within his arm, they passed down the garden path, and crossing the high road, struck into a winding footpath which, connected to the shore, where the lights were still moving, and where, as they drew near, they saw women rushing about bringing their hands and uttering wild cries of lamentation.

Another wonder of the world.—The Bay Verte Canal, connecting the Bay of Fundy with the Gulf of St. Lawrence, is going to be a big job, and one of a perfectly unique character. Looking at the narrow neck of land, it is easy to say a canal ought to be made, and must be made there, but the more you consider the task the more difficult it appears. Engineers when asked for their opinion shrug their shoulders, and turn away. The tide rises 47 feet in the Bay of Fundy, and how to regulate such a rise and fall of water at the mouth of a Canal so as to allow of navigation, is the question. Some think the only way would be to open the canal and see how the tide would work without locks or flood-gates. If this is tried and the bottom is not rocky, the immense volume of water rushing through will soon open a large permanent channel, and the tides both in the Bay and Gulf will be affected.

Office of Evans, Mercer & Co., Wholesale Druggists, Montreal, November, 1871. Mr. James I. Fellows.

Dear Sir,—We have a large and increasing demand for your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and there is no doubt that its valuable properties become more generally known, its sale will still further increase. The best proof of the efficiency and high character of the preparation is that medical men are largely prescribing it; and we hear from Dispensing Chemists that prescriptions for Syr. Hypo. C. Fellows are daily on the increase.

Johnson's Anodyne Linctum may be used to advantage where any Pain Killer is desirable. In cases of severe cramps and pains in the stomach, it is undoubtedly the best remedy that can be used.
