Terrible Fatal Accident

A sad accident occurred in our midst on Tuesday which resulted in the death of Mrs. Alex. Cameron who lost her life in a most startling and tragic manner by being burned to death. No one can explain how the fatality happened. The first that was known about the affair was when Mrs. Cameron was seen by neighbors, in the yard at the rear of her home, completely enveloped in flames, her clothing being on fire and the flames leaping up above her head. Presumably she inhaled the flames as she died in a few minutes afterwards. Her death was a great loss to her family. Her husband, Mr. Alex. Cameron, was at the time and saw her just a few minutes before the accident happened. Besides her husband, Mrs. Cameron is survived by two daughters, Jean and Margaret, the latter being at High School at the time of the mournful occurrence. The sorrow-stricken family have the heart-felt sympathy of the entire community.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon and was private.

Plans are now well under way for the big celebration in Sarnia on the day of the signing of the peace treaty and from present indications it will greatly exceed the celebration which followed the announcement of the signing of the armistice. Should the news of the culmination of the conference come at night or in the middle of the day, the celebration will be held on the following day which will be declared a general holiday.

The following item on road making is taken from the Amherstburg Echo. The system of road making in that town is on a par with that practiced in some other places that could be mentioned. The Echo says:—"The Board of Works came in for some good-natured kidding Wednesday, when under its direction a hole on Dalhousie street, right in the business section, was filled with mud and this covered with a coating of ashes from the dump. One of the merchants, with a view to saving his auto tires, raked the ashes and salvaged a pallet of bottles, tin caps and other debris, after which a few claps with an eye for the aesthetic, laid out the plot in the form of a cemetery and planted a few limbs, hung a sign "Keep off the grass," and the job was complete."

NOTE AND COMMENT

Philip Ferris, the oldest man in Colchester township, who will be 96 if he lives to see the 6th of June, is gradually losing his strength and eyesight. Mr. Ferris, up to within a few months ago, was remarkably well. It is interesting to learn that he has stopped using tobacco in any form, which shows that the habits of a lifetime can be broken by anyone who has the will power to back up his resolution.

It is said there are thousands of unemployed men in Canadian cities and towns, thousands more men are yet to return from the war, and yet there are hundreds of employers wanting skilled labor and thousands of farmers wanting help and unable to obtain it. Good wages are offered but it seems as if many men prefer to hang around without working, so long as they have the wherewithal to buy a meal.

before the age of one year from preventable causes is a striking proof that more advanced steps should be taken to protect infants from conditions which are serious. The babes born to the community are its greatest asset. They should be surrounded by every care and safeguard that advanced civilization can give.—Guelph Herald.

In discussing the Highway bill in the Legislature, Hon. F. G. MacDiarmid stated that a concrete road, built under favorable conditions, fifteen feet in width, cost $18,000 a mile in Essex last year. The next mile would probably cost more, because of a longer haul. Mr. MacDiarmid said that a macadam road would probably cost about $9,000 a mile, and a gravel road between $3,000 and $5,000 a mile. Referring to the route of the highway, the Minister said that the Prime Minister had promised to secure all the facts before making an announcement as to the district the road would follow. He stated that the route was not yet selected.

Mr. Dyson Hague had a useful word on the subject of the Church and the Gospel in an address delivered last week at Wyoliffe College. He is reported to have remarked that "if the Church is to have any power in the future it must not be sidetracked with sociological and philanthropic schemes." He also said that the best transforming influence was to save men's souls, because "Evangelical Christianity can do more to redeem the world than any philanthropic movement." Mr. Hague also deprecated the too frequent appeals for money, and spoke in very strong terms against "these bazaars, this cooking of pies and all that," which he describes as "an abomination unto the Lord." Mr. Horace Greely once received a letter from a woman, stating that her Church was in distressing financial straits. They had tried every device they could think of—fairs, strawberry festivals, oyster suppers, socials of various kinds, and other similar efforts. Mr. Greely was asked to suggest some device to keep the struggling Church from disbanding. The great editor replied "Try religion."

The men of the army did their duty and for the vast majority of them the path of duty was not the way to glory. For all to many it led, but the spirit of all was the same, and the record of achievement belongs to them all. It is a good thing for Canada, and it will leave its mark for good upon the life of Canada, despite the effort of some to capitalize the sacrifice of the soldier for selfish purposes.—Montreal Gazette.

We were under the impression that the war tax on matches was a cent a hundred, and just to find out what we really are paying we counted from a fifteen cent box on which it was stated that the 5c. war tax was paid. It contained only 414 matches. A few years ago the same matches were retailed at 5c a box. Now with the war tax added they are three times the price. It seems an injustice to put such a tax, but it is only in keeping with the usual custom to increase the poor man's burden by making him pay the heavy end of the war costs.—Durham Chronicle.

Neighborliness, not Annexation

(Detroit News)
The People of the United States wish the people of Canada to flourish in that independence which they so bravely assert for themselves. The growing body of sentiment in favor of joint development of those great natural facilities for commerce which in part form the boundary between the two countries is an earnest of our willingness to co-operate for mutual advantage. No one pretending to voice the will of the American people seriously discusses the political union of the two countries, but there is much thought directed towards methods of bringing them into better commercial relationship and towards guaranties of the perpetuation of that peaceful neighborliness which has set a good example before the world for more than a century.

It renders the muscles and sinews pliable, takes the soreness out of them and strengthens them for strains that may be upon them. ## LACE IS IN VOGUE Decoration Promises to Be in Demand This Spring.

Coming Season to See Revival of Trimmed Batiste or Lawn Frocks Necessary to Women.

Are you aware of the fact that we are about to experience a revival of interest in lace?

Doubtless this has been brought about in part by the men and women whose business interests center in the sale of lace. Moreover, writes a correspondent, it is again possible to get laces that were unavailable during the war. The revival of lace will mean that numerous women of Europe will have a means of earning a living; that we can help them to help themselves during reconstruction.

Real laces will be especially in demand, and this is in keeping with the revival of interest in all hand-wrought fabrics and tissues. But we are not going to be content with the old-time mode of applying lace, which was too often stiff and prim.

Designers are going back to the lavish method of the Renaissance, when ecclesiastics combined the most costly of laces with the most gorgeous of embroideries and silks in the vestments worn on great festivals, and to the great court ladies of those days, who vied with the great prelates in their lavish use of lace and brilliant fabrics.

The prediction is made that this spring will see a revival of the sort of lace-trimmed batiste or lawn frocks that we used to regard as indispensable to every woman's wardrobe. If made by hand they require days and days of work, and if by machine actually miles of fine stitching. There are yards and yards, moreover, of lace insertion, and sometimes innumerable tucks. The result is a frock that is perennially fresh, for if it is not made to go in the tub, it is at least capable of being cleaned repeatedly.

Colored sheer cotton fabrics are used in the advance models for frocks and blouses, and instead of using white lace on these many of them show Valenciennes that has been tinted to match the fabric with which it is used.

Although in most of the new frocks for evening and afternoon wear there is a decided lack of lace or other trimming to relieve the severity of the line at the neck, still it is said that this spring we will enjoy a revival of dainty neck laces—neck accessories, frills and jabots and ruffles. They will be worn with suits and day frocks, and will make use of a lavish amount of beautiful laces.

WOMAN'S NERVES MADE STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Winona, Minn.—"I suffered for more than a year from nervousness, and was so bad I could not rest at night—would lie awake and get so nervous I would have to get up and walk around and in the morning would be all tired out. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thought I would try it. My nervousness soon left me. I sleep well and feel fine in the morning and able to do my work. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to make weak nerves strong."—Mrs. ALBERT SULTZ, 603 Olmstead St., Winona, Minn.

How often do we hear the expression among women, "I am so nervous, I cannot sleep," or "it seems as though I should fly." Such women should profit by Mrs. Sultz's experience and give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

For forty years it has been overcoming such serious conditions as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, dizziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the standard remedy for such ailments.

"I have used Zam-Buk myself for the same ailment, also for sores and burns, and have the greatest confidence in it."

PALE COLORS FOR THE GIRLS

Blue and Pink the Standard Combination With Mauve a Favorite Blend.

Pale blue and pink is still the combination for girls of eighteen; mauve and mauve, another happy blend, with accordion-plaited foundations, also finds favor with younger women.

Silver metal lace allied with pale blue velvet ribbons and a posy of flowers are the suggestions for one dainty confection, with long wing sleeves and a many-flounced skirt. For a tall girl there's a dress pretty enough to tempt one to break the tenth commandment.

Of flesh-colored crepe de chine, the V-shaped neck is edged with net, while the sleeves are of georgette. The skirt is made of plain crepe de chine, three rows of pearl fringe giving the triple-skirt effect rather in favor just now. The piece round the waist is also thickly incrustated with motifs of pearl beads.

Another frock is of that romance-inspiring moonlight blue crepe, and the new trimmings are of pompons called les nenettes. Draped tulle is responsible for the sleeves, with scarf-ends held in by a charmeuse belt. On the corsage and top of skirt is a touch of beautiful embroidery.

A Safe Pill for Suffering Women.—The secluded life of women which permits of little healthful exercise, is a fruitful cause of derangements of the stomach and liver and is accountable for the pains and lassitude that so many of them experience. Paree's Vegetable Pills will correct irregularities of the digestive organs and restore health and vigor. The most delicate woman can use them with safety, because their action while effective, is mild and soothing.

Imports into Australia and New Zealand totalled $380,000,000 last year—of which a larger share than ever might well go from Canada.

Our national debt has run from $46 a head in 1914 to $270. The C. T. C. suggests the best way of meeting obligations is by exporting more and importing less.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear husband, Norman Cook, who entered into rest on Sunday, April 13th, 1919.
Tears, sorrows, anguish, fears,
Sickness, sorrows, grief, fears,
How oft we ask why this is so,
With us poor mortals here below?
So oft we wonder why this is,
But answer none will come to us,
In our prayers night and day,
Yet loved ones still are taken away,
Again we're plunged in sorrows deep,
In deepest sorrow, cry and weep,
For a loved one gone before,
Here on earth to meet no more,
Dear, loving husband so good and sweet,
How gently here you fell asleep,
Whilst Christ your Saviour stood by you,
To lead and guide death's valley thru.
He was your guide and He your stay
In all your sufferings night and day,
Him you trusted by the day,
In faith and hope your staff alway,
But now we must all say adieu,
In yonder heaven we will renew,
And there forever more unite,
No more suffering, no more night,
Dear, loving husband, rest in peace,
You are happy now, oh sweet release,
You are resting now in yonder dome,
Your song is now, "Sweet Home, Sweet Home."
Oh Thou whose all pervading eye,
Thou whom our tears can dry,
Oh give us grace to overcome,
Until we all arrive at home.

HINTS ON COOLING MILK

Three Essentials in Cooling Explained.

Make That Spring on Your Farm a Profit Question—It Should Be Enlarged, Cleaned Out Well and Cribbed in an Efficient Way.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

BACTERIA in larger or smaller numbers are always present in freshly drawn milk. At temperatures between 60 deg. F. and 98 deg. F. (blood heat) they grow and multiply rapidly, causing the milk to become quickly spoiled. As the temperature falls below 60 deg. F., the bacteria become less active, the changes caused by them are less marked, so the milk keeps sweet and in good condition for a longer time.

Growth of bacteria in milk in 24 hours (136,000 per c.c. when freshly drawn):
Bacteria Per C.C. (20 drops)	Temp. held.
280,000	40 deg. F.
1,170,000	50 deg. F.
24,600,000	60 deg. F.

The above table shows how low temperatures check bacterial multiplication in milk. This is the scientific fact upon which the practice of milk cooling is founded.

In practice a dairyman should bear in mind three things in connection with the cooling of milk. First—cool milk with as little delay as possible after it comes from the cow. Second—cool milk to as low a temperature as possible, say somewhere between 40 deg. F. and 50 deg. F. Third—cool milk with as little contamination as possible from outside sources, such as dust, dirty utensils, water splashing, etc. If these three points were regularly attended to by all dairies a marked improvement in the general quality of our milk supplies would be noticeable right away.

The quickest way to cool milk is to run it over some form of tubular or surface cooler, pall by pall, immediately it is drawn from the cow. In this way milk may be rapidly cooled to within two or three degrees of the temperature of the water used. The objections to this method are the extra work involved in washing the cooler twice a day, the difficulty of keeping it properly clean, and the danger of contaminating the milk with dust, barn odours, etc., unless the cooler is used in a clean and separate milk room.

The other alternative is to place the cans of milk in a tank of running cold water at the earliest opportunity, or in an insulated tank of water into which some chopped-up ice is thrown. If the milk is stirred once every ten minutes during the first hour, cooling will take place more rapidly than where milk is left unstirred. If cold running water is not available all summer, enough ice should be put up during the winter to ensure the milk being brought to a sufficiently low temperature during the warmer portions of the year.

The importance of prompt and thorough cooling of milk is still insufficiently appreciated by many milk producers. There is no cheaper and simpler method by which milk quality may be improved.—T. H. Lund, B.S.A., O. A. College, Guelph.

The Easiest Way To Invest

Canada, following the example of other Allied countries, has made it possible for wage earners—men and women—to invest in safe securities without effort.

These securities are called War Savings Stamps.

The cost now $4.04, but by compounding interest, the $4.04 you invest now will be worth $5.00 in 1924. There is no other security in which you can invest such a small amount that is as safe and that bears so high a rate of interest.

Or you can start with 25 cents, by buying a Thrift Stamp. When you have sixteen Thrift Stamps, you can exchange them for a War Savings Stamp.

You take no risks. The Government of Canada guarantees to pay you back your money—with interest—at any time during the five years, or to pay you in 1924 $5.00 for every $4.00 (and a fraction) you invest now.

Death of William Howden, of Sutton, N. Dakota.

(Cooperstown, N. D., Sentinel—Courier)

William Howden, pioneer farmer, and one of the best known citizens of Griggs county, died at his home in Sutton, North Dakota, on Monday, April 28th, 1919, at 3:18 a.m., from congestion of the lungs the result of a cold contracted while taking a shipment of cattle to the St. Paul markets some three weeks previous.

Deceased had never before been sick a day in his life and felt that with his usually customary vigor he could easily throw off the cold, but about a week before his death, while preparing to load another shipment of cattle in Sutton, he complained of feeling worse, and went home to rest. The cold, which had developed into lung congestion, had reduced his vitality and he grew gradually weaker to the end, passing away quietly and without pain, surrounded by his wife and family and friends, at age of 68 years, 4 months and 26 days.

William Howden was born in Wentworth county, Ontario, Dec. 2, 1850, where he grew to manhood. On Dec. 21st, 1874, he was united in marriage at Warwick, Ontario, to Sarah Ann Rutledge, and to this union were born five children, Richard J., of St. Paul, Minn.; Jane (Mrs. F. W. Rothart) of Minot, N. D.; Samuel George, on the farm in Clearfield township; Frank L., in Canadian army at Ripon, England; and Edith Ellen, (Mrs. W. A. Olmsted) of Rotsart, Sask.

In the spring of 1883, the family moved to the old homestead in Griggs county where deceased had resided ever since until last fall, when a home was purchased in Sutton and where he resided with his wife until death claimed him.

The first Mrs. Howden passed away on the old homestead May 21st, 1904. On Sept. 3rd, 1907, deceased was married to Alice Jane Nicoll, who survives him, together with three brothers, Samuel, of Beach, N. B.; James, of Mossbank, S. D.; and B. N. of Mabel township; two sisters also survive, Mrs. L. L. Nicoll, of McHenry, and Mrs. Andrew Hemerlin, of Binford. [The late Mr. Howden was a cousin of Mr. W. J. Howden of Watford, and visited him here a couple of years ago.]

OBITUARY

THE LATE WILLIAM H. KINGTON

It is our painful duty to chronicle the death of the late Wm. H. Kingston, who died at his home on the fourth con., Warwick, on May 1st, after a long and painful illness. Mr. Kingston was born on August 3rd, 1840, at Geneva, in the State of New York, and came to Canada with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kingston, when three months old, where they settled on what is known as the Glebe farm on lot 15, con. 1, where for five years they made their home, at the end of this time they purchased the present home on the Fourth con., and here he grew into young manhood, and bravely did he assist in hewing out a home in the wilderness for such was Warwick at this time, and in after years it was his delight to meet old friends and neighbors around the fireside and talk over the experiences incidental to pioneer life and it was his boast that he had seen Canada grow from a colony to the status of a nation, the most important of His Majesty's dominions and he could look back beyond those seventy-five years and recollect the time when there was not a railroad in Canada and the fastest means of travel was the ox sled or the mail coach, a thousand inventions from the lightning express, the ocean greyhound, and the electric telegraph, the self binder, the telephone, the automobile and the flying machine, have come into existence during his life time. Many of which was a menace to him, he ever loved the old things. Nature was a great study to him, of a retiring disposition, he spent many hours meditating on the things of God's handiwork, and no man had a better mind for grasping passing events and always making the best of human nature. He enjoyed the poets in every sense, and few understood them better. One of his favorites was James Whitcomb Riley, the poet of the good old fashioned people, and the writer believes, his meditations were ever with the high minded, and when alone his company was with the men of higher ideals and great moral aspirations. While a reasonable thinker was always a Liberal in politics and followed the late lamented leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, to the end, none mourned his departure more than he, and he believed it was for the best and was heard to remark, "Some of us will soon follow." After a long life of quiet unassuming ways, he is gone. That voice is silent now, that tongue is still. After months of suffering which neither love nor science could stay, his physician Dr. Newell attended in his illness but could do nothing to stay the ravages of the grim reaper. He was also attended by Rev. Mr. Forster with sincere and earnest devotion, who received much joy from the patient way the sick responded to his visits. He was also much comforted by a daily visit and reading of the Bible from his friend Alex Campbell who helped attend him with his brother John from whom he had never been separated for only a few months in their lives. He had all human aid could give and the joy of feeling it was better to be with his Saviour and join those who had gone before. Mr. Kingston never married. He was the eldest of a family of ten and was predeceased by five sisters. He leaves to mourn his loss Mrs. Jean Campbell, John W. and Peter of Warwick, and Dr. T. S. Kingston, Crosswell, Mich. The funeral will be from the homestead on May 4th to the Watford cemetery, accompanied by a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends. Many coming from a distance. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Forster assisted by Rev. Mr. Savers. The bearers were intimate friends of the deceased viz: John Saunders, John Bryce, Wm. Manders, Robert McNaughton, David Roche and Wm. Fuller. He is laid to rest to await the glorious resurrection.—Com.

ONTARIO CREEDS.

What the Boys and Girls of This Province Are Thinking.

After talking with thousands of boys and girls in rural districts of Ontario, Dr. Creelman has drawn up a fair representation of what is in their minds, which he has embodied in the following Ontario boys' and girls' creeds:

Boys' Creed.

1. I believe that life in the country can be made just as pleasant and profitable as life in the city.
2. I believe that father and I can form a partnership that will suit both of us.
3. I believe that if I kill every year on my father's farm we shall be well paid by the increased crop alone, to say nothing of the benefit to our neighbors.
4. I believe that by careful selection of our chickens I can double the output of the flock.
5. I believe that by introducing alfalfa on our farm that we can keep twice as many domestic animals as at present.
6. I believe that by keeping twice as many animals we will be able to grow much larger crops of alfalfa and other things.
7. I believe that by planting shade trees, growing flowers, shrubs, and keeping a tidy homestead that we will be better contented and happier in every way, and our farm will increase in value.
8. I believe not in luck, but in pluck.
9. I believe that farming is a most honorable calling, and having decided to stay on the farm, it is my duty to make the best use of my time, now in school, that I may be the better farmer in the days that are to come.
10. I believe in working when I work and playing when I play, and in giving and receiving a square deal in every act of life.

Girls' Creed.

1. I believe that I have a right to be happy every day.
2. I believe that God's blue sky and God's green earth are a part of my inheritance.
3. I believe that I have a right to love little chickens and ducks and lambs and puppies as well as dolls and ribbons.
4. I believe I would love to keep house better than anything else, and I only wish they taught housework at school.
5. I believe that keeping a garden all my own would be great fun, and I believe that I could be happy in giving away flowers and in cooking the vegetables that I raised myself.
6. I believe that I could study real hard at my grammar and geography and arithmetic and spelling if I could do cooking or sewing with the other girls in the afternoon.
7. I don't want to go to town and leave my father and mother and my brothers and sisters behind while I live in the city, for I know I will miss them all, and the trees and the creek and the green grass and the old woods and everything, but, oh! I don't want to stay at home and do nothing but wash dishes and carry water and do the chores, and grow old like auntie. I want to laugh and love and live.
8. I believe I can learn to sew and cook and do laundry work, and do them well, and I want to learn them, and I want to do them well.
9. I believe in the square deal for girls as well as boys, and I want everybody to be happy all the time—the old as well as the young.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY'S WORK

DEPENDS UPON GOOD BLOOD TO NOURISH THE BODY

Weak People Need a Tonic, One Which Acts Directly Upon the Blood and that Does Not Weaken the Body by Useless Purging.

There are thousands of people throughout Canada who are without ambition or strength to do their day's work, and who are always tired out, have but little appetite and a poor digestion. They can not get a refreshing night's sleep and are subject to headaches, backaches and nervousness, because their blood is impure. To men and women in this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills give quick relief and permanent cure because they build up to its normal strength. As the blood becomes rich and red it strengthens the muscles, tones up the nerves, makes the stomach capable of digesting food, and repairs the wastes caused by worry or work. In a word, the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills means restoration to perfect health.

intense pain and some days I did not touch a thing but a cup of cold water and even that distressed me. As a result I was very much run down, and slept so poorly that I dreaded night coming on. I was continually taking medicine, but was actually growing worse instead of better. Having often read the cures made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I finally decided to give them a trial. I have had great cause to bless this decision, for by the time I had used a couple of boxes there was no doubt the pills were helping me, and in less time than I had anticipated the pills had cured me, and I was again enjoying not only good digestion, but better health in every way than before."

ALWAYS FEELS FIT

The wonderful success of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is due to the fact that they go right to the root of the disease in the blood, and by making the vital fluid rich and red strengthen every organ and every nerve, thus driving out disease, and pain and making weak, despondent people bright, active and strong. Mr. W. T. Johnson, one of the best known and most highly esteemed men in Lunenburg County, N. S., says:—"I am a Provincial Land Surveyor, and am exposed the greater part of the year to very hard work travelling through the forests by day and camping out by night, and I find the only thing that will keep me up to the mark is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I leave home for a trip in the woods I am as interested in having my supply of pills as provisions, and on such occasions I take them regularly. The result is I am always fit. I never take cold, and can digest all kinds of food such as we have to put up with hastily cooked in the woods. Having proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as a tonic and health builder, I am never without them and I lose no opportunity in recommending them to weak people I meet."

BLOOD TURNED TO WATER

Miss Jessie McLean, Trenton, N. S., says:—"I was as weak as it was possible for any one to be, and yet be able to go about. My blood seemed to have turned almost to water. I was pale, the least exertion would leave me breathless, and when I went upstairs I would have to stop and rest on the way. I often had severe headaches, and at times my heart would palpitate alarmingly. A good friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I have reason to be grateful that I took the advice. Soon after beginning the use of the Pills I began to get stronger, and by the time I had taken seven boxes I felt that I was enjoying good health. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a blessing to weak girls and I shall always warmly recommend them."

RHEUMATIC PAINS

The sufferer from rheumatism who experiments with outward applications is only wasting valuable time and good money in depending upon such treatment, the trouble still remains, and is all the time becoming more firmly rooted—harder to cure when the proper treatment is applied. Treat this disease through the blood and you will soon be rid of the pains and tortures. As a cure for rheumatism Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unequalled. They act directly on the impure, weak blood; they purify and strengthen it, and so root out the cause of rheumatism. Mr. D. Lewis, postmaster at Escuminae, N. B., says:—"I was attacked with rheumatism, which settled in my elbow, shoulder and knee joints, and at times caused me great suffering. The trouble was particularly severe last spring and I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking the Pills for some time the rheumatic pains and stiffness in the joints disappeared and I have not had any return of the trouble."

A GOOD DIGESTION

Mrs. William Dale, Midland, Ont., says:—"I suffered for a long time from a severe form of indigestion, and had had all but given up hope of getting better. Everything I ate caused me

SKIN TROUBLE CURED

Mrs. W. Ritchie, Parkberg, Sask., says:—"Two years ago I was attacked with eczema on my hands. I tried almost everything that was advised, but as the trouble was growing worse I consulted a doctor and took his treatment for some time with no better results. By this time my hands were a mass of sores and I began to despair of finding a cure. A friend strongly advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided to do so. After using two boxes I could see an improvement and I got a further supply. I used altogether eight boxes, by which time every trace of the eczema had disappeared and there has not been a single symptom of the trouble since that time. I gladly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for troubles of this kind."

The Grist

By ARCHIE CAMERON NEW

(Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

John Gates came out of a trance-like stupor and stared in disgust. He had not been the victim of a bad dream. No, he shivered, would that life were like that dream!

Two minutes before there had danced before his vision a picture of an old grist mill. He could see the trees lazily and happily brushing their leaves with every puff of wind, and the little dam that laughingly dashed its spray against its rocky formation. And his father, with his kindly old eyes and stooped shoulders, pouring into the mill's grist fine whole wheat flour, so much in keeping with the sacredly pure precincts about which he had scampered years before, barefoot, poor, but happy.

And then he saw the pure-white flour, so much in keeping with the sacredly pure precincts about which he had scampered years before, barefoot, poor, but happy. And then the sweet smile of his mother—that dear, kindly soul, whose happiest mission was ministrations to his boyish whims and an appreciative father's wants. And then he woke up!

For a moment he surveyed himself sadly. Those bare toes of his boyhood were now encased in rich, comfortable shoes, showing off in marked contrast the worn carpet on which they rested. He fingered nervously the well-tailored clothes that long since had replaced torn, ragged overalls, and smiled bitterly. And then he looked up!

An old man bent over a desk several feet away seemed to remind him of the old miller, his father, with his sparse gray hairs and stooped shoulders—until he looked up. A pair of rascally, cunning eyes met Gates' furtively, and then darted to a rough-looking individual waiting, as was Gates, on one of the chairs in a row about the wall of the large outer office. A buzzer sounded and the door of the inner sanctum opened.

"It's your turn next," huskily whispered the old man to the other. "Leave it to Jerry Bletzman. He'll fix you up."

The man grunted unintelligibly and rose hesitatingly to his feet. He, like most of his waiting brethren, had come to be "fixed up." And Bletzman, the far-famed P. Gerald Bletzman, self-styled "counselor at law," was to do the fixing, or, rather, the "unfixing." For Bletzman's many hired henchmen proclaimed that no matrimonial knot was too hard for their patron to untie.

"Jes' leave it 't me," boomed a raucous voice, which Gates recognized as Bletzman's as he hurriedly pushed a spidery-looking young man out of his office. "I'll get somethin' on her. They ain't none o' them too foxy fer Bletzman, are they, Pete?"

Pete, his assistant, acquiesced speedily with a chuckle, and Bletzman bent a beady eye on the man who stood close to Pete's desk.

"Come right in," he welcomed the other suavely, laying a sweaty palm on the client's sleeve. "Pete, bring 't gentleman's card in—now."

The door slammed and again the outer office subsided into a low murmur of voices.

So, mused Gates, this was what he had come to. A place where the sacred ties of marriage and motherhood were banded about like packing boxes and card-indexed like a case of measles. Br-r-r!

And across the room, instead of the sweet smile of his mother, a gray-haired woman in gay clothes smirked fraternally at him while waiting her turn.

This drove Gates' eyes to his lap, on which rested a neat package, which he now untied. Dragging forth a yellowish paper, he fell to reading it, and again it conjured forth visions from out of a happy past.

Lucille, his wife, a year? Never! She was a fine girl, through and through. They just couldn't get along—that was all. And some one had suggested Bletzman to him, and—

"I'll come outa th' mill sadder an' poorer," vouchsafed another waiting one. "Bletzman'll see 't that."

"Out of the mill," echoed Gates to himself, in horror. To be sure, it was a mill; but what kind? Bletzman's mill swallowed up human souls and gave up what? Fine white flour? Could that hoydenish girl be likened to his father's flour? Or the decrepit, red-nosed wreck at his side who called his—wife—yegg? Or that old woman who flirted with him, and in whose brassy locket at her wrinkled neck there probably reposed pictures of her grandchildren? And was he to be made a party to "fixing" his wife—little winsome Lucille, whom he had wronged? Yes, he reflected, he had wronged her. No wonder she had come to his father's house, drinking heavily, talking loosely and gambling madly. It had offended those finer sensibilities that now, in him, in the midst of Bletzman's revolting atmosphere, came back with a rush. Why hadn't he kept that promise to do so, the giving of which he had called hen-pecky? If he only had kept it—she might still be with—

Two doors opened simultaneously. Through one a burly individual shoved a man, and stood surveying the crowd of waiters.

"Who's next?" he vociferated, in his best barber manner, as if getting divorced was no more than a shave. "Ah, the little lady?" He advanced toward the outer door and Gates followed him with his eyes. And then Gates staggered, in horror, to his feet. "Lucille!" cried Gates, as a pretty, slender young girl of obvious refinement hesitated at the threshold.

"I want to see—Mr.—Bletzman," she announced in a low tone, and that individual was about to take her outstretched hand when he was roughly pushed out of the way and a tall, muscular figure stood between him and Mrs. Gates.

"Lucille," repeated John Gates, forcing her to meet his gaze, "you have no business—here—this—place."

"What in the—?" Bletzman started to splutter, edging himself toward the couple, but again Gates pushed him aside.

"Come, Lucille," he urged, taking her hand, and leading her toward the door. "Out of this—den. This is not for us. I came—as I know you did—to get—divorce." He brushed his free hand across a feverish brow as if to wipe away an awful vision.

"Come, this is not the mill for us. Let's—go—back to Lochlunav—to peace. Let's be happy as we were before I came to the city. We—"

"Do you know you are interfering with my business?" demanded Bletzman, in a seething rage. "This lady wants 't see—"

"Me," John finished Bletzman's sentence, restraining his clenched fists with an effort. "She wants to see me," he repeated. "Do you get that? And she will—exclusively—for the rest of her life—if she wants to." And then, as if the mighty Bletzman were no more than a troublesome beggar, Gates swung around and faced the trembling little girl he had promised to love, honor and protect. "Don't you, Lucille?"

As she nodded her head and buried her face in his sleeve, John led her into the corridor. He slammed the door and then breathed deeply.

"Even here the air is foul," he growled, putting his arm around her. "Come, let's hurry. We'll get the 3:20 train down. Dinner will be ready for us when we get there."

Inside the office Bletzman stared dumfounded at the closed door, then, shrugging his shoulders indifferently, ambled toward Pete's desk.

"Why didn't 'y show 'im in quick?" he roared at Pete. "Couldn't 'y tell he's th' kin' that think twice? If I'd seen him, I'd fixed it." Then he turned savagely toward the waiting line. "Next!"

LED WAY OF ENLIGHTENMENT

Building of Roads Marked Breaking Up of the Ignorance of the Dark Ages.

When light began to glimmer, day to break, on the dark ages (as we call them, and thereby impute to them, I think, along with their own darkness, no little of ours, much as the British seaman abroad has been heard to commiserate "them poor ignorant foreigners")—when daylight began to spread over the dark ages, what was the first thing to be seen? I will tell you what is the first thing I see. It is the roads.

I see the roads glimmer up out of the morning twilight with the many men, like ants, coming and going upon them; meeting, passing, overtaking; knights, merchants, carriers; justiciars with their trains, king's messengers, riding post; afoot, friars—black, white and gray—pardoners, poor scholars, minstrels, beggar men; pack horses in files; pilgrims bound for Walsingham, Canterbury, or to Southampton, to ship there for Compostella and Rome.

I see the old Roman roads—Watling street, Ermine street, Icknield street, Akeman street, the Fosse way and the rest—hard metalled, built in five layers, from the foundation or pavement of fine earth hard beaten in, through layers of hard stones, small stones (both mixed with mortar), pounded nucleus of lime, clay or chalk, brick and tile, up to the paved surface, summum dorsum; one running north through York and branching, as Hadrian had diverted it, to point after point of the Great Wall; another coastwise toward Cornwall; a third for Chester and on to Anglesey; a fourth embanked and ditched through the Cambridgeshire fens; I see the minor network of cross-roads, the waterways with their slow freight—Sir Arthur Quiller-Couch in "Studies in Literature."

Getting Oil From Peat. In his method of converting peat into synthetic coal, S. C. Davidson, an engineer of Belfast, Ireland, returns to the peat vegetable oils that have weathered out, mixes with 15 per cent of pitch dust, and forms into square blocks by hydraulic pressure. This fuel is reported efficient and comparatively cheap.

The two main ideas promoted by the Canadian Trade Commission at present are: "Buy less abroad and make more for export."
