Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

By Leona Dalrymple

The truth about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with interest.

No. 83. Behind the Curtain.

SEE more of motherhood than I did formerly. It will always annoy Mary I'm afraid to have stop there on the way home, though her visits to her mother are much more frequent than my visits to mine. It seems to be a characteristic of some young wives to expect the husband to give up his people lightly while she clings more closely to hers.

My evening chats with mother have brought about a great many quarrels with Mary.

"Well, Peter," she will frequently say, "just why are you late tonight?" I know the tone. It promises trouble before the trouble is under way.

"Well," I begin, "I did stop to talk with John Hatch."

"Yes?"

"And after that—since the autumn night was so clear and cold I walked a little toward the sunset. I always like to walk toward a sunset when the winter is just beginning to come."

Should Men "Explain"?

"Yes?" Still the tone was ominous.

Why must a man account for every belated minute of his time? The very accounting makes him chafe and fret at the chains that bind him. I hate to explain. Most men do. And if Mary wouldn't ask me the minute I appear in the house I'm late—why, in the course of time, I'd pleasantly volunteer the information without that terrible sense of impatience driving me to a studied self-control. When a man has to force himself to be patient with his wife there's trouble brewing.

Now Mary has several ways of showing her displeasure when I am 15 or 20 minutes late for dinner. One is, not to speak at all, and those tactics nearly drive me crazy. The second is to look martyrish and speak about the foot being spoiled. Why is it, I wonder that whenever I'm late we have some delicacy that must be eaten the minute it's here to preserve its pristine flavor?

Still another is to adopt the helpless tone of which I have frequently spoken, and which suggests death and funerals and calamities innumerable. It is a very "married" tone of voice. Only a wife may use it to her husband without fear of judgment. When Mary's tone is "married" I feel a cold silver creep down my spine until it shivers out through my scalp. After that I grow mad and am ready to fight.

"I think your mother's selfish," I flamed Mary, the other night. It was a new tactic, and one for which I was not prepared. She looked at me with a clean, robust flash of temper better than a chilly martyrdom that sets my teeth on edge.

A Stubborn Stand.

Why is mother selfish? I begged formally.

"She expects you to stop there every night. I've spoken of it before. And you keep me waiting, and a dinner spoils—you know very well how it is, Peter."

"Mary," I said, "we're going to fight this thing out once for all. Just because I have married you doesn't say that I'm going to give up mother and dad. You have all day to visit your mother if you choose, and goodness knows I don't object if you lunch with her every day of the week, but I have only the evenings, and you refuse to go with me then. Therefore, if I am going to see mother at all, I've got to stop there on the way home from business, and that I intend to do."

"I don't want you to speak of it again. I get more genuine optimism out of a half hour in mother's sitting room by the open fire than I can get anywhere in the world. Mother isn't selfish. She sends me home lots of times before I'm ready to come. And if you'd go with me instead of fostering that serious sense of antagonism you have toward my people you'd never have to wait dinner for I'd only go when you want."

That was my first really stubborn stand since I was married. And, queerly enough, I think Mary respects me now for making it.

Household Hints

By Ann Marie Lloyd

When washing china with gilt upon it never use soda. Rub a little soap on the dishcloth to make a nice lather, then rinse in clear cold water.

A good plan is to keep buttons in glass bottles. A glance tells you exactly what is inside, thus saving time which would be taken in turning over the buttons to put in a box.

Should the inkstand be accidentally tipped on the tablecloth or carpet, pour a little cold water over it at once. The ink will float on the water, and when the cloth or carpet is rubbed dry no stain will show.

To remove coffee stains, mix equal parts of water and glycerine, apply to the stain, and allow to dry. For light silk garments the glycerine should be mixed with water instead of yolk of egg.

To make neat coffee in a gas oven, place a jar half-filled with cold steam rising from the water makes the steam from getting hard, and prevents the heat from getting hard.

THE GARDEN OF LOVE

By Michelson

SHE worked in the garden, planting, pruning, pattering. With a dainty, coaxing touch she nursed the tender shoots, coddling the young leaves, crooning to the baby buds. The soft spring breeze murmured strange things to her, but never told her the greatest secret of all.

Then all of a sudden all those buds became little Cupids. It was truly amazing. They made her gasp—pleasantly. A delicious thrill stirred her, as she had never been stirred before in all her soft life.

Was that a step near by? Surely!—and there HE was on the other side of the wall!

He didn't seem to notice the Cupids. He seemed only to notice her. In fact, it is very difficult to notice anything else when she is about.

What do the Cupids think? You might as well ask plain, ordinary flowers. They never tell. It is the great mystery of the Garden of Love.

When Shall a Woman Leave Her Husband?

By Winifred Black

I HEARD a woman the other day say, "We women should erect a monument to Mrs. Scandoo, she showed the proper spirit when she left her husband without a word, as soon as she discovered his affair with that school teacher."

Should we, I wonder? Don't you remember the time your little cousin made you a visit and was so dimply and clinging and peachy-checked that your husband immediately took more than a passing interest in her—had her at lunch down town—sent her notes and flowers—all but lost his head over her?

You thought a lot, but said nothing. Soon the young lady went home and that night husband came to you—his eyes opened—and, on his knees, begged forgiveness.

Little cousin is married now; she married the principal of the high school. She must have shown the principal some of husband's pretty notes, for he glares with jealousy whenever they meet at the church social.

Husband always looks terribly embarrassed when the school principal glares.

Never the Same Again.

Now what sort of a goose would you have been to give up your home and your husband and your place in the world for the sake of a sentimental little miss, who didn't know her own mind and who didn't care about any other person's mind?

Happy—of course you were not happy when these things were going on. You were miserable, utterly and absolutely miserable, but they passed, like the baby's-croup and little son's bad case of the measles.

You will never be quite the same again as you were when you believed that your husband loved you so deeply that he could never even think seriously of another woman. The world will never be as fair to you again. Something has gone that made your heart sing. But it's a pretty good old

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why Pride and Boasting Show Mental Weakness

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSBERG

A. B. M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

PRIDE is a selfish craving for publicity within the narrow circle of a close coterie. Many malingers are proud of their descent from Oliver Cromwell, for instance, or some similar great man, who have pathological aversion for newspapers and the public in general.

Indeed, if you "do not move in their set," you are in their ailing thoughts a worm unentitled to honors, knowledge, privilege or anything thereto appertaining.

Pride, like scarlet fever, prevails in two types. Those are, to wit, a malignant form and a mild, beneficent one. The former is of the sickly, faulced, unhealthy sort. The latter is physiological and sane.

Humility may be, as the wise La Rochefoucauld said, "a feigned submission used to supplant others." It is often a trick adopted by those filled with the most malignant pride in order to raise themselves and lower others.

Pride disguises itself in a legion of ways, and is never so well masked and able most to succeed than when disguised under the form of meekness.

Pathological pride is a state of tissue unbalance which is rarely associated with true, inward modesty, blushing and the shyness of innocence and youth. These are only to be found in that true, hearty pride which is a normal constituent of sound thoughts and a vigorous body.

Those professors of virtue, wisdom, strength and justice who are as proud as gods of their superiority to others are actually diseased mentally in view of their lack of recognition of their own human infirmities.

How insolent is unattractive pride! The one straddles and but complains. And makes you of the worst of earth.

Whenever nature denies to a small, narrow, bigoted individual a true worth and grandeur, she metes out to the ex-priest (so called) large recruits of needful pride.

For as in bodies, thus in souls, we find, "Who rises in blood and spirits, swelled with wind, Pride when it falls, steps in our defence, And fills up all the mighty void of sense."

Pride is fundamentally what Nietzsche called the "will to power." It is in no sense a virtue, but a selfish sense of desire for power.

The Jacksons who are saturated with this sense of super-virtue stalk about in every sphere. He carries in the pocket a small, pointed, iron rod, called a "stick of dynamite," and on point upon it, predominant among social exclusives, college faculties and the politically successful.

Just as one acknowledged instance of smallpox or hydrophobia serves as a horrible example and induces the willful ones to defend themselves by proper precautions, so one proud individual scares many persons into a healthy attitude of conciliatory affability.

Answers to Health Questions

B. A. H.—Please tell me what will help itchy scalp, dandruff and also falling hair?

Try the electric brush and scalp massage, and use this twice a day:

Resorcinol..... 15 grains
Balsam Peru..... 15 dram
Sulphur ointment..... 15 dram
Castor oil..... 15 dram
Oil theobromine..... 15 dram

M. H.—What can I do for a red nose?

There are many ways to bleach the nose. Ultra violet light, scarification with needles and electric treatment, and the use of X-rays, and particularly a very plain diet—milk, eggs and fresh, plain food, with massage usually will help.

M. C.—Am troubled with "rheumatism" in the calf of left leg for about four weeks; at times feel it in the hip. I wear short underwear winter and summer. Could that be the cause of it?

The underwear has nothing to do with it. Since "rheumatism" is only a synonym for aches and pains, this may be due to garters, to fallen arches, to varicose veins, to a hundred other things which must be ascertained first.

Dr. Hirschberg will answer questions for readers of this paper on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. He will not undertake to prescribe or offer advice for individual cases. Where the subject is not of general interest, letters will be answered personally if a stamped and addressed envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. L. E. Hirschberg, care this office.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care this office.

Dear Annie Laurie:

As I am quite young yet I have turned the matter over in my mind many times about keeping company.

I have decided the best thing a young girl can do is never to keep company and go all alone and have a good time by herself. Please tell me if I am right or wrong.

BLOSSOM.

RIGHT or wrong, Blossom, why how on earth can you ever be anything but wrong with such a foolish idea in your head as that?

Nobody on earth ever had a really good time "all alone," really, do you think such a thing is possible?

And why do you turn such a simple matter "over in your mind many times?" What do you mean by "keeping company?"

I thought that expression had gone out of date with the warming pans and the quilting bees.

Get a lot of girl friends and keep friends; do make tudes and divinity, and toast marshmallows and sing and play the banjo or listen to somebody else play it. Let the "keeping company" part of things rest; there's plenty of time for that yet.

Three Minute Journeys

Digging Out an Ancient American Race

By TEMPLE MANNING

FROM the northern border of Mexico to the Panama canal seems but a short trip, to look at the map, and in this day of railroads everywhere it would not appear difficult to traverse this "twisted chord" between the continents. But the map is deceitful; the poles are both discovered; the Dark Continent is revealed; Lhasa is unveiled; few places of hidden romance lie in the almost impregnable jungle lands of Guatemala—but one of the countries in the Central American peninsula through which the prospective traveler imagines an open road.

At Porto Barrios, showing through a motley crowd of Spaniards, negroes, Caribs, Maya Indians, Guatemalans and a few Americans, I took the train for Guatemala City, stopping off at the plantation station of Quirigua. A trolley ride of a couple of miles to the jungle edge and then a short walk brought me to a clearing, a circular space hewn out of the sweltering forest.

At each end stood a mammoth monolith of solid sculptured stone, several meters upright and slanting, being lined up between them. The carvings were deep, and in a very good state of preservation. On the front of each monolith was a large standing figure. The faces, varied in expression, evidently representing different personages. Each figure was adorned with an enormous head-dress with drooping plumes, and the dress exposed the thighs, while on the knees and ankles were shields or plates.

The sides were divided into "glyphs," squares of carved writing. The upper "glyphs" were supposed to be glyphs—the computation being made from them by Dr. Hewitt of the Archaeological Institute of America that they are at least 100 years old. At either end of the clearing were sacrificial stones, resembling somewhat that of the old Aztecs in Mexico.

Some day the inscriptions on the stones will be deciphered. Their very mystery now fires the imagination of the traveler. What thrilling chapter in the history of the world will their true tale unfold?

PRE-ELECTIONALITIES.

Reasons of dissension in the ranks of the local Conservative party need not be taken too seriously by anybody who is interested in the general result. It is only a matter of detail so far as the party is concerned, and the party is probably not yet sufficiently stirred up to change the conditions which produce such situations as exist at present.

In ordinary elections the only thing considered is party and personality, and the chief weakness of the parties is that they do not sufficiently consider personality. The endless compromises between pull and patience, who are usually offered to the public for their suffrages, scarcely do the parties justice.

The situation has been complicated to the minds of some, and simplified to others, by the double-shooting of four of the pieces of ordinance known as Toronto constituencies. It would have had a finer effect to have had eight pieces of artillery to discharge instead of four, but destiny in the shape of no one knows whom decided otherwise.

It is highly probable that one or two independent candidates may come forward outside the usual party lines, making tax reform or equal suffrage a special ground of appeal. There is a strong need for a few independents in a legislature where the parties exist in the proportion of six or seven to one.

That the by-election at Ipswich, the capital of the County of Suffolk, was regarded as of special importance at this juncture, needs no other evidence than the appearance on the platform of Mr. Lloyd George.

Two Liberals since the Boer war election of 1900, when a Conservative was returned as second member. The difference between the lowest Liberal and the highest Conservative vote was 344 in December, 1910, and 248 in the election of the previous January, when the late Mr. Sylvester Horns was first returned as junior member.

What effect will this rebuff have on the political situation is the question that will be asked all over the United Kingdom, and answered in accordance with the individual peculiarities of each who undertake the task.

Herbert Samuel, president of the local government board in the British cabinet, outlined some of the government proposals for the relief of local taxation. He agreed with the description of the present British system as at once the simplest in the world and the most unjust.

Mr. Samuel explained that parliament would be invited to say that the relief of local rates proposed in Mr. Lloyd George's pending budget should go wholly in relief of rates upon houses and improvements and none of it on relief of the rates upon land values.

Altho the course to be taken by the Dominion Government regarding the claim to enter Canada made on behalf of the four hundred natives of British India now on board ship at Vancouver is quite clear, it is not the less satisfactory to know that the right of any self-governing dominion to regulate immigration is generally admitted.

In the course of his speech on February 12 in the imperial parliament on the question of the South African deportations Mr. Lewis Harcourt, secretary of state for the colonies, dealt with this point.

The principle thus enunciated was distinctly affirmed in the propositions regarding naturalization unanimously agreed upon at the last imperial conference, and on which the bills introduced in the Imperial and Dominion Parliaments are based.

Ipswich is a double-barreled constituency and has consistently returned gulation of immigration fell properly within the jurisdiction of each dominion. Where objection has been taken it has referred rather to the method of exclusion than to the object. Unfortunately the present Viceroy of India has given some countenance to the motion presented among the natives of that dependency that their position as British subjects entitles them to unrestricted entry into Canada or any other dominion.

Conservative Convention Unanimously Renominates Him

Special to The Toronto World. GUELPH, Ont., May 23.—H. C. Scholfield, M. L. A., was unanimously re-nominated as the Liberal-Conservative candidate in South Wellington, at a convention held this afternoon.

Mr. George Tyler, of Guelph, followed in an eloquent address, dilated upon several issues of the day, and declared that the Compensation Act of Ontario was the broadest measure in existence, and far better than those in effect in Britain and Germany.

Mr. Hearst then dwelt at length with the government's splendid provincial record, the money expended on good roads, education and agricultural data, all without increasing the burdens of the people, because the resources of the province were now properly attended to.

Hon. J. J. Foy, attorney-general of Ontario, laid the cornerstone yesterday afternoon of the St. Paul's R. C. Parish Hall, East Queen street. The site is immediately north of St. Paul's Church.

Rev. Father Doherty who represented his grace the archbishop, gave an address on character building. He pointed out that the athletic associations, such as the six of various kinds connected with St. Paul's Parish, afforded true recreation, in which the mind and body secured mental and physical change and benefit.

Mr. Hearst then dwelt at length with the government's splendid provincial record, the money expended on good roads, education and agricultural data, all without increasing the burdens of the people, because the resources of the province were now properly attended to.

Bee Hive Won King's Plate By 3 Lengths

ONLY THREE FAVORITES WIN OPENING AT WOODBINE SECOND CHOICES, LONG SHOTS

Bee Hive, Hearts of Oak and Gold Cap the Winning First Choices — Dorothy Dean and Tactics the Long Shots.

Harry Giddings won his third King's Plate under ideal conditions and before the biggest throng ever assembled at Woodbine Park. The easy victory of Bee Hive was his second in succession, and followers of the Oakville stable fondly look to see Harry Bassett II. make it three straight next May.

The eight starters that lined up made it look respectable field, but the long straggling finish showed that a negative chance had Porcupine and the others that were nearly a sixteenth behind.

All honor to the president, for Dark Rosaleen was a real contender for over a mile, and the effort of the filly rounding into the home stretch buoyed up the supporters of the yellow and black to visions of victory. Gold Bud, the third choice, was a disappointment, and never was better than fifth in the long journey. Sea Lord, one of Mr. Seagram's three starters, was always prominent, and took the show eight or ten lengths ahead of Old Reliable, the first of the also rans.

The officially Bee Hive only won by three lengths, the Giddings colt merely acted like a work-out. In fact, it was more of this standard than his races as a two-year-old when he most frequently won by a stretch run. However, on Saturday Bee Hive was ahead when the field straightened out. Burns sat still and steered the shortest journey, but took two run-outs into the stretch were necessary when Butwell urged on Dark Rosaleen. Then the unbeaten Bassett colt drew away, and it was only a matter of how far he could win.

Big Fields, Good Contests. The six other races had large fields and good contests, with the closest finish in the last that Gold Cap won by a head.

The steeplechase was a beautiful struggle thru the field, with the six timber-toppers staying up the full course. The attendance, 15,000, is a record for Woodbine Park. The public thoroughly appreciated the new steel stand.

So great was the rush that the iron-men were insufficient to attend to the business of those inclined to have an argument.

The governor-general's party having arrived at 2.30, the ceremonies concluded. Starter Dade took charge of the field for the trial races.

Miramichi, up at 4.15, was first to show from a perfect start, and the Whitney gelding showed the way to the stretch, followed by Sir Blaine, Calgary and Dorothy Dean. Harry Giddings' paraded at 3.25 for the second race, or nearly half an hour late. The eight two-year-olds went to the post without a scratch. The play was on Aunt Josie, Stalwart Helen and Faldor and Harry Giddings' early part. Stalwart Helen waited till the last hundred yards, and then drove home winner by a neck from Casaba, Harry Giddings' third. Nathan complained of clerical crowding on Casaba. The boys went into the stand, but the inference did not justify a change.

The eleven accepted conditions in the Minto stakes. The money went on the Bedwell pair and it was turned up. Barnegat had a lot of play. Dade lost his hat in the breeze. He set them off in a line. Tippecanoe was first to show with Barnegat and Tactics following, rounding the top turn. Then Edda, Pardon and Harry Laurie, the rest strung out. Tactics had taken the lead entering the straight, and he won easily by a length from Edda, that had a nose on Barnegat and Tippecanoe.

The King's Plate. The third race was at 4.10. The sun was shining brightly when the harrows went around the track once and the stage was set for the King's Plate. One of Seagram's four, Vastness, was scratched and the field was exactly eight. They paraded at 4.40 and entered the chute at the head of the stretch, where Dade took the province-breds, including winners for the first time in 55 years. Dark Rosaleen, from Waterloo, was led to the post and was No. on the rail with Porcupine from the country fairs Giddings' $10,000 stake colt, that must win unless he breaks a leg or jumps the rail, and no one expected that, for he had oftentimes been to the races and a winner at that. Seagram's Froissart and Sea Lord were next behind the barrier, then Sol Mintz's Old Reliable and Stewart's Exmer, with Robert Davies' Gold Bud, third a year ago and touted for the show, again, but never prominent Saturday. In the good position on the extreme outside, Bee Hive led the parade in blinkers, slightly fractions. They went straight to the quarter mark and Dade was then in hand before 4.45. Dark Rosaleen, Exmer and Old Reliable did their best to break up the party. They were away in some jam, but it was not a bad send off. Dark Rosaleen had the first call and then Porcupine and Bee Hive.

Two Long Shots. Oakville furnished two of the winning favorites, Saturday Woodbine, and their strong support made the price ridiculously short. Gold Cap was the third choice to win. Dorothy Dean and Tactics were long shots, and Exton and Stalwart Helen second choices. Harry Giddings was the only man of the owners and jockeys to remain. The track was fast, but no records were broken. St. Bass, winner in 1911, holds the plate record—2.58.

The favorite had a nice lead first time past the stand, followed by Dark Rosaleen, then Old Reliable, Exmer, Sea Lord, Gold Bud, Froissart and Porcupine. Old Reliable and Exmer dropped back as they gradually struck out. It was a long line entering the stretch, with Dark Rosaleen hanging on and looking dangerous. Here followers of Seagram raised a cheer, Guy Burns notice it and went to the bat. On coming up Beat with Exton took his class and was going away by three lengths from Dark Rosaleen and the Sea Lord third, same length back. The five also rang were away behind, with daylight all around them in this order: Old Reliable, Gold Bud, Exmer, Froissart and Porcupine.

There were the usual ceremonies with their royal highnesses doing the chief honors. Harry Giddings was cheered as he led Bee Hive, same as he did Hearts of Oak a year ago, and received the cup that goes ahead of the guinea. The time, 2.10 3/5 is nearly two seconds behind the plate record. Great Steeplechase. The steeplechase was one of the best ever seen at Woodbine track. The six stayed up throughout and were together for two miles, except that the African pulled up the last quarter. Juvenets cobbled at the back jump first time round. Luckola and Nottingham were fighting for the lead six jumps from home. Then Tom Horn went out with Exton took the second last jump together. Exton won on the flat by half a length. Juvenets third ten lengths back. Nottingham fourth, Luckola and the African cantering home.

Six province-breds went to the post for the Minto Cup Handicap, 1 1/2 miles with Hearts of Oak getting the play and Juvenets second in demand. Hearts of Oak was last and looked in a bad position, but he ran over them rounding the turn and won easily by a head. Rattling was second all round.

The biggest field of the day went to the post in the closing Dark Rosaleen King's Plate, a condition affair for 3-year-olds and up, 6 furlongs. The race was at 5 o'clock when the boys went off to wind up a great day's sport.

TOY BOY looked the goods to the turn and then dropped out of it. Gold Cap came from behind and just got up in time to beat Laura, that took Toy Boy's place as pacesetter. Roy had to run across the field to get the show, and it was a wonderful effort.

"It was John Wesley who said that cleanliness was next to Godliness and I guess it was his Quaker mother who gave him the idea.

"I would venture to go a little farther and lay a bet that little John's ma washed his face first and taught him his Sunday lesson next.

"It is just the same today as it was in the days of John Wesley. The man who is going to accomplish things will first see to it that his appearance is an asset, not a liability.

"He shaves every morning, he sees to it that his linen is spotless, he sees that his clothes not only fit him, but suit him.

Rev. R. J. CRAIG ACCEPTS CALL

FIBRED ASPHALT A NEW PAVEMENT

Hendersonian Process Will Solve Problem of Future Good Roads.

Among the problems that confront the road builder of today is that of achieving durability under the exacting conditions of modern traffic. Great public interest will therefore be taken in a new system of construction, patents for which, as a pioneer process, have already been obtained in Canada, Great Britain, the United States and many other countries. The invention relates principally to the art of denaturing hardwood by a process which reduces it to small particles varying from a length of one and a half inches to wood flour. These are then subjected to a treatment which extracts the more evaporable and deteriorable elements of the wood and leaves the particles abnormally enlarged and porous. In this condition they become particularly susceptible of impregnation thru absorption by a non-deteriorable substance such as asphalt, and when reheated the new material can be spread over the previously prepared road, forming a surface unequalled for resistance or resiliency.

Table comparing Fibred Asphalt with Ideal Asphalt and Brick. Columns: Property, Fibred Asphalt, Ideal Asphalt, Brick.

These figures can be substantially verified and proven by data available to enquirers as the result of subsection to actual traffic conditions. Fibred asphalt, the Hendersonian pavement, has been proved equal to all demands made upon it. The first pavement made by the new process was at St. Albans, West Virginia, in June, 1911. Arrangements have been made with the Trinidad Lake Asphalt Company in London, England, and that company is now laying the pavement on several streets in the world's metropolis. As soon as arrangements are completed for control of the patents for Canada a sample of the pavement will be laid in Toronto. The Hendersonian pavement has numerous advantages over the present asphalt, among them being cheapness and its non-slipping and resilient properties. Much of the expense for the preparation of a bed is also avoided in this pavement, as it can be laid on old wooden block and macadam surfaces, and it is even claimed that the Hendersonian preparation can be applied to ordinary country roads and give entire satisfaction. With the interest now taken in good roads, Mr. Henderson's idea has arrived at a most opportune time, and he will be pleased to meet any interested in good roads at Room 439, King Edward Hotel, where he will be glad to discuss the new invention can be obtained. The low price at which the process can be carried out is due to the fact that the fibre used is a waste product of chemical works.

AURA LEE CLUB BUYS NEW GROUNDS

Seven Acres in North Toronto Purchased for Country Home

Trustees of the Aura Lee Club have completed the purchase of more than seven acres of beautiful park land situated in North Toronto, which will be used by the club when the necessary improvements have been made. Although the new site is unsuitable for building purposes, and therefore not likely to be exorbitantly assessed, it is admirably suitable for a country club. The property, which lies east of Yonge street, and will be accessible from Mount Pleasant road, is composed of beautiful wooded ravine land, and a creek bottom skirted with trees. It will be turned into football pitches, tennis courts, a baby pool links, and athletic grounds. A rink will also be constructed, and the executive of the club will evolve an ambitious scheme for the development of one of the most modern gentlemen's clubs in Canada. It has long been felt that the present grounds, which were purchased in 1908, have grown too valuable to be retained as a club grounds and rink, but there is no immediate talk of sale, and price is not mentioned. The present grounds are less than half the size of the new site, being only 3 acres in extent, and cost the club $150,000.

LESS PESSIMISM IN WALL STREET

Trade Advices Were More Cheerful and Stocks Were Steady

SOME STRONG SPOTS

Canadian Pacific One of Few Issues to Make Good Advance.

NEW YORK, May 23.—In its essentials today's session of the stock exchange differed only slightly from the preceding days of the week.

There was the usual week and budget of news dealing with mercantile advices and freight movements, but these threw little light on the general situation, although it was stated that retail trade is being helped by more reasonable weather with a substantial increase in railroad terminals.

Rise in Specialties. Of the local stock market it may be said that some stocks, chiefly specialties moved upward, while some others of more speculative importance scarcely moved at all.

Outflow of gold to Europe continued, with another engagement of $2,000,000 to Paris. There was also another transfer of currency to San Francisco.

BRAZILIAN EARNINGS INCREASE

The weekly gross earnings for week ending May 18 were $464,280, as compared with $448,154 for the corresponding period of 1913, an increase of $16,126. This is the largest weekly increase reported since the earnings began to show a falling off early in April.

MANUFACTURERS SAY "HOSTILITY TO BUSINESS MUST CEASE"

Anti-Trust Bills Denounced—Favor Patent Court of Appeals—Discuss Foreign Trade.

NEW YORK, May 23.—"Hostility to business must cease," was the slogan adopted by some 400 manufacturers, who in conjunction assembled, emphatically denounced what they term "legislative hostility towards business."

"The depression would be overcome if present methods were ended," they said. The tactics being adopted had worked havoc, progress had been hampered. Established industries had been assailed. Hence the following resolution:

"With feelings of profound anxiety, we observe the prevailing industrial and commercial depression, which we affirm to be the healthy conditions to manufacture is shrinking in volume.

Therefore, be it resolved that the National Association of Manufacturers do hereby solemnly protest against the continuous assault on our established industries, that we affirm our conviction, that unless there is a cessation of hostility to legitimate business, the vitality of our commerce and trade will be critically impaired, and we therefore finally resolve that we unqualifiedly oppose the passage of the Clayton bill now pending before congress."

HESSIAN FLY SCARE IS LOSING EFFECT

Chicago Traders Disposed to Ignore Reports—Bulge in Corn.

CHICAGO, May 23.—With harvest only two weeks off in Oklahoma and with the crop outlook extremely bearish for that state and Kansas, wheat prices today averaged lower.

Altho temporary scarcity of offerings and the failure of predicted rains gave the wheat market some strength at the start, values the rest of the day except just at the close had a rather decided downward bent.

Corn Was Strong. Corn ruled strong and higher helped by bullish news from Buenos Ayres, and by the smallness of receipts here.

Provisions were quiet and easy. Selling came chiefly from a few long who were discouraged by weakness at the yards.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

The receipts of mixed produce in the north market building were very large, but on the hay and grain markets delivery was slow.

The basket market was crowded, the large bulk of the receipts being butter and eggs, with a small supply of fresh dressed poultry.

The fowls were all doing a good trade, every stall being well patronized as they had fine collections for which they found ready sale.

Two hundred bushels sold at 45c per bushel. Hay—About ten loads sold at $13 to $20 per ton.

Potatoes—Prices ranged from $1.25 to $1.50 per bushel.

Butter—Prices ranged from 25c to 30c, the bulk going at 27c to 28c per lb. Some farmers' wives who had special customers got 30c, and one, Mrs. McPherson of the village of St. Lawrence, made splendid butter, sold some at 32c per lb., and had not enough to supply her many customers.

Eggs—Choice new-laid eggs sold at 24c to 25c, the bulk going at 22c to 23c per doz.

Poultry—Spring chickens are very scarce, and are worth 85c to 90c per lb. dressed, and 75c to 80c per lb. alive.

Market Notes. There is a large trade being done in corn storage poultry these days by all the different firms.

SUN-DRIED FRUIT IN THE OKANAGAN

By E. B. B. REESOR

Mr. W. H. Lyne, assistant fruit inspector for the Government of British Columbia, has been experimenting last year with sun-drying fruit in the dry belt of the Okanagan Valley with a view to promoting another industry for the fruit-growers. Mr. Lyne lived for some time in Southern California where the conditions for sun-drying fruit are ideal and where he had much experience in studying the process and in marketing the product.

The fact that a grower may dry and market his own fruit in the dried state is of great advantage. Sometimes the market for fresh fruit is congested, and the fruit ripens so quickly that it is impossible to pick it at the right stage for one reason or another; sometimes the fruit is so ripe that it is impossible to ship it, and it is at its best for sun-drying. Culls and part-overs should be fed to hogs, not dried and sent to the market as Okanagan produce.

Sun-drying Simple.—The process of sun-drying the fruit is very simple and applies to apricots, peaches, plums, prunes, apples, pears, and some kinds of grapes. In the experiments in the Okanagan we first made our own outfit consisting of wooden trays and a sulphur box. Our trays were made of three feet square and were two feet long, two feet wide and six to eight feet long, made of white sugar pine. For sides and ends we used 1/2-inch square material. The slats for body of tray 1/4-inch thick, and for ends 3/4-inch thick. The slats were spaced one inch apart and the one long strap down the centre of the tray a 1-inch lath 1/4-inch thick was used. We put the trays together by strapping to the side and end pieces on a level surface and tacked them together. Then we tacked the slats on to the other side pieces with temporary small nails, place the 1-inch strapping along the ends of the slats and nailed them in place. The trays were then nailed together in the middle of the tray using a blunt iron or axe head underneath each slat for clincher.

Making Sulphur Boxes.—For the sulphur boxes we got some common matched lumber, enough to build a bottomless box to accommodate the size of trays we made; nailed slats on the inside, one above the other, by laying the slats together and strapping to the middle of the tray using a blunt iron or axe head underneath each slat for clincher.

Evaporation Advised.—In order that there shall be no waste in drying fruit, the British Columbia fruit-growers are advised to build evaporators, so that the latest varieties of fruit may be dried when the sun is at its best and the sunshine less heating.

NEEDED PRECAUTIONS TO KILL PEACH BORER.—Pest Must Be Destroyed in Spring and Autumn — Paints Not Satisfactory.

Those who grow peaches must take precautions to keep their trees free from the borer. These pests are hatched from eggs laid at the base of the trunk late in the autumn and early in the spring. The eggs hatch and produce worms that bore their way into the wood and deposit their eggs beneath the bark. Twice a year, each spring and fall, the soil should be removed from about the lower trunk and the trees examined for the pests.

The dead sunken patches of bark and the gum which oozes from the wounds are the presence of the borer. With a sharp knife cut away the dead tissues and kill the pest within. If borers are found to enter the heartwood, run a pliable wire in the holes and squish the offending insects. The wounds with Bordeaux mixture or other antiseptic after paring them smooth, and coat with a white lead paint. After the spring inspection, which should be completed by the time precautions should be taken to prevent the insects from laying their eggs so low as to make searching for the borers a tedious and difficult matter.

There have been many substances compounded to paint the lower trunks to repel the pests, but none has proven very satisfactory. The best means of fighting the borers is to adjust paper collars about the lower trunks, forcing the adult to lay their eggs high, where the worms can be easily reached in case the elements do not kill them. Before the last of May adjust collars of heavy building paper about the trunks, having them extend from a few inches below the ground to a foot or so up the trunk, and hold them in place with wire ties. Such a precaution will save a world of trouble and a multitude of trees.

KILL DANDELIONS BY USING SPRAYS

Experiments in Destroying Weed Prove These Means Successful.

DIFFICULT TO DESTROY

Other Methods Include Digging Root Out and Applying Kerosene.

The common dandelion is the most troublesome weed to deal with in both city and country lawns. In account of its large leaves and brilliant yellow flowers it makes a lawn most unattractive and completely spoils the pleasing effect of a strip of clear green grass. It is also one of the most difficult weeds to eradicate, and for that reason it is seen year by year increasing in numbers. It perpetuates itself by a large fleshy root, which is very difficult to kill and which must be completely removed or killed before the weed can be stamped out.

One of the most common methods to get rid of the weed is to dig out as much as possible of the root with a long, heavy knife, or with a spud, and then to put a few drops of coal oil on the cut surface of the remainder of the root. The mere cutting off of the top of the plant is of no real value, as a new head will quickly spring up from the root, which is very hardy. In England, where great care is taken of the lawns and where labor is comparatively cheap, sulphuric acid is injected into each plant by means of a syringe. This is a very successful method of dealing with dandelions, but has objections on account of the time required to go over the land and also because of the great corrosive and dangerous action of the acid on the hands of the operator.

Sprays Successful.—Recently numerous experiments have been conducted at the agricultural experimental stations in Canada and the United States, on the spraying of dandelions with different substances which would be injurious to the weeds and still leave the grass unharmed. The results with certain sprays have been very successful among which iron sulphate has proved the most satisfactory. The spray is prepared by dissolving two pounds of iron sulphate in a gallon of water, and is applied by means of a spray pump which will send it out in a fine mist. This should be applied from four to six times a year, according to the condition of the grass. The first spray should be given before the dandelion flowers appear and the second may follow after an interval of four to six weeks. A single application is of little value as the roots are not killed by the spray, but are starved out by the continued killing of the heads, which cuts off the food supply. The grass is sometimes blackened by the action of the spray, but serious injury will be done only if the spray is applied at an excessive rate.

WASTEFUL CHINCH BUG INVADES DOMINION.—Pest Caused Losses of Three Hundred and Fifty Millions in States.

The experimental farms branch of the department of agriculture has issued Entomological Circular No. 8, entitled "The Chinch Bug in Ontario." This has been prepared by Mr. H. F. Hudson, field officer of the entomological service. In the United States the losses due to the ravages of the chinch bug, during the last 60 years, considerably exceeded $50,000,000. Fortunately no very serious outbreaks have as yet occurred in Canada, but the insect has established itself in Middlesex County in Ontario, and has been reported also from Nova Scotia. The circular therefore is timely, and discusses the methods to be adopted in order to control the insect. In 1912 an investigation of the infested area in Middlesex County was made by the above field officer, and the life-history of the insect, etc., was studied. In the circular the information gathered during the investigation is given. Preventive measures such as clean farming, rotation of crops, etc., are discussed, as well as artificial remedies. Copies of the circular may be obtained free of charge from the publication branch, department of agriculture, Ottawa.

BACKWARD SPRING AFFECTED CROPS

April Proved to Be Trying Month for Young Wheat.

PEACH BUDS FROZEN

Apples, Pears and Plums Appear Promising According to Blossom.

The following statement regarding crop conditions in the province, based on the returns of correspondents sent in on or about the 15th of May, has been issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture:—
Fall Wheat.—In the April crop bulletin, which was based on statements of correspondents reporting on the first day of that month, fall wheat prospects were said to be encouraging, as the crop had come through the winter practically unscathed. April, however, proved to be a most trying time for the young wheat, and it suffered severely from the formation of ice and from "heaving." The area plowed this spring will not be so promising as last year, but the wheat, if it is likely that a decided rise in prices would bring out a fair supply of wheat, barley and oats. The latter backward spring, however, has had a tendency to decrease any surplus of either hay or grain.

HEAVY SOIL BEST TO PLANT BEANS

Wait Till Danger of Frost is Over Before Sowing Seed.

Many people seem to think that when land is too poor for raising anything else it may be planted to beans. This is of course a mistake for beans require a good soil just as much as any other garden crop.

Beans will come into bearing earlier on a sandy soil, but will produce pods of finer quality and in greater number if planted on a heavy soil. Beans are tender and should not be planted until all danger from frost is over and the ground is warm. If the soil is poor a good dressing of manure should be plowed in before the beans are planted. The ground should be worked early in the spring and cultivated several times before planting so that a large number of weeds will be destroyed and much hard labor saved when the beans are growing.

SYNOPSIS OF DOMINION LAND REGULATIONS

ANY PERSON who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age who has been a resident of the Dominion of Canada for at least one year, and who has not been a resident of any other country, may apply to the Department of the Interior for a grant of a homestead of 160 acres of land in the Dominion of Canada. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency of the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Agency, on certain conditions by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties:—The homesteader must reside on and cultivate of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within five miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Spring Sowing.—The soil was in splendid condition for a seed bed in the latter part of April, even heavy clays having been well pulverized by the severe frosts which occurred during the winter. Farmers who got on the land to sow early were well advanced—and some crops—when returns were made; but cold rains early in May prevented those who had been tardy from getting to work for a week, and in such cases seeding was more or less unfinished, while the soil was in a much better condition than at the opening of the season. However, the general tone of the reports is very satisfactory, except in the case of some from the low-lying townships of Kent and adjoining counties.
