Judge Winchester Reports That Ex-Ald. Lynd Accepted a Bribe From Elliott for His Vote
City, Defrauded by Contractors, Will Enter Suit to Recover and May Prosecute

PUDDYS WERE WILLING ELLIOTT SHOULD BRIBE

Were in Desperate Straits and Fighting Hard—Circumstances Thereafter Held to Indicate That Lynd Succumbed to Temptation, Met Elliott and Received Sum of Money.

ROGERS' AND DINNIS' STATEMENTS ARE ADJUDGED TO BE CORRECT

The findings of Judge Winchester in the civic investigation were presented in a large volume to the city council yesterday afternoon, and without being read were turned over to the board of control. The report is in 136 pages of type writing. The evidence taken makes three bulky volumes.

The report, dealing lengthily with the original cause of the enquiry and quoting liberally from the evidence given, says:

"In my opinion the evidence establishes the fact that Puddy Bros., being in a desperate condition with reference to their pork packing establishment, decided that it was necessary to obtain the assistance of a man capable of using such influence, improper and otherwise, with aldermen, as would enable them to obtain the permit to be obtained from the city council; that having known and heard of George B. Elliott as a professional lobbyist, and one that would suit their purpose, they employed him in March, 1905. He was paid moneys from time to time by Henry and George Puddy, the two active members of the firm. These payments were made in cash. No entries were made of them in the regular bo ks of the company. No account was asked from Elliott, and none given. The sums paid to Elliott varied considerably in amount.

"Altho the Puddy Brothers and Elliott state that no amount was specified, yet Elliott in his conversation with different witnesses mentioned the sum of $1200 as being the amount to be paid. The two brothers admit that Elliott was not worth the amounts paid to him, and said that the larger amount of moneys was paid to him for expenses.

"In my opinion, the two Puddy Brothers, who are men of good business ability, made payments to Elliott in a manner that justifies a finding that they were willing to allow Elliott to use same improperly if he thought fit, and that they were aware that his expenses were not for legitimate purposes.

Paid Elliott to Bribe.

"I therefore find that Puddy Brothers paid Elliott at least $808 before the investigation was entered upon, and a large sum since then, part of which was permitted by them to be used by Elliott in corrupting aldermen in connection with the vote that was taken on July 17, 1905, if he considered it necessary.

"I also find from the evidence that Elliott stated that he had paid $100 to Dr. Lynd for the doctor's vote in connection with the matter, and that he did this at a time when he thought no one would make use of his statements. In his evidence Elliott admitted that he might have made such statements, but intended to mislead Hogue when making them. He, however, corroborated Mr. Hogue's evidence in many particulars, as also did the boy Pegg, the Puddy Brothers and the witness Howlett.

"While Dr. Lynd denies having met Elliott at Scholes' Hotel, Street Commissioner Jones, and the witnesses Scholes and Ritter, all testify that he was in the little red room back of Scholes' bar in July. Elliott admits that he was in the red room with the doctor, but denies that it was in July.

Mr. Jones Confused.

"In my opinion Street Commissioner Jones was mistaken in stating that it was on the 17th July that Dr. Lynd was in the room with himself and Elliott. The mistake evidently occurred by reason of Mr. Jones not remembering the date, but remembering it was at a time when his own matter and the Puddy Brothers matter were up for discussion by the city council. The minutes of council for July 10 show that the question as to Street Commissioner Jones' office being given to the medical health officer was up for action and discussion on that date. I have no desitation in finding therefore that July 10 must have been the date when Dr. Lynd was in Scholes' Hotel as stated by those four witnesses.

"From the evidence it appears that Dr. Lynd came into the hotel thru the side door, and was shown to the room where Elliott was. The door of the room, being locked inside, was opened for him. Jones knew that Elliott was expecting Dr. Lynd; and, after inviting him to accept a treat, retired, leaving Elliott and Dr. Lynd in the room, the door being locked. Both Dr. Lynd and Elliott swear positively that no money was ever paid to the doctor.

Meeting With Elliott.

"Dr. Lynd, in his evidence, states that he met Elliott in the corridor as he was entering the council chamber at the city hall on July 10; and what he states took place at that interview is suggestive. He said, 'I will see you,' but said nothing further as to when or what he was to see him about. When first examined as to being present with Elliott at Scholes' Hotel, on July 17, Dr. Lynd was very guarded in his answers, particularly emphasizing the day. He said he 'did not remember,' 'had no recollection,' 'I don't think I was,' and gave other similar answers. Subsequently he stated that he was not there in the red room on that day, or any other day, with Elliott alone.

"The question is, why should Dr. Lynd call at Scholes' Hotel to meet such a man as he must have known Elliott to be? Elliott was not a person whose company Dr. Lynd would ordinarily seek; he was a low grade of lobbyist, frequently under the influence of liquor, and apparently without much character. In my opinion the meeting was prearranged by Elliott and Dr. Lynd for the purpose of arranging as to Dr. Lynd's vote on the Puddy Brothers matter, and that at that meeting Elliott had money in his pocket with which to pay Dr. Lynd, as he intimated to Street Commissioner Jones. The evidence as to the payments made by Arthur Dinnis and W. B. Rogers to Dr. Lynd, he acknowledges, would indicate that he was not averse to receiving money from those having business dealings with the city.

Receive Money.

"It seems to me, therefore, that the only reasonable inference to be drawn from the facts proven is that Dr. Lynd met Elliott on that occasion at Scholes' Hotel to receive money from him in connection with his vote on the permit to Puddy Brothers, and that he was paid same; whether it was $100 or less there is no evidence other than Elliott's statements prior to the investigation.

"I also find that while Hogue was acting from wrong motives in obtaining the evidence from Elliott, and while he stated what was incorrect in his declaration as to Dr. Lynd making his office a place of rendezvous, yet on the whole the facts set forth by Hogue in his declaration are sufficiently corroborated by other evidence.

Dinnis' and Rogers' Payments.

"I find that in the year 1899, when Dr. Lynd was a controller, he received the sum of $75 from Arthur Dinnis, on the 22nd of August, and the sum of $100 from W. B. Rogers, in December, shortly after the 13th. These payments were gifts made to Dr. Lynd by these contractors thru the influence of E. J. Lennox, the architect, he having arranged for such payments.

"I accept, without hesitation, the evidence of Mr. Dinnis and Mr. Rogers, as to what took place when such payments were made by them, respectively, to Dr. Lynd and what induced them to make such payments.

Demanding Money From Harris.

"Andrew D. Harris, the manager of the Ontario Sewer Pipe Co., referring to the contract between the city and his company in 1899, stated that Ald. Lynd saw him in the curling rink three or four nights after the contract was finally passed, and spoke of Mr. Harris obtaining the contract. Harris replied that he had; when Ald. Lynd said: "That would cost you $100 or $125,' to which Mr. Harris replied that it did not cost him a cent, as he never paid out money on contracts. Mr. Harris got annoyed; but the next day or evening Ald. Lynd saw him again and told him it was only a joke; and whereupon Mr. Harris let it go at that. Mr. Harris stated that people asked him about it and it got around. On being asked the question: 'Did you understand at that time that the doctor was asking $120 or $125 from you?' he replied, 'I can't say that I did. I got annoyed at the time, and thought that; and when I began to think it over, I

FINDINGS OF JUDGE WINCHESTER

JUDGE WINCHESTER.

RE LYND.

I find that Puddy Brothers paid Elliott at least $808 before the investigation was entered upon, and a large sum since then, part of which was permitted by them to be used by Elliott in corrupting aldermen if he considered it necessary.

It seems to me that the only reasonable inference to be drawn from the facts proven is that Dr. Lynd met Elliott at Scholes' Hotel to receive money from him in connection with his vote on the permit to Puddy Brothers, and that he was paid same; whether it was $100 or less there is no evidence other than Elliott's statements prior to the investigation.

I accept, without hesitation, the evidence of Mr. Dinnis and Mr. Rogers, as to what took place when such payments were made by them, respectively, to Dr. Lynd and what induced them to make such payments.

The charge of demanding money from A. D. Harris is not sustained.

RE LENNOX.

I find that Mr. Lennox issued two false certificates in favor of Thos. Hunter as clerk of the works, and that he received from Mr. Hunter on two separate occasions the sum of $100 out of the moneys paid under those certificates; that there was no entry whatever made in Mr. Lennox's books showing the receipt of the $200, nor was the city credited on any account with the same by Mr. Lennox; and that by reason of such certificates Mr. Hunter made a false statement to obtain payment thereof, and those two sums were charged up to Mr. Hunter's account as earned by him in the service of the city.

I find that the payments by Mr. Dinnis and Mr. Rogers were made in consequence of the suggestions to them by Mr. Lennox on behalf of Dr. Lynd, and by reason of their having contracts with the city subject to the certificate of Mr. Lennox, and for no other reason whatever.

Presents were made to Mr. Lennox before the contractors had received their final certificates or payments.

In my opinion the evidence establishes as a fact that the agreement between Mr. Wright and Mr. Lennox, dated April 7, 1902, was not entered into at that date, nor was it intended that such an agreement should be entered into when Mr. Lennox received the moneys that they claim have been paid under it.

Circumstances indicate to my mind that the moneys so paid were not loans, but were gifts by Bennett & Wright to Mr. Lennox, in return for favors shown by him in connection with their contracts on the city hall and other buildings; and that the agreement was prepared by Mr. Lennox for the purpose of shielding himself and Mr. Wright in the event of any difficulty arising in connection with the contracts of Bennett & Wright.

RE CONTRACTORS.

The evidence shows that the city was charged much larger sums than those which appear in the Bennett & Wright books of original entry for such extras, and that the greater number of these increased charges were allowed by Mr. Lennox. Two or three items in the account are exceptionally large. Take for instance, the item under October, 1899, taking down and putting up steam main in boiler room, caused by engineer's negligence.

I find from the evidence with reference to the St. Lawrence Market that the two contracts for roofing were obtained by fraud thru the combination of competitors; the successful tenderer paying the others the sums mentioned, namely, $2205 and $1000 respectively, and compelling the city to pay same by adding that amount to their respective tenders.

The architects, Mr. Siddall and Beaumont Jarvis, were paid between $200 and $300 each by the contractors, Douglas Brothers, when this contract was being performed, and that they most improperly received such sums, altho they state that such payments were not made for an improper purpose. The receipt of these payments, however, vitiated all certificates issued or orders given by them to these contractors in connection with the building in question.

I Found upon the evidence that this contract was obtained by the Metallic Roofing Company from the city by fraud, in consequence of which the city paid the sum of $2205 without receiving any consideration therefore.

Manufacturers' Building—In my opinion the sum of $850 was added to the tender of the Metal Shingle and Siding Co. in addition to their profits, and was paid by the city to that company without any consideration.

Numerous Instances of Overcharging In Which the Architects Assisted

Bennett & Wright Declared to Have Profited Greatly—Charged City $40 for Time and Material That Cost Them $5—Combinations of Contractors to "Fix" Tenders for City Hall Fittings and for St. Lawrence Market Robbed City of Thousands.

Certain evidence was given in connection with the extras charged by Bennett & Wright, in connection with their contracts. The account for extras is dated Nov. 16, 1904. The evidence shows that the city was charged much larger sums than those which appear in the Bennett & Wright books of original entry for such extras, and that the greater number of these increased charges were allowed by Mr. Lennox. Two or three items in the account are exceptionally large. Take, for instance, the item under October, 1899, taking down and putting up steam main in boiler room, caused by engineer's negligence.

Fittings and pipes were charged at $31, and allowed by the architect at $30. Boilermakers' charges, charged at $28, and allowed at same. In their charge book Bennett & Wright entered the account from Folson & Company to them for that work at 19 hours boilermaker, 40 cents an hour, $7.50; giving a profit of $20.40 to Bennett & Wright on this item. Mineral wool covering, charged and allowed at $40. In Bennett & Wright's book this item was entered, account from Eureka Mineral Wool Company, man's time, one day and a half at $2.88; material required, $2; total $5; or a profit of $35 to Bennett & Wright on this item. Time charged for and allowed was 215 hours, at 50 cents, $137.50. In their charge book the time charged for this work was 99 hours, or $49.50; a difference in favor of Bennett & Wright of $88; and a total difference on these three items of this account in their favor of $141.40.

Double Charging.

Another account: Extra pipe required, running branch to elevator and pipe to hydrants in yard. The original charge, as made out in their account against the city, is 174 feet water main pipe, six inches, at $1.50, $261; 20 fittings, six, $80; caulking lead, $15; 100 hours' time, $50; a total of $406. Mr. Lennox reduced this to $125. The entry in their book of the work actually done shows that the pipe cost much less than the amount allowed by Mr. Lennox, that the caulking lead cost $2, and that only 23 hours of time were put in, making the real charge less than one-half of what was allowed by Mr. Lennox.

There is also an item in connection with the change of pipes in the jury and witness' room, county side. The entry, as originally charged to the city, amounted to $51.70. This was increased to $53.70 by Mr. Lennox, who allowed 75 hours' time of plumber at 50 cents, while the books of Bennett & Wright only showed 33 hours of time worked, making an overcharge of $21 on the time alone. In another item the charge made was laborer's time, 34 hours, at 30 cents, $10.20, and allowed at that sum instead of $10.20.

In the greater number of cases, the number of hours charged for in Bennett & Wright's books were doubled in the account rendered, and the increased number was allowed by the architect.

Mr. Lennox also increased a charge for Demorest closets from $60, as made by Bennett & Wright against the city, to $124.

Plumbing Overcharges.

Meadows & Kirk, city hall plumbing inspectors, were, in May, 1900, instructed by the city council to make an inspection of the city hall plumbing for the purpose of showing whether it complied with the contract or not. They made their report to the council at the time. Subsequently, during the proceedings herein, they went over the account rendered by Bennett & Wright, compared it with the work actually done, and made a difference between Bennett & Wright's deductions and their own of $2,335.25, showing that amount of overcharge by Bennett & Wright, in connection with the plumbing work only. From this amount they deducted the allowance for the loss of profit which Mr. Lennox gave the contractors, making the apparent difference about $1300. This did not include any difference in connection with supplying the city with a closet, different from the 20th Century closet, which was specified to be put in, and which the witness Sherlock claimed to cost $42 per closet more than those put in. Nor did it include anything in connection with the steam fittings or radiators.

Big Reduction.

I had a calculation made as to the number of feet of radiation actually delivered, and found it was over 750 feet less than that allowed by Mr. Lennox to Bennett & Wright. Mr. Lennox explained in connection with the radiators that he was interested in the Dominion Radiator Company, who supplied them; but that before accepting the contract, he informed the committee of his relationship, and the committee, notwithstanding such relationship, consented to all the radiators being supplied by that company.

Mr. Lennox, in dealing with extras and deductions, after taking off what he considered a proper sum for work not done, reduced that sum by 20 per cent., which he estimated as being a fair allowance for loss of profit on work not done. This he did in connection with the radiators as well as other work under the Bennett & Wright, and other contracts. The amount the deductions in the Bennett & Wright contracts were reduced in this way was $1034.42, being 20 per cent. from $5172.13, amount of deduction for work not done. The reduction he made on the radiators was 4998 feet, at 20 cents a foot, or $999.60. He reduced this by 20 per cent., so that the deduction was only $799.68.

In my opinion, if the calculations handed to me are correct, the deduction should be on 5750 feet at 22 cents, the actual price that would have had to be paid for the kind of radiator which was put not put in, without considering the work of installation; or a difference of $468, which the city would be entitled to receive on that account alone.

The amounts set forth as above indicate to my mind that larger sums were allowed to Bennett & Wright than they were actually entitled to.

Too Costly.

Mr. Clapperton of the Bennett & Wright Company explained that the amounts charged in their book were not the only source of information as to the extras, and stated that the extras were worth all that they were charged. Mr. Lennox stated that he had no means of checking the amounts of such extras, as his clerk of the works was not instructed to keep an account of the same, but when he settled up for the extras, he would form an estimate from the work actually done, and allow charges based on such estimate and on the explanations of the contractors.

As my report would not bind the contractors, I was of opinion that the expense of employing an architect to report on these items would hardly be justifiable. I believe, however, that the charges made and the amounts allowed by the architect were altogether too large.

Contract for Portable Furnishings.

On Jan. 8 James M. Wildman, manager of the Office Specialty Company, on being examined with reference to the contract for portable furniture at the city hall, was asked if there was any pooling arrangement made between contractors, so as to rob the city of the benefit of competition. He

CERTIFICATES TO CLERK HUNTER DECLARED TO HAVE BEEN FALSE

In his examination on March 1, 1906, Mr. Lennox stated that no certificates were ever given to secure the payment of sums of money not earned, for time or material, and that that would apply to the time of the clerk of the works on the buildings; that he never gave the clerk of the works a certificate for moneys to which he was not entitled; that he remembered when Mr. Hunter was clerk of the works; that Hunter was engaged for the first six months at the rate of $2000 a year; that then he asked for an increase to $2400 a year, which was given to him; and that Hunter was not at any time a tenant of his. Two cheques were produced, made by Mr. Hunter, payable to Mr. Lennox, dated July 4, 1901, and Nov. 28, 1901, respectively, for a hundred dollars each. On the production of these cheques Mr. Lennox stated that possibly they represented a refund of money that he had advanced to Hunter for traveling expenses, but he did not remember.

Extracts from evidence:

"Q.—Hunter put it that he was to get at the rate of $2000 a year for the first six months, and then he got these two extra cheques, which he returned to you after drawing them. He then went on to say that the reason why that was done was that you yourself had paid the prior inspector and that you were just really reimbursing yourself in that way; isn't that true?

"A.—No, that is not true. I never had an inspector on this building that was paid, previous to Mr. Hunter.

"Q.—Are you quite sure you were not out of pocket and were just reimbursing yourself in that way?

"A.—I say distinctly that I am not; and I don't want it reiterated to me that I have, for I have not.

"Q.—How do you explain this? A.—Just in the manner I am explaining now, that there possibly may have been some misunderstanding with Mr. Hunter as to when his raise should have started and when I thought it should have started."

Second Thoughts.

Mr. Lennox, in his examination on May 30, 1906, was asked by his own counsel about this Hunter matter, when the following took place:

"Q.—Have you been thinking over that matter since? A.—Yes, a good deal. What misled me was, Hunter made the assertion that there was a former clerk of the works. There was no former clerk of works; but I had a man named Moore who assisted me during the year the city and I were under argument as to who should pay a clerk of the works. He used to test the cement for me. After night occasionally when I had to leave the building myself he was left there. I would telephone to the Freehold building and he would come up. I paid this man about $300 for those services, as far as I can get my memory and data together. He sued me for $800, and it was settled.

"Q.—What about these sums of $100, which you received, apparently from Hunter, by cheque? A.—Hunter states that they were to pay for the former clerk of works.

"Q.—Moore's name is mentioned? A.—Moore's name—they were applied to that purpose of paying Moore, but the city I expect to reimburse me for that $300, or whatever the amount is and for the balance between what Hunter returned and what I have been really out of pocket on the extra work.

"Q.—Then your recollection now, having thought it over, is that Mr. Hunter's account of the transaction is correct?" "A.—Yes, I think that he is quite correct in that."

The Finding

I find upon this evidence that Mr. Lennox issued two false certificates in favor of Thomas Hunter as clerk of the works, and that he received from Mr. Hunter on two separate occasions the sum of $100 out of the moneys paid under those certificates; that there was no entry whatever made in Mr. Lennox's books showing the receipt of the $200, nor was the city credited on any account with the same by Mr. Lennox; and that by reason of such certificates Mr. Hunter made a false statement to obtain payment thereof, and those two sums were charged up to Mr. Hunter's account as earned by him in the service of the city.

Dealings With Contractors on Behalf of Lynd.

It has been previously stated that Mr. Dinnis and Mr. Rogers paid moneys to Ald. Lynd. The evidence of W. B. Rogers in connection with Mr. Lennox's visit to him was corroborated by his brother, David Rogers, who stated that he remembered E. J. Lennox coming into their store some time after they had obtained their city hall contract; that W. B. Rogers interviewed Mr. Lennox and, immediately after he had gone, came back to the shipping room, where David Rogers was, and told him that Mr. Lennox had been saying that Dr. Lynd thought he ought to have something for supporting them in getting the contract; and that afterwards W. B. Rogers told the witness that the doctor had been in and got the money.

On May 29 W. B. Rogers gave further evidence and stated that at the time Mr. Lennox mentioned the matter relating to Dr. Lynd, he mentioned also the fact that Mr. Dinnis had been asked by Mr. Lynd, and there was something mentioned about a bicycle in connection with the gift of Dinnis to the doctor.

Mr. Lennox, on being asked with reference to the statement of Mr. Rogers, said that he did not remember anything of it whatever; that it did not take place; that he had heard about the bicycle story on the street, but had never heard it previous to that.

Upon the evidence I find that the payments by Mr. Dinnis and Mr. Rogers were made in consequence of the suggestions to them by Mr. Lennox on behalf of Dr. Lynd, and by reason of their having contracts with the city subject to the certificate of Mr. Lennox, and for no other reason whatever.

Moneys Received From Trust Account.

When Mr. Lennox took charge of the Elliott and Neelon contract, he opened a trust account in the bank, to receive moneys that were paid to him in small sums in connection with that contract, for the proceeds of the sale of stone chips, of fence board advertising, and the like. From this account he paid petty cash and traveling expenses in connection with carrying on that contract. The amount to the credit of that account on June 2, 1900, was $941.71. Out of that sum he paid to himself on Oct. 4, 1900, the sum of $120, and on Oct. 21, a further sum of $150. These sums, he claims, were to repay himself for wages that he had paid Truesdale, the bookkeeper employed in connection with the Elliott and Neelon contract.

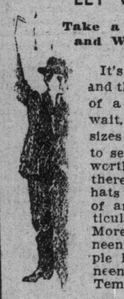

Truesdale's salary was paid from time to time by the city. The only sum that I can trace Mr. Lennox having paid Mr. Truesdale for wages is $75, on June 15, 1900, being for extra work in connection with the city accounts. There are also two cheques, representing two loans, total amount $45. The amount to the credit of this account on Nov. 30, 1905, was $615.11, after deducting the cheques of $120 and $150.

Mr. Lennox stated that he lent Truesdale moneys from time to time. He admits that he took no vouchers from Mr. Truesdale, gave him no cheques,

Ottawa, July 9.—(Special.)—In the house this morning answering a question put by Honore Gervais of Montreal, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that the government was negotiating with the government of Newfoundland with a view to the settlement of the dispute between the two countries in regard to jurisdiction over Ungava Bay and the coast of Labrador.

The house took up the recommendation of the committee on rules of the house. The opposition members wanted the question shelved till next session, but Sir Wilfrid Laurier insisted on going on. The new rules are of small importance.

The house spent the afternoon in supply supplementary estimated for the I. C. R.

Mr. Emmerson was inclined to be boastful and optimistic. Receipts had increased by $836,981, and expenditures had decreased enormously. The result would be a surplus for the year and this was not a mere "spurt," he had the new road now started right.

Mr. Harker (Hamilton), was cynical. These rosy futures for the I. C. R. were an old story. He criticized the purchase of oil from a company in which Mr. Emmerson was interested. Reference was made to the dismissal of Mr. Skeffington from the detective service of the railway. Postage stamps were being stolen in the Intercolonial offices at Moncton. Mr. Skeffington detected the thieves. Shortly after he was dismissed. Mr. Emmerson said the dismissal was for cause; thework was not being well done.

The committee then took up the supplementary estimates for the current nine months for the Intercolonial Railway. One vote amounted to $1,011,000. Among the items were $116,000 for exchange of drawbars on freight cars, $540,000 for locomotive and car shops and land at Moncton. $53,500 to strengthen bridges, $72,500 for machinery for new shops at Moncton. $35,500 for siding and spur lines, $26,000 for increased water supply.

For Colored Citizens.

When these votes were under consideration. Mr. Clements (Conservative, of Kent) made an appeal in behalf of the colored citizens of CCanada. They were an industrious lawabiding class. They were making progress in education and several were members of the legal and the medical profession and others were engaged in school teaching. Others were well qualified for many positions that form time to time were open in the train service of the Intercolonial Railway.

Newspaper Sheets.

Two men who were sent to prison at the Guildhall on Saturday for begging for money and newspapers explained that they used the latter as sheets at the shelter which they patronized at night.

FIRST SLEEPLESSNESS, THEN MELANCHOLIA.

Brooding, restless, sleepless—these dreadful conditions go hand in hand. Often very difficult to manage are these cases, because so long neglected.

Invariably Ferrozone will cure. It creates abundance of rich, red blood, imparts strength to the nerves, lends vitality and power to the whole body.

Brooding disappears, restlessness gives way to calm, and sleeplessness merges into that rest that makes for health. With lassitude and despair turned into energy and life hope, the enormous benefits of Ferrozone are at once realized.

"I fell into a state of exhaustion, was run down and couldn't sleep," writes Mrs. J. Stroud of Dexter P. O. "I tried Ferrozone and was quickly benefited. To anyone suffering from overwrought nerves and sleeplessness, I can recommend Ferrozone. No tonic is better." Sold everywhere, 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn.

COUNCIL VOTES 11 TO 7 FOR A SANE JAMES ST.

Width Will Be 66 Feet—Asphalt Plant Proposition Falls to Carry.

The width of the James-street extension from Queen to Richmond-street will be 66 feet. The city council adopted the recommendation of the board of control to that effect after a rather stubborn discussion yesterday afternoon. The vote was 11 to 7.

The street will now be opened from its present terminus southerly to the north limit of Richmond-street, at a uniform width of 66 feet thruout, the easterly limit of the extension to be a line 5 feet east of the present easterly limit of James-street. Ald. Geary wanted the matter sent back to have the street run thru without the 5 foot jog, but was defeated and the board's recommendation went thru committee of the whole on a vote of 9 to 6. In council Ald. Oliver, seconded by Ald. Noble, moved that the recommendation of the board of control be struck out. He was defeated on this division:

Yeas (wanting 105 foot street) 7—The mayor, Controller Shaw, Ald. Graham, Keeler, McGhie, Noble, Oliver.

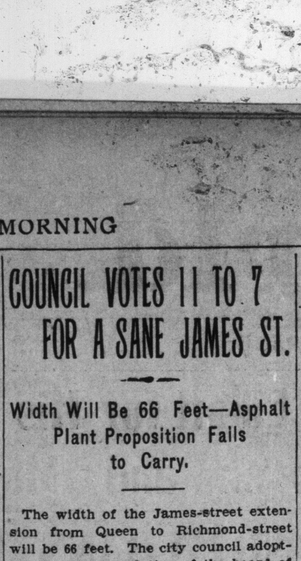

Nays (66 foot street) 11—Controllers Hubbard, Jones, Ward, Ald. Chisholm, Church, Dunn, Geary, McBride, Sheppard, Stewart, Vaughan.

Did not vote—Ald. Fleming, Harrison, Hay, McMurrich, who were in the hall, and Ald. Adams (absent).

Some one suggested that the members be called in to vote, but the mayor said they could stay out if they chose.

Roadway Repairs.

The roadway repairs scheme fathered by Ald. Geary and endorsed by the works committee, including a civic asphalt plant, caused a long argument. The board of control, while not opposing the recommendation for a rearrangement respecting roadway repairs, asked further time to deal with the report, and the council was disposed to sympathize with them, as Ald. Geary had sprung a very old matter in a bit of a hurry. But the idea embodied the asphalt plant, and with characteristic vigor Ald. Sheppard said the council had had ample time to consider that phase of the report. The disgraceful condition of the pavements which, thru inattention, had meant many thousands of dollars' loss to the city and the citizens generally was to be met. He defended the engineer and blamed the council.

Altho twelve aldermen voted for the asphalt plant and nine to have the report go back, the plant vote was no good, as it required a two-thirds vote of council.

Those who wanted the asphalt plant were: Ald. Geary, Graham, Fleming, McGhie, Sheppard, Oliver, Church, McMurrich, Keeler, Hay, Harrison and Dunn.—12.

Those willing to wait for a while were: The mayor, Controllers Shaw, Hubbard, Ward, Jones, Ald. McBride, Chisholm, Noble, Vaughan.—9.

Don't Believe in Signs.

The city will not put "For Sale" notices on the vacant land which the city is at present prepared to sell. Ald. Noble moved that this be done, but Controller Shaw urged it would be bad advertising for the city, and that sales were going on as quickly as was desirable. For the motion (6): Controller Jones, Ald. Church, McMurrich, Noble, McGhie, Vaughan.

Against (10): The Mayor, Controller Hubbard, Ward, Shaw, Ald. Harrison, Chisholm, Hay, McBride, Keeler and Graham.

There was a protest from Ald. Noble against the payment of $600 to E. B. Ryckman for assisting the law department at the Ontario legislature, but the item was passed. "I'll vote against it, if there is any more," said the doctor.

Warm criticism was waged against the narrowness of the streets for which pavements are recommended in Parkdale and elsewhere. Asphalt pavements 20 feet wide were denounced, but it appears that the property owners on residential streets want them that way, and there is room to widen them if necessary in the future. All the recommendations passed council.

Ald. Oliver suggested that something might be done to widen Anderson-street before the new brick pavement was laid; but the matter dropped there.

With only the amendment mentioned reports of the various committees passed.

The bylaw to regulate the banana pedlars and keep them off Yonge, King and Queen-streets, downtown, is being dealt with by the police commissioners, as it is a little out of the latitude of the board of control.

That Commissionership.

John L. Richardson applied for the position of commissioner of industries, on these terms: The city to pay office maintenance; the city pay necessary traveling expenses; the city pay in lieu of salary one per cent. on the capital he influences to locate in Toronto, and the guarantees that the equipment and maintenance of his office for the first year will not exceed $800, in addition to necessary traveling expenses.

Some Petitions.

Controller Ward presented a petition from Gwynne-avenue residents, asking for protection of their houses against fire thru cinders and sparks from the Dominion Radiator Co.

Ald. Chisholm presented a petition from property owners on Albemarle-avenue, asking for an extension of that street to give the residents access to Broadview-avenue, with a view to obtaining a water supply.

On the British Medical Association Dr. F. N. G. Starr asked that a reception be given by the mayor and council at the city hall, Wednesday, Aug. 22, at 9.30 p.m. This was referred to the reception committee.

Graham on Health Board.

Sam Crane, on behalf of his brothers and himself, wrote, thanking the council for the engrossed address of condolence upon the death of ex-Ald. James Crane.

Ald. Graham was elected by the council to fill the vacancy on the board of health.

More protests against interfering with the old fort property by running a railway thru it were received from L.O.L. 842 and L.O.L. 781.

Bylaw Third Readings.

The following bylaws passed their third readings: To appoint the mayor, Controller Jones, Ald. Dunn, McGhie and Noble as civic representatives to the Toronto General Hospital board; to construct a sewer on Roncesvalles-avenue and Queen-street, thru certain private property; to connect the two sections of Wolfrey-avenue; to regulate traffic on Rosedale Ravine Drive; to provide for the conduct of business during vacation; and the passing of sundry local improvements on the engineer's initiative.

Splendid Increase.

Ward three assessment returns for 1907 were reported by Assessment Commissioner Forman yeterday, showing a total increase of $8,319,261, including a surprising increase in income assessment. Following are the figures:

Avenue Road Car Extension.

Corporation Counsel Fullerton has written to the board of control for advice with reference to the action to be taken in the matter of the extension of the Avenue-road car lines. The city has either to appeal against the decision of the supreme court, which releases the Toronto Railway Company from any obligation to extend their tracks into territory not annexed to the city at the time of the signing of the agreement, or to authorize the city legal department to enter into negotiations with the company with a view to having the track extended on Avenue-road.

New Driving Shed.

Pat Maher, the Bloor-street liveryman, has filed plans for a $10,000 driving shed at 24 and 26 Hayden-street, in rear of his present stables.

HAPPENINGS IN HAMILTON RAILWAY ROUTE DECIDED

Can Build Thru Dundurn — Odd Accident—Entries For the Races.

Hamilton, July 9,—(Special.)—A joint meeting of the finance committee and the board of works was held to-night to deal with railway applications. E. B. Wingate reported that he could not get any route outside of Dundurn Park for the Hamilton, Waterloo and Guelph Railway. He picked out four different routes thru the park, but recommended only two of them, the one chosen by Mr. Patterson, and another farther north. The aldermen voted the company permission to build the line thru the park. Hon. Charles D. Haines was voted an extension of the time from Nov. 1 next to July 1, 1907, on the understanding that he is to spend $200,000 on the line before Nov. 1 next. He was also required to deposit a bond for $10,000, which he will forfeit if he does not build the road within the specified time. The terminal station bylaw was also passed. The company will have to pay the city a mill for every passenger carried after 1928 for the use of the East King-street tracks. This amounts to a perpetual franchise on the street. Details and running rights for other lines and soforth were left over for further consideration. It is likely a special meeting of the council will be held Tuesday evening.

and made no entries in connection with the payments he claims to have made to him.

Payments and Allowances and Presents.

The evidence shows that W. B. Rogers had written off, under the head of bad debts, an account against Mr. Lennox, in his journal for 1901, amounting to $540.70; the greater part of which was for goods supplied to Mr. Lennox's island house.

Arthur Dinnis, in his evidence, stated there was a balance of account owing to his firm by Mr. Lennox on September, 1900, amounting to $365.95, for work done on Mr. Lennox's house at the island. The reason for not pressing payment was that witness considered it would not have been good policy; that, having the dealings he had with his debtor, it would probably be policy not to press for payment of the account under those circumstances.

Mr. Lennox, in his examination on Jan. 8, 1906, stated that the account of Dinnis and Sons had been settled by the last note he gave them, some four or five years ago, and that he owes them nothing that he knows of. The account of Rogers and Company was disputed in consequence of the fire on the island.

Mr. Lennox also admitted that he owed Douglas Brothers, contractors for galvanized iron work, etc., a balance of $129.75, but stated that he had a running account against Mr. Douglas and his late partner, Mr. Matthews. Upon inspecting Mr. Lennox's letter books and Mr. Douglas' ledgers, I ascertained that the account which Mr. Lennox had against Mr. Douglas and Mr. Matthews had been paid by Mr. Douglas, including $100 charged by Mr. Lennox to them as their share of the expense in carrying the court house bylaw, leaving this balance of $129.74 still owing, and that this amount was first carried by Douglas Brothers to suspense account and in 1904 charged to profit and loss.

Presents Received.

The letter books of Mr. Lennox showed that he had also received a small present from the contractors for the large bells, Gillett and Johnson of Croydon, England. On Sept. 15, 1900, before the completion of their contract, we wrote asking Mr. Johnson not to forget to send him a set of small chimes from the castings of the large bells. The chimes were produced in court, 13 in number. Mr. Lennox said they were worth 25 or 30 cents each. The value was probably four or five times that amount.

It was also shown by Mr. Lennox's letter book that he wrote to Davidson and Company, thanking them for two marble pedestals, which had been made after his own design. In his evidence he stated that these had been given to him in connection with the King Edward Hotel, and not in connection with the city hall building. Davidson and Company, however, were contractors for the marble work of the city hall; the contract having been let to F. B. Gullett, who was nominally the contractor, but Davidson and Company were the real contractors, and received the payment for the work, giving Gullett a small percentage.

These presents were made to Mr. Lennox before the contractors had received their final certificates or payments.

The Bennett & Wright Contract.

The evidence shows that this company had written off an account against Mr. Lennox of $63.77 about the time of their contract for the city hall; another account, $2630.50, ending 1902, was transferred to suspense account, and then written off to profit and loss in that year; a further account of $364.16 was written off to profit and loss in March, 1905, making a total of $3158.43 written off by Bennett & Wright, and due to them by Lennox. With reference to this amount, Mr. Lennox in his evidence stated that it should not have been written off; that he had a contra account of about $3100 against them.

Upon producing his account books, the items showed that his account chargeable against Bennett & Wright amounted to $780. This, he said, was incorrect; that certain items which he had against Mr. Wright should be charged to the firm. These items amounted to $951, and after being added to the firm's account would make it $1761. Then he added 2 1-2 per cent. for erecting a Winnipeg building for the Radiator Company, amounting to $1200; thus making a total of $2900.

It appears that the Winnipeg building is being erected, not by Mr. Lennox, but by the firm of Darling & Pearson, and therefore should not be charged. Therefore, the total amount he had against Joseph Wright and Bennett & Wright was only $1761, as against their contra account, which they had written off against him, making about $1400 due to Bennett & Wright on that account.

In addition to this, a number of large payments were made by Bennett & Wright and Joseph Wright to him, which he said were loans by Joseph Wright. The larger of these payments were made by Bennett & Wright and entered in their ledger against "special merchandise account." The total of these payments was given by Mr. Wright as $8300, made on the following dates: 1902, May 7, $3000; 1903, March 20, $1000; Dec. 23, $500; 1905, Jan. 7, $1000; Feb. 27, $2800; total, $8300. These various amounts were shown by Mr. Lennox's bank books as having been received by him on those dates, and it would therefore have been difficult for Mr. Wright to explain the payments other than he did.

He stated that these sums were loaned to Mr. Lennox under an agreement made between them, dated April 7, 1902, assigning his (Lennox) rights in sixty-five shares of "the capital stock of the Dominion Radiator Company that Wright held in trust for him, and also ten shares of the capital stock of the Commercial Cable Company, to J. Wright, for the right to receive such advancements from time to time as he (Lennox) may desire."

Sudden Certificates.

Mr. Wright explained that the agreement was entered into because Mr. Lennox wanted to raise some money on stock, and, in Mr. Wright's words, "he thought it was better to come to me than anyone else, as I was a personal friend of his."

This agreement had been previously shown to Mr. Drayton and myself by Mr. David Fasken, solicitor for Mr. Lennox and Mr. Wright. When then shown, no documents were attached to it, and there were no pinholes in the document, thus showing that nothing had been attached to it. When produced in court by Mr. Wright, the Dominion Radiator Company's stock certificate was attached to it, but there was no Commercial Cable stock certificate, and Mr. Wright explained that the latter had got mislaid in Mr. Fasken's office. Mr. Wright would not state that these certificates were attached to the agreement at the time he handed it to Mr. Fasken, which was subsequent to the commencement of this enquiry. He states that the agreement was drawn up a long time ago, he thinks in 1902, by Mr. Lennox in his office.

Mr. Lennox stated that he did not tell Mr. Wright that he did not want his name to appear in his books, that he never spoke to any other members of the firm about the names.

In his examination on May 30 he admitted that the $3000 was to a certain extent a luxury, altho he had previously stated that he was in need of the money when he applied to Mr. Wright for this sum.

A Bogus Agreement.

In my opinion the evidence establishes as a fact that the agreement between Mr. Wright and Mr. Lennox, dated April 7, 1902, was not entered into at that date, nor was it intended that such an agreement should be entered into when Mr. Lennox received the moneys that they claim have been paid under it.

Had such an agreement been entered into on that date, one would naturally presume that the entries in Bennett & Wright's books, and also in Mr. Lennox's bank book, would have been in accordance with the facts. Instead of that, it is shown that the moneys paid by Mr. Wright to Mr. Lennox were entered as "special merchandise," and from that account found their way into profit and loss, and thus were written off as against Mr. Lennox, whose name does not now appear in connection with them. Whether or not his name was originally entered, I am unable to say, because of the erasures in Bennett & Wright's books of account. No interest was ever demanded or paid on these sums, and the shareholders of the Bennett & Wright Co. had no knowledge of them.

Changes in Bank Books.

In Mr. Lennox's bank books the entries made by him opposite the amounts of the first and last cheques are not now what they were originally. The original entries have been obliterated, or erased, both the entry of May 7, 1902, and the entry of February, 1905; and the words "stock loans" have been written in place of the original entries. These circumstances indicate to my mind that the moneys so paid were not loans, but were gifts by Bennett & Wright to Mr. Lennox, in return for favors shown by him in connection with their contracts on the city hall and other buildings; and that the agreement was prepared by Mr. Lennox for the purpose of shielding himself and Mr. Wright in the event of any difficulty arising in connection with the contracts of Bennett & Wright.

In giving his evidence, Mr. Lennox volunteered the statement that he was a judge between the contractors and the city. I find that by reason of his receiving these moneys, whether as gifts or loans, Mr. Lennox was disqualified from acting as a judge, and that any certificates granted by him, after he received such moneys, were given improperly and are not binding on the city.

Mr. Wright obtained an interest in a number of contracts in connection with the new city buildings. He had the contract for the plumbing, steam fitting, ventilating, electric and gas fixtures, electric wiring, tubing for pneumatic clocks, an interest in the elevator contracts, and an interest in the enclosures and grill work for elevators, and an interest in the Douglas Bros.' vent pipe contract.

Missing Books.

The cash books of Bennett & Wright for the years 1896, 1897, 1898, 1899 and 1901, and the cheques and cheque stubs for 1896, etc., are missing. In consequence of this, I have been unable to obtain evidence respecting payments which were made by the Bennett & Wright Co. in connection with their contracts on the city hall during this period. That there were such payments made is shown by the fact that Mr. Mansell received the sum of $3000, as already mentioned.

I therefore desire to keep this part of the investigation open until such time as these books can be recovered, and Mr. Clark and other witnesses that may be necessary can be examined in connection therewith and with the evidence already given.

began to see that he had no reason to ask me for any money. I did not know what to think. I got annoyed at the time."

"Ald. Lynd, being examined, stated that he remembered the occasion of the sewer pipe contract, when Mr. Harris' tender was first reported against, and then the engineer put in a subsequent report, and Mr. Harris got the contract. He stated that he did not see Mr. Harris in connection with the tender, or in connection with the contract at all. After the letting of the contract, he and Mr. Harris were curling. 'And I said, 'Mr. Harris, that contract has gone thru all right, you got the contract,' and he says, 'Yes.' I said, 'Well, that would cost you one hundred or one hundred an a quarter,'' or something like that; and he said, 'Oh no, the other man withdrew!'

"Q.—What does that mean it would cost you that? A.—I was guessing at the possibility of Mr. Harris having arranged with this other man, tho, of course, I knew nothing about it, whether he had or not; and I don't know now whether he did or not. It was only a guess, a casual remark between us.

Not Sustained.

"Ald. Lynd stated positively that he made no request of Mr. Harris, then or at any other time, for money; nor did he tell him it was worth $25 to him, or make any such similar remark at all; that whatever passed between Mr. Harris and himself was kind of half jest, a guessing sort of remark, and he did not know what Mr. Harris said about it; that he took no active part in awarding the contract to Mr. Harris.

"I find upon the evidence given that this charge has not been sustained.

Ex-Alderman Ramsden's Position.

"The declarations lodged with the mayor refer to a statement made by Elliott that ex-Alderman Ramsden had received the sum of $400, in connection with the permit. I do not find any evidence to support such a statement. It is contradicted by Puddy Brothers, Ramsden and Elliott. Even if Mr. Ramsden had been paid that or any other sum, I could make no report in connection with it, inasmuch as he was not a member of the city council at the time.

Charge Against Alderman Sheppard

"A charge has been made against Ald. O. B. Sheppard, in connection with carpets he purchased from the firm of John Kay & Son: namely, that he refused to pay for the carpets on the ground that he had obtained or assisted in obtaining the contract for John Kay & Son, to supply certain carpets in connection with the city hall, in the year 1899, and that he did not pay the same until compelled by legal proceedings. I find that that charge is groundless."

UP TO BOARD OF CONTROL TO DECIDE ON PROCEEDINGS

At Meeting To-Morrow — Mayor Coatsworth Believes That Both Civil and Criminal Action Will be Taken.

Judge Winchester wrote to the mayor: "I have the honor to transmit to you the result of my investigations authorized under resolutions of the city council, dated respectively Oct. 16, 1905; Dec. 4, 1905, and June 25, 1906, together with the evidence taken by me and the documents produced."

Controller Shaw moved, seconded by Controller Hubbard, "that the evidence and Judge Winchester's report on civic investigation be referred to the board of control to consult with the corporation counsel to take such action, civil and criminal, as may be considered expedient in the interests of the city."

"Carried," said the mayor after he had stated that he had not read the report, which contained 200 pages, and it would have to be taken up by the controllers.

Only Ald. Keeler asked to see the report, which was too large for him to tackle just then, and he said he guessed the controllers could have it. Ald. Dunn asked that Controller Shaw's resolution be read again, and then the matter was dropped.

What Will Be Done.

Action now rests with the board of control, which will to-morrow morning, in consultation with Corporation Counsel Fullerton, decide what is to be done.

"This was the statement made by Mayor Coatsworth last night. His worship was called away to Ottawa by private business, otherwise it is probable that the board would this morning deliberate on the situation.

"It will not be necessary to call a council meeting in order to obtain authority to proceed," said the mayor, who referred to the provision made when ordering the investigation that the board be invested with power to take proceedings in its own hands after receiving the report. The idea was to save time.

"What is your own opinion of what the board is likely to decide upon?" was asked.

"It will depend a good deal upon Mr. Fullerton's advice," replied Mayor Coatsworth. "The outcome may take the form of criminal proceedings or a civil action. My own impression is that it will take both forms."

His worship added a moment later the positive statement that whatever might be done in the way of criminal prosecution, the city would certainly take civil action.

"This will be to recover moneys had and received,' to use the legal term belonging to the city," he said.

"Will any action be considered with regard to the report as it relates to Dr. Lynd?" was asked.

"That will depend on what the corporation counsel advises," replied the mayor.

Up to the Controllers.

It will be for Mr. Fullerton to press the city's claims for damages by regular legal process thru the courts. As for the criminal proceedings, they will, if ordered by the board, be carried on in the police court by Crown Attorney Corley.

"The board of control must decide first of all what to do," repeated his worship. It would not be competent for Mr. Corley or anyone else to begin initiative action. The matter has now, of course, passed completely out of Mr. Drayton's hands.

Mr. Fullerton, when asked last night as to what attitude he would advise the board to assume, declined to discuss the situation until he had digested the report. It is known, however, that Mr. Fullerton is strongly of the opinion that the city is entitled to recovery damages in connection with the contracts examined under the recently enlarged scope of the enquiry.

In concluding his report Judge Winchester says: "During the progress of the investigation 126 witnesses have been examined; but that number does not cover the great number of persons who have been interviewed by Mr. Drayton and myself, in connection with the various matters under review. We received a number of anonymous letters, referring to matters of a suspicious nature. These letters we followed up, to ascertain whether the facts referred to were correct or not. In this way hundreds of accounts of contractors in connection with the city hall building were investigated, as well as the letter books of several of the firms and the letter books of the architect. Every account of a suspicious nature was fully enquired into, but only those as to which corroborative evidence was obtainable were publicly investigated.

Far Afield.

"In consequence of reports that we received it was considered advisable that a visit to New York and Buffalo should be made for the purpose of interviewing persons there, who had a knowledge of the matters connected with the tenders and contracts. This visit was made, but the results were not what our information led us to believe they would be.

"In connection with the city hall, I have enquired into all the contracts; whilst in connection with the St. Lawrence Market, I have enquired only into the roofing contracts. If the city council desires a further enquiry, dealing with the other contracts for these buildings, it will be held.

"As already reported in dealing with the Bennett & Wright contract, I desire to keep that enquiry open, for the purpose of examination of S. S. Clarke, in case he returns to Ontario, also of other witnesses, who may be necessary in view of his testimony.

"In concluding my report, I desire to express my high appreciation of the very able assistance given to me by Mr. Drayton, the counsel assigned to aid me in conducting the investigation. I have also to thank Mr. Fullerton, K.C., for his advice and assistance thruout the proceedings."

Thomas P. Harrington, while walking on the Vaughan Plank-road, received injuries thru a defective sidewalk, for which he yesterday issued a writ against York Township for $2000.

On behalf of George E. Gray of Cobalt, a writ was yesterday issued at Osgoode Hall against William A. Verner, restaurant-keeper, asking for a statement of partnership and to dissolve the same. Verner, on the other hand, has a counter-claim against Gray and H. A. Vanlo to set aside an assignment made by Verner and Gray on July 5.

NUMEROUS INSTANCES

replied that there was not. On the following morning Mr. Wildman still adhered to his answer that there was no pooling arrangement; but since his examination his attention had been called to a memorandum of agreement entered into previous to June 12, 1899, which had entirely escaped his recollection. This agreement provided that different companies would supply certain portions of the contract, which amounted to $18,348. Of this the Office Specialty Company were to supply $2100 worth of various articles on a list; the Canadian Office and School Furniture Company $4358, the Charles Rogers & Sons Company, Limited, $6580, and certain chairs for $5310. Mr. Wildman stated that Mr. Rogers called upon him with reference to the contract, and said it was going to be lumped together in one bid, that it was too large for any one factory, and that he desired each to put in a tender for the amount of certain furnishings, and he (Rogers) would put in the lump tender to cover all; that the others would send in higher tenders for the full amount to enable the Rogers Company to obtain the contract, and then divide the profits on their chair contract, after paying their shares of the goods supplied by them for the prices mentioned.

I find upon the evidence that this contract was improperly obtained by means of a combination of the four firms mentioned, and that the sum of $1000 was divided between the Office Specialty Company, the Canadian Office and School Furniture Company, and G. N. Reynolds & Company, to prevent fair competition in tendering, and that this sum was improperly received from the city.

The St. Lawrence Market.

The contract for the roofing of the St. Lawrence Market was awarded to the Metallic Roofing Company in August, 1899, for the sum of $12,970. Previous to sending in the tender, there was a meeting of the different competitors for the contract to decide on the firm which was to do the work and on the amount to be paid to each competitor by the successful competitor. The firms represented at that meeting were A. B. Ormsby & Co., Wheeler & Bain, G. Duthie & Co., Hutson & Son, Asa Matthews, and Pedler & Co. of Oshawa.

I found upon the evidence that this contract was obtained by the Metallic Roofing Company from the city by fraud, in consequence of which the city paid the sum of $2205 without receiving any consideration therefor.

Douglas Brothers' Contract.

Difficulties having arisen between the city and the Metallic Roofing Company, the contract was taken out of the hands of that company as far as the north part of the market was concerned; and on Dec. 16, 1904, a new contract for $9500 was entered into with Douglas Bros. Before tendering for the same, Douglas Bros. entered into an agreement with Wheeler & Bain and A. B. Ormsby & Co., whereby Douglas Bros. paid each of these firms $50, and also gave them a share of the supplying of corrugated iron at $4 per square, that being the usual price for that quality of iron. The $1000 thus paid was added to Douglas Bros.' profits, and formed part of the tender sent in and accepted by the city.

Mr. Douglas in his evidence also stated that he paid to Architects J. W. Siddall and Beaumont Jarvis between $200 and $300 each in connection with the work; that there was no understanding between him and the architects that any moneys should be paid to them by him; he did so out of the goodness of his heart.

Architects' Evidence.

Mr. Siddall on his examination admitted receiving the amounts named by Mr. Douglas, but stated that there was no payment made until after the official certificate was issued, unless it might have been a very small amount, and stated also that Mr. Douglas never made any improper request to him as an architect in connection with the work.

On June 28, Beaumont Jarvis was examined. He stated that he was one of the architects on the St. Lawrence Market, and denied that he received any moneys whatever from either Mr. Douglas or the bookkeeper, who had been mentioned by Mr. Douglas in his evidence.

On July 4 I was attended by counsel for Mr. Jarvis, who handed me a letter signed by Mr. Jarvis, dated July 3, 1906, as follows:

"On the day on which I gave my evidence in the civic investigation last Thursday, I was in such an excited condition, physically and mentally, induced by worry, illness and other causes, that I failed to appreciate or remember the details of certain transactions that were then referred to. Upon further and calmer consideration I am satisfied that I was mistaken as to several facts regarding which I gave evidence, and I wish to state now that I cannot positively deny the statements as to certain gratuities having been made to me by Mr. Douglas, which I did not recognize at the time of my examination. I wish to state further that there never was or had been any understanding between Mr. Douglas and myself as to any payments having to be made to me for any purpose whatsoever, either proper or improper.

"I think it is only fair that you should advise the investigating judge of these facts, as I have no desire to withhold anything."

Obtained by Fraud.

I find from the evidence with reference to the St. Lawrence Market that the two contracts for roofing were obtained by fraud thru the combination of competitors, who agreed that there should be sent in what were practically bogus tenders in order to carry out an agreement for that purpose made between them; the successful tenderer paying the others the sums mentioned, namely, $2205 and $1000 respectively, and compelling the city to pay same by adding that amount to their respective tenders.

I further find that the architects, Mr. Siddall and Beaumont Jarvis, were paid between $200 and $300 each by the contractors, Douglas Brothers, when this contract was being performed, and that they most improperly received such sums, altho they state that such payments were not made for an improper purpose. The receipt of these payments, however, vitiated all certificates issued or orders given by them to these contractors in connection with the building in question.

Exhibition Buildings.

Machinery Hall.—In Douglas Brothers ledger, under date of August, 1899, there was charged to Ormsby & Co. "commission $250." Subsequently the amount of that entry was erased and reduced to $118.47, or $2.30 less than what Mr. Ormsby paid them. Both A. B. Ormsby and Thomas Douglas failed to explain satisfactorily these entries. In my opinion the original commission charged by Douglas Brothers was in connection with the contract which Mr. Ormsby had for the machinery hall in that year, but, in settling with Douglas Brothers, instead of paying the $250, only $120.77 of it was allowed them in connection with such commission.

Manufacturers' Building.—In my opinion the sum of $850 was added to the tender of the Metal Shingle and Siding Co., in addition to their profits, and was paid by the city to that company without any consideration.

East Toronto.

East Toronto, July 9.—At to-night's meeting of the council, J. Enoch Thompson, representing the Toronto Type Foundry, who propose to locate in East Toronto, asked for exemption from the ordinary taxes, together with free water. The matter will be submitted to a vote at the next municipal elections. Councillor Baker presented the report of the committee re annexation. Failing to instal another pump, as required, council will refuse to supply the Canada Foundry Company with any more coal for experimental purposes.

Miss Bertie Anderson, Eglinton, is spending a few weeks' holiday at Beamsville.

The option taken on 250 feet frontage on Yonge-street, part of the property of the O'Halloran estate at $60 a foot, is understood to be for the York Radial Railway Company for a yard and terminal.

The court of revision was held last night to consider the frontage measurement and apportion the cost of the following local improvements, viz., a six-inch water main on Soudan-avenue, at a cost of $3150; a four-foot tar, gravel and plank sidewalk on Beresford-street, at a cost of $350; a five-foot granolithic sidewalk on Yonge-street, east side, from Sherwood and south to Eglinton-avenue, at a cost of $2150; a four-foot tar and gravel sidewalk at south side of Kensington-avenue, at a cost of $210. No opposition was offered and the local improvements, which total $5580, are ordered to be proceeded with, and the cost apportioned accordingly to the last revised assessment roll.

Council to Change Banks.

The finance committee recommended that a branch of the Ontario Bank, located in the town hall, be charged $25 a month rent, also that the town's banking business be transferred to the local branch providing the council can make necessary arrangements with the bank.

The electric storm this afternoon caused considerable damage and sacrificed a life.

Car No. 21 on the Metropolitan had the controller burnt out.

Seventy-two feet of newly-laid concrete work at Yonge-street, west side, was ruined by the rain. It was laid today and will have to be taken up tomorrow.

John Davis, laborer on John Stewart's farm, Con. 2, West York, was killed by lightning. He was hoeing roots in the field when the storm came on. He sought shelter under a hay stack, when lightning struck the stack, killing Davis instantly. The stack caught fire and when assistance arrived the dead body was found. Deceased was 42 years old. He came from England twenty years ago and was single.

Arthur Sisby has a cherry tree in his garden with ripe cherries, green cherries and blossoms on it.

SHOOTING AT BISLEY AGAIN CONNAUGHT TO GIVE PRIZES

Canadians Will Use Lee-Enfield Rifle—First Day's Scoring.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

Bisley Camp, July 9.—The annual meeting of the National Rifle Association commenced to-day with a record attendance. The Canadians are all in good health, and very fit for the arduous work of the next fortnight.

In addition to the regular team, Transport Sergeant Stuart of the 43rd Regiment, Ottawa; Staff-Sergeant Bayles of Toronto; and Captain Mitchell of the Corps of Guides, are here.

The Canadians are gratified by the announcement that H. R. H. Prince Arthur of Connaught, who recently toured the Dominion on his return from Japan, will distribute the prizes on Saturday, the 21st.

The Canadian team has definitely decided not to abandon the Lee-Enfield rifle for the Ross weapon, as was expected would be the case. They have found that they have not had sufficient practice with the new rifle to justify its use, so they will shoot with the Lee-Enfield, as in previous years.

In the armouries competition to-day Staff-Sergeant Mortimer of the G. G. F. G., Ottawa, scored a 34. The range is 900 yards.

In the Singer competition, seven shots at 600 yards, Staff-Sergeant Mortimer made 34.

CAN'T GET THEIR CLOTHES.

Firemen in Winter Uniforms With Summer Duds in Storage.

Talk about winter nestling in the lap of spring! The firemen are now being measured for their next winter's uniform, while still wearing last winter's clothing, and are waiting for the annual issue of summer duds.

About 150 uniforms have been received at the headquarters offices, but for reasons unknown these are being held until the rest come in from the tailors. Meanwhile 150 or 180 men are sweltering and swearing while the clothes are nicely packed away for the moths to play with.

There's also considerable discontent because of the big white letters T.F.D. which this summer adorn the regulation straw hats. 'Tis said the lettering was put on to prevent firemen frequenting saloons. This is an insinuation the men strongly resent. They say they are greeted with all sorts of titles from friends who talk of them as "Thompson's fire demons." "Thompson's free drinkers," "Two for a dime," and other such things.

The next fatigue caps served out will be of the U. S. pattern and will have the man's number worked in white or silver on them.

Broadview Boys Off to Camp.

The Broadview boys left yesterday for their eleventh annual camp, going via Jackson's Point and steamer to Geneva Park on Lake Couchiching, six miles from Orillia. This is the same site on which they camped last year and is an ideal one from every point of view. The tents are pitched under the trees, facing a sheltered bay, which affords splendid boating and is always warm for swimming and bathing. The advance party went on Wednesday last and prepared the camp, which consists of eleven sleeping tents, besides dining, headquarters and reading tents. Floors are placed in the sleeping tents and a large cook-house has been built, which will be presided over by a professional cook. Ninety-five is the camp enrolment and the stay will be in for four weeks. The camp is in charge of the superintendent of the Institute and a staff of helpers, including a doctor, whose special duty it is to look after the boys' health. The avenue formed by the tents is called Broadview and the tents are all named and numbered, commencing with Skidoo Tent No. 23 and ending with Butterinkle's Tent No. 1001. The fishing is excellent. Two of the advance party caught 20 fish in half an hour on Thursday. An illustrated daily paper, The Camp Mascot, will be issued. Specially printed camp stationery is supplied the boys and the camp has its own postal delivery and letter box system, also a savings bank. An excursion of parents and friends goes up to visit the camp on Saturday, July 21, and will be accompanied by the Broadview Band.

300 TO 1 SHOT WINNER ARCITE AT SHEEPSHEAD

Rams Horn Captured the Bayridge Handicap—Fast Race by Comedienne.

New York, July 9.—The surprise at Sheepshead Bay to-day was the victory of Arcite, a hundred to one shot, in the third race. So little was thought of his chances of winning that he was quoted at one time at 300 to 1, and a number of small bets were made on him. Cederstrome made the pace for nearly a mile, when Ram's Horn moved out and won by three lengths. BRIGHTON BEACH NEXT.

Racing Opens To-Morrow—Brighton Handicap on Saturday.

New York, July 9.—The scene of racing shifts to Brighton next Wednesday. Sheepshead's seventeen days wind up in the usual blaze of glory with the Lawrence Realization for the star feature on Tuesday, backed by the second half of the rich double event for two-year-olds. Brighton's meet begins modestly. The Distaff Stakes, for two-year-old fillies, is the first named event and has the best ones of their sex eligible. The Brighton Mile, the other hoop-la race of the opening day, is at weight for age and bids fair to be sensational. Hamburg Belle, Whimsical, Flip Flap, Kuroki, Halifax, Ram's Horn, Ormondale and Inquisitor are eligible, and as they nearly all are in their best form now, some sensational time may result, should the going be fast.

Thursday the Jamaica Stakes will bring together some good sprinters, while on Friday the management will depend upon an overnight handicap as a drawing card. On Saturday will be decided the historic Brighton Handicap, by long odds the most popular of the midsummer races. The guaranteed value, $25,000, alone is enough to make it draw well. Its past history, too, puts it in the turf list close to the top, for such rare good ones as Artful, Broomstick and Hermis have been among the winners.

This year's field perforce will have nothing like the class that other seasons have shown, for many of the best horses of the year are out of training or permanently retired. But included in the eligibles are Flip Flap, Whimsical, Dandelion, Kuroki, Bohemian, Kiamesha, Ormondale, Cairngorm, Go Between, Perverse, Ram's Horn and Dolly Spanker. If these go to the post the race will be a worthy renewal, and as all are in pretty good form it is not unlikely they will face the starter.

The Brighton meet continues for twenty-two days, or until Aug. 4, when the scene shifts again, this time for the month's session at Saratoga. An excellent program will be offered daily. A fair number of steeplechase events have been included, and some good cross-country racing should be seen. Many improvements have been installed, principal among which are the folding jockey boards so popular at Sheepshead Bay, the electrical indicators of results, and a plateau for patrons of the field so that every bit of a race may be seen by the "standees."

United Hunts Racing Association has made application to the National Hunt and Steeplechase Association, the ruling body in cross-country affairs, for sanction of a three-day meet in the fall. The meeting will probably be held at Belmont Park, where there is one of the finest courses in the country. Last year's meeting was held at Morris Park, while the Jamaica meet was in progress, and its success was so great that the United Hunts decided to hold another this year. On Saturday a splendid strugle is assured, as nearly all the horses that have taken part in the Brooklyn and Suburban handicaps, together with others that have come on from the west, will go to the post. The Brighton is the richest handicap run in America. The winner's share is $20,000, with $3000 to the second horse and $2000 to the third. Winners after the announcement of the weights on Jan. 24 must take up penalties. From present indications these horses will go to the barrier:

A Renunciation.

If women could be fair, and yet not fond
Or that their love were firm, not fickle still,
I would not marvel that they make men bond
By service long to purchase their good-will.
But when I see how frail those creatures are,
I muse that men forget themselves so far.

To mark the choice they make, and how they change,
How oft from Phoebus they do flee to Pan;
Unsettled still, like haggards wild they range,
These gentle birds that fly from man to man;
Who would not scorn and shake them from the fist,
And let them fly, fair fools, which way they list?

Yet for disport we fawn and flatter both,
To pass the time when nothing else can please,
And train them to our lure with subtle oath,
Till, weary of their wiles, ourselves we ease;
And then we say when we their fancy try,
To play with fools, O what a fool was I!

—E. Vare, Earl of Oxford.

VICTORY OF THE BELGIANS TALK IN ROWING CIRCLES

Englishmen Discuss Ugly Style of the Foreigners—Some Interviews.

Chicago, July 9.—A special cablegram to The Record-Herald says:

Except for American and foreign visitors, London would have been a dearly place indeed this week, for the west end has been deserted of its own people, the pleasures of Henley drawing all who could away from the close atmosphere and sun-baked streets of the town.

Henley may be said to have lost prestige as the real high-class social event of recent less interest this year as a sporting event on account of the absence of any American years, and, even tho it may have possessed crew, and the failure of the Leanders, England's crack rowing club, to put on the water a crew to defend the Grand Challenge Cup, its popularity showed no sign of being on the wane. Houseboats were comparatively few, but the spell of fine weather had the effect of crowding the waterway and the lawns of the various clubs lining the banks. This was especially so on Thursday, when the great tussle for the Grand Challenge Cup took place. A greater number of people than ever went down from London by automobile, and it was amusing to watch the woman automobilist emerging from a thickly-veiled chrysalis into a dainty river butterfly, the metamorphosis taking place sometimes in the car, sometimes on the river bank, and sometimes even in a punt, if the woman were greatly daring.

All the talk now in rowing circles is of the victory of the Belgians, because, for the first time in its history, the famous Grand Challenge Cup, which resulted in such a close contest last year between the Leanders and the Vesper crew from Philadelphia, has fallen to a foreigner, despite the utmost endeavor of crews of young Englishmen to hold their own. The event was far from being unexpected.

Huge Crowd Flocks to River.

The fine weather drew what must have been almost, if not quite, a record crowd up the river. Visitors from Belgium, both male and female, were there in hundreds. Interested in the fortunes of their countrymen. The final was a hard contest for the English crew, but the result never was in doubt from the beginning, and the Belgians in the end won quite comfortably.

As the curious and ugly-looking staccato movement of the Belgian oarsmen seemed almost like becoming successful last year, and created much interest and discussion amongst American oarsmen a year ago, it may be worth while to tell what is thought about it here now when it has come out on top. The Belgians, it may be remembered, have no time to show off the gracefulness of the feather. The oars are seen but a moment as they cut the water for the reach back. Then they cut in again for the lever without the slightest splash, and the boat flies on its journey. It is all wonderful, and the quickness of the hand deceives the eye.

Belgian Style Amazes Britishers.

What the English cannot yet arrive at is the conclusion as to whether it is trickery or genuine rowing. The effects of the hard pull and swing are there, but there is nothing on the outside indicative of the means whence arises the pace. The question may be asked is the American and English style of rowing wrong, and should they be reformed? But none who has talked on the subject is inclined to budge an inch from the style which has been adopted by both Oxford and Cambridge. This exotic from the continent has made no impression on the Englishman's belief in himself as having developed a grand style of rowing, and he is likely to stick to his classic.

Then, why has England lost the Grand Cup for the first time, and by such a novel style of rowing? Of course, some excuse must be found, and so all the blame is laid at the door of the Leanders. It is generally considered, and it was said before the regatta began, that Leanders might have, by a little risk in speculation, mustered a crew which, if chastening to their pride, might have won the Grand Cup.

English Crews at Fault.

You will get nobody who pretends to know rowing, however, to believe that there is anything wrong with the style. It was the man, not the style, which let England down. The East King's bargemaster, who is an expert, attributed the reason of the Belgians' speed to their strong finish and to the final use of leg power. They also use a wider blade than the English crews, but the bargeman is unswerving in his belief in the English style. Some members of the Belgian crew think the English style does not possess the efficacy of theirs, and they attributed their success more to the style than the material.

M. Julien de Dryver had some vivacious remarks to make. It was his opinion that much was gained by the upright attitude of the crew in finishing their stroke. This idea is that they recover themselves more easily and get in their new stroke quicker. The Belgians' training is rational; even tobacco and stimulants are not eschewed.

Crypt for Coroner.

The Southwark Borough Council has suggested to the district coroner that he should rent the crypt of St. George the Martyr's, which is to let, rather than put the ratepayers to the expense of a new court.

Lakeside Baseball League.

Kincardine, July 9.—The second game in the Lakeside Baseball League was played this afternoon between Lucknow and Kincardine and was won by the latter by a score of 7 to 5. The home team did some heavy batting and McGaw of Kincardine won the game for the home club by driving a home run with two men on bases. Mr. Conn of Wingham umpired with good satisfaction. The batteries were: Lucknow, Brisban and McCoy; Kincardine, Stewart and McKay.

Sunday Ball at Lewiston.

The first game in a new league recently formed among the employes of the Niagara Navigation Company was played at Lewiston on Sunday afternoon. The new league will be known to posterity as the Niagara Navigation Company Major League. Sunday's game, which was replete with brilliant feats of catching and batting, resulted in a win for the colored nine, which was chiefly composed of gentlemen of the black persuasion. They represented the Canada Railway News Company. Score 10 to 7. The flourishing Town of Lewiston turned out en masse to witness the first game of Sunday ball played in that part of the state. The teams:

News Company (10)—D. Morris, p.; J. Howell, c.; Byrd, s.s.; Davis, 1b; Allen, 2b; Brown, 3b; Thies, r.f.; Stutzel, c.f.; Marshall, l.f.

Bronte-Milton Baseball.

Sporting Editor World: On behalf of the Bronte Baseball Club we would like to give an account of the game played between Milton and Bronte on Saturday on the former's grounds. Considerable rivalry has existed between the teams for some time and altho the Bronte boys did not look for any favors, still they little expected the reception which awaited them. From the first it was evident to any unfamiled onlooker that Bronte would never have a ghost of a show against the umpire used by Milton. For five innings the game was a beauty. In the sixth, after one man was struck out, bases were filled on errors by the Bronte fielders and a hit by a Milton man. The next man up made a foul bit, which went three feet outside of the base line, but, to the amazement of all, the umpire called it a fair ball and two runs came in. Seeing that the game was up, the Bronte team lost all heart and went completely to pieces, Milton scoring seven runs in that innings. In regard to Bronte using Williams of Toronto, we wish to say that Williams' home is now in Bronte, altho he pitches for the Wellingtons in Toronto. We also wish to say that Harvey pitched a beautiful game, but his curves were so sharp that the umpire either couldn't or wouldn't see them. There were but five hits made off him, not ten, as reported. After the game a representative of the Bronte team offered $100 even that the locals could defeat Milton on a Toronto, Oakville or Hamilton diamond. He found no takers. Before closing we wish to say that the Milton boys have a good team, their pitcher being the mainstay of the aggregation, but, unfortunately, there is not enough of the sportsman-like spirit in most of them to see fair play for outsiders.

Amateur Baseball.

The Sunnyside A. C. baseball team defeated the Olympia B.B.C. by 12 to 4. Battery for winners—J. Ball, F. Caufield. The wentures were the heavy batting of the Sunnysides and the pitching of Ball, he striking out 11 men; also a difficult catch by T. McLean.

The Beverleys defeated the Waterloos of the Queen City League by 18 to 2. Battery for winners—M. Burns, Newton and Shippley.

The East Toronto Juvenile Baseball Club would like to arraneg a game for Saturday with any city team preferred, average age 17 years. Apply to G. Fitzgerald, Mainstreet, East Toronto.

The All-Stars of Toronto Junction defeated the Senates of the same place at baseball on Saturday by 2 to 1. George McClelland, weighmaster at the Union Stock Yards, drove in the winning run with a three-base hit that should have been a homer, if he had used his running shoes. The splendid pitching of Charles Bolton was also a feature, he having 12 strikeouts to his credit. Both teams put up a splendid article of ball.

In the Toronto Senior Lacrosse League, the Stars of Mimico and New Toronto defeated I.C.B.U. on the latter's grounds by 4 to 2. The game proved very exciting from start to finish, I.C.B.U. scoring the first goal in 12 minutes play, but the Stars evened up two minutes before time. Half-time ended: Stars 2, I.C.B.U. 1. After 15 minutes' play in the third quarter I.C.B.U. evened the score, making it 2-all. During the last 10 minutes of the game the Stars by cleved combination managed to score twice before time. The winners lined up as follows: Goal, D. Stubbs; point, C. Northcote; cover-point, J. Cochrane; first defence, H. Smyth; second defence, N. Macdonald; third defence, G. Styles; centre, H. A. Bailey; third home, Ernest Harrison; second home, E. Northcote; first home, Ed. Harrison; outside home, J. Harrison; inside home, T. Partridge.

Visitors Make Bad Start First Day of International Cricket Match.

Philadelphia, July 9.—Under ideal conditions the International cricket match between the United States and Canada began to-day on the grounds of the Germantown Cricket Club, and when stumps were drawn at 6.30 p.m. for the day the home players had scored 274 for their first innings and the visitors 31 for the loss of five wickets. The American eleven is made up of players selected from local clubs. The Americans, who won the toss, elected to bat first. Seven of the home players reached double figures. J. B. King made the top score to-day—63 runs. By comparison, the batting of the Canadians was rather weak against the splendid bowling of King, Clark and Greene. Score:

The victory of Grace Church over the Toronto Club Saturday was a clever performance by the ex-C. and M. Leaguers. The fielding and bowling on both sides were fine, the score being 71 to 49. Marsden, Crean and Millward securing double figures for Grace Church. The result places three teams tied, and St. Simons only a point ahead of them. St. Albans having a long lead. Mr. Byington of South Bend acted as liberator and released the pigeons at 6.15 in the morning, Toronto time. The race proved to be one of the best that have been flown from South Bend for a number of years, as most of the pigeons got home in the time limit. The race results were as follows:

Magee Bros., W. D. Taggart, 10 hours 48 min. 35 sec.; W. Harris, Joe Turvey, W. Hammill's Fly, Dutchman, 10.47.29; 10.49.08; O. Parm's Riverdale, 10.59.45; E. Kemp's Mrs. F. G., 10.56.14; J. Football Kicks.

Green River Shamrock Football Club is informed that the goal should count unless the referee maintains that the left wing interfered with the goalkeeper, thus making it offside play, the goal thus being properly disallowed.

Harry Brown, who refereed the senior final game between Seaforth and Dundas, at Dundas, Saturday, makes it clear that his decision re the disputed goal was right. The goal umpire was not a non-partisan.

McBride and Brierly of the Brantford team announce their retirement from the game.

GOLDWIN SMITH RETIRES FROM UNIVERSITY BOARD

Feels That Interests Would Be Better Served in Appointment of Younger Man.

Dr. Goldwin Smith will resign from the board of governors of Toronto University.

Dr. Smith has intimated that his reasons are that the reorganization of the university required time and labor, and at his advanced age he could not undertake the responsibilities of attending meetings at all times. He wishes to allow a younger man to take hold of the work, and hopes for the board the best of success.

At a special meeting of the board of governors yesterday the resignation of President Loudon was discussed at length, but the matter was laid over until to-morrow afternoon.

Dr. Smith was not present.

Eighteen hundred chairs have been purchased by the board for Convocation Hall at a cost of $10,800. They are the style used in the visitors gallery of the house of representatives at Washington, and are manufactured by a Boston firm.

CONVICTS AND THEIR LABOR

Work of Kingston Men on Binder Twine Mentioned in House.

Ottawa, July 9.—(Special.)—In the house to-night, Mr. McPherson (Vancouver) recalled the Brothier case, Brothier had been pardoned and had been required to leave Canada within 24 hours. He went to Seattle, but was deported by order of the American government. Upon his return the provincial government arrested him upon another charge. Mr. McPherson asked whether Brothier was to be pardoned if again convicted. Mr. Aylesworth said that he was not familiar with all the facts in the case, but intimated that he would be in no hurry to issue a second pardon.

In considering some estimates respecting the Kingston Penitentiary, Dr. Reid (Grenville) referred to the manufacture of binder twine at the penitentiary, and Mr. Macdonell (South Toronto) objected to convicts competing with free labor. He submitted that the convicts should manufacture for export exclusively.

Mr. Aylesworth said it was difficult to find any work at which to employ the convicts that would interfere less with free labor. The twine was sold at cost. A convict's labor was reckoned at 31 cents per day.

Mr. Brodeur presented some estimates which passed, including a vote of $20,000 for the establishment of Marconi wireless station between Cape Race and Cape Ray.

DR. HOSSACK RESIGNS.

Unable to Devote Time for the Hospital Board.

Rev. D. C. Hossack of Deer Park Presbyterian Church, who was last week appointed by the Ontario government as one of its representatives on the hospital board, has fowarded his resignation to the provincial secretary. He pleads inability to devote sufficient time to the work.

Dr. Hossack was asked last evening if his resignation had anything to do with the sentiments expressed in his sermon on Sunday to North Toronto Orangemen, in which he said: "There were many forms of corruption lying between the buying of a poor man's vote and the stifling of criticism by the conferring of honors by a government upon its political opponents."

He said: "Oh, no! The government and I are not at loggerheads."

Rev. Norman McGillivray of Cornwall is in the city for a few days.

Dr. E. Herbert Adams has returned to the city after a three months' trip to the orient.

Judge Winchester is away on his holidays.

Rev. George Orman, rector Emmanuel Church, Shaw-street, will be absent in Montreal preaching July 15, 22, 29. His own pulpit will be supplied by Revs. C. H. Bartley, Wesley Casson and Dr. Stewart.

Hon. Alex. Troup, publisher of The Union, New Haven, Conn., was in the city yesterday. He is a former Canadian, who has done well across the line.

SECOND READING IN SENATE THO OBJECTIONS ARE MADE

Senator Cloran Wants Special Committee to Take Up Lord's Day Act.

Ottawa, July 9.—(Special.)—Quite unexpectedly this morning Hon. R. W. Scott, who was leading the senate, moved the second reading of the Sunday bill. Several senators objected, as so many members from Quebec had gone home over Sunday under the impression that this bill would not come up for discussion. Senator Scott addressed the senate at considerable length, reading and explaining the bill, section by section. He explained that it was a compromise bill, which did not go so far as was demanded by the public opinion of Ontario, but it might be considered as going too far by Quebec.

Mr. Choquette (Liberal), who is suggestive of Bourassa, protested against section 5 of the bill, which forbids any parks, public meetings or the like for admission to which any fee is charged. He announced that he would oppose the bill generally, but that this particular clause he would fight to the last. Personally he attended mass twice on Sunday, but he enjoyed harmless recreation of a Sunday afternoon.

Hon. J. K. Kerr gave notice of two amendments, one to restore the clause allowing the Jews to work on Sunday, and another to prevent prosecutions under the act except by direct order of the attorney-general.

Mr. McMullen, another Liberal, favored the bill, but apparently sought to align against it all the senators from Quebec. The Sabbath day should be kept holy. It was not kept holy by horse racing and gambling in Quebec. This brought Senators Cloran and Choquette to their feet in angry protest.

Mr. McMullen insisted that he had not intended to give offence. The effort was not to bring Quebec to Ontario's standard, but to bring her to God's standard.

Mr. Bostock (Liberal, British Columbia) said that Sunday was well observed thruout his province, altho the provincial Sunday laws only applied to a part of the province. He gave notice of an amendment to, or rather a substitute for, the bill, which not only validates all existing provincial laws, but attempts to delegate to the various provinces jurisdiction over criminal law hereafter so far as necessary to regulate Sunday.

Mr. Cloran (Liberal, Montreal) said this bill had been heralded as a government measure, the work of the Liberal party. He denied that it was anything of the kind. The bill passed by the house bore little or no resemblance to the bill as brought in by the government. It was called the Lord's Day bill, and yet the Lord was nowhere mentioned. No one was asked to go to church or to worship God. The bill was occupied with railways and smelters, with ball clubs and golf clubs. His own son had been arrested by the Lord's Day Alliance and fined three dollars for kicking a ball on Sunday. He did not like that kind of business and he did not propose to increase it. He insisted, however, that he respected Sunday, and desired it to be observed, and so did all the people of Quebec. The bill was full of errors. Mr. Fitzpatrick had invented a new day of rest. Section one of the pending bill reads as follows: "The Lord's Day means the period of time which begins at 12 o'clock on Saturday afternoon and ends at 12 o'clock on the following afternoon." Mr. Cloran quoted from dictionaries and legal decisions to show that the word "afternoon" did not include the evening. He pointed out the absurdity of forbidding Sunday, yet permitting Monday morning papers.

Mr. Moran gave notice that he would move for the appointment of a special committee to consider the pending bill and the Sunday question in all its phases.

Senator Frost (Liberal, Ontario) thought that Senator Cloran was too anxious to find some defects in the bill. He thought it a sensible, conservative mensure. He efared the advent of the "American Sunday," and thought it the duty of Canada to guard against it.

Senator Landry opposed the bill as an intrusion upon provincial rights.

Senator Choquette said that the bill was a doubleheaded affair. There were sections properly enough in a Dominion Act, while others related to local affairs, and should be eliminated. While opposed to the bill in its present form he would not delay its progress at this time.

The second reading was then carried without division. It will come up in committee to-morrow.

Berlin, July 9.—A despatch to The Tageblatt from Duisburg, Prussia, to-day announced that the custom authorities of Duisburg, as the result of the discovery that inferior Russian meat was being smuggled across the frontier into Germany, seized a consignment which proved to be the carcases of unborn calves.

A witness testified that a number of large firms were regularly importing such meat.

CONDUCT SUNDAY SCHOOL ON BASIS OF BUSINESS

Should be Made as Attractive as Possible to the Young Men.

The summer school sessions of the Ontario Sunday School Association opened at Victoria College yesterday. Delegates from all over Ontario are present. The object of the convention is to promote Sunday school methods and Sunday school work.

During the day a registration session was held.

The public meeting in the evening was presided over by Mayor Coatsworth, and brief addresses were made on the subject of Sunday school promotion by Mr. Justice McLaren, John Wanless, W. E. Groves and Mr. Senior. During the evening several solos were pleasingly rendered by Mrs. Pickard and Miss Helen Hamilton.

The keynote to the several addresses was the desirability of early training the girls and boys in the paths of moral and Christian rectitude.

Dr. MacLaren did not fully concur in the general belief that 80 per cent. of the Sunday school scholars find their way into the Christian church. There was much work to be accomplished before a very great increase over the present average of graduates from Sunday school to church members would be made. He seemed to believe that the successful Sunday school should be conducted along a business basis as far as consistent with the operation of the school, and as broad a scope as possible granted to the young in order to make the Sunday school as attractive as possible.

Mr. Wanless saw much good accomplished in public schools by discipline, but felt great anxiety for the young boys and girls who were permitted to trudge the streets. The good they gained there, he thought was more than offset by the evils they contract. He made reference to the Don valley, saying he had been informed that parts of it "literally swarmed with young men learning to shoot craps."

Mr. Senior, who addressed the assembly in the absence of Mr. O'Hara, took an optimistic view of the Sunday school work. "We are told," he said, "that this is an age of commercialism and mercinary spirit, but when we take into consideration the fact that so many prominent men in all walks of life come to these conventions every year, sacrificing time and interests to devotion to Sunday school work, it makes me feel that the spirit of Christianity is gaining constantly and that mercenary ideas are not uppermost in the minds of many of our great professional and business men."

Profanity, thought one of the speakers, was on the increase among the young, and must be curbed.

AMENDMENTS WITHDRAWN.

Telephone and Express Company Bill Passes the Senate.

Ottawa, July 9.—(Special.)—The senate was the centre of attraction to-day. There was a rumor that some of the great corporations were opposing the amendments to the railway act, and the presence of several well-known attorneys and lobbyists in the senate chamber gave color to the report.

When the bill was taken up in committee, however, it was announced that the opposition to the telephone and express company amendments had been withdrawn.

Mr. Lancaster's clause, regulating the speed of trains thru cities and villages was stricken out; but otherwise the bill was passed as it came from the commons.

PRESENTS FOR MR. TELFORD.

This evening the Owen Sound Lawn Bowling Club presented him with a gold watch and chain, of the value of $100. He was also presented with a suit case by the Intermediate W.F.A. Football Club.

10,000 HEAR CHAMBERLAIN DEFEND CHANGED OPINIONS

Quotes Gladstone to Support Him —Why Colonies Deserve Favor.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

Birmingham, July 9.—The celebration in honor of Joseph Chamberlain's attainment of 70 years was continued tonight when 10,000 persons assembled in Bingley Hall to witness the presentation of 120 addresses of appreciation of Mr. Chamberlain's political services. The addresses came from various parts of the United Kingdom. Replying to the speech, Mr. Chamberlain entered on a political retrospect.

Alluding to the charge that he had often changed his opinions, Mr. Chamberlain quoted Wm. E. Gladstone, who once said that change was a sign of life, and that it was only the dead who remained the same.

Mr. Chamberlain said that Cobden rejoiced chiefly in the federation of Canada because he thought it was a preliminary step to entire separation from the mother country. Cobden also opposed the possession of India. Thus "if the men who advocated free imports had their way we would have no colonies to which to give a preference, and England without an empire is not the England we love."

He proceeded: "We can extend our trade in the best markets with our best friends, and can benefit them by trading with them while they give us reciprocal advantage in a preference which they give our manufacturers. We can draw closer the growing nations of sister states by commercial union, and can pave the way for that federation which I see constantly before me.

"As a practical object of my aspiration, that the federation of free nations would enable us to prolong for ages yet to come all the glorious traditions of the British race, if we fulfil these aspirations we must cultivate the affection and sympathy of those children of ours in the colonies, and must learn to understand them better and appreciate more highly their mission and their work. They have worthily maintained the honor of the flag in their interests of empire and deserve our sympathy."

In a letter, C. E. Ballantyne, president of the C.M.A., conveys congratulations to Joseph Chamberlain of every member of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, hoping he will visit Canada.

A Canadian writing an appreciative article on Chamberlain in The Post says the colonies regard him as a forerunner of new generation of British statesmen who, like Laurier and Seddon, combine social reform with practical imperialism.

FELL IN TORRENTS.

Yesterday's Series of Showers Caused Floods in Streets.

Just when everybody had begun the trite and rebellious remonstrance against the torrid waves from Sol's kingdom yesterday afternoon a sudden veil of sombre hue spread itself across the city and bay, and a moment later Jupiter Pluvius pulled open and down poured the freshening flood of the heavens. It was welcome at first, but when it continued in torrents, stopping only momentarily and then renewing with greater streams, the remarks were turned upon the rain king. Now and again there would be a brief spell when the rain would abate and the sun smile down upon the thousands looking skyward for relief from the drenching showers. But it would be only momentary—just long enough to allow pedestrians to start across the streets, when down it would pour again with greater force than before. Finally the downpour became so heavy that only the newsboys dared brave its torrents, crying their wares in unabated stentorian voice.

At just one minute to four o'clock a sizzling crackling stroke of lightning shot down and flashed across the fire department's alarm circuit on Bay-street, setting off the gong at No. 1 fire station, and simultaneously opening the automatic stall doors, and out pranced the horses ready for a shower bath. When they saw it was a false alarm they backed into their stalls, congratulating themselves that they did not have to wet their polished coats in the sheets of aqua pura streaming from on high.

Opposite the station is a little old-time refreshment stand with a sign on the door reading "Ice-cream and." The flooded streets were now flowing over the curb in swift running currents, and drifting along with other flotsam happened a board with a sign across the top of it. Just opposite the refreshment stand the signboard struck a knot, upturned and blasted itself bang up against the door, and lo and behold the sign now reads, "Ice-cream and firecrackers."

An umbrella whirled along end over end, inside out, and a fireman ran to the rescue, returning like a wet hen making for cover.

By this time old boards and scantling swam along with small boys "river driving" in great glee.

An umbrella whirled along end over end, inside out, and a fireman ran to the rescue, returning like a wet hen making for cover.

Not a barefoot boy went to bed last night with dirty feet. Mighty streams swelled the depth of the bay; gardens were washed out in many places and even the milk received its share, it is said, of the H2O. The whiskey, however, was spared, as it is cried aloud saying, 'Behold, there is plenty of water in me now."

These are great days for the "press your suit" agents. The tailors are kept busy pressing out the rain wrinkles, and the umbrella merchants are taking profits.

The jury's verdict in the inquest over Charles Goldsmith, who died at No. 3 Police Station Saturday evening, was death from pneumonia.

Clergyman, Married, Resigns on Account of Low Salary.

Ottawa, July 9.—Rev. J. A. Shaw, rector at Sandown, Diocese of Ottawa, has addressed an open letter to Bishop Hamilton, resigning from the ministry.

His reason is that he cannot keep his family on $800 a year, the same stipend as he got when he entered the ministry, a single man.

He says at this figure he got more than seven-tenths of his brethren.

He asks that some single layman take up the work he is quitting.

MORE MUTINY.

Regiments at Tambov Revolt and Are Barricaded in Barracks.

Tambov, July 9.—A mutiny broke out July 7 in the Kasarva Regiment of cavalry, and during the consequent disorder an infantry officer and a soldier of the Nejini Dragoons, who attacked the mutineers, were killed.

The mutineers have barricaded themselves in their barracks.

St. Petersburg, July 9.—The news of the mutiny at Tambov, which apparently is the most serious of such affairs since the Sebastopol mutiny, is confined to the bare details of a censored agency despatch, showing that the mutineers, when attacked by loyal troops, offered armed resistance before retreating to their barracks, where they are now barricaded.

UP TO THE COUNCIL.

Now that the mayor and the city council have got Judge Winchester's report upon the civic investigation carried out by him in terms of their various requisitions, the question comes: What are they going to do with it? The judicial conclusions speak for themselves, and disclose conditions which indubitably call for action of a prompt and drastic character. However unpleasant it may be for the city council to follow forth the course called for by the painful circumstances detailed by Judge Winchester, they have a public duty to perform, and in the best interests of good and pure administration and for the establishment and enforcement of a proper standard of civic life, it is essential that the arm of the criminal law be invoked without fear or favor against each and every individual shown, by the evidence led, to have been guilty of an indictable offence.

While there is no reason to believe that the mayor and council fail to appreciate the gravity of the situation, it is well for them to realize that they themselves are no less upon their trial. This is one of the crises which test the quality of public men, and the citizens certainly will not suffer any faltering or paltering on the part of their representatives with the serious issues at stake. Judge Winchester's report is a voluminous and exhaustive one. Under the provisions of the Municipal Act, his duty begins and ends with making the desired enquiry and reporting it to the council, with whom rests the responsibility for further action. It is their plain duty to act up to the full measure of their responsibility, and to instruct a prosecution wherever the evidence taken during the enquiry appears to justify it. Every day's delay beyond what is absolutely necessary will be injurious to the public interest, and will adversely react upon the council itself. In firmness and promptitude lies the path of safety for the council and for the city.

AMERICAN FLAG AND AMERICAN MONEY.

With the coming of summer comes editorial comments reproaching our people for lack of patriotism because they so freely display the American flag and so gladly accept the American dollar. It is pointed out that Canadian flags do not fly to the south of us, that Canadian silver is not taken at par, except in cities upon the border; and that the gallant soldiers of the Queen's Own found considerable difficulty in disposing of Canadian bank bills during their recent visit to New York. The query is not infrequent: "Why should we be so polite to our neighbors when they refuse to reciprocate?"

As to the flag, it may be said, upon general principles, that every nation should fly its own flag and no other, except upon a very special occasion and as a signal compliment to some very distinguished visitor. The criticism is, therefore, not against the Americans who observe the principle, but it is rather against our own people who fail to observe it.

But as we find in Toronto no attempt to display the national ensign of Germany, France or Turkey or of any other foreign nation, except the United States, it might be well to enquire if there is not some other reason, beyond our extreme politeness, to account for the display of the Stars and Stripes. Possibly the keepers of stores, hotels and cafes who flaunt the flag of our neighors may have a shrewd suspicion that the display will appeal, thru his patriotism, to the pocket of the American visitor. If this be the case there is reason to fear that the display will continue as long as men find that it contributes to profit.

So as to American money. When some newspaper refuses a legitimate advertisement because the intending customer tenders an American $100 bill in payment, its editorial dictum against accepting American money may cause the shopkeeper, the hotelkeeper and the railroad company to scorn it. For the present, they will probably take it.

Why is it that Canadian money will not be accepted thruout the United States?

It is largely because our paper money is issued by banks and is not absolutely guaranteed by the Dominion government. We know that the chartered banks are all solvent, but the Americans know little about them. Their national bank notes are issued and guaranteed by the United States government, and we, therefore, accept them. But at any rate they are free to refuse our money, if they see fit, and, we are free to refuse theirs, if we see fit. There is no compulsion on either side; but we are shrewd enough to take the money.

The fact that Winnipeg permitted the U.S. flag and that Lincoln, Neb., objected to the British flag on the 4th of July is open to explanation. Every Englishman admits that a great mistake was made in 1776 and he does not criticize the stand that was taken by the American colonist. It was a defiance of arbitrary power which he thoroly endorses, much as he may regret it. But to flaunt the British flag, on that particular day, in an American city, is naturally regarded as asserting that the original 4th of July was unjustifiable.

2. Bishop Potter is probably right in speaking of the Anglo-American alliance as "guff." Europe, not England, is the mother country of the United States; and the Germans and Irish as a rule are hostile towards England—but not to Canada. To call the United States "Anglo-Saxon" is ridiculous.

3.—The Englishmen in the United States are few in number and as a rule do not take out naturalization papers.

This renders them, in a way, a peculiar people, where, as a rule, every immigrant hastens to citizenship.

Strangely enough, the United States and Canada are dominated by a reciprocal delusion which every one who has lived in both countries most thoroly understands to be in fact ridiculous. The people in the United States are firmly convinced that Canada wishes to be annexed. The people in Canada are as firmly well satisfied that the United States is desirous of bringing about a forcible annexation.

As a matter of fact, the two countries more nearly occupy a position similar to Canada and Newfoundland. We flatter ourselves that the island colony would like to join us, but we would laugh at a Newfoundland who told us that anybody in the Dominion favored a forcible annexation. Of course there is quite a distinction, as Newfoundland and Canada acknowledge the same flag, the same King and the same Imperial parliament, but misunderstandings between the United States and Canada, sharing as they do the same literature and traditions and knowing each other so intimately, is hardly less justifiable.

And in passing, it may be observed that American visitors, as a rule, are impressed by the great number of British flags displayed in Toronto. So far from being behind the Americans in that respect, we are far ahead. If on the other hand we perceive here and there an American flag, it is safe to say that the man who hangs it out desires nothing American, except the American dollar.

THE LOT OF MR. NOTT.

Now, Charles Calder, M.L.A. for South Ontario, what is this heinous thing you have done? You have taken John Nott of Port Perry off the commission of the peace. True he has served thirty-one years as J.P., but he has not grown weary in well-doing. He wants to expire in harness. He has been sixty years in business in the one town, a tribute alike to his vitality and the hardihood of his neighbors. He is still strong and has issued a challenge to the new commissioners to "a rough and tumble." Yet you, sir, have cut him off from an unsalaried position in his prime, in the very flush of his physical and mental prowess, at the youthful age of eighty-one. Another nineteen years and he would be one hundred, and still a young man, a breathing example of the healthfulness of the ancient and honorable pursuit of undertaking.

And "general indignation" shakes the quiescence of beautiful Port Perry, cooing on the edge of Lake Scugog like a babe in its mother's arms. Like Rachel, Port Perry will not be comforted, for she has lost her favorite child from the list of J.P.'s. He is the village Marquis of Carabas, the maker of kings, the unmasker of party-soiled politicians, a Nemesis in short clothes sent to warn audacious Charles Calder that he will lose "a lot of votes."

Where are James Carnegie, Joseph Bigelow, W. H. McCaw and others, who were big men in Port Perry Liberalism thirty years ago? Is John Nott alone left of that goodly fellowship? From Carnegie, Bigelow and McCaw to Nott is—is—well, it's a far cry from Cape Breton to Vancouver. Yet John Nott was a Liberal magistrate for Port Perry for a generation; and filled the bill, if not brilliantly, yet acceptably to those who appointed him. This, indeed, is much honor, nay, enough honor for one man. Why should he wish to emulate the tortuous example of the Vicar of Bray and serve in another generation the masters that in times agone he knew not?

Magistracy has become a disease with John Nott, ex-J.P. He has sat so long on the board of commissioners of the peace that it has altered his bodily shape, just as, being one of the original subscribers of The Globe and even now a Constant Reader, he has acquired a mental tilt that sees in an act of charity the chosen hoof of partisan patronage. Ex-Squire Nott has done well by Port Perry for thirty-one years as her magistrate. I sit unkind to ask him to spend his remaining years far from the noisy scenes of litigation? Young he may be at eighty-one, but the country has no warrant to add burdens to the shoulders of one who has lived so long and excellently. He should go daily on the placid waters of Lake Scugog and troll for lunge. And tell fish stories. Charles Calder might appoint him fishery overseer, anything to give him just reward and take him into paths of peace. The lot of Mr. Nott is sad, but it might be worse, he might be still magistrate of Port Perry.

MR. AYLESWORTH AND PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

Mr. Aylesworth complained in the house of commons on Saturday that his views regarding public ownership have been misrepresented by The World. His grievance, as explained by himself, consists in this, that whereas in a recent discussion he had merely said "he did not think it (public ownership) was a practical question in this country, and he thought it would be many a long day before it became so," he had been reported as "hoping," as well as "believing," it would never take place in this country. The World would be extremely sorry to misrepresent any public man, particularly the minister of justice, on this subject, and gives every prominence to the honorable gentleman's explanation. Unfortunately, however, Mr. Aylesworth appears to have omitted to explain whether he really does or does not "hope" to see public ownership prevailing in Canada. On this the relative heinousness of the offence materially depends. If the minister of justice does not "hope" to witness the triumph of public ownership, the misrepresentation is verbal only; if he does "hope" to see it, his course in parliament is inexplicable.

When Mr. Aylesworth refrains so sedulously from making clear his position on the question of public ownership, he can scarcely complain if he is judged by his policy and votes rather than by his ambiguous quibbles and quiddities. His official career so far has been conspicuous for hostility to public ownership in every shape and form. If he has any "hope" at all in it as a political principle he has certainly managed to disguise effectually his belief in its efficacy. It is all very well for him to dissemble his love, but why did he kick down and out every proposal savoring of public control of public services? Yet he complains of misrepresentation when "hope" of its non-arrival is attributed to him. The simple fact is that he is repeating in parliament the tactics he pursued in North York, when he made what appeared to be a promise to the ear of the electorate and promptly broke it to the hope. Mr. Aylesworth would serve himself and his reputation for sincerity better by coming out squarely against public ownership. It is plain enough that if his hope remained unspoken it was in accordance with his belief.

THE MENACE OF ISLAM.

Europe was last week alarmed by the reappearance of an ancient peril, once formidable enough and even yet sufficiently dangerous to excite genuine disquietude. In the days when Islam was in the full flood of its missionary zeal, the menace to the western nations was no imaginary one. Fortunately the tide of invasion was broken by those eastern states which Mr. Gladstone once aptly and eloquently compared to the loose shingle on the beach against which the angriest breakers expend themselves before they reach the mainland. After the flag of Islam had been carried to its extreme limit and its expansive force was exhausted, the inevitable process of disintegration began. Piece by piece the conquered territory has been regained, and but for the political and diplomatic rivalries among the great powers it can scarcely be doubted that ere this the rule of the Turk would have disappeared from Europe.

The failure of the policy pursued by successive sultans in the effort to arrest the restriction of their empire has latterly aided the efforts of the leaders of the pan-Islam movement to rekindle the fires of Mohammedan fanaticism. In this they have been aided by the fact that it formed part of a current towards united action on the part of men professing a common faith visible thruout the old and new world. The first indications of pan-Islamism were observed everywhere in Europe with concern, and particularly so by the governments who had to deal immediately with Mohammedan subject races. Of these Britain and France were of course most closely concerned—Britain indeed having more Moslems directly under her sway than the sultan himself. The French government, true to its traditions, was for a time inclined to pose as the special protector of Islam on its religious side just as it had sought to gain political prestige from its claim to occupy a similar relationship in Palestine to Catholic Christians. This attitude naturally added to the responsibilities of the British ministries, to whom nothing that concerned Mohammedan feeling could be indifferent.

Not the least of the many benefits attending the Anglo-French entente and the removal of all occasion of misunderstanding is the avoidance of any temptation to use pan-Islamism as a diplomatic factor. It need not be supposed that any European power would deliberately set itself to encourage another fanatical outbreak on the part of the followers of the prophet, but Constantinople has always been a hotbed of political intrigue, and none knows better than the Turk how to play one government against another. The improved situation became very evident in connection with the recent dispute over the encroachment upon Egyptian territory, where the sultan received no countenance whatever from any quarter and had perforce to accept the British ultimatum and withdraw his troops.

That the situation in the east holds within it critical possibilities was made apparent by the speech of Sir Edward Grey in the house of commons, which contained a note of unusual gravity. In accepting full responsibility for the punishment meted out to the natives engaged in the murderous attack on a party of British officers and anxiously deprecating any observations which might tend to encourage a spirit of lawlessness among the fellaheen, he succeeded in impressing the public with the conviction that the Mohammedan peoples are passing thru one of those periods of religious unrest which are peculiar to eastern peoples. So far as Egypt itself is concerned, there appears to be no political revolt against British tutelage. This is satisfactory so far, but on the other hand it demonstrates the strength of the fanatical propaganda. The imminence of a holy war is a sharp reminder that, tho in the twentieth century, the sword cannot yet be sheathed.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

Editor World: In a recent issue of your paper, reference is made to the condemnation of Christian Science on the part of the Bishop of London, after which it is added: "That condemnation will, doubtless, be endorsed by the majority of sensible, level-headed persons." Again, it is stated, "Perhaps it would have been well if the Church of England had spoken out thus clearly before the doctrines of Mrs. Eddy had gained their present hold in the mother country." With all due respect to the Bishop of London, I desire to say that even his opinion should have no weight with the public if that opinion be found to be a mistaken one. We are always pained when an intelligent man commits himself in a manner to subject himself to future humiliation, when he shall have discovered his misjudgment. The bishop has taken pains to mention that the practice of Christianity should include the healing of the sick, and it is too bad that he has uttered himself against that particular interpretation of Christianity which has contributed in the largest degree to that end. It is lamentable that he has undertaken to cry down that special understanding of truth, which is restoring the waning faith of Christendom simply because it happens to disagree with the popular belief, notwithstanding that it affords less means of maintaining the faith of the church. Your intimation that loss of life has occurred thru neglect of proper medical treatment should be weighed against the following facts: It has been stated by eminent physicians that 85 per cent of those who are treated by various means would recover without any sort of treatment, and that a large percentage of the remaining 15 per cent. could not be cured at all. This leaves a mere moiety to be cured by all kinds of treatment combined. Reckoning according to the proportion of individuals who are depending upon Christian Science in times of sickness, they are entitled to one death out of every 65 which occur, but Christian Scientist practitioners do not lose anything near this proportion, and this is positive evidence that they cure a larger proportion of their patients than the M. D.'s. Hence, only a small number could possibly be lost by the neglect of medicine, according to the M. D.s' own version of it. Furthermore, about 70 per cent. of those who have applied to Christian Science for treatment had already exhausted their hope in material remedies, and the result of an examination in two states of the United States, made about a year ago, showed that 90 per cent. of these had either been healed or permanently benefited thru Christian Science. There is no ground for criticism if perchance a percentage of these incurables, who have turned to Christian Science as a last resort, continue in their downward course, even unto death. Christian Scientists who have tested both the use of medicine and the exclusive dependence upon God have chosen that which they have proved to be the better remedy. In answer to your question as to the better way of dealing with Christian Science by church and stated, we would suggest that the people shall be permitted to choose for themselves. They are not likely to follow to any great extent a theory or practice which does not keep its promises of good results.

DON IMPROVEMENT AGAIN BOARD OF HEALTH TO ACT

"Water Supply May Be Contaminated by Don Impurities." Says Dr. Hodgetts.

Contamination of the water supply of the city and of East Toronto is feared by the provincial board of health from the new plan to straighten the River Don, whose waters, carrying a large amount of sewage, are to be discharged directly into Lake Ontario thru the proposed channel. Hitherto this stream has flowed into the bay, but the intention is to cut thru the bar enclosing Ashbridge's Bay and close the channel into Toronto Bay. The result, according to the board of health, when the outflow is directly into the lake, will be to endanger the purity of the water south of Balmy Beach, where the East Toronto intake is situated, and at the city intake. The Health Act requires the submission of the plans for every common sewer or other sewage project to the board of health. The board, in this instance, owing to the importance of the matter, has instructed the secretary, Dr. Hodgetts, to communicate with the city authorities, and to obtain particulars of what is purposed. As a heavy penalty is provided for any violations of the regulations, or such as would cause a menace to the public health, it was thought to be more considerate to take this course. It is probable that a conference of the city officials and those of the board will result.

A Cambodian Critic.

A queer diary of the King of Cambodia's French tour is being written by his majesty's lord chamberlain, for publication when the royal party returns to Puompenh, the capital of Cambodia.

By the help of one of the king's interpreters I have obtained extracts from the diary, from which it appears that the lord chamberlain thinks many things are awry in France.

"The French people," writes the lord chamberlain, "talk a great deal, all talk together, and women interrupt their husbands without fear of punishment.

"Very little respect is shown to people in high places, and even servants speak to them without prostrating themselves.

"But most people are rude in France, and the rudest are the men who make pictures. Many of these persons have not even refrained from threatening the sacred dancers of the king with the machines they carry in boxes.

"Everybody wears far too many clothes, and they are worn all day long. Many wear numbers of unnecessary garments, especially the women.

"The women do not wear sompots (trousers), but instead wear many superfluous yards of different colored materials placed one on top of the other. And the husbands encase the bodies of wives in cuirasses worn underneath the dresses.

"Men and women meet together in large companies, and quite without shame. They pray little, or not at all; but their temples are magnificent, and built of fine stone."

Dried Fresh Milk.

Mr. Erenberg, a Swedish doctor, has discovered a process by which he can convert fresh milk into a powder soluble in water.

By the new process the ordinary milk is eliminated of all water, and is dried gradually. The lumpy substance which is left is then ground into fine powder. The milk powder contains all the elements of pure milk, and retains the natural flavor. For all purposes the dried milk can replace fresh milk. It can be used in tea and coffee; it is suitable for infants, and in the manufacture of confectionery it is better than the ordinary fluid. Cheese and butter can also be made from the powder.

The cost of the process amounts to less than one half penny per gallon.

Bishop's "Criminal Conduct."

Mr. Athelstan Rendall will ask the first lord of the treasury whether his attention has been called to the speech made by the Bishop of Manchester at Albert Hall, in which he is reported to have bidden the Speaker to pitch education bill into the Thames.

Mr. Rendall wants to know if this proposal to remove a document from the precincts of the house and to destroy it is criminal conduct, and when made by a member of the upper house is a breach of privilege.

Killed by a Leopard.

A. M. Davies, son of Gen. Davies, has been killed by a leopard in Mashonaland.

He was in charge of a party conveying stores from Meisetter to Umtali when the leopard killed one of the donkeys employed in drawing the loads. The leopard was driven off and poison placed on the donkey's carcase.

Next morning Mr. Davies saw the leopard lying motionless near the donkey, and, thinking it was dead, went up to it unarmed. When within two yards, the brute sprang at his throat, and inflicted such injuries that Mr. Davies died. The leopard escaped in the bush.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Etiquet.

Much can be told of a person's good taste and breeding by her correspondence. In her stationery, in her style, in her handwriting will show many traits and characteristics. The one style of stationery that is always in good taste, is a plain white unruled sheet, folding once into its envelope, which should fit it exactly. The paler lines of blue, grey, green or buff are sometimes used, and as long as quiet and unpronounced are permissible, but one is always sure when one uses a good white paper. The use of perfumery on stationery is never in good taste, and certainly should be of the faintest and most elusive character. Sealing wax may be used if desired, but a soft dull color should be chosen, and the sealing should be very carefully done. It should be unnecessary to say that a married woman should sign her name "Mary Blank" not "Mrs. John Blank," the latter, if the correspondent is a stranger, being put in brackets beneath her signature.

It is well to remember that one cannot be too careful in one's correspondence, as any neglect or delay may occasion serious consequences, and any carelessness in paper, style, or matter is a slight upon one's correspondence, consequently never make apologies for such carelessness. If an apology be necessary its occasion is very uncomplimentary to the receiver of the letter, and naturally he or she will not be very well pleased to have it drawn to his notice.

Mabel—No, let the gentleman take care of his own coat and hat when he calls. It is an evidence of poor breeding if he asks you to help him on or off with his coat.

Richard IV.—In Canada it is considered in best taste for the gentleman to walk on the outside of the street, when walking with a lady, unless there be some special reason for his taking the other side. Going up or down stairs the gentleman goes first, the lady following, but going up the aisle at church, theatre or concert hall the lady always precedes the gentleman.

Madame—A widow on remarriage should never be accompanied by bridesmaid. Neither may she wear a veil or orange blossoms, or may she be married in white. She should be attended by her father, brother or some near friend. Yes, she removes her first wedding ring before the second ceremony.

Women and Their Clubs.

The idea prevalent among the majority of Canadian women as to the superiority and progressiveness of their sisters on the other side of the line is rather trying to those who have given thought to the comparison. To those who believe that the Canadian woman and her British sister are quite as "advanced" in the modern sense of the word, the disparaging remarks made by those who should know better are extremely annoying. And that the women of the United States should arrogate to themselves all that is meant by the term "American women" and that this should be acquiesced in quietly by Canadians is even more exasperating still.

While the nation to the south has gone perhaps to the extreme of overestimating its powers and capabilities, there is no reason why Canadians should go to the other extreme and not only under-estimate themselves and their country, but allow others to do so. There is a deal of truth in the old saying which says that according to a man's valuat'on of himself will be the valuation of the world, and the truth therein may be aptly applied to a nation as well.

One of the things about which the Canadian woman is especially envious of her sister to the south is her club, and yet a real woman's club would be hard to find in the country across the border. Their women are continually talking about their clubs, and every enterprising newspaper gives up a considerable amount of space to the doings of these bodies, but a little attention to their life and periodicals in American feminine parlance simply means an organization. It may be a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals, or for advancing the interests of labor, or for promoting the study and consumption of mushrooms, or it may by chance be a social club, tho the last is very improbable.

The West End Republican Club of New York is a body of men of like political principles, who have a nice little club house, where they can not only hold political conferences, but where they can rest and recreate, entertain their friends and meet each other, but any one who assumed that the Women's West End Republican Club was an organization of the same kind would be much mistaken. The women meet once or twice a month at the men's club for political study, and do a great deal of hard work at election times, and occasionally they have a social gathering, but the delights of club life in the ordinary masculine sense of the word are not for them, and the same may be said, almost without exception, of all the organizations which the Americans speak of as clubs. They are a sort of university extension system for the most part, designed for mutual improvement and social service, and the social side, however pleasant it may be and often is, is only incidental. Some of them have rooms that are always open to members, and a few very fortunate ones, such as the Professional Women's League of New York, have whole buildings, which are used for classes and meetings, with a sitting room, library and office. Some are trying to raise money to secure club buildings, but the majority are homeless. Even Sorosis, the far famed mother of women's clubs, has no club home, and uses the Waldorf Astoria for semi-monthly meetings, a monthly breakfast and an annual dinner.

But a woman's club is not therefore a mere figment of the imagination, for English women do have real clubs. In London there is quite a variety of these delightful places, from the aristocratic and exclusive circle where princesses and duchesses drop in for an afternoon cup of tea, to the professional woman's rendezvous, where busy workers can be sure always of meeting congenial people with less expenditure of time than is required for ordinary social life, where women journalists congregate at night to write up late assignments and to which the London newspapers are always ready to send for copy.

It is of places like this that English women think when they speak of clubs, and they cannot understand why people should meet once in a blue room to bore each other with stupid papers and think they are having clubs.

While Canadian women as yet may not have many clubs in the British sense of the word, they are certainly as far advanced in that particular at least as are the women of the United States, and have no reason for envy.

It may be that by-and-by as the idea and influence of imperialism becomes more universal thru the British domains Canadian women will follow the idea of the motherland in the matter of clubs as well as in other matters, and find that for real advancement and progress the British woman can be surpassed by no other woman of the world.

KILLED AT HIS WORK.

Inquest to Be Held Into Death of John Wilson.

John Wilson, fireman at the Don Valley Brick Yards, did not die of heart disease Saturday morning, as was first stated, but was killed in the act of taking out the Scotch block from under the wheels of a brick car, previous to letting it run down the incline. He was on his knees in the narrow passageway, with his head and shoulders between the car and a post, which sustains the fence along the side of the tramway. As the block was pulled away, the car must have started suddenly and pinned Wilson's neck against the post.

An inquest was held Sunday night at Washington & Bartlett's undertaking rooms, which adjourned to take place Friday evening in No. 1 police station.

The fire was discovered by the bartender when he came to work, and was extinguished before the arrival of the brigade. The damage was $25. The burglars pried open the bar door leading to a rear sitting room.

There is no clue to the murderer.

Noble's Buried Heart.

The story of a buried heart—brought back by sorrowing friends from Holland, when the body itself could not be conveyed to the family vault—has been recalled from the mists of tradition by the search for the relic among the ruins of Culross Abbey in Scotland, says The London Express.

In a vault in the Abbey is a small brass plate, which tells the story of the buried heart. The inscription is as follows:

"Near this spot is deposited the heart of Edward, Lord Bruce of Kinloss, who was slain in a bloody duel fought in 1613 with Sir Edward Sackville, afterwards Earl of Dorset, at Bergen-op-Zoom, Holland. The heart is embalmed in a silver casket of foreign workmanship, secured between two flat and excavated stones clasped with iron."

Lord Elgin and the present Lord Bruce recently visited the Abbey—which is being restored—and in the presence only of the master of works and the foreman mason searched the family vault of the Bruces.

The search proved that the vault was empty, but about a foot below the pavement a large stone was discovered. It is believed that beneath it the heart will be found.

The story of the duel is a tradition in the neighborhood. Insulted by Sir Edward Sackville in a public place, Lord Bruce challenged his detractor, and the two gentlemen repaired to the Low Countries to fight out the quarrel. The conflict was fierce, and Bruce was mortally wounded. He was buried in the great church of Bergen, but ere he expired he begged his comrades to take his heart back to Scotland, and lay it in the old Abbey at Culross.

Montreal, July 9.—(Special.)—B. F. Pearson, M.L.A., for Colchester, N.S., would like to see the Dominion government take over the different railways in that province, and run them as a part of the I.C.R. Mr. Pearson is a supporter of Premier Murray, who, with the other provincial leaders, is working for better terms, but he says that as the especial sequence of the British North America Act, the Dominion government should relieve the Province of Nova Scotia of any future railway expenditure and recoup her for the sums already expended.

PROTECTION IS PROSPERITY LESSON CANADA LEARNED

Col. Denison's Remarks at Annual Meeting of the British Empire League.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, July 9.—At the annual meeting of the Empire League at the Mansion House this afternoon, Col. Denison declared that Canadians were unanimous on the question of tariff preference. They felt strongly because protection made them prosperous. Under free trade England was not prosperous. If Churchill's suggestion were adopted for arranging a preference between the colonies leaving England out, it would weaken the empire. He predicted that many members of the present government would yet change their views.

Sir Charles Tupper thought it couldn't be said that colonies were entirely without a voice when able colonists occupied seats in the British commons without losing interest in outlying portions from which they came. He endorsed the proposal of Earl Grey years ago for an imperial council composed of the agents-general of the colonies, making them privy councillors.

Lord Derby, the president, announced that efforts were being made to establish a club to repay the extraordinary hospitality to English visitors always received in the colonies. A resolution was adopted congratulating Mr. Chamberlain and old officers were re-elected.

HILL WOULD BUILD CANAL LAKE WINNIPEG TO SUPERIOR

Plans Said to Be Almost Completed and Work to Be Rushed.

St. Paul, July 9.—Jas. J. Hill has about completed plans for one of the greatest tasks in the transportation line the Northwest could be interested in. A canal connecting the great lakes with Lake Winnipeg is Mr. Hill's new scheme, and he makes the positive statement that it will be a reality before the Panama canal is ready to receive boats.

The building of this canal will make Mr. Hill practically master of the transportation business in the Northwest. With his great railroad systems, the new Canadian road he is now constructing, his line of steamers on the Pacific and boat lines on the great lakes, Mr. Hill will have little difficulty in dictating traffic matters to the vast section destined to become one of the richest in the world.

WRIT AGAINST JUDGE.

Alleged to Have Secured Property Transfer Unfairly.

Urquhart, Urquhart & McGregor, acting for Sarah Elizabeth Nicholson, yesterday issued a writ against Judge William C. Mahaffey and his wife, Jessie Sarah Mahaffy, to set aside a real estate transfer made to Judge Mahaffey by George Hughes, his father-in-law, aged 88, of 85 Winchester-street. The transfer bears date Aug. 28, 1905, and it is claimed it was obtained from Hughes after a walk with Judge Mahaffey, the former not knowing the contents.

Dr. W. P. Caven and Dr. Hamilton gave evidence touching Hughes' mental weakness. The first notification Miss Nicholson, who with her sister keeps house for Mr. Hughes, had of the transfer of property was when the tax bills arrived, on which the name of Sarah C. Mahaffey appeared as owner.

PRIEST STOPS SUNDAY DANCES

Makes Dancers Pray for Forgiveness for Breaking Commandment.

Montreal, July 9.—(Special.)—Father Holland of St. Anthony's Church has recently been engaged in a temperance campaign in the County of Two Mountains. When assisting at a religious service in a certain place, he noticed the absence of the young people. On enquiry he learned that there was to be a dance at a farmhouse in the neighborhood. Leaving the regular parish priest to conduct the meeting, he was driven to the place where the dance was going on, and entered the house without being observed. Then he watched the proceedings until the dance that was in progress was concluded. Stepping into the midst of the gay party he commanded them to kneel and pray. Some at first hesitated, not recognizing him to be a priest. Then he unbuttoned the dustcoat that had hidden his clerical clothing and also joined in prayers for certain occasions and certain sins, including those for forgiveness for having broken the fourth commandment. He also asked that a prayer be said "for those whose brains were in their heels," and, lastly, had prayer said for those who had seen fit to dance instead of attending to their religious duties on the Sabbath Day. He would not say they should never dance, but this, emphatically was not a proper time for the pastime.

A.O.F. BEFORE COMMISSION OFFICERS NEVER GOT LOANS

Secretary Makes That Quite Clear —Officers, Not Members, Raised Rates.

The Ancient Order of Foresters was before the royal commission on insurance yesterday, and William Williams, permanent secretary, was interrogated by Assistant Dominion Counsel W. N. Tilley. Mr. Williams gave a good account of himself. This "company" had no actuary.

The Central Life Company of Guelph will be called to-day. The commission will adjourn this afternoon to meet in Waterloo to-morrow, when enquiry will be made into the Mutual Life and the Dominion Life head offices in that town.

Before the commission commenced business Ontario Counsel Geary stated that the Ontario Policyholders' Association wished to appear before the commission before the final adjournment in the fall.

Mr. Tilley said that he would be glad to hear from the association at any time, in fact, any person or persons that wished to bring up any matters that would assist him in the examination.

William Williams told of the early history of the order when it was connected with high court of the order in England. Since 1881 the Canadian high court was independent. The different funds of the order were kept separate. It had been the custom to borrow from the sick and funeral benefit fund to help the insurance fund, but that was no longer possible, being contrary to the act. In 1898 the rates of assessment were raised by the officers without the sanction of the high court, despite the stubborn fight put up by many members. The investments of the company are limited to mortgages. It has a small block of Huron and Erie stock. Witness was emphatic in telling the commission that no loans had ever been made to officers of the order.

On being questioned, the witness said that under the present scheme a man might be admitted to insurance only, if the local court agreed. Many joined the order for social purposes only, and this was for the benefit of these men who really did not need the sick and general benefits. No juvenile insurance was taken.

Mr. Tilley asked why a special meeting of the high court had not been held in 1900 when delegates from Toronto and London waited on the executive committee and requested the privilege to discuss the changes in the beneficiary funds?

Mr. Williams said that there was no doubt but the members would object to the raise in the rates, as the secretaries of the various courts did. The idea was that the high court under the new schedule were trying to freeze out old members. The committee were agreed, however, that the new schedule was the correct one, and that the expense of calling a meeting of the high court—$4000—would be too great and would have to be taken out of the beneficiary fund.

The A.O.F. have $8000 capital over and above reserves, of which $4000 is set aside, on the suggestion of the permanent secretary, for the benefit of the old members, who might not be able to keep up the pace in the raise of rates.

Mr. Williams received a salary of $1500 a year. Agents received a bonus of $4 for every $1000 or over procured. thirty per cent. of the first quarters premium, 5 per cent. on the next three months, and 2 per cent. renewals after the second year.

The cost of business was $10 per thousand, or about one-third of the first year's premium.

The committee on investments was composed of the high chief ranger, the permanent secretary, and a Mr. Button.

Lapse ratio in 1901 was 19 per cent.; 1902. 11 per cent.; 1903, 9 per cent; 1904, 11 per cent.; 1905, 15 per cent. Witness could not tell exactly the reason for the low lapse ratio in 1903. The company had gone out after new business since 1903 pretty hard and hence some of the business might have been forced.

The rates of premium were fixed by Dr. Secord, and, altho not an actuary, witness thought he struck it pretty good.

Dr. Secord, chief medical officer, said that the premiums were fixed on the mortality table of the Canada Life with a fifteen per cent. loading, plus $2. This loading was put lower than other companies, because it was obvious, that business could be obtained in a fraternal way much cheaper than any other ways. Sentiment was a great factor.

Mr. Tilley then took up the first profit and loss statement that the witness had prepared since his connection with the company. The total profit shown was $8595 and the total loss $1456.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

FACTS IN NATURE.

Not Only Do We Get Inspiration From Nature, But Health as Well.

For people who are run-down and nervous, who suffer from indigestion or dyspepsia, headache, biliousness, or torpid liver, coated tongue with bitter taste in the morning and poor appetite, it becomes necessary to turn to some tonic or strengthener which will assist Nature and help them to get on their feet and put the body into its proper condition. It is becoming more and more apparent that Nature's most valuable health-giving agents are to be found in forest plants and roots.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. R. V. Pierce, now consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., discovered that by scientifically extracting and combining certain medicinal principles from native roots, taken from our American forests, he could produce a medicine which was marvelously efficient in curing cases of blood disorder and liver and stomach trouble as well as many other chronic, or lingering ailments. This concentrated extract of Nature's vitality he named "Golden Medical Discovery." It purifies the blood by putting the stomach and liver into healthy condition, thereby helping the digestion and assimilation of food which feeds the blood. Thereby it cures weak stomach, indigestion, torpid liver, or biliousness, and kindred derangements.

If you have coated tongue, with bitter or bad taste in the morning, frequent headaches, feel weak, easily tired, stitches or pain in side, back gives out easily and aches, belching of gas, constipation, or irregular bowels, feel flashes of heat alternating with chilly sensations or kindred symptoms, they point to derangement of your stomach, liver and kidneys, which the "Golden Medical Discovery" will correct more speedily and permanently than any other known agent. Contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed in plain English on wrapper.

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make a little more profit. He gains; you lose. Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Constipation causes and aggravates many serious diseases. It is thoroughly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One a laxative; two or three are cathartic.

TRADING STAMPS TO BLAME FOR DISRUPTED HOUSEHOLD

Magistrate Admits That Man Accused of Non-Support Had a Worthy Defence.

Philadelphia, July 9.—Trading stamps have broken up another happy home. Big, blunt Charles Weber, 4756 Paschal-avenue, told Magistrate Kochersperger all about it in city hall police court. And he didn' tmince his words either.

Weber had been brought to city hall in a patrol wagon. He sat in the dock as a prisoner, charged in a warrant sworn out by his wife, Emma, with non-support.

Mrs. Weber, contrary to the usual feminine trait, didn't primp up any for her public appearance. She looked as tho she had just dropped the scrub-brush and hurried to central station to appear against her better half. She was dressed in a flowered black straw hat, a figured gingham wrapper and an expansive smile. She said her husband didn't give her any money for support.

Weber seemed bewildered as he sat and listened to her tirade. The last straw was placed upon his heaving chest when she accused him of being rather economical in the matter of food. Then Charles 'eyes blazed with the heat of sudden anger and he rose up and demanded to be heard.

"In me you see a victim of the trading stamp curse," he told the magistrate. "My wife has the trading stamp habit and our house is filled with trading stamp books and trading stamp premiums. We've got enough green 'uns and red 'uns and yellow 'uns to paper the home. And still she keeps getting more and more.

"I'm a liberal provider, if I say it myself, and I give my wife more than enough to run the house with. She takes the money she should put by and goes to trading stamp stores, where she blows the whole business in on a lot of truck she's got no use for. When I ask her why she spends good money on stuff we don't need she just smiles and says:

"'Yes, dear, I know we don't need the goods, but then you see I get trading stamps with them.'

"Allow me to tell you 'judge,' of the stuff she's bought so she could get more stamps. Then you can see if we haven't got enough grub to feed us for a year."

Weber started in to enumerate.

"There's the sideboard," he said. "On there she's got piled up:

"Thirteen pounds of trading stamp coffee.

"Six and one-quarter pound packages of trading stamp tea.

"Fourteen pounds of trading stamp cocoa.

"Twelve packages of trading stamp cocoanut.

"Fifteen cans of trading stamp peas.

"Eleven cans of trading stamp corn.

"Twelve 25-pound bags of trading stamp sugar.

"Ten pounds of trading stamp rice.

"Ten cards of trading stamp shoe buttons.

"One dozen of trading stamp safety pins.

"Five cans of trading stamp baked beans.

"We've got enough to stock a little grocery store. We can never use all the stuff up. It lays around from week to week.

"Now the mice and rats are wise to the fact that there's easy feeding at our house. They eat the trading stamp stuff up. I bet there ain't a mouse or rat in any other house in the neighborhood. We've got 'em all.

"I provided an account at a store that doesn't give trading stamps for my wife, but she won't use it. She goes to the trading stamp stores instead. That's all and that's enough."

"You're more sinned against than sinning," Magistrate Kochersperger told Weber. "You have my deepest sympathy. Go home and live in peace. Discharged."

WALL STREET NERVOUS BUT CLOSES WITH RALLY

Smart Fluctuations in the Daily Grind at New York—Local Exchange Dull.

World Office,
Monday Evening, July 9.

The Toronto market was steady to-day, and in two or three issues the prices were held at an advance over Friday's close. The current trend of favorable news was unchanged, but sentiment is being more strongly shaped by Wall-street than anything else, altho there is no attempt here to follow the rapid swings of the bigger exchange. Speculation was light, even in the active stocks, while elsewhere the dealings were of a rather perfunctory nature. Mackay and Twin held their advances reasonably well, but the rally has killed off any outside new buying power. Richelieu was put thru for Montreal interests at a higher level, and it is again repeated that a dividend is to be forthcoming on the stock this fall. The stock is not liked locally, and, dividend or no dividend, will be left to the care of the Montreal holders. The South Americans and Mexicans are struggling against adverse sentiment also, and with the exception of Sao Paulo the prices of these issues were easier. Bank stocks were dull and the moderate offerings had no influence on prices. The market dragged at the close, despite a rally on Wall-street.

Washington.—In a letter just issued to national banks, Secretary Shaw says: "The treasury of the United States is unable to meet pressing demand for notes of small denominations." He appeals to banks to use every reasonable effort to relieve the situation. If each bank will do its share, there will be slight reason to complain of the inevitable shortage in small bills.

Joseph says: Crop reports are excellent. Corn is doing famously. Temperatures in western and southwestern states range from 76 to 86 degrees. This tells the story. Harriman says: "Pacifics are very good and exceedingly cheap." Keep a watchful eye on Illinois Central, in which there will be something doing. Firms which are loaning thousands of shares may conclude to call in their stock, in which event Illinois Central could readily sell nearer to 200. Get some. The report from Nashville, Tenn., that the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad Company will soon begin building a line from Baton Rouge, La., to Nashville, is positively denied by a man thoroly familiar with 'Frisco affairs. He says that the company has no intention of building such a line. The net earnings for the year of the Rock Island system are expected to show an increase of about $3,000,000, and the gross about $7,000,000. A prominent official of the Rock Island system says that the various roads in the system have a large business ahead of them. So far as can be learned, it has not been fully determined whether the regular dividend on 'Frisco first preferred stock will be maintained.

By reason of the disappointing exhibit made by the bank statement on Saturday, the opinions expressed with respect to the stock market for the next few days are conflicting. It is believed by some that the bank statement will be used by the bears to depress prices, and it is feared that this contingent will be successful in a marked way. Men who have come to town from the west since Saturday say that on the basis of prosperity which prevails thruout the country the transactions in stocks on the New York Stock Exchange should total 5,000,000 shares daily. They assert that the condition of the crops is excellent, and that the business is increasing at the large centres more rapidly than can be realized.—New York News Bureau.

Birmingham, Ala.—The completion of the Great Northern-United States Steel ore deal will leave the Tennessee Coal & Iron Company, the only great holder of iron ore in the country outside of the United States Steel Corporation. Interest naturally centres on these southern supplies, which are estimated by experts to amount to at least 700,000,000 tons. In the last year it has been demonstrated beyond doubt that this ore can be converted into the best steel rails in the world. Naturally this fact has added tens of millions to the value of the company's ore holdings. Tennessee Coal & Iron is understood to be making a profit of not less than $14 a ton on its steel rails, which sell at $29 a ton.

New York, July 9.—The tendency of U. S. Steel preferred is much more strongly upward now. Union Pacific would have a free and unopposed movement to above 150, according to our information, if the stock now offering around 145 is taken. Southern Pacific displays a stronger upward trend. Reading is tipped for a several-point advance this week, and is in a good position to go higher. A drive at M. P. shorts would not be surprising to-day, according to our deductions. A. C. P. encounters a little stock just above par. If taken, it will have a fiev-point advance, says a specialist. Information from Boston is bullish on A. C. P. American Locomotive displays a stronger upward tendency. We believe Smelters may be bought on all recessions. It is ready to be put much higher. C. F. & I. seems likely to do better at the expense of the shortage. St. Paul is tipped for higher prices. We would sell Pennsylvania and N. Y. C., only on good rallies at present.—Financial News.

New York, July 9.—Negotiations for an important American railway loan by French capitalists were concluded to-day at Paris. No details of the loan have been obtainable so far, but it is generally understood that the loan is for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul. The sum is variously stated at from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000.

Interests identified with the Missouri Pacific system, in discussing its earning power, say that actual results are justifying those who have maintained all along that the company possessed the ability to earn its dividends, and a good safe margin. When decreases in revenue were being shown last year, it was pointed out that they were due to adverse natural conditions, but the street paid no attention to the truth and insisted that the losses were due to bad management. As a matter of fact, the continued succession of unfavorable factors encountered by the company will probably never again be seen in any single year. As soon as the adverse conditions passed away, Missouri Pacific at once began to regain lost ground. Continuous increases since Jan. 1 have completely wiped out the decreases, and a total increase of $1,450,000 in gross is shown for the year ended June 30 last.

New York, July 9.—We understand on the recent decline in the Steel stocks there has been some excellent buying, particularly by Pittsburg interests. They can see nothing in the situation now at all similar to the conditions which prevailed in 1903, and state in their advices that there is no sign of any let-up in the steel business. A few weeks ago it was thought that the Steel Corporation for the quarter just past would show net earnings in the neighborhood of $38,000,000, but it is now stated in a semi-official way that the earnings for the quarter will amount to $39,000,000, which will exceed all previous records by nearly $1,250,000. A very well known operator is credited with saying that the market has gone low enough, and that, whether it is a bear or a bull market, prices ought to have a good rally. He pins his faith particularly to United States Steel issues, Amalgamated Copper and Southern Pacific, which, he believes, will sell considerably higher this month. He believes there are too many bears around just now, and says that he covered his shorts some time ago, and is playing the market for a good July rally.—Town Topics.

Dealing with the record of the C. P. R. for the year just closed, The London Economist estimates net earnings at $23,540,000, an increase of over $8,000,000. Other revenue, not including land sales, would make the total net earnings $25,290,000. Fixed charges and preferred dividend would leave $15,375,868 available for dividends on common stock, which at 6 per cent. would take $6,084,000, leaving a balance of $9,291,868. The Economist thinks, however, that in view of "competitive dangers," in existence and contemplated, the directors "will adhere to their conservative policy of not increasing the dividend."

The stock market has displayed a tendency to rally from the low points this week. We think the bears have sold themselves to a standstill. The pools have been forced to liquidate because of the fact that they could not obtain reasonably fair rates for time money. Present prices are very cheap when we look at the prosperous conditions in all lines of business. The week was interrupted with a holiday, and this acted as a deterrent to any marked activity in the security markets. The short interest is, no doubt, very much extended, but the usual buying by inside and investment interests does not seem to be present, as on all former slumps in prices. Possibly the fact remains that the immediate future does not hold many favorable prospects outside of the crop situation. Of course, we all know that, altho congress has adjourned, we will be in the midst of a hot political campaign before 90 days have passed. The keynote of this campaign will be reform. Altho Wall-street individually is not opposed to the abstract idea, however, it is opposed when it acts as a detriment to our business expansion. Viewed from all standpoints, it seems to us safe to advise purchases of securities around present levels for the time being only. Profit-taking is advisable at all times, and caution should be taken against buying on all sharp advances.—J. S. Bache & Co.

The outlook for the next few weeks is for a fair trading market. tI is still too soon to anticipate any general upward movement. The market may be entitled to a fair rally after the recent fall, but that is all that can be expected at this time; in fact, the market is more likely to decline than advance. At the lower level the market is a much safer one on which to operate than at any previous time this year. Liquidation has imposed a severe test, but failed to reveal any weak spots of importance. In case of any further stringency in money, lower prices of securities are pretty sure to follow. Unfortunately, there is no large short interest in the market on which to depend for support. Stocks have been going into stronger hands the last few days, apparently for the purpose of checking too rapid declines. There is still, however, an enormous supply, present and prospective, of new issues, which have yet to find a market, the total issued the last six months being estimated at $827,000,000, of which $622,000,000 were bonds and $225,000,000 stocks. This is an enormous output, since the total for the entire twelve months of 1905 was less than $900,000,000. Under such circumstances, investors are naturally apathetic and discouraged. On all sharp rallies the market will be a profitable sale, and we can only advise purchases on pronounced breaks.—Henry Clews.

On Wall Street.

Marshall, Spader & Co. wired J. G. Beaty, King Edward Hotel, at the close of the market:

The market was a disappointment to-day in most directions, and after some early display of strength appeared to be under pressure in most directions. Reading, Copper shares, B. R. T. and northwest properties received the brunt of this movement, while Union Pacific, Steels, Southern Pacific and the metals, except Amalgamated Copper, were rather well taken care of. The market is not a decisive one, and, while Saturday's bank statement was rather carefully explained, a circular from the treasury department on the scarcity of small notes was made the subject of comment. London displayed very little interest in our market, and late cables reported Americans as having a gloomy tone, and our afternoon trading was anything but reassuring, tho no special demonstration of weakness was made.

To-day's trading with London, and the condition of the market, indicates some concern over there connected with speculative conditions in stocks other than Americans, and our market was influenced in some degree by London selling.

Ennis & Stoppani wired to J. L. Mitchell, McKinnon Building:

The market to-day has passed thru a fair reaction in prices, under influence of attacks by room traders, but there was excellent absorption, and, with the possible exception of Reading, there was practically no liquidation of long holdings. London traded quite extensively, selling a little stock on balance. Buying of U. P. and Pennsylvania looked strong. The N. Y. C. lines reported general gross increases in June earnings totaling in all some $1,850,000. Illinois Central gross for June was largely in excess of last year, and the Wabash May net returns revealed further gains from reduction of operating expenses. It is stated that Colo. & Southern will build northward, connecting with the western extension of the St. Paul. Colorado & Southern common earned over 3 per cent. during the past fiscal year. In addition to an increase in the dividend, it is stated that at the Amalgamated Copper meeting one week from next Thursday a large increase in surplus cash on hand and increased earning power will be reported. Erie was well supported during the session, and the same was true of the U. S. Steel issues. St. Paul continues scarce, and it is believed that the rights to be announced later on will prove to be valuable. It is understood that U. P. and Atchison directors will meet within hte next thirty days to act on dividends, and an increase in both cases is among the probabilities.

Chicago Gossip.

Marshall, Spader & Co. wired J. G. Beaty, King Edward Hotel, at the close of the market:

Wheat—Market to-day was almost a repetition of those of last week. Downward tendency due to pressure of hedging sales made against cash wheat purposes. Latter are the largest on the crop aggregate fully 1,250,000 bush. for this market to-day. The bulk of it is from Illinois and Indiana, but some hard winter from Nebraska and scattering sales from southwest. Demand in the pit was below the supply. The first decline was followed by a substantial rally, due to a few unfavorable crop reports from Red River Valley, to corn strength, the purchase of an Australian wheat corgo by France and to the large decrease. There was more business for export by the Northwest, but sellers in general are keeping transactions as quiet as possible.

Ennis & Stoppani wired to J. L. Mitchell, McKinnon Building:

Wheat—The tendency abroad was slightly firmer this morning, due to a large decrease on ocean passage, but so far as our market was concerned this was not sufficient to offset the pressure of the real wheat, which cash houses again bought very liberally in the country. Together with the liberal acceptances of bids came the intelligence that an increased movement might be expected, due to the fact that farmers generally have been busy assisting each other gathering of the crop, which was beyond expectations. Several times during the session efforts were made to rally prices, but at no time were the professionals able to sustain the market beyond a momentary turn and in the end the lowest level for some time was reached and closing figures fractionally above low point.

It would seem, therefore, that the only hope to be entertained for higher prices must be based upon the materialization of a demand equal to the supply, and until this is in evidence we must expect a sagging market.

Corn and Oats—Were fairly firm, especially in view of the weakness in wheat. For a time shorts in corn were scrambling to cover and there was talk of a possible squeeze in the current option.

Provisions—While dull were fairly firm on buying by packers.

Melady & Co. had the following at the close of the market:

Wheat—Another weak market to-day, owing to the brilliant weather, which was favorable for harvesting and also for the growing plant. Towards the end of the session the estimates for to-morrow of new wheat to arrive in Chicago caused further weakness, the market closing almost at the bottom. So long as the weather remains favorable and foreigners indifferent to our new wheat we look to see a very dull and possibly lower market until we get some news to give it some stimulus. We have nothing more to say except to tell you that which we have been saying for some time, that is, not to do anything in wheat, but to watch the market very closely, as it is a very unsatisfactory market to trade in. On any good indications of a higher market we will advise you.

Corn—Again strong to-day, owing to lighter offerings from farmers' hands and also good demand for cash, the market closing higher than Saturday. Shorts were willing buyers, and the market has a good undertone, and is proving a good scalping market. We do not think we will get much more at the moment. Take profits on long corn on all the good bulges. The weather is all that can be desired. Farmers from now on will be busy harvesting other grains, and in our opinion receipts will only be fair during the balance of the month.

Oats—Were stronger to-day, owing to the strength in corn, and the anticipation of a bullish government report to-morrow. Liquidation for the moment seems to cover, but on any disappointment in the government report to-morrow oats will sell off sharply. We only look for a scalping market in oats, and are favorable to the sale of May oats on all good bulges for fair returns.

> INVESTORS ARE TIMOROUS.
> World Office, Monday, July 9.
> Local investors are excessively timorous just now. They are tempted to some extent by the prices of sundry listed stocks, but they are troubled with a foreboding of impending trouble and cannot shake off the incubus. Just why the feeling comes no one can give a confident answer, but the sentiment is extant and is easily distinguished around the corridors of the Toronto Wall-street. In to-day's market it did not seem so difficult to hold prices, and there was no great amount of realizing. What was, however, plain, was the small amount of speculation forthcoming, after the incipient rally from a rather lengthy decline. In such specialties as Twin City and Mackay the dealings were of a small calibre, and even here buying failed to make any marked impression on quotations. It is not unlikely that the larger interests are keeping a constant eye on the European financial centres for an indication of anticipatory operations. The London stock market is unexplainably heavy, and steadily refuses to adopt a buoyant tone. Time money at New York for six month periods cannot be had for less than 5 1-2 per cent., and is even scarce at this figure. Until it can be clearly established that there is going to be more money available for stock market purposes, only temporary improvements in the markets are at all possible.

Drop From 15 to 30 Cents Cwt—Sheep, Calves and Hogs Unchanged.

The reason given for the decline was the bad condition of the British markets.

REVOLUTIONARY CROWDS DISPERSED BY COSSACKS

"Marseillaise" Becoming Russia's National Anthem—Some Serious Disorders.

St. Petersburg, July 9.—Political demonstrations, during which the crowds carried red flags and sang revolutionary songs, occurred in many places in St. Petersburg yesterday afternoon and night, necessitating the interference of the police and military patrols. Street cars were held up and their occupants were compelled to uncover and salute the red flags.

The most serious affair happened near the Moscow railroad station, where an officer, later identified as Lieut. Tom, made a revolutionary speech to a crowd of 2000 people. A detachment of police attempted to disperse the assemblage, but the people armed themselves with stones dug up from the streets, and beat off the police and squadron of Cossacks. Eventually the Cossacks were reinforced and fired a blank volley in the air, whereupon the rioters fled to neighboring courts. Only a few persons were slightly injured. Lieut. Tom was arrested and taken to the fortress.

A performance at the People's Palace was broken up, the audience singing the "Marseillaise" as they dispersed.

The guards on the mail wagons are now armed with rifles, owing to the increasing number of attacks made upon these vehicles. Six more newspapers of this city have been confiscated.

Landlords from the provinces where agrarian disorders are occurring are flocking into Moscow and St. Petersburg, appealing for troops to protect their property.

The Holy Synod has issued strict instructions forbidding the printing establishments of monasteries from publishing political tracts or in any way taking sides in the present struggle.

The Twentieth Century, formerly The Russ, has published a second poem by M. Amfiteatroff, one of Russia's most brilliant journalist-poets, entitled "The New Marseillaise."

The paper has been confiscated and probably will be suppressed. The verses are dedicated to Maxim Gorky, and are virtually an appeal to armed revolt. The refrain goes "Rise to your rights, people; array yourselves under the red banner."

The following is a translation of a typical verse:

"Seize the headman's ax and pass sentence to slay;
Quit the plow and grasp the sword and bludgeon;
The Volga weeps blood for the wrongs of the people;
Seek your salvation in mortal combat with the oppressors."

Interior Minister Stolypin has sent the representatives of foreign countries the government's official report of the Bialystok rioting, for transmission to their respective governments.

It is a distinct recognition of the power of public opinion abroad and indicates the solicitude of foreign governments to know the Russian side of the case.

Emperor Nicholas and the empress, on board the imperial yacht Polar Star, made a short visit at Oraniebaum, a seaside resort outside Cronstadt, yesterday, inspecting the marine hospital and barracks. This was the first time their majesties had been outside the grounds of the palace at Peterhof since they went to St. Petersburg to open parliament.

PARDONED MURDERER INSANE

Refuses to Leave Country, Which Was Stipulation of Release.

Providence, R. I., July 9.—Altho he has been pardoned by Gov. Ummer, officially discharged from the state prison and started on his way to Italy, Pedro Jaswell, a convicted murderer, is once more behind the prison bars here to-day.

When Jaswell was released last Saturday, it was intended that he would be shipped to Italy on board the steamer Romanic, but he refused to board her. When he was carried bodily to the deck by the prison guards, assisted by several policemen, the ship's surgeon declared he was insane. The captain supported the surgeon and the prisoner and his guards were put ashore.

Sleuth Fined for Assault.

Oyster Bay, L. I., July 9.—J. B. Sloan, jr., chief of President Roosevelt's secret service corps, pleaded guilty and was fined $1 to-day, on a charge of assault in the third degree, preferred by Clarence Le Gendre, a New York photographer. After the photographer had taken a picture of the president, he alleged that Sloan hit him.

COBALT.
NOW IS THE TIME—right now—to make money in Cobalt stocks. The experimental stage has passed and the district proved to be the richest silver field in the world. One after another different companies are placing themselves on the dividend-paying list, and future dividend payers have large shipments of wonderfully high-grade ore now on the way to the smelter. The extraordinary wealth of Cobalt and the steadily increasing area of the field are attracting world-wide attention, and for Canadians—right now—to take advantage of conditions—to secure a share in this bonanza field right at home—and to get in first before outsiders who are now investing more heavily every day. More than one Cobalt company has paid back several times its entire subscribed capital in its first dividend, and in the near future many rich men will owe their wealth to having bought good Cobalt stocks now, just as so many thousands owe their riches to having purchased copper stocks not long ago. I make my statements advisedly and I know whereof I speak, for I was one of the first mining men in Cobalt and have carefully watched the development of the different mines from their initial stages.
NOW IS THE TIME
I deal in good Cobalt stocks and also make a specialty of development syndicates, some of my syndicates having paid over 100 per cent. during the past four months.

New York, July 9.—The market displayed no announcement to-day and trading was confined to a limited demand. Heavy rains were reported at Houston, but Sunday's weather map showed no important precipitation or unseasonable temperature. The same conditions prevail to-day. The market is in some degree influenced by the progress of speculative deals in New Orleans, which are beginning to cause a concentration at that point. The local stock is showing some reduction. The weather map today showed a generally favorable condition, tho extremely heavy rains fell thruout Southwest Texas. The forecast is for showery weather thruout the belt. There is enough unfavorable crop news coming from Georgia and parts of Alabama to keep the market from declining very seriously in the near future. Besides this, the visible supply is being very rapidly depleted, and crop estimates are already confronted with a deficit in the visible supply of American cotton of 500,000 bales, as compared with last year, which item is likely to be increased largely before Sept. 1. We expect the market to display steady fluctuations.

MR. BASTEDO DISMISSED ACTIONS WERE PARTISAN

Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries is Removed as Result of Recent Investigation.

"Mr. S. T. Bastedo has been removed from the position of deputy minister of fisheries." Such was the announcement of Premier Whitney yesterday afternoon. The action follows on the report of Mayor Judd of London, the special commissioner who heard the charges brought against Mr. Bastedo by J. S. Webster, an employe of the department last winter. Contrary to expectation, Mr. Webster's dismissal is not synchronous with that of Mr. Bastedo, the statement being that "the conclusion of the commission with regard to Mr. Webster will be dealt with later on."

Mr. Bastedo entered the civil service in 1880 as private secretary to the late Sir (then Hon.) Oliver Mowat. In the fall of 1898 he was appointed secretary and financial officer of the fisheries department, then established. In the following spring he became deputy commissioner.

Official Statement.

Premier Whitney's statement is as follows:

"S. T. Bastedo has been removed from the position of deputy commissioner of fisheres. I regret very much the necessity for this decision on the part of the government. This is the only removal by the government of an official holding a prominent and important position in the parliament buildings.

"The occurrences which led up to the charges, which were made by a fellow employe against Mr. Bastedo, took place before the present government came into power. The charges were of such a nature—comprising, among other offences, the mutilation of official letter books, the mutilation and secretion of letters written on official business, the suppression of documents called for by resolution of the legislature, and of interference by Mr. Bastedo in election campaigns—that an investigation became necessary.

"The evidence and the findings will, of course, be laid upon the table of the house, together with the evidence and the findings in any other similar cases.

"The report of the commissioner, Mr. Judd, was made on March 23 last, and the decision with reference to it by the government has been delayed owing to the illness of the minister of public works, and thru the desire of the government to give the matter thoro consideration.

"Without going into the commissioner's report in detail, I will quote one or two of his findings. With reference to the suppression of documents, the commissioner, Mr. Judd, says:

Commissioner's Findings.

"A return was asked for, as stated in the charge, and in the return all the documents and letters, numbering about sixty-five, were omitted from the return. These documents are marked exhibit No. 40, and were evidently omitted because they contain political references. The return undoubtedly was false. Mr. Bastedo says that he was instructed by Hon. Mr. Latchford, who was then the minister in charge of the fisheries branch, to omit the documents in question from the return. I can hardly credit the statement that Mr. Latchford was the one who looked all thru the documents for the making up of the return in question. It seems to me that that is a matter which he would leave with his deputy, and that the deputy commissioner would be the one who would really make up and be responsible for the contents of the return in this particular instance.

"I presume I am bound to accept his statement, it having been made under oath, and I should be loth to charge him with having sworn to what was untrue in reference to this return.

"I find that written information was wrongfully suppressed from the return in question, and that Mr. Bastedo was cognizant that written information was being suppressed, and that according to his evidence he was required to suppress it at the instigation of the minister who was then in charge of the department, Hon. Mr. Latchford."

Acted as a Partisan.

Regarding the other charges, the commissioner's conclusion is as follows:

"It was sought to be shown on the enquiry that Mr. Bastedo was simply getting recommendations from the different members and defeated candidates with reference to the fitness of the proposed licensees to receive licenses and of overseers for office. If that were so no objection could be made to his actions. It could not be wrong for him to enquire either from a member or a defeated candidate or any person who should know as to whether a person is fit to receive a license regardless of his politics, but Mr. Bastedo, it seems to me, went much farther than that. I do not think any fair-minded person hearing the evidence and considering it carefully can see anything other than that the deputy commissioner acted in a partisan manner for the benefit of the Reform party, and was during the whole of his time since his appointment as deputy commissioner taking an active part in politics on behalf of the Liberal party. Why did he institute and keep a private letter book? Why did he institute and keep a private filing cabinet? Why did he obliterate from the public files of the department references to political matters? Why did he write to Dr. Sinclair about certain men treating with Mr. Whitney? Why did he tell Mr. J. W. Holmes, M.L.A., that a certain Mr. Ferguson was a war horse in Huron, but he did not know whether Ferguson had any pull in Holmes' county? Why did he ask Dr. Sinclair to let him know confidentially what exactly a certain Mr. Bates had been saying, and whether he openly avowed himself to be a Conservative and whether he was favorable to Dr. Sinclair or Mr. Charleton's opponent? What did he mean when he wrote to Mr. Fraser that a certain Mr. Jackman left in a somewhat better frame of mind, and why did he get a promise from Jackman to reconcile the fishermen at Killarney, and to what were they to be reconciled?

Why?

"Why did he write to different parties that prospects looked good, and indicated a return of the government with an increased majority, and how did he know that such was the fact? Why did he recommend Cowley, the M.C.R. conductor, to Mr. Holmes as an A1 chap in every way? Why did he ask Mr. John Judge to send him circulars which it was alleged had been issued by Conservatives in reference to the referendum? Why did he send the letters of the member for West Lambton—Mr. Hanna—to his opponent in the last election, and why did Mr. Pardee reply that he did not want Hanna to be consulted in the matter? Why did he write Overseer Howard to go to Sunnidale and Floss? Why did fishery overseers write to him reporting the condition of affairs in their respective ridings? Why did he send a circular to the fishery overseers asking them not to include private matters of a political nature in their correspondence? Why did he contribute to the funds of the Reform party in the election of 1902?

Took Active Part.

"It seems to me the only answer to these questions is, that he was taking an active part in the political affairs of the Reform party and of the government by which he was employed. The correspondence detailed above, I think, shows conclusively that he was endeavoring to forward the interests of the Liberal party by using his position as deputy commissioner. He was not seeking to find out from the member representing the constituency or the defeated candidate of his own party whether the persons were fit to receive licenses, but he was seeking on all occasions to find out whether they voted Reform or whether by granting a license they could be induced to vote Reform. He did not attempt to ascertain from the member of a riding if such member happened to be a Conservative, whether a person applying for a license was a fit and proper person to receive the license, altho such member would be as well able to tell as tho he had been a Reformer, but on the contrary, if a Conservative member happened to write on behalf of a person applying for a license he would send such Conservative member's letter on to the defeated candidate and ask such defeated candidate whether he wished a license to issue, and in the meantime would make some excuse to the Conservative member for any delay in answering his letter.

Inaugurated System.

"The system, it appears to me from the evidence, was inaugurated by Mr. Bastedo possibly by reason of the strong stand taken by Mr. Conmee, and immediately after its inauguration he established the private letter book and the private file.

"When a man becomes a public servant, he should cease entirely to interfere in any way with political matters and should cease to forward or endeavor to forward the interests of any political party, and I do not think it can be said in face of the evidence given in this enquiry that Mr. Bastedo ceased to interfere, or ceased to forward the interest of the Liberal party. It is true that he has written similar letters to members of parliament since the new government came into power, but it is equally true that he was not instructed to do so, but on the other hand was instructed that a man's politics should not be taken into account at all in receiving a license. The evidence shows the details of the different cases with which Mr. Bastedo identified himself, and it seems unnecessary for me to deal at any greater length with the documentary evidence on these charges."

As to Webster.

"Charges of a less serious character were made by Mr. Bastedo against his accuser, Mr. Webster, to the effect that he had refused on different occasions to obey orders and instructions, and refused to obey the call bell. He also charged Mr. Webster with disobedience of a number of orders; also that he had used insulting language to him, and accused Mr. Webster furthermore of an assault, by shaking his fist at Mr. Bastedo, in a threatening manner.

"The commissioner finds generally that Mr. Webster was insubordinate, altho, in some instances, it was indicated principally by his manner, and Mr. Bastedo's course made it unpleasant for Mr. Webster.

"The finding also is that Mr. Webster was guilty of want of respect towards a superior officer, and that he did shake his fist in Mr. Bastedo's face, which Mr. Webster admits, and as to which the commissioner finds no justification.

"The conclusion of the commissioner, with regard to Mr. Webster will be dealt later on."

A successor to Mr. Bastedo, it is rumored, may be found in Hon. Dr. Reaume's constituency, which is a piscatorial one.

GETS TIPS FROM JIM FISK ON MARKET'S RISE AND FALL

Odd Character Who Frequents the Brokers' Offices---Communes With Spirits.

There's a charlatan in Toronto who frequents brokers' offices and furnishes amusing subjects for lively gossip when the markets turn dull and uninteresting.

During the recent police raid he happened to be in a place that was temporarily overlooked, and the next day he was very popular with himself, making his usual rounds and boasting he had been tipped off by "Jim" in advance of the raid. The police soon discovered, however, that they had nearly overlooked one place and by the time they reached it the office force had skidoed books, sheets and all.

The "Jim" referred to is the celebrated James Fisk, who came to a tragic end 30 years since, and who was known to the market world as a great manipulator, equaled in these days only by the astute James Keene.

This mountebank has nocturnal communion with "Jim," and during the market sessions sits on a stool in any office where he is tolerated and tolls off the record of the tape in melancholy drone, occasionally lapsing into a trance and slowly recovers, mumbling in monolog, during which he converses with "Jim" in the spirit world and then suddenly rouses and declaims with dramatic effect to the amusement of the persons present:

"He tells me," exclaimed the quack, "to keep steady in the saddle and Twin City will rally to a big premium."

Turning one day to a man who had a habit of crossing him he said: "He's painting you, he's painting you, your margins are lost in the vortex of error."

Leaping from the stool he yelled, "Keep your powder dry, boys, and your margins are good."

Gathering his coat tails like a skirt he hopped and pranced around, yelling, "Rally round the old flag boys, keep your powder dry. He tells me that St. Paul is a purchase."

"He tells me" is his favorite expression, and it has become a by-word among many brokers.

In his pockets the "prophet" carries two slips which he "loads" over night. One predicts advances in certain stocks, and the other declines, and after the market has been open an hour or so the spirit operator flashes whichever slip the prices favor and flamboyantly declaims what "Jim" conveyed to him, with a knowing look and a wink. At this stage he usually essays to draw one of the speculators to a corner, where he conveys to him the sure thing dope.

One of the peculiar things in connection with the fakir's prognostications is the fact that he never gambles on his own tips. But it is said that he has one or two victims who have such faith in his spirit messages that they compensate him liberally for the dope, thus verifying the saying that "a fool is born every minute."

Just why "Jim" Fisk, who, according to the "prophet" resides in the ethereal sphere, chooses as a medium such a man as this to convey his knowledge of future events is not quite clear.

Charlatans are sometimes amusing to those who listen to their pratings for sport, but dangerous to the credulously inclined.

Many persons are cajoled into believing that certain mountebanks, soothsayers and the like impostors can heal the sick, foretell the future and forecast the fluctuations of stocks, bonds and dew drops. Business men who tolerate these charlatans often jeopardize their business, as there are always some willing to be made "lambs" of the pecuniary profit of the fakir. But presumably on the theory that

Wife Murderer Executed.

Boston, July 9.—John Schidlofski, a Lithuanian of Brockton, was electrocuted at the state prison at Charlestown early this morning, for the murder of his wife, Mariana.

The crime for which Schidlofski was sentenced to die was the murder of his wife, Mariana, on the golf links at Belmont, July 12, 1905.

It was known that a day or two before the murder the woman had drawn all her savings, amounting to about $300. The husband was arrested a few days later on a Pacific coast train at La Junta, Col., and confessed his guilt. According to his own story, he killed his wife because she had misrepresented her age and the amount of her savings.

ALWAYS FRESH FOOD

Crisp and Easily Digested, Malta-Vita Goes Straight from its Huge Ovens to the Many Who Eat It.

The Malta-Vita Pure Food Co., of Toronto, has adopted a successful method of keeping the public always supplied with fresh Malta-Vita, the perfect food.

When Malta-Vita comes from the ovens, it is the crispest, most delicious food in the world, containing only one per cent. of moisture. The other 99 per cent. is food—brain and bone and nerve and muscle food—and most easily digested because the gelatinized starch of the thoroughly cooked wheat has been converted, by fine malt extract, into maltose (malt sugar).

No other food preparation contains such a high degree of food quality and such a low degree of moisture.

The Malta-Vita company limits orders from every wholesale dealer to a quantity which the company knows can be disposed of quickly in the wholesaler's territory. The wholesaler, in turn, makes only such shipments to grocers as he knows they will be able to handle satisfactorily.

Thus the grocer's supply of Malta-Vita is always fresh and crisp as when it comes from the ovens in the big factory at Toronto—always the kind that melts in the mouth.

Malta-Vita is so deliciously refreshing and satisfying that it should be in every home. It is the only perfect food. Best for children and best for grown folks.

At all grocers.

KILLED BY TROLLEY.

Thos. Hoar of Bowmanville in Los Angeles Trolley Accident.

Bowmanville, Ont., July 9.—Citizens were shocked to-day by the startling news that Thomas Hoar was killed by a trolley car at Compton, Cal. Mr. Hoar carried on a blacksmith business here for many years. He has visited almost every part of Canada, the United States and Great Britain, and has written many interesting accounts of his travels for the local press. About ten days ago, he left here intending to visit some American cities. He was 77 years of age, and leaves a wife, who at present is visiting their son, Mr. F. Arthur Hoar, Barrie, and two daughters, Mrs. A. Mitchell of this town and Mrs. H. Goodman, Toronto.

John Joseph McGee, clerk of the privy council, Ottawa, will administer the oath of office and the oath of allegiance to him at noon to-day.

BISHOP CONDEMNS IT.

St. John, N.B., July 9.—(Special.)—In his sermon Sunday morning Bishop Casey referred to the manner in which newspapers were dealing with the Thaw-White murder case of New York.

He claimed it was a sin the way the papers were exaggerating such things. It was beyond all reason, and doing irreparable injury to the community.

The effect on young men and women, and especially children, was disastrous.

Wasn't a Mutiny.

Vigo, Spain, July 9.—The reports sent abroad relating to the insubordination on board the Russian cruiser Terek, anchored here, have been much exaggerated.

The Russian consul informed the Associated Press to-day that there was no truth in the statement that a mutiny had occurred on board. This rumor originated owing to the fact that one volunteer seaman out of thirty shipped at Vladivostock refused to perform his duty and was consequently discharged here.

Sawmill Burned.

Quebec, July 8.—Samson and Renaud's sawmill at Petite Riviere St. Francois, near Baie St. Paul, has been completely destroyed by fire, together with a large stock of lumber and the output of the mills since last fall.

Can't Understand the Language.

St. Petersburg, July 9.—M. Mouromtseff, president of the lower house, received to-day o couple of telegraphic oddities. One is a despatch from the Conservative Peasantry in the Province of Yaroslav, asking him to use his influence to have the emperor declare a military dictatorship, and the other is from a group of Moscovites complaining that the number of words of foreign origin used in the debates in the lower house render them unintelligible to the common people.
