Hemming, The Adventurer

BY THEODORE ROBERTS

CHAPTER IX. O'Rourke Tells a Sad Story. Upon his arrival in New York, Hemming called immediately upon Mr. Dodder, in the New York News Syndicate Building on Fulton Street. He found the manager even stouter than at the time of their first meeting, and of a redder countenance. His manner was as cordial as before, but his mood was not so jovial. "I am always worrying about something or other, and just now it is my health," he told Hemming. "You don't know what I'd give, captain, for a life like yours—and a good hard body like yours. But I can't drop this job now. It's the very devil. I can tell you, to have one's brain and nerves jumping and tramping all the time while one's carcass lolls about and puts on fat, I'm sorry I was so smart when I was a kid. Otherwise the old man would not have sent me to college, and I'd never have hunted myself in this slavery. My father was a lumberman, and so was my grandfather. They had big bodies, but like mine, but they lived the right kind of lives for their bodies."

"Why a girl?" asked the Englishman. Dodder smiled pensively. "I like to think so," he said, "for though I am nothing but a corpulent business slave myself, I've a fine active brain for romance, and the heart of a Lochmaver."

"Tall chap with a yellow face and a silk hat, isn't he?" he asked. "All enough," replied Hemming, "but he had neither a yellow face nor a silk hat when I saw him last year ago."

"He is paid to do his work, and if the patients fee him, the poorer ones will suffer," she said. "But I want him to have it, please. He told me your name," I said. "She paid no more attention to this foolish remark than if I had sneezed. Indeed, even less, for if I had sneezed she would have taken my pulse or my temperature. I watched her as she moved about the room seeing that all was clean and in good order."

"I'm a major in the Cuban army," she answered, "and I will read to you for a little while, if you feel strong enough to listen. There is a letter, too. Shall I open it for you?" "She drew a chair between my feet and the window, and first of all, looked at me."

"I said that I loved her," rejoined O'Rourke, defiantly. "Go ahead with the story," said the Englishman. "When the time came for my departure," continued O'Rourke, "and the carriage was waiting at the curb, I just kissed her hand and left without saying a word. I came North and got doctors to examine me. They said that my heart and lungs were right as could be, and that the rest of my year would straighten up in time. They promised even a return of my complexion with the departure of the malaria from my blood. But I must live a quiet life for awhile, they said; so to begin the quiet life I returned to Tampa, and the hospital. But I did not find the girl."

THE CAMPAIGN.

The usual predictions concerning the result of the elections are beginning to appear in the press. One reads with interest that this party will 'sweep Nova Scotia,' or that party will 'sweep British Columbia.' So many things have happened since the last federal elections and the figures of 1900 are perhaps not very useful for purposes of comparison. In that campaign the liberals gained a majority of 54, the figures being as follows:—

Table with 4 columns: Province, Lib., Con., Ind. Rows include Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Manitoba, British Columbia, The Territories, Yukon.

The majority, however, was less significant than might appear from this mere statement, since the popular vote was much more evenly divided than these figures suggest. The total vote cast was 947,454, and if the independent vote were added to the conservative vote, the liberal majority the country over would have been very small. The Toronto Telegram, an independent paper, figures out the results of 1900 as follows, omitting the possible vote of the four or five constituencies where members were elected by acclamation:—

Table with 4 columns: Province, Lib., Con., Ind. Rows include Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Territories, Manitoba, Brit. Columbia, Quebec, Ontario.

It will be observed from these figures that the province of Quebec is almost the whole of the liberal majority of the popular vote over that of the conservatives. The liberals claim that they are as strong as ever in Quebec, and that they will make gains in other provinces. The conservatives claim that they will make gains in Quebec, without loss in other provinces. It is quite evident that changes will occur in all the provinces, one way or the other. The conservatives will make a very strong effort to gain seats in Quebec, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier will carry the war into Ontario with great vigor. Results in any province are not easily foreseen. Because of the new issues—the Grand Trunk Pacific—and because some very active liberal leaders of 1900 have been replaced by others. The line of cleavage between the two parties, with respect to policy, is rather more marked than in 1900. The conservative side fair to be even more exciting than that of four years ago, but cautious observers are not predicting a sweep for either party.

TOO MANY FAIRS.

A very interesting discussion has arisen in Ontario in the subject of fair laws. H. B. Cowan, superintendent of agricultural societies, says a Toronto paper, states that it has been demonstrated that there are too many fall fairs, and that if the results expected of them are to be obtained the number must be materially reduced. Some counties have ten and twelve exhibitions, and the competition created, Mr. Cowan says, has produced a very unsatisfactory condition of things. In order to secure success exhibitions of the most undesirable kind are secured. These include those for men only, gambling and the like, and some of the fairs held recently have proven more of a plague spot to the district than any boon to agriculture. Education—the purpose of the show, pick-pockets and a very undesirable element frequent the average fair, and if the exhibitions were purely agricultural there would be fewer of these. It is suggested as a remedy that the government should limit the number of fairs to be held in any county.

RUSSIA AND JAPAN.

The declaration of a St. Petersburg newspaper that the war must be continued until the Japanese are driven off the continent of Asia is not likely to be fulfilled. Japan now holds a strong position in Manchuria, and is so much nearer her base of supplies that she can defend this position at much less cost than Russia can attack it. The fact that Russia has material for an immense army at home does not count for much in Manchuria. Japan has shown that at the seat of war she is superior to her antagonist both on sea and land, and her expense account is not so great as that of Russia. She has shown marvelous resource in raising funds to prosecute the war without as yet seriously affecting her financial position or crippling either her industries or commerce. Indeed her foreign trade is said to have increased, while much of her expenditure on war account is made at home. Were Japan close to Russia, the colossal proportions of the latter would crush her enemy, but the distance is so great, and the cost of transportation so great, and the position of Japan is obviously so much more favorable than even if the war should be prolonged for years that the sources of Japan would enable her to maintain a foothold in Manchuria. And if the war is greatly prolonged, so tremendous would be the drain upon the already crippled finances of Russia that the most serious complications might arise at home. The Russian army has made a poor enough showing in retreat and on the defensive. It would be a far more serious matter if the Japanese, with half a million men, strongly entrenched and on the defensive, had to be driven into the sea. Russia may as well make up her mind that her chance of absolute supremacy in the far east has passed away. There is a new world power encamped in that region, that must be recognized.

A NOTE OF WARNING.

The Christian Guardian takes a somewhat gloomy view of political conditions in the province of Ontario. It must certainly be a serious state of affairs that calls for such strong words as these from a religious journal:—

"It is time for a change. That is, we think it is time for an upward movement in the political life of this province, which has now reached a stage lower than for the most of us would have deemed possible at one time. The very manifest dickering between the parties brought to light last week, in which all sorts of the punishment of wrong-doing and the conserving of the people's rights is lightly thrown aside for the sake of party interests, is about the last step toward political perdition. The serious question to consider is how much the present condition of affairs is due to the careless indifference of the people at large. A quickened conscience, as to our individual responsibility in public affairs is very much needed. It is in that way alone that we may hope for the evolution of a higher type of politician and the adoption of higher political standards. For, after all, the percentage of people who would desire crooked work for party ends, or who would become parties to such abominations as have been recently revealed, is very small indeed."

THE WHITE PLAGUE.

The ravages of tuberculosis, and the need of more scientific methods and a wider recognition of the danger to the public arising from indifference, appears in the following statement by Dr. Hoggett of Ontario:— "I find," he says, "that the record for the last 33 years shows that 75,918 persons have died in Ontario from tuberculosis, and the total from all other infectious and contagious diseases during the same time was 66,240, or nearly 10,000 less than from consumption. During the 33 years 14,558 persons died from typhoid fever, 10,872 from scarlet fever, 21,456 from diphtheria and croup, 5,513 from whooping cough, 3,213 from measles, 1,044 from smallpox, and 14 from typhus fever."

This statement suggests the vital importance of action by governments to protect the public from the spread of a disease so prevalent, and under present conditions, so deadly.

The Toronto board of fire underwriters has called upon the city to provide a new reservoir, additional water mains, a special high pressure water system for one section of the city, and large additions to the fire fighting appliances. Toronto is now in the lowest class of fire protected cities, and insurance rates in the business district are very high.

ONE OF THE BRIGHTEST.

The St. John Evening Times, which is a week old today, is one of the brightest, most enterprising and readable dailies in Eastern Canada, and a credit to the staff, at the head of which is that very capable and popular newspaper man, A. M. Belding. The Times' news service, especially its telegraphic columns, are replete with a record of events all over Canada as well as foreign countries and its make-up is very attractive.

IT'S VERY NEWSY.

One of our brightest exchanges in the Evening Times, St. John's new paper. It claims to be independent in politics. It is very newsy and under the editorial management of Mr. Belding, formerly of the Telegraph, is sure to become popular. We understand its circulation is rapidly increasing.

to the C. P. R., the money should be put away and locked up. The lack of decision concerning this question is assuming the proportions of a joke.

A Toronto paper cynically observes that 'Ontario needs a few more lawyers in politics to help give the corporations anything else that's left.'

With two elections this fall the shortage in the wheat crop will never be felt by the farmers in the doubtful constituencies.—Toronto Telegram

The city council this week will consider water system extension and regulations with the C. P. R. Both are questions of importance.

MAIL CARRIERS BORE THE PALL.

At U. S. Postmaster General Payne's funeral in Milwaukee Yesterday — Impressive Services.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 10.—Henry Clay Payne was buried yesterday in Forest Home Cemetery, after 36,000 persons had viewed the body lying in state at the city hall. Mrs. Payne and members of the funeral party who accompanied the body from Washington, took a farewell view of the dead man yesterday. The body was placed in a hearse and under the escort of 200 letter carriers moved to All Saints Episcopal church. The active mail-carriers were eight letter carriers, who were employees of the Milwaukee office when Mr. Payne was postmaster here. The honorary mail-carriers included Secretaries Paul Morton, Victor H. Metcalf and James Wilson, Senators Spooner and Quarles, Judge James K. Jenkins, Elmer Dover, Harry S. New, and a score of prominent citizens of Milwaukee.

The funeral party was met at the church entrance by Bishop L. F. Nicholson, his assistants and a surplined choir of forty voices. The full Episcopal service for the dead was read by Bishop Nicholson. During the services the hymns "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and "Abide With Me," were sung by the choir. The services at the grave were private.

BURIED UNDER HUGE COAL PILE.

With 500 Tons of Coal Heaped on Top of Him John Cullen was Only Bruised.

New York, Oct. 10.—From 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning until 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, John Cullen, a coal passer, 64 years old, of Brooklyn, remained buried under 300 tons of coal in a huge pocket, into which he had fallen, in one of the iron buildings of the Kings County Gas and Illuminating Co. He was rescued alive and was able to go home after being treated for several bruises. Stimulants were passed to the buried man by means of a long rubber tube, during his entombment.

Two hundred tons of coal had to be taken out before Cullen could be reached, without risk of life, by his rescuers, who finally were enabled to raise him by means of a ladder reaching down 55 feet into the chute.

GLASS HOUSES IN ENGLAND.

At the present there are some 1,500 acres in England covered over with glass, which if stretched in one straight line would form a glass house a good deal longer than the length of England, and about ten feet in width. Fifty years ago the acreage covered by glass houses did not exceed much more than 200. From the 1,500 acres of glass houses are produced annually about 6,000 tons of tomatoes, 2,000 tons of peaches, and 1,500 tons of grapes.—London Times.

OCTOBER.

Yet shall the grey gullion look From the best places on the American continent for the man who has money to burn.

HE MAY HAVE BEEN A BANK CASHIER.

"Did you notice that man who just went east in the 'motor'?" "Not particularly. What about him?" "That was Arthur W. Walsingham, the postman who inherited money or marry a rich girl."—Chicago Record Herald.

HUNTING IN CANAAN WOODS.

That Country is Practically Swarming with the Monarchs of the Forest—A Veteran Hunter.

A resident of Harcourt, Kent Co., who was in the city yesterday, being asked by a Times' representative as to game season and how it was progressing, said that "knock about all along the north shore in vast numbers, never before equalled in the history of the province."

"Why," said he, "it is nothing uncommon to daily see them grazing along the banks of the I. C. R., and so tame and unconcerned have they become, that frequently they simply give the I. C. R. trains a passing glance and resume their grazing."

Continuing the visitor said that many parties of sportsmen are at present in the Canaan Woods. Recently M. Van Buskirk, proprietor of the Europa Hotel at Harcourt, and a party comprising his father, Jacob Van Buskirk, Moncton's oldest hunter, and Andrew Ferguson of Harcourt, went on a moose hunt. They had Isaac Brown, of Big Forks, as guide. Jacob Van Buskirk, at the age of 76 years, had the pleasure of killing the moose, which weighed nearly 700 lbs. and had a set of antlers fifty inches across. While out they saw nine, some of them within good shooting distance. Mr. Van Buskirk and party claim it the best moose ground in the province. They could step out of camp any night, and hear moose cracking through the woods. Last week three moose were taken out, to Harcourt coming from the Salmon River Road, one head measuring 59 inches spread, one 50 and one 47.

About the 10th of October, it is set down as the best time for successful moose calling.

The P. and B. liner Dahome, arrived at Bermuda last Friday after a voyage from London.

It is rumored in shipping circles that the steamer Prince Arthur, which gave such excellent service, on the New York route, during the past season, has been chartered by the Munson line for the winter, to run in a southern service.

The Eastern Steamship Company steamer, Calvin Austin, arrived Saturday night, from Boston, looking her best. The steamer has been newly painted from stern to stern. During the week she was laid up, she received a general overhauling.

Sydney, Oct. 10.—The steamer Havana, arrived in Louthburg yesterday (Wednesday), and has on board 10 horses besides other supplies for luncheon at Lethbride. The 28 horses already employed by the company are not sufficient to do all the hauling on the mill, situated on the Grand River and about 500 miles from the Strait. The steamer Viking was wrecked about 14 miles from the mill and the wrecking steamer sent to take her off the rocks was also damaged. Now Havana is provided with pumps and wrecking crew to raise the wrecked ship and take her to a place where she will be repaired.

BLEW IN FIVE HUNDRED.

Among a party of American tourists who arrived here recently on the Calvin Austin was a man who had blown in five hundred dollars in the last few days at the celebrated St. Regis hotel in New York. The beauty and furnishings of the house, he said to the Times, "simply beggar description. The Waldorf Astoria, though beautiful, is not to be compared with it. I staid there with my wife for three days, and what do you think it cost me?" "How much?" "Five hundred dollars. It's one of the best places on the American continent for the man who has money to burn."

At the present there are some 1,500 acres in England covered over with glass, which if stretched in one straight line would form a glass house a good deal longer than the length of England, and about ten feet in width. "ALL I WANT IS MY CHICKEN."

Truro Poultry Coops Visited by Gentlemen Who Have a Fondness For Wishbones.

Truro, Oct. 10.—(Special).—A wholesale robbery of chicken coops has been made throughout sections of this town. Among the heaviest losers were E. J. Cusack, and Roland Doane, the former missing twenty fat fowl. Tracks in frost and soft ground indicate that the thieves drove around the town with a wagon stopped boldly at front gates and went to the hen coop in the rear houses. There were probably 100 chickens stolen. Since these robberies were reported it has come to light that similar cases were made last week in the country sections surrounding the town. There is no clue to the offenders.

IN THE CHURCHES.

The 118th anniversary of Queen Square Methodist church was observed yesterday, and was marked by special services. Rev. W. W. Brewer presided in the morning and evening, and after the evening service the sacrament of the Lord's supper was dispensed. It may be interesting to recall that Queen Square Methodist church was one of the earliest formed in New Brunswick. It was organized in 1791. A social meeting of the congregation will be held in the church this evening. Rev. Mr. Brewer and others will speak.

Rally day was observed in Canterbury and Exmouth street churches, yesterday, and the scholars and parents turned out in large numbers.

Last evening a large congregation assembled in the Coburg street Christian church to hear J. F. Floyd, D.D., on "What must I do to be saved." The revival services will be held every evening this week.

Rev. A. A. Graham of Petrolia, Ont., preached in the Congregational church yesterday.

Rev. R. G. Stratton occupied the pulpit of St. Stephen's church yesterday, at both services.

Yesterday was festival Sunday, at St. Paul's church. Large congregations attended both morning and evening services. Rev. A. G. H. Dickerson preached on both occasions.

Dr. W. C. Pearce, arrived in the city Saturday night. He is staying at the Clifton House. Yesterday afternoon he addressed a meeting in Main Street Baptist church. He described his trip to the fifty lands in the evening Mr. Pearce spoke in Canterbury church upon the training of young men and boys, and in the evening Mr. Pearce spoke in the St. John had a few more competent teachers, no better Sunday schools could be found in the world. Mr. Pearce leaves this evening for Woodstock, where he will attend the Sunday school convention.

Rev. John de Soyres, gave an address last week, and under the auspices of the Episcopal convention now being held in Boston, which he attended last week. He gave an interesting account of the scenes and incidents at the opening service, in Trinity church, and the reception of the Archbishop of Canterbury at the convention. He believed that much historical significance might be attached to the archbishop's visit. He considered it the outward sign of an inward pacification, which will bear much fruit to both nations.

THE ST. JOHN EVENING TIMES, MONDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1904.

WHAT ONE MAY OBSERVE ALONG THE WATER FRONT. Quick Glance at the Wharves and Warehouses—There Will be Lively Times at Sand Point During the Coming Winter.

A member of the Times has made a tour of the wharf and shipping berths along the harbor front, and gives its readers the condition and number of berths at each place.

The government wharf, better known as the ballast wharf, was first visited. It is No. 1 on the east side. This wharf was built by the Dominion government some years ago. The face runs east and west, and is in good condition, but the top plank is sadly in need of repair.

At the North and South Market wharves a great trade is carried on with Nova Scotia by schooners, which are going and coming all the year round.

The Robertson wharf is next in review. It is a vast improvement being made by the Dominion Coal Company, who sometime ago purchased the property. A new face on the wharf is being built and a large coal pocket will be placed there.

At York Point, so-called, are Gibson's wharf, and Starr's wharf. The latter is being built and a large coal pocket will be placed there. The wharf is being built and a large coal pocket will be placed there.

At Sand Point, a larger steamship business is expected to be done in winter than ever before, and all the improvements required will be finished in time for the season.

DEFACED COIN NOT REDEEMED.

The Government Does Not Treat it the Same as Mutilated or Worn Bills.

At the present time, throughout the Dominion of Canada, a question of vital importance is that of defaced coin. Nearly every day some bills are heard about mutilated or worn coins. In many instances coins in circulation are worn smooth, the edges and faces having been obliterated completely. Even the nicks, on the edges are almost completely worn off.

A coin was taken to the office of the Receiver general. Being asked the value of the coin the clerk said that as there were no means of telling whether it was a shilling, Canadian or an American quarter, it would be worth about 11 cents. The clerk further stated that the government would not accept it in the same way as mutilated bills.

It must be remembered that there is a difference between bills and silver. The bill is a promise to pay if the note is mutilated it can be replaced but if a person accepts defaced money, that is coin, it is their own business. If they are redeemed three-fifths of the whole can be shown, but if only two-fifths can be shown, the bill is worth nothing. If half a bill is presented in good shape we can give its value. A bill being a promise to pay is brought to the government or the bank, and you get the silver or the gold, as the case may be and then the responsibility of the Government is at an end. You have asked for the silver and got it, and it is not their special business when it wears out.

It is further learned that if you bring a bill to the banks they can pay you up as high as 25 cents in copper, and up to $20 in silver, and after that in gold, if you demand it, or in Dominion bills, which are legal tenders as good as gold.

There is no provision made for the redemption of old silver, as it is in England. In England a law is passed at intervals, irregular of course, whereby Parliament appropriates an amount sufficient to redeem the worn out and defaced coin at its face value.

H. D. McLeod, assistant Receiver general in this city stated to a Times reporter this morning that throughout Canada at present, there is a considerable amount of these defaced coins about.

POLICE MAGISTRATE TAKES STRONG GROUND

Against Men Who Neglect Their Offices for the Easy-Chairs of Hotel Offices and the Enticements of the Bar.

Frank McDermott, who was arrested yesterday morning on a charge of drunkenness, became ill in his cell. Dr. Berrymann was summoned and prescribed for him.

McDermott appeared before the Magistrate this morning to answer the charge against him. His wife said that on several occasions he had come home at a late hour on Saturday night in an intoxicated condition, and that one Sunday within the past month he had been drinking heavily and when she questioned him as to where he had been and how he obtained his liquor he told her that he had been at one of the hotels.

McDermott was lectured severely by the Magistrate, who reminded him of the fact that he had been arrested on the same charge within the past fortnight, and that it had cost him eight dollars.

His honor asked Mrs. McDermott if the rent was paid, and she answered in the affirmative. His honor told her that if she could manage to look after herself and the children, the best course to adopt would be to put her husband to work on the streets or in Rockwood Park with the other prisoners.

She replied that she had no other means of support, as she could not leave her two children.

"Well," said the Magistrate, "I do not feel inclined to let him go, I think that he should be fined eight dollars or two months with hard labor."

McDermott asked for one more chance and promised to take the pledge.

"How can I give you a chance," said his honor, "when you have not given yourself a chance?" McDermott said that he had his

The latter resolved to stay and his determination was rewarded on Saturday when he succeeded in landing a moose.

The Daniel is lined around her hull by galvanised iron, as a protection against her logs striking against her. The logs which the Daniel commenced on June 1st, of the present year.

The I. C. R. Carpen.

This section asked that a member of the order be dismissed without cause, but Mr. Joughins eliminated this clause in adopting the schedule.

children to support and wanted to go to work this afternoon.

"What guarantee have I that you will go to work this afternoon?" asked the Magistrate. "You ask me to think of your children, tell me that you will lose your position, you should have thought of all this before. You don't attend church on Sunday, and prefer to spend it at a some hotel, your men's house is not good enough for you. You would rather sit in one of those easy chairs than work for your children."

Mrs. McDermott came forward and handed the Magistrate four dollars. She said that she would like to have her husband go to work this afternoon, but the Magistrate pleaded hard for another chance, but was sent below. He was told by the Magistrate that he had brought trouble upon himself.

Some time elapsed and a man came to the Magistrate, and stated that he had known the prisoner for some time, that he was a hard working man, and that his wife and children needed every cent he could earn. Drinking was his worst if not his only fault. He begged the Magistrate to let McDermott have another chance, and thought that he would straighten up.

McDermott was again brought upstairs, and after some hard pleading on his own part and that of his friend, the balance of the fine was allowed to stand, against him and he was allowed to go, with the understanding that if, inside of a year, he was ever again arrested on such a charge he would not be allowed to go. As the matter stands at present Inspector Jones may yet register a complaint against the hotel in question.

POLICE COURT.

His Honor Had a Busy Morning, with Quite a Bunch of Prisoners.

To-day was quite a busy one at the police court. Three of the prisoners were common drunk, and were disposed of in the usual manner.

Edward York, who was given in charge for begging in the country market was remanded.

OVERCOATS and TROUSERS.

OVERCOATS and TROUSERS have the pre-eminence this season of the year. Judging from our sales last week our stock of Overcoats and Overcoat Cloths meets the approval of buyers.

In our Ready-to-Wear Department we have amply prepared for a large demand for desirable Coats at such popular prices as $10.00, $12.00, $13.50, $15, $16 and $18. Truly excellent Coats in every respect—full of style and quality. Better grades up to $22, many novelties among them. Every Coat possesses style and quality—these features which are bringing us more trade all the time.

For CUSTOM MADE OVERCOATS we have a great variety of the latest patterns in decidedly exclusive Cloths, and we cut and make them to your satisfaction.

Are here in greater array than previous seasons. Men come here for fine quality Cloths, and know that they will have a big range of patterns to select from, and can depend upon fit and finish. Prices $5.50 to $9.00.

READY TO WEAR TROUSERS

Come in Custom effects and well made, lock-stitched seams that cannot rip, good linings and all that; cloths are solid worsted, no cotton-backed cloths.
