IMPERIAL'S KIDDIES CAPTURE THE TOWN

Theatre Crowded Since Opening Last Thursday to See Wonderful Youngsters in Their Best Attraction Yet, "Jack and the Beanstalk."

This is the first time an Imperial Theatre programme has been given critical notice since the children have been putting on their third periodical offering, "Jack and the Beanstalk." However, lack of newspaper commendations has not in the least slackened the traffic imperial-wards for the crowds that have been jamming into the big house since last Thursday indicate again the wonderful appreciation people cherish for the clever performances of the youngsters and the art of Mrs. Jack Rossley in training them.

Jack and the Beanstalk, as the fairy tale runs, is a pretty flimsy plot upon which to hang even an opera but the old tale passes muster and veritably a wonderment of singing, dancing, marches, ensembles, stage pictures and comedy situations build up an enterprising performance that runs more than an hour and a quarter, never lagging a moment, never falling to elicit exclamations of pleasure and loud applause of recognition. The personnel of the company embraces no less than thirty-five cast members, so it would be perhaps unfair to particularize, but let it be said right here and now that no child-actor has ever put on in St. John (possibly not excepting the famous Pollard Lilliputian troupe) has pleased more thoroughly, or acted and sung with more grace and finish.

The fairy extravaganza is laid in three scenes, the cottage and garden of Dame Thrift, mother of Jack, the kitchen of the Giant with his prodigious utensils, clothing, fireplace, table, chair, etc.—not to mention the eight-foot giant himself—and the seashore. These original scenic bits were painted by the Imperial's own artist, F. W. Stringer, and the mass of charming costumes were the result of the needlework and design of Mrs. Rossley and her aides. In this particular the show simply scintillates with dash and color. It is a revelation as a home-made article.

Of course, as usual, the popular honors go to the baby performance which is little Miss McAllister, as sword-bearer, the others Louise McAlins, daughters of the ex-inspector whose home is now in the Montreal and who left the kiddies with dash and color. It is a revelation as a home-made article. Speaker Rhodes to quit politics.

(Canadian Press Dispatch) Halifax, N. S., July 4.—Although he will continue to discharge his duties as speaker of the house of commons, during the life of present parliament, Hon. E. N. Rhodes, M. P., for Cumberland, Nova Scotia, is retiring from political life to become general manager of the British American Nickel Corporation with headquarters at Ottawa, according to an Amherst (N. S.), dispatch to the Halifax Chronicle tonight. Mr. Rhodes will leave Amherst for Ottawa within a few days the dispatch added.

"No one apart from those directly concerned knows the demands that are made on a man in the service of the public. I will be delighted to have the mantle of office fall to another," said Mr. Rhodes, announcing his retirement.

Hon. E. N. Rhodes first entered the arena of active politics in 1898, when he was appointed secretary of the Conservative party in Cumberland County. A year later he entered partnership in the practice of law with the late Hon. W. T. Pipes, one-time premier of Nova Scotia, and from that time on was intimately connected with provincial and federal politics. For the last thirteen years he has represented Cumberland County in the Dominion parliament. He is forty-four years of age. He was born in Amherst and educated at Acadia and Dalhousie universities. In 1902 he was admitted to the bar of Nova Scotia. He married Grace M. Pipes, daughter of the late Hon. W. T. Pipes and has one son and one daughter.

CITY PLAYGROUNDS SCHOOL OF MANNERS

Dr. Gadbois Asserted Montreal Does More for Children Than Other Cities.

(Montreal Gazette)

This season, as was the case last year, special instructors will be engaged by the city of Montreal for the benefit of children frequenting the playgrounds.

The claim was made yesterday by Dr. J. P. Gadbois, superintendent of playgrounds, that despite certain drawbacks Montreal was doing more for the children than was done by any other city of similar size. For example, the playgrounds were open longer each day and on every day of the year, while in the United States such grounds were closed on Sundays and on holidays.

"There seems to be a reawakening in playgrounds," said Dr. Gadbois. "The movement is studied everywhere and people are beginning to give more thought to the children. We do more here than any other city of the same size. In U. S. cities the playgrounds are open about 300 days a year, as they close on Sundays and holidays, but we keep our playgrounds open all the time, and on Sundays and holidays we have more children at the playgrounds, at least double the number attend on those days."

"We also keep our playgrounds open twelve hours, instead of eight hours, as in the U. S., and in spite of the fact we have a smaller number of employees spend less money, we have more picnics and more ways to entertain the children than they have. On Wednesday (today) a large picnic has been organized at Dominion Park, for which 15,000 invitations have been given to children from thirty-six schools situated in the northern and eastern districts of the city. They will leave Lafontaine Park at 2 p.m. This outing is due to the generosity of Mr. L. R. Cooper, who is supplying the tickets to the children, and tickets for such shows which are not dangerous. Mr. Cooper is also supplying an orchestra for the children's dances and for the gymnastics by the boys at the park. This will be an interesting sight."

"The next celebration will be held on Fletcher's Field, where we will construct a Zionist flag, composed of Jewish children. Afterwards we will distribute ice cream to the living members of the flag."

Need More Playgrounds.
Continuing, Dr. Gadbois said: "We have eight playgrounds in Montreal, but we should have thirty-five playgrounds, one in each ward. We have eighty-two employees, and we should have one hundred. We need more apparatus, more games, shelters and trees, but despite these drawbacks we keep a very large number of children contented, although we regret to see so many children on the streets, where they are exposed to accidents and where they learn bad language and bad manners. If they would all come to the playgrounds we would train them physically and teach them better manners and make them better citizens."

As to the use of school yards as playgrounds, Dr. Gadbois remarked that nothing had been decided, so far as he was aware. There were present nineteen school yards used as playgrounds, but there were 200 schools in Montreal and all these yards should be thrown open to the children.

After remarking that many public-spirited citizens of Montreal made donations of all kinds to the playgrounds, Dr. Gadbois continued by saying: "We shall have eight special instructors beginning on July 1. Two of them are already at work without pay. Two instructors will be employed in Lafontaine Park, two on Fletcher's Field, two in Dufferin Square and two in Richmond Square. They give instructions in games, folk dancing and basket work. The salaries of the instructors will be paid in part by the city and in part by the Parks and Playgrounds Association. Seven instructors are graduates of the McGill course of physical education and one instructor has been specially trained by Prof. Laing. I hope that a chair of physical culture will soon be established at the University of Montreal, for the training of French-Canadian instructors."

A BRIGHTER OUTLOOK

The visit of Gen. Smuts to Dublin is a good omen, the more so that it is said he goes by invitation of some of the Irish leaders. Gen. Smuts fought against England in the Boer war, but is now one of the most ardent defenders of the imperial relations. He should be able to exert greater influence in Ireland than any Englishman or Scotchman could hope to do in the present state of feeling. The parliamentary correspondent of the London Times says that reports of "excellent augury" have been received by the government relative to the conference in Dublin between De Valera and Irish Unionist leaders, and that De Valera will probably go to London to confer with Sir James Craig and Premier Lloyd George. It is suggested Gen. Smuts attends the Dublin conference, his influence may go far toward establishing a more friendly feeling and a desire to get together for the good of Ireland. There is nothing in relation to the affairs of the United Kingdom that is so greatly to be desired as a peaceful and prompt solution of the Irish question. With the miners' strike off the boards and the industrial situation improved, nothing would give so great a stimulus to the movement toward normal conditions as the assurance that henceforth there was to be peace and friendship between Great Britain and Ireland. The government is willing to go far to meet the wishes of the Irish people if they will agree among themselves. That agreement may be easier than appears on the surface, although experience teaches that nothing may safely be taken for granted in regard to the state of affairs in that distracted country.

DISARMAMENT

New York Evening Post: "By the unanimous vote in the Senate and by the virtually unanimous vote in the House in favor of the Borah amendments conference resolution, America has expressed her intention to resume leadership in the movement for economic reconstruction of the world which she led amidst the strife of internal party politics. Yesterday was a good day for the United States and for humanity." Regarding the vote in the House a Washington despatch says: "Adoption by the House of the Borah amendment, authorizing and requesting the president to invite Great Britain and Japan to join the United States in a naval disarmament conference, was by an almost unanimous vote—380 to 4—and was preceded by only brief debate. President Harding's letter to Representative Mondell, Republican leader, declaring it was 'wholly desirable' that Congress should express a favorable opinion regarding world disarmament, and that it was 'not of particular concern to the administration' what form that expression should take, was read to the House before the taking of the vote. No attempt was made to offer the Porter substitute, generally regarded as broader than the Borah amendment in that it carried no restriction as to participants in the proposed conference and looked to military as well as naval disarmament."

The Porter substitute would have caused indefinite delay, since it called for a conference of all nations. The conference between the United States, Britain and Japan can be called quickly since the last two mentioned nations only await American action. Members of both the British and Japanese governments have expressed a desire for such a meeting, and last week the Japanese League of Nations Society adopted the following resolution: "That the principle of armament restriction was embodied in the League of Nations covenant, but that its realization requires a concert of action between the American, Japanese, British and other nations on the general subject of disarmament, adding that 'these inquiries and negotiations will be continued, and the time and manner in which they may be formally presented to foreign governments can only be determined after the fuller development of inquiries already initiated.'"

All this is very satisfactory and very hopeful. There is another question in which the three countries are interested, and it is that of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. It is now explained that the agreement does not terminate until denounced by one of the parties, and there will therefore be ample time to consider every phase of the subject. The most influential of the Dominion premiers are not favorable to the treaty, and there is also a strong sentiment in England against its renewal in the present terms. There is a general desire to avoid any possible friction with the United States. The armaments question, as the Evening Post points out, involves the same three nations that are interested in the problems of the Pacific, and an agreement between the three would be the best possible solution of these problems and an incentive to disarmament. The American administration faces a great opportunity.

THE DREAM OF PEACE

Sir Auckland Geddes thinks the optimists who dream of an age in which war shall be no more may be over-optimistic as to the time, but that they are right in saying such an age will come, for the choice which lies before humanity is between a peace of reason and the peace of death. This is a striking expression of the alternatives. Sir Auckland puts his faith in these further words: "We have just passed through one of the darkest chapters in the history of the world, but in those hours and years of darkness a light was lit that I believe will never go out. It may flicker and pale, but it is unextinguishable. Now and forever more the idea of justice and law among and between all the people of the earth is in the hearts of men and in its own good time and its own unforeseen way it will come to fruition." Events are moving, even if very slowly, in the direction of universal peace. It may take a long time to allay international jealousies and subdue selfish ambitions, but there is ever the choice between a peace of reason and the peace of death, and the world is gradually learning its lesson, even though it be through pain and tears.

ON TO BUFFALO

A hearty welcome awaits Mr. Hilton Belyea on his return to St. John after winning a great sculling race on the Charles River. When news of his victory was received yesterday, the liveliest satisfaction was expressed. While it was known that Mr. Belyea could make a fine showing in any company, it was not anticipated that he would establish a record for the Charles River. His work was a revelation to the onlookers, who doubtless expected the honor to go to a younger man. St. John is proud of him and of the two younger oarsmen who went from this city to participate in the intermediate and junior events. Their work points to a promising future in aquatic sports.

There is no reason why St. John should not regain its old-time supremacy at the oar. It can produce the men and build the boats. Once the sport has been popularized, young men will come forward to carry the colors of St. John to victory. The Times has urged that each of the Improvement Leagues should have a shell or two, and encourage rowing as one branch of athletics. It can be done if the people in each section of the city will get behind the league and put it in a position financially to carry on. There is good rowing water in Courtenay Bay and at Indiantown, as well as in the main harbor; and with boat-houses conveniently located the sport would soon acquire great popularity. The last two years have witnessed a marked revival of interest in aquatic sport here, and the work of our representatives on the Charles gives it a new impulse. By all means let Mr. Belyea be sent to Buffalo to take part in the international championship.

Of the western crop outlook, a staff correspondent of the Toronto Globe writes from Winnipeg: "Generally speaking, the outlook at the moment, taking the prairies as a whole, is very promising, probably the best at this period in five years. Like Saskatchewan, the province of Manitoba has been fortunate in respect of precipitation of rain, and crops along the C. P. R. main line rival in excellence those I saw on the Canadian National route between Edmonton and Regina. In three years I have not seen the face of the prairie from the foothills eastward, so uniformly clothed in green luxuriance as it is at this moment. Continuance of these showers—and more rain is threatening—will do inestimable good in advancing today's pleasing promise to its desired realization."

British iron manufacturers are concerned over German quotations on tubes fifty per cent. below their own prices. The Germans are under-bidding France and Belgium as well as England. German competition grows daily more formidable. In Germany everybody works and there are no serious wage disputes.

Financial conditions in England are such that the agriculture subsidy cannot be continued. The farmers must soon look to themselves, although it is proposed to give them some measure of assistance for the present year. The war policy of control and subsidies is to be abandoned.

Paris, July 5.—When young William H. Leeds marries the Princess Xenia of Greece at the home of Prince George of Greece, at St. Cloud, near Paris, he will be the first American bridegroom here to take his wife's name. It became known in Paris that young Leeds will be offered the title of Prince immediately following the wedding, thus becoming the first American prince-consort.

THE MOON.

And like a dying lady, lean and pale, Who totters forth, wrapped in a gauzy veil. Out of her chamber, led by the insane And feeble, wanderings of her fading brain. The moon arose up in the murky east A white, a shapeless mass. Are thou pale for weariness Of climbing heaven and gazing on the earth, Wandering companionless Among the stars that have a different birth, And ever changing, like a joyless eye That finds no object worth its constancy? —Percy Bysshe Shelley.

LIGHTER VEIN.

And this is glory! Little Willie, sitting opposite to an old pensioner, whose breast bore many medals, gazed at him and the medals long and earnestly, and at length said to his mother, "Mother, why does that man wear his money on his coat? Won't they let him have pockets?" —London Mirror.

A Time Exposure.

A judge's little daughter who had attended her father's court for the first time, was much interested in the proceedings. After her return home she told her mother: "Papa made a speech, and several other men made speeches to twelve men who sat all together, and then these twelve men were put in a dark room to see if they would be any good. I don't know how it will come to fruition." —Pearson's Weekly, London.

A Sale Regretted.

The musical instrument seller had succeeded at last, after an hour's hard work, in working of a cheap, wheezy, screeching fiddle on a customer at four times its value. "Where shall I send it?" he inquired. "To No. 914 Sluice street. My flat is on the third floor." —The Musical.

Jack Roof and Company Score Hit With Bright Musical Comedy Offering

Delightful Song and Dance Specialties. A delightful treat was the statement of the many who visited the Opera House last evening and witnessed Jack Roof and Company present their musical comedy offering "All at Sea." The new bill inaugurates the special booking for the summer season from the customary vaudeville acts will take a decided hit with patrons. The play has little of plot, but is made up of a score of bright and catchy musical numbers, direct from Broadway, and comedy dancing, and comedy songs. The scenic effects are a pleasing feature and the costuming of the lady members very pretty and attractive. The comedy of the production is ably handled by Jack Roof, who appears as "Booby" Miles Black, and Billy Long, mate on the yacht. Their antics were highly amusing and coupled with their clever and jokes kept the audience in good humor. Clara Bell, prima donna, made a most favorable impression. Her singing was good, her selections tuneful and the chorus accompaniments very pretty. Vera Lee also heard to advantage in well chosen numbers. One of the features of the musical offerings was "Adolphus Bernasconi," a ten-year-old boy, played into a swimming hole at Antigonish, N. S., yesterday, and rescued his chum, Graham Brine, dragging him ashore, where he administered first aid.

COMMERCIAL FLYING IN THE UNITED STATES

Civilian Aviation Well Established—1,200 Commercial Planes in Operation

New York, July 5.—(Associated Press by Mail)—The Manufacturers Aircraft Association on completing an aviation survey of the United States, announced today that, in the last six months, the 1,200 commercial planes in operation in this country had flown approximately 3,280,000 miles.

"The record," said the survey, "shows that civilian flying, although embarrassed by the lack of an American air policy, has established itself as a regular and dependable means of transportation. In three and a quarter million miles of travel by air, only 15 persons were killed and 48 injured in a total of 27 serious accidents. Most of these accidents occurred among that class of civilian aviators known as gypsy flyers."

Of the 1,200 commercial aircraft, probably one thousand are under the indirect supervision of responsible plane manufacturers or transportation companies—and this is absolutely the only regulation over flying, as local ordinances or state laws can not be enforced. Lacking a federal organization controlling civilian aviation, these 200 or more gypsy flyers have been permitted to fly at will and many have met disaster. "Eight of the fatalities and 32 of the injuries in the last six months have been traced to the lack of terminals, routes and storm warnings, or to reckless stunting—errors which would have been corrected or prevented had there been a national air policy. In all the United States there are only 214 adequate municipal or civilian air ports, yet terminals are as necessary to aerial transport as they are to shipping or the railways. Deducting these preventable casualties, it is found that there was only one death for each 464,285 miles flown and only one injury for each 295,453 miles flown."

HOW HE WAS NAMED
"RALPH CONNOR"

Rev. Dr. Gordon, New Presbyterian Moderator, Did Not Choose Famous Penname.

JUST MERE CHANCE

'Twas Chosen by Rev. J. A. Macdonald When, as an Editor, He Handled First Story.

HOW did Rev. Dr. C. W. Gordon, newly chosen moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly, get the non-de-plorable name of Ralph Connor by which he is known to fame? It is an old story but it is worth repeating because it is unusual as one of the few records where a pen name was chosen by the author himself.

Out of the west came the young Gordon, full of enthusiasm and seal and with a message to tell of the great opportunities for religious work. He communicated his thoughts to Rev. J. A. Macdonald, publisher of the Westminster and later editor of the Toronto Globe, of whom he became later a great friend.

"Well and good," said Mr. Macdonald, "but tell them in the form of a story."

So the young minister went back to the west and wrote the first chapter of the novel, "Black Rock," calling it "A Tale of the Selkirk." After he had mailed the story to Mr. Macdonald he was afraid some of the honestly expressed views therein would offend his more liberal friends. So he telegraphed to Mr. Macdonald, "Sign story CONNOR, the name containing the initials of Canadian and of Northwest."

"What sort of a name is Connor?" exclaimed Mr. Macdonald as he read the telegram. "The operator must have made a mistake. Put it Connor, and he must have a name like that."

Dr. Gordon's first ministerial duty was a tough one—missionary at Banff, now a beautiful health resort by the Rockies, but then famous as a boom town for lumberjacks and railroad navies. It was in this little town that he learned the meaning of Christianity when he afterwards gave to the world in his books.

It is related that the Earl and Countess of Aberdeen discovered him at his obscure post during a tour of the west. They heard him preach at the little mission church and invited him to dinner. But, according to C. Laut in the Saturday Evening Post, he sent his regrets despite the fact that a governor-general's invitation was practically a command—had an appointment in the woods with the natives and lumbermen.

He stuck to that job until he was well on in the thirties, when he came out to take a poor little mission church on the western outskirts of Winnipeg. That church is to-day one of the biggest and best in Canada and Rev. C. W. Gordon, its pastor, is head of the Presbyterian church.

Dean of Commons
Man of Few Words
Hon. W. A. Charlton Succeeds Sir Wm. Gage as Head of Anti-Tuberculosis Forces.

WAS A CHARLTON, who was made a Canadian privy councillor a few days ago and is therefore entitled to be called "honorable" for the rest of his life, is the dean of the House of Commons. A man of few speeches, especially since becoming a follower of Union government, Mr. Charlton made one notable utterance when he made the closing speech in the naval debate of 1913. He attacked the subject of war and put forward the subject of peace, from a high Christian standpoint. As it happened, he turned out to be the "voice of one crying in the wilderness" but that did not detract from the calm, moral tone of his viewpoint in a debate that was filled with eagerness and bitter contention.

Mr. Charlton has succeeded the late Sir William Gage as head of the great work of fighting the ravages of tuberculosis.

Bourassa and Blondin Still Live, According to Newspaper Paragraphs

These Two French-Canadian Politicians Who Once Reveled in Publicity Have Both Come In for Casual Mention This Week.

OLD times have changed. Two French-Canadian stars, who once shone brightly in the political firmament but have been in eclipse for some time, emerged in the past few days, in a casual way, from their obscurity of recent months—Hon. P. E. Blondin and Hon. Bourassa. Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, speaking in the House of Commons, wanted the former to be a Costumes-general because he appeared so seldom in the Senate. Mr. Bourassa received brief notice in newspapers because he was making a lecture tour of northern Ontario in an effort to draw French Catholics together. How are the mighty fallen!

Dr. W. A. Riddell, Giving Up Work With League, Is an Outstanding Labor Authority.

DR. W. A. RIDDELL is going to come back to Toronto and resume his job at Queen's University as a deputy minister of labor, according to report. He is one of the few Canadians serving the League of Nations and the only man of his kind from this continent in the International Labor Office at Geneva. He is said to be a Coleridge, a Switzer, and long to return to his native air. For he is a Strathmore man by birth, though he was only six years of age when he migrated with the rest of the family to the ground up, having not only worked as a pioneer boy twenty-four hours a day on the construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad, now the C.N.R. One summer he spent at carpentering.

Queen in Movies?
MOVIE producers, it is said, have been tumbling over one another in their efforts to persuade Queen Marie of Rumania to act for the film. She has written, among other things, some plays, the proceeds of which have been devoted to the charities of her father, King Ferdinand. It would do anything for Rumania, she said. Knowing this, film producers have been trying to induce Her Majesty to play some of her characters in one or two of her own dramas. From what I can hear, Queen Marie has a reputation for versatility. Apart from being a theatrical woman, she is a practical house decorator and dress designer.

Tex Rickard, Formerly, World's Champion Showman

Man Staging the Dempsey-Carpentier Battle Was Texas Cowboy and Klondike Gambler—Put Coldfield on the Map With Big Ring Contest—Has Huge Ranch in Paraguay.

WHEN the five-foot bookshelf of biography containing the life records of America's greatest showman is complete, the name of Tex Rickard will stand forth supreme. It is the more familiar life of Rickard.

Barum made no costly failures in his appraisal of the attractions that brought him fame as a showman, and as for Tex Rickard, he has staged more than 30 great battles of national or international importance, and has never scored a financial loss.

The most outstanding achievement of this quiet spoken, spectacular showman of to-day has been to unify the battles between heavyweight pugilists with practically no outlay of capital. The guaranties of the fighters themselves were in the main long before the event of beginning to train the contest, and these were sufficient to insure the preliminary expenses.

The probabilities are 100 to 1 that Rickard will collect the biggest purse in the history of the sport. At the time he was six weeks away, more than $1,000,000 was expected to be paid. Nearly half the seating capacity of the arena—some 60,000—had sold before the arena itself had been fairly started.

Tex Rickard was born in Kansas City, Mo., on Jan. 2, 1871. His family were Illinois natives, but he was born in Kansas. At twelve years of age he was orphaned and he was reared by his mother and a stepfather. He had a wide mother, two brothers and three sisters. He could ride and throw a rope, and he had a taste for the law. He had a taste for the law.

A Friend of Rex Beach
IN 1894 Rickard hit north for Alaska, lured by rumors of wealth to be won in the mining game. When the Klondike gold rush started, Rickard went to the Klondike with a small party. He stayed in the Klondike for a long time, and he was successful. He had a wide mother, two brothers and three sisters.

In Document Found in Foreign Office, Says His Government Didn't Tell Him War Aim.

A DOCUMENT has come to light in the archives of the foreign office in Berlin, written by the ex-kaiser in the spring of 1917, in which he stated his peace terms. The Kaiser wrote that he should speak to them. A little later he was bowled down by learning Britishers when he was in Ottawa. But he was able to give his views publicly through the columns of his own paper, the "Volkliche Zeitung," which was published in Ottawa. It is almost like reading a letter from the Kaiser to the British people. It is almost like reading a letter from the Kaiser to the British people.

On To Calgary and The Women's Council

Monday afternoon after the luncheon at the little rest room of the Hudson Bay Company, the St. John delegates and the pleasure of fifteen restful moments with Mrs. Sanford, who made us sit close to her "so she might enjoy St. John again;" then, on behalf of the Corona Company of St. John, the presentation of a large gift box of Dorothy Kingston chocolates, tied with council ribbons and accompanied by a card of cordial greeting was made and very appreciatively acknowledged, with a smiling remark that "a personal letter would be forwarded to the firm."

It has been difficult to record accurately occurrences in regular order, as the delegate's mind has been so actively engaged in connecting people and places, attending meetings, keeping reports, and telling out the signs and colors of the little, the cars of which, entirely one-an-operative, follow in quick succession along the busy streets.

The tiny daughter of my hostess was such distressed that the guest was not one for lunch and dinner, but has worn eternal friendship. The whole family, with trunk suitably packed, as brought into the guest room and capably installed in a convenient corner. Apropos of doll mothers, there has been no explanation of my oft reiterated marks at odd times of the "aliquot as powder puff," so I copy the little verses printed in a Calgary paper, which are caused so much laughing comment.

NOW, MOTHER—
f by dabbing your nose and touching your lips,
And smoothing the wrinkles away,
Fou cause ladies to ponder, and men to look fonder,
Then practice makes perfect, I say.

When you talk to the intelligent bunch,
You have a hunch on a theme,
Want to drive home a thought all your own,
Don't look like a screamer!

Now the men, you agree, are fond of their brains,
Of their pose and eloquence too,
They crave admiration and love inspiration,
And then they do big things for you,
Right then they are men, and that doesn't say.

That they like their women that way,
T'is the hang of the skirt, the way they can flirt,
And not only brains, so they say.

o Mother, my dear, just listen to me,
And I'll tell you a thought that's a fact,
Beauty 'is said has oft turned a male head,
Now, Agnes, have brains ever done that?

This was written to one of the delegates to the National Council of Women by her daughters and though not in line with serious thought, brought moments of laughing diversion to many maternal intellectual minds, who when out of session and sometimes in session could appreciate keenly the unexpected humor of the moment—as one day when consideration was being earnestly considered and protested it "was a burning question," while even the chair smiled an appreciation, and the disconcerted member from Moosejaw wondered about the source of merriment and was the Englishman of her own joke.

Tuesday morning session brought proposed discussion of the amendments to a constitution, while the afternoon session opened with proposed amendments to the clause dealing with provincial residents acting a proxy for federated associations, following the discussion of which was the report on taxation, read by the National convener, Mrs. Murray of Halifax. Next was the presentation to the meeting of the report on laws given by Mrs. O. C. Edwards of McGeorge. Mrs. Edwards created much amusement when, on finding she could not sit a chair and with the assurance to Mrs. Sanford that she would not lose her balance, managed most successfully to read her report and change her position repeatedly without ever forgetting her place. Her attention was limited as to space, and the attention of the audience for an hour. Once she asked "if the 'was would please keep quiet."

Copies of Mrs. Edwards' compilation "extracts from Dominion and provincial laws, at the request of the Alberta attorney general, has resulted in the publication of a very valuable little booklet called "Legal Status of Women of Alberta," copies of which were given to the delegates.

Luncheon on Tuesday was enjoyed at the Palliser, where the delegates and the guests of the Women's Canadian Club, and at which in the unavoidable absence of Hon. Mary Ellen Smith, Dr. Stowe Gullen, the provincial vice-president for Ontario, was a most interesting speaker on "Citizenship." Dr. Stowe Gullen is a consulting physician in Toronto and daughter of Dr. Stowe, the first woman in Canada to receive the degree was made to the city, but one motor containing a returned old-timer managed to lose itself conveniently out on the prairie, where, in the midst of a wonderful sunset, a breath of sea and sky, and the delight of picking prairie flowers, the study of nature's art was satisfying and soul-lifting, in preference to the four walls within the city. An Indian on horseback approaching his shack impelled the desire to call, so a hasty tumbler out of the motor and a request to enter his abode was solemnly granted. We enjoyed looking at his peculiar bed, the slanting top of which was beautifully embroidered, while regretting that his housekeeping was not quite according to Hoyle.

Then out in the fresh air, smelling of wild sage and unknown flowers—"Sending its glorious freshness Far out in the prairie night."

LOOK TO SOUTH AMERICA FOR FINAL REFUGE

Bolshevik Leaders, Fearing Weakening of Lenine, are Sending Families Abroad.

(Associated Press, by mail.)
Reval, Estonia, June 8.—According to recently intercepted correspondence from Communist officials in Moscow to Communist agents abroad, advising them of the "inside situation" in Russia, South America is looked upon as a final haven of refuge by many of the less hopeful Bolshevik leaders in event Russia becomes too hot for them.

One of these letters, recently published in a Reval newspaper, the Poslednie Novosti, advises one of the officials' friends, who is now apparently in Germany, to "convert your valuables into dollars as frequently as you can, or, better still, into South American currency."

"The Octoberists," the letter adds, meaning by them those Communists who participated in the October, 1917, revolution, "are frequently sending their families abroad. Soon, it may be, I shall send my wife across to you, in which case try to put her up as best you can."

Referring to the political situation, this Communist wrote: "Illitch (meaning Lenin, that being his middle name by which he is popularly known in Russia) is weakening, Zinovieff has grown too fat. Trotsky alone remains as of old the unrecognized Napoleon, but he is 'revolutionizing' also."

In connection with the sending abroad of the families of the "Octoberists," this letter goes on: "Will you kindly keep a detailed account of their arrival and of their means? Further, by a decision of the military department of the party, I want you to withdraw from the banks all the deposits at your disposal and put them in safe hands. Bring to Switzerland one-third of the 'iron fund' and hand it to B—. The rest can be left in Germany for any eventualities."

The writer constantly refers to the ruling councils of the Bolsheviks as the "Olympians" and remarks that "our Olympus is going the pace too fast."

From January," he says, "the situation in the council of the party and in the Central Committee has come to a point to the last degree. The result of these conflicts was the expulsion of Comrades Krylenko, Bonch-Bruyevich, Dubov, Blumenthal and many others. This was the last gesture of the party gods. For a word said against Illitch, Krestinsky or Zinovieff, even not in public, ostracism is imminent."

Where There's a Will— Helen's mother passed her the cake, and when the little one went to reach across the plate for the largest piece her mamma said: "Always take the piece nearest to you, dear." "Well, then, turn the plate around," was the answer.—Exchange.

On Wednesday morning, Dr. Stowe Gullen's report on Citizenship was read and reference made to the need of homes for mental defectives, mental examination of the sub-normal, and supervision of mentally deficient, child-bearing women as a national need. Also the appointment of women judges, probation officers, and women to serve on juries was advocated.

The treasurer's report, or rather the report on finances, was given by the treasurer, Mrs. Thorburn, and the remark was made that they "didn't see how even such a clever woman as the national treasurer could run an organization of 40,000 women for one year on an expenditure of only 3,800."

The domestic service report was read by Mrs. Wiloughby Cummings, and dealt with the problem of home-making in these days of inefficient help, which was said to be menacing national welfare, in that homes are being given up for apartment houses and boarding houses.

The luncheon on Wednesday was given in Hudson Bay by Calgary Council, and a short session was the order of the afternoon, after which motors were provided and the delegates were driven out to Mr. Burns' ranch. Here they were greeted by Mrs. Woodhall, president of Calgary Council, after which western entertainment was provided by the cowboys and bronchos, while the process of rounding up cattle and branding was also shown. Tea was served in the ranch house, and at one end of the table the genial Judge Jamieson poured the delicious, fragrant tea. The house arrangements were in charge of Mr. Burns' Chinaman, who has lived there for twenty-eight years, and who has proved himself a devoted foreman.

HOPE FOR PEACE IN IRELAND Several Points Agreed Upon in Dublin Conference.

(Canadian Press Despatch) Dublin, July 4.—For three hours today, Eamon De Valera, the republican leader, Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein, and four southern Unionists, Earl Studderton, Sir Maurice Dockrell, Sir Robert Henry Woods, and Andrew Jameson, conferred on the Irish situation with a view to preparing the way for possible negotiations with the British prime minister and the Ulster premier, Sir James Craig.

The members of the conference were reticent regarding what took place at the meeting, but points of agreement were reached on the financial question and the disadvantages of partition. Popular sentiment is very hopeful for peace. This was voiced by the Lord Mayor in a speech at a meeting of the Dublin Corporation after the conference, in which he said that he was breaking no confidence in declaring that much good will would come of it.

In a statement to the Associated Press after an important official in touch with all sides of the situation, asserted that the government was prepared to make large concessions, but reaching effect of which Mr. De Valera would appreciate. He added that fears that Mr. De Valera would be hampered by physical forces were baseless.

WOMEN BOYCOTT ALLIES. Berlin, July 5.—At a meeting of German women at Heidelberg, a resolution was passed unanimously to buy no more foreign products, especially those of Entente countries. It was decided to transmit the resolution to the government, together with a request that importation of such goods be prohibited.

GOVERNMENT TO COLLECT FROM A ST. JOHN FIRM (Canadian Press Despatch) Ottawa, July 4.—The government has taken the first step in its suit to collect $115,000 from the New Brunswick Rolling Mills, Limited, of St. John (N. B.), which it claims is the balance due on the former Canadian cruiser Niobe and two obsolete submarines, sold to the New Brunswick firm for scrap.

The filing of an information in the exchequer court by the St. John agent of the justice department constitutes the first step in the suit. The sale of the Niobe came under fire at the last session of parliament when Hon. C. B. Ballantyne was endeavoring to pilot his estimate through the house.

SAY BAROMETER

OF CREDIT NOW

POINTS TO FAIR

If a definite change for the better in trade is still in the future, a firm foundation for prosperity in Canada is now being laid in the improving trend of banking indices.

Greenfields & Company, investment bankers, publish in the July number of their monthly review of conditions in Canada a chart bearing the encouraging caption "Barometer of Credit is Pointing to Fair." In graphic form it is shown that while the depression in business has deepened since last Autumn, allowing for seasonal factors there has been definite improvement in financial conditions. This improvement should continue and will be necessary to preclude to more active trade in the dominion.

The leading power of a bank depends on its resources in capital, reserve and deposits, and in the case of our Canadian banks approximately 90 per cent. of the resources consists of deposits. The greater the surplus of deposits over loans the greater the ease of money. When this surplus is cut down or turned into a deficit money becomes tight.

The strain on credit, which became acute in 1920 was accompanied by, or rather resulted from, deposits in Canada falling below loans and investments, this condition of shortage contracting with a long period of surplus lending power from 1915 on through the war.

The feature brought out by Greenfields & Company's chart is that the liquidation in business which set in during the Autumn of 1920 has opened up a "white area"—a surplus of lending power against the "black area," or deficit of lending power, that characterized the early part of 1920. Under seasonal influences affecting the principal items of the bank figures, this white area should grow through the summer months and the "barometer of credit is therefore pointing to fair."

Deducting from financial and commercial conditions, which are summarized, the review says of the outlook for high grade investments:

"Heavy sales of provincial government and municipal bonds, which for the first five months of the year amounted to $22,729,978 against $7,046,161 in the same period of 1920, reflect impressive absorptive power. Temporarily the market has been over-supplied and a slight recession in prices has followed. As the large requirements of the Province of Ontario have been the principal factor in the condition of over-supply, and within a short time Ontario's further requirements will be satisfied, the pressure of new issues of this class should presently be lifted.

"The effects of the accumulation of liquid capital and a dwindling competition from new issues should, therefore, become more apparent in the next few months. We are probably over the peak of a long rise in interest rates. Because the downward tendency became more widely recognized and bond prices advanced, that is the opportunity of a recession to accumulate fixed-income securities of the first grade."

RUBBER EXHIBIT FOR LONDON

London, June 17.—(A. P. by mail) Visitors to the Fifth International Exhibition of Rubber and Tropical Products here have paid generous attention to the displays of the Philippine government which occupy a large booth.

Fidel A. Reyes, director of the Bureau of Commerce and Industry in the Philippine administration, who is in charge of the exhibition, said the experiment was proving very worth while.

"I am positive that the work and expense of bringing the exhibition to England has been more than justified," said Mr. Reyes, "we have been overwhelmed with inquiries about the possibilities of trade and industry in the Philippines and with requests for information about exports. Our experiences warrant my saying that new markets certainly will be established for certain products which England wants."

Products on display in raw state include hemp, sugar, tobacco, coconut and coconut oils. Of finished articles there are hats, embroideries, buttons, slippers, baskets and furniture.

H. J. Daly Speaks from Wide

Industrial and Trade Experience.

(Financial Post.)

The broad and active experience of H. J. Daly in the industrial and retail fields makes more than usually interesting his observations on the business outlook as president of the Home Bank of Canada. He told the shareholders at the annual meeting this week that "it is encouraging to note that the heavy surplus stocks apparent a few months ago are rapidly disappearing, and purchases on a broad scale by the distributors cannot be expected to be so heavy as in the past."

Mr. Daly pointed out that the manufacturer had suffered from over-stocking on his part and also by distributors, from the sudden decline in commodity prices, and from the discontinuance of foreign buying. In future, there would be keen competition in the export field, which would call for greater care and patience on the part of our manufacturers.

The retail trade was rapidly readjusting itself. The frequent turnover of merchandise had enabled them to replace their stocks at lower prices and the drop in commodity prices had stimulated buying by the public. Further he said:

"The readjustment pains are severe, but not nearly so severe in this country as in other countries participating in the war, due to the fact that this is a younger country in comparison with European countries and also that it is comparatively undeveloped.

"Our people are dissatisfied in that they are ambitious for improvement and eager for the fruits which the future holds in store. They are also sane and contented in that they realize we are a nation of working people living in a land replete with possibilities.

"Production is the keynote of readjustment and labor is the basis of production, therefore we may rejoice in the possession, generally speaking, of a labor body that recognizes the possibilities for natural betterment and improvement and is capable of appreciating that the realization of these are dependent upon the concerted efforts of all classes.

"The sentiment has been mixed this week in regard to wholesale dry goods, and reports on the whole were not quite so optimistic as a week ago. General dry goods are moving quietly, and the improvement noted last week has not altogether maintained. There is as yet little forward buying. Orders are still on a hand-to-mouth scale, and many merchants are spending money in hundreds where they formerly spent it in thousands. An exception appears to be the silk trade, where the demand has strengthened, and prices of manufactured silks are firm in tendency. Wholesale groceries are quiet and steady, with little change in prices. Canned goods are firm in price, but are moving in good volume. Retail trade is spotty with a good seasonal demand in a number of lines.

TABLET UNVEILED.

There were special services in St. John's Presbyterian church of Chatham on Sunday which was the church anniversary day. At the afternoon service the memorial tablet, to those from the church who had served in the war, was unveiled and the address was given by Rev. J. M. McLean, of Strathmore, C. B., who had been pastor of the church for fifteen years. The pastor, Rev. J. H. A. Anderson, formerly of St. John, emphasized the nature of the gathering as a family remembrance. The tablet contains the names of nine men who gave their lives and fifty-three who served overseas.

A Laxative The Old Can Rely On

Let them take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin for Constipation. Mild and gentle. Never loses its good effect.

ELDERLY people know how much more difficult it is each year as they get older to avoid the ill effects of chronic constipation. The stomach and bowel muscles relax as age advances, and as you are naturally less active, in time they work only by stimulation. You try dieting and exercise, and then take medicine.

All medicines, however, are not suited to elderly people any more than to children, so you will be glad to know of a particular medicine that acts as near to Nature as has yet been found. It is a prescription written thirty odd years ago by Dr. W. B. Caldwell, who is himself now in the 82nd year of his age and still active in his profession.

It is known in the trade as Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, and you can buy it under that name at any drug store. A sixty-cent bottle will last an average family many months, and it can be used by the young.

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin. It acts mildly, gently and without griping. It also trains the stomach and bowel muscles that in time medicine of all kinds cannot be dispensed with.

When people learn of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin and see how wonderfully it acts they realize how unnecessary it is to use drastic salt waters, pills and powders for these but temporary good and are weakening to most constitutions. Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, on the contrary, is so natural and safe, (it contains no narcotic or strong drugs), that two generations of mothers have given it to their babies.

Take a teaspoonful the next time you feel any distress of the stomach, liver or bowels, if you are constipated, have a headache, cold or fever, if you are bilious, dyspeptic, tired. If Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin should ever fail to do as claimed you can have your money refunded. More people use it than any other laxative in the world.

The bride, who wore a gown of eyelet embroidered dove grey Canton crepe over shell pink satin, with French hat, walked down the aisle through rows of daisies and ferns. During the ceremony Mrs. Stanley Harrison sang very sweetly "O Perfect Love." Immediately after the ceremony a dainty buffet luncheon for relatives and friends was served at the home of the bride, which was very prettily decorated with bouquets and Canadian orange blossoms. MAYOR ADDRESSES THE UNION MEN

Requests Them Not to Hold Any Further Street Parades.

Takes Opportunity to Clear Up Some Misunderstanding—Denies Being Stockholder in Power Company—Arrangements Made by Men for Parade Tonight.

The only new feature in the street railway tie up today was an address delivered by Mayor Schofield at a meeting of the union men in their hall in Church street this morning. His Worship said that he was informed that allegations had been made that he endeavored to influence the St. Mary's band not to participate in demonstrations made by the union men, on the ground that the band was a church organization. He accepted an opportunity to address the men and informed them that so far as he was concerned the band need have no hesitation in accepting the engagement. The mayor also requested the men not to hold any more parades, saying that if they were to be held and trouble arose, not from the men but from the fact that something got started amongst sympathizers, he would have to do his duty so far as the law and order. If anybody was injured or any property damaged, the members of the union must accept as much responsibility as himself.

The mayor said after the meeting that he had endeavored to clear up some of the misunderstandings which existed regarding his attitude in the situation, which he said were partly due to the local newspaper. He pointed out that the city was taking sides with neither party, but its action in the matter was in the interests of the whole population. Referring to rumor that had been spread broadcast that he had been a shareholder in the New Brunswick Power Co., the mayor made the assertion that he did not have $1 interest in the power company in any way, shape or form and was not concerned with the company except for their contract with the city for street lighting.

At this morning's meeting of the men it was decided to parade this evening at 7.45 from the executive headquarters, Corner of Queen and Carmarthen streets. The men propose marching through the principal streets of the city but the exact route was left in the hands of a committee which was to meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The parade will be headed by a band and all the members of the union will wear badges to distinguish them.

Some new members were reported initiated at this morning's session, and it was said this brought the number added to the strength since the breaking off of negotiations to between fifty and seventy.

F. A. Campbell president of the Trades and Labor Council, said this morning that it was the intention to hold a meeting of the executive heads of the labor organizations of the city in the near future to discuss the situation. While he said, many of the local unions at recent meetings had endorsed the action of the street railwaymen, no proposal for sympathetic action had been made.

Percy W. Thomson, general manager of the N. B. Power Co., said this morning that there was nothing new in the situation so far as the company was concerned, that everything was going along as well as could be desired in full operation. The difficulty in part of the west side lighting service had been located and remedied.

POLICE COURT

Joseph Smith and Edward Smith were before the police court this morning, charged with selling liquor illegally. The information was laid by Louis Jones of Sheffield street, who testified that he had seen Edward Smith in Sheffield street on Friday afternoon and asked him if he would sell a bottle of whiskey; that the accused brought the whiskey to his house in the evening, and that he paid $8 for it. Cross-examined by J. A. Barry, for the defence, the witness said that there was no one present except his housekeeper when he bought the liquor. He said he was not selling liquor, but drank the whiskey himself. He admitted that he had information because the defendants and others had later raided his house and beaten him up. He said the police patrol arrived, but returned, and he told them he would get even with them. He then laid the charge.

Hilda Jones, the housekeeper, corroborated part of the evidence, but said that Albert Middleton also bought a bottle from one of the defendants, and that all were drinking out of the bottle. Mr. Barry said that it would be necessary to bring Middleton as a witness, so the case was postponed until tomorrow afternoon. E. C. Weyman appeared for the prosecution. Edward Smith pleaded guilty to selling the liquor, but said he sold it to Middleton and not to Jones.

LeBoire D'Entremont was before the court. Police Constable Chisholm, who made the arrest, gave evidence that he found the accused in the street, and the latter offered him $50 if he would let him go. He said the prisoner had told him that he was waiting to go to Musquash and when he saw the policeman he tried to hide. The court adjourned to the guard room to take the evidence of two little girls who made the complaint.

The case of Reuben Higgins, charged with a serious offence against two little girls, was continued. Sergeant Sullivan gave evidence and told of the children identifying the accused. The case was postponed.
