BRITANNIA RULES THE WAVES

British Squadron Gives Battle to Five German Cruisers Near the Falkland Islands--Three Sunk in South Atlantic, and Other Two Which Escaped Afterwards Caught and Sunk.

Vice Admiral Sturdee in Command of British Squadron Says there were Few British Casualties

ILLNESS OF KAISER CAUSES ANXIETY.

(Special to the Graphic). London, Dec. 9th.—The following statement was issued by the official information Bureau at 7.30 a.m. yesterday.—“Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, Nürnberg, Leipzig and Dresden were sighted near the Falkland Islands, by British squadron under Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Sturdee. Action followed in course of which the Scharnhorst flying the flag of Admiral Count Von Spee, the Gneisenau, and the Leipzig were sunk. The Dresden and the Nürnberg made off during the action and are being pursued. Two colliers were also captured. The Vice-Admiral reports that British casualties are very few in number, and that some survivors were rescued from the Gneisenau and Leipzig.”

Buenos Ayres, Dec. 10th.—A report has reached here that the German cruisers Dresden and Nürnberg, which escaped during the engagement at the Falkland Islands, have been overtaken and sent to the bottom.

Paris, Dec. 10th.—An official announcement given out this afternoon states that there were several advances made along the line and no reverses. London, Dec. 10th.—Bronchial trouble has been bothering the Kaiser for some time since the outbreak of the war, is the statement made here today. He has been constantly at the front, and it has been declared that several German failures were due to the interference of the Kaiser with the plans of his staff. One report has it that a severe cold was contracted in a hasty visit made to Emperor Francis Joseph. It was during the Kaiser's last visit to Austria that the aged ruler of the dual monarchy contracted a cold which developed into an illness which threatened the life of Emperor Francis Joseph.

London, Dec. 10th.—Kaiser Wilhelm was wracked by a severe coughing spell early today, and was relieved only after the court physicians and the Emperor who were summoned to his bedside had administered to him for nearly an hour, according to reports reaching here by way of Amsterdam.

It is now accepted in London that the condition of the Warlord is serious. It is evident that the strictest censorship is being exercised by the German Government, but reports of His Majesty's illness have come from numerous different points. His ailments are variously described as influenza bronchitis pneumonia and nervous prostration. The latest reports from Berlin which appeared to bear marks of official approval, declared the condition of the Kaiser unchanged.

London, Dec. 10th.—A great victory over the Austrian right wing is claimed by the Servian army. An official statement from Nish says that the 15th and 16th Army Corps were dispersed, 15,000 being killed and wounded. They claim that five Austrian forces were decimated, 2,000 were made prisoners and 52 cannon and 56 machine guns captured.

OFFICERS OF 26TH BATTALION NAMED

Also New Officers for Artillery—Doings of the Military at St. John

St. John, Dec. 9.—Information long expected from headquarters, at Halifax, and which has a permanent bearing on the drill of the 26th Battalion, arrived this morning, viz., the provisional appointment of officers for the battalion. The selection was made by the headquarters staff. Now that the appointments have arrived the officers will be assigned to their various companies, and this will greatly facilitate the work of drill. The officers are: Lieut. Col. J. L. McAvity, St. John. Major A. E. G. McKenzie, Campbellton. Major T. M. McAvity, St. John. Adjutant, Capt. W. R. Brown, St. John. Lieut. Cheverie, R. G. HORSES KILLED ON RAILWAY LAST WEEK

The locomotive and eight cars of an I. C. R. military special left the rails on Thursday evening at a place called Routherville, situated 33 miles above Campbellton in the province of Quebec. In the derailment, which was due to a break in the line, some thirty-two horses which were en route to Halifax to be shipped to England were killed, while it is also said that some others escaped and have not yet been captured. The locomotive and cars piled up in the ditch, blocking the main line for about fifteen hours, and the maritime express was about seven hours late in arriving her Friday. An investigation was held by the I. C. R. authorities, when the cause of the accident was found to be due to a rail being removed by the section men, who made an error of calculation with regard to the time at their disposal for repairing.

ICE RACING IN N. B. SHOULD BE KEEN

The first of a series of race meetings on a nice track on the St. John river to be held by the Van Buren and St. Leonard Matinee Club, took place on Tuesday afternoon. The next two meetings are to be held on December 24th and 25th and on December 31st, January 1st and 2nd. The club is offering purses up to $300. Under the present restrictions regarding the shipment of horses from Canada to the United States, local horsemen will not send any horses to the States. Some of the local boys have intended entering their horses in the Arcostook ice circuit, but the foot and mouth disease outbreak has put a damper on all shipments to and from the United States, and it will be impossible for them to carry out their plan as at first intended. These races, however, are expected to greatly increase the interest in ice racing in New Brunswick.

TWO OF THE KAISER'S COMMANDERS.

On the left is Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria, who commands the German forces operating around Metz. On the right is General von der Marwitz, who is commanding one of the huge German armies in Northern France.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT On Monday forenoon, Mrs. Allison met with a serious accident on Gerrard St., when she missed her footing opposite Mr. M. P. Moore's store, and falling heavily, received severe injuries. She was removed to the hospital, where she lies in a critical condition.

EQUIPMENT NOW ALMOST COMPLETE

Drilling of 26th Still Goes on at St. John and Men are Being Put Into Shape

St. John, Dec. 8th.—The officers who are on duty at the army were hard at work this morning instilling the rudiments of drill into the brave lads who are willing to risk their lives for the defence of the empire. All but one company have been served with uniforms and rifles, and it is expected that by the end of ten days the men will be fully equipped for field service. The men are taking to the drill readily and are acquiring a good military stride and swing, and each man looks every inch a soldier. Speaking with the Globe today, Major Malcolm McAvity said the shooting of Private Tardy will be fully inquired into and that a standing board would be appointed by Lieut. Col. B. R. Armstrong. There were squads about several parts of the city who were having the drill "hammered" into them.

The signal section, composed of about forty members, is making rapid progress and are taking readily to the work. They are being instructed in the semaphore, flag and lamp methods of signalling.

Good work is also being done with the bugle and drum corps, and it now numbers about fifteen members.

The Army Service Corps, quartered in the immigration building in Carleton, were hard at work this morning going through a set of physical exercises, and they were also given a good march about the streets. They are an especially fine looking body of men and their splendid appearance evoked many favorable comments. There seems to be a great desire to join this corps, and it obtained its quota to-day, comprising about 200 men of all ranks. The men are being drilled by Sergeant who is a particularly capable non-commissioned officer. Sergeant Major A. Carlos reported for duty this morning. The company is under command of Major F. T. McKean and the quarters are very comfortable.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

BROW KAISER HOPES TO DEFEAT NAVY

Thousands Work Night and Day at Kiel on Submarines and Aircraft

Copenhagen, Dec. 1.—Most of the German warships which have been at Kiel have been moved to the North Sea. It is reported from Kiel that there is the greatest activity there day and night at the dockyard and at all other dockyards. Several thousands of mechanics and artisans have been withdrawn from the army with a view to speeding up the construction of submarines, waterplanes and special craft to be used as jumping off places for airships. Floating batteries are also being built for use in the Channel after the Germans have got to Calais. In consequence, less work is being done on the five dreadnoughts which are being built.

In well-informed quarters it is stated that the Admiralty regarded the British preponderance in dreadnoughts as hopeless unless a great German force of submarines and aircraft first launches an attack on the British battle fleet. The boast is made that the Germans possess submarines and aircraft which can easily blow up the British dreadnoughts.

The reason women love to knit for the Belgians is because they can spin European yarns at the same time.

AMHERST LIKELY TO HAVE MILLS GOING

Time is Ripe to Have the Hewson Mills Running.—Hope to Start Them Soon

Amherst, N. S., Dec. 5th.—Mayor Avard, Percy C. Black, president of the Amherst Board of Trade, and Councillor J. H. Douglas went to Truro yesterday to confer with Captain Corbett, of Annapolis, relative to the Hewson industry. Captain Corbett was one of the leading shareholders to institute legal proceedings against the promoters of that concern. The Amherst representatives were fortunate enough to meet Dr. J. G. McDougall, of Halifax, and he was called into the conference with them. They had a long and satisfactory interview with Captain Corbett. The committee took occasion to point out to him that many of the Canadian textile companies were receiving large orders, and that the starting of the industry on such orders would relieve the labor situation in Amherst to a great extent. The views that the committee expressed were entirely from a town standpoint. Captain Corbett realized that the time demanded personal sacrifices, and he intimated that for his own part he was prepared to waive the suit that had been instituted against the promoters of the concern. In doing so he was promoted solely from a Canadian viewpoint, for he felt that everything possible should be done to keep the wheels of Canadian industries in constant activity, and the Hewson industry were not started he did not want to be the man who stood in the way of the organization of the company.

CHRISTMAS IN THE TRENCHES

And think of to-day—to-day in the trenches! Men at each other's throats, the mad charge, the bayonet pinching its way through the living flesh; the dying over-ridden by gun-carriages, the drivers—by their own stories in the London papers—listening with closed and suffering eyes to the creaking of the bones of the dying.

Christmas night! The stars glimmering, the angels chanting, the beautiful call of Peace and Goodwill beating through the air—and here, in God's world, the shocking clamor of war—the hideous slaughter—the damned work of the Devil, trying to undo the work of the patient, laboring Redeemer on His road to Calvary.

Christmas in the trenches! Perhaps you think war is all glory, magnificent advances; men shot, but shouting admiring phrases for their flag and country as they lie in the dirt and mud, disemboweled, utterly destroyed, delirious, or pounded into splinters by the gun-carriages, which, under orders, have to crush them into the earth. Perhaps, in spite of the awful accounts in the daily papers, the battle means, as one fool-woman expressed it:—"Being shot and done with." Well, take it from me, it does not. If you had even seen a shot man kicking holes in the grass you would not count war as any sort of "glory." Nor would you talk of "heroes." We have made that name "hero" too common.—"Kit," in December Canada Mo.

RECOVERED FROM S. S. EMPRESS OF IRELAND

Mr. Richard A. Gamlin has just had a letter returned to him by the dead letter department of the Post Office, which he mailed to his brother last May. The letter was recovered by the divers from the S. S. Empress of Ireland, and is in quite a good condition. This relic is valued more by Mr. Gamlin, as he crossed on the Empress of Ireland about a year previous to her being sunk, and more especially because he anticipated crossing by her on that fatal trip.

AT FREDERICTON

Four hundred and thirty-seven men and three hundred and fifty-eight horses will be the total complement for the second Canadian contingent mobilized in Fredericton if the present plans of the military authorities are carried out. Advice received from the divisional headquarters at Halifax on Saturday made this clear, and preliminary arrangements for taking care of 277 more men and 235 more horses than the strength of the overseas field battery of artillery now assembled under the command of Lt. Col. T. M. Speyer are already under way.

BARN BURNED

The house and barn of Mr. James Tapley at Florenceville, Carleton Co., with all their contents were completely destroyed by fire Saturday night. Only the organ was saved. Five horses and eight head of cattle were burned and a great quantity of produce and farm implements were destroyed. The loss was only partly covered by insurance.

CHILD SMOTHERED

Annie, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Steeves, Moncton, was smothered to death in a fire which occurred in their home, Monday. The mother was absent and two young children, one four and the other two, were alone.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your Hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is sure evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrivel, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—any time—will surely restore your hair.

PRINCE RUPERT SENDS FINE BODY OF MEN TO JOIN CONTINGENT

Prince Rupert, B. C., the Western terminal of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, was incorporated as a municipality in March, 1910. It is one of the youngest of the Empire's bustling cities, yet a remarkable indication of the progress it has made is seen in its splendid response to the call for men by Canada's Second Contingent. News received at G. T. P. headquarters in Montreal, state that the Company's Steamship, "Prince George" has left Prince Rupert for Victoria with 129 brawny sons of Northern British Columbia, en route for the front. Some were fresh from office and shop, but the majority had lived their lives in the out-of-doors, toughened by the saddle and the canoe. They were given a great send-off by their friends in Prince Rupert.

OUR CHRISTMAS NUMBER

Once more we place before our readers our annual Christmas number, consisting of sixteen pages with colored covers. This issue we trust will be as bright and interesting as those of previous years, and we desire to thank our many friends and patrons for their generous help.

Although we are under the shadow of a great war-cloud, the merchants of this town are to be congratulated on "keeping up their hearts," and "keeping up their advertising." The business feeling is very optimistic, and there should be nothing to hinder this Christmas from being as good, if not better, than last.

Since our last Christmas edition, the Graphic has had great strides in its circulation. Last year our circulation was between 2500 and 2700. This year our issue exceeds 3750, but notwithstanding this, we have not as yet increased our advertising rates. It will be seen therefore from these figures, that as an advertising medium, the Graphic stands away ahead of anything on the North Shore, and our columns are kept free from objectionable advertising. It is only a few weeks ago that we refused for a second time, the advertising of a Brewery firm, which is being run in other papers. This or other advertising are two classes which we will not accept, as we consider that we are only giving our own home merchants a square deal by keeping such out of our columns.

SOUTH AFRICA

Capture of General DeWet left General Beyers the leader of the South African rebellion. His death by drowning in the Vaal river while closely pursued by loyal troops, terminates ungloriously the career of one who only a few months ago was the chief military officer of the South African Legion. The fate of these two leaders will probably smother the dying embers of rebellion in Africa. Premier Botha's vigorous policy in dealing with the insurrection has been so effective that other malcontents will think twice before listening to the honeyed words, or accepting the bribes of German agents. South African loyalty has been proven by the splendid rally of thousands of Boers to the Emperor's crest, and Boers and Britons, with the aid of troops from loyal India, will be able to push the conquest of German Africa.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local application as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

DEATH OF REBEL GENERAL BEYERS

Shot as He crosses the Vaal River After Defeat.—Last Stand

Pretoria, Dec. 9.—General Beyers and 50 of his followers have been buried since Saturday. Yesterday they were overtaken along the Vaal, near Greyling, Captain Viljeans, commanding the pursuing troops, demanded the surrender of the rebels, but the latter promptly refused, and prepared to make a last stand. The rebels formed along the river, and sharp shooting followed, as the men General Beyers was leading endeavored to cover the flight of their commander and other officers with him. Beyers and others plunged their horses into the river in their effort to escape, but in mid-stream, the General was shot from his mount. He managed to grasp the tail of another horse, but this animal, caught in the swift current, began to drift rapidly down the stream. General Beyers could be heard calling loudly for help, but disappeared during the fighting in which his men were endeavoring to make his escape possible. The field glasses and revolver carried by the dead rebel leader were found, but it was impossible to recover his body owing to the recent floods and the swollen condition of the Vaal.

Do not curtail your Christmas giving. The obligations of this year are greater than ever before. It is a pleasure to remember relatives and friends. It is a duty to help the poor, the needy, the afflicted are more numerous than ever before. Think of them, and make this your best Christmas.

CLOSE FOR HOLIDAYS

The Red Cross committee of the ladies institute, ask that all articles might be sent in this week, as a shipment is now being prepared and it is proposed to close the rooms during the holidays.

LAST BUT NOT LEAST

On the outside page of this cover will be found the advertisement of Oak Hall. As an adv. it is worth looking at twice, as a money-saver it is worth remembering all the time. Look it over for yourself.

EDITOR'S MAIL BAG
 Campbellton, Dec. 9th.

Dear Mr. Editor

Permit me space in your valued paper to say a few words in regard to Rev. E. E. Mowatt's letter of your last issue. As a Presbyterian, I have nothing to say against our church government, but St. Andrew's church, Campbellton is a sad evidence of what man may do, by the abuse of that man. Perhaps had Mr. Mowatt and some others of the Miramichi Presbytery, a little more regard for the voice of the people, our church might have been happily settled with a pastor long 'er this.

Mr. Mowatt says, "Is it unreasonable that when a minister from another church wishes to accept work in a congregation of the Presbyterian church, that he should apply and be accepted, only after careful examination by a committee of the Assembly?" Now, Mr. Editor, Mr. MacDonald is not an American, he is Canadian born, was educated at our own Presbyterian College in Halifax, and licensed and ordained by our own Presbyterian church in Canada, and held one or more charges in our own Province of New Brunswick. Mr. Mowatt says we are living in a Democratic age, that's right. And that is just why the majority of this congregation think they should be listened to in the choice of a minister. Owing to the scarcity of ministers in our Maritime Provinces, I should think a man of Mr. MacDonald's ability would be a valuable addition to the ranks.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for space and yours for fair play.

A PRESBYTERIAN.

LETTERS FROM THE FRONT

Mrs. A. E. Alexander has received the following letter from Salisbury Camp from her son Fred. Only part of it of course, is reproduced here, as most of it was of a private nature.

Div. Cyclist Coy.,
 West Down Camp,
 Nov. 24, 1914.

Dear Mum:

Received your letter last night about 8 p.m. Mail is irregular here, if you don't go and ask for it in the orderly room, it lies there for days.

We are still under canvas, and they are building huts for us to spend the winter in, so it does not look like moving soon, in fact, we don't expect to see the front except in case of something unforeseen happening.

Lord Roberts inspected us just before he died, and the King and Queen paid us a visit as well.

I was in London for a while. It is an immense place and would take months to see it all. I was in the Museum, West Minister Abbey and St. Paul's Cathedral, and a few other places of interest. They are too hard to describe and have to be seen to be appreciated.

We go all around the country near our wheels, but the only place of interest near is Stonehenge, Malcolm will know about it.

The people here are very good to us and are much less excited over the war than the Canadians.

Will write again soon.

FRED.

GIVE THAT PUNY CHILD THIS GUARANTEED REMEDY

Give that Puny Child ID

If your child is under-weight, listless, ailing, liable to get sick easily, and a mother wants to build its weight and strength. For this purpose there is nothing else we know of that we can so strongly endorse as Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion. The remarkable success of this splendid medicine is due to the fact that it contains ingredients that tone the nerves, enrich the blood and furnish to the entire system the strength, weight and health-building substances it needs. And it does all this without injuring the stomach. In fact, Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is not only pleasant to take, but even the most sensitive stomach is benefited by it, and the digestion improved. On the other hand, it contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs, which most parents object to giving their children. It does its good work by taking hold of the weakness and builds the body up to its natural strength, the same time making it strong to resist disease.

If Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion doesn't build your child up, feed the stunted, puny muscles, and make the little one lively, strong, well, and full of the animal spirits children are meant by nature to have, come back and tell us and get your money back. We don't want you to lose a cent. We think this is no more than fair and it leaves you no cause to hesitate. For old people also—convalescents—for all who are nervous, tired-out, run-down, no matter what the cause—we offer Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion with the same guarantee of entire satisfaction or money back. Sold only at the 7,000 Retail Stores, and in this town only by us. $1.00.

Thos. Wran, druggist.

A GROUP OF CHASSEURS—A CHEVAL GUARDING A BRIDGE AT THE ENTRANCE TO A VILLAGE

One of the London Post's special correspondents at the front, describing the French army as he saw it, writes: "My actual destination was a small French town with a fine old church that forms a prominent landmark. As we reached it I could see large numbers of transport wagons drawn up in the fields near the station. Sentries were posted at the station gates with bayonets fixed scrutinizing the passersby. There were abundant signs that the place was close in the rear of the armies. Transport wagons kept passing with supplies. A group of them, too, was standing on the hill, and the men were taking the horses off to water. Occasionally a mounted officer rode by. Had it not been for the soldiers the town would have seemed very empty, for large numbers of the civil population had when the Germans came near."

A. H. Hilyard of Dalhousie Dies Last Thursday Evening After a Short Illness

Many friends throughout the Province and elsewhere will learn with regret of the death of A. H. Hilyard, Manager of The Dalhousie Lumber Company, which occurred here on the 3rd inst., after a short attack of pneumonia, in his fifty-fourth year. In the management of the lumber Co., he was instrumental in carrying out the improvements recently made at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, where he worshipped regularly and the young people of the town appreciate his splendid work in their interest, as he was an active member of the Dalhousie Social Club, and was very popular among the curlers, one of his late acts being the successful carrying out of the building of one of the fine skating rinks in the Province.

He is survived by four brothers, I. A. Hilyard, Dalhousie; W. W. Hilyard, Florida; Thomas R. Hilyard and E. W. Hilyard, St. John; and two sisters, Mrs. W. H. Smith and Mrs. George S. Many friends throughout the Province and elsewhere will learn with regret of the death of A. H. Hilyard, Manager of The Dalhousie Lumber Company, which occurred here on the 3rd inst., after a short attack of pneumonia, in his fifty fourth year. A native of St. John, N. B., he came to Dalhousie in 1898, and during his sojourn here, has been counted as one of our most progressive citizens. A practical business man, he was a gentleman all through his dealings. In the management of the lumber Co., he was very popular among the working men. He took great interest in everything that was for the benefit of the little town in which he had cast his lot. He was instrumental in carrying out the improvements of the Dalhousie St. Mary's Episcopal Church, where he worshipped regularly and the young people of the town appreciate his splendid work in their interest, as he was an active member of the Dalhousie Social Club, and was very popular among the curlers, one of his latest acts being the successful carrying out of the building of one of the finest skating rinks in the Province. FIRE IN SHIVES MILL YESTERDAY

Blaze in Shingle Mill Here Causes Some Commotion. But is Easily Extinguished

Yesterday afternoon an alarm was sounded for a fire at Shives mill. The brigade were early on the spot, but the splendid system of Grinnell Sprinklers lately installed, proved their work, and the brigade were not called on for any strenuous work. The blaze originated in the shingle sawing mill, and it conjectured to have started from a heated journal in one of the saws.

The damage done was very slight, and after a short delay the mill was running all right.

There is no doubt that a very serious conflagration would have threatened the town, this being one of its principal industries, had it not been for the quick safe action of the sprinkler system.

The only damage was done to one of the shingle machines, and will amount to less than $50.

PASPEBIAC

Mr. F. M. Gibaut left here on the 2nd for his home in Quebec, where he intends spending a few days before leaving for Jersey, where he is going to spend the winter.

Mr. Phillip LeMarquand, formerly of Robin Jones & Whitman, now of Price Bros. Que., was in Paspebiac last week renewing old acquaintances.

Miss Hayes of Shigwake arrived on the 7th, to take up her duties as clerk in Robin, Jones & Whitman establishment.

Mr. Trudel and Mr. Frost, commercial travellers, were in town this week.

Messrs. H. DeLaMare, E. Bertram and L. Bertram, employees of Robin, Jones & Whitman, left last week en route to Sunny Jersey, where they will spend the winter. These popular young men will be greatly missed by their many friends, especially amongst the young ladies.

We are pleased to note that Mr. Edgar Orange, who was suffering from a nasty fall on the icy road, is able now to resume his duties.

Quite a number of young people were back skating on the lake on Sunday afternoon. The ice was in good condition, and a very enjoyable time was spent, so enjoyable that many of them almost forfeited their suppers. Mr. E. A. Bouillon spent a couple of days down the coast last week.

IN MEMORIAM

On Friday, November 27th, 1914, at New Carlisle, Que., Mary Starnes, widow of the late Digby Smollett, passed peacefully away of congestion of the lungs, after an illness of only a few days.

Mrs. Smollett was the third daughter of the late Philip Starnes, and was born at New Carlisle, the 29th of June 1833. Her life was a singularly useful and happy one and her loving, unselfish disposition endeared her to all.

She leaves to mourn her loss five daughters and two sons, Mrs. F. G. Scott, Mrs. W. L. Kempfer, Mrs. J. W. Hall, Mrs. W. I. Cates, Miss L. E. Smollett, Henry W. of Minneapolis, Minn., and Digby of New Carlisle, thirty-three grand-children and two great-grand-children. Also two sisters, Mrs. Alfred Hall of Cloquet, Minn., and Mrs. E. Patterson of Gaspe. The funeral, which was largely attended, was held on Monday, Nov. 30th, at her late residence, the service being conducted by her Rector, Rev. A. W. Buckland of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, assisted by the Rev. Wm. McLeod. The hymns, "Forever with the Lord" and "Now the Labourers task is O'er" were sung by the choir and friends, and at the grave "Safe in the arms of Jesus". The interment took place in the Presbyterian cemetery, where her husband, who predeceased her twenty years ago is buried.

BLACK CAPE

Mr. Frank McKenzie, who was here last week, attending the funeral of the late Mrs. Jeffrey McKenzie, has returned to his home in New Mills.

Rev. W. B. McCallum of New Richmond was here on Monday making a few calls on his return from Caplin, where he conducted his last service on Sunday evening.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Jeffrey McKenzie, which took place on Wednesday at 2 o'clock, was largely attended. Notwithstanding the unfavorable day and the condition of the roads,

W. C. T. U.
This department is conducted by the local Union, and is under the charge of an editor appointed by them. The Editor assumes the responsibility for the statements and articles which appear in this column.

Once upon a time—as children always would have their stories begin—the wise men of a certain town gathered together and began to discuss the affairs of the town. Among other things the question of liquor-selling arose. One man said "It is a bad thing—a crime.—There ought to be a law against it."

Number two said, "Well, it always has been and always will be, I suppose."

Number Three said, "It would be all right if men would keep within bounds; would only drink in moderation."

Number Four said, "Rubbish! Prohibit it? Prohibition never did prohibit it. What's the use of talking prohibition?"

Number Five said, "Prohibition! Why, think of the revenue we would lose, the excise duties, and the license fees. Besides, think of the work that the breweries and distilleries make, and the men who would be out of employment."

Number Six said, "Oh, well, it doesn't matter much to me; I don't drink, or not much, and nobody belonging to me does."

Number Seven said, "I'll tell you; you can't stop it, but regulate it. Charge a good high license fee; see that the bars are shut at early hours; and keep shut on Sunday."

Number Eight said, "That's right! Better have a few decent licensed places, and not have everyone doing it in a corner."

So these wiseheads argued. And the lone individual who had said boldly, "It is a crime," was almost afraid to re-assert his position. But presently he tried again, with this query: "I suppose you agree that it is a bad thing that men should rob, and kill, and burn property?"

Oh yes! they would all agree to that. "Well," turning to Number Two, "there always has been a certain amount of robbery in the town. Is it all right that it should be so?"

And to Number Four, "There's a prohibitory law against murder. But murders are committed, in one place and another, every day. Therefore the law is no good."

And to Number Five, "No doubt many would be glad to pay a good big license fee to be allowed to burglarize a bank or store. You could raise quite a revenue in this way. Why not issue such a license? As for the work that breweries give, why not think of the men who manufacture cold chisels, or 'jimmies,' and other tools which the professional burglar uses?"

And to Number Six, "Art thou thy brother's keeper? And if not; your wife sometimes takes a railway journey; may some drunken engineer, or switchman, or dispatcher, make a fatal blunder which will wreck her train? May not your daughter love and marry a drunkard? May not your son become a drunkard? Again, no one ever held you up and went through your pockets and relieved you of your contents. Therefore there is no necessity for a law against such robbery."

And to Number Seven and Eight, "Laws against robbery and murder have not prohibited them. They are still committed—in a corner. Then regulate these crimes; don't attempt to prohibit them. Issue licenses to one person in every five hundred, and then forbid them to steal except between seven in the morning and ten at night. people turned out from far and near, which testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held. Interment was made in the Presbyterian cemetery at Black Cape.

Mr. Phillip Fairservicé was called home from Toronto on Tuesday last, by the death of his sister, the late Mrs. Jeffrey McKenzie.

Miss Lulu McKenzie was called home on Wednesday last, by the death of her sister, Mrs. Jeffrey McKenzie. Miss McKenzie will remain home for the winter.

Mrs. D. L. Campbell and son Lawrence are visiting in Paspebiac West.

DR. DEVAN'S FRENCH PILLS are the greatest pill for Women. 50¢ a box or three for $1.50. Sold at all Drug Stores, or mailed to you for $1.50. The Scotts' Emulsion Co., St. Catharines, Ontario.

PHOSPHORUS FOR MEN. With a little Phosphorus, Men and Women increase their vitality. It builds you up, 50¢ a box, or three for $1.50, at drug stores, or by mail on receipt of price. THE SCOTT'S EMULSION CO., St. Catharines, Ontario. Sold by Whites Drug Store.

Don't let him steal on Sunday, or any holiday, or any election day. Don't let him steal after seven o'clock on Saturday night, or before six o'clock Monday morning. Don't let him rob an Indian, or anyone under twenty-one. Then, if you do all this, there will be less stealing, than if you gave no such license, and all were equally liable to punishment. Also, what stealing is done, will be done in an eminently respectable manner."

And immediately everyone shouted; "Your cases are not parallel, and so you have no argument."

Number One answered, "I say liquor-selling is a crime, and should be contrary to law, the same as any other crime. If it is a crime, you must treat it as such, and the men who commit it are criminals, and ought to be treated as criminals. If it is not a crime, if it is a legitimate business, why allow only one man among many to engage in it? Nobody ever dreamed of limiting the number of grocery stores; why limit the number of liquor stores? A grocer may open as early as he pleases, and remain open as late as he can persuade his clerks to remain. Why order a liquor man to close at ten p.m., or at seven on Saturdays? A druggist may sell ten or twenty bottles of cough mixture, of cod liver oil, of any of his remedies, at one time to one person. Then, if liquor is a valuable medicine, a food, a legitimate article of trade, why is no retail dealer not allowed to sell more than one quart at one time to one person. Such restrictions, futile and ridiculous as they are, only go to show that liquor-selling, as a trade, is in a class by itself."

It is as truly a crime as murder. It is murder, of body and soul. It is robbery. It robs the drinker of his money, his health, his fair name, his steady hand, his true eye, his fluent tongue. It robs his wife of her husband, his children of their father. It robs them all of necessary food and clothing, of Christmas cheer. Prove to me that it is no crime, and I will admit that I have talked nonsense, and that you are consistent and logical. If it is no crime, throw down the restrictions surrounding it. Do not charge liquor dealers an exorbitant license fee as compared with other merchants. Don't hedge about the business as though it were not lawful, and then say that it is all right. But if it is crime, don't dodge all around, trying to escape the issue. It is either right or wrong, legitimate business or crime. If it is not crime, prove it. If it is, let the law declare it crime, and punish it as any other crime is punished."

The others had no answers ready. Mr. Liquor-seller, who conducts a business which is legal, and which you claim, by your action, is morally right, let us hear your plea to prove its innocence of evil.

Will be Held in the Opera House For the Benefit of the Red Cross Work Here

Next Thursday evening the Opera House is expected to be crowded, when the Patriotic Concert will be given under the auspices of the Women's Institute. All the best local talent has been engaged for this entertainment, and it is sure to be the finest given in this town for a long time.

For some time back a large chorus has been steadily at work practicing, and will be heard in part songs and patriotic choruses. In addition to numerous vocal and instrumental numbers, a one-act comedy will be staged under the personal direction of Miss Jean McLatchy.

The proceeds of the entertainment will be given to the Women's Institute to enable them to carry on their Red Cross work, and it is earnestly hoped that a good response will be made by the people of the town. Tickets, which will be 50 cents, will be on sale this week, and seats for these tickets may be reserved at the Opera House Box Office, opening on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

He referred in the highest terms to the marked proficiency already attained by our town boys, Ollie Mowat and Bernie McLatchy in military training at the R. M. C.

WAR COURAGE

MANY a man in Canada, willing to go a-warring across the seas, is unwilling to fight at home—against the shadowy foes or bad times or of business depression.

This is a time in Canada when Canadian business men should fight—fight to capture new trade and to hold old trade. To stop one's advertising is to withdraw a powerful offensive and defensive force, and to expose one's business without a guard.

If the courage of manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers—the generals and captains of trade and industry—fails, the courage of the nation will ebb.

SENT BACK FROM SALISBURY PLAINS

Thirty-Five Men Rejected From First Contingent Reach St. John

St. John, N. B., Dec. 3.—Two squads of red-coated soldiers with bayonets fixed guarded both ends of the wharf in front of the McLeod warehouse, where the Donaldson Line steamer Canotia docked at noon yesterday from Glasgow. Another squad, prevented access to the steamer through the warehouse. The reason for the careful guarding of the steamer was that she brought, besides her cargo of general freight, several men who, it is said, had been rejected from the Canadian first contingent now at Salisbury Plains.

On account of the fact that it was not possible for outsiders to board the steamer and the representatives of the Donaldson Line were loath to give out anything about the matter, just who the men aboard are could not be learned, but it is understood that they are all foreigners. It is even said that two of the men are Turks who left before Turkey became mixed up in the European conflict.

When the steamer docked the men were gathered on the bridge deck and there appeared to be about thirty-five or forty of them. Mostly all bore a foreign appearance. Just what is to be done with them is a matter of conjecture, as there is a doubt of their being allowed to land here by the immigration authorities. The immigration men were on the steamer for quite a while this morning. There is a possibility of the men being sent to Halifax and detained there until a decision is reached as to their disposal. A large crowd of people gathered about the wharf.

PRISONERS TRY IN VAIN TO ESCAPE

Guards Charge Mob With Fixed Bayonets Wounding Several of Them

Lancaster, Eng.—An attempt to escape made last night by a thousand prisoners in the concentration camp here, was thwarted by the guards who charged the mobs with fixed bayonets wounding several. The trouble arose from the indiscretion of a prisoner who boasted to the other captives that he was able to be released. This angered his comrades who attacked him. The guards intervened but were overpowered. The reserves were summoned and when they reached the scene they found a thousand prisoners advancing, armed with bricks, sticks and stones. The reserves fixed bayonets, charged at the double quick and soon subdued the mutineers. The ringleaders were arrested and placed in solitary confinement. Only one man was seriously injured in the melee.

DECEPTION OF GERMAN PEOPLE

Reports of "Victories" Issued by War Office to Mislead the Germans

Philadelphia, "The German people are ignorant of real conditions at the front. Glowing accounts of German "success" are being issued by the war office in Berlin. Evidence of this is furnished by a report of military operations written at Berlin, November 22, which in part follows:

The week closed with optimism prevailing in Berlin regarding the situation in Russian Poland, as all reports published here indicate that the fighting now in progress is going satisfactorily for Germany and Austria-Hungary.

Bad weather has hindered the operations in France and Belgium, but it is understood that the Germans steadily are preparing for a further advance of their lines.

The medical authorities of the German army report that the health of the troops in the west is excellent.

The Turkish General Staff, in a communication made public officially here today, reports a victory for General Liman von Sanders, the German commander of the Turkish forces near Batum, Asiatic Russia, in which the Turks inflicted heavy losses on the enemy.

Unofficial news advices from Turkey say the Ottoman troops were victorious over the Russians and British. The Russians are said to have been further driven back in the Caucasus region, and are reported to have suffered heavy losses in the Van district, being the Chursk River.

Included in the press information given out by the German Official Press Bureau is the following:

"Holland reports that as the result of an official inquiry it was shown that every one of the 100 mines washed up on the Dutch coast were of British and not German origin.

"Belgian fugitive officers interned in Holland declare that they got sick of sacrificing poor Belgian soldiers to British selfishness, so they persuaded the soldiers to desert, telling them that the Belgian Wing did not agree with the cruel sacrifice and that the King was a slave of the English and French.

"Dutch newspapers report that the Doer rebel forces are appearing everywhere in the Transvaal and the Orange River colony. Generals DeWitt and Beyers, the rebel leaders, are reported to have joined hands, the combined forces now being 15,000 strong. A lasting disaffection in South Africa, the newspapers say, is an assured fact.

"The British authorities, after suppressing a riot at Port Said, at the entrance to the Suez Canal, flogged the rebels.

"Lieutenant General Count Helmuth von Moltke, chief of the General Staff of the German army, in an interview today, praised the excellence of the Austrian army, and sharply condemned the lies which have appeared relative to the pretended dissension between Austrian and German troops.

"Special correspondents report that the Persian mountain tribes are making raids into the Turkish territory and inflicting heavy losses on the Russian troops.

"The Politiken reports that the suburbs of Tangier, Morocco, are in the hands of Moslem rebels. French troops, the newspaper says, are being sent to Morocco."

ANTIMONY MINES IN N. B. WILL BE WORKED

Operations Being Commenced at Lake George—Local Capital is Interested

Operations are to be started this week on the antimony deposits at Lake George, this county. As this mineral is used in the construction of shrapnel and 60 per cent. of the world trade has heretofore been enjoyed by Germany, it is felt that there is a bright future for the industry.

The Lake George deposits were worked with profit previous to 1884, but the price dropped to six and a half cents a pound and operations ceased. Later the company put up a mill and reduction plant, but again closed down for lack of capital, and on account of the long haul to the railway.

The completion of the St. John Valley Railroad to within three miles of the plant solves the transportation difficulty and the increase in the price of the metal to fourteen cents a pound, encourages the hope that active development will go on permanently.

Woodstock, Dec. 3.—At an enthusiastic and largely attended convention today, the Conservatives of the United Counties of Carleton and Victoria selected Hon. J. K. Mr. Fleming at once accepted the nomination and at the same time announced the resignation of his office as Premier and Minister of Lands and Mines in the Government of New Brunswick, and also his seat in the New Brunswick Legislature as a representative of Carleton County.

The Conservatives of Carleton County then unanimously nominated Mr. B. Frank Smith, East Florenceville, as the candidate for the Provincial Legislature in succession to Mr. Fleming. Mr. Smith accepted the nomination.

FAMINE IN BELGIUM UNLESS AID IS SENT

German Government Officially Declares That Conditions are as Represented

In response to an inquiry concerning the authenticity of an interview published in English and American papers, which credited a German officer, designated as General Von Frankenberg, with the statement that Germany would have fed the people of Belgium if she had not been anticipated by the action of the American people, United States Minister Whitlock, in Belgium, sent the following telegram to the Relief Commission:

"I am officially informed by the German Government that there is no basis in fact for the statement published in the American and British press to the effect that General Von Frankenberg made the alleged statements. There is no German Frankenberg at Antwerp, but it seems that a Captain Von Frankenberg, a staff officer, not authorized to speak, made statements to a person claiming to be a newspaper man relating to conditions in Germany. There was no danger of starvation, he said, in Germany, which needed no assistance in feeding its population. His remarks, therefore, were entirely misunderstood.

"The German Government renews its official declaration that conditions in Belgium are as represented, and views with great satisfaction the generous efforts of the American people to relieve the starving population there. Without such assistance there must be a famine."

COLLECTING ON CHRISTMAS

Told by a Drummer

A bunch of us were putting in Sunday evening swapping yarns of our early days on the road when it came the turn of an accident insurance special.

"The first trip I ever made was when I was a kid of twenty," he said. "I was shipping clerk in an agricultural implement house in Brooklyn. I was to make a collection, and, of all days in the year, I was to see the man on Christmas day!"

"Why then? Well, the chap I was to see was a big farmer up in the hills of Sullivan county, and he did quite a business in farm implements among his neighbors. He had given the house a bunch of notes running four months and falling due Sept. 1. Every one of them came back protested.

"The junior partner had charge of the collections, and he figured there was just one sure way of nailing the chap, and that was to get to the house Christmas morning.

"I don't remember the name of the village I had to get off at, but I do remember it was a mighty cold night when I arrived there. I got away all right in the morning after the hotel man had given me all sorts of directions about the way to get to Johnston's place, twelve miles away.

"Johnston himself opened it and without waiting for a word from me said: 'Come right in, stranger. Mighty cold morning, isn't it? S'pose you lost your way.'

"I didn't commit myself one way or the other, but accepted his invitation by walking into the parlor. There was a bunch of children in the room, one a lad of sixteen or so, who was told to put the horse up. There was a big Christmas tree in the window, all decorated with shiny ornaments and tinsel.

"We chatted for quite awhile until he had to go to the barn to help his men feed the horses. I played with the children, and when he got back I had the littlest girl on my knee and was reading to her.

"Started snowing again," Johnston remarked as he stamped his feet on the rag rug outside the parlor door. "Dinner'll be ready in a little while, but I'll have the wife hurry it up if you have to get away."

"I told him I couldn't think of putting in on the family that way and that if he'd give me a few minutes I'd like to talk a little business with him.

"You'll talk no business to me to-day," he said. "You'll have dinner and supper with us and a mighty good bed tonight. You can talk business in the morning."

"But I broke in. 'There's no "but" about it. That's the program, and I'm boss in this house!'

"And let me tell you, boys, I had a bully time! 'After breakfast my host took me into the little office he had between the parlor and dining room and told me to sit down."

"What do you think I said? 'Mr. Johnston, I don't want to talk business at all. I'm going on my way, and I'll come again tomorrow.'

THE LITTLE CHRISTMAS TREE

By Susan Coolidge

The Christmas day was coming; the Christmas eve drew near. The fir trees they were talking low at midnight, cold and clear, and this is what the fir tree said, all in the pale moonlight, "Now, which of us shall chosen be to grace the holy night?"

The tall trees and the goodly trees raised each a lofty head in glad and secret confidence, though not a word they said. But one, the baby of the band, could not restrain a sigh. "You all will be approved," he said, "But, oh, what chance have I?"

"I am so small, so very small, no one will mark or know. How thick and green my needles are, how true my branches grow. Few toys and candles could I hold, but heart and will are free, and in my heart of hearts I know I am a Christmas tree."

The Christmas angel hovered near; he caught the grieving word, and, laughing low, he hurried forth, with love and pity stirred. He sought and found St. Nicholas, the dear old Christmas saint, and in his fatherly, kind ear rehearsed the fir tree's plaint.

Saints are all powerful, we know, so it befell that day. That, as on shoulder, to the grove a woodman took his way. One baby girl he had at home, and he went forth to find A little tree as small as she, just suited to his mind.

Oh, glad and proud the baby fir, amid his brethren tall, To be thus chosen and singled out, the first among them all! He stretched his fragrant branches; his little heart beat fast; And in his fatherly, kind ear rehearsed the fir tree's plaint.

One large and shining apple, with cheeks of rosy gold; Six tapers and tiny doll were all that he could hold. The baby laughed, the baby cried, to see the tapers bright; The forest baby felt the joy and shared in the delight.

And when at last the tapers died and when the baby slept, The little fir, in silent night, a patient vigil kept. Though scorched and brown its needles were, it had no heart to grieve. "I have not lived in vain," he said, "Thank God for Christmas eve!"

GET ALL THE FUN YOU CAN OUT OF CHRISTMAS

Get all the fun you can out of Christmas. Plunge into the atmosphere right away. Smuggle packages up and down stairs and hide them in the "old fashioned" hiding places.

And remember everybody, not with the substantial presents you have thought imperative to give, but with a jar of jelly, a piece of fruit cake or book or magazine cover made from bits of linen your scrap bag has furnished, a dainty sachet made from silk scraps or any one of a hundred other simple things you can work on at odd times. These are the sort of presents which will restore the old time thrills that have been well nigh lost in the loveless gift giving of recent years.

Teach your children that Christmas time is a giving time as well as a getting time. Teach them particularly to think of children whose nests are less down than their own. There are so many such. And there is no more tragic thing in a child's life than to be forgotten on Christmas day. If there any picture on earth so appealing as to see a child at a shop window with only a windowpane between his pined nose and pointing finger and a high piled world of dolls and drums and skates and picture books? Can you imagine a keener pang, a more sorrowful thing, than the unanswered prayer of a little child at Christmas-time?

"Don't be afraid. If it's something disagreeable, I'll take care of it," he said. "What's the question?"

"When are you going to take up those notes of Ehrman & Wilson's? That's what they sent me up from Brooklyn about. But after the friendly way you and your wife have treated me, I have nothing more to say. I'm ashamed of my job."

"You're all right, young man," he remarked, to my astonishment and relief. "I don't blame you a bit, and I admire the stand you take. Read some more stories to Nellie out of her book while I look after the cattle, and I'll fix up the notes for you. I have been pretty hard up the last few months, but I got in a sum of money a few days ago, and everything is O.K. now."

"When we got to the bank he gave me a certified check for the $600 he owed the house and a ten dollar bill for myself to buy something for my baby as a present from early headed Nellie."

PUMPKIN PIES.

Considered Indispensable on Some Christmas Tables.

Many persons like pumpkin pies quite as well as mince and insist on having them at the Christmas season. They are more wholesome than the average Christmas mince pie.

A good way of making them is the following: Steam a small pumpkin which has been pared and cut up. It is tender press through a sieve and take out any lumps. Season with a tablespoonful each of ground cinnamon and ginger. Beat well the yolks of two eggs and while the pumpkin is still warm stir in the beaten eggs together with a tablespoonful each of melted butter and flour, the grated rind of an orange, a teaspoonful of salt, a cupful each of boiled and seeded raisins and a cupful of cream. When it makes a thick batter sweeten and pour into a deep pie plate lined with a rich crust. Bake until golden brown.

Some people do not like the flavor of the pumpkin, but make their pumpkin pies in the form of custards. For pumpkin custard pie proceed as follows: Pare and cut up enough pumpkin to cook down into a pint. The way to cook this pumpkin is to put the pieces into a kettle with a half cupful of water and let the pumpkin steam until it is tender. Then take off the lid and allow the water to evaporate. Drain in a colander and press the pumpkin through, removing all moisture. Beat three eggs and combine with a pint of milk before mixing into the pumpkin. Stir in half a teaspoonful of sugar, a teaspoonful of ginger. Mix thoroughly and then pour into pie dishes lined with crust. Cook until golden brown.

HONOR OLD AND YOUNG ON CHRISTMAS DAY

Especially in the southern part of France great preparation is made for Christmas, which begins the 4th of December with planting St. Barbara's grain. Women fill plates with wheat, which are well watered and then put in the sunbath or in warm ashes to germinate. If St. Barbara's grain grows well or ill so will the coming harvest be. Later comes the cutting of the Yule log. The oldest man of the family cuts a fruit bearing tree—almond, apple, oak or pear. The grandfather uses the ax, and then the son finishes the work. The log is five feet long and is expected to burn, if covered all night, from Christmas eve to New Year's day. Before the eating of the great supper the youngest members of the family light the log.

The little gray painted "creche" and other small, inexpensive clay figures are found in every home. Before dark Christmas eve the children go out to look for the magi. They carry with them confectory for the magi, figs for the servants and hay for the tired camels. They also put up sheaves for the birds, and the wealthy send out donkeys laden with bread, meat, figs and almonds, which are sold for a few cents to the poor. The nought pie or pudding of almonds and honey is on the table for the great supper.

THE HOLIDAY SPIRIT; A CHRISTMAS FANCY

Driven from the heart of the people, Christmas Spirit left the great shops, fled from the market places and from every habit of man until he came to the quiet little sunlit path that runs through the deep wood.

When he was yet afar off the most perfect Fir Tree in all the forest called eagerly to the Green Oak at her side "Christmas is coming!"

"Yes," answered the big oak, "but there is something wrong. See how he halted the end of the path, stooping as if the load of the world's sorrow lay upon his shoulders. See how he comes now, with all the gladness gone from his step."

"Christmas Spirit came toward the most perfect Fir Tree in the wood with lagging step, looking away through the forest with sad and troubled eyes."

"Why, what is the matter, Christmas?" called the Fir Tree.

"There was no answer. The forlorn figure sat down on a fallen log at the foot of the Fir Tree, but still there was no answer."

"Tell me about it all, Christmas," invited the Fir Tree in a voice vibrant with sympathy.

"I have been over the wide world. I have knocked at the door of every heart, and no one has opened to me. I am forgotten, and there is no one who loves me," he said.

"Every heart?" questioned the Fir Tree incredulously.

"No, but many, many hearts, and they are all alike," he complained.

"I have been in the home of men and stood so close to them that I could lay a finger on their naked hearts, but they did not stir at my touch. They looked me squarely in the eye, and these are the things they said to some women in their homes: 'Don't break me.' I shall be months paying the bills you are making me as though I was a nuisance."

"Confound this custom of giving presents anyway!"

"These are the things they said while they looked into my eyes, and they said while my hands lay frozen against their hearts."

"I went and stood beside the woman in many, many homes, and they looked through me as though I was nothing."

"One beautiful lady I think of now in particular. Oh, I wanted a place in her heart, and I knocked loud and long, but she did not open to me as much as she crack for me to enter. She looked into my eyes and said: 'I wonder what Mrs. Brown paid for that bag she gave me last year. It looks like a cheap thing, and I shall not spend much money on her.' And again, 'It is awful to just have to make gifts to people you do not care a thing about.'"

"No one loves me, and I cannot live without love, and so I shall die," sobbed Christmas Spirit to the Fir Tree.

"Christmas has come to be just a big exchange of goods, and whenever those whom they know will give to them and grumble in the giving."

"Come closer," whispered the Fir Tree. "I have something to tell you."

"A woman came to the heart of the wood yesterday," said the Fir Tree, "and with her there was another woman."

"We must find the most perfect tree in all the forest, for none other will do," said the first woman.

"Yes," said the second woman, "for the child has no one to bring Christmas Spirit to her, no relatives, no friends; no one to care."

"They talked on and on until the story of the little crippled child for whom they were preparing a Yuletide Christmas came out. She was nothing to them, but she was alone and not like other children."

"One of them went walking through the wood last Sunday," went on the Fir Tree, for Christmas Spirit had stopped sobbing now, and was listening intently.

"One of these men was telling the others about his aged father, who worked his fingers all to the bone in years gone by to give his boy an education. Now he is very feeble, almost down the western slope, and his son—who will always be just a little boy to the old man—is going back to the little country village to spend a portion of the holidays with him and live the life of loneliness from his son. He has planned some wonderful surprises for the lonely old man away back there in the country," ended the Fir Tree.

"Oh, has he?" exclaimed Christmas, no longer a forlorn little figure, but a happy, happy spirit.

"I am going away next week to be decked for the little crippled child," laughed the Fir Tree when Christmas Spirit stopped mid his mad dance of joy. "And I am going across the whole world, and I shall knock so earnestly at the heart of every human being that no one can fail to open wide the inner doors to Christmas Spirit," called the little figure of Christmas Joy as he danced away toward the edge of the wood and the cities and towns beyond.

JOHN HALLAM LIMITED Desk B16 TORONTO

THE TOY MENDEER FOR SANTA CLAUS

Bennie was fond of toys. Most little boys of seven like them. Some little boys, however, take better care of their toys than Bennie did of his.

Every year Santa Claus called at his house with a big bag of gifts. Christmas morning when Bennie got up and found them bulging from his stocking or standing around the fireplace he would shout with glee. Oh, how fond he was of those toys at first!

In a day or two, however, he would begin to tire of them. Then he would leave them around on the floor instead of putting them away when he was done playing with them. Often some one would come in and step on them. Then those toys were done.

"If you are not more careful of your toys," his mother said, "Santa will stop calling at our house."

Now, Santa Claus may have been listening when mother said this. It was only a few evenings after as Bennie sat in the twilight before the fire that he heard a queer, rumbling voice up the chimney, calling:

"Hello—Bennie Bright!"

"Hello!" exclaimed Bennie. "Who are you? What do you want?"

"Step up here, will you?" the voice answered, and before Bennie had time to think what a very funny request this was he noticed that the fireplace had yawned wide, and the fire separated to show a little path inside that seemed to lead up and out through the darkness. Bennie jumped up and ran along the path to see who was calling him.

It grew lighter as he ran. When he turned to look back at the grate the fire had closed in behind him and the flame rose high and pink just as he had heard the northern lights looked. Underneath he saw that all was snow. He started ahead he saw the walls and gates of a tremendous big white castle. It seemed to be built of blocks of snow and ice. There was a huge silver arch on the gate, with a silver plate that said, "Don't knock; walk right in." Bennie went in.

Inside the gate was a courtyard, and it swarmed with little white elves. The Christmas elves are all white, you know. In the midst of them stood Santa Claus ordering them about in fine style. They were putting away the Christmas toys that had just come from the workshop, and whenever they had a chance the elves would stop to play with the toys. In that way a good many toys were broken.

"Here you," called Santa as soon as he saw Bennie coming in the gate. "I've just been waiting for you."

Before Bennie had a chance to object one little elf grasped his right hand and another little elf snatched his left hand. Then they whisked him through the door into the castle and through more doors until they reached a big hall full of broken toys.

They took him to a workbench. On the bench Bennie found glue and tacks and small nails and paste, with all sorts of brushes and tapers—everything that is needed in mending toys. And the elves set him to work. As fast as he had one toy mended they would be at his elbow with another, for outside the elves kept breaking more toys all the time.

"Oh, why can't they be careful?" groaned Bennie in despair. And just then Santa Claus came in.

"Why aren't you careful with the toys I bring you?" he asked severely. Bennie blushed and hung his head. At last he was ashamed of himself.

"Please, sir, I will try to be careful after this," he answered humbly.

It does seem strange that no sooner had Bennie made this answer than he owned his eyes in the chair before the fire. The fire was burning just as usual and the only voice he could hear was his father's:

"Come, Bennie; it's time to go to bed."

A CHRISTMAS LEGEND

By Elizabeth Stuart Phelps

I like that old sweet legend Not found in Holy Writ And wish that John or Matthew Had made Bible out of it.

But, though it is not a gospel, There is no law to hold The heart from growing better That hears the story told:

How the little Jewish children' Upon a summer day Went down across the meadows With the Child Christ to play.

And in the gold green valley Where low the reed grass lay They made them mock mad sparrows Out of the meadow clay.

So, when these all were fashioned And ranged in flocks about, "Now," said the little Jesus, "We'll let the birds fly out."

Then all the happy children Did call and coax and cry Back to his own mad sparrow, "Fly, as I bid you—fly!"

But earthen were the sparrows, And earth they did remain, Though loud the Jewish children Cried out and cried again.

Except the one bird only The little Lord Christ made, The earth that owned him master, His earth heard and obeyed.

Softly he leaned and whispered, "Fly up to heaven, fly!" And swift his little sparrow Went soaring to the sky.

And silent all the children Stood awestruck looking on Till deep into the heavens The bird of earth had gone.

I like to think for playmate We have the Lord Christ still And that still above our weakness He works his mighty will;

That all our little playthings Of earthen hopes and joys Shall be by his commandment Changed into heavenly joys.

Our souls are like the sparrows Imprisoned in the clay— Bless him who came to give them Wings Upon a Christmas day.

SOMETHING DOING

No wonder Christmas is the one best time of all the year, When all the little cares of life are made to disappear.

And if there's one regret it is the For everything is lovely when the mistle toe hangs high.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

Mrs. Gordon had recently moved into the neighborhood. Its charms are not for the nose, and therefore a lady always carried with her, when passing this point, a bottle of lavender salts. One morning an old farmer took a seat beside her. As the train neared the factory, the lady opened the bottle of salts. Soon the whole car was filled with the horrible odor from the factory. The farmer put up with it as long as he could, and then he shouted, "Madam, would you mind putting the cork in that 'ere bottle?"

CHRISTMAS WREATHS

Order your Christmas wreaths as early as possible if you wish to have the most satisfactory results. Later on, when every one is so busy, one is apt to get what is left and be thankful.

A wreath of boxwood, with branches of holly, statice, cones and mistletoe arranged on it and also a wide red satin bow, makes an exceedingly fine looking wreath. Wreaths made entirely of statice, with sprays of holly and mistletoe on them and red satin ribbon bows, are much liked.

Every one knows and likes the holly wreaths, especially when of great size and thickness and plentifully sprinkled with red berries. These three styles of wreaths are probably the best of all the various wreaths made up and sold at Christmas time.

CHRISTMAS GAMES

A favorite old Christmas sport, which is still played frequently by persons of English descent, is that known as snapdragon. A quantity of raisins is deposited in a broad, shallow bowl and brandy or some other spirits poured over the fruit and ignited.

In this amusement some persons have traced the remains of the druidic ordeal by fire. While the game is on the following lines are chanted: Here he comes with flaming bow! Don't he mean to take his toll? Snip! Snip! Snip! Dragon!

MISFIT ANSWERS.

For the many jolly gatherings of Christmas week a game or two may be in order. Here is one that will help the young folks have a good time. Let one of the party go out of the room and those remaining choose three objects, to be called respectively No. 1, No. 2 and No. 3. These objects may be either persons or things or a combination of both.

KING AND QUEEN.

A jolly Christmas diversion is the game called king and queen. This game requires an equal number of girls and boys. One boy is chosen king and a girl queen.

SELF PEELING BANANA.

If you want to create wonderment and laughter at the Christmas dinner table take a banana and just start the peel, or covering, at each end, enough to give it an inch or so. Now insert this end into the neck of an empty bottle, peeling itself as it does so.

For those who can sing and for those who cannot the memorable ballad of the popcorn man offers opportunities for huge enjoyment at the Yuletide when all is jollity and merriment.

The players are arranged in a circle. The leader turns to his left hand neighbor and sings solemnly to a grave or monotonous tune the following words:

Oh, don't you know the popcorn man? Oh, don't you know the popcorn man? Who lives in poor man's lane? The leader and every player must maintain a sober face throughout the chanting of the ditty or pay a forfeit. The next player, thus questioned in song, must stare the leader in the face and sing in serious manner this reply: Oh, yes, I know the popcorn man! Oh, yes, I know the popcorn man! Who lives in poor man's lane? When he has concluded this stanza he turns to his left hand neighbor and interrogates him: Oh, don't you know the popcorn man? Oh, don't you know the popcorn man? Who lives in poor man's lane? The fun continues in this way until the round of players has been made. When all have sung the words of the whole company joins in singing the following chorus: We all well know the popcorn man. We all well know the popcorn man. We all well know the popcorn man. Who lives in poor man's lane! It is to be believed that no company

SANTA CLAUS' GIFTS.

Have a large sack (about the size of a laundry bag) filled with inexpensive toys. Each boy or girl is allowed to plunge his or her hand into the bag (which is pulled together at the top with a drawing string) and to keep it there for a minute, feeling as many as possible of the toys contained in it.

Paper and pencils are then distributed, and each must write down the names of all the toys he thought he recognized in the bags.

Those having the best sets of answers receive the toys as prizes.

Of course the bag is opened and the contents spread out in order that all may see just what is there.

This is not a game for the very little tots, but any school boy or girl can play it.

The point which puts it beyond the very little folks is the fact that the names have to be spelled out.

MATCH TRICK

Give a person sixteen matches and ask him to lift up from the table fifteen of them on the surface of the remaining one. To accomplish this you must do as follows: Place one match on the table; now place seven of the matches on this single one crosswise, one end on the table, other portion on the single match placed on the table.

These seven more matches leaning in the opposite direction; on top of all the matches, just where they cross, place the remaining match; now grasp the first single match placed on the table, lift up, and you have all the matches raised clear from the table, just as if they were a solid mass.

THE FIRST CHRISTMAS CARD

The honor of the Christmas card is ascribed frequently to the late W. C. T. Dobson, an English painter. In December, 1844, a date earlier than that given to any other claim, he was anxious to send some more novel Christmas greeting than that of a letter to a distant friend, and the idea occurred to him to make a little sketch symbolizing the spirit of the season.

SANTA CLAUS MAKES AN EARLY CALL

"Do you believe in Santa Claus?" The old gentleman who sat in the corner peeped around the corner of his paper as Billy asked this question.

Billy's Aunt Harriet, who sat very prim and straight beside him, sighed. "I'm surprised that you can think of Santa Claus, Billy, when your dear mother is ill," she answered severely.

Billy's eyes filled. "I was thinking of her," he answered. "I just wrote to Santa and asked him to bring something very nice, 'cause she's sick."

"I'm afraid there won't be much Christmas at your house this year, with your mother so ill," Aunt Harriet replied discouragingly.

"And don't you think Santa Claus will stop at all?" Billy persisted. Aunt Harriet only shook her head and looked out of the window of the car as it rolled on its way downtown.

Then Billy glanced over at the corner where the old gentleman sat. He was quite sure he saw him wink as he hurriedly dropped his eyes to his paper. And Billy wondered whether the wink was meant for him or whether it was just accidental.

The old gentleman belonged just next door to Billy's home, in a great big fine house, with many servants. The old gentleman lived quite alone.

He had no wife and no family, and Billy had often thought it must be very lonely in the big house. But all day the old gentleman was away at the bank of which he was the head.

Billy saw him only in the morning, when he hurried out to catch the car, or in the evenings, when he came brisky home. Billy had heard that he did not wish to be bothered with his neighbors, especially children. He had been charged to be very careful not to show his face in the neighborhood of the old gentleman in any way.

Billy studied his neighbor as the car rolled along. He thought he had not such a cross face after all. There was a smile lurking around the old gentleman's eyes, and when they reached the department store where Aunt Harriet got off he looked up from his newspaper, and this time Billy was almost quite sure the old gentleman winked at him as Aunt Harriet took him out of the car.

That was several days before Christmas. On Christmas eve Billy was sitting disconsolately in the dining room, wondering whether it would be worth while hanging up his stocking when the doorbell tinkled.

Nora was busy in the kitchen, and Aunt Harriet was upstairs with the nurse, who was taking care of mother. Father had been away for several weeks on important business and was not expected home much before New Year's.

Billy got up and went to open the door. For Aunt Harriet had charged him to try and make himself useful. There was a jingling of bells outside just before the door was opened, and who do you think stood outside? Why, Santa Claus himself! He wore a long red coat trimmed with white looked like snow, for it glistened and glittered in the light. On his head was a white cap, in which was stuck a piece of holly.

"Thought I wasn't going to call here this season, did you? Well, I'm stopping here early. May I come in?" Billy was too surprised to say anything at first, but he led the way into the parlor. Santa rolled the bag off his back and began drawing out packages.

"Here's the candy. I brought it in a box this time," said he. "I know it would be early for you to have a stocking up."

The box was a beautiful big one with a picture of a flying machine on the outside, and Billy's face shone as he thanked the giver. Then there were toys and games and books. Santa had never brought so many things to Billy.

"Now, if you'll promise not to look I've got something else out there in my sleigh," said Santa. Look? Of course Billy wouldn't look. And a minute later Santa came in with the dearest little Christmas tree all trimmed and with candles ready for lighting.

"Oh, oh!" was all Billy could say. "Well, may I have a look at it?" "Very cordially," said Santa very cordially as he picked up the empty bag.

"Thank you very much, Mr. Santa Claus, and I hope you'll have a merry one too," Billy cried warmly. Footsteps were heard overhead.

"Well, I guess I must be going," Santa remarked. "It might be the lady who doesn't believe in Santa Claus can never see him." And Santa Claus winked.

He darted to the door and closed it softly after him. Billy rushed to the window, but it was so dark he could only see a figure disappearing toward the gate and then turning into the grate, next door, as Billy supposed, to leave few presents for the rich and lonely old gentleman who lived there--but, of course, it may have been for another reason.

CHRISTMAS BALL GAME

To provide Yuletide amusement for the children try the following: Suspend a wreath of evergreen or holly by a red ribbon from the ceiling and see who can throw an apple through it. Use a soft rubber ball where the apple would be likely to break things.

The players stand at the opposite end of the room from the wreath and in a base which has been arranged for in advance.

All those whose missiles actually pass through the wreath receive popcorn balls as rewards for their dexterity.

THE CHRISTMAS TREE CHILDREN'S PARTY

The Christmas Tree children, as you may guess, lives in Christmas Tree Land, which, as you of course know, is the country where Santa Claus' wonderful palace is built. And in this palace the Christmas Tree children have a place all to themselves.

Of all the Christmas Tree children the dolls are perhaps the prettiest. They have a room where you will find dolls of every kind and of every size.

The doll room is just like a little town, for each family of dolls has a house, which is furnished just like a real house.

These doll houses are set up in rows along the streets. Each house has its little lawn and toy trees standing in front of it. Here and there you will find a toy dog guarding a flower bed or a plump toy cat stretching a little believe mouse. Back of some of the more fashionably housed toy houses in which to entertain the guests for Christmas, in which there are the carriages and toy horses.

The dolls have had a party usually they had them on New Year's Christmas comes. Then they know they will need their dolls all year when they go to live with the little girls in Peal Folks Land. They cry about this. Each doll loves to stay near her dear little girl to whom she is going and who, she is sure, will love and care for her tenderly.

You see, Santa Claus is very particular to take only the best and most good tempered dolls to the little girls. He makes a list of these and on Christmas afternoon goes into their room and calls out the names of the favored ones who are to go with him in his sleigh that year. They all try very hard to be good, and the dolls who are left behind always feel ashamed and disappointed.

The Candy Children are the candy folk who are hung on Christmas trees to make it handsome. They live in a room all by themselves, where they have a cote village of their own. Once Santa said he didn't see what a Christmas tree would be like without the sweet little Candy children, and after that, I'm afraid, the Candy children put on a good many funny airs.

In the Candy village live dear little chocolate Santa Clauses, colored candy angels with gilt wings, pink ballet dancers with gauze skirts and many cute little Candy children. There are candy animals, fishes and birds also.

One year the Candy children made up their minds that they would give a farewell party to the other toys. They knew that the candy folk would all go with Santa Claus. He needed them all for the trees, and their contact had been quite perfect all year.

The dolls wore their best dresses to the party. They meant to be very careful not to get them soiled or muddled. They were determined to show the Candy children how fine and beautiful they were. The Candy children had only one suit of clothes each, poor things and could not take them off.

The Candy children welcomed their guests heartily. They were rather awed by the elegance of some of the dolls who came in their automobiles and carriages and wore the most stunning silk and lace gowns.

At first the yell sat around quietly and chatted. Then some games were played. The Candy children wished they could only take them off.

"Whoever heard of a party without dancing?" one of the more stylish dolls said scornfully.

Now, the Candy children were afraid to move around much for fear of getting overheat. If they got overheat they would melt, and that would be the end of them. However, they knew it was only polite to do as their guests wished, so they said that if the doll children wished to dance they would all try some nice quiet dances.

Each Candy child chose a doll partner, and the next morning when Santa came in all the Candy children lay in heaps on the floor.

"Dear, dear!" cried Santa. "This is most unfortunate, with Christmas so near. I'm afraid we'll be short of Candy children for our Christmas trees this season."

And, though the little boys and girls didn't know why, there were few candy toys on their trees on Christmas that year.

IMPRESSIONS FROM THE BATTLEFIELD

Vivid Story by a Scottish Officer—Searching for His Regiment in a Hendon Bus

BY NEIL MUNRO

Special Correspondent of the London Daily Chronicle and Glasgow News (Mr. Neil Munro is the brilliant Scottish novelist, whose works, such as "John Splendid," dealing with troublous periods in Highland history, are so widely popular.)

So much has been written of the fighting as if it were a conflict "in vacuo"—of automate wrought to a glowing heat, pelting at one another like sparks in a radiator tube, oblivious of all but ever-present danger and the weapons in their hands, that even so comparatively old an affair as the retreat from Mons got a fresh and vivid interest for men when I heard three days of it described this afternoon by a Scottish officer with an observant eye, a mind sensitive to even trivial impressions, a good memory, and a note book. For him, at least, the retreat was full of pictorial interest and curious recollections. There are some thirty-odd miles of road round there that I want to see again," he said, "just that I may assure myself I'm not dreaming when I think I can recall the silkiest little things on either hand of it—a duck pond I washed my hands in; the sign board of a cafe called 'The Last Cartridge'; a row of bee hives in front of a house with every window shattered; a clock, still going, lying in a ditch; a burn where I thought there might be trout; above all, a bend of the road not far from Solesmes where I got on the roof of a barn, and saw, through my glasses, away to the west, what I said to myself was the last of the Gordons. . . . It was there where they got nailed, poor fellows, close on Cambrai. There must have been least 800 of them, and the Germans were swarming round them. . . . Rotten luck for the Gordons! That's how more than half a battalion of them perished."

The Strayed Officer
He had fought at Mons with the Gordons, himself, on Sunday, though that was not his unit, for an accident to a motor bicycle had marred his first regiment, and he never found it again. They fought in shallow trenches hurriedly dug up, and there was a general understanding that they had only to sit tight for an hour or so till the French would come up supporting and relieve the situation. Their position became untenable, and covering a front of 12 to 15 miles the British divisions fell back with artillery pounding them at every halt. All Monday he zig-zagged through side roads, looking for his corps; "got misdirected," as he said himself, "by every arm in the service, and every night with two corporals of the Coldstreams in a house that had been deserted."

Le Cateau
Next day he walked to Le Cateau "It's a town," he said, "about the size of Perth, I think, lying in a hollow with a lot of spinning mills about it, and the sourest kind of apples you ever tasted grow round it. Le Cateau was packed with the automobiles of our staff, with transport wagons, artillery and cavalry. Their kits were spread out on the pavements; they hadn't slept since Saturday, and when you may guess they looked pretty tired. Six mortal hours I spent that afternoon inquiring for my corps, and I felt like a wandered sparrow. Nobody seemed to know anything. In a sheltered inn called the Mouton Blanc I slept four hours that night as sound as a whistle, though I knew the Germans were not six miles from us and 50 times our numbers, and when I awoke in the morning they were lobbing balls into the town, and their 'Hauben' were flying over us. Every man, woman and child belonging to the town had streaming out on the high road to St. Quentin. They walked and they tottered; they drove donkey carts and aged perambulators; they seemed to have all put on their Sunday clothes, and they had the most absurd burdens—bedding, string bags full of eggs or apples, bird cages, pails of milk. One old woman, I remember, had a gander kicking under one arm and a yard long loaf of bread below the other. I walked two miles among them, and when I looked back, Le Cateau was on fire. A fine, bright, sunny morning, and it was quite lovely to get away from them, and corn was still in the fields; but there was the town on fire, and 10,000 wretched civilians scuttling for their lives. . . . Terror? By Jove, you should have seen them!"

A Stream in Spate
"And they were dreadfully in the way, for our men and stuff was pouring back too, remember, and badly needing all the room there was. If ever there is an enemy in Britain, you advise the civil populace to make tracks long before they hear the guns. I was dreadfully put about, though, for these people; and it was quite a relief to get away from them and tuck on to a regiment not my own about six miles south of Le Cateau—either Busigny or Wassigny—where we put up a rather pretty scrap. Next day I walked for nearly 5 miles to St. Quentin, a smallish town that was like to burst with British troops when I got into it. They poured in at one end and out at the other like a brown stream in spate, carrying the civilian population like drifted twigs among them. You never saw such a sight. . . . A holy mess! . . . It looked as if something was bound to jam. Broken companies of every regiment except my own kept pouring through; our ambulance cars, supply wagons, and artillery swished and clattered without end on the causeway and half the men were there in scores; one of them nearly ran me down, and jumping to save myself I sprained my ankle."

On the Paris Road
"I got a lift in a wagon from a man who had all his family and a cat piled in it, and drifted with the flood along the Paris road for a place called Ham, for an A. S. C. man told me (quite erroneously, as it happened) that our chaps were there. We came to a park of the road where a long row of carcases of meat had been abandoned; further on, the road was strewn with bread, biscuits, and jam tins. 'By Jove!' I thought, 'we're shifting in a hurry!'"

By the Hendon Bus
"It's a flatfish, farming country, good, I should say, for pheasants. The trees were hanging with apples and pears. I remember one place where a man in charge of a drove of sheep was sitting on a basket reading a book and paying no attention to Bedlam let loose; he was either the wisest man in the world or the craziest. Sitting on the cart, I could see for miles across the country, and away on the right and left was our cavalry and artillery spread out and making for cover and position in little woods and behind small hillocks. They were going about their job so orderly, it bucked me up tremendously; I realized that some of the thoughts I had for the last 12 hours were wrong. And, after all, I didn't get to Ham; with my usual luck, the cart broke down, and I got on a Hendon bus to La Fere, and there was the road from a mile to a mile—no, not a shill, but of a more prosaic thing, a spoke of a water cart a shell had burst on. . . . It's getting on quite nicely, thank you. . . . And, oh, by the way, please tell the British public to teach their children French; it would be twice as jolly out here if only we knew French."

NEIL MUNRO.

TRUE CHRISTMAS GIFT FOUND IN EVERY STOCKING

A story is told by one of those roving Scots, to whom the whole world is a patrimony, of two old immigrants in the highlands of Argentina, who had left the old world for the new so long ago that they had almost forgotten their native tongue. But one Christmas eve, when the shrill wind blew about their windows and a silver veil about the moon held a threat of snow to come, they slipped back into the language of the land of their birth and began to put into words those endearing thoughts which in all countries are prefaced with "Do you remember?" Thus they recollected the day when her hair was like spun fax and he was a notable wrestler; the day when they were married; the days before the first of their children was born—the children who now had sought far distant homes of their own. "And do you remember," said she, "how in the old land I put out my shoes one Christmas eve to see what luck the fairies would bring me?" "I remembered, and—for they were growing sleepy, these old people—there was a long silence. "I have the shoes still," said she. And out of some drawer she brought the wooden shoes that she had worn on the Christmas eve when they were betrothed. "Shall we put them on again?" she whispered. "What's the use?" said he. "Perhaps it might bring back—who knows?" urged the old woman. And so before he raked out the embers, she opened the door cautiously and set the two little shoes on the threshold. . . . And when the old people woke next morning he went half expectantly to the door and presently returned rather ruefully.

Strength Past Fifty Years

can be maintained by adapting the right nourishment, and Nature's own food in Scott's Emulsion has strengthened thousands of men and women to continue their work and usefulness for many years.

Scott's Emulsion is a food, a medicine and a tonic to keep like to see it, blood rich, avoid rheumatism, and thwart nervous conditions. It is free from injurious acids or any harmful drugs. The best physicians prescribe it.

"Look!" said he. "Here's all the luck we've got." . . . The shoes were filled with snow.

But that was not forgetfulness of fortune. The gift that came to the old people had reached them the night before, and presently you will guess what it was. Their case is the case of all of us—the young, the middle aged, the old.

Each of us sit out our shoes, hang up our stockings, expectant of the presents Santa Claus will bring and forgetful of the truth of experience that we are more likely to receive the gifts we deserve than the gifts we expect. That is not so, should not be so, with the children. Santa Claus softens the cynic regulation for them, and in the hospitals let us hope that the thrill of Christmas morn makes the dwellers in the cots forgetful for a moment of the trouble which has brought them there. Indeed, it does, and even if you filled their shoes with snow they would find a welcome for it. "It's cold and slushy outside," said a visitor to a little girl at the hospital. "You're warmer here." "Ah, but," said she, "I like the snow. I'd like to see it comin' down." Nowhere, indeed, is the coming of Santa Claus so firmly believed in as it is in the children's minds of the poor. For there is something in the poor man's mind under circumstances when the round of happiness is more easily attainable.

Content—perhaps that's the thing, better than the cracker surprise, better than the first prize at the club, but content is the hardest gift for the fairies to bring. You hear of it in stories. Even in the story of the Princess Clementina, who loved the Chevalier Wogan and knew it when he carried her over the snowy stream, we are given to understand that the lovers were soaced in their parting because they parted for duty's sake. But the princess, we know, died in a convent, and her true lover died a lonely man, for his princess never came riding into the city of his dreams. But perhaps he had something instead of content, something which dies only with life itself. It is that which the old people found in the shoes. You will now have guessed what it was, and we wish you all no better gift, for the snow was—hope.

WARN YOUNG GIRLS TO SHUN CHICAGO

Letters From Travelers' Aid Dept. of Y. W. C. A. Sent Over Country

Chicago, Nov. 25—"Keep young girls away from Chicago." This is the substance of a warning letter planned to be sent today over the Country by the Travelers Aid Department of the Chicago Young Women's Christian Association.

Difficulty of obtaining employment has augmented the dangers to which young women, strangers in the city, are exposed.

"There never was a time in the history of Chicago," said Mrs. Wilhelmina Barr, secretary of the Travelers Aid, when it was so difficult to obtain employment for strange girls. This condition necessarily increases the dangers to which they are exposed."

Six classes of girls are named in the letters of warning which the organization plans to send to newspapers in the principal cities of the Country. They are:

Girls afflicted with the wanderlust. Employed girls who seek better wages.

Immigrants. Girls coming to visit relatives or friends whose places of abode they do not know.

Show girls. Runaways.

Profit and Loss at Christmas. Old Lady—What's the matter with the little boy?

Elder Brother—Oh, he's cryin' cos I'm eatin' my Christmas cake an' won't give him any.

Old Lady—Is his own cake finished, then?

Elder Brother—Yes, an' he cried while I was eatin' that too.

LIBERAL BANQUET TO MESSRS. CARVELL AND DUGAL A GREAT SUCCESS

Large Gathering and Enthusiastic Speeches.—Praise Lavished on Guests of the Evening and on Party Organizers for Province

There was a large attendance of Liberals at the banquet given in Fredericton on Thursday night in honor of Mr. F. B. Carvell, M. P., and Mr. Louis A. Dugal, M. L. A., and much enthusiasm prevailed. Mr. W. E. Foster, of St. John, presided, with Mr. Carvell on his right, Mr. Dugal on his left. Hon. C. W. Robinson, Mr. A. B. Copp, Hon. P. J. Sweeney, and Mr. J. M. Keefe presided at the other tables.

After the Toast to the King and to the Governor General, the latter presided by Mr. O. Turgeon, M. P.

MR. FOSTER proposed the principal toast, the health of Messrs. Carvell and Dugal, and spoke at some length. They had assembled, he said, to do honor to our guests of the evening, who through loyalty to their party, loyalty to themselves and in the best interests of the province and the electorate, have unearthed the greatest political scandal that has ever been investigated, not only in the Province of New Brunswick, but in the whole Dominion at large. Mr. Foster referred appreciatively to Mr. Dugal's course in formulating the charges against Hon. Mr. Flemming in the Legislature. Lone-handed as he was, he was met almost solidly by a man by a hostile Legislature composed of a government prepared and determined by any means to retain office at any cost. When Mr. Foster referred to Mr. Carvell, saying: "I am no prophet, nor the son of a prophet, but I believe and predict that the day is not far distant when the people of this province will show their appreciation of the service rendered by Mr. Carvell in this matter, for I believe it is the first step and will eventually be the means of uplifting this province from the political mire into which it has fallen and place it in the position it deserves, alongside of the sister provinces of this Dominion." Mr. Foster called on the best elements in the province to come forward and join with the opposition in forming a party which will appeal unitedly to the country, with the slogan, "Abolish the Bag."

MR. CARVELL, who was enthusiastically received, said that every person who knew anything about the personnel of the present government felt sure that the passage of the monstrous crown land legislation of 1913 (by which the renewal of these licenses were practically left in the hands of Mr. Flemming) would result in nothing but a steal of the most gigantic proportions known in the history of the province. Mr. Carvell praised Mr. E. S. Carter and Mr. P. J. Veniot (of Bathurst), for the work they had done in unearthing the scandal. He said Mr. Flemming had endeavored to trap Mr. Dugal by inviting him to the government caucus, and offering various favors, but Mr. Dugal remained true to his friends and to his promises. Mr. Carvell took up the timber limits scandal, and said:

"The only hopeful sign in the whole dismal story is the fact that Flemming is now willing to make restitution of the stolen goods. I have already received the money extorted from the Lynch estate, and can assure you that within the next three weeks I have the strongest reasons for expecting to receive much more than half of the fund now in the hands of Mr. Teed, and from information of a trustworthy character I feel satisfied that the whole of it will be disgorged in the very near future. While this will in no way prevent the present government from having an enormous boodle fund in the next election it will at least take this large amount out of circulation for unlawful purposes, such as they claim it was intended for." The Valley Railway case was worse than the timber limit affair. This was from its inception, a steal of gigantic proportions. No person who was a resident of New Brunswick was allowed even to tender for the construction of this work, simply because the government realized they could not work out their schemes with any great safety in that manner as they could with a foreigner. He had no hesitation in stating to-night that the sole object of importing Mr. Gould was for the purpose of having this road under a foreign corporation, and having its books kept in a foreign country, and in that manner prevent any investigation into the corruption which was intended to follow the enterprise, and how well they have succeeded is known to every person who watched during the progress of the inquiry the appeals made for the production of these books, and the frantic efforts made by the counsel for the government and all the parties connected therewith to keep them securely hidden in New York. Mr. Carvell went into the details of this matter and claimed the disclosures made had resulted in saving $1,000,000 to the government. The promises of the government were not being kept, as for instance its extension to Grand Falls. Forty per cent of the earnings of the road, as now constructed, will not commence to pay the interest upon the bonded debt, and the balance must be made up by the taxpayers of this province, and he could see nothing starting us in the face but direct taxation, because of the mismanagement of this great undertaking by the party in power. The claim of lack of money to continue the road to Anderson is only a subterfuge. The real reason is because Mr. Gould and certain members of the government quarrelled over the location, and, as usual when the interests of Mr. Gould and the Province of New Brunswick clashed, Mr. Gould won out. The Prudential Trust Company, acting on the authority given by the government of New Brunswick, have practically $1,000,000 of our money in their hands which their manager admitted on oath was being loaned out to stock brokers and other borrowers, and the Lord only knows where the money is to-night. Mr. Carvell devoted some attention to Berry's misdeeds, and said: "Now that the commission has reported, both Mr. Berry and Mr. Corbett (railway contractor) have been able to return to New Brunswick. The newspapers are making statements about Mr. Berry which Mr. Carvell cannot ignore, and Mr. Corbett is determined that Mr. Flemming shall return to him the $10,000 which he swore he (Flemming) did not receive, and probably when these two suits are concluded the public will have some inkling of the evidence which was denied them by the government and its officials at the investigation.

MR. DUGAL spoke in both English and French, and was warmly applauded. In the course of his remarks he said: "I feel it my duty to say that the persons most worthy of praise and honor in the matter of the Flemming investigation are our friends, E. S. Carter and P. J. Veniot. It is not necessary for me to sing the praises of my chief counsel, Mr. Carvell, and his associates. You who have followed their conduct of the investigation are in a position to appreciate the great work accomplished by them. Mr. Carvell, in responding to the toast of our guests, has so eloquently and feelingly thanked you for your kindness, and the honor conferred upon the two of us, that I will content myself by merely saying that he has fully expressed my views in that respect." MR. P. J. HUGHES, of Fredericton, one of Mr. Dugal's counsel, and Messrs. E. S. Carter and P. J. Veniot, Liberal organizers, followed. Mr. Carter spoke at considerable length on the necessity of good government.

NEW LEADER FOR N. B. OPPOSITION CHOSEN FRIDAY AT CONVENTION

Hon. C. W. Robinson of Moncton the Unanimous Choice of Liberal Convention Held at Fredericton on Friday

Fredericton, N. B., Dec. 4.—At the most enthusiastic Liberal Conference ever held in the province, with representatives present from every part, a committee of delegates was appointed this morning, representing every electoral district in the province, with instructions to report as to the choice of a leader for the provincial Liberal party.

HON. WM. PUGSLEY, after the applause had subsided, spoke in eulogistic terms of the work done by Messrs. Carvell and Dugal, and particularly praised Mr. Carvell, with whom he is fighting in the battle of liberalism under Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He deprecated the discussion of the naval question while the great war is on. He said he noticed "that some Conservative newspapers are seeking to justify or palliate Mr. Flemming's offense by claiming that my conduct at certain periods of my political life was as bad as Mr. Flemming's. Well, it is certainly doing me signal honor by putting forward my political acts as a defense for Mr. Flemming's. But how did these gentlemen deal a few years ago with an alleged act of mine, similar to Mr. Flemming's receipt of $2,000 from Mr. Kennedy, a contractor on the Valley Railway, for which he is condemned by the commissioners in this report? Some of you, most of you probably, will remember that at a great Conservative meeting held in St. John during the general election of 1908 one of my opponents read an affidavit in which it was alleged that I had at a date when I was Minister of Public Works received a $2,000 note from one Gershon Mayes, a contractor under the government. Every Conservative newspaper in Canada had the story wired to it. For the moment I received universal condemnation. Had the story been true my leader would not have permitted me to remain in his cabinet for a single day. But I was able to show that the affidavit was the result of a conspiracy to destroy me politically—that a false date was given in the affidavit, and that the note in question was made before I became minister or a member of parliament, and was made for professional services of an important character which I had rendered to the maker of the note. But applying to Mr. Flemming the same rule which would have been properly applied to me, if I had been proved guilty of the charge made in the affidavit referred to, what answer can be made to this part of the findings of the commissioners? But, Mr. Chairman, I am not to-day on trial, and in my long professional experience I failed to find that when one man was charged with an offense, it was any defence or excuse to plead that someone else had been guilty of an equal or similar offence. All that I need say is that if my political conduct has been even half as bad as Mr. Flemming's conduct as disclosed by the report of these commissioners, then there are certainly at least two political moral cripples who ought to be relegated to the political bone pile at the earliest possible date. A number of other prominent politicians also addressed the gathering.

NO MORE FOOTBALL IN GREAT BRITAIN

Public Opinion Forced Action

London, Dec. 4.—All football games scheduled for the balance of the season were postponed yesterday. This came as the result of a campaign against football playing, the contention being that the footballers insisted upon playing football and gave no thought to enlisting for war duty.
