THICK, GLOSSY HAIR
FREE FROM DANDRUFF
Girly! Try It! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glitters with beauty and is radiant with life, has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scalp robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Danderine's Dandruff from any drug store and just try it.

RE-ORGANIZATION OF THE MILITIA

Special Committee Will Soon Submit Report to Government.

OTTAWA, December 19.—The committee which was appointed to report on a scheme of reorganization for the Canadian active militia has practically completed its labors and will shortly be in a position to submit suggestions on the matter. The committee, which consisted of Major General Sir William Otter, W. G. Gwatkin and Sir Edward Harrison and Brigadier-General McNaughton, has in the course of its investigation into the present situation visited every military district in Canada. Yesterday it returned to the capital from Kingston, the headquarters of Military District Number Three, which was the last to be visited.

There is no indication at the present time as to what suggestions will be embodied in the report of the committee.

MANY KILLED IN C. P. R. WRECK

Special Passenger Train Collided With Heavy Freight Train—35 Injured.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Dec. 30.—One of the worst railroad tragedies which has ever occurred in this district took place at 2:15 this morning, when some twenty persons were killed and thirty-five injured on the Canadian Pacific line, at what is known as Badfish siding, a mile and a half west of Onawa, Maine. The passenger train, which collided with a freight train, was a special bringing steamer passengers from the Empress of France, which landed at St. John, and was bound west. It is stated the engineer received a notice to hold his train at Badfish siding, but receiving notice of the arrival of another section of the special, he proceeded.

The engine telescoped, the entire crews of both trains being killed. Engineer Bagley of the passenger special and Engineer Wilson of the freight both meeting their fate, in addition to the firemen and brakemen.

The passengers who were burned or injured are known to number thirty-five, and they were taken to a hospital at Brownville Junction, by a special train, which was sent with doctors and nurses from that point.

Later information from the wreck, which is a mile from this little village, was that the dead trainmen were the engineers of two trains, rather than the conductors, as first reported. The collision was reported to have been due to the failure of the freight train, which was east-bound, to obey orders to stop at Badfish, a small siding near here, but this was not confirmed.

The B. & A. assisted in the transportation of C. P. R. passengers between Greenville and Brownville Junction while the train was blocked conveying them by way of Derby.

ASSASSIN FIRED AT LORD FRENCH

Missed His Mark and Was Killed by a Policeman—Many Shots Were Fired.

DUBLIN, Dec. 10.—An attempt was made at one o'clock this afternoon to assassinate Viscount French, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. Lord French was driving between the Ashington gate of Phoenix Park and the viceregal lodge when shots were fired. A civilian, who was standing near the road, was instantly killed by the bullets. A policeman was wounded at the same time.

Lord French, however, escaped the fate evidently intended for him. Several shots are said to have been fired at French's carriage. The military police promptly returned fire, and one of the assassins was shot dead. His body lay by the roadside.

Ambulances were immediately rushed to the spot. Information gathered indicated that the assassins fired from a field, while the viceregal party was passing along the road. The most intense excitement prevailed when two tanks passed through the streets at about 2:30 p. m.

A number of men were hiding in a field beside the road when Lord French motored past. The first shot fell in front of the viceregal car, but the second entered the side of the car and another pierced its back. A cyclist policeman, acting as escort, was hit in the foot.

The military escort which met Lord French at the Ashington station, was some distance behind when the attack occurred, but quickly galloped to the scene, being summoned by a woman who was driving a car containing Lord French's baggage. She turned back immediately on hearing the firing.

The attack on Lord French was made 200 yards from the Ashington station. Policeman Loughlin was talking with a civilian as Lord French passed. Loughlin was killed during the shooting. The civilian with whom he had been talking fired at Lord French and another policeman killed him.

The attacking party used across the field.

WOULD REMAIN 'UNDER COVEN'
Sergeant Had His Reasons for Not Making at That Time a "Full and Free Confession."

An American colonel in France was having difficulty with his safe. It was the headquarters safe. Its lock had jammed, and none of his staff could open it. While they were struggling with it a negro sergeant came up to them apologetically.

"Cut'n'ly," he said, "if I ain't intrud' into dis heah difficulty, I believes, sah, dat I might he'p yah."

"Yes," said the colonel. "What do you suggest?"

"Cut'n'ly," said the sergeant, "I suggests Co'y'l Hall."

"Corporal Hall? Why Corporal Hall?"

"Co'y'l Hall," the sergeant explained, under his voice, "was fo' foah years a bugghy."

They went for Corporal Hall and Corporal Hall opened the safe.

"Well, sergeant," the colonel said, "I'm glad to know about Corporal Hall. I wish I'd known it sooner. It would have saved us a lot of time with that safe. And tell me, sergeant—in case we may need to call on you some day—in what direction do your particular talents lie?"

"Cut'n'ly," the sergeant answered, "Ah does' want to tell no lies. Stand' as Ah does dat is de process of mah Mahk, mo' doubtless Ah does' want to tell no lies. But if de time comes when Ah kin he'p yah, sah, Ah'll make a full an' free confession, a full an' free confession, sah."—Hon. B. Lindsey in the Cosmopolitan Magazine.

DEATH OF A FAMOUS DUCK
Peggy of Rouen, N. J., Laid 325 Eggs in a Single Year, and Was Easily World's Champion.

The death of Peggy, the famous duck of Rouen, New Jersey, comes as a reminder to us to be true to the well to follow the principles which guided the life of this excellent bird. Peggy was celebrated in two hemispheres as the champion egg-layer of the world, the New York Evening Post states. Peggy, in one year laid as many as 325 eggs. Yet, celebrated as she was, noted wherever eggs were laid or scrambled, head of her glorious profession, what was her attitude after we entered the war? Did she rush into print, airing her opinion as to what the president ought to do? Not at all. Despite numerous tempting offers from fowl fashions and other magazines, she refrained from utterance and continued contributing her daily drop to national victory. Even when the Germans opened their recent peace drive Peggy did not turn hysterical and demand that they at once surrender all the Strasbourg gewes. She still in silence, went on with her lay. It is related of her that on the morning of her demise she quietly produced an egg, and, indicating her satisfaction with a feeble quack, keeled over and

Tanks Like a Deck of Cards.
In the open stretch, beyond the last fringe of wood, we struck the field where the American tank sat and the Hun on flank and rear and finished the battle of Argonne wood. Elizabeth Frazer writes in the Saturday Evening Post: "Did she rush into print, airing her opinion as to what the president ought to do? Not at all. Despite numerous tempting offers from fowl fashions and other magazines, she refrained from utterance and continued contributing her daily drop to national victory. Even when the Germans opened their recent peace drive Peggy did not turn hysterical and demand that they at once surrender all the Strasbourg gewes. She still in silence, went on with her lay. Grim Jest Pathetic.
Was Poe's tale "The Masque of the Red Death" prophetic? His story was that on the stroke of midnight a tall, red-gowned figure revealed itself amid revelers as Death by Plague.

A counterpart from real life is reported from Cowestry, Wales. It is the report of a masquerade ball, at which one of the masked celebrators simulated Death, in a black robe and with hollow eye-sockets.

There were 140 dancers at the ball. Of this number, 122 are now suffering from influenza. Twelve are already dead, including the death mask.

Italy's Exports.
Italian motor car exports showed a falling off for the first six months of 1919, compared with the corresponding period of the two preceding years. From January 1 to June 30, 1919, a total of 2,356 lorries and touring cars were exported, having a value of approximately £1,400,000, compared with 4,148 vehicles in 1917, and 2,731 in 1918. The number of touring cars exported during the first six months of 1919 was 728, this constituting a record for the figures of the two preceding years were 244 and 560, respectively.

KEEP IN TUNE.

COMMUNITIES are like people. They are apt to get "OUT OF TUNE." HARMONY is any community's most valuable asset. Without it little can be accomplished. When the town is OFF KEY it is on the down grade. Something should be done ALL of the time to keep our community in TUNE. We are apt to overlook this, and only TUNE UP spasmodically.
In the INTERVALS we are apt to forget we are part of a COMMUNITY. We lapse into mere individuals and lose our COMMUNITY sense. We can't go too far in an effort to preserve com-

TO REACH THE PEOPLE.

The newspaper as an advertising medium is well established and advertisers find it the BEST paying medium. The old custom of tramping around in search of new goods, cheap wares and bargains has long since been abandoned. The people now depend on the newspapers for this information. If you do not advertise you cannot expect customers to wear out their shoes hunting you up. They won't. They all read the newspapers, especially The Graphic, and if your advertisement is not in these columns, it should be, if you hope to get a fair share of the public patronage. Try it—the returns are sure.

At the close of the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served.

The many beautiful presents testified to the popularity of the young couple. Among them being a silver percolator from the staff of the C.N.R. Supt. Office, where the bride was employed and a silver, pyrex lined casserole from the accounting office, C. N. R.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward left on the west-bound Ocean Limited for Montreal, New York and Boston, returning by way of St. John.

The Tale of Perfect Time is a Watch. From Mainpring to Mainpring, between them lies the secret. The Mainpring is the power which it transmits to the active parts of the watch. The Mainpring has the control and regulates the motion. The fitting is most delicate; it is a 100th part of a hair, (impossible isn't it?) Yet it is enough to interfere in its performance, so wonderful is the adjustment. The friction from accumulating dirt; lack of oil, etc., do not let your watch run to rule from neglect. Remember my business is the care of watches, and my opinion costs nothing.

NEW RICHMOND, QUE.

On Tuesday, Dec. 16th, Rev. E. J. and Mrs. Rattee left New Richmond for their new field of labour, Longueuil, Que.

During the short pastorate of four years, Mr. and Mrs. Rattee endeared themselves to the large congregation of the United States and one sister Mrs. Rattee by the various auxiliaries of the W. M. S., in recognition and appreciation of their work.

In conversation with your correspondent, Mr. Rattee expressed his grateful appreciation of the kindness shown to them during their stay in New Richmond. The best wishes of their many friends accompany them and their family.

New Richmond hopes to have a settled pastor in the near future, having extended a call to Rev. Mr. McKay of P. E. I.

OBITUARY.

Jean Wilhelmina MacKenzie. Death has called both young and old in New Richmond within a few days. On Thursday the 11th inst., little Jean Wilhelmina, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert D. L. MacKenzie of H. M. Customs died after a week's illness.

Though only ten years and four months old, little Jean was known and loved by a large number of people. She was older than her years, and to her mother she was already a companion, and the stricken family cherish many incidents of her unselfish thoughtfulness. The interment was on Saturday and the services were conducted by Rev. E. J. Rattee, until recently pastor of the congregation.

Only a month before Mr. MacKenzie's mother died suddenly and in this double bereavement Mr. and Mrs. MacKenzie and the remaining six little ones have the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

George Harvey. On Sunday evening, the 14th inst., after a week's illness, Mr. George Harvey passed away. He had reached a good old age, being in his 81st year. Mr. Harvey was an old and highly respected resident of New Richmond, and a regular attendant at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, being never absent except through illness. Mr. Harvey was twice married, first to Miss Mary Anne Watson and later to Miss Eliza McLellan, both of New Richmond.

The interment was on Tuesday the service being conducted by Rev. E. J. Rattee of Longueuil, P. Q.

Mr. Harvey is survived by his daughter, Mrs. John Gail, with whom he resided, and one sister, Mrs. John Gail, of Dimock Creek, P. Q., and the families of his brothers, John and James S., of New Richmond, and William of Newcastle-on-Tyne, England. The bereaved family have the sympathy of a large circle of relatives and friends.

TEACHING UNITED STATES ABOUT CANADA.

(New York Sun.) Can-a-d-a. When you encounter the word in your reading, or when you hear it spoken in conversation, what mental picture do you get?

Do you think vaguely of ice palaces and dog sledges, and "voyageurs"—of a species of picturesque wilderness in short?

Or do you visualize great cities, handsome buildings, thronging factories, miles, extensive railroads, enormous field crops, big banks, spacious seaports, vast forests, wonderful scenery, enormous water-powers, universities, hospitals, churches, important and profitable newspapers, paper mills, fisheries, mineral deposits?

In other words, do you realize fully that Canada is not a mere sweep of the map-maker's color brush, in the area to the north of us, but that it is a Nation—big, progressive, gaining in population by leaps and bounds—a very real and important neighbor of ours?

Such is the fact! Are you aware, for example, that Canada buys vastly more from the United States than is bought from us by the whole of South America? Figures talk—here they are:

In the same period our sales to Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, Falkland Islands, Guiana (British, Dutch and French), Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela—all South America combined—totalled only $4,237,742.

It will no doubt surprise New Yorkers to learn that there is one store in Canada that does more business annually than does the largest store in New York City.

Swinging to educational matters, few on this side of the line know that Canada contains the largest university in the British Empire (consider what that means).

And so one might go on—beneficially informative as to our great and growing neighbor nation on the north.

WHAT TO USE TO PREVENT APPENDICITIS

ONLY SPOONFUL Adler-ika relieves ANY CASE of sour stomach, gas, constipation because it removes ALL food matter which clogged and poisoned your system. The INSTANT action surprises both doctors and patients. A. McE. McDONALD, Druggist.

PREMIER WILL TAKE VACATION

Will Not Resign as Stated But Will Hold On For a Time.

OTTAWA, Dec. 19.—Sir Robert Borden expects to leave Ottawa for a prolonged vacation in January. His destination will probably not be announced. It is considered advisable that the Prime Minister's rest should be complete and that he should be relieved of all worry.

Today, Sir Robert is not so well. He was not at his office this morning, although able to attend to his correspondence quietly, at home. Yesterday's proceedings proved a heavy strain. Sir Robert attended two prolonged meetings of the Cabinet, the largest meetings, by the way, held for some months.

Unionists this morning expressed the opinion that the Government will not experience great difficulty in maintaining a majority in the Commons during the approaching session. There will be, they say, no desire on the part of any party or group to precipitate a Parliamentary crisis, involving a dissolution and a general election, until after a Dominion Franchise Act has been placed on the Statute Book and probably not even then.

Nevertheless, recent developments are believed to have materially increased the likelihood of a general election next autumn, more particularly in the event of Sir Robert Borden not being fully restored to health and being eventually compelled to permanently retire from public life.

POPE WAGES WAR ON WOMEN'S DRESS

Immodestly Dressed Women Excluded From the Churches.

Pope Benedict XV. is pursuing his campaign against the present style of women's dress, which he condemns as "immodest and un-Christian." His Holiness instructed all Catholic women's unions recently to refuse to receive women who dressed so immodestly as fashion demands at the moment. The Pope has caused a circular to be sent to the rectors of all churches, chapels and oratories in which it is extremely forbidden to allow immodestly dressed women to enter Catholic places of worship.

The circular defines as immodest low necks, short sleeves and short skirts.

QUEEN ELIZABETH MEDALS PRESENTED

POKES FUN AT THE AMERICANS

Asks What War They Won—Mexican or Spanish—What About Allies?

The New York Herald cable says:—

Until today there has been no editorial comment here on General Pershing's statement, which corresponds in America of English newspapers called here as a sort of a boast that America won the war. Today, however, the Daily Sketch treats it in a serious way, recalling the hundreds of American soldiers who were after the armistice and which were inscribed "We did it."

"Did what?" asks the Sketch. "That is an inquiry which might naturally frame itself on innocent lips in regard to such an obvious boast."

Then the Sketch coupled Professor Portal's prediction of cosmic chaos today and General Pershing's statements asking:—

"Who was it that discovered, that the world was coming to an end in a few hours? An American named Portal—and conceivably, an American named Pershing?"

It says that if the world really is coming to an end, it is asking the question before the crash:—

"What did the United States win? Was it the Mexican or the Spanish war? Which was won by all those British and French boys who lie from Ypres to the Alps? And if America won the war with Germany, hasn't she been making for it ever since by doing her best to lose her sense of humor?"

The many friends of J. W. Brankley regret to learn that he is confined to his home as the result of a severe shaking up received Saturday afternoon when his car skidded into the ditch in front of St. Andrew's church.

Luckily no bones were broken and Mr. Brankley expects to be out again in a few days.

Mrs. Brankley and Miss Jean were also in the car, but escaped injury.—Chatham Commercial.

On Friday evening last, Mrs. Hugh Miller entertained the members of the Musical Club. During the evening, Miss Ford, who was the guest of honor, was presented with a sterling silver bon bon dish in recognition of her valued services as a member of the club.

Mrs. A. McG. McDonald, entertained on Tuesday evening of this week for Mr. and Mrs. J. Vans McDonald.

The recipient will thank you throughout the whole year, and he or she will be kept in close touch with the old home town—because The Graphic gives all the news.

Now, they like to read the dailies and the story papers, too.

And at times the "yellow novels" and some other trash—don't you?

But when they want some other reading that'll brush away a frown.

They want The Graphic from their Old Home Town.

Should he or she reside in Canada the paper will be mailed to address given us for one year $1.50, or if residing in the United States, the price will be $2.00 per year. Send in the address today.

"The late war has knocked all our customs and traditions topsy-turvy," said the new Speaker of the House, Congressman Gillett, the other day. "Now it is the young folks who are things. Like the case of William was in love. He had declared his passion to the young lady, and she had passed him along to her father. Father listened to his tale patiently. 'It's all right so far as I am concerned,' the old gentleman said, 'but I am afraid Jamie will not marry you.' 'O, don't say that,' the young man pleaded. 'Has she said so?' 'No,' said the old gentleman, 'but from what I know of Jane, if she had wanted you she would have taken you without referring you to me.'"

LADY ASTOR MISSES CANUCKS.

"This is the first Christmas as in five years I have been without the Canadians and Cliveden is lonely and unlike home without them. I would just like all my Canadian Clivedens to know I am thinking of them and missing them."

PREMIER BORDEN TO RETIRE

Will Resign as Premier And Return to Private Life.

OTTAWA, Dec. 15.—The Ottawa Journal this morning:

Robert Borden is retiring from Canadian Public Life. His resignation of the premiership will be officially announced immediately after the new caucus of the Unionist party summoned in Ottawa to select his successor.

Borden's decision to retire was made known to his cabinet colleagues last week, is due to his impaired health. Combat with the stress of four years of war leadership has left its mark upon Sir Robert. When he returned from the peace conference his condition was such as to necessitate a rest, but it was thought a month or two in the south would completely restore his old time vigor. This expectation, unfortunately has not been fulfilled.

Faced with many and difficult problems, the premier found on his return that his strength was hardly equal to his task. Last week, while in Montreal, he consulted the best available medical advice and his decision to retire has been taken as a direct result.

Condition Not Serious.

"It may be well to make it clear that Sir Robert's condition is in no way critical, nor even serious. It is simply that he is not in a position to continue the heavy duties and responsibilities of office without incurring grave danger, and consequently has decided to relinquish his post in favor of a younger and more vigorous man."

"Sir Robert's resignation, as already mentioned, is not to take place at once. He will carry on until the beginning of the new year. Meanwhile, however, a call is being issued for a caucus of the Unionist parliamentary party in Ottawa to select a new leader. It was at first thought, and there is still a feeling in certain quarters, that the choice of a successor should be left with the cabinet itself. Such a procedure, however, would be frankly antagonistic to democratic principle, and the more representative and British method of a choice by the people's representatives in parliament is to be followed."

The Journal mentions Hon. Arthur Meighen as Sir Robert's probable successor.

Swine fever had broke out in the village and the local policemen had been appointed to call upon all owners of pigs and take particulars of each case.

Rapping at the door of an old cottage he was confronted by a shrewish-looking woman, who curtly asked him what he wanted.

"A've called to see the swine," said the constable.

"He's out," snappily replied the woman, and banged the door.

"A friend in need" is not the same thing as a needy friend. And Johnson was beginning to find his friends fought shy of him.

But he persevered. One day he dropped in on a pal who kept a howling green.

"George," said he, "can you lend me a hand? I'm down to my last shilling."

Howlways was. But wonder of wonders, George gave him a welcoming smile, as he replied:

"As a matter of fact I was just going to pay a man three shillings to roll the green. But since we are pals, I'll give you the job and pay you five shillings."

Johnson raised his hand in protest. "It's against my principals to take another's job," he said righteously.

"But I'll tell you what to do. Give me the extra two bob and let him do the work as agreed."

BENEATH MISTLETOE

Kissing Custom So Old No One Knows When It Started.

Branches With Greatest Number of Berries Favored, as Kiss Must Be Given for Each Berry Plucked.

According to Scandinavian mythology, Loki, the god of evil, was the sworn enemy of Valdur, the god of light, and tried by every means in his power to kill him, but failed because he was invulnerable to everything that came from the earth, air, fire or water.

Loki at last conceived the idea that the mistletoe, springing from neither, would serve his purpose and, having an arrow made from the wood he helped Hodi, the blind god of darkness, to aim it, and Valdur fell dead—shot through the heart.

All the gods and goddesses prayed for his restoration to life, and when the prayer was granted it was decreed that the mistletoe should nevermore have power to do harm unless it touched the earth, and the goddess of love was appointed to guard it.

Some legends claim that the goddess kissed all who passed under the plant as a token that it was no longer a weapon of death, but a symbol of love, while others assert that she extracted a kiss from each as a propitiation, or the hough should be allowed to kick her.

Another reason for the kissing privilege conferred by the plant is said to be that a lovely maiden preferred death to the bliss of an amorous old man who pursued her, and her prayers for deliverance were answered by transforming her into a mistletoe branch and placing her in a tree.

Kiss 'Em Each Berry.

The custom of "kissing beneath the mistletoe" is so old that no one knows when it originated; but when young people are found selecting the branches that have the berries on it, it is fair to suppose that they know a kiss must be given for each berry plucked and that the ceremony is never complete until every berry is off the branch.

There was once a common, though mistaken, belief that the mistletoe grew on oak trees only, but that was so far from true that the Druids, who held the oak as absolutely sacred because they believed it to represent the One Supreme God, deemed the mistletoe doubly sacred if found on one, and carefully guarded it until the sixth day after the first new moon of each year.

When this time arrived, priests robed in spotless white, surrounded the tree and held solemn ceremonies, among which was the sacrifice of two white bulls.

At the ceremonies a priest robed in spotless white ascended the tree, and with a golden knife cut the mistletoe and let it fall onto a white cloth held by other priests.

The branches were then formally blessed and divided among the people, who believed the sprays given them to have miraculous power.

Called "All-Heal" Plant.

The common belief in the efficacy of the plant was such that it was called "all-heal"; but according to an old legend, a certain lover searched many days for a specimen growing on an oak tree, that he might secure its branches for the cure of his betrothed, who was sick unto death, but when he found it he touched the sap, while cutting the branches, and fell dead near the tree, indicating that the sap was a deadly poison.

Another legend accounts for the fact that the plant is a parasite by the story that the mistletoe, originally grow as a tree, and that the cross on which Christ was crucified was made from mistletoe wood, after which it was accused and condemned to never more grow as a tree but to exist as a parasite, killing every living thing to which it became attached.

The plant thrives in America from New Jersey southward and westward, and those who know it only as a part of Christmas decorations can have the little idea of how it overruns trees to the extent of being a nuisance.

Christmas Smiles.

But Christmas is not only the milestone of another year, moving us to thoughts of self-examination—it is a season, from all its associations, whether domestic or religious, suggesting thoughts of joy. A man dissatisfied with his endeavors is a man tempted to sadness. And in the midst of winter, when his life runs lowest and he is reminded of the empty chairs of his beloved, it is well that he should be consoled to this fashion of the smiling face—Stevenson.

Anticipated Pleasure.

"I don't believe the approach of Christmas brings you a single joyous anticipation," said the sweet young thing.

"Don't," she replied, the lavender cheeks. "Listen to my secret. That young man on the third floor is sure to get the trumpet for a present."

"Yes."

"Then he'll get carried and leave it on the hall floor. And then I shall step in with both feet. Don't you call that a joyous anticipation?"

Bethlehem's Star Undimmed.

Bethlehem's star shines more brightly today than it did when the first Christmas anthem sent its joyous greeting to all sons of men.

"Waiter" cried the diner, "there's a fly in this ice pudding."

"Gives him right, sir," replied the waiter. "Let him stay there and freeze to death. He was in another gentleman's glad to get rid of him."

MARKET POULTRY

Not many years ago the popular method of dressing poultry for market throughout the Dominion was to have the birds drawn with head and shanks removed. As science and investigation make their advances the old order is changing yielding place to new. To-day while Nova Scotia and New Brunswick still continue to market poultry dressed in the old way, Ontario, Prince Edward Island and portions of Quebec are demanding their poultry undrawn. In these Provinces the demand that poultry be undrawn has not yet come from the producers, but from consumers. Consumers have stopped to consider that dressed poultry bought in the open market where everybody has the privilege of handling it was liable of disease contamination and much more particularly so when the bird was cut open and entrails removed, thereby exposing the bare flesh to bacterial contamination, to the ravages of house flies and to being struck with the common large blue fly which is the adult of the maggot pest in meat. Again, the liver of fowls, when exposed to the air, deteriorates very quickly and in short order renders the whole carcass unclean. Producers, retailers and consumers will all agree that in warm weather, it is hard enough to keep dressed poultry without having deterioration assisted by a bacteria-laden air circulation and insect pests. Investigations have proven beyond the shadow of a doubt that undrawn birds keep better in trade channels and in cold storage than do birds. The Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture, State: "Careful observations of a large number of shipments of both drawn and undrawn poultry made under commercial conditions showed that the undrawn poultry reached the consumer with fewer bacteria and with less chemical change in composition than the drawn poultry. The shipments were accompanied by the investigators from the time the poultry was killed, while en route on trains and until placed in cold storage where followed while being handled by the wholesalers, commission men and retail dealers. Recording thermometers accompanied the shipment through their entire course and the varying temperature to which the shipments were subjected were recorded. Samples were taken from shipments at the time the poultry was killed, at intervals while in storage, at the time they reached the commission men and when the shipments reached the retailers and finally when sold to the ultimate consumer. Bacteriological examination and chemical analyses were made of the samples taken from the undrawn poultry with samples taken from the drawn poultry. It was found that bacteriological and chemical indications of deterioration developed much quicker in the drawn poultry and as the shipment progressed through the various steps of commercial handling the difference in the signs of deterioration became more marked. By the time the shipments reached the consumer, much of the drawn poultry was unfit for food.

The experiments revealed that the drawing of poultry, as practised commercially, always resulted in the birds becoming contaminated with bacteria which caused spoilage. These bacteria multiply rapidly and while their growth is checked by cold storage it is not entirely stopped. It is the opinion of the specialist, therefore, that under usual commercial conditions, undrawn and head attached. Under the old system of having the head removed and the bird drawn, it is possible for producer to dress a diseased bird and put it on the market. The public is safeguarded in the packing industry by Government inspectors who examine each individual carcass for tuberculosis, cholera, etc. For inspection the lungs, liver and intestines were examined. In the old system of dressing birds, in case of tuberculosis which effects the lungs and intestines and in case of cholera or blackhead which affects the liver and bowels, the drawing removes all traces of the diseases. In case of chickenpox which affects the head, the removal of the head renders the bird clean. That is the reason so it is in putting diseased birds on the market according to the latest methods, these common diseases among poultry can be detected and traced back to the producer.

Consumers of the poultry should of most sickness is neglect of the liver. Constipation follows. The poisonous matter which should pass out of the body spreads through the system. That is the cause of sick headaches, sour stomach and biliousness. These troubles are sure indications that the liver needs attention.

MILE ANTOINETTE BOUCHER

"I am writing to tell you that I owe my life to Fruit-a-tives for this remedy relieved me when I had abandoned all hope of ever recovering my health. I suffered terribly with Dyspepsia. I had it for years and all the medicines so I tried them. After finishing a few boxes, I was entirely relieved of the Dyspepsia, and my general health was restored. I thank the great fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives', for this wonderful relief."

TRUSTWORTHY

It is a good thing to have a publication in the house that you can trust. You never have to think whether you can safely leave the Youth's Companion on the table. When you begin a Companion story you know you are not bound on a slumping expedition. You are being led up to sunshine of the everlasting hills. The folks in the Companion stories are everyday folks. They are like our own town people. Stumbling, falling, picking themselves up, trying with some difficulties and some difficulties to attain to their high ideals.

1920 will be a year of great stories for Youth's Companion readers. There are more than 250 of them in the year. One of the eight great serials will be Capt. Theodore C. E. Robert's glorious story of Canadian patriots and valor, Sons of Liberty.

New subscribers for 1920 will receive:

1. The Youth's Companion—32 issues in 1920.
2. All remaining weekly 1919 issues.
3. The Companion Home Calendar for 1920.

All the above only $2.50 every where in Canada and the United States.

THE MASTER SPY WHO LOST OUT

Death as Forfeit in Duel of Wits—Kupferie's Captor.

Few Scotland-yard men have had more thrilling experiences than Mr. F. T. Baskley, of the Special Service branch who is retiring from the service. Mr. Baskley was associated with the Intelligence departments of the War Office and the Admiralty, and thus came into contact with many of the most famous of Continental spies.

His greatest achievement was the tracking and capture of von Kupferie, who has been described as the prince of the German Secret Service. The Daily Express is able to give the facts concerning one of the most dramatic arrests ever carried out. Captain von Kupferie was a soldier, who had a distinguished record on the fighting front. Therein he differed from most spies. His appearance was almost "unspeakable." He was a man in the early thirties of solidly bearing, and he had a further drawback, from an espionage point of view—he had a slightly deformed nose. Kupferie made up in brains and cunning for any slight defects of this kind, and he was chosen by the German Espionage Department for most difficult and dangerous tasks. Kupferie's first mission was to Washington, where he was closely connected with von Papen and the not less notorious Berntorff, but there was bigger game in view.

Germany was anxious to know the dispositions of the British fleet, and the mission was entrusted to Kupferie. According to the price of spies sailed for England. The British authorities knew of his mission, and he was watched from the moment of his landing.

The spy's first move when he reached London was to find a suitable hotel. He chose one in North London, and registered at a neutral. The day after his arrival he caught the Holyhead express train.

He arrived in Ireland that evening, and the following day he paid a visit to Kings town harbor. Kupferie had no hours to waste, and as quickly as he made his way to another town on the Irish coast, off which were, some British battleships.

He looked, observed, jotted down a few notes in a diary and hastened to London and made his way to an hotel near Victoria. Kupferie was doubtless congratulating himself on the success of his mission little thinking that the net of the British Secret Service was now tightening round him. The hour was at hand.

A crowd of men and women sat in the grill-room of a West End restaurant. In their midst was the prince of the German Secret Service, laughing up his sleeve at the stupidity of the British. Presently his smiles were turned to tears. The spy was trapped.

He rose from a good dinner, puffing a cigar and asked a porter to call him a cab. A matter-of-fact man with a clean-shaven face and a well-cut suit, he walked to the door and hailed a cab. The word was simply "Kupferie."

The pleasant surprise was Mr. Baskley. The spy pulled himself together with an effort but in that instant he knew that he was a dead man. "I can't see how he was facing a man like Sir Basil Thomson to Scotland yard."

Kupferie was a free gambler with fate. He committed suicide in Brixton Gaol by hanging himself rather than face a firing squad at the Tower.

On the Field Committee.

"I suppose now your husband will come home sooner of nights."

"I don't know. He's always been a man of liquor for illness will make him want to sit up with sick friends more than ever."

Bound to Sell Something.

"I don't think I'll buy the house, but I've enjoyed the ride out here. You run a good car."

"Yes, I'm agent for this make. Can I book your order?"

The Doctors Orders.

She was the sort of a woman who always tells everybody her business. With a cheery smile she settled herself at the counter and began: "My husband has been very ill—very ill—so I have to do his shopping; and I want a shirt."

"Oh, no!" she exclaimed, in horrified tones. "The doctor says he must avoid anything with starch in it."

ST. JOHN MAN HAS GAINED 28 POUNDS

Death as Forfeit in Duel of Wits—Kupferie's Captor.

Rapid Improvement Troubles End.

"The best proof I can give that Tanlac is the right thing for me in the way it is building me up," said H. F. Rollings, of 62 Flower Hill, St. Johns, Newfoundland recently. Mr. Rollings has been employed as carpenter by the Newfoundland Railway Company for ten years.

"At the time I began taking Tanlac," he continued, "I only weighed one hundred and twenty-two pounds, but now I weigh one hundred and fifty pounds—have actually gained twenty-eight pounds—and am picking up both in weight and strength. "I had been in the worst kind of a fix for some time and could get nothing to do me much good, if any. My appetite went back on me and my stomach was in such a bad fix that I could not eat meats or any of the more substantial foods at all. I had severe headaches and was so run down and weak that I couldn't do justice to my work. I would get so weak, faint and dizzy that I was actually afraid to mount the scaffolds. I was very nervous and nearly all my strength just seemed to be gone. One day while crossing the railroad track I felt one of those dizzy spells coming on me. I managed to call for help, but I fainted dead away, and the next thing I knew I was home. I could never get a good night's sleep and that tired, worn out feeling was with me all the time."

"My improvement since I began using Tanlac has certainly surprised me. My appetite returned after the first few doses and by the time my first bottle was gone I could eat and digest anything. Then I commenced to pick up my lost weight and strength and get rid of that tired, worn out feeling. The headaches, dizziness and nervousness have all left me and I sleep so soundly that I have to be woken up in the morning. My appetite is so big that I can hardly get enough to eat and I never have the least trouble with my stomach any more, and when it comes to work I can keep up my end with the best of them. I am convinced that Tanlac will help anyone who tries it and I am glad to make this statement for what it may be worth to others."

TANLAC is sold in Campbellton by THOMAS WRAN, Druggist.

Dear Sir—
I feel it my duty to write you regarding your wonderful "Oliveine Emulsion." Last spring I almost died of death from the lungs. My doctor told me medicine would do me no good. I was so weak I could not dress or walk on myself, and had a terrible cough. I saw "Oliveine Emulsion" advertised and bought a bottle. It did me good at once and after having taken three bottles I could walk three miles. It helped my cough and I could breathe easier. I cannot praise "Oliveine Emulsion" enough. I find it is the only thing which helps me, and I advise all sufferers from lung trouble to try it.
