

Mr. Aylesworth's Testimony Contradicts Gamey's Evidence on Important Points

A Prosecution Witness Springs a Surprise on the Court—Tells of Gamey's Attempt to Borrow $3,000—How One Spy Shadowed Another—Price, One of the Young Men of the Pianos, Says He Took No Notes.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Toronto, Ont., April 15.—There was only a small attendance in the court room when this morning's session of the Gamey inquiry opened, although there were many people in the corridors without, who would have eagerly taken the vacant places if the constables at the doors had admitted them. Mr. Gamey was not in the court room when the inquiry opened, but arrived later.

Judge Lount occupied the bench beside his brother judges for a time. The first witness called was Mr. A. B. Aylesworth, K.C., whose law office was visited by Mr. Gamey and Frank Sullivan on Sept. 10 last. Mr. Aylesworth is one of the "prominent Liberal lawyers," whose identity caused so much speculation at the time when Mr. Gamey made his statement in the Legislature. Mr. Aylesworth's story told under examination by Mr. Blake was as follows:

"I am a barrister and a king's counsel, and have practiced in Toronto for many years. On May 30, 1902, the day of the provincial election, I received a verbal retainer from Alex Smith, secretary of the Ontario Liberal Association. His instructions were that I must not not without leave any supporter of the Government in any election petition arising out of any election petition. In pursuance of my retainer I transacted general election business, attended to returns, and acted on behalf of Government supporters and acted as counsel in a number of election petitions. I acted as counsel yesterday in one, the Sault Ste. Marie appeal."

"In the month of September last two gentlemen whom I had never seen before, came to my office and introduced themselves as Messrs. Gamey and Sullivan."

"What was the beginning of that visit?" asked Mr. Blake.

"It began the day before, on Tuesday, Sept. 9, in an interview with Hon. Mr. Stratton, at the Parliament buildings. I cannot tell the beginning of the conversation, which was a chance one on my part. I was at the Parliament buildings on business with the Attorney-General. Mr. Stratton met me in the corridors. There were some general remarks between us, as to the state of affairs in the country, and Mr. Stratton then said, 'Gamey is going to support you.' I do not know what he meant by that. He spoke about the petition against Gamey, and said the latter was very anxious about it. I said, 'I don't suppose it will be pressed strenuously. If Gamey is going to support the Government,' I said further, 'How do you know the fellow will do it? What guarantee have you?' Mr. Stratton said, 'That's R. who gave me a chance. We have.' I think I suggested that a letter should be written and signed by him, at any rate, one of us suggested it. He asked me to draw up such a letter, but I said, 'You know what you want, why not write it yourself?' He said, 'Would you see Gamey and get such a letter from him?' He probably came to my office to get the letter then," I said. "This ended the conversation. I received a typewritten letter from Mr. Stratton. I received it at 1 o'clock. I was in the court of appeal, and when the court adjourned at noon Mr. Stratton was waiting for me."

THE LETTER IDENTIFIED.
The letter in question was produced in court and identified by Mr. Aylesworth. He continued his story: "I got no other letter, and when Mr. Stratton handed it to me I put it in my pocket and went down to my office. I did not know whether anyone was waiting for me or not, but it is my impression that there was not. At any rate, within a minute or two of my entry, two men came in and introduced each other to me as Frank Sullivan and Mr. Gamey. M. P. P. for Algonia, was the next who spoke to me. Mr. Smyth possesses the bronzed visage and sturdy bearing of a man who lives the open-air life of a citizen of such a new country as Algonia. His story was to the following effect:

"I know Mr. Gamey and Frank Sullivan. In March last I had two conversations with them. On the night of Sunday, March 8, in a Pullman car, coming from North Bay to Toronto, and the other the next day at the Walker House. He did not know I intended to follow him. He left the hotel at night, March 10, when he left the Walker House. He did not see me, and I did not desire to be seen. I turned and walked south on York street, and saw Mr. Gamey walking in the opposite direction. He came back and walked along the south side of Adelaide, till I was opposite the piano factory. I then went in behind a fence, where some building was being done, and stood behind some bricks. I went there for the purpose of seeing Sullivan and Gamey. My principal object was to watch Mr. Gamey, and I said he would do so."

"Smyth on Gamey?" said Mr. Riddell.

"I saw Gamey walk up and down several times the opposite side of the street. I saw Sullivan come from York street, across to the north side of Adelaide. I saw his face by the electric light at the corner. I saw him and Gamey go into the factory together. Then I saw a light appear in an upper window. I waited about ten minutes and went away."

"Did you see Gamey or Sullivan anywhere else?" asked Mr. Riddell.

"You didn't wait till they came out?" asked Mr. Riddell.

"Mr. Johnston—Wait, just one question. You were looking for the purpose of attending to your parliamentary duties when you followed Gamey under cover of night?"

"Did you see Gamey anywhere else except among those bricks?"

"That was your only hiding-place?"

"Yes."

"How long were you engaged in this interesting occupation?"

"About an hour."

"Mr. Ritchie—What time did they go into the factory?"

"Just ten minutes after dark."

"W. H. Price, one of the three concealed witnesses at the piano factory, was next called. Mr. Price is a slight, young man, looking very much like a young lawyer. He opened his evidence by stating that he was a law student attending lectures at Osgoode Hall and that he had known Mr. Gamey for ten years or more, as he had been a resident of Gore Bay. Mr. Price then began to tell of his conversation with Mr. Gamey in March. He was a little mixed in his dates at first, and fixed the night of the piano office talk as being March 11, but he corrected himself and said it was March 10. On that night he went to the piano factory with his brother, Percy M. Price, and Arthur James Kinney, both law students. A man coming out of the street door and into the piano factory, Mr. Gamey and Mr. Crossin came. They all went in and Mr. Gamey took the three law students into the office, facing on Adelaide street. They understood what they were for, and when they went in the office they discussed the best way of arranging the piano. They could be secreted behind them. On the plan of the office being produced, Mr. Price said it represented approximately the position of the piano."

"We got behind the piano, took off our coats, laid them on the floor and sat on them," continued Mr. Price.

"I heard Mr. Gamey say to us to sit up and stretch our legs out. Mr. Gamey locked the door and went away, leaving us in the darkness. We heard the city hall clock strike 8 before he came back. We heard Mr. Gamey's voice, say, 'Take off your coats and sit down, Frank.'"

"At this point Mr. Riddell objected that Mr. Price's conversation with Gamey at this time could not be evidence, as Frank Sullivan was not charged."

"At this point the court adjourned until tomorrow morning."

THE LANCASTER CATTLE GUARD BILL

Condemned by the Minister of Railways.

PRACTICAL GUARD NOT FOUND

The Measure Stands Over Till After the Railway Commission Bill Is Completed.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, Ont., April 15.—The Lancaster Cattle Guard Bill came before the Railway Committee this morning and was condemned by the Minister of Railways.

Hon. Mr. Blair expressed his conclusion that a case had been made in favor of the need of a cattle guard. He would support legislation, but not such legislation as would throw the whole onus on the part of owners of cattle. He explained that a practical cattle guard had not been discovered, although the cattle guard commission had tested one which was effective except in the case of the more cultured and highly educated steers. A section of the Railway Bill referred to the cattle question, and room had been left for such a clause as the committee might decide upon. "This bill," referring to Lancaster's, "cannot pass."

Mr. Blair suggested a clause holding railways liable for loss resulting from the injury or killing of cattle which have strayed on the highway without the neglect of the owners and through the insufficiency of the cattle guards, provision would be made for the use of the best cattle guard tested by the commission.

After some discussion Leighton McCarthy offered an amendment requesting Mr. Blair to insert a remedial clause in the Railway Commission Bill to be passed this session and that the Lancaster bill be not further considered.

The motion was received with a chorus of "Nos," but was carried on the vote and was being taken.

Mr. Lancaster's bill by this is not wiped out, but stands over till after the consideration of the Railway Commission Bill in the House.

All Ireland in Convention To Discuss the Land Bill

Hiring To Kill.

Frank Cecil, who was indicted last year as an accessory to the murder of Governor William Goebel, and who recently surrendered, gave sensational testimony in the trial of James Howard today. He said Caleb Powers, then secretary of state, told him a man had been secured from the mountains to kill Goebel. If this man failed to arrive, Powers told him he (Cecil) would be paid $2,000 to find the man. Cecil says he declined. Governor Taylor, he testified, called him into his private office and told him the same thing.

THE BARREL MURDER

New York's Police Hard After the Perpetrators.

New York, April 15.—Vito Laduca, supposed to be the proprietor of the butcher shop in Stanton street, where nine arrests were made last night in connection with the murder of the man found in a barrel in East Eleventh street Tuesday morning, surrendered at police headquarters today, and was held as a witness. Nikola Testro, 19 years old, who lives with Laduca, also appeared at headquarters, and was similarly detained. At the place in East Eleventh street kept by Giuseppe Morello, one of the men arrested last night, the police have placed heavy padlocks on the doors. Through the glass in the windows can be seen several large barrels that bear a resemblance to the one in which the murdered man was found. The latter had wooden hoops and a wire hoop at the top and bottom, however, while those in the store appear to have only wire hoops.

In the store was found a quantity of sand and hamp, and Detective Petrosino took some of it to police headquarters today for examination, and comparison with that found in the barrel and about the murdered man's neck.

POSTPONE OPERATIONS

Macedonians Abandon Raids for the Present.

London, April 15.—The Times correspondent at Sofia, Bulgaria, telegraphs that the Macedonian insurgent leaders have resolved to abandon the intended general insurrection during the present year, but they will continue guerrilla operations, interrupting communications and blowing up bridges. This resolution, taken by the Macedonian leaders, explains the correspondent, appears to be due to the overwhelming strength of the Turkish army, the impossibility of receiving aid from without or from European intervention unless wholesale massacres were perpetrated, and also the uncertain attitude of the Albanians, it being feared that the Albanians might become reconciled to the Turks, and join in the extermination of the unbelievers.

Hard On the Miners.
Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 15.—For years past the miners employed by the Pennsylvania Coal Company in and about Pittston, have had the privilege of purchasing coal for their own use at special prices, but an order has been issued that the workmen will have to pay an advance of 50 cents a ton on stove coal, and an advance of 25 cents on pea coal.

Japanese Politics.
Tokio, Japan, April 15.—A revolt against Marquis Ito and the moderate party has occurred. Eighty members of the Diet have seceded from him, denouncing the blind obedience to leaders who pursue a policy of "passive waiting" upon events and damage that all the officials of the party henceforth shall be elected and the party consulted on grave questions.

A Race War in Missouri Follows a Lynching Bee

Part of the Mob Tried To Save Negro—A Tug-of-War For Life or Death.

Joplin, Mo., April 15.—The lynching of an unknown tramp negro last night was followed by an onslaught on the negro section of the city by the mob. Houses were burned and negroes driven out of the city. The mob had taken the negro from the city jail and hanged him to a telegraph pole, two blocks away. He was charged with murdering Police Officer Leslie, who they shot as he lay in the Kansas City Southern Railroad yard while endeavoring to arrest several negroes charged with theft. This lynching was unique in that the mob was divided in sentiment. City Attorney Decker first pleaded with them that the jail be not attacked, but this had effect for only a short time. Finally the jail was broken and the negro taken out. Again Mr. Decker interceded with a speech and the mob began dispersing, but suddenly a rush was made for the spot where the negro was being held, and he was dragged two blocks from the jail, a rope fastened around his neck, and after the rope had been thrown over the cross-arm of a telegraph pole a score attempted to pull the negro from the ground. As many more seized the negro and pulled to prevent him being hanged. For some moments it was a veritable tug-of-war, but reinforcements on the free end of the rope proved the stronger, and the negro, despite his protestations of innocence, was finally swung into the air and strangled to death.

Fateful Times Approaching For the Balkan People

Albanians Refuse the Porte's Scheme—Alexander and His Coup.

Constantinople, April 16.—It is now understood that the commission sent by the Sultan to appease the Albanians failed to secure their adherence to the reform scheme of the powers, except on the condition that the Albanians be allowed to choose their own governors and civil officials, and that other minor concessions be granted them.

The Porte has decided to establish a military camp at Berzovitch, and has ordered nineteen battalions to concentrate there, in view of the possible eventual operations against the Albanians. Great uneasiness has been aroused in Turkish Government circles by the reports that the Bulgarians in Macedonia are preparing for a general rising on April 20, the second day of the Easter festivities of the Orthodox Church.

Belgrade, Servia, April 16.—At a banquet given at the palace yesterday evening in celebration of the tenth anniversary of King Alexander's accession to the throne, the King made a speech in which he referred to the grave situation in the east, saying fateful times were approaching for all the peoples of the Balkan Peninsula, and Servia must be ready to strike at the proper moment.

His Majesty also congratulated himself on the fact that his marriage to Queen Draga had met with the approval of the people. Referring to his recent proclamations, the King said Servia had no time for experimenting and he had, therefore, been compelled to restore the constitution to its original condition.

Loss In British Credit.

London, April 16.—Sir Edgar Vincent, one of the ablest financial authorities in Britain, has written a striking letter to the Times, pointing out the loss in British credit as evidenced by the fall in consols. In five years consols have fallen 21 per cent, whereas the largest fall of any foreign government security is less than 5 per cent. In 1899 the British Government, he says, could raise money at 2 1/2 per cent, but it was forced to break out now it would have to pay considerably over 3 per cent for any large amount. There has been no similar change in the financial ability of France, Germany or Russia. Therefore, compared with those countries, Britain is financially weaker than she was.

THE "SOO" ELECTION

Toronto, April 16.—Argument in the Soo election case closed yesterday afternoon and the court will later announce its decision.

A. B. Aylesworth, for the Liberals, took up the morning reply to the reasons and arguments advanced by Walter Cassels and Edmund Bristol on behalf of the unelected member, Andrew Mismacampbell.

Their six reasons of appeal are in effect that there was not sufficient evidence to unseat the Tory member.

Mr. Aylesworth, however, argued that there was, and that the evidence against the Montreal lawyer, Moreault, alone was, as Judge Osler had said, sufficient to override any majority.

LIEUT. GOVERNOR CRITICALLY ILL

Sir Oliver Mowat's Condition—Gravest Fears Entertained As To His Recovery.

Toronto, Ont., April 16.—No bulletin has been issued by the physicians in charge of Sir Oliver Mowat since their announcement at 12:30 this morning. Constant and repeated inquiries at Government House bring only the one reply, that there has been little or no change in his honor's condition since that hour. During the first part of today, however, he showed a more rallying power than the doctors had expected. From their omission to issue bulletins it is understood that the doctors are only waiting for the end. No members of the family have left the house since midnight.

Another Lynching On Hand.
Memphis, Tenn., April 16.—Adolph Heinz, a native German employed at a brewery in this city, has been shot and killed by George Morgan, colored. Heinz refused to honor an order presented by the negro for a pair of beer. The German residents in the portion of the city near the brewery, learning of the tragedy, immediately formed posses and are searching for the negro with the avowed purpose of lynching him.

The Pope's End Near.

Rome, April 16.—The Pope received some pilgrims today, but merely watched them, and did not answer any addresses. The health of his Holiness is evidently breaking. His cough continues, his digestive organs are deranged, his appetite is gone, and he has a feeling of listlessness. Fits of feebleness are of frequent occurrence. There is no immediate danger, but great anxiety is felt over the Pontiff's condition. The prelates who would perform the duties of the Pope in case of his death have been ordered to remain constantly in Rome.

Dr. Lapponi has positively vetoed the proposition for a Papal celebration on April 23, when his Holiness will reach the "Years of St. Peter."

THE KING AT MALTA

Valetta, Island of Malta, April 16.—The royal yacht Victoria and Albert, with King Edward on board, arrived here today from Gibraltar, and was saluted by the warships and shore batteries. Immense crowds assembled on the sea front to witness his majesty's arrival. The city was gay with flags. The King landed at noon.

Six Doctors Failed to Cure Him.

ERYSIPELAS AND SALT RHEUM WAS THE TROUBLE.

Burdock Blood Bitters

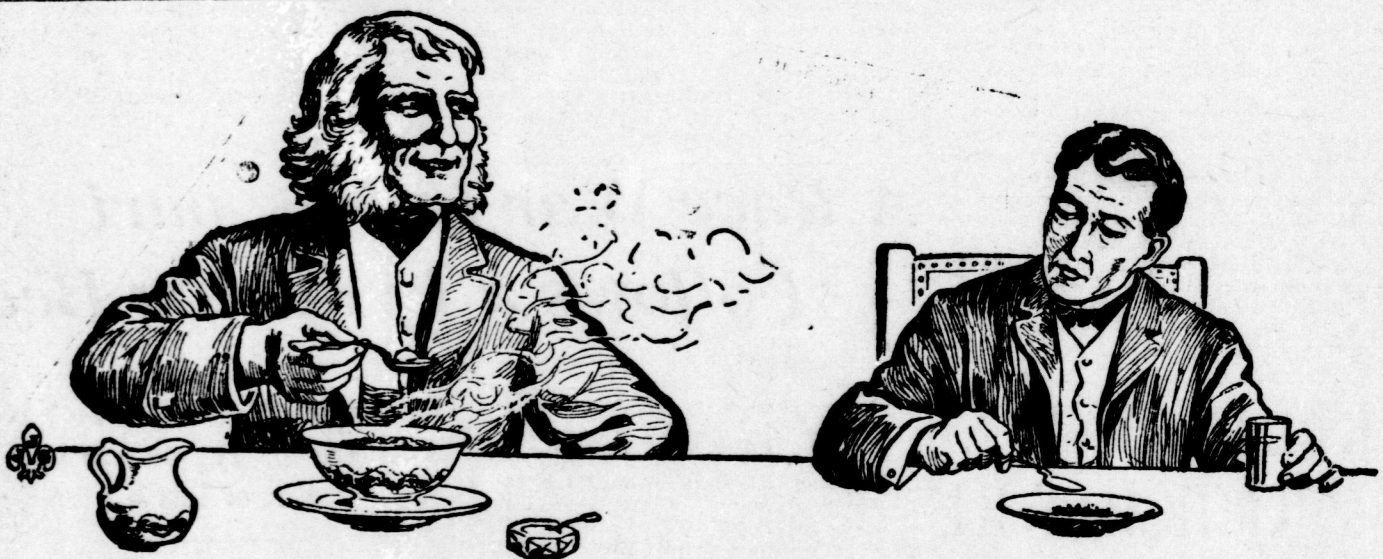

DID MORE THAN SIX DOCTORS COULD DO.

Mrs. Theo. Newell, Argyle Sound, N.S., expresses her opinion of this wonderful blood remedy in the following letter:

"It is with the greatest gratitude that I can testify to the wonderful curative powers of Burdock Blood Bitters. For years my husband suffered terribly with Erysipelas and Salt Rheum. He was so bad at times that he could not sleep on account of the itching and burning. He had been under the care of six different doctors, but they failed to do him any good. I had read different times of the wonderful cures being made by Burdock Blood Bitters, so advised him to give it a trial. He did so, and after taking five bottles was cured without a doubt. I would strongly advise any person troubled with blood disorders to give B.B.B. a fair trial for I am sure it will cure them."

Crowning Triumph of the Musical Season.

At the great Cycle of Musical Festivals of the Dominion, conducted by Sir Alexander Campbell Mackenzie, Mus. Doc., L. L. D., F. R. A. M., the distinguished British composer and principal of the London Royal Academy of Music, the famous

Heintzman & Co. Concert Grand Piano

has been chosen for exclusive use.

These great Festivals have been the event of the musical season now closing, taking in the leading cities in Canada from Halifax to Vancouver. The entire forces have aggregated between three and four thousand Canadian vocalists, each chorus rehearsed by an appointed local associate-conductor and each supported by an organized committee aided by an honorary secretary. The work has been considered worthy of the hearty support of His Excellency the Governor-General, president of the Festivals, and has received the most enthusiastic support of Canada's most cultured citizens.

This event signals the rounding up of a remarkable musical season in Canada, in which the Pianos of Heintzman & Co., have added still greater triumphs to the wonderful success that has been theirs during a period of 50 years.

WAS TOO CHIVALROUS

Plan Punches Another for Eyeing His Own Wife.

New York, April 16.—John T. P. Young, a photographer of 211 East Eighty-first street, was in the Yorkville police court yesterday for assaulting John Caddle, a builder, who lives at 242 East Eighty-second street, on a Third Avenue elevated train at 1 o'clock yesterday morning.

Near the Sixty-seventh street station the photographer stood up and struck the builder in the face. They had been sitting alongside each other. "Yes, I struck him, judge. Any gentleman would have done the same thing. He was making goo-goo eyes at a lady passenger and I did not propose to let a man insult a woman who happened to be without a male escort," the prisoner said.

"I didn't insult any lady. This fellow struck me without a word of warning. We had no dispute whatever. He just stood up and landed a blow in my face," responded the builder.

I saw him ogling a lady who sat in a cross seat some distance away. He chipped to her to attract her attention. "He acted like one of those mashers you hear about," went on the photographer.

"It was my wife who sat in the cross seat, and I was trying to call her attention to one of the pictures in the car," Caddle explained.

"I don't believe she's your wife," Young responded.

"Here she is," rejoined the builder as he beckoned to a woman who stepped upon the bridge and said she was Mrs. Caddle.

"Well, I only wanted to act the part of a gentleman and protect ladies from insult," the photographer declared.

Magistrate Zeller said he thought the photographer had acted hastily, with good intentions, and suggested that an apology would be sufficient punishment.

Young apologized and the case was dismissed.

erred at the residence of Mr. J. Finch, where he intends removing to London this week. He has had a very enjoyable time was spent at the various games, music and other amusements. Before the company broke up a nicely worded address, expressing regret at the loss of Mr. and Mrs. Finch and family, was read by Rev. Mr. Gregory, accompanied by the presentation of a beautiful parlour lamp by Mr. W. Shipley. Mr. Finch, although very much surprised, made a neat reply, thanking the people of Kona for their kindness to him and his family during the time they have been here. We all join in wishing them success in their new home and work.

Mr. Will Bradford is spending his holidays here. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Penner and family, of Palmerston, will be sorry to learn that their eldest son, Miden, passed away after a lingering illness on Saturday last. As Mr. Penner

THREE BUSY STORES."

AGONIZING STOMACH PAINS!

Messrs. RADWAY & CO.

Dear Sirs.—I know a business man on the east side of town who has for years been ailing and suffering agonizing pains in the stomach. The doctors, from Prof. Jacoby down to others by the dozens, could neither effect a cure nor could they even tell what the malady was. He, a few years ago, crossed the Atlantic to consult German doctors, without result. I used to call at his store every few months and hear his tale of woe. He said while he was never able to retain his food, and at certain times of the day he was racked with agonizing pain which lasted about an hour. Yesterday, after a lapse of 18 months, I asked him about his health. He said he had been well for over a year, and had gained 40 pounds in weight. I wanted to know what doctor he had consulted. He told me: About a year ago over a man came to his store, telling him he had been sick very much the same as he was for some time, and tried Radway's Pills, which quickly cured him. He at once decided to use the pills. The druggist did not have any, and tried to give him another kind, but as he insisted on Radway's, they were procured for him the next day. He only took one at night, and he immediately felt better. He kept up a time to take the pills, and from the first day to this day his malady never returned.

BETWEEN TWO FIRES.

BY MRS. C. N. WILLIAMSON.

Author of "Lady Mary of the Dark House," "The Woman in Gray," "Queen Sweetheart," "Fortune's Sport," "The Barn Storm," "The Yellowed Face," "The Questions and Answers which I have repeated to bring me here to you."

"Not at all. I called upon him as soon as I learnt what had happened, and expressed myself as extremely interested in the fate of that client, whose intimate friends were my friends. I even offered to serve him in any way consistent with my position. Certain if I had not formerly acquired a good amount of influence with Monsieur Duplessis, he might not have trusted me even as far as he did. But he told me the accused had been used to injure the accused man, even if my intentions were malevolent; and as my presence here should prove that they are not—rather the contrary."

"I do not read the proofs that way," I sneered. "But you have called here to tell me certain things. It will save time—will it not?—to come to the point."

"In a word, then, the point is this: One of the most important questions asked by the Judge d'Instruction, after hearing from Monsieur Brent an explanation of a letter sent upon him by the police—ah, you start! The thought of a document being found upon the prisoner is not agreeable to you."

"I braced myself desperately to self-control under the cruel fox-eyes which watched me hungrily. 'It may be that Mr. Brent had a letter from me,' I answered. 'It is never agreeable to have one's name mentioned by strangers, even if one is an actor.' 'Ah, only a letter! But the public is your slave. It would forgive you any indiscretion, especially if the importance of the situation is to be intensified by another such avowal as was made to the Commissary of Police last night. There would be few exceptions; yet there might be one or two. Would you like to see the letter?' 'I would not see it, for instance. 'You boast of what you cannot perform.' 'Not at the moment, perhaps. I have not proof enough at first of what I suspected; but this affair of Brent has played my game. Its complications are links for my chain. In one way he was distinctly unfortunate. Do not, the detective was the very man I had sent to England to watch the Foreign Secretary for a certain reason. He followed Brent to Paris on suspicion, and it was while he was actually preparing a report for me that Brent called to engage him in his own affair. A strange coincidence, was it not?' 'Nothing will be missing,' I breathed. 'Maxime de Ribaut is a man of honor.' 'That remains to be seen. And even so he may have been tricked by a woman. Choose, Juliette. Shall he curse you as a traitress (if, as you say, he is a true man), will you doom him to wear out his life on Devil's Island, or will you let him believe you merely fickle? You can never be his wife. Will you be mine, and save yourself of him? 'I am not afraid of you—for myself.' 'I gasped. 'And there is nothing against him. He has done nothing—yet some plot of yours may make him seem guilty. And until I can explain to him I would not have Maxime hear my name coupled with that of Noel Brent. Give me till tomorrow to decide. Tomorrow at this time. Do nothing till then. It is not long.' (To be continued.)

AQUEDUCT OPENS.

New York, April 15.—The metropolitan racing season of 1903 was ushered in at Aqueduct today under the most unfavorable conditions. A light drizzling rain fell throughout the day, and the cold northeast wind drove the rain far into the stand. However, fully 7,000 persons were present.

The first feature was the Carter handicap, at seven furlongs, won by Ahumada at 5 to 1. Thirteen horses started, with Lord Bridger favorite. The Dalt pair, Himes and Illyria and Ahumada were equal second choices. Paul Clifford and Duellist were added starters. Dr. Sayor was the best bet, and then won by a nose. Duellist shot to the front with Yellow Tail second and Illyria third. Rounding into the stretch Illyria went to the front, with Yellow Tail close up. When well straightened out for the run to the wire Ahumada moved from seventh place to fifth. One hundred yards from the finish he was on even terms with the leader, and then won by half a length from Yellow Tail, who only beat Illyria a head for the place.

THE WHEEL.

BICYCLE VS. TROLLEY.

After waiting what seemed an interminable time on a corner for a street car and then crowding on and standing all the way home, one certainly endures the cyclist. They go flitting by at a speed that they wish, choosing the shortest or the longest way home, as the mood or the necessity of the moment requires. Certainly wheeling is taking a great boom this season, and every day sees more of them out. The dealers seem to be greatly rushed, and most of them are behind with their orders. Wheels of a much higher grade are more in demand this season.

YACHTING.

RACES OFF YESTERDAY.

Weymouth, England, April 15.—No racing between the Shamrocks is expected today. Apart from the light breeze prevailing, the challenger's mainsail requires a complete overhaul. It set like a gunny sack during yesterday's race, and the crew, superintending the alterations. Fears are again expressed that the fault lies partly with the gaff and boom. Many people are of the opinion that they are too light to do good work in a hard breeze.

BASEBALL.

THE NATIONAL OPENING.

New York, April 15.—The National League was scheduled to open the baseball season today with games in St. Louis and Philadelphia, Chicago playing in the former city and Boston in Philadelphia. Enthusiasts of the metropolis have to wait a day longer for their opening game, the first game of the season in New York having been set for tomorrow, when the ancient rivals, Brooklyn and the New Yorks, will make their initial appearance of the year at the Polo grounds. The American League teams have been longer for practice, as their season will not open until April 20, when Philadelphia plays two games in Boston. The other teams of the league do not take the field until the 22nd, and the first game on the new grounds in New York is set for April 30. The Eastern League will start its serious work on April 20, after a re-opening of the New York State League on May 8.

All the games scheduled for today were postponed till tomorrow owing to rain or wet grounds.

AWARDED TO BINGHAMPTON.

Burnaby, N. Y., April 15.—Setha Farrell, president of the decision of the National board in the matter of the dispute of the New Orleans Baseball Club and the Binghampton Club in regard to the 1903 season, was unanimous in its award of this manager's services to the Binghampton Club. The appeal of the Helena, Mont., Club for a re-opening of the Carter case was denied, and the player's services awarded to the Denver Club.

HEATHERBLOOM'S GREAT JUMPING

Former Local Horse Leaps Seven Feet Six Inches at a New York Horse Show.

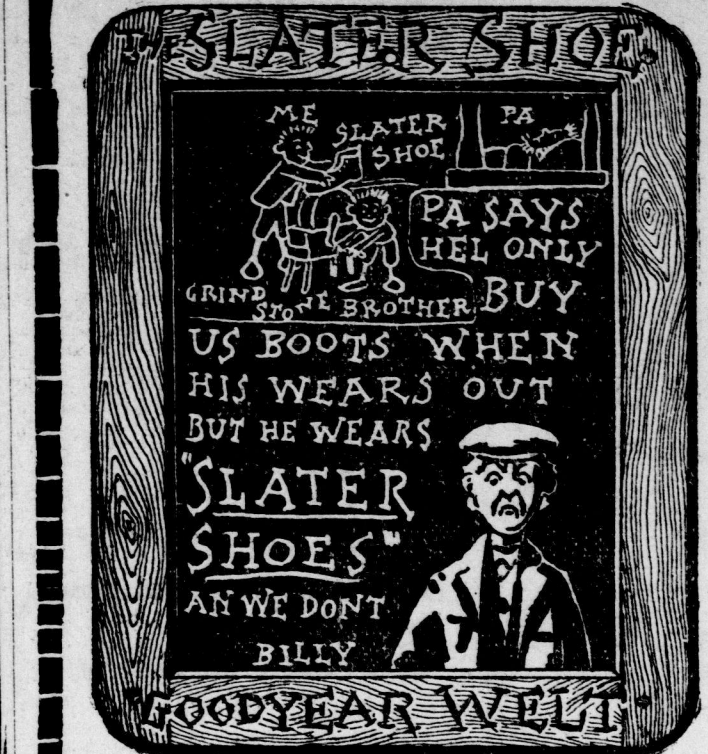

The New York Telegraph has the following concerning Heatherbloom, which was foaled and raised in this district:

During the judging of classes at the horse show given at the Durland Riding Academy last week the programme was so long that the jumping classes, which always closed the programme, were not noticed in the reports of the show in the newspapers, because the papers were in press before the classes were judged. Consequently the wonderful work of Howard Willett's great jumper, Heatherbloom, winner of the championship at the Chicago show last fall, was not noticed as it should have been.

Heatherbloom holds the record for the high jump of the world, having cleared feet 8 inches at the Chicago show last fall. At the close of the show at Durland's last Thursday evening, Heatherbloom, ridden by the fearless Dick Donnelly, who has trained and ridden him in all of his engagements, was put over the bars at 7 feet 6 inches, and did it so easy that it was the opinion of all the experts that he could have equalled or exceeded his record.

Mr. Donnelly also owns and rides the noted jumper Hitts, which will be seen in many of the horse shows this year.

Wear A picture is only the right colors put in the right place—but it takes a genius to put them there.

The real test of a shoe is its wear. And wear is only good materials rightly put together. And that's the genius of cathedral is two hundred feet long, and seats between three and four thousand people. At the service there on Christmas Day some 6,000 people were gathered inside and outside, more than a thousand being communicants. He is under Mr. Borup's supervision that the roomly hospital with eighty beds, also built by native labor, was erected. He has an industrial school, where printing, binding, carpentry, furniture making, ropemaking, brickmaking and bricklaying are taught to the native boys. All this is going on in the heart of central Africa. Mr. Borup is im-

CITY COUNCIL INSPECTED

WHITE'S ROLLING MILLS

Entire Plant Is Now in Full Operation.

Process of Iron-Rolling Is a Highly Interesting One.

The city council, together with several civic officials, accepted the invitation of the London Rolling Mills Company yesterday to visit their new plant at the foot of William street, where,

inside of a few months, a large tract of vacant land has been transformed into one of the city's busiest sections.

To say that the council found the work interesting describes it mildly. A couple of hours of their precious time were absorbed in watching scrap iron, apparently intended to go only towards the scrap heap, converted into small, clean, merchantable bars of iron. The work was explained to them in detail, and the impression they received must have been one that would favor the encouragement of further enterprise of this sort.

THE NEW WORKS.

The works, which have an area of close on to an acre, are complete in all ways. Not only have they the finest mechanical equipment, but they are built on the most modern lines. The structure is almost entirely of iron.

The lighting system is an adequate and well arranged one, and to the depth of ten or twelve feet from the lower edge of the roof there are windows, which extend along both sides of the building. Below these light also comes in, as the sides of the building are portable, and can be lifted up, by which provision proper ventilation and draught for the huge furnaces can be obtained. There was no striving for architectural beauty, and, in fact,

the services of an architect were called for consultation, but very little. When the company announced that they would move from Guelph to London, their men, of whom there are nearly 100, said that they would move with them, and as the work of rolling iron was stopped when the work of moving started, the men offered their services in the work of making a roof and also for the walls.

Consequently there is little or nothing of inflammable nature about the place.

The other buildings of the firm consist of a storehouse, a rolling mill, a rolled iron, and a cosy little office at the entrance to the grounds on William
