BALKAN STRUGGLE OPENS; MONTENEGRO STARTS WAR; HEAVY FIGHTING NOW ON

Little Nation of Mountaineers First to Clash With Turks-Charge d'Affairs at Capitals Are Given Their Walking Papers.

Cettinje, Montenegro, Oct. 8.--Montenegro declared war on Turkey this morning.

The declaration of war was delivered to the Porte by the Montenegrin charge d'affaires early today.

Heavy fighting is already in progress along the frontier.

Cettinje, Montenegro, Oct. 8 .- Nine battalions of Turkish troops which were proceeding from Scutari to Tusi, along the Montenegrin frontier, were attacked late yesterday by a detachment of Malissori tribesmen. The fighting began just outside Tusi, and continued all night with vigor. The battle was still in progress this merning.

LONDON NOT SURPRISED.

London, Oct. 8 .- The outbreak of war in the Balkans caused no surprise in London, but the quarter in which it started was unexpected. Joint action by the allied Balkan nations and Greece was looked for instead of the initiative being taken by Montenegro, the weakest among them,

The official world here now awasts the announcement that Bulgaria, Servia, and Greece have also broken off diplomatic relations with Turkey. It is assumed that they have chosen today for launching the war so that they may reply to the protest which Austria and Russia are serving upon them in behalf of the powers that it comes too late. Should a general state of war be declared today experts consider that no important engagements can be expected before Oct. 15, and, perhaps, another important engagements can be expected before Oct. 19, and, pernaps, another week from that date will be required for the Bulgarian and Turkish armies to come into contact in the region of Adrianople, where the first clash of arms on a large scale is considered most probable REPORTED AT BELGRADE.

Belgrade, Servia, Oct. 8.—Reports reached here today that Montenegrin troops had crossed the Turkish frontier. The Servian Parliament today voted an extra credit of $8,900,000 for military purposes, while the merchants of this city are making large donations to the funds being raised for the assistance of poor families whose breadwinners have been called upon for military service.

BALACLAYA VETERAN

Famous Charge Buried With Military Honors.

SOME RESOLUTIONS London, Oct. 8.-In a quiet portion of the cemetery at Streatham Park, Sergeant William Jones, one of the last of the heroes of the famous charge of Balaclava, was laid to rest on Saturday with all the honors due to one who had fought gallantly for his country. Jones, an Oxfordshire man by birth, died week ago, aged 87, at his residence in Melbourne-grove, East Dulwich.

During the charge of the Light Brigade he was wounded in the leg by a cannon ball and his horse was shot under him; but he captured a riderless mount and managed to get back to the British lines without further mishap.

On his return to England he joined the colice force, and, after serving some time, left and entered the service of the L. and N. W. Railway, eventually being appointed first stationmaster for Hilburn. But, being of a roving disposition, he left the railway company and went to America, crossing the Rockies twice on foot, joining surveying parties, and prospecting for gold, etc. It was not till Toronto, Oct. 8. - Miss B. Wylie, the noted English suffragette and hunger striker, who has served two terms in prison for her militant methods, arrived in Toronto yesterday afternoon on the International Limited from Montreal. Although Miss Wylie is not in the city at the request of the local branch of the Women's Suffrage Association, who are not in favor of militant methods, Miss Wylie will address a number of meetings here, including public ones, and today will speak to the Trinity College Literary Club, and during the afternoon will meet a number of the local officers of the order. While in the city Miss Wylie will be the guest of Mrs. Flora McD. Denison, 22 Carlton street.

To the press Miss Wylie announced her intention of forming in Toronto and other cities throughout the Dominion a number of branches of the famous English militant suffrage organization, the Women's Social and Political Union, which has for its head Mrs. Pankhurst. So pretty and haunting is the music that one can easily forgive the often silly and puerile dialogue from the German, which, we fancy, must have suffered much in the process of translation. Last evening Miss Luneska more than ever shone; she smiled the English boarding school, and danced and entered with unflagging vivacity into the part of Princess Bozena. And she was in particularly good voice. Hers is a voice possessing charm, rich and clear and animated, as the execution alone snows, by a deep appreciation of musical values. were more than ever impressed with the peculiar, thrilling tone, the richness of the shading and the fine accuracy. "The Pink Lady." The most popular of musical comedies, "The Pink Lady," will be seen at the Grand next Monday and Tuesday evenings. C. M. S. McLellan's book bristles with funnny lines and situations, Ivan Caryll's delightful music is whistled everywhere, especially such catchy numbers as "Beautiful Lady," "The Girl by the Saskatchewan," and "Donny Did." It is seldom that a musical play is presented in such an elaborate and artistic manner as "The Pink Lady." The scenes of the three acts are exceptionally beautiful, and the gowns worn by the young ladies of the company are the latest who is sending her daughter to Bentley Priory, says that she approves of "The outdoor life and sports of the English school," she says, "are attractive. I don't know a single school in America with a golf course. In England, too, the curriculum is so comprehensive. In America a girl would have to attend three or four schools to get the same advantages obtainable at one such school in England, English boys, on the other hand, often find American school life advantageous, and many English parents send their sons to the States. There is something about the whole atmosphere which is mentally and physically invigorating."

Speaking of the English woman, Mrs. Black remarked: "I think the English woman is more helpful to her husband in his public life than the American. Many English wives recall to my mind the Roman matron, a powerful person ality, dictating great policies and remaining in the background. There is an undercurrent of seriousness in English society which impresses me, and I like the spirit of comradeship that so often exists between mothers and daughters in this country."

They were granted their independence in 1878. As they have received an annual indemnity of $200,000 from Russia since 1813, for losses sustained in expelling the French from the Dalmatian coast, and as the present Queen of Italy is negro, the intimate ties of the country treatment of the situation.

Great Britain stood forth as the protector of the Turk sixty years ago, but her motive was suspicion of Russia, which has given place to friendship and co-operation in the near East. The late Lord Salisbury naively confessed in after years that his country had put her money on the wrong horse in the Crimean war. It is evident that Turkey in Europe is doomed to be again dismembered, probably through the grant of autonomy to Macedonia, the present theatre of strife. The mutual jealousies of Austria and Russia will there come into play. To placate her millions of Mohammedan subjects, Great Britain may concern herself to help in saving a remnant of Turkish Henry Miller. "There once was a litpower in Europe, but she cannot afford to oppose the recsue of Macedonian Christians from Turkish oppression.

THE MACDONALD BY-ELECTION

Mr. Rogers has called his erstwhile partner, Premier Roblin, to his aid in saving the constituency of Macdonald to the Federal Government. The two men built up in Manitoba the most powerful and unscrupulous political organization in Canada, and all their devious arts will be employed to defeat the independent candidate, Mr. R.

The riding is a hybrid of city and country. In the last general election it gave Mr. Staples, Conservative, a majority of 161 in a total poll of 5,751. The rural portion declared for reciprocity, Mr. Staples getting his majority in the suburbs of Winnipeg and three or four of the larger towns. Mr. Richardson, who is a strong supporter of reciprocity, will undoubtedly lead at the rural polls, and if he is defeated it will be in the Winnipeg subdivisions, where the Roblin-Rogers machine can get in its fine work.

The campaign on behalf of the Government candidates is one that no Conservative would wage in Eastern Canada. The farmers are asked to defeat Mr. Richardson because his allies, the Liberals, refused to radically reduce the tariff, Mr. Staples, who now enjoys a public berth, seconded the resolution of Mr. Meighen last year, calling for a substantial reduction of the duties on agricultural implements and he attacked the reciprocity agreement in the last election on the ground that it dealt too tenderly with the protected industries. The same tactics one afternoon." "What was he talking are face to face. Exactly how the poare being employed in behalf of his about?" political successor. To offset the arguments for reciprocity Conservative speakers and journals are denouncing the late Government's policy, because of its friendliness for the manufacturing interests. The Winnipeg Telegram, the organ of Mr. Rogers, quotes the utterances of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Mackenzie King, in favor of tariff stability, and adds:

"That was the attitude of the Laurier Government with reference parties. to the tariff. There was to be no tariff revision. No disturbance of the cement combine, the farm implement manufacturers or any other protected interest. In view of these facts the public will hear with amusement the platform vaporings which represent the Liberal party as the particular friend of lower tariff taxation.'

What do consistent Conservatives think of the methods used against Mr. Richardson?

October is the genuine season of the bracing ozone, with its touches of summer, and its tincture of iron for the blood. The year hangs even-balanced between the sun and the ice-floe, and you can feel both at once. Humanity has to fight up a little against playful gusts of infant winter, but is not yet driven discomfited to cover by either darkness or cold. October screws men up to a higher zest of life. THE LATEST LONDON FAD

By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

The latest fad of fashionable women in London, England, is the study of psychical mysteries. They are being taught by a well-known exponent of Hindoo occultism, who proposes to incommode me in the least. Any other found a psychic city in Egypt. This place will be called "the city of the light-hearted," for the cares of life will be shut out, and the citizens will give themselves over to music and mystery and delightful dreams. If this project should become a reality, then will be fulfilled the old dream of Homer, the conception of a place of bliss where men will live on the fruit of the lotus and trouble and toil will be no more. Would it not be strange if a colony of aristocratic Londoners should be planted in the east, there to found a city of which the coat of arms would be decorated with the lotus

Elaborating for us the brief story related by Homer, Tennyson has succeeded in his poem, "The Lotus-Eaters," in drawing a picture of ease, which has appealed most powerfully to the indolent soul of the student condemned to read it as a task on drowsy afternoons:

There is sweet music here that softer falls

Than petals from blown roses on the night-dews on still waters between walls Of shadowy granite, in a gleaming Music that gentler on the spirit lies,

Than tir'd eyelids upon tir'd eyes; Music that brings sweet sleep down from the blissful skies, Here are cool mosses deep,

And thro' the moss the ivies creep. And in the stream the long-leaved flowers weep,

And from the craggy ledge the poppy hangs in sleep.

The lotus has an honored place in Oriental poetry. It also figures promnently in Hindoo mythology, being egarded as an emblem of the world n spite of the dreams connected with it, however, the lotus might be called he Hindoo's potato. The stalks are rom three to six feet high, full et cattered prickles. They are commonv eaten by the poor of India, who oil them in their curries. The Hindoo is very fond of the root of the lotus which is from two to three feet long. When boiled it is of a yellowish color and sweetish taste not unthe plant is from two to four inches in diameter and is also used as food ed the action of the European powers But this useful plant is also very beautiful It has a large flower from The ambassadors at Constantinople four to ten inches in diameter; the covered with a fine bloom or white powder. Sometimes whole lakes are ments this morning, and a dispatch entirely covered over with them, so that you can hardly see the water underneath. Whether white, red, or olue, the lotus presents a beautiful sight. But I fancy that the ordinary Hindoo looks upon one of those beautiful vine-clad lakes with the same tween Turkish and Montenegrin troops utilitarian joy that a Manitoba gardener looks upon a huge potato patch, whole situation and tend to frustrate But there is plenty of poetry even in a potato patch-provided you do not have to dig for the tubers.

W R. McInnes, freight traffic manager of the C. P. R., was again on the stand at this morning's session, and continued his explanation of the statement of reductions filed by the P. R. on Moneay. The volume of reductions entitled series "A" was finished with, and another entitled series "B" presented, showing a comparison between United States and Canadian rates that in many cases C. P. evidence.

M. K. Cowan, representing Alberta and Saskatchewan, objected to these statements being put in, on the ground of irrelevancy, but they were allowed to go in under protest. In reply to Mr. Chrysler's questions, Mr. McInnes gave population figures of American states where rates were higher than in the Canadian West, showing that they were much greater han these of the latter, which were comparatively thinly settled. agricultural c velopment in these states, Washington and Oregon, for instance, gave them, a larger local traffic than the C. As the result of an inquiry a 20 per cent reduction had been ordered in these rates by the States, but the Great Northern and Northern Pacific had a lawsuit against this urging that the new rates were con-

Last week the memory of the late Mrs Adelaide Hoodless, founder of Women' Institutes in Canada, was perpetuated by most interesting event at Guelph, On tario, by the unveiling of a beautiful portrait of her, and of a handsome bronze memorial tablet. Representatives of Women's institute branches from all over the province were present, as well as members from the National Council of Women, of which order Mrs. Hoodless was also an untiring worker.

An Impressing Ceremony. The ceremony, which was of a most impressive nature, took place in the assembly hall of Macdonald Institute, the unveiling being performed by Mrs. E. D. Sketch Embroidery Is Newest Notion

Have you seen the new "sketch" embroidery that is finding such wide popularity with devotees of the needle and embroidery hoop? This new form of embroidery done with very heavy cottons and a long darning needle with a large eye that will enable the worker to take long stitches on the upper side of the material in such a way as to give the appearance of having the work sketched upon the material. Only loosely woven materials should be used. It is quick and easy work, for all the embroidery is on the surface, nothing but the finishing ends coming on the under side.

Heavy linen, scrim and even burlap make pretty bed and coach covers and scarfs for bureau and dresser and curtains suitable to decorate the summer bungalow or library, bedroom or sitting-room. The effect of the finished work is somewhat like stencil drawing, but A.-1. Brush the hat thoroughly; then possesses the advantage of being washable and also of wearing well. After the design is stamped or out lined upon the material, begin at the lower right-hand corner to work, making a knot in the thread on the under side and drawing the thread through to the right side. Take a long stitch (about one-half inch), then catch up a single thread of the material, and proceed another half-inch until the opposite border of the design is reached.

This makes a straight line across the design, broken only by the tiny threads of the material. For the second line of embroidery let the thread form a little half-circle, like a picot edge, by catching up another thread in the material as you start back; then follow the first line, catching up a thread directly over the one or the first line. In this way the work proceeds until the entire design is filled in. In a leaf these stitches can be made to look like a vein; they always look attractive, no matter where they are placed. Be sure to put the materials to worked in an embroidery hoop before beginning, and then keep it stretched Conventional designs are best and Sudatta smiled at her wondering expression. He was glad to show how much he had learned in the great city.

"What do you see?" he asked. "Oh," cried Ayesa, "I see a beautiful young girl looking at me! And her lips move and she smiles. She looks just as wich, like any other simple food, can be if she were speaking. How very odd!

"Oh, thank you, thank you, for this fine mirror!" exclaimed the pretty little wife, She was delighted. For a few days she could do nothing but look into the mirror lightly with butter. This gives you three and smile when she saw the charming young girl who smiled back at her. You must remember that as this was the first Remember that all bread should be time Ayesa had seen a mirror it was also forty-eight hours old, from which you the first time she had ever seen the reflection of her own pretty face. So the quiet years passed on, and the husband and wife still lived happily togehter with their little daughter. Ayesa was growing up to be the very image of her mother, as she had promised, and she was so dutiful and affectionate a girl that every one loved her. The mother watched her little daughter grow to be young girl, unconscious of her own beauty; and, remembering her own passing vanity at finding herself so lovely, she always kept the mirror hidden away. fearing that the use of it would breed a spirit of pride in her little girl. She never spoke of the mirror, and as to the father, he had forgotten all about it. And so it happened that the daughter grew up as simple as the mother had been, knowing nothing of her good looks, nor of the mirror which would have reflected them, (To Be Continued.)

THE LION AND THE FOUNTAIN.

Perhaps you have noticed that the water in a great many public fountains, whether for man or beast, comes out of a lion's mouth. Did you ever stop to think why a lion's head should be chosen in preference to any other design? This is the reason: Among the ancient Egyptians the rising of the waters of the River Nile was the most important event of the year, as it meant life and prosperity to the whole nation. This rising of the waters always took place when the sun was in the constellation of Leo, or the lion, so they adopted the shape of a lion as the ymbol for the life-giving waters of the Nile, and all their fountains were carved with a lion's head. The Greeks and Romans copied this symbol, and so it has come down to us .- Journal of Zoophily.

The New Player-General of Baseball, Garland (Jake) Stahl---Idah McGlone RED ROWE MAY GET Gibson Interviews Red Sox Manager and Describes His Personality Off the Ball Field Local Directors Regard Him as

BY IDAH McGLONE GIBSON.

"I'd like to see Mr. Garland Stahl," I said to the hotel clerk. "Whom?" he asked, In turn. Yes, he said "whom."

"The manager of the Boston Red Sox," I explained. "Oh! You mean 'Jake' Stahl," he said. "Boy! Page 'Jake' Stahl."

In a moment a young man, who might have been anything from a banker to a professional man, came forward. His splendid physique impressed me. His straight brows and firmly-set lips gave his tanned face a look of determination, but his splendid forehead relieved it of stubbornness. His clothes were well fitting, but cut with greater breadth than the latest "form-fitting" style.

And this was Manager Garland Stahl, the man who had taken the American League championship away from the foxy Connie Mack, and who was preparing to seize the world's championship. I had come all the way to Boston to see him and write him up.

"A man whom all men and some women like," I said to myself "Have you a dual personality as well as two names?" I asked, when he came within conversational range.

"Not that I know of," he answered, somewhat puzzled. "You see, my mother named me Garland, after her family, but the boys seemed to think it was too dandified, so they hit upon Jake as the other extreme, and I have been 'Jake' ever since. As to the dual personality, you'll have to explain.

"You have no trouble dropping from a banker's life into baseball?" "I don't drop," he replied, quickly. "I consider baseball just as good business as banking, and much more healthful. It is hard to make the average person understand that to be a professional ball player one must live the most abstemious of lives, while bankers may, perhaps, be allowed a little high living occasionally. "I can take the members of the Boston club and compare them to any 22 men in commercial or professional life without the slightest fear that baseball, as a vocation, will suffer by comparison. Seven out of every ten men in the business now are college men, and college training makes the best baseball men, as a rule. "Baseball demands brainy as well as brawny men. Every year after the season closes I return to Chicago and go into the bank, and when I go south in the spring for practice, I don't drop one whit of my self-respect.

"You took the law course at Illinois University?" was my next query "How did you know?" he confessed.

"Oh, you sum up things like a college man-that's one reason I know." "Any man in the business will say the same," he rejoined. "We long ago grew tired of having our profession viewed as a 'rough neck' proposition, just as we are disgusted with 'mash notes.' "

"Then you do get 'mash notes?" I interrupted. Stahl hesitated a moment and the color mounted his face under its tan. Evidently the "mash note" confidence was one he had not intended to make; it just slipped out. Then he answered, "Not since I was married. You see, I'm married now and have a fine little boy." "Tell me why you expect to win the world's series." "I would rather wait and tell you HOW we won it," he said, with a smile that crinkled up little wrinkles all about his eyes and made him look so goodnatured that I thought, "I bet that kiddy just thinks his daddy the greatest man in the world." But I said, instead:

Joe Wood Sets New Record

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Oct. 8 .- When Joe Wood, Boston's star pitcher, urned in a season's record of thirty-four victories to five defeats, for an average of .872 last week, he set a pitching mark which has never been reached in modern times. Mathewson, however, has twice won more than 34 victories in a season. He took 35 games in 1904, and 37 in 1908. In his long career Mathewson has collected 313 victories, against 143

Meeting "Of Utmost Importance" Called By President Lynch

New York, Oct. 7. - There was much speculation in baseball circles here tonight as to the meaning of calling of a special meeting of the National League by President Lynch tonight, to be held a day or two after the close of the world series and the Chicago city series. Word of the exact date will be telegraphed to all club presidents later this week. Mr. Lynch's notice to the club president states that the snecial meeting will "be of the utmost importance to the National League." While nothing could be learned from the league officials, baseball believe the special meeting will have something to do with the recent statements of Horace S. Fogel, president of the Philadelphia club, with reference to umpires favoring the New York team in their decisions.

BRILLIANT DAY DAWNS FOR THE FIRST GAME OF BIG WORLD SERIES

Thousands of People Stay Around Gates All Night-Weather Clear and Crisp - Giants Are Daily at Grounds and Are Confident-Red Sox Pass Quiet Night-Line-Up Not Announced.

[Canadian Press.] New York, Oct. 8.—The New York Giants vs. Boston Red Sox at the Polo Grounds today. To eager and excited bim as a man who depends on snap judgment on the field and who places no dependence on premature plans of campaign.

The Red Sox are in fine fettle. Beyond the New York National League pennant ments were reported to Manager Stahl winners were to do battle with the Res. in 1889 when they won the world's winners were to do battle with the Boschampionship, is dead at his home of their organization, for the glory of the world's title. To the winners of the first four out of the seven-game series also goes the large share of the money prize, reckoned at more than $100.000.

Day broke fair and crisp. Not a cloud flecked the sky, and the weather man promised a fine afternoon for the game. Ground-Keeper Murphy looked out the field of the Polo Grounds and reported a diamond ready for fast playing. Batting Order Not Announced.

Neither of the rival managers was pre hared to announce his batting order early oday, for everything depended upon the selections for box work just before game. Should Boston send their left-hander Ray Collins to the mound in-stead of "Joe" Wood, Manager McGraw, of the Giants, will likely switch Snodtomorrow morning. Sarnia has placed a grass from centre to left field, and replace Outfielder Devore, who is weak against "southpaws," with Becker. Thus the uncertainty over the pitching selections indicated some jockeying ting orders just before the umpire-in-chief cried: "Play ball," at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The probable batting order of the teams, however, follows:

Boston — Hooper, r.f; Yerkes, 2b; Speaker, c.f; Lewis, l.f; Gardner, 3b; Stahl, 1b; Wagner, s.s; Cady or Carrigan, c; Wood, p.
New York — Devore, l.f; Doyle, 2b; Snodgrass, c.f; Murray, r.f; Merkle, 1b; Herzog, 3b; Meyers, c; Fletcher s.s; Mathewson, p. Umpires—Klem, Evans, Rigler and Women Join Crowd at Gates Near midnight this line had grown to five hundred persons. Many of them had brought camp stools and soap boxes, upon which to take an occasional sitting nap. It grew cold toward morning, and the crowd snuggled close to the high board fence along Eighth avenue to escape a biting west wind. A woman appeared in line just after midnight and was cheered. She was not long without feminine company. The trail led from the yellow gates down toward the "L" at One Hundred and Fifty-Fifth street.

The police had nothing to do but keep warm. Club officials estimated that there were four thousand people at the gates at 8 o'clock.

This early throng was formed in a line, four abreast, and when the gates were flung open there was a rush for the unreserved sections in the lower grandstand and "bleacher" seats back of the outfield. About 30,000 such seats were on sale today, the reserved seats having been previously disposed of having been previously disposed of, Glants Are Confident. The Giants are confident of the out ome of the series. The home players expect to win, but at the same time they expect to win, but at the same time they expect to be fought until the last man is put out. "No one among our boys holds the Red Sox cheap," remarked "Chief" Meyers, the Indian catcher of the first the Giants, who was one of the players to report at the clubhouse this morning. Soon after the "chief" came Mathewson, Merkle and other players, for there were spikes to be sharpened and bats and uniforms to be inspected. Few of the players were recognized in their street clothes as they edged their way through the jam at the entrance.

"We naturally expect to win," said "We naturally expect to win," said Captain Larry Doyle, the Glants' second basemen. "We'll try, of course, to make It four straight. What more can anyone say? Luck plays her part in baseball as in everything else. I have never been able to figure luck in advance. We have a fine team, one ready to make plenty of action.

"As to the Bostons. Well, they must be a good ball club to win a pennant. One hears much of their fine pitching staff, but haven't the Giants been hitting good pitchers all the year? I think we can hit Joe Wood and the other Red Sox hurlers. And it must not be forgotten that the Red Sox have yet to show whether they can hit such pitchers as Matty, Tesreau and "Rube" Mar-

Then McGraw trotted into the clubhouse and not another word on the possible outcome could anyone get out of him. McGraw has looked the Red Sox over and studied the fine points of their play, but the New York players said this morning that it was doubtful if McGraw had laid out any plan of battle in advance. They know him as a man who depends on snap Manager Stahl, of the Red Sox, had primed "Joe" Wood, his star pitcher, for duty today, but there were reports Stahl might send in Ray Collins. today, but there were reports that think our season's records will justify me in saying this much about the series with the Giants," said Stahl, "and that is, that there won't our opponents won't have to knock us down to get."

The Red Sox spent the night at Betting this morning found plenty of Boston money in sight. Bets at 8 to 5 that Boston would win if "Joe" Wood pitched today were popular with the vis-itors. At a rousing meeting last evening Rev. B. H. Spence, of Toronto, on behalf of the temperance side, and W. Rev. B. H. Spence, of Toronto, on behalf of the temperance side, and W. A. By Joe Wood, Boston's Best Twirler.

Every pitcher has his particular delivery which he banks upon to win. He probably finds it early in his baseball career. I learned that I could depend more upon the speed with which I could get the ball over the plate, than upon anything else, and so I have been nursing and perfecting my "smoke."

A great many people seem to think I ase the spitball, but I do not. I have depended entirely upon speed curves and change of pace. Last year I had 23 games to my credit out of a possible 40. This year I have been more successful, and I have relied chiefly upon my fast ball.

After all, the winning does not depend so much on the kind of delivery as the so much on the kind of delivery as the so much on the kind of delivery as the game to your team.

I do not know whether I am naturally phegmatic, but I do know that I never get rattled. My winning streak did not make me nervous.

Every pitcher has his particular detwice in a world's champlonship, I did not have the slightest feeling of nervousness. I went out determined to do my best and that is to help win the game I am playing and averages. The game I am playing is the only one in the game I am playing is the only one in the grand-stands or bleachers. I hardly know what at a could never have and onto the last of his ability and lost thought of particular the one of the season why we won the last of his ability and lost thought of the effort to perfect the teamwork Stahl demanded.

I could never have made my long run of winning games had I not been supported perfectly by the rest of the Red Sox.

This team play will be the greatest factor in winning the world's series, and if determination and team-work count is already ours.

To Keep the Hair Light and Fluffy

[From Chicago Inter-Ocean.] The proper care of the hair does not require a woman to scour her with water until a shampoo, including drying the hair, takes the better part of the day. In fact, the less soap and water used on the hair the better, as alkali and moisture tend to make the hair coarse, dull and brittle. If you want to keep the scalp clean and the hair light and fluffy, try dry shampooing. Put in a quart jar, or any other handy container, ounces of powdered orris root four ounces of therox. Stir and shake until thoroughly mixed. A beautiful cleansing powder with a delicate perfume will be the result.

Fully 10,000 people heard Sir Wilfrid's splendid speeches, and all gave him a magnificent reception. Time after time, the hall echoed with applause as he made his points and drove them home in his own forceful manner.

Address of Welcome.

On his arrival Sir Wilfrid was met by the officers of the Wellington and Grey Reform Associations, and a big procession, headed by several bands, marched to the rink after parading the main streets, which were profusely decorated. Immediately upon arriving at the rink an address of welcome was presented to the leader by J. J. Cook, president of the Mount Forest Liberal Association, who acted as chairman.

However, when defeat came, Lady Laurier told him that he must go on, and he was now enjoying himself more as a critic of the Government than he ever had as its leader. His only regret was that Canada suffered by the change.

The greatest celebration the town has ever held opened the evening proceedings. A torchlight procession by five bands, and including thou-sands of cheering people, marched to the town hall. WITNESSES TAKE STAND FOR FRITCH

Three Women and One Man Testify Favorably to the Accused Doctor.

Detroit, Oct. 8 .- Thedetence continied its fan:..gs yesterday afternoon in the second trial of Dr. George Fritch. ormerly of Drumbo, Ont., for the aleged killing of Maybelie Millinan. Four witnesses testified. Mrs. Waiter C. Drake, wife of the manager of the Gas Consumers' Association, was the first to take the stand. Her testimony corroborated that of Dr. rritch Saturday as to the doctor going to the home or her husband and bringing him down to the Gas Consumers' otnee. Also sne caned up the doctor on the afternoon of Aug. 27 and requested the doctor to see that her husband was safely brought home, she said. Assistant Prosecutor Jasnowski tried every way to shake the testimony of Mrs. Drake as to what occurred Aug. 27, but he could not get her to deviate from ner original testimony.

Mrs. Nettle McDonald, Miss Shelp, a the time of the death of Maybelle Millman, was the next witness. She corrob orated the doctor's testimony of Drake being brought to the office by Dr. Fritch on the morning of the 27th, and also of assisting Mr. Drake to the street car, as testined by the doctor when he was on the stand. Mrs. McDonald also spoke of the awnings being restored in the hallway and of the painters being at work on the outside scaffolding. Lillie Drullard next took the stand and testined that she visited the office of Dr. Fritch on the afternoon of the 27th as a patient. She said thedoctor treated her or her disability. The attorneys for the prosecution asked her if she noticed any packages or if any of the floors of the office were wet and she replied she did not. Mrs. Drullard was not positive just what took place on that day, but her testimony on the whole could not be snaken by the prosecution. Silas O. Minassa followed Mrs. Drullard. He testified to the loan he made with the doctor Aug. 26 and of his arrangement to meet Fritch the next night at about 5 o'clock to bring the notes covering the loan. His testimony corroborated that of the doctor as to his movements the night of the 27th between the hours of 5 and 5:30. Minassa was the last witness called. At the conclusion of the afternoon session Senator Murtha and Attorney Mistersky expressed themselves highly pleased at the afternoon's work.

Better Dinners

"Is dinner ready, Mary?"

"Yes, Madam-it is ready, and, I think, a great success."

"Your cooking is improving."

"Well perhaps it is, and I hope so, but really, Mrs. Housewife, I think our new Gurney-Oxford is partly responsible for the success I have had lately. I was never able to cook roasts and fowl so well on our old stove, and as for bread and biscuits, I used to tremble when I went to take them from the oven-they were so often soggy and heavy. Now they are always light and beautifully brown, and, if I do say it myself, something to be proud of."

"That's true, Mary, my husband has said almost the same thing. I'm awfully glad you approve of my choice of a Gurney-Oxford. He approves because of the saving in coal since we got it, also because of the better meals he is getting."

"Indeed he's right, Madam—and it requires so little attention."

[Canadian Press.] Brantford, Oct. 8.—There was an elec-lc moment in this morning's session f the Methodist board of missions, when Rev. Dr. George J. Its operations in both China and Japan are hampered; and sorely against its will it has been compelled to decide that lawyer and politician. Here is

The board gave hearty approval to the proposition for the appointment of three new mission superintendents, one for Alberta, one for Saskatchewan, and one for Northern Ontario and Quebec. Ald. Asplant Brings Forward Proposal For a General Investigation.

The board of works was instructed by the city council at the regular session held last night to investigate all the walks, laid in the city within the Real Estate Owners Against Annexalast five years, and on which the guarantee has not expired.

It was the intention to deal with the walks laid by Contractor Anthistle only, but the members of the counci thought that the investigation should be sweeping, and take in the work of all contractors on walks. The committee was empowered to engage an expert if it was considered advisable. Ald. Ashplant brought the question to the attention of the council, and moved that a committee, composed of Ald, Richter and Ald. Bennett from No. 1, Ald. Robinson and Ald. Bland-ford from No. 2, and Ald. Murphy and Ald, Ashplant from No. 3, be empowered to continue the investigation of the walks.

"I think a great deal can be done," said Ald. Ashplant. "I am persuaded that sidewalks have not been laid properly in the past and we should go into the matter thoroughly." No. 2 Should Investigate.

Ald. Richter expressed the opinion that the work of investigation belonged to No. 2 committee.
