A BAD RUNAWAY.

While Miss Lola Cornett, daughter of Capt. Cornett, was driving King street yesterday, the horse became frightened and bolted. Miss Cornett plucked him on and managed to guide the horse nearly the whole length of the street. Near Geo. Stephens' store another rig got in the way. The horse driven by Miss Cornett was separated from the carriage, but the young lady plucked him to the line and was pulled out over the dash-board. Miss Cornett was picked up unhurt by Reginald Miller, who happened to be driving by and was taken home. Lieut. Willoughby deserves great credit for the gallant attempt he made to stop the runaway horse. Seeing that there was a young lady driving, the Lieutenant rushed out to catch the horse. He was knocked down and the hind wheel ran over him. Mr. Willoughby was badly shaken up by his experience.

POLICE MAKE TWO ARRESTS

Old Offenders Captured on the Charge of Burglarizing the Residence of Geo. Stephens.

Arraigned Before Judge Houston this Morning Both men Plead Not Guilty.

This morning Frank Abram and John Farrell, two local characters with police court histories, were arraigned before Judge Houston charged with burglarizing the residence of George Stephens, M. P. Both pleaded not guilty. Abram elected to be tried by jury and will probably come up before Judge Bell at the June Sessions next Tuesday. Farrell elected to be tried by Judge Houston.

As mentioned in last evening's Planet, the residence of George Stephens was entered early Wednesday morning, and the sideboard stripped of silverware and linen. The stuff taken included silver knives and forks, sugar bowls, cruets and trays. The family of Mr. Stephens were up till about one o'clock Wednesday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Thrasher and a few other guests being present. The robbers must have entered early in the morning.

Shortly after three o'clock, when going to work yesterday morning, Frank Brundage noticed two men coming from the direction of George Stephens' residence. One of the men was in his stocking feet, and the other was dressed like a plasterer. When they saw Mr. Brundage they both crossed the road and took to their heels. Yesterday afternoon, Frank Abram was noticed hanging around a shed at the wagon works. The fact was reported to Foreman Anderson and he examined the shed and found the silverware and linen stolen from Mr. Stephens' residence concealed among some lumber in the shed.

The police were notified and at 6 o'clock, P. C. Deszila went up and hid in the shed. About 8 o'clock the officer heard the gate at one end of the shed open, but could see nothing. Pretty soon the gate at the other end opened and Abram slipped in. He was securing the booty when Officer Deszila covered him with a revolver and ordered the young man to throw up his hands. He obeyed and, after searching him for weapons, the officer took him to the police station. He then went on a hunt for Abram's

THOUSAND AGAINST SIXTY ODDS AGAINST GARRISON

But Twenty-Seven Boers Were Killed and Wounded ere the Little Company Surrendered—Col. White's Column Drives Boers Back.

Cape Town, June 5.—The garrison of Jamestown, Cape Colony, which surrendered to Kritzinger's command on Sunday, June 2, numbered sixty men in all. Kritzinger's force is estimated to have totalled one thousand men. The British killed twelve and wounded fifteen Boers before they were overpowered by numbers.

KRITZINGER'S COMMAND DRIVEN BACK.

At 10 North, Cape Colony, Tuesday, June 4.—Colonel White's column came in contact with Kritzinger's command northeast of Jamestown on June 3, drove the Boers back, captured fifty horses and some munitions, and recovered the stores looted from Jamestown.

THE WEEK'S OPERATIONS.

Cape Town, June 5.—The Prime Minister, Sir Gordon Sprigg, issued his weekly report yesterday. It reads as follows:—

"The enemy vacated their position in the Konhard district.

"A party of Scheepers' men attacked Willowmore. The attack was repulsed. Our casualties were five colored men killed and one wounded.

"The Boer invaders in the eastern area have been kept moving around Murrayburg. Lategan, who was closely pursued by Gorrings, has been driven into the Bamboes mountains, and has effected a junction with Commandant Kritzinger. The combined force is estimated to number 700, which is the force which captured Wode-house's Yeomanry in the Molteno district. The guard drove off a superior force of the Boers, wounding six. Our casualties were nil. Afterwards Lategan was reinforced by 400 men from a point south-west of Venterstad, near which place the enemy were in considerable numbers. The British movements are considerably hampered by sleet and rain storms.

"One hundred and fifty Boers have been located in the neighborhood of Fish River station. Commandant Malan is still in the Maraisburg district, with about seventy followers. "The invaders are attacking Jamestown."

"The Boer prisoners now number 18,648."

HANGED TWO BOERS.

London, June 5.—The Cape Town correspondent of the London Express, in a letter to that paper, relates a rather startling story about the Strathconas, which he claims has never been printed before.

It appears, as the story goes, a party of the Strathconas, being fired upon from a farm house where the Union Jack and a white flag were flying, searched the farm, and found two Boers hidden in a disused well. The Strathconas decided to hang them. The pair were hung up to a near-by tree. A staff officer happened to ride upon the scene, and decided that the two men be cut down, but the Strathconas refused to obey the order. The officer was furious with "rage, and tried to cut the rope with a jack-knife, but before he could cut the rope a voice said: "Look here, there's room for three to swing on that beam." The officer turned around to go his way, but he was brought face to face with twenty stern, rough faces, and left the house.

TORONTO'S DESPERATE TRIO FOUND GUILTY OF ROBBERY

Rice, Rutledge and Jones Convicted of the Aurora P. O. Burglary Sentence Deferred—Will now be Tried for the Shooting of Constable Boyd.

Toronto, June 5.—There was a great crowd of citizens in the court this morning when the trial of the Aurora Bank robbers was resumed. The vicinity of the court room was carefully guarded in view of the murder yesterday of County Constable Boyd, and the knowledge that the prisoners' confederate is still at large, and in a position again to attempt a rescue. Rice and Rutledge were in the dock, the former with his head swathed in bandages, while both were dejected and careworn in appearance. Jones was not in court, his wounds having proved too serious, and in his absence, Mr. Robinson, counsel for the three men, said he was not in a position to ask either for a postponement of the trial on the charge of breaking into the Ross Bank at Aurora and the Post Office, or that the case should go on. The Crown relieved him of his difficulty. Judge McDougall said he had authority under section 660 of the Code to provide that the trial could go on in Jones' absence, and the hearing was thereupon resumed. Mr. Robinson announced that he would call no witnesses for the defence, and Crown Attorney Dewart began his address against the prisoners.

It is expected that a verdict will be reached to-night.

The judge summed up with a leaning against the prisoners, and at 4.50 the case went to the jury. In fifty minutes they returned with a verdict that on the morning of May 23, 1900, Fred L. Rice, Frank Rutledge and Thomas Jones robbed the post office at Aurora.

On behalf of Rutledge and Rice, counsel entered a plea of guilty of breaking into and robbing the Ross Bank at Aurora on the same occasion, and taking $681. Jones was not present, having while this was going on, been on the operating table at the General Hospital, where his right arm, shattered by a constable's bullet during the attempt to escape, was amputated. It will, however, be unnecessary to try him on the charges to which Rice and Rutledge pleaded.

Judgment was deferred until the Sessions end, and in the meantime the trial will be arranged on the charge of shooting Constable Boyd while trying to escape from their guards last night.

Rice, who fired the fatal shot seems to be an all-round criminal. He is supposed to have killed a man during a robbery in Chicago. The following is his police record as given out today by Crown Attorney Curry:—The appearance of the prisoner, Fred Lee Rice, does not give any indication of the extent of his criminal career. His home is in Champagne, Ill., where it was strongly suspected that he was implicated in two bank robberies. He appears to have begun his criminal career by running away from home after having forged his father's name for $500. After this he went to South America and was gone several months. One of his next escapades was to forge his uncle's name for $1,000 at the Champlain National Bank. He turned up later in Colorado, where he again forged a man's name and was sent to the penitentiary for three years. He served nearly the full term in the penitentiary of Canon City, Colorado, and was out about seven months when the gang made their appearance at Toronto. One of his misdeeds, for which he was never prosecuted, was connected with the purchase of stock, having got his father to purchase a lot of stock of the Phoenix Telegraph Company. Rice afterwards sold about $12,000 worth of land off for a house in Decatur, Ind. It turned out afterwards that the house was mortgaged for more than it was worth, so that his father lost the $12,000.

The inquest to-night into the death of Constable Boyd was begun. Evidence was submitted by Constable Stewart, who swore that he saw the prisoner Rice put a revolver to Boyd's head and fire. Immediately afterwards the officer fell forward unconscious. The inquest was adjourned until next Tuesday, to give the police an opportunity of discovering the accomplices of the prisoners who threw the revolver with which the shooting was done, into the cab. The prisoner Jones, whose wounded arm was amputated to-day, is doing well. The woman, Vina, who followed the prisoners from Chicago, was arrested this morning, the charge being vagrancy. The real reason for holding her, however, is suspected complicity in the desperate attempt of the prisoners to escape. The woman gives the name of Vina Sadie, latterly of Chicago. She was born in Barrie, and is 27 years of age.

BIG DOINGS ON DOMINION DAY

Preparations for a Gigantic local Celebration on July First

Well-Attended and Enthusiastic Meeting of Citizens Organize for Work—Committees Drafted.

Last evening a very enthusiastic and energetic meeting of the celebration committee was held in the parlor of the C. P. R. Hotel, among whom were the following: His Worship Mayor Sulman, ex-Mayor Carpenter, Messrs. Ed. Snook, Merrill, W. O'Brien, John Liddy, Tennant, Burk, Judson, Crozier, John Watt, W. W. Scane, Sheldon, Landon, A. T. Macdonald, W. E. Hamilton, D. J. Macdonald, J. Thompson, G. Meynard, O'Keefe, Mr. O'Keefe was elected chairman and Mr. W. E. Hamilton vice. tem. secretary.

A resolution was carried unanimously that a public meeting be held in the old Town Hall on Friday next in the old Town Hall on Friday next for a Dominion Day celebration on Monday, July 1st.

Moved by Mayor Sulman, seconded by ex-Mayor Carpenter, that seven special committees be appointed with reference to the forthcoming celebration, namely, Finance, Printing, Sports, Music and Reception, Procession, Fireworks, and Decoration committees.

The above carried, as also the following draft of committees, moved by W. W. Scane, seconded by J. Carpenter:—

Finance—Sheldon, O'Keefe, A. T. Macdonald, G. Heyward, John Watt, John Pleasance. Printing—W. W. Scane, Austin, G. Cowan, Ed. Snook, Ben. Stone. Sports—J. S. Black, F. Cairns, J. Thompson, Albert Merrill, F. Quinn. Music and Reception—Lieut.-Col. J. B. Rankin, Dr. Hall, Jno. Figgott, Sr., Landon, Sulman and Stephens, M. P. Procession—W. O'Brien, G. Meynard, Jno. Liddy, Jno. Glasford, A. McCoig. Decoration—Judson, Ald. Pritchard, Blithe, Meynard, Felder, Darling.

On motion of Carpenter and Watt it was decided that committees should have power to add to their numbers. It was also arranged that the various committees should meet and report progress and also funds severally required.

Mr. Judson made an excellent suggestion that in view of Dominion Day falling on Monday and hence impracticability of decorating during Sunday special work should be finished so far as possible by Saturday, which would be a splendid advertisement to the farmers of the scale and magnitude of the day's doings which they would see on the coming Monday.

The committees have been well selected and intend to collect $2,000 so that this shall break all records for Dominion celebrations. It remains only for the public to do their part by liberal subscriptions.

All the committees would be thankful for suggestions, for which we shall cheerfully find space in our columns.

THE LABOR GAZETTE.

This publication of the Dominion Government, in its issue of last May, gives the following for Chatham and district:—Labor market fairly active with very encouraging outlook for prosperous season, merchants reporting trade as very good, building contractors and architects busy, and favorable reports from cigar makers, brick makers, blacksmiths, printers, painters, paper hangers and tailors working over-time. Wages: Stove mounters 20 cents per hour, 60 hours per week, average weekly wages $12, over-time 1-4; brass moulders, 22-1-2 cents per hour, 55-1-2 hours per week, average weekly wages, $13.50, over-time 1-4; brass finishers, 20 cents per hour, 55-1-2 hours and weekly average $12.00, over-time 1-4; cornice makers and tinsmiths, same as last. Unskilled labor, 10, 12-1-2 per hour, 1-4 over-time, average weekly wages, $6.

Some important labor legislation has been carried through in the last session of the Ontario Legislature. A penalty against employer of $500 fine with costs or 12 months in common jail, follows neglect to provide fire escapes in factories and the same for neglect to furnish sanitary conveniences for shop hands.

A WORD TO CANADIAN YOUTH.

The Hamilton Herald gives some Canadian talk in a short article that will commend itself to Canadians generally.

Every now and then we find glowing references in Canadian papers to the successful careers of Canadians like S. R. Callaway and James J. Hill and Senator McMillan, who have gone to the States and achieved wealth and high position there, says the Herald. Canadian youth, reading these stories, are too apt to get the idea that the States are a land of promise to Canadians, where it is much easier to "get on" than it is at home. Thousands of Canadian lads have been lured across the border by just such glittering prospects, and have learned by bitter experience that success is as hard to achieve in foreign countries as at home. You don't hear of the tens of thousands of Canadians now in the States who are living a hand-to-hand existence—worse off, probably than they would have been if they had stayed at home. You hear only of the very few exceptionally successful careers of men who would have been successful at home if they had remained in the land of their birth.

For every Canadian who has done exceptionally well in the United States, an American could be named who has done exceptionally well in Canada. Messrs. Callaway and Hill are Canadians who occupy high positions in the American railway world; but Sir William VanHorne and Mr. Shaughnessy are both of them Americans. Mr. McMillan is an old Hamilton boy, who has fought his way into the U. S. Senate. But the late W. E. Sanford was an American boy, who came to live in Hamilton, stayed here, and became a Senator of the Dominion.

Brains and energy will win their way right here at home as well as in the States; and when it happens that a young Canadian gets on better across the line than he did at home the reason, in nine cases out of ten, is that when he finds himself dependent upon his own resources alone he realizes the necessity of buckling to work as he never realized it while he was among friends to whom he could look for assistance.

Ambitious young Canadians should be encouraged to stay at home, concludes the Herald. There is going to be very soon a development of Canadian resources on a very large scale, and this country will present bright prospects of advancement for its sons than they will find in any other country.

INTERNATIONAL POLICE.

There is an interesting gathering of very worth and well meaning persons held every year at an attractive spot known as Lake Mohonk. They are earnest philanthropists, who aim at doing away with war and substituting arbitration. The seventh session has just been held, for lack of success in getting the world to follow the conference's usually excellent advice does not prevent the annual gathering.

This year they have gone a step farther than before in admitting the necessity for force being used to preserve peace. They hold that all courts must have officials charged with the duty of seeing the behests of the court carried out. Therefore, they advocate an international police force. One speaker, on behalf of this proposal, held that if such a force were in existence they could suppress the unspeakable Turk and Armenian atrocities would become impossible. We have a sample of an international police force suppressing the Chinese just now, and the awful outrages against common humanity some of these "constables" have been guilty of makes one hope that there will never again be such an aggregation. The spectacle the world was treated to on Saturday, of five of the international policemen engaged in a deadly combat with two hundred of the force, to prevent the two hundred indulging in their favorite occupation of house-breaking, murder and other outrage, was highly edifying.

It is a grave question whether it would not be less injurious to the cause of civilization to allow the Chinese to go unpunished as far as paying indemnity is concerned, for the rough and bloody way in which they sought to assert their disapproval of having golf played over the bones of their fathers, than to have any continuance of such an international disgrace as the occupation of China by the allies has proved.

Let us hope all the police force may now be disbanded without any further varying the occupation of murdering Chinese by murdering each other.

A DISGUSTING EXHIBITION.

Prof. George D. Herron, founder of a new "social apostolate" and an ex-Congregational clergyman, and Miss Carrie Rand, were married by a unique ceremony in New York recently. Herron and his bride entered the room where a few friends were assembled, when the professor said: "My friends, I have chosen Miss Rand to be my companion." Then Miss Rand said: "I have chosen Mr. Herron to be my companion." That was the end of the ceremony. Neither of them believe in conventional marriages. Herron, by the way, was released from duress vile by the first wife on March 22 last, when she was granted a divorce and the custody of her four children in an undefended suit against the professor. Miss Rand founded a chair of "Applied Christianity" in the College of Grinnell, Ia., some time ago for Herron to fill. The only wedding present was the gift to the bride of a New Jersey farm where a bunch of socialists and anarchists will hurry along the millenium by the cultivation of potatoes and berries. The new Detroit paper To-Day fittingly characterizes the above exhibition thus:

"The marriage performance of Prof. George D. Herron and his new wife is one of the most disgusting exhibitions which our country has noticed for a long time. Here is a man who has abandoned his faithful wife and young children to take up with his 'elective affinity,' who is to assist him in the regeneration of the world and the bringing in of a new gospel."

"As one reads the nauseating language of the officiating minister, declaring that there is something about this union which proclaims its inherent divinity, and that the oneness of these two human souls 'no more begins to-day than God does,' that it has no beginning and can have no end; and then remembers the deserted mother and worse than fatherless little ones thousands of miles away, language fails. One's gorge rises in disgust so that, even though words were adequate, power is lacking to give them utterance."

Dr. Courtice, editor of the Christian Guardian, is willing to admit that he doesn't know it all now, although he was quite sure, six years ago, when he became editor, that he knew it all then. He complains about the hardship of the editorial position. And he has had to please only one denomination! If he had to please everybody he might have reason for complaint.

A touching evidence of the affectionate esteem with which Queen Victoria was held by those outside the Empire was shown by the action of people in Tampa, Florida. On the 24th of May a wreath of magnolia leaves, gathered from trees which had been planted each year, on the Queen's birthday, was sent to England to be placed on Victoria's tomb. The tree-planting had been carried on for ten years before the Queen's death, and the means the people took of celebrating Victoria Day was most befitting.

Dear Sir,—In answer to your query as to my experience with the Gas Range, I am pleased to state that, from a number of years' experience, I find it the cheapest and best fuel I can get.
As for convenience, it is always ready in an instant. In summer the kitchen is practically as cool as any other part of the house, which is one of the few blessings we are able to get without extra cost. It has practically no objectionable features.
I would be pleased if you are able to use this in rescuing some good wife from roasting her life away in a hot kitchen, where wood is used during summer. I remain, Yours truly,

A PERSEVERING MONKEY.

Professor Garner's Story of Nellie and the Matchbox.
Monkeys are always happy if they have plenty to eat and something to play with. Professor R. L. Garner, in his "Apes and Monkeys," says that he recalls no treatment which ever yielded a greater return in pleasure than a certain little pocket match safe, which cost 25 cents. He gave it to a little monkey, Nellie by name, after putting into it a small key to make it rattle and some bits of candy.

She rattled the box and found much pleasure in the noise. I showed her how to press the spring in order to open the box, but her little black fingers were not strong enough to release the spring.
However, she caught the idea and knew that the spring was the secret which held the box closed. When she found that she could not open it with her fingers, she tried it with her teeth. Falling in this, she turned to the wall, standing upright on the top of her cage, she took the box in both hands and struck the spring against the wall until the lid flew open.
She was perfectly delighted at the result, and for the hundredth time at least I closed the box for her to open it again.

The next time Nellie received the match safe she was in her cage, and through its meshes she could not reach the wall. She had nothing against which to strike the spring to force it open.
After looking around and striking the box several times against the wires of the cage, she discovered a block of wood about six inches square. She took this and mounted her perch. Balancing the block on the perch, she held it with the left foot, while with the right foot she clung to the perch. With her tail wound around the meshes of the cage to steady herself, she carefully adjusted the matchbox in such a manner as to protect her fingers from the blow. Then she struck the spring against the block of wood, and the lid flew open.
She fairly screamed with delight as she held up the box.

There was a deep, sepulchral silence for some moments. It was broken by hesitating, constrained voice of the young man: "She has."

Can You Blame Her

If at last she tires of the fault finding of a dyspeptic husband and leaves him! The worst of the dyspeptic is that he does not realize his own meanness. His world is entirely out of perspective. Dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition are perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures the worst forms of the disease. It cures when all other medicines have failed to benefit. Accept no substitute for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. There is no other medicine for the stomach, blood and lungs, which can show so wide and wonderful a record of cures. It always helps. It almost always cures.

"I can say to you, one bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has cured me sound and well after suffering two long years with stomach disease," writes Mr. W. H. Braxwell, of McAdenville, Gaston Co., North Carolina. "My health is worth all the world to me. I will praise you as long as I live."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, in paper binding, is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only, or if cloth-bound volume is desired send 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Dresden grain buyers pay better prices for grain than Thamesville. Nothing helps a town more than a good buyer. Wm. Lesson has started his new house.

ANTICOSTI.

A St. John's Journalist Thinks the Island Too Isolated to Be a Danger Point for Canada.

P. T. McGrath, of The Evening Herald, St. John's, Nfld., discusses the feeling of apprehension that Anticosti Island, for overt purposes against the peace and security of the Dominion, and that it may eventually fall into the hands of France, and become a positive menace to British prestige at Canada's eastern gateway. He recalls the circumstance that in 1899 the warship Alert was despatched by Mr. Chamberlain to make a thorough examination of the island from a military and naval standpoint. After the return of the Alert from her mission the whole subject was gone into at a conference in St. John's, the result being embodied in a report to Mr. Chamberlain in which the principal findings were as follows:

1. For the winter months—January, February, March and April—Anticosti is cut off from all communication with the outer world by the ice floes which cover the Gulf of St. Lawrence.
2. During the eight months when Anticosti is safely approachable, by the navigability of the Gulf, the island suffers from the lack of safe harbors.
3. Anticosti has and can have no other system of cable and telegraphic communication save what it enjoys at present by connection with the Canadian wires in the Province of Quebec and their extension by cable from the mainland at Gaspé to Ellis Bay.

4. To obtain unobstructed access to the island would be a task of extreme difficulty for a French fleet even in war time, unless the British navy had been previously swept from the seas.

5. The construction of forts, and the arming of them in particular, would be next to impossible at Anticosti without the British Government becoming aware of the fact.

6. Another difficulty, and one of prime importance, is that comprehensive in the inability of Anticosti to provide an adequate supply of coal for the use of a naval squadron using it as a base. So far, no coal has been found on the island, and stocks for commercial use would have to be brought from Cape Breton.

RAINY RIVER DISTRICT.

Sixty Thousand Acres of Free Grant Lands There for a Settlement.

Sixty thousand acres of free grant lands in the Rainy River district are now open for settlement. Any male head of a family or sole female head, having a child, or children, under 18 years of age, may locate 160 acres at least 16 by 20 feet in size, and must continuously reside on the land for three years after location. If the 160 acres additional is purchased, at least 15 acres of it must be put under cultivation within three years. Patents may issue at the expiration of three years from date of purchase, or sooner if settlement duties have been performed. Minerals and pine timber are reserved to the Government, but the homestead may use such pine trees as may be needed for building, fencing, and fuel, and may sell such pine trees as may be necessary removed in the process of clearing, but must pay timber dues on all pine timber sold. All timber remaining on the land when patents issue passes to the patentee. These lands are very fertile and covered by a dense forest, generally of valuable timber. The Ontario and Rainy River Railroad, now nearing completion, runs through this block of land and brings it within easy reach of markets. This railroad is a link of the Canadian Northern system, which within the next six or eight months will have a continuous line from Port Arthur, on Lake Superior, to Winnipeg, and thence 300 miles northwest.

A Strange Bird Visitor.
A swallow-tailed kite, the only one, so far as is known, that has been captured in Canada, was shot by a local taxidermist at Highland Creek Heights, near Port Union, on Tuesday. The kite proved to be a magnificent specimen, and will be enjoyed by all collectors. It measured 20 inches from the bill to the tip of its long forked tail, and about 40 inches from tip to tip of its long wings. The kite is a bird of prey belonging to the hawk family, and it is thought that it was driven out of its course by the great storm which raged last week from Georgia north to Ontario. The only record of any previous appearance of a swallow-tailed kite in this Province is to be found in Mackleworth's "Birds of Ontario," in which it is stated that one was observed perching on a flagpole in the City of Ottawa. The bird shot at Highland Heights had a pure white head, black back with metallic reflections, a white breast, and pale pea green legs. Highland Creek Heights, being the highest bluff along the lake, is a favorite landing-place for birds which cross the lakes, and is famous as a stopping point for fish hawks. At the crest of the heights is a river oak, which is evidently a landmark for the winged travelers.

Fix It Somehow.
A man has written in from the Temiscamingue country asking for 160 acres of land because he has a baby that is the first white child born in that region, but Mr. Southworth says there is no provision for making such a grant. Fix it somehow, exclaims the Toronto Star, and give the child the land, the father to hold it in trust until the youngster is 18. By that time the father will probably have it cleared and fixed up so that the boy can see it, go into town with the money, and cut a dash for a couple of months.

from taking the Blenheim burglar to Kingston.

By special request Rev. J. J. Ross will repeat his sermon upon "Seventh Dayism, Is it Biblical?" next Sunday evening when Seventh Day Adventists and all others interested in the question are cordially invited to be present.

Rev. T. H. Cornish, of this city, was ordained to the pastorate of the Baptist church at Pontiac on Tuesday.
Rev. J. J. Ross, of this city, was upon the examining council and delivered the charge to the church. The church extended a warm welcome to the new pastor.

The police have got track of the robbers who entered the residences in the vicinity of Laocox and Wellington streets. They are two unknown young fellows and the parties who saw them have given excellent descriptions to the police. One is about 16 years old and wore a brown hat and black suit, the other was a lad of 13. They made an attempt last week to enter the residence of Mr. Bartlett on Raleigh street, but were unsuccessful. The police, although they have excellent descriptions, are at a loss to identify the two burglars.

The meeting of the Sunday School Teachers and Church Workers of the Deane-ry of Kent, held in Christ great success.

things in W. A. work," which was listened to by about 50 ladies.

At 2.30 a paper by Mr. E. Beattie, Highgate, on "The responsibility of the layman" was read, and fully discussed.

At 3.30 Rev. W. R. George read a paper, and at 3.30 Rev. M. G. Freeman read a paper on "Discipline," both of which elicited considerable discussion.

The election of officers resulted as follows:
President—Rev. R. McCosh.
Vice-President—Rev. R. Sims.
Secretary—Miss Groves.

Cor. Sec.—Rev. W. R. George.
In the evening divine service was held in Christ church, and addresses were given by Rev. Mr. Dobson, on
"The Church's mission," and Rev. Mr.
George on "Loyalty." Both these addresses were carefully prepared and contained much food for thought, as well as cause for rejoicing. The delegates desire to extend their most hearty thanks for the kind treatment extended, and the liberal repast prepared for them by the ladies of the congregation.

About 20 delegates were in attendance. The next meeting will be held in Tilbury.

PROSPECTING KENT.

County Commissioner Rankin drove Electric R. R. Promoter Plummer out through Dover yesterday. They went through Kent and then by the Winter line to Mitchell's Bay. There Messrs Glover, Kline, James Murphy
and C. W. Raymond entertained Mr.
Plummer, and took him for a sale over to St. Anne's Island. Mr. Plummer returned by the 13th concession and Dover Centre to the home of Francis Rankin, where he spent the night. This morning, they came in by the Bear line to the Town Hall, thence across the 5th concession to the town line. Mr. Plummer considered Dover one of the finest farming countries he had ever been through. He says that the crops are away ahead of those in Eastern Ontario. He is quite favorably impressed with Dover for the location of an electric railroad.

This afternoon Geo. Stephens and Mayor Sullivan drove Mr. Plummer through Southern Kent. They will leave him with Mr. Hickey at Merlin, who will drive him as far as Comber to-morrow.

LIFE.

The poet's exclamation: "O Life I feel thee bounding in my veins," is a joyous one. Persons that can rarely or never make it, in honesty to themselves, are among the most unfortunate. They do not live, but exist; for to live implies more than to be. To live is to be well and strong—to live feeling equal to the ordinary duties of the day, and to retire not overcome by them—to feel life bounding in the veins. A medicine that has made thousands of people, men and women, well and strong, has accomplished a great work, bestowing the richest blessings, and that medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. The weak, rundown, or debilitated, from any cause, should not fail to take it. It builds up the whole system, changes existence into life, and makes life more abounding. We are glad to say these words in its favor to the readers of our columns.

Don't Forget About Your Corns

If they give you pleasure and you have them as an adornment don't apply Purnam's Painless Corn and Wart Extractor for in twenty-four hours they would be entirely removed and their beauty destroyed. Now, this is known to nearly everybody, including your druggist; ask him if it is not so.

MISPAH.

Go thou thy way, and I go mine; Apart, yet not afar; Only a thin veil hangs between The pathways where we are, And "God keep watch 'tween thee and me!"

This is my prayer, He looks thy way, He looks mine, And keeps us near.

I know not where thy road may lie, Or which way mine will be; If mine will lead through parching sands And thine beside the sea; Yet God keeps watch 'tween thee and me.

He holds thy hand, He clasps mine, And keeps us near.

I sigh sometimes to see thy face, But since this may not be, I'll leave thee to the care of Him, Who cares for thee and me.

"I'll keep you both beneath my wings." This comforts, dear, One wing of thee and one of me; So we are near. —F. R. Havergal.

A Little Bit of Braid.

She turned her head very slightly, so that the man behind her caught the narrowing of her eyes with sudden anger, and the tilting of her rounded chin.

"Clumsy!" she said in a voice ringing with scorn. She caught up her skirt, just raising it from the ground, and hastened on. But she threw a few more or less acceptable home thrusts over her shoulder as she went on.

"I can't think what you have been doing with yourself lately. Not improving, anyway. And you won't get on in the direction you are taking, I can assure you. It makes me very doubtful as to the truth of all your yarns of conquest—they are just what I took them for—fairly tales, every one! For no girl would be tame enough to be trampled on, if that is your habit. You could not be so blind as that."

She gave the offending skirt, with the loop of braid dangling uncomfortably, a further hitch. She had the faintest inkling that she was making her altogether—and the man following her made no objection.

It was, indeed, his continued silence she seized on next to misconstrue. "At least," she said, with sisterly straightforwardness, "you might apologize."

They had reached the landing stage where the boat was moored. The girl proceeded to take her place in the calmness and ease which only comes to her sex through practice and long suffering. She was seated with the ropes in her hands before she had looked up at the man who had followed her—into the boat by this time.

"Now let me see the stroke which takes captive your best girls," she was saying, and then her eyes met his.

Though it would have seemed more appropriate that he should be the one to blush, it was to her cheeks the color mounted. She actually hesitated before she spoke.

So he was given the opportunity of speaking, and by this time he availed himself, willingly. "I do apologize," he said, "very humbly." His manner and the laughter in his eyes did not, however, accord wholly with such an attitude.

"Well—really!" she began, but he interrupted her. "I will go further—you will grant it is a long way further—I will explain."

"There seems room for it." "He was a genius at seizing his chances. He took her words as a concession and dipped his sculls into the water at the same time.

"I shall be able to talk so much better when we are moving," he said artfully. "I fancy my stroke may prove as worthy of comment as your brother's," he added. He was still smiling, and he noted, with growing satisfaction, that so was she.

"Well, of all the—" "And you do not even know who I am! Check! Oh, don't be hard. Luck—if you like. I am proverbially lucky. I am not to blame for that, am I?"

Your brother told you he was expecting his college chum, Charles Dean? I was just coming along—neither of you saw me. I heard you send him back for your cape," he paused, with sudden compunction.

"You are not cold?" he questioned, anxiously. "I forgot, and have nothing in the way of a wrap to offer you."

"No, I am not cold," she said, as stiffly as she could. "You walked on, you know, and then temptation seized me. An evil spirit disguised, most charmingly disguised, as a piece of braid! And I could not resist it. I was only afraid you would think I had been suspiciously quick—for a brother."

"I wasn't thinking," she admitted, blushing. "The mood for confession grew on him. "Or that you might look around!" said he.

"No, don't say it! Hear me out first, honestly. I was not entirely actuated by motives of mere selfishness, as might at first appear. I put it to myself like this: Here is a charming girl going to spend a most perfectly delightful summer afternoon on the river, with no more exciting companion than the brother she has known from her earliest days; whose thoughts are as open to her as her own; who hasn't a peculiarity, or a virtue, left undiscovered. I argued with myself about it. Should I let such a paltry pretext as the lack of an introduction prevent me from giving this girl a treat?"

"Oh," she cried, "you really are!" "Yes," he said. "It stands to reason even as a study, a sort of unexplored continent, so to speak, a strange young man, in such a case, must present himself in the light of an acquisition."

Her eyes were dancing. "Why don't you say such an exceedingly nice young man, while you are about it?" she asked, mockingly.

"I will go one better," said he, "with your permission. Such an exceptionally nice pair!" And he bowed. "Oh, you are dreadful—dreadful!" But she did not say it as a fact to be deplored. She looked away from the soft summer landscape, down to the edge of the serge skirt with its trimmings of braid and the tassel loop.

"They do sew those so insecurely," she said. "Haven't you a pin to spare?"

"It seems almost a pity," said he, while she busied herself over it; "but I suppose it will be just as well now."

The afternoon was, as he had said, delightful, and his swift stroke left nothing to be desired. It was not cold, after all, and she never gave another thought to the cape until she saw it, when at last they got back, heading deserted on the bathhouse door, where her brother had left it when he arrived there to find her vanished.

The brother and sister were very alike in disposition and took things lightly and as they came. So he never openly resented her desertion—perhaps, as her new friend pointed out, too, had his more than adequate compensation.

She called it, in her kindest moods, an anticipation, but he maintained that he gave the incidents its most appropriate title when he named it a "forerunner." And this it was.

The weather favored them, and his visit lengthened from a week's end to a week and more. Ample time for a man of such ready methods to win for himself a girl not indisposed to be won. Thus his visit to the brother ended in his marriage with the sister—an old tale, but often a very pleasant one.

It was later in the season, and boating interests had given way to the necessity of stock taking in fashionable wearing apparel and discussions on the relative merits of new and antique furniture.

"I could almost wish," she said sweetly, "that it was possible to trim a white satin wedding dress with braid in a sort of squiggly pattern of loops and turns."

"If you contemplate having one loop pendant to trip me up during the ceremony," he said laughing, "I am off!" "Then perhaps it is just as well to reserve braid for a trimming for serge and cloth," she said.

Wiles of the Fox.

A fox is entitled to all that is said for its wisdom and sagacity. Not long ago the Washington hunt of Valley Forge started a young fox in the North Valley hills, and the hounds were running it across the open field, when the hunters were surprised to see a much larger fox come from the woods and run diagonally across the track of the young fox ahead of the hounds, and when they struck the stronger track of the bigger fox they took it up, and Reynard thereby being saved from being run down and killed by the hounds.

Old hunters say they have frequently witnessed this trick when young foxes were being closely pursued and in danger of being run down and killed by the hounds. Another and even sharper trick was played by an old fox some weeks ago while being hotly chased by hounds. The fox had run some twenty miles, and, while crossing an open stretch of country, was in danger of being run down and killed in a field through which the fox was running. The hounds were close to its heels was the cellar of an old house, with a portion of the walls still standing.

The fox made straight for the old cellar, and, having entered it, made its escape through a narrow opening in the walls. The hounds, supposing the fox was trapped, dashed into the cellar pell mell to find Reynard gone and themselves in a hole as the hole in the wall through which the fox had escaped was too small to permit them to get through.

When the hunters rode up they found the pack in a trap, and one of the hounds wedged fast in the hole through which the fox had made its escape. By the time the hounds were got out, the fox was safe in its hole.—Philadelphia Times.

Revival of Honiton Lace.

Philanthropic women have been interesting themselves recently in the revival of Honiton lace and in organizing regular bands of workers in and around Honiton. It is becoming a common thing to see the women sitting in their cottages doors in the evening busy with their cushions and bobbins, or, as they call them in untechnical parlance, "sticks." A great deal of the work they do is effective enough, even if coarse in pattern, but being made in haste it finds a ready market, though by no means of the delicate workmanship for which Honiton lace was once famous.

Some of the women, on the contrary, have attained a high degree of excellence and produce some lovely sprays. As a rule the cottagers themselves do not make up the flowers, etc., into collars, cuffs or ties, but sell them direct to a woman who mounts them and sends them to London and elsewhere for sale. Most of the women seem only to work at their pillows at odd times, in the same way as cottagers do elsewhere at knitting or crochet.

The people of Devon, who prided themselves upon the beautiful lace once produced there, are rejoiced at its revival. Many of them look back with regret to the days when the queen's wedding veil was made at Beer, and when no bride would have thought her trousseau complete without some costly examples of Honiton lace.

Couldn't Fool Nettie.

Little Nettie was learning to read, and part of her lesson ran thus: "The cat has a rat, the rat has a cat." "Huh!" she exclaimed, "the man who wrote this book didn't know much. Cats don't have rats; they have kittens."—Kansas City Star.

Sure Proof.

A Golf Insult.

Ida—Elmore received a terrible insult this morning.

May—What was it? Ida—Why, an old lady saw the handle of his golf clubs peering from the bag and asked him how much he would charge to mend an umbrella.—Boston Post.

Feminine Failing.

A Missouri country woman recently had her husband arrested for cruelty. He had beaten her severely, and the judge sentenced her to hammer her rock for the benefit of the county. When he went to work on the next morning his wife was on hand with an umbrella to keep the sun off him while he chopped up big stones into little ones with a hammer.—Exchange.

NO ARGUMENT NEEDED.

Every Sufferer From Catarrh Knows That Salves, Lotions, Washes, Sprays and Douches do Not Cure.

Powders, lotions, salves, sprays and inhalers cannot really cure Catarrh, because this disease is a blood disease, and local applications, if they accomplish anything at all, simply give transient relief.

The catarrhal poison is in the blood and the mucous membrane of the nose, throat and trachea tries to remove the system by secreting large quantities of mucus, the discharge sometimes closing up the nostrils, dropping into the throat, causing deafness by closing the Eustachian tubes, and after a time causing catarrh of stomach or serious throat and lung troubles.

A remedy to really cure catarrh must be an internal remedy which will cleanse the blood from catarrhal poison and remove the fever and congestion from the mucous membrane.

The best and most modern remedies for this purpose are antiseptics scientifically known as Eucalyptol, Guaiacol, Sanguinaria and Hydrastin, and while each of these have been successfully used separately, yet it has been difficult to get them all combined in one palatable, convenient and efficient form.

The manufacturers of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets have succeeded admirably in accomplishing this result. They are large, pleasant tasting lozenges, to be dissolved in the mouth, thus reaching every part of the mucous membrane of the throat and finally the stomach.

Unlike many catarrh remedies, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets contain no cocaine, opiate or any injurious drug, whatever, and are equally beneficial for little children and adults.

Mr. C. R. Rembrandt of Rochester, N. Y., says: "I know of few people who have suffered as much as I from Catarrh of the head, throat and stomach. I used sprays, inhalers and powders for months at a time with only slight relief and had no hope of cure. I had not the means to make a change of climate, which seemed my only chance of cure."

Last spring I read an account of some remarkable cures made by Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and promptly bought a 50-cent box from my druggist and obtained such positive benefit from that one package that I continued to use them daily until I now consider myself entirely free from the disgusting annoyance of catarrh; my head is clear, my digestion all I could ask and my hearing which had begun to fail as a result of the catarrh, has greatly improved until I feel I can hear as well as ever. They are a household necessity in my family."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are sold by druggists at 50 cents for complete treatment and for convenience, safety and prompt results they are undoubtedly the long looked for catarrh cure.

The Deer's Eyes.

A Canadian hunter tells this incident of how he once came face to face with his quarry and hadn't the heart to fire: "It wasn't a case of 'buck fever,' such as a novice might experience, for I had been a hunter for many years, and had killed a good many deer. This was a particularly fine buck that I had followed for three days. A strong man can run any deer to earth in time, and at last I had my prey tired out. From the top of a hill I sighted him a few miles away. He had given up the fight, and had stretched himself out on the snow. As I stalked him, he changed his position and took shelter behind a bowlder, and, using the same bowlder for a shelter, I came suddenly face to face with him. He didn't attempt to run away, but stood there looking at me with the most pitiful pair of eyes I ever saw."

"Shoot?" I could have no more shot him than I could have shot a child. Had the chance come from a distance of 100 yards, I would have shot him down and carried his antlers home in triumph, but once having looked into those eyes it would have been nothing less than murder. I have hunted deer since then, but I find the sport affords me little pleasure. Whenever I draw a bead, the picture of those mute, appealing eyes comes before me, and though it has not prevented me from pulling the trigger, I have always felt glad somehow when my bullet failed to find its mark."

For Those Who Smoke.

The great point in pipe smoking is to learn to smoke slowly. When this habit is acquired, the full flavor of the tobacco will always be enjoyed, every smoke will be a cool one, and tongue burning will be unknown. It is, however, very hard for nervous people to smoke slowly. We know of cases where smokers have tried for a score of years to check their smoking speed without success. They probably did not begin to make the effort early enough in their smoking careers. With good tobacco and a root pipe the slow smoker attains a degree of pleasurable enjoyment in smoking of which the rapid smoker has not an inkling.

Perhaps all smokers do not know that it makes no difference in the flavor of pipe tobacco how many times a pipe goes out. A cigar which is allowed to go out once has its flavor ruined and is most appreciably termed a butt. A pipe, however, tastes, if anything, better for going out.

Pastidious smokers always have at least two pipes at hand and never fill one until it has entirely cooled off. This is a help toward cool smoking and reasonable life in a pipe. A good test by which to tell if you are smoking too fast is to hold the bowl in your hand. If it is too hot to do so, then you may know your speed is too great.—Exchange.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed, you have a rumbling sound, or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

—Don't think less of your system than you do of your house. Give it a thorough cleansing, too. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Old men as well as young men whose systems have to stand an excessive strain find that their mental and physical power is greatly invigorated by the use of Powley's Liquefied Ozone.

This preparation arrests decay and makes new tissues no matter how old you are. The condensed oxygen is accountable for the wonderful efficacy of Powley's Liquefied Ozone. The feverish and unnatural condition your system and blood are in this time of year is quickly removed by this preparation.

James Stevens, 1218 Bloor St. West, had a running sore on his leg for thirty-five years. At the age of 70 years he was entirely cured by Powley's Liquefied Ozone. The sore was dried up and his blood and skin made pure and healthy. The tissues of his body were renewed. John H. Dunlop Esq., the well known florist, Lansdowne Ave. and Bloor St., vouches for the accuracy of this statement.

50c. and $1.00 a bottle, at all druggists. Write the Ozone Co., of Toronto, Limited, 48 Colborne-street, Toronto, or the Liquid Ozone Co., 229 Kinzie-street East, Chicago, Ill., for health literature. No charge.
