LEO TOLSTOI A MEMBER

Great Russian Enrolled in Toronto Friends' Association.

Arrangements Being Made For Another Great Peace Meeting in Normal School Next Month—What Premier Ross Stipulates If Lieutenant-Governor Prendergast An Endeavor to Secure Andrew Carnegie's Attendance on Oct. 18.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Count Leo Tolstoi, the great Russian philosopher, philanthropist and literary man, is a member of the Friends' Association of Toronto. This interesting fact was communicated to the members by President W. Greenwood Brown at the regular meeting of the association last night.

Count Tolstoi signified his desire to become a member some two or three months ago in an autograph letter to Mr. Brown, in reply to that gentleman's notification of the aims and objects of the association. The fact was not made public during the recent conference, though the local members had been made aware of the fact.

The announcement of Andrew Carnegie's membership and substantial interest has already been made. An effort will be made to procure his attendance at the great peace meeting to be held on Oct. 18 in Toronto. The Premier, Hon. G. W. Ross, has granted the use of the Normal School for the occasion, and a delegation of English and American speakers from the Boston meeting of Oct. 3 will be present, it being intended that the local meeting will be an extension of the Boston one.

The Premier has stipulated that the meeting shall be non-sectarian, non-partisan, and not anti-British, and it is possible that his honor the Lieutenant-Governor will preside.

GREATEST CONTRALTO

Mme. Schumann-Heink to Appear in Comie Opera at Detroit Opera House Week Beginning
September 12.

"Love's Lottery," the new Stange & Edwards comic opera, in which Mr. F. C. Whitney is starring Mme. Schumann-Heink, is placed on the morning and afternoon of an early Summer day in the village of Deanswold, England, in the time of George III., about the year 1818. It is divided into two acts, the first taking place in the courtyard of a house in the pretty village, and the second in a secluded part of Deanswold Park. The principal characters are Lina, Mme. Schumann-Heink, Sergeant Bob Trivet, Wallace Brownlowe, Sir Harvey Aston, George L. Tallman, Squire Maraduke Skeffington, W. H. Thompson, Laura Skeffington, Louise Gunning, Sally Lunn, Delight Barsch, Barney O'Toole, John Slavin, Ponsonby Dancoles Twiller, H. W. Trede-nick, Molly Muggins, Tekla Farm, Bess Myrtle, Ivy Clyde, Jane Jones, Margaret Crawford, Gill Poorman, Lucia Nola, Tom Ryder, Heathe Gregory, Jack Kite, John H. Duffer, Bill Butler, John M. McCloskey and Joe Costar, Lionel Robsarte.

The principal object of "Love's Lottery" is to give several hours filled to the brim with rollicking fun and melodious tunefulness. But to attain these prime requisites to operatic success Mr. Whitney and the author and composer have not considered it necessary to do without merit as to book or score or to be pennywise with regard to costumes, scenic accessories, light effects and other first-class embellishments which combine to make a great big successful operatic venture. These admirable features are much in evidence throughout the action of the opera.

Mme. Schumann-Heink, who is the highest salaried and most popular star in the theatrical firmament, is simply delighted with the whole scheme, color, atmosphere, dressing, action and music of "Love's Lottery." Messrs. Stanislaus Stange and Julian Edwards, respectively the author and composer of "Love's Lottery," and who jointly have given to the world more successful operas than any two living men, took special care to fit Mme. Schumann-Heink perfectly.

Drilled on Commons Prior to war with European Officers—Sights of Japan

Mrs. Ross, cousin of Mrs. S. M. Gardiner, William street, who, it will be remembered, spent a six months' visit with Mrs. Gardiner about a year and a half ago, has just returned from an 18 months' pleasure trip through China and Japan. Mrs. Ross is an experienced traveller and a keen observer every place she goes. Her home is in Hastings, England, but she spends the most of her time travelling, because she enjoys it.

Mrs. Ross left Chatham just a year and a half ago and went first to California, visiting all of the important places there. She then took the steamer to Honolulu, and after spending a few days there she proceeded on to Japan, visiting all of the islands. Mrs. Ross travelled all through the interior of Japan without a guide and she saw many a wonderful sight. She spent five weeks in Kanagawa, where some friends of her's directed her to the most interesting places in Japan. She spent a very interesting time at the Japan National Exhibition. In China she coasted for the most of her time and visited the principal cities.

While in one of the cities of Japan, when she first went there, she saw a large common and she could see daily large bodies of Japanese being drilled and trained by English, French and German military officers. This was some time before the war broke out, and she mentioned at the time that Japan was preparing for war.

One of the most charming sights she saw in Japan was during a heavy downpour of rain. She took a trip up the side of a mountain which looked down on a Japanese town, while the rain was coming down in torrents. Looking down on the town from her high position she could see numerous Japanese out in the rain, walking around with a huge umbrella and a large fan, both of them doing service. The sight was a very pretty one and she says she would not have missed it for the greatest rain storm. She spent a large amount of her time in Japan with Mr. McKenzie, a missionary there, with whom she was formerly acquainted.

From every manufacturing place that she has visited in Japan Mrs. Ross has a collection of different articles, each denoting what some particular place is noted for, so that a conversation with her is an education to any one.

Mrs. Ross will remain in Chatham as Mrs. Gardiner's guest during the coming winter.

YOUNG CHAMPIONS

The C. C. I. Football Club Inaugurate
the New Season—Officers Elected—Will Defend Their Title.

At a meeting of the boys of the C. C. I. held for the purpose of re-organizing the football club for the fall term, the following officers were elected:

Honorary President—Colonel J. B. Rankin.
President—Mr. J. W. Twohey.
Vice-President—John Lawrence.
Sec.-Treas.—Alfred Noah.
Captain—Percy Parrott.
Manager—Mr. Jennings.
Executive—Bert Bedford.

Mr. Jennings is a football enthusiast and with his assistance the C. C. I. football team, this fall, will doubtless be a strong one.

Last season the C. C. I. club captured the Fleming cup, indicative of the Collegiate championship of the western peninsula. It is confidently anticipated that "what they have they'll hold."

CANADA'S REAL OFFER

Morning Leader Thanks Mr. R. L. Borden For His Frankness.

Contrasts His Saying That Canada Must Protect Her Industries Against Britain and Prefer the British to Those of All Other Nations With Mr. Chamberlain's Picture of a Self-Sacrificing Colony—Goldwin Smith's Book.

London, Sept. 10.—(C. A. P.)—Referring to Mr. Borden's saying that Canada should protect her own industries by tariff against those of Britain and prefer the British to those of all other nations, The Morning Leader says this, then, is the real "offer." Mr. Borden, it must be owned, deserves cordial thanks for his outspoken frankness, but it is hardly Chamberlain's picture of a self-sacrificing colony which "will not start industries to compete with those of the Mother Country."

Inter-Parliamentary Union Arrives.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 10.—The Inter-Parliamentary Union, composed of 228 delegates from America, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, England, France, Germany, Hungary, Italy, The Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Roumania, Sweden and Switzerland, arrived here yesterday and next week will hold its twelfth annual session.

Britain and Newfoundland.

London, Sept. 10.—(C. A. P.)—Arrangements have been made to exchange postal orders between Great Britain and Newfoundland. The arrangements come into operation on the 14th inst.

ONE ORIGINAL CONTRIBUTION.

M. W. Lucy, M.P., Criticizes Prof. Goldwin Smith's Book.

London, Sept. 10.—(C. A. P.)—H. W. Lucy in The Daily Express, writing on Professor Goldwin Smith's "My Memory of Gladstone," says it is a disappointing book. This is possibly due to the fact that much is expected from its author. The volume contains only one original contribution to the history of Mr. Gladstone. Goldwin Smith says that Gladstone wrote to him suggesting that if the Northern States thought fit to let the south go they might in time be indemnified by union with Canada. Mr. Lucy says this is amazing and almost incredible. The disclosure illustrates the state of public opinion with respect to the colonies which existed in this country forty years ago.

Going to Australia.

London, Sept. 10.—(C. A. P.)—The Agent-General for the colony of Victoria left via Canada for Australia. Discussion premature.

London, Sept. 10.—Wiring in reply to the C. A. P. request for a statement re the duty on flour, Mr. Chamberlain says discussion is premature; the question must be settled by a conference when summoned.

Review Day.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Yesterday was Review Day at the Canadian National Exhibition, and the attendance was over 60,000. The great feature of the day was the parade of prize animals around the race-track in front of the grand stand. It was a combined exhibit that caused the Canadian breast to swell in triumph and could not be surpassed anywhere. "General Principles of Orchard Management" was the title of an excellent lecture in the Dairy Building by Prof. Hutt, O.C.A. At the directors' luncheon the discussion was entirely devoted to the dairy interests, and among the speakers was that veteran dairyman, Hon. Thomas Ballantyne. To-day will be School Children's Day, with Monday as Get-Away Day.

To Join the Arctic.

St. John's Nfld., Sept. 10.—A party of ten Newfoundland seamen, engaged for three years to assist in navigating the Canadian cruiser Arctic, formerly the German steamer Gauss, in Hudson Bay, left here yesterday.

Mr. Alfred Pickering's pointer dog, "Joe Hawk," proved a great winner at the Toronto Bench Show on Monday. He won first as a trial dog, the gold medal in the limit, and second in the open. —Blenheim News-Tribune.

Charles Young, while painting R. Reid's house, fell from a scaffold and struck on a fence, seriously injuring himself. He is making progress under the care of a physician at the home of his sister, Mrs. D. Roach. —Ridgeway Dominion.

With last week's issue of the Florence Quill H. J. Jerome's connection with the paper ceased. Thomas W. Sims, publisher of the Thamesville Herald, has purchased part of the plant and will continue the publication, printing the paper in Thamesville. Mr. Jerome moves to Bridgen and will start a paper there.

Miss Emma Lee, professional nurse, daughter of John Lee, M.P.P., has recently undergone a successful operation for appendicitis and from latest reports is improving rapidly. Miss Lee graduated at the Women's Hospital, Saginaw, and after passing her final examination was offered the position of Matron of the Institution. —Ridgeway Dominion.

Thursday was Scotsmen's Day at the Toronto Exhibition and the usual program of sports took place. Among the competitors, including the best athletes of the country, was Joe O'Neil, of this town, who participated in the heavy events, winning two seconds and five thirds, a splendid showing considering that he has not been in training. —Ridgeway Dominion.

A despatch from Toronto dated Sept. 2, says that the killing of quail has been prohibited in Ontario until November, 1905, and the killing of deer in the Bruce peninsula for three years. This will be news to the quail shooters of Kent. The best of sportsmen will agree that the measure is a good one, as the quail have of late been getting pretty well thinned out.

The Sovereign Oil Company, which recently struck a good well on the farm of Joe Lalonde, a mile and a half north of the village, commenced operations Friday afternoon. Fully 25 barrels of oil, pronounced by the experts to be an excellent quality, were pumped from the well. Further drilling operations will be commenced without delay. The future looks very bright for the oil industry in that vicinity. —Comber Herald.

A despatch from London, England, dated last Saturday, says that Lord Talbot de Malahide leaves shortly to visit the Talbot settlement in Canada. Lord Talbot was born in 1846, and is the fifth Baron Talbot, hereditary Lord Admiral of Malahide, and the adjacent seas. The Talbots of Ontario held the centenary of the settlement last year, when the descendants of the original settlers gathered to celebrate the event near St. Thomas.

DISTRICT DOINGS

BLENHEIM

Sept. 10.—Mrs. John Stover and Miss Mamie Harrison visited at the Misses Hood's this week.

The stone for the new bank building has arrived and is being put into place. It adds greatly to the appearance of the structure.

Miss Bertha Peacock has left for Dutton, where she has accepted a millinery position.

Ed. McGuinn has purchased the draying outfit lately owned by Wm. Aitken.

It is expected a large crowd from here will go in to Chatham next Monday afternoon to hear the famous Black Watch Band. Cheap fares on all railroads.

C. R. Jamieson left for Toronto this week to make preparation for the publication of the Toronto University weekly edition (Varsity), of which he has been appointed editor for the fall term.

The services in the Universalist church here and at Olinda are being conducted by the Rev. W. O. Bodell, of Harrod, Ohio.

TILBURY

Sept. 9.—V. Campbell was in Chatham yesterday to identify the clothing stolen from him by the Maple City burglars. To The Planet reporter Mr. Campbell stated that his loss will not be so large as he at first thought it was. The prisoners came before the Police Magistrate next Wednesday.

Local Liberals are much perturbed over the withdrawal of M. K. Cowan from his candidature in South Essex, of which constituency Tilbury forms a part. The latest report is that Crown Attorney Clark will be his successor against Lewis Wigle.

It is expected a large crowd from here will go in to Chatham next Monday afternoon to hear the famous Black Watch Band. Cheap fares on all railroads.

Village Council met last night, at which a petition was read and adopted from the ratepayers on Canal St., asking to have the sidewalk on the south side laid south of the trees. Three claims for damages to rigs and occupants aggregating $300, from the Council's neglect to put lights out at night on Queen St., while excavating for the waterworks to S. Mather's grist mill, were settled for $50. A by-law was passed to make a temporary loan from the Mechanics' Bank for $11,000, for sidewalks, and Council adjourned for a week, when the rates will be struck.

SCOTCH SENTIMENT A CHARMING DESCRIPTION OF THE BLACK WATCH EFFECT

The following little incident is described in the Toronto Globe:

"Ah, that's Scotch enough for you, mother," said an old man yesterday morning, as he fondly turned to his wife, when the Black Watch Band started to play "Scots Wha Hae." The only response was a smile, but the woman's eyes saw not the band. They were filled with a mist, and her mind was carried back to the heather clad hills, where it dwelt, while she spoke never a word, until the Reminiscences of Scotland had been concluded. On the railing near-by was another old man, sitting in wrapt silence, his eyes dim with the memories floating by, and one hand beating an unconscious accompaniment to the strokes of the drum. The fur-collared overcoat on a third bespake the invalid, called mayhap from a bed of pain to hear the only true music from its real interpreters.

To a neighbor he confided that the spectators. The elderly Scotsmen, when the playing ceased, embraced one of the pipers, and taking him to one side, demanded news of the old land. Later, an old gentleman with whiskers of poplissic dimensions, came on the scene and was greatly moved by the air of the pipers. He danced upon the green sward in real Highland style, and clapped his hands at the most unconventional moments.

In the full the six pipers paraded the lawn, and soon drew hundreds of pipers were playing the very thing he had asked for, something composed within twenty miles of his birthplace in Invernesshire.

This famous band and pipers will be at the Opera House, Chatham, next Monday afternoon, September 12, at two o'clock. Return tickets on Grand Trunk, C.P.R. and Pere Marquette, good going Sept. 12th, returning Sept. 13th, issued for single fare. Reserve seats on sale at Brisco's.

THE HEART OF TEXAS COMPANY

Manager Duncombe is to be congratulated upon securing so royal a company of entertainers as opened the Duncombe last night. Mr. Villalair and Miss Lewis and their extremely strong company immediately won the hearts and favor of the large audience which assembled to see their opening bill, "The Great Counterfeiting Case." The story of the play was fine; the situations pretty and the climaxes very dramatic. Especially noticeable was the extremely artistic work of the young stars and their constituents. Mr. Villalair by his excellent stage presence and first class dramatic work quickly proved himself to be what so few are and so many claim to be—an actor, and as the Boston Journal of October 6, 1901, said Pretty Pearl Lewis won all hearts from her first entrance. Long before he curtain dropped on the last act the people of that large assemblage knew that they were witnessing the work of first class artists, and their approval was shown by the loud and continued applause. — St. Thomas Times, Sept. 6, 1904.

On Monday night the bill will be "Her Strange Wedding," with new and up-to-date specialties between acts.

Ladies admitted to best seats for 5c, regular prices 10c and 20c and 30c. Reserve seats at Brisco's.

PIONEER CALLED

By the death of Mr. David Williamson, at his residence on Thames street on Wednesday morning last, another link connecting the present with the past history of this country has been removed.

Although born, educated and married in Scotland, he had been a resident of Canada for seventy years, most of which were spent in the occupations of a stirring and active business life, but to such an advanced age did he attain that a generation has grown up since his active career closed. The deceased was of an ancient and honorable Scottish lineage, being the tenth in direct descent from John, second son of Macdonald of Glenoe, an officer in the famous Scottish Guard of Louis XI, of France, with which Scott has made us so familiar in "Quentin Durward," while by collateral branches he was related to Sir Colin Campbell and the Duke of Argyll. He was born on the family estate of Viewfield in Nairnshire, Scotland, on the 12th of February, 1812, was educated at the University of Edinburgh and studied law with a view of adopting that profession. Shortly after attaining his majority, however, and before entering upon the practice of his profession he came to Canada and was so favorably impressed with the prospects of this country even in that day that he returned to Edinburgh, took to himself a wife and, again sailing for Canada, settled in Whitby in 1834. Here he engaged in farming, but a year or two later removed to Brantford and engaged in the business of navigation, becoming the owner of a steamboat and a fleet of five grain boats, which he kept up on the route between Brantford and St. Catharines. He was conducting a very successful business until during the troubles of 1837 his boats were seized by the rebel forces near Dunnville and totally destroyed.

Undiscouraged by his misfortunes, he immediately entered into the business of grain buying at Brantford, and again fortune smiled on him. This business he carried on either alone or in partnership until about 1856, when he sold out and moved to Morpeth and again took up farming. In 1865 he retired from active life and took up his residence in Chatham, where he resided until his death.

The late Mr. Williamson was a fine type of the cultured Scottish gentleman, sturdy independence of character combined with a wide knowledge of men and things.

He leaves a family of two sons and two daughters. His wife predeceased him some years.

Miss Mamie Waters, of Chatham, spent the holiday at her home here. —Ridgeway Dominion.

Francis Jacques, Harvey street, has given instructions to Andrew Thomson, Jr., auctioneer, to sell his household furniture on Thursday, Sept. 15, as he is giving up housekeeping. See advt. in another column.

Geo. James, of Winnipeg, a former popular Chatham boy, was in this city Thursday on his way to New York on a purchasing trip for the Hudson Bay Co. Returning he will stop in Chatham for a few days next week.

Matthew Rankin, Dover Township, has sold his farm to his brother, ex-Warden Francis Rankin. This is one of the finest farms in the Township. The price paid was $9,000. Matthew Rankin will move into Chatham, where he will reside. Being a progressive citizen, he will be a decided acquisition.

A. P. McKishnie, general superintendent for Ontario for the Scranton School of Correspondence, is a poet and writer of exceptional ability. He has just had an article accepted by "Out Door Life," a well known monthly magazine published in Denver, Colorado. Mr. McKishnie is also a frequent contributor to the National Magazine, the Canadian periodical.

THE TALBOT REGIME

The publication of Judge Erma-tinger's forthcoming work, "The Talbot Regime," announced for this Autumn, is now under way and will be completed within a few weeks. It is a history in popular form of the Talbot Settlement during its first half century—an eventful period—illuminated by anecdote and illustration.

The book is intended to be a creditable product, typographically and otherwise, of the Talbot Settlement. Sand will include views of Malahide Castle—Col. Talbot's birthplace—in Ireland, its supposed counterpart, the London Court House, in Canada, Port Talbot and other Canadian views with 37 chapters and a number of valuable historical appendices. It is expected that the book will be ready, even allowing for unanticipated delay, well in advance of the Christmas holiday season.

Meantime those desirous of possessing—who have not already ordered—copies of the best edition of the book, bound in cloth and on good paper, should order at once, as it is intended to limit this—possibly the only—edition, approximately, to the advance orders received before publication. The price—$2.00—named is considered low for a book of this character and was purposely fixed at that figure in order to place it within the reach of all readers who might not otherwise order in advance. Already orders to the extent of more than half the edition originally contemplated have been received and the list is being added to daily. There is every indication that the edition may be fully subscribed for before the book finally goes to press. Orders may be sent direct to the office of publication, The Municipal World, Limited, St. Thomas, Ont. Those remitting by mail should send $2.25 to cover cost of carriage. Those not ordering now cannot rely on getting the book hereafter at the price named.

International Bible Lesson for Tomorrow—Elijah Taken up into Heaven—Second Kings, 2, 1-11.

Golden Text—"He was not, for God took him."

This is the man who once wished, in a passion, he might die, but God honors him, like Enoch, with the marvelous privilege that he should never see death, but thus gloriously wind up life below to begin eternal life in heaven. Here are two samples of how men should leave this world had sin not entered it—by translation and not death. Here we catch a glimpse of life and immortality, prior to gospel times, that opens the kingdom of heaven to all believers. Elijah's footprints on the sands of time are fresher to-day than when he trod the Syrian sands 914 B. C. He seems, from Bible History, to have been a lonely bachelor; not one of his kin is ever mentioned, and that he felt his condition comes out in his "I, even I only," in our former lesson; but God was proving by the life of His servant that He and one man was a big majority. Compare Elijah's farewell with Ahab and Jezebel's taking off, and compare his life work with our present Elijah, poor Dowie, with his horses and gold-mounted harness in Zion City, Ill. The contrast is too ridiculous. The steeds of fire leap the chasm and carry the glorified old soldier up the golden streets, waking up heaven as he is borne victor into the presence of the King to receive his crown. He can say, like Paul, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith; henceforth there is laid up for me a crown, and for all who overcome in the Lord's battles. Is it to be wondered at that Salvationists sing in the midst of the fight—
 Oh, we're going to wear a crown, to wear a starry crown, Away over Jordan, with my blessed Jesus, when the battle's over—any wonder that our ascended Lord, who has the gift of the Holy Spirit for His disciples and all believers, said, "Greater works than these shall ye do, because I go unto the Father." Have ye received this Spirit?

SUFFERED MANY YEARS COMPLICATION OF FEMALE DISEASES.

Two Robust Women Who Owe Their Restored Health and Usefulness to Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. J. E. Finn.

MRS. J. E. FINN, 82 East High St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes:

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen: "A few years ago I had to give up social life entirely, as my health was completely broken down. The doctor advised a complete change and rest for a year. As this was out of the question for a time, I began to look around for other means of restoring my health."

"I had often heard of Peruna as an excellent tonic, so I bought a bottle to see what it would do for me, and it certainly took hold of my system and rejuvenated me, and in less than two months I was in perfect health, and now when I feel worn out or tired a dose or two of Peruna is all that I need."

"Mrs. J. E. Finn."

Pelvic catarrh is a phrase coined by Dr. Hartman, covering all that large class of diseases that used to be known as female weakness. The lower portion of the abdomen is called by anatomists the pelvis. The organs contained in this portion of the body are known as the pelvic organs. There are several of them, very delicate and very subject to catarrh. Few women escape entirely Thankful Women Who Have Been Cured by Dr. Hartman's Free Treatment.

Miss Ruth Emerson

Miss Ruth Emerson, 72 Syracuse St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes:

"I suffered for two years with irregular and painful menstruation, and Peruna cured me within six weeks. I cannot tell you how grateful I feel. Any agency which brings health and strength to the afflicted is always a welcome friend, and to-day the market is so filled with useless and injurious medicines that it is a pleasure to know of so reliable a remedy as you place before the public."

Miss Ruth Emerson.

catarrh of these organs. While each case presents some minor difference as to detail, they are all in reality alike. Peruna does not relieve these cases by temporarily mitigating some symptom, but by a removal of the cause. Many a woman can testify that local treatment does not permanently cure. A large multitude of women are constantly going from doctor to doctor to receive local treatment, with little or no result.

In Peruna these women find a prompt and permanent cure.

Imitations of Peruna.

Peruna has come to be recognized as the greatest remedy for catarrh in the world. At first competitors tried to deny this and insisted that their remedies were just as good. This was found to be impossible, however, and now imitations are springing up everywhere.

To successfully palm off an imitation of Peruna even for a short time is sure to be a money-making scheme, but no one who has ever taken Peruna can be fooled on these imitations. No conscientious druggist would sell one of them. Every purchaser should look carefully at each package of Peruna he buys, to be sure that he is getting only genuine Peruna.

THE BABY BUGGY

They met on the market square this morning, two of them, both prominent Foresters and always in the habit of doing the Saturday marketing. They were just shaking hands when bang! one of them felt a baby buggy trying to climb up his back. After the usual apologies, for the gentleman had to assume all the blame, the lady wheeling the carriage continued her way clearing a path for herself with the carriage, and the abused man turned to his brother Forester and said:

"That baby buggy has been following me all down the market. I would no sooner spurt ahead and then slacken up a little when I would feel that buggy running on my heels again. What can a fellow do with his arms full of parcels. It is hard enough crowding your way through on a day like this without having your eye continually peered for by baby buggies. The larger the crowd the more buggies you find in the crowd. There ought to be a law preventing baby carriages from being on —"

The rest of the speech was full of apologies to another lady who had jolted him with her baby carriage.

He was about to continue his oration against buggies when a bystander who had been listening to the first part of it suggested that there would be lots of room for the buggies to pass by if there were not so many groups of gossipers and kickers standing around on the square talking over the gossip of the week.

The Forester took the hint to himself and gathering up his baskets passed on without another word, but still convinced that baby carriages are a nuisance on the market.

The duties we owe ourselves are generally performed first.

GOOD WORK

C. C. I. Board Pay Practical Tribute to the Commercial Class Work of Mr. Collins.

A special meeting of the C. C. I. Board was held yesterday to consider the request of Mr. Thompson, the new assistant science master, to be released from his contract. He has been offered a position in Cornwall at $900 per annum, an increase of $150. The Board decided to hold another meeting next Monday to deal with the matter and in the meantime, Mr. Thompson can secure a substitute, he will be released.

Harry Collins, commercial master, presented his report, which was as follows: I beg herewith to submit my report in connection with the commercial diploma examinations held in the Collegiate Institute the latter part of June in accordance with plans approved by the Board at the May meeting. There were in all 45 candidates, of whom one gained the senior diploma and 29 the junior diploma. The small number taking the senior diploma is due to the fact that the majority of those taking the junior diploma a year ago left to accept positions before the completion of the course. I hope to be able to report an improvement in this respect next year. The senior diploma as now arranged calls for a good all-round English training, commercial French, commercial Geography, etc., as well as the special subjects, bookkeeping, typewriting and shorthand, a speed of 100 words a minute being required in the latter subject. At least 30 pupils have started this year on the senior work. I have spent considerable time in looking into the work of other schools and commercial colleges, and I believe the course as now arranged will meet with your approval and that of the public generally. Thanking the members of the Board for their hearty co-operation in my work in the past and trusting that this report will meet with their approval, I have the honor to be,

Your obedient servant,

HARRY COLLINS.

The report was received and in consideration of the extra work Mr. Collins had done, he was granted $25.

On motion of Mr. Arnold, seconded by Mr. Harrington, the fixing up of a room in the basement for pupils who brought their dinner was left to the Property committee.

There were present at the meeting Chairman Dr. Battisby, Colonel V. B. Rankin, B. A. Harrington, S. B. Arnold, John Liddy, W. G. Richards and Dr. Bell, of Merlin.

Put Rock on Track.

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—Arthur Miller, aged 16, of Mechanicsville, has been arrested, charged with placing a rock on the C.P.R. track at Britannia, with the object of wrecking the Toronto express. The obstruction was removed in time to avoid trouble. The lad pleaded not guilty and was remanded until Tuesday.

SATURDAY IN THE MEN'S STORE WILL BE SPECIAL SHOWING OF FALL HATS...

Nearly time to shake your straw hat. The Fall styles in Men's Hats are already here, when you are ready to make the change. You will probably want to wear a Soft Hat for a while, before you go back to the Derby. There are so many styles in soft hats these days that it's sort of a "go-as-you-please" affair. You'll find all the new shapes here, however—Soft or Stiff. You get the hat for $2.00 that the furnishing stores ask $2.50 to $3. A goodly number of wise men have saved 50c to $1.00 on their hats by buying them here. Browns are much in evidence this season. Plenty of Blacks for those who prefer them. And Remember, you get your choice of any hat in our store at $2.00. Lines you pay $2.50 to $3.00 to the men's furnishers. Newest American and English Blocks opened up This Week.

Special Sale on Saturday of Men's $5, $6 and $7.50 Suits at $3.75...

We don't believe in hollering, but these Special Suits will wait for no man, at the present price. We are afraid you won't get your share. Better get in while there's a chance. Maybe you will find your size among the highest priced ones. You know this is the clearing out sale, which we have at the end of every season. Take your pick now, before you get shut out. The sale includes weights suitable for Fall, of reliable Tweeds, Chalk Lines and Serges, only about 100 to clear, sizes 32 to 42.

YOUNGHOUSE COMING HOME.

Formal Treaty Signed in Apartments of the Dalai Lama.

Lhasa, Sept. 10.—Col. Younghouse, head of the British mission, and the Tibetan officials signed a formal treaty yesterday in the apartments of the Dalai Lama at Potala. The ceremony was simple and was conducted amid quaint and picturesque surroundings.

The terms of the treaty were read out, only in the Tibetan language, and its details will be published later by the Foreign Office at Simla. The proceedings closed with a short speech by Col. Younghouse.

The Dalai Lama is now supposed to be well on his way into Mongolia, and the officials insist that his action amounts to abdication. The administration is now carried on by a Council of Regency. It is believed that the Aashi Lama will eventually be recognized as the supreme religious head.

The arrangements for the return of the British mission are complete.

Train Went Through Trestle.

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 10.—Seven persons were killed and many injured in a wreck on the Seaboard Air Line at Catawba Junction, S. C., early yesterday. Passenger train No. 41, from Portsmouth to Atlanta, five cars and a sleeper, went through a high trestle over a small stream. An extra freight train, following the passenger, piled in on top of the wreck, and a few minutes later.

Must Tell Source of Money.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—At Osprey Hall yesterday Justice MacLaren granted an order compelling C. N. Smith, M.P.P. for Sault Ste. Marie, to appear and give an account of where $500 he admitted giving his financial agent came from. On his examination for discovery he remained silent when asked if the money was his own or if it came from Toronto Liberals.

More Bribery Charges.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—On behalf of George M. Boyd, the defeated candidate in North Grey, additional charges were filed yesterday against the election of A. G. McKay. Several persons are alleged to have been corruptly influenced, and a number of hotel-keepers are said to have provided drink and refreshment for voters. The trial opens at Owen Sound on Tuesday next.

Decision Will Stand.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—The Ontario Government have announced that the decision of Justice McMahon regarding the status of the Christian Brothers as teachers in the separate schools will stand unless reversed, and the Government will bear the total expense of an appeal if it is taken, in order to clear up a most important issue.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 10.—The Town of Warren, Idaho, has been wiped out by fire. Loss $100,000.

OTHERS IMPLICATED.

Garting Pleads Innocence—Inspection of Books of C.O.F. Reveals Shortage of Nearly $6,000.

Brantford, Sept. 10.—Ernest Garting of the C. O. F., charged with embezzlement was captured by Chief Slemin and Sergeant Donnelly late Thursday night. He pleaded not guilty to the charge at yesterday morning's police court and was remanded till Monday. Bail was fixed at $9,000. L. F. Heyd, K.C., of Toronto, is engaged to defend the prisoner. An effort will be made to-day to raise the necessary bail.

Garting is strong in his declaration of innocence and this leads to the belief that some other persons are implicated. There is no doubt that the money is gone and one of the lawyers stated yesterday that Garting didn't have it. It was officially announced yesterday that those looking over the books were likely to find them between $5,000 and $6,000 short. Garting was always considered a most estimable man.

DISTRICT DOINGS.

UP THE CREEK.

James Laws had eight bags of oats stolen on Saturday night. The trail led to the farm of a life-long resident on the creek.

Arch. Dick went through the Haviland bridge yesterday with his traction engine. The driver luckily escaped serious injury.

John Birkby, whose farm adjoins the city, is sustaining considerable loss through the stealing of roasting corn. Scores of boys and women from the city are in the habit of getting their corn supplies there.

The "Saints" of St. Paul's church defeated the fast Thistle-Shamrock team last night by 5 to 3. This is the team that will play the lads of the First Presbyterian church next Saturday evening.

Nate Horton, who was taken suddenly and seriously ill Saturday, is slightly improved to-day.

A. McDonald, and A. S. Maynard left for St. Louis yesterday. They will be absent two weeks.

Mabel and Grace Tegan, Detroit, are the guests of Pearl Everitt.

Mrs. Lizzie Smith, Aldboro', called on friends on the creek Wednesday.

FLORENCE.

Rev. E. S. Walker, of Essex, Ont., and daughter, are spending a few days with relatives here.

Jas. Webster, one of our oldest residents, is low with fever.

Miss J. Sangster has returned from a trip to Chicago and leaves this week for the millinery openings in London and other eastern cities.

Mrs. Wm. Webster, of Chicago, is in the village visiting relatives.

Mrs. Dr. Cragg and son, of Detroit, are spending their holidays with Isaac Unsworth.

The district Epworth Leagues held their annual picnic last Thursday in Walker's Grove.

Rev. Mr. McMullen, who has been ill in one of the London hospitals for some time, has returned much improved in health, and held services in the Methodist church last evening.

J. H. Jerome, our enterprising editor and proprietor of The Quill, is about to leave this week for Brantford, Ont., where he has bought a newspaper. Mr. Simms, of the Thamesville Herald, will manage the Quill for the present.

Miss Carrie Corbett, who has been spending her vacation at Morpeth Terrace Beach returned home on Saturday.

Mr. Melvin Walker has purchased the flour mill belonging to W. H. Tweed.

W. H. Tweed and wife leave this week for Uxbridge where Mr. Tweed has bought a mill. Last Friday evening the congregation and Sabbath school of the Presbyterian church gathered at their home and presented them with a handsome Morris chair in recognition of Mr. Tweed's services as superintendent of the Sabbath school for some time past. The presentation was made by Thomas Trotter. Mr. Tweed made a suitable reply. They will be much missed in our village.

A pleasant event took place on the 17th inst at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tweed, when their eldest daughter, Wilhelmina, was married very quietly to Mr. Ernest Evans, jeweler. Rev. Mr. Little, of Bothwell, officiated.

And on the 24th a similar event occurred in the marriage of their youngest daughter, Mabel, to Mr. Jas. MacIntyre, Rev. Mr. Graham performing the ceremony. The young couples will reside in the village.

WITCH HAZEL
SOAP
HAIR

I wish those who value a good head of hair to shampoo their heads with my Witch Hazel Soap. It will positively cure the worst cases of dandruff and all scalp diseases. It gives new life and vigor to the scalp and has a tendency to produce a glossy and beautiful growth of hair. For the complexion it is the best soap made. It makes the skin soft as velvet. For baby it has no equal. Cures eruptions, allays itching and makes baby sweet as roses.

To those who have sallow or dull complexion, or who have pimples, eczema or any skin eruption, I can recommend my Paw-Paw Laxative Pills. They positively cure constipation, biliousness and all liver ailments.

SKIN HUMOURS

Speedily, Permanently and Economically Cured
by Cuticura

WHEN ALL ELSE FAILS
Complete External and Internal Treatment
For One Price

In the treatment of torturing, disgusting, itching, scaly, crusted, pimply, blotchy and scrofulous humours of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair, Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills have been wonderfully successful. Even the most obstinate of constitutional humours, such as bad blood, scrofula, inherited and contagious humours, with loss of hair, glandular swellings, ulcerous patches in the throat and mouth, sore eyes, copper-colored blotches, as well as boils, carbuncles, scurvy, sties, ulcers and sores arising from an impure condition of the blood, yield to the Cuticura Treatment, when all other remedies fail.

And greater still, if possible, is the wonderful record of cures of torturing, disgusting humours among infants and children. The suffering which Cuticura Remedies have alleviated among the young, and the comfort they have afforded worn-out and worried parents, have led to their adoption in countless homes as priceless curatives for the skin and blood. Infantile and birth humours, milk crust, scalled head, eczema, rashes and every form of itching, scaly, pimply skin and scalp humours, with loss of hair, of infancy and childhood, are speedily, permanently and economically cured when all other remedies suitable for children and even the best physicians, fail.

Cuticura Resolvent, liquid and in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. London, England, 25, Abchurch Lane, E.C. 4. HIS GRAVEL WAS
SURELY CURED
Dodd's Kidney Pills Removed
The Stones

And Now Reuben Draper is Well and Strong after his long Suffering.

Bristol, Quebec, Sept. 5. (Special)—Reuben Draper, a well-known resident here, keeps the proof right with him that Dodd's Kidney Pills will surely cure the much dreaded gravel. The proof consists of two stones, one the size of a small bean and the other as big as a grain of barley. He passed these stones and was relieved of all the terrible pains they caused after using Dodd's Kidney Pills for a short time.

Mr. Draper is confident that Dodd's Kidney Pills and nothing else caused his cure, as he tried two doctors without getting better, and was fast getting weak and despondent when he started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills.

In a week he passed the large stone and four days later the smaller one. This cure causes a feeling of relief over people in these parts as it shows those terrible operations, long thought to be unavoidable in case of gravel, are no longer necessary.

Strictures, no matter where located, are apt to involve the surrounding structures. If neglected or improperly treated, urethral stricture will produce distressing symptoms. Cutting, stretching and tearing are the old barbarous methods of treating this disease. The strictly modern and original method employed by us are free from the horrors of surgery and are absolutely safe and harmless. The abnormal stricture tissue is dissolved and leaves the channel free and clear. All unnatural discharges cease, any irritation or burning sensation disappears, the Kidneys, Bladder, Prostate Gland and other surrounding organs are strengthened and the bliss of manhood returns. Our ABSORPTIVE TREATMENT will positively cure you. YOU CAN PAY WHEN CURED.

DRESS AND FASHION.
MATERIAL, CUT AND GARNITURE OF SUMMER GOWNS.

A Fete Dress in Pale Rose Pink China Silk—A Dainty White Silk Bodice—Soft Old World Colors—Tasteful in Gowns and Coats.

A dress confection calculated to give rise to that sensation of self respect which even the great virtues sometimes fail to secure is the fascinating little fete gown of the first cut. It is built up in a pale rose pink china silk allied to a lovely white valenciennes piece lace, finished with hems of the silk. The many narrow frills at the hem of the skirt, together with the deep cape epaulets of lace, stamp it as a thing of the latest mode.

Another dainty garment of the season is a white china silk waist, finely tucked, the sleeves and pelerine inset with a narrow valenciennes insertion.

In summer materials fashion smiles on the tiny checked silks. Beautiful old fashioned colors—lavender, rose, cornflower blue and brown—are all daintily checked off with white. Soft flowered silks of an old time aspect are other favorites. We are still to revel in taffeta, which for the fashioning of the full skirts and pointed bodices of the day has no real rival. Instead of closely fitting the form skirts now spring right away from the waist line, though cordings and gaugings, designed to minimize any effect of bunchiness, are conceded for the use of some figures. Both the box plaited and the plisse skirts remain in vogue. In trimmings, however, the all round variety is the only thing and includes gathered frills, box plaited flounces, ribbon ruching, broad, graduated lingerie tucks and flounces quite up to the waist.

The pouch of the bodice continues to draw toward the vanishing point. The front of the bodice is still straight, but the sides and back more distinctly define the figure in attractive curves. The lower part of the bodice, as a rule, draws compactly in to the waist, and in evening dress the Louis XIV. pointed stomacher is in prospect.

The shirt waist still holds its own, and with it are worn the most delightful of soft kid and suede crush belts in the attractive art shades.

Pale dove colored or silver gray taffeta makes charming little coats, especially if trimmed with lace colored to match.

And for half mourning—for dull, chilly weather—for an afternoon gown

for a woman no longer young, the little taffeta suit in black, worn with a skirt en suite, in cloth or in any of the fashionable fabrics, cannot be surpassed in convenience and attractiveness.

THOSE WHO THINK MUST ALSO EAT

And What they Eat Must be Digested—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets What They Need.

Students, writers, book-keepers, clerks and all others who sit inside and work their heads for a living, should be alive to the important part the stomach plays in the day's work. If the stomach is right, the mind works easily, the pen runs smoothly and all is one grand, sweet song. But when the stomach is wrong all the rest is out of gear. Let us show by example. Let Hene Trudel, a student of Three Rivers, Que., give his experience:—

"I was troubled with Dyspepsia," he says, "and it made alarming progress to the point that every day saw me in despair and I was resolved to give up my studies. Then I determined to try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They made me better. To-day I have no bad head, no weariness, no pain. I am cured."
If you want to do a good day's work easily use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

THE PROPER TREATMENT FOR A SPRAINED ANKLE.

As a rule a man will feel well satisfied if he can hobble around on crutches two or three weeks after spraining his ankle, and it is usually two or three months before he has fully recovered. This is an unnecessary loss of time, for in many cases in which Chamberlain's Pain Balm has been promptly and freely applied, a complete cure has been effected in less than one week's time, and in some cases within three days. For sale by all druggists.

Warm Prospect.
Mr. Hardum—I admit, sir, that my life has not been what it should be, but I truly and unselfishly love your daughter, and if ever I give her a moment's pain I hope I'll be made to suffer torture for it. Old Gentleman (warmly)—Oh, you will. You don't know her.

When you do not relish your food and feel dull and stupid after eating, all you need is a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They will make you feel like a new man and give you an appetite like a bear. For sale by all druggists.

You know of course that if you fill a tumbler or goblet to the brim or a little above the brim—for you can "pile up" the water a little bit by pouring very carefully—and then press a large card down tightly on the top of the filled glass with one hand, grasp the glass with the other and turn it upside down you can take away the hand that holds the card without spilling a drop of water. The card will stick to the edge of the glass as if it were glued there, and it will hold up the glassful of water.

You know, too, that it is the pressure of the air that supports the card and the water. The air presses upward on the lower face of the card with a force of fifteen pounds for every square inch of surface, and as the top of the glass measures five or six square inches there will be a pressure of seventy-five or ninety pounds to hold up the card and water, which weigh only about half a pound.

It is only the size of the mouth of the glass, not the size of the whole card, that counts, because on the outside part of the card the air presses up and down with equal force and so has no effect.

Now, as the force of the air is many times stronger than is needed to lift the water, suppose we make it lift something else in addition, say the heavy glass.

To do this press the card on the full glass as before, but instead of inverting the glass lift up the card by two opposite corners. If you are very careful and the card is very stiff you may succeed in lifting glass, water and all in this way, but the card is apt to bend and let in a little air somewhere, which of course spoils the trick. Here is a better plan.

Make a little hole in the middle of the card, pass a cord through the hole, make a knot on the end of the string close to the card and stop the hole tightly with a drop of sealing wax. Now, if you press the card on the glass of water carefully you can lift the whole affair by the cord, and if you fasten the other end of the cord to a hook the curious pendulum will swing a long time if you cautiously set it going.

It is best to rub a little grease on the rim of the glass to make it fit the card perfectly and adhere slightly, and it is advisable to experiment with a cheap glass in a place where water may be spilled without damage.—New York Mail.

When Sea Birds Drink.

Did it ever occur to you to wonder where the sea birds get the water they drink—sea gulls and the many other kinds that fly miles and miles over the ocean? You know they cannot drink the sea water, for that is salt, and sometimes they are too far from land to reach any fresh water streams. So what do you suppose they do? They follow the rain clouds and catch the drops as they fall. They are able to scent a storm many miles away and will hurry after it with the most remarkable speed.

But when there are no convenient storms about the birds sometimes go days and perhaps weeks without any water at all.

Origin of "Greenbacks."

The popular term "greenbacks" for speaking of paper money is said to have been first used by the Hon. Salmon P. Chase, who was secretary of the treasury during the civil war. The green tint used on the reverse side of the notes was first produced by a Canadian and is invaluable, as it cannot be easily photographed or counterfeited.

The money in circulation in the southern states during the war had a blue design on the reverse, and these notes were commonly called "bluebacks" to distinguish them from the northern issue.

The Scarlet Tanager.

A very interesting bird is the scarlet tanager. The main body is bright scarlet, with black tail and wings. In the winter it stays in central and northern South America. It feeds upon larger insects, also seeds and berries. The nest is put loosely together with twigs and bark, being lined with the finer inner bark and rootlets. The eggs are three or four in number, greenish blue, marked with faint brown. It is usually found in oak groves.

A THRILLING SHOT.

An Incident in a German Performance of "William Tell."

When a performance of the drama "William Tell" was given at a certain German theater it was announced that the stage effects in the play were extremely fine and that the scene where Tell's splendid marksmanship was made apparent would astonish every one. The audience waited as patiently as they could until that scene and were certainly astonished.

The scene arrived where Tell was to shoot the apple from his devoted son's head, and the apple and Tell's crossbow were connected by an invisible wire, along which the arrow was to speed to the target.

At the proper cue the arrow did speed halfway toward the apple, and there stuck, to all appearance in mid-air. In vain did the doughty Tell shake his bow to carry the arrow to its mark. The son of Tell looked very frightened and didn't know what was happening.

The apple, firmly fixed on his youthful cranium, was bobbing about, the audience was laughing, and the laugh burst into a roar when one of Gessler's guards took in the situation and, coming forward from his position at the side of young Tell, calmly gave the arrow a smart rap with his spear, when it sped on its way and buried itself in the apple on the boy's head.

HOLD KUROKI IN CHECK

Everything Depends on Gen. Meyndorff's Ability to Do So.

Has 50,000 Troops Engaged in the Work 12 Miles South of Mukden—12,000 Russians Surrounded on Three Sides By the Japanese, and They Can Hardly Hope to Escape From Their Position of Extreme Danger.

London, Sept. 10.—The Daily Express claims to have trustworthy information that the Russian army is divided into five columns.

The first has reached Tie Pass, forty miles north of Mukden, and is preparing to defend that place against the Japanese.

The second is between Mukden and Tie Pass.

The third is at Mukden. The fourth, consisting of 80,000, under Gen. Meyndorff, is holding Gen. Kuroki in check by hard fighting, twelve miles south of Mukden.

The fifth, of about 12,000 men, is farther south, exhausted by incessant fighting, and is surrounded on three sides by the Japanese, its position being one of extreme danger from which it can hardly hope to escape.

"Everything now depends," says the paper, "on Meyndorff's ability to hold Kuroki in check, which so far has been successfully done."

Oyama Lost the Race.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 10.—It seems to be definitely established that Field Marshal Oyama's tired troops partially abandoned on Wednesday the attempt to head off Gen. Kuropatkin, and the latter's army has arrived safely at Mukden after fighting experiences in floundering through mud and mire over the Mandarin road.

Some descriptions of the scenes along the lines of retreat are almost incredible. They tell how men lay down in the mud and slept in a drenching rain and without shelter. It is evident that the last determined effort of the Japanese to bring Kuropatkin to bay was made on Tuesday, but the Russian commander-in-chief faced about and two corps with artillery beat off the Japanese, while the remainder of the troops continued the march to Mukden.

After that the Japanese could only hang to the flanks and try and shell the retreating columns from the hills.

Losses 50,000.

The outposts are still in contact, but they are not even exchanging shots. A late Associated Press despatch sent last night from Mukden describes the horrible plight of the tentless and shelterless soldiers.

The detailed statement of Russian losses, which is promised to be issued Saturday, is awaited with intense interest. The general expectation is that the losses will approximate 20,000, as against 30,000 for the Japanese. The work of burying the dead was left to the Japanese.

The care of the wounded has taxed the hospitals to the utmost. One correspondent says that 12,000 wounded had passed through the Mukden hospitals until Sunday, and only the most severe cases could be attended to by the nurses and surgeons. Many, therefore, had to be left to the care of their comrades.

Heavy Rain at Mukden.

Mukden, Sept. 10.—Last evening around Mukden, has occurred the greatest downpour of rain of the whole campaign, and with it a terrifying accompaniment of thunder and lightning. There has been the greatest difficulty in preventing the cavalry stampede by the double galling, and all the horse lines have been tied. The men are scarcely able to keep their feet around the moving horses, and are slugging and talking to quiet them.

All the lower ground is under water, and Chinese boats from the Hun River are navigating many of the roads and some of the streets. This makes little difference to the men, who are under canvas, but all others are soaked to the skin, and all others are exhausted, in mud and rain, indifferent to the weather. They can snatch much needed rest.

The rain has checked the movements of the Japanese eastern and southern armies; in fact, quiet reigns over the whole front.

Russian Army Demoralized. Shanghai, Sept. 10.—A special messenger of the Tartar general, at Mukden, who escaped from that city through the cordon of Russian outposts, reports, according to advice received here, that the Russian army is utterly confused and demoralized, especially the remains of the two Russian army corps which recently joined General Kuropatkin's forces.

Russians Desert.

New York, Sept. 10.—The Tokyo correspondent of The Times says, under date of Sept. 8: Non-official news suggests that the garrison at Port Arthur is much disheartened. The ships in the harbor have ceased seriously to oppose the Japanese reconnoitering vessels which have thus been enabled to ascertain that the battleship Sevastopol is in a crippled condition, while others are more or less damaged. The number of soldiers surrendering increases.

Safe at Mukden.

London, Sept. 10.—Despatches from various sources yesterday establish only the fact that the Russian army is safely at Mukden, Kuropatkin having accomplished his retreat in good order, in spite of the harassing Japanese, sudden roads, and hampered by more than 12,000 wounded.

No Fight Sept. 8.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 10.—Lieut. Gen. Sakharoff telegraphs that there was no fighting during Sept. 8.

Losses Placed at 50,000.

Mukden, Sept. 10.—A correspondent of the Associated Press, who has just returned to Mukden with the Russian rear-guard, after having accompanied the army the whole time since the battle of Liaoyang, says the losses on both sides were enormous. As a moderate estimate, he places them at 50,000. He confirms the reports that the fighting at Liaoyang was very heavy.

Russians Killed Women.

Tokio, Sept. 10.—A private telegram received here says that a small Russian expedition from Kamchatka, visited Sushu Island, north of the Island of Hokaido, and in the absence of the men killed the women and children and burned the houses. Official confirmation is lacking in regard to this report, which seems incredible.

Alexieff May Be Wrong.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 10.—A despatch has been received from Victor Alexieff, announcing that the railroad and telegraph line between Mukden and Harbin are both uninterrupted.

One of 50 Deserters.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Sept. 10.—Three Russian deserters arrived here yesterday without funds or passports and were sent back to Canada. Several others who entered here and who are now working as farm hands came well supplied with money. One Russian, who is still wearing a part of his army uniform, said he deserted with an entire outpost of fifty men.

Revolt Against the Russians.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 10.—Intense activity is being displayed by anti-Russian revolutionary organizations abroad, which have united in an effort to appeal to all the discontented classes in Russia. Incendiary proclamations have been smuggled across the border and distributed broadcast, especially in Polish and Jewish centers, calling upon the population to take advantage of the Government's pre-occupation, owing to the war, to overthrow the autocracy.

Such propaganda in Russia always results in an increase of violence. The proclamations are addressed to the Jews in particular, but the appeals are made to all the heterodox sects, workmen and Socialists. Special appeals are made to the soldiers and peasants.

Many of the proclamations have been seized, and it is proved that they have been printed in London. Until now they have met with little response in Russia proper, but there have been several manifestations in various parts of Southwestern Russia, where the population is largely Jewish. The largest demonstration, it is understood, took place at Grodnow, Poland, where 500 persons have participated.

The Ministry of the Interior seemingly does not attach great importance to the matter.

JAPS CAST LONGING EYES.

General Hutton Hears They Want North Australia.

London, Sept. 10.—(C. A. P.)—Major-General Hutton, speaking at a banquet at Perth, Western Australia, said a Japanese admiral had told him the people of Japan and China were casting longing eyes on the northern territory of the Commonwealth.

The menace to Australia of the rising power of Japan has already been emphasized by Goldwin Smith in recent articles on the eastern situation. It is his opinion that British supremacy in the east and the Commonwealth itself will have to face Japan, fired with the Imperialistic idea.

Byrce in the U.S.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 10.—The Right Hon. James Byrce, author and member of the English Parliament, accompanied by Mrs. Byrce, reached here yesterday on the Cunard Line steamer Saxonia, from Liverpool. They will be guests of Percival Lowell of the Institute of Technology, before going to St. Louis to attend the Educational Congress, before which Mr. Byrce is to deliver a lecture. Returning here from St. Louis, Mr. Byrce will deliver a course of lectures at Harvard. He plans to stay in this country until after the Presidential election, of which he means to make a study. It is said he will gather material during the political campaign for a new work, to be written upon his return home.

Ran Into Herd of Cattle.

Harrison, Sept. 10.—Thursday night at 7.45 a C.P.R. westbound freight, while running at high speed, ran into a herd of cattle at a road crossing eight miles west of here, killing and throwing them in rich sections. The engine was turned over into the ditch. Driver MacInerney was badly cut about the head and otherwise injured, and Fireman Newman had his left leg broken at the ankle.

Boy's Burns Fatal.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—"Norrie" Carter, the three-year-old son of Edwin Carter of Riverdale Park, died in the Sick Children's Hospital last night from burns received in the morning. His mother was startled to hear screams from the kitchen and found the little fellow enveloped in flames. She smothered the fire with a rug, but prompt medical aid proved unavailing.

Scaffold Broke.

Woodstock, Sept. 10.—Yesterday morning three men were working on the Pascoe House on a scaffold about 12 feet off the ground, putting a stone cap on a window, fell to the ground and the stone came down with them. A. Holsworth had three ribs broken and the other two got off with a few bad bruises.

Deserter Arrested.

Windsor, Sept. 10.—Pte. Joseph Swamley, a deserter from Wolsley Barracks, London, was arrested at Harrow Thursday night on a charge of horse-stealing. The prisoner admits the theft of five horses and buggies in Western Ontario. He says his home is in Stratford.

Captain Burbridge Dies.

St. Thomas, Sept. 10.—Capt. Burbridge, one of the oldest residents of this city, was found dead sitting in a natural position in his office chair yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. He was about 85 years old and is survived by a brother and sister.

LETTER BOX

A DELIGHTFUL TRIP.

To the Editor of The Planet:

The trip to Vancouver via the C. P. R. has been taken by so many Chathamites that a description of its many beauties would probably not be of general interest. No Canadian, however, can view without feelings of pride and satisfaction, the almost interminable fields of waving grain that adorn the landscape for hundreds of miles across the prairie section; nor can he view with indifference the majestic scenery of the Rocky Mountains or the awful grandeur of the canyon of the Fraser river. The party with whom I made the journey was composed of medical men from Western Ontario, many of whom were accompanied by their wives, and it was organized by Dr. Eccles, of London, who chartered a Pullman car for the party, and by his courtesy and indefatigable attention to details made the whole outing a most agreeable one. Before our arrival at Vancouver the party expressed their appreciation by a complimentary address and a vote of thanks to Dr. Eccles.

The meeting of the Canadian Medical Association at Vancouver was the largest in the history of the society, and men eminent in the profession were present from every part of the Dominion and from England and the United States.

At Vancouver Dr. and Mrs. Eccles and myself were pleasantly entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Woods, son of Judge Woods, and at Victoria we received much kindness and attention from Dr. Hermann Robertson and from his mother, widow of the late Chief Justice Robertson, and we here also met another Chatham friend, Miss Jessie Eberts.

Dr. Thompson, of Grand Rapids, his brother, Dr. Alex. Thompson, of Strathroy, Dr. and Mrs. Eccles and myself returned from Victoria via the Northern Pacific and spent a week in the Yellowstone Park. This is a great national reservation in one of the most delightful and interesting places in the world and it occupies an area sixty-five miles wide by seventy-five miles long. I had often heard and read of its beauty and grandeur, but I am sure no words can adequately describe them. The first afternoon we drove through the Grand Canyon of the Gibbon river, and for a long distance there were perpendicular cliffs rising almost perpendicularly two thousand feet above the carriage, while on the opposite side one could look down a thousand feet into the turbulent stream that rushed and roared at the bottom. Huge boulders that have broken from the height and crashed down lie at frequent intervals in the bed of the river, and many of them must weigh thousands of tons. In the distance they look like some huge preglacial monsters that had suddenly returned to view this new earth. At Norris, where we halted for part of a day, we walked among some of the lesser Geysers. At one point here is to be seen and heard, too, a column of steam issuing from a rocky throat with a noise and a violence that are startling to the senses. Conversation in the vicinity is almost impossible on account of the terrific roar. It has been appropriately named the Devil's Boiler. Near this is what is known as the Devil's Bath Tub. It is shaped very like what its name indicates and its sides and top are appropriately of a jetty hue. In the bottom boils and seethes a dark muddy looking water which at intervals of five minutes and becomes more violently agitated and is driven in an angry fit ten or fifteen feet above the surface. It then subsides, but signs of torment may still be seen and heard until as if no longer able to restrain itself, another explosion occurs, and so the process goes on recurring as stated every five minutes. A few miles further on we saw a beautiful circular basin of the pure blue tinted water, about sixty in diameter, and the whole surface gently agitated by rising bubbles of steam. All looked harmless and lovely, but while watching and admiring its peaceful and smiling beauty, gradually began to show signs of trouble, which soon amounted to a roar, and the whole surface boiled with violence; then it was seized with a sudden convulsion and with an agonizing groan it tossed itself over the bounds of its cradle and flooded the polished floor around. Then, as if goaded to fury by some subterranean monster, the whole contents of the basin shot into the air with a titanic roar that made the gazers as well as the geysers tremble. The fury of this eruption lasted about twenty minutes and the clouds of steam rose hundreds of feet above our heads and floated gracefully away as if pleased and proud to escape from its noisy companions of the geyser. These noisy explosions recur about every six hours and in the interval peace seems to reign below and the same illusive gladness brightens the face of the water. The water in some of these geysers is driven to a height of 250 feet and with a force that is truly terrific. Other places in the park are worthy of description but I must leave them for a second short letter.

Modern Naval Action

Preparations that are Made and the Awful Realities of the Fight—Some Protection Afforded Gunners.

In the cabin aft—stripped of its shining wood and heavy furniture—the captains have met, and, under the Admiral, discussed the plans of the morning and weighed the possible issues of the battle. The defeats and weaknesses of the enemy's ships have been considered. The secretary hands around the memorandum describing the Russian vessels, and the little men scan their papers carefully. As they leave, the Admiral nods a farewell, half friendly, half ceremonious. They file out of the room, saluting the Mikado's portrait hanging in the cabin passage.

Stacks have been sanded, sacks of gunpowder are stacked around the base of funnels, and mats of chain and cable have been suspended between the gunners in the superstructure to protect them from the effects of the splinters. In casemates housing the 6-inch kippers the shells are stored in the guns in brackets, and big boxes of cartridges are lying in rows, ready for instant use. When these guns begin firing at a range of four shots a minute, and 2-pounders are pumping some 10 rounds a minute, the drain on the magazines becomes terrific. In order to be prepared against the possibility of a dangerous pile-up of powder, the guns are kept about pieces. Underneath the beams of the superstructure a hemp splinter net protects the gun crews from falling fragments, while the few boats—maybe a steam pinnace and a couple of whaleboats—are all covered with wet canvas as protection against fire. The ship, once so spick and span, is bare and naked; all her yacht-like fittings and the shining brass of her quarter-decks have disappeared. She looks big, grim and ready. The gun uniforms and the white gloves are missing. Instead, dirty figures in powder-stained clothes, walk across the big deck which has lost its snow-white beauty. The great ship is ready, and when a shrill note from the bugle awakens the figures about the guns, she becomes a living thing—a unit of fighting strength.

In the very bowels of the vessel, small, naked men are feeding the furnaces. As the furnace door is thrown open a lurid glare penetrates the fire-room, outlining the maze of pipes and fittings on the bulkhead. The figure of the stoker throws a deep black shadow on the iron floor as he fills the great fire, while the new coal crackles in the white heat. The coal is heaped in front of the boilers by the coal-passers, whose sole duty is to keep the pile from diminishing. Bending over the heap, the swelling veins of his forehead mark nervously the terrific strain under which he works. The crash of the falling coal the noise of dropping shovels, the hot glow on the toiling men, are all a part of this inferno below the level of the sea.

From the fire-rooms beneath the hot walls of huge boilers, passages lead through watertight doors to the engine-rooms, one on each side of the ship. The heat there is worse than in the fire-rooms. Shut out from air and sunlight, but in the lee of the protective deck, these immense engines breathe a rhythmical chug-chug at the command of bridge and conning tower. Quiet figures, almost nude, glide between the moving parts of pistons and rods, oil cans in hand. The warrant machinist is at the starting gear, with one eye on the telegraph dial, which glitters under the glare of the electric light. The gong behind it rings, and before the echo has died the steam is rushing into the great cylinders with a heavy vibration which goes through the entire length of the ship. From the flagship bridge, some sixty feet above the swash that laps the side armour, the Admiral moves his fleet. Near him is the flag lieutenant and the ship's captain. The officer of the deck, the navigator, and the junior officers are at the engine annunciators. They are all on the fore bridge, right over the conning tower, whither the Admiral repairs when the action begins. Here the signals are sent or unbenet, as the flag lieutenant passes over the orders of the Admiral to the "bunt tossers." It is "hoist" and "haul down," and the flags snap in the breezes in long, bow-like strings from the yards above. The Admiral, a dignified figure of great mental strength, moves his squadron without noise or turmoil. His orders are uttered in a quiet tone and executed in the same manner—sharply, and precisely, and without confusion. At the drop of a flag the fleet is again moving, and the black ships form into two columns, flanked by the swift cruisers and 12 destroyers. The screws cut long lanes of white foam, which melts in the haze behind. Far off on the horizon there is a smudge—it is the smoke of the enemy's scouts. The hoods with their long guns are swinging from starboard to port as if they were searching for prey. The muzzles rise and fall at a touch of a button or a lever from the officer in the sighting hood, who is carefully adjusting the sights. Inside the steel walls the crew bend over the shining breech-blocks, and for the hundredth time overlook the electric gear and its connections. The guns are loaded, and the ammunition carriage between them holds the next round of powder and projectile. Big electric fans are placed in the rear of the guns to drive out the smoke and fumes. Between them are the telephones to the conning tower and magazines. Should these be shot away, voice-pipes carry the communications. Various electric meters and gauges are parts of the machinery. Big tubs of water are kept underneath the gun and breech and block are cleaned and cooled with wet sponges.

In the sighting hoods, one to each gun, the gun pointers train their pieces. To them the range of the enemy is sent, or telephoned from the range finders on the bridge, fore and aft, and sometimes in the tops. At the bottom of the 14-inch barbettes, which enclose the entire mechanism, and below the protective deck is the handling room, from which the charges are sent up from the magazines.

The captain stands beside the slant-eyed quartermaster, who turns the wheel of the steam steering gear. The Admiral is still outside on the platform. The view outside is better; it allows of a stronger grasp on the fleet. Near him is his flag lieutenant with the lead-covered signal book. As steam of a disabled boiler. The turrets are jammed and useless, and only from amidship there seems to be an effort to answer the fire. The conning tower is one mass of ruin under the collapsed bridge. Some figures stand on the after bridge; one is waving a signal to a cruiser far astern. The red dot in the flag moves frantically up and down, as if calling for help. An armored cruiser, her torn sides spitting fire, is the last ship in the column. Of her nothing can be seen save her white ensign, which is fouled by the broken spar of the wireless. Her fire suddenly ceases; she reels and her guns sway to and fro. As she sinks, the great red bow glimmers in the air. Far down toward the horizon a cruiser is fleeing as fast as her mended steam-pipes permit. The battle is almost won, and with that the command of the sea. Outside the conning tower stands a limping man in torn clothes. Two officers are leading him over the wreckage of the fallen bridge. His life is wrecked—the concussion from the Admiral enters the conning tower he looks down pityingly into the superstructure, where the quick-firer crews are awaiting the signal to commence firing; they are almost without protection.

Pretty white waist of India linen lawn with the ever-popular fagotting on waist and sleeves, and further adorned by insets of Swiss embroidery. The sleeves, tight-fitting at the top, where the fullness is confined by means of groups of loops are of ample proportions where they are attached to the cuffs.

A tongue of flame shoots from the forward 12-inch gun and a black dot curves through the air. With a crackling sound the 6-inch battery blazes over the water, covering it with a green misty smoke, which soon reaches high above the fighting-tops, which are literally squirting streams of steel into a sneaking torpedo craft. A bluejacket is megaphoning the fall of the shots reported by the midshipman in the fighting-top. There is no shouting, no excitement. The little men move as if part of one machine, and when one falls another steps in to take his place.

The range is decreasing. The range-finders report 4,000 yards, and at that distance the 12-pounders begin their havoc in earnest. The superstructure, the open gun-ports, the men in the tops, are the target for the murderous fire. Through the mist the ships of the squadron are seen like big black blotches, and over the yellow haze great smoke clouds roll out of the funnels. The seas are torn by the shells. Over all hangs a sickly, faint smell of the powder, which stains the faces and uniforms of the men. The flagship is leading and is nearing the enemy's centre, and on her the hottest fire is directed. A bursting shell striking the bows rips up the deck and throws the anchors into the sea. The gun-crew of the forward 12-pounder is instantly destroyed; a cushion of air sweeps by the conning tower, knocking down the messengers near it, who are killed by inhaling the fumes of the bursting charge. Meanwhile the "idlers" of the ship are collecting the wounded, bringing them down below. But many hobble their way back to the guns. An intense heat penetrates the batteries, and the gunners are hidden under the smoke. Sinewy hands grip the projectiles and cartridges, and as the breech-blocks close with a snap the gun pointer bends over his sights, and by a press of his finger the shell leaps ahead, throwing the gun back in recoil.

Through the openings in the smoke the enemy's line looks broken. Their fire is less rapid, but better directed, than before. The shells soar and whirl in the air with the noise of a runaway locomotive. Some of the hulls are almost hidden behind the great jets of water that the spent projectiles raise. Here a mast disappears, its black fighting-top tumbling down on a torn deck with a smashing thud. As it falls it looks as if a catapult had tossed its crew high into the air. They drop behind the ship and scatter in the water. Funnels split in twain, and behind the jagged edges the smoke shoots upward, forced by the

FISH IN HOT WATER.

Marcellin Pellet, a traveller who has recently returned from Guatemala, describes a curious fish, the Pacilla Dorri, which he found in the boiling lake of Amatitlan. It passes its days literally "hot water." So hot is the water of this lake that to thrust one's hand into it means scalded fingers. Its heat is, however, somewhat tempered, as the really boiling water rises to the surface, leaving a temperature in which they can easily live at the level where the fish are found.

Frank Buckland states in one of his works that the naturalist Bronson found by experiment that some fresh water fish would live for several days in water so hot that a human being could not keep his hand in it for a minute.

De Saussure, the Swiss scientist, discovered living eels in the hot springs of Aix, the temperature of which averages 113 degrees Fahr. Humboldt also saw living fish thrown up from a volcano in South America.

WATER BOWLS AS TIMEKEEPERS.

There is exhibited in the Egyptian galleries of the British Museum, one of the earliest forms of clocks known, and probably the forerunner of the medieval hour glass.

It consists of a large bowl of black basalt, tapering towards the bottom. There are twelve small marbles in the inside and in the bottom are a number of holes.

The bowl was filled with water, the holes at the bottom having been previously stopped up. When full the plugs were withdrawn, and the water slowly trickling through the bottom, the time was read by the water line on the small marks at the side.

It would require refilling every twelve hours. These clocks were first used by the Romans, and introduced by them into Egypt.

A few days ago a gentleman called up his wife by the automatic 'phone but when a voice responded knew there must have been a mistake in the number. The question hovering on his lips slipped out anyway, and he said:

"Is supper ready?"

"Yes," replied the unknown lady.

"I'm coming up immediately."

"All right," said she, "but who are you?"

He hung up the receiver hurriedly.

Messrs. Salter and Johnson, Provincial land surveyors, got out a map of Chatham.

Married, in this town, on the 25th inst., at the Wesleyan Methodist church, by Rev. Mr. Clement, Charles McCrae, Esq., to Miss Eliza Dolson, third daughter of Mr. John Isaac Dolson, of Raleigh.

We are told that the Rev. Mr. King, of Buxton, has again left Canada for the old country on business connected with the Elgin Settlement, having sailed from Quebec one day last week. There are also rumors of a possibility of Mr. McKellar following him. Mr. W. Day is at present in Scotland.

By a new bill introduced into Parliament by the Hon. Solicitor General East, M. Morin, it is provided that coroners shall have the same powers and duties with regard to fires occurring in country parts as are now vested in coroners when fires occur in cities incorporated, towns and villages.

On Wednesday last, the 2nd inst., we were informed that a most serious and fatal accident happened to a little girl daughter of Mr. James Holmes, of Raleigh. It seems that the child was in the barn, and for some cause which we did not learn a beam fell upon her head, knocking her down senseless upon the floor. She was as soon as possible removed into the house and medical aid sent for. At last accounts the child was in a very precarious state.

Several vessels are now lying in different parts of the River Thames within the limits of Chatham, shipping lumber, timber, staves, etc., for foreign markets. We are glad to see this. It looks business-like. We hope, however, that fall will bring many vessels to Chatham to ship grain, which it is to be hoped will be in abundance, from the anticipated good crops of wheat, corn, peas, corn, etc.

The case of Wiede vs. Crow, created quite a lot of interest in the spring assizes. H. C. R. Becher appeared for the plaintiff and John Wilson appeared for the defendant. During the progress of the above case, which was an action for damages alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiff Wiede in consequence of the defendant Crow having detained the steamer Despatch in Canadian waters by running her ashore on the bank of the River Thames. While addressing the jury Mr. Becher read the following piece of poetry,

Your Crows are but young birds, who by their first caws thought they proved for friend Becher a match,

But our bird is a Wiede one unused to your laws, And all we ask is Despatch.

Mr. John Wilson conducted the defense and during his speech put in the following as a rejoinder—

I'd not trust my caws (cause) To the very wise laws Of the most learned Becher, But do as they did in spite of the laws And "Beach her." He beached her 'tis true, And it's what we all do When panics are playing their pranks; He ran her ashore, But it was nothing more Than a run upon Canada banks.

An examination of school No. 4, Chatham, was held on Friday, the 20th inst., and largely attended by the most influential inhabitants of the section. At the close of the examination it was moved by James Smith, Esq., seconded by W. A. Everett, Esq., and carried unanimously, that the inhabitants of S. S. No. 4, Chatham, fully appreciate the faithful and diligent exertions of Mr. P. McV. Campbell as teacher of the school, and that they hereby tender him this expression of gratitude and thanks for his able services. Also that they wish him the highest measure of success and prosperity in the future.

The Howard and Orford Agricultural Societies adjourned plowing match took place agreeable to public notice on the 1st inst. The managing committee had the field laid out in proper order for the plowmen to commence work. The field was not in as good shape for plowing as was desired by the committee. After the usual forms observed at plowing matches were through with each plowman went to work. The gauge for plowing was six inches deep and nine inches in width. There were eleven entries, seven in the first class and four in the second class. The judges made their decisions with the remark that the plowing done in both classes showed superior workmanship, but the boys deserved the most praise.

PRETTY DRESS OF LINEN

(Caption.) White piped with the new shade of Japanese green is one of the smartest combinations for linen gowns this season, and the above design shows how effectively the colors can be employed. The skirt is extremely simple in outline, having merely a wide box plait at the back on either side of the front. These plaits are piped with green linen, as the tucks on the sleeves. The bodice has a zouave effect outlined in green and white lace. A smart sailor hat completes the costume, and if trimmed with loops of green velvet and crushed white roses.

Gown of coru, taffeta with insets of cluny lace. These lace centres are enlarged by aid of circles of taffeta and fagotting. The yoke is of Arabian lace.

EXPERT TESTIMONY

The Canadian Military Gazette, the official organ of the militia, says:

A great deal has been said about Lord Dundonald's insubordination, as if he had been insubordinate to the Hon. Sydney Fisher. The Liberal organs have been harping upon this string continuously in defending the action of the Government, principally because their whole position in the matter into which they have been led by two incapable ministers is so weak and inexcusable.

The fact as to whether Lord Dundonald was insubordinate or not, whether he was indiscreet or not, whether he took the right course or not, is a matter of no importance whatever in comparison with the fact as to whether the Minister of Militia is turning the militia into a political organization or not, and whether we are without arms and ammunition or equipment or rifle ranges or drill grounds, or any of the many things necessary, if the Canadian people are not to be left in "a fool's paradise."

But even independent of the real issue, the contention that Lord Dundonald was insubordinate under the King's Regulations is absolutely untenable. The militia of Canada consists of the General Officer Commanding, who is the highest of all. He is a member of the force, the commanding officer, under him come the staff, then the district officers commanding, the colonels of regiments, the captains of companies, the officers and the non-commissioned officers, and the men. These form the militia of Canada. The Minister of Militia is not, as minister, a member of the force. He personally could not interfere on the field or give an order to any colonel or captain to execute any movement, and no officer would be guilty of military insubordination if he refused to take a verbal order direct from the Minister on parade.

The King's Regulations as to the publication of accusations superior officers, or comrades, before the tribunal of public opinion, applies only to the internal management of the force, and for the purpose of preserving discipline among all grades up to that of the General Officer Commanding. This applies only to the force itself, and its members, and does not go beyond the general officer, who is the superior of all in the internal management of the force.

The Hon. Sydney Fisher is not a member of the militia force, nor does he nor did he ever hold any military command, nor for that matter did the Minister of Militia himself. The general lines of policy alone were in the sphere of the Minister's duties, and although he had the power of veto on the recommendations of the general officer, he had no right or power to direct what the general officer should recommend, nor to change his recommendations. The fact of the general refusing to make recommendations as requested by the Minister of Militia has never been considered as insubordination. It has been the custom when any crooked work was desired by the Minister, for him to wait until the general was away from headquarters, and then direct the more dependent and pliable officer who happened to be acting in the general's place to recommend what the Minister desired to have done.

The Hon. Sydney Fisher altered a recommendation that was signed by the general officer, after it was signed, so that it could be put through as with the general's recommendation. This was a gross interference with Lord Dundonald's duties, which should never have happened. The whole list should have been sent back to Lord Dundonald with the statement that if he would not change his recommendation the whole recommendation would be vetoed. No wonder Lord Dundonald at Montreal told the officers who were affected by this action that he had been interfered with by the Minister of Agriculture, who had impudently changed a document which he, Lord Dundonald, had signed, and after he had signed it, and without his consent. This, in ordinary business affairs, would in law be termed forgery.

The Hon. Sydney Fisher was not Lord Dundonald's superior officer, nor was he an officer of the militia at all. The Minister of Militia himself, if he is an officer of the force, is simply an honorary colonel of a militia regiment, and as such junior to the General Officer Commanding. How could Lord Dundonald be insubordinate to Mr. Fisher? The contention is ridiculous. The Governor-General and Council had the right to relieve Lord Dundonald of his position when they liked, and in as stupid a fashion as they liked, and they did—but they had no right whatever to charge him with insubordination, which was a mere lame excuse to get rid of an officer, who would not be a tool in their hands to destroy the militia by yielding to petty political intrigues.

The Globe now refers to Lord Dundonald as "a distinguished Scottish nobleman of ability and integrity, whose misfortunes as well as faults marred his Canadian career." This is like the kind words placed on a man's tombstone by the sorrowing friends who lied about him and abused him during his life. If Lord Dundonald is now a man of ability and integrity, it must be that some at least of those who helped to hound him out of Canada lacked both. Some of the points raised were of such a character that it was utterly impossible that ability and integrity, particularly integrity, could have characterized both disputants. If Lord Dundonald possessed ability and integrity, it is not hard to figure out who was lacking—Woodstock Express, Independent.

SALISBURY'S ESTIMATE.

CONFLICTING TESTIMONY.

Hamilton Spectator.

The "honorable" gentlemen who form Sir Wilfrid Laurier's cabinet, have of late developed an inclination to say what is not so. When Col. Sam Hughes brought up the matter of the Militia Gazette, the Honorable Sir Frederick Borden stated that he had never heard of the letter from his department announcing the withdrawal of government paper from the Gazette. And yet the letter signed by Col. Pinault, began this way:

Sir,—I am directed by the hon. the minister of militia and defence to inform you.

Col. Pinault has been usurping the principal function of the minister of militia—the distribution of patronage—and has lied about it. He ought to be promptly dismissed.

Corr. Toronto News.

I heard him and Balfour speak last month at a banquet, and as I sat only about fifteen feet from and in front of him, I had a good opportunity to note how he appeared. Intensely keen, eager, very active, absolutely confident of himself and of his views, he is a marvel. He is 67 years of age, and yet his hair, except for a slight wisp in front of each ear, is jet black. He has not the old man's look at all; in fact, if you did not know his age, you would put him down as between forty and fifty years. He looks younger than Balfour, his junior by ten years. He has none of the signs of age. I was so much impressed with his appearance that I am prepared to believe that he has twenty years of public life ahead of him. In any case, he is yet going to be prime minister. He is absolutely master already of the Conservative party, he is the only man in public life that knows his own mind, and knows also what he wants. There is an intense admiration for him amongst the majority of the professional class, and intellectual people generally, that is paralleled only by the deep hatred of his opponents who trouble themselves very little about Balfour except as Chamberlain's "stop gap." In conversation concerning politics with a couple of Liberals, I could find nothing except a keen desire to "kill" Chamberlain. As Balfour said in his speech, Chamberlain is the best hated man in the Kingdom, and that, in view of the whole situation, is an indication of how great a force he is there.

Mrs. John Ridgway, of Paris, was noted for her ready wit. At one of her receptions, apropos of marriage, Guy de Maupassant said—"The honeymoon ends when the wife first asks the husband for money." "No," Mrs. Ridgway retorted; "it ends when the husband ceases to ask the wife how much he can have the pleasure of giving her."

SERMON FOR LABOR DAY

DR. TALMAGE SYMPATHIZES WITH HARD LOT OF WORKINGMAN.

VIRTUE SEEN IN AFFLICTION

Oppression Does Not Always Decline, As Witness the Multiplication of the Hebrews in the Land of Egypt During the Reign of the Pharaoh Who Knew Not Joseph—A Comparison With American
Labor Conditions of To-day.Bated according to Act of Parliament of Canada, in the year 1904, by William Hall, of Toronto, at the Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 4.—In this sermon, which is specially appropriate to the Sunday before Labor Day, the preacher expresses his sympathy with the hard lot of the workingman and points out some of the conditions which increase his difficulties. The text is Exodus 1, 12, "The more they afflicted them, the more they multiplied and grew."

"Some virtues," wrote Joseph Addison, "are seen only in affliction." But from the Egyptian standpoint it would take a very long and a very useless investigation to find any virtue in the national catastrophe which, as the text would indicate, was about to overwhelm the Egyptian kingdom. The mightiest foreign foe ever assembled upon the borderland drained by the arteries of the gigantic Nile was not to be feared as much as was the host of enslaved Hebrews who were living among them. It was only a few hundred years before that a little handful of Hebrews, with their flocks and herds, had migrated to and settled in the land of Goshen during the Premiership of Joseph, the famous statesman. But since that time the descendants of old Jacob had multiplied so greatly that now they could be counted literally by the hundreds of thousands. Not only in numbers were they to be feared, but in mental power also. With the proverbial acquisitiveness of the Hebrews, these people were absorbing much of the wealth of the kingdom. Moreover, the "signs of the times" declared they would soon become rulers of the nation. By a silent revolution they threatened to take possession of the Egyptian Government.

"What shall we do? What shall we do?" was the one question that was upon almost every Egyptian lip. "Shall we allow the Hebrew people to become the dominant factors upon the banks of the Nile and to sit upon the throne of the Pharaohs?" This question was not only asked in the street, but it was anxiously discussed in the King's palace. To-night we see the lights blazing in the Privy Council room. As we enter the council chamber we see the King sitting at the end of the long room, surrounded by his best and strongest Ministers. After the question has been talked over long and earnestly I see the King rise. He looks straight at his Councilors of State as he says: "Gentlemen, we are facing a condition, not a theory. We dare not and cannot deport the Hebrews from our realm. They are now essential to our national welfare and prosperity as laborers, clerks and servants. But we can do them from holding property. We can forbid them studying in our schools. We can enslave them and make them the chattels of our people. We can degrade them by ignorance and overwork. Thus saith the King. I here and now decree the Hebrew men and women and children from henceforth to be in perpetual bondage. They shall be compelled to make bricks without straw. My Ministers will see that my decree is carried out. When the King speaks the King's will becomes the law. Gentlemen of the Privy Chamber, the Council is dismissed."

This royal behest was carried out to the letter. The Hebrew people living in Egypt were disfranchised. Not only were they deprived of the rights of citizenship, but they were degraded to the most abject and humiliating servitude. Their property was taken away from them, and they could not even claim their wives and children as their own. Yet, strange to say, and yet not strange after all, the more the Hebrews were cursed and struck and ill-used and murdered by the Egyptians the more their numbers grew, and the more of a menace they became to the Egyptian Government.

This is the first Sunday in September. To-morrow is Labor Day. Many preachers this Sabbath morning will be talking to the mechanics, the clerks and the farm hands, to the masons, the carpenters and plumbers, and to all those who work with their hands. It is not inappropriate that this morning I should present some of the conditions that are afflicting American labor. In this talk I should speak frankly concerning capital. I shall speak with equal candor concerning labor, for I firmly believe, as a dear friend of mine said to me a few days ago, that "the greatest curse labor has to bear to-day does not come from capital, but from labor itself."

"The more the Egyptian master afflicted the Hebrew slaves," says our text, "the more they multiplied and grew, and the Egyptians grieved because of the affliction of Israel." Labor's afflictions. We first find them in the American laborer being compelled to compete for work in a home market that is glutted with foreign immigrants. We find them in the great army of invaders which each year disembarks at Ellis Island, New York's Castle Garden or the present day. We find them in the impoverished Italians and the Bohemians and the Portuguese and in the human outpourings of Europe who each year come to our manufacturers and foundrymen and contractors and say: "Let me handle your pick." "Let me lay your asphalt pavement." "Let me dig your mines." "Let me chop your wood." "Let me work in your foundries." "We are foreigners. We do not intend to become citizens of the United States. As soon as we can save up a little money we intend to return to our native land and live there. But meantime we will work cheaper than any American man can work. Why? Because our living expenses are practically nothing. We will live in dugouts. We will eat food that no American family would eat. We will buy no books and will wear the cheapest clothing. As a result of these conditions of living we can crowd your American workman to the wall."

The American laborer, from this foreign competition, must have help, and help right soon, to save him from this condition of affairs. Our National Legislature must give it. Shall we lift high our tariff walls to protect capital and not at the same time lift high our walls of immigration laws to protect our native workers? Is not the American laborer's status as valuable in the sight of our Government as the capitalist's pocketbook? "What do you mean by such a statement as that?" some one asks. "Would you start another Know Nothing party? Would your ballot box slogan be 'American work only for the American born—American political offices only to be held by those cradled under the shadows of Mount Washington and Pike's Peak?' Oh, no, I am not preaching any such political nonsense. I do not believe there ever was a political party wrapped in the swaddling clothes of so many errors as that born in 1853, and which, with ex-President Millard Fillmore as its Presidential candidate, swept many of our northern States in 1856 with the political cry, 'America only for the American born.' American liberties and American prowess both on land and sea, militarily and industrially, have been won and built up by America's adopted sons as well as by her native born children. Were there not foreigners among George Washington's mightiest companions in arms? Baron Johan DeKalb, who was shot at Camden in 1780, and Kosciuszko and Lafayette and many others—they were all foreign born. Who were the most valued statesmen during Washington's Administration next to the President himself? Alexander Hamilton, who was foreign born. Who was John Ericsson, the inventor of the Monitor, that revolutionized naval warfare and saved the American navy off Newport News? He was a Swedish-American; he was foreign born. If you blot out from our nation's history all the deeds which America's foster sons and daughters have accomplished for the land of their adoption you blot out some of its brightest pages.

But while we, as American citizens, would welcome gladly into our midst the German or Englishman or Scotchman or Swede and the men of any foreign nationality who with intelligence would come among us and say: "Brother, give me thy hand, for to-day I would be one with you and become an American citizen," yet to-day we would not welcome the ignorant, the idle, the filthy, the pauper, the lazzaroni or the criminal off-scourings of Europe or Asia, who would come to this land, not to become American citizens, but to stay here just long enough to scrape together a few thousand dollars and then go back to the land of their birth. We would not welcome the ignorant and depraved of foreign lands, who would underbid our American workmen, and compel our American boys and girls to live in dugouts or as rats in a cellar as they live. These classes have neither part nor parcel in the glorious inheritance of freedom and equality for which our forefathers fought and bled. While we would gladly open our gates to the oppressed of other lands, we would shut them against a horde that can have no appreciation for the precious privilege of American citizenship, and no sympathy with our national aims and ambitions, and whose coming is as much of a menace to our people as the cloud of locusts is to a harvest field. Nations, like individuals, should be as well as generous in their hospitality. We must protect ourselves against the industrial locusts of the old world by wise and discriminating laws, which shall do justice to none, and which, while vindicating our ancient hospitality as a world-wide asylum for the lovers of liberty and independence, shall shut out the swarms of mere mercenaries and against the "indescriminate elements" which other lands seek to thrust upon us, from whatever quarter they may come.

Labor's next great affliction is to be found in the absurd and tyrannical demands made by some labor unions, which seem to have the suicidal policy of antagonizing capital at all times and under all pretexts and of widening the breach between capital and labor, with the result that labor itself is the heaviest sufferer through their insane follies. The most brutal tyrant the southern negro knew in antebellum days was not the white man, but the negro himself who was made the overseer of the plantation. In the same way in many cases the most brutal tyrant the laboring man has to-day is not the capitalist, but the "walking delegate" or the "mercenarist" political trickster who, as a laboring man, manipulates the executive committees which govern the labor unions for their own ruin. Of course this indictment is not universal in its application. There are many honest and upright and beneficent labor organizations, like that of which the late Mr. Arthur was president, namely, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Mr. Arthur brought that organization up to such perfection that it not only looked after the interests of the owners of the different railroads, but after the interests of the engineers themselves. There are many clear brained, sagacious and noble minded labor leaders whose object is not to disorganize the labor market, but to steady it, so that employers as well as the employed may have their due.

Now, my laboring friends, mark you this. I am not claiming that capital is all right and labor is all wrong. I think some of the most merciful men in the world are to be found in the ranks of capitalists. Some of them will squeeze out of a worker his last drop of blood. But, while capital in some instances may be merciless, it is quite certain that if the labor unions will stop their petty bickerings and their unjustifiable tyrannies and unite to demand what is right capital will be compelled to yield to all of labor's just demands. So long as labor persists in making absurd claims just so long will labor not only be refused such demands, but labor will lose much of what she justly and rightfully ought to have. When a labor union comes and says, "Capitalist, you must hire the men I send to you and no others," then the capitalist, stung by such tyranny, replies: "Rather than have you dictate to me what I shall do I will fight your organization to the last dollar. Free I was born, free I shall live, and free I shall die." It is flint against steel and is the inevitable result of such a course of action. This is the spirit with which capital is to-day fighting labor when labor makes absurd and unjust demands.

But I would speak also in reference to another great affliction from which labor to-day is suffering. The world, by every law of justice, owes every man, woman and child a living, if they are ready to work for it. But God never intended some people to work for a living in certain ways any more than he intended a colt six months old to do the work of a well developed draft horse. He never intended young boys and girls to leave school before their time, or wives and daughters to labor as farm hands in the fields, where there are sturdy fathers and brothers physically able to bear the brunt of the work under the noontide sun. Yet everywhere we see strong men, able-bodied men who want to work and yet who are unable to find employment because the work that they should do is being done by women who ought to be at home caring for the household. The natural place for woman is the home. It is there that the qualities with which God has endowed her find their proper exercise. To be the wife and mother, to make the house a home by her sweet and refining influence, to train the children to be good and wise men and virtuous women by a mother's love and care—these are the services she alone can render, and if she deserts that duty it will go undone, and this country will lose its moral tone. There is no compensation known to man for the lack of a mother's beneficent influence on her children.

I yield to no man in my admiration for the girl, who being left fatherless, and having no brothers capable of earning a livelihood for the bereaved family, goes forth to toil for the support of her widowed mother and her fatherless brothers and sisters. Many a noble girl is doing that and deserves to be honored for her conduct. Many a girl unsought in marriage, seeing her father gradually losing by age his capacity for work, takes up the burden of helping to provide for the family, which he is no longer able to bear alone. All honor to her for the assistance she is rendering, and for the sympathy and reverence for her parents which she displays in relieving them of care and anxiety. Many a widow, clinging to her children, and shrinking from the pain of having them scattered in the charitable homes of relatives or friends, finds employment by which she can support and educate them and fit them for their duty in life. God bless and help all such and give them the strength they need for their arduous lot!

But the spectacle of what such women are doing has stirred the ambition of another class of women. These are they who voluntarily and by choice elect to do a man's work in the world. In order that they may escape the drudgery of domestic service or the weariness of school teaching or in order to obtain money for extravagant dress and ornament or for luxuries which their fathers cannot provide, they thrust themselves into business pursuits, displacing some man who was earning a higher salary, and they help to depress the market rate of wages.

I protest against a system which makes it impossible for a strong, able bodied man to find work, forcing him to stay at home and live upon his young daughters' earnings when they themselves should be at school or helping their mothers at home. There are only two ways to rectify this evil. Employers should hire their employees in two ways. First, when an applicant comes for a place give the preference to men who are husbands and fathers and the heads of families; second, absolutely refuse to employ any young girl in a store or factory unless that young girl is fatherless, brotherless and has others dependent upon her for support. It is high time that some of our female clerks who are working in stores for a little extra spending money should go back to their homes and domestically help to care for their mothers and fathers and younger sister and brothers, where they belong.

The afflictions of the industrial workers of America are very great. Indeed, I sometimes think they are about as badly off in America to-day as were the Israelites in the Egyptian capital over three thousand years ago. In a blunt way I have tried to present three or four of the difficult labor problems which confront the laboring classes of America at the present time. Do not, however, even for a moment suppose that I consider these problems and others like them impossible of solution. The same God who led the children of Israel out of their enslavement will yet lead his American children to freedom from their industrial ills. I feel that both laborers and capitalists, living together in harmony and love—all living as Christ would have them live. May all of us, whether we work in broadcloth or in overalls, try to speed that millennial day by doing to our brothers as we would have our brothers do to us. Then all labor troubles will not be solved by the "black rule of selfishness," but by the "Golden Rule of Christian love."

MOTHER AND BABY

When baby is well the mother is happy. When baby is cross, fretful, feverish and cannot sleep, the mother is depressed, worried and unhappy. Baby's Own Tablets make both mother and baby happy, because they cure all the common ailments of infants and young children. They sweeten the stomach, cure colic, aid teething children, cure constipation, prevent diarrhoea, and promote sound, healthy sleep. And you have a solemn guarantee that the Tablets contain no opiate or poisonous "soothing" stuff. Mrs. D. McGill, Blakeney, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets and have found them the best medicine I have ever had for the cure of the ailments from which young children suffer. I shall always keep a box of Tablets in the house." Sold by medicine dealers everywhere or sent by mail at 25 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LUCK AND LAZINESS.

Luck tapped upon a cottage door
A gentle, quiet tap,
And Laziness, who lounged within,
The cat upon his lap,
Stretched out his slippers to the fire
And gave a sleepy yawn;
"Oh, bother, let him knock again!"
He said, but Luck was gone.

Luck tapped again, more faintly still,
Upon another door,
Where industry was hard at work
Mending his cottage floor.
The door was opened wide at once;
"Come in," the worker cried,
And Luck was taken by the hand
And fairly pulled inside.

He is still there—a wondrous guest
From out whose magic hand
Fortune flows fast—but Laziness
Can never understand
How industry found such a friend.
"Luck never came my way,"
He sighs, and quite forgets the knock
Upon his door that day.

IT'S WHEN YOU HAVE TOOTH-ACHE

That the power of Nerviline makes itself quickly felt. Any aching tooth can be relieved by Nerviline in a few moments by filling the cavity with bathing soaked in Nerviline. A good plan is to rub the gums with Nerviline also. There isn't a single remedy that has one-fourth the pain-relieving power of Nerviline which acts like magic. Nerviline kills the pain outright and prevents it from returning. You can't beat Nerviline for tooth-ache or neuralgia; it's the best pain cure made. Price 25c.

For he knows the effect of wine and malt
Is quickly banished by Abbey's Salt.

A night at the club—an unusually elaborate banquet—even a "bird and a bottle"—ought to be followed by a foaming glass of ABBEY'S SALT, next morning.

It cleans the stomach and bowels—stirs up the liver—clears the head—gives snap and vim to the whole system—and sends a man to business as "bright as a dollar."

It makes the clubman, the epicure, forget he has a liver.

Water For British Troops.

British soldiers are provided with boiled water for drinking. The water is first clarified by a kind of rough filtration through charcoal containing a certain amount of potassium permanganate and then "sterilized" either by filtration or by heat, after which it is distributed to the troops by means of water carts reserved for "safe" water only.

LA GRIPPE COMING AGAIN.

The doctors believe another epidemic of Grippe is here, and already many are suffering. The medical men are not afraid of Grippe since Catarrhose was introduced, and the claim that no one will ever catch this disease who inhales the fragrant, healing vapor of Catarrhose a few times daily. Catarrhose kills the Grippe germ and prevents it spreading through the system. "Last winter I had an attack of Grippe," writes C. P. Mackinnon, of St. John's. "I bought Catarrhose and got relief in short time. I found Catarrhose better than anything else and was cured by using it." Catarrhose prevents and cures Grippe, colds and catarrh.
