He let the nugget fall on the table with a thud, and pointing to it, regarded Rath with sparkling eyes. "That's gold, Rath—gold! Do you hear? And there's plenty more of it—oceans! THE PRINCE

Even in this time of peace in the war the Archbishop of Canterbury's reference to the issue in his decision to the Kikuyu very, which has just been in book form, will receive consideration.

At the conclusion of the conference the Bishop of Mombasa (Dr. Williams), celebrated the Holy Eucharist, at which the delegates, including Presbyterians, Baptists, Methodists, and others, received communion, at which the delegates from the Scottish Episcopalians were towards unity—i.e. which the only building available purpose.

The Archbishop of Canterbury refused to accept a charge of schism brought by the Zanzibar (Dr. Weston) against the proposed scheme of federation together with the action of the Central Consultative Council which is a committee of members of the Lambeth Conference had the advantage of this view, the Archbishop has his decision. With regard to the conference at Kikuyu the Archbishop's words of the five days.

The Central Consultative Council heartily appreciate the fact that the Central Consultative Council, the promotion of the spirit and the adoption of steps towards unity—if we may say so. All the mutual consideration and with the united testimony to the faith which is enshrined in the Apostles' and Nicene Creed makes for unity; and it is methods and by such a tenor, perhaps, than by formal dogma that the conditions may be met which the end of our common prayers—a genuine Church—will be shaped by the Spirit of God according to the large measure of agreement between both sides in the which has arisen upon the policy. The Bishop of Mombasa is so anxious as his episcopal colleagues, and has recognized the inauguration of areas within evangelization is assigned denominations. On the other hand, the Bishops of Mombasa has declared that the Zanzibar's proposal for a missionary council of Episcopates.

THE PRIMATE'S DECISION

On Kikuyu -- Christian Comity.

Even in this time of preoccupation with the war the Archbishop of Canterbury's decision on the issues raised in reference to the Kikuyu controversy, which has just been published in book form, will receive careful consideration.

It will be remembered that in June, 1914, the Bishops of Mombassa, and Uganda took part in a conference at Kikuyu in British East Africa, which was attended by about 60 missionaries representing various religious bodies at work in that area. These present drew up a scheme of federation, designed to promote fellowship among the various religious bodies with which they were associated.

At the conclusion of the conference the Bishop of Mombassa (Dr. Peel), assisted by the Bishop of Uganda (Dr. Willis), celebrated the Holy Communion, at which the delegates, including Presbyterians, Baptists, Methodists, and others, received the Sacrament in the Scottish Presbyterian manner.

With regard to the admission to the Holy Communion of Christians who have not been episcopally confirmed, the Archbishop thinks it right to leave large responsibility with the Diocesan Bishop, and adds:

non-Episcopal churches in East Africa is a welcome evidence of a serious desire to grapple with a problem of which as a missionary Bishop he cannot be unconscious.

THE QUESTION OF FEDERATION.

There is, the Archbishop thinks, a very real difficulty in regarding it as possible that one section of a great communion should federate itself with some of those outside without thereby compromising, or at least affecting, the life and organization of the whole communion of which it is a part. Such a federation requires a sanction which is more than local.

In following the advice of the consultative body, the Archbishop points out that the scheme of federation provides that "for the present all recognized as ministers in their own churches shall be welcomed as visitors to preach in other federated churches." The Archbishop does not think this rule in itself contravenes any obligatory principle of Church Order, but adds that care must be taken to ensure that the authority of the Diocesan Bishop be maintained.

With regard to the admission to the Holy Communion of Christians who have not been episcopally confirmed, the Archbishop thinks it right to leave large responsibility with the Diocesan Bishop, and adds:

Looking carefully at present-day facts and conditions I have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion a Diocesan Bishop acts rightly in sanctioning, when circumstances seem to call for it, the admission to Holy Communion of a devout Christian man to whom the ministrations of his own church are for the time inaccessible, and who, as a baptized person, desires to avail himself of the opportunity of communicating at one of our Altars.

With regard to "the sanction, directly or by implication, given to members of the Church of England to receive the Holy Communion at the hands of Ministers not episcopally ordained," the Archbishop observes:

There is no branch of Christian polity the handling of which requires more reverent caution than does this. If, for the sake of securing what looks like a gain in the direction of Church unity, or of attaining in the mission field a nearer prospect of a church in the true sense "native," we were to treat the question of a three-fold ministry as trifling or negligible, it is obvious that we might do irreparable ill to the future life of the Church of Christ in that region of the earth. Putting the matter at its lowest, the contribution which we make to the church of the future must be of our very best. It must, so far as we can secure it, be "thoroughly furnished" in effectiveness of spiritual power. Consciously to be party to anything less or lower would be intolerable, because on our part it would be disloyal. I do not say that the acceptance of what has been proposed (and, as the proposer thinks, safeguarded) would of necessity bear that character. But the danger would be neither distant nor unreal. The Archbishop proceeds to deal with the special celebration of the Holy Communion at the close of the Kikuyu Conference, and declares:--

It was far from being the first time that in the mission fields of Africa or of the Far East non-episcopal missionaries have participated in such a service, when, the celebrant was a missionary Bishop or a leading presbyter of our own Church, and in commenting upon the action of the Bishops and clergy at Kikuyu it is unfair to forget that fact.

The service, however, was admittedly abnormal and irregular, and is liable nowadays to a degree undreamed of a few years ago, to acquire a character it never claimed, and to be looked upon as a notable "demonstration" in favour of a particular ecclesiastical policy at a time when such lines of policy are the subject of keen and almost world-wide debate. The Archbishop concludes as follows:

I believe that we shall act rightly, and that the wisest and strongest missionaries believe that we shall act rightly, in abstaining at present from such services as the closing service held at Kikuyu, now that in a world of quick tidings and of ample talk they are shown to be open to the kind of misunderstandings which have arisen.

The subject of reunion and inter-communion is with us day by day; it is not going to be forgotten. Our efforts are not over; we ask continually for Divine guidance towards "the haven where we would be." We do not, I am persuaded, ask in vain.

A Sore Which Would Not Heal

Police-man's Testimony to Zam-Buk.

Constable R. B. Nunn, of Vernon, F. C., says: "I would like to bear testimony to the wonderful healing properties of Zam-Buk. For over two years I suffered acutely with a sore on my leg which, despite all treatment, turned into an open ulcer. I tried all kinds of medicines, ointments, liniments, etc., but notwithstanding the wound seemed only to get worse. Finally it became so bad that I was on the point of going into a hospital, when a friend persuaded me to try Zam-Buk. I did so, and the first few applications made the ulcer less painful. By degrees the inflammation went down and there were traces of healing. To cut a long story short, from the time of first commencing to use Zam-Buk the ulcer improved and twelve boxes of Zam-Buk effected a complete cure.

"Although the ulcer was healed, I was still afraid that the healing would be only temporary, and that in a very short time it would break out again. To my extreme delight this has not been the case. It is close on a year since Zam-Buk healed the ulcer, and as there is not the slightest trace of any further trouble, I can safely speak of my case as a complete cure."

The above is but one of many instances where Zam-Buk has proved effective in healing old and obstinate sores after other preparations have completely failed. For eczema, piles, cuts, burns, bruises, chapped hands, cold cracks, and all skin diseases or injuries, and as an embrocation for rheumatism, sciatica, stiffened muscles, etc., nothing can equal Zam-Buk. All druggists and stores, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price; 50c. per box. Refuse substitutes.

Educating Fishermen.

Modern Methods of Handling Necessary to Increase the Use of Fish.

Fish is certain to become a much more important supplement to the meat diet of Canadians than it is at present. It can be produced more cheaply; it possesses splendid nourishing qualities, and, when properly cooked, it is a most palatable food. Unfortunately, much of the fish offered for sale is not of a high quality. This may, in part, be traced to the crude, careless, and often wasteful methods that are used by the fishermen in taking and handling fish, and the fact that such methods are used demonstrates the need for providing technical education for fishermen.

While Canada possesses one of the richest and most varied fisheries in the world, they are, in most instances, being exploited by men who have little or no technical knowledge of the natural history of fish, the proper methods of preparing fish for market, as well as of other aspects of the fisheries industry. Tradition plays a large part in the lives of many fishermen. It is extremely difficult for them to shake off the obsolete practices of their fathers and adopt those that experience in other countries has shown to be superior.

During the present winter the Canadian Fisheries Association was organized under very favorable auspices. It is gratifying to note that the new association was formed for the "development of the fishing industry and in popularizing the consumption of fish is the education of the fishermen."

Schools for fishermen exist in practically every European maritime nation. It is in Japan, however, that fishery instruction is being carried to the greatest perfection.

Fish is a delicate food product, the handling of which requires a great deal of scientific knowledge and technical skill. This applies especially to the first stages of taking the fish and preparing them for the market. Consequently, unless improvements can be brought about in the methods of the fishermen, the development of the fisheries industry will be needlessly slow and wasteful. The educational branch of the Canadian Fisheries Association has a splendid opportunity for useful work.—A. D. in Conservation.

"RETAINERS" FOR ADMIRALTY DOCTORS.

The following Parliamentary question was addressed by Commander Bellairs to the First Lord in regard to consultants employed by the Admiralty:

Whether any sums of over £3,000 a year are being paid to doctors and surgeons in civil life as retainers for their services; if so, in what cases and what amounts; and whether the arrangement was made prior to the war and allows of private practice as well.

Dr. Macnamara replied: The following consultants are paid over £3,000 per annum: Mr. G. L. Cheyne, C.B., C.V.O., F.R.C.S., £5,000 per annum; Sir W. W. Cheyne, Bt., C.R., F.R.C.S., £5,000 per annum; Mr. Raymond Johnson, M.B., F.R.C.S., £5,000 per annum; Sir W. Macewan, F.R.C.S., £5,000 per annum; Mr. H. D. Rolleston, M.D., F.R.C.S., £5,000 per annum; Mr. G. R. Turner, F.R.C.S., £5,000 per annum.

The employment of eight consultants was approved previous to the outbreak of war. The whole time of these consultants is at the disposal of the Admiralty, and they are under similar regulations with regard to private practices as all other medical officers serving, viz., private practice is not forbidden, but must not in any way interfere with the performance of an officer's naval duties.

Inoculation Doesn't Hurt.

SHOULD THE OPERATION BE MADE COMPULSORY?

In a recent speech Mr. Tennant, the Under-Secretary of State for War, stated that Lord Kitchener and his advisers were considering the compulsory adoption of inoculation against typhoid. Already recruits of the new Army who refuse to be inoculated are having their leave shortened, and it is a certainty that very few of them will find their way out to the front, for the deaths are far higher among those who have not been inoculated than among those who have.

Sir William Osler, the famous physician, said in a recent speech, "It is bitter enough to lose thousands of the best of our young men in a hideous war, but it adds terribly to the tragedy to think that more than one-half of the losses may be due to preventable disease. Typhus fever, cholera, enteric, and dysentery have won more victories than powder and shot. Typhus and malaria, which one hundred years ago routed a great English army in the Walcheren Expedition against Antwerp, are no longer formidable foes. But enough remain, as we found by sad experience in South Africa. Of the 22,000 lives lost in that war, the bullets accounted for only 8,000, the bacilli for 14,000!"

The Deadly Typhoid Fever.

The one disease above all others which has proved most fatal is undoubtedly enteric or typhoid fever. In the war between Spain and America one-fifth of the men were stricken down with typhoid. In the South African war there were close on 60,000 cases of typhoid among our soldiers, of whom 29,000 were invalided home as a result and over 8,000 died outright.

As in the case of small-pox so in the case of typhoid, the preventive—it is not a cure—has been discovered, inoculation. The method was discovered by an English physician, Sir Almonro Wright, and has since been introduced into the armies of Germany, France, Japan and the United States, as well as our own. In France, for instance, the typhoid rate among those who had not been inoculated was 168.44 per thousand, and among the inoculated 1.8 per thousand! In France and the United States, by the way, inoculation is compulsory.

To make a soldier immune to the dread fever two inoculations are necessary, and the operation is the simplest thing in the world.

This is how it is done. A soldier is told to attend at a certain time to be inoculated. He takes off his coat, bares his left arm, and one of the hospital orderlies paints a portion of the skin with iodine. The doctor plunges the point of a hypodermic syringe beneath the painted portion of the skin, empties the fluid in it, and the spot is then repainted with iodine. The only pain is just the momentary pricking sensation of the needle.

Exactly How It Feels.

There is practically no inflammation, only a slight tingling, and afterwards a number feeling in the left arm, followed by a feeling of stiffness in the ribs and perhaps a slight headache. As a rule a soldier is back to his ordinary routine two days after his first inoculation.

There is only one thing he mustn't do, or he will certainly have a bad time of it; he mustn't touch alcohol for twelve hours before he is inoculated or for forty-eight hours after.

A soldier's inoculation for the second time is ten days after his first. This second inoculation is very much stronger than the first, but it has no more effect, for the soldier is by now partly immune from the disease. In fact, only twenty-four hours sick leave is allowed by the Army authorities.

Sometimes a man gets a severe headache and feels very depressed after his second inoculation, but the headache rarely lasts more than a few hours, so long as no alcohol has been touched. The pain in the arm is just as though one had a blow on it, and this pain doesn't last more than a day or two.

In fact, to be inoculated is the simplest thing in the world, really!

OFFICIAL.

LONDON, May 14. The Governor, Newfoundland: General French reports our lines violently bombarded north of the main road. The temporary readjustment in the line has since been completely re-established. The French Government reports that the Belgian Army has repulsed the enemy on the right bank of the Yser.

At Carey many guns, machine guns, rifles and munitions have been captured. Abnain St. Nazaire has been captured with several hundred prisoners. Further progress has been made at Neuville St. Vaast. To-day's report states that German trenches were carried southwest of Souchez. All gains on the Loos-Arras front have been maintained. The Russian Government reports that a successful offensive continues in Eastern Galicia.

HARCOURT.

MORE ENCOURAGING. PETROGRAD, May 14. The Russians have fallen back on strong strategic positions along the River San. They now regard the German drive through West Galicia as having been checked permanently. The arrival of fresh Russian troops, which successfully engaged the German flanks, has relieved the pressure on the Russian centre. These attacks on the German wings, in which Russian cavalry has been supported by mountain artillery, have been prosecuted with unusual ferocity. The retreat of the Russian centre from Luppok is explained here as due, not to pressure from the Germans, but to the exposed situation of the Russians at that point. In view of the rolling back of the Russian right flank, without checking the German westward movement between the Vistula and the Carpathians, there are indications of a new Austro-German offensive against the Russian left flank in the direction of Strij and Uezok. Evidence of this is seen in the transfer of German troops eastward through Luppok. In view of this new activity, the Russians attach great importance to their recent successes further east in the Trans-Dniester country, where they occupy forty-five miles of a front between Obyryn and Czernowitz.

Evening Telegram Fashion Plates.

The Home Dressmaker should keep a Catalogue Scrap Book of our Pattern Cuts. These will be found very useful to refer to from time to time.

1248.—A MOST ATTRACTIVE PLEASING MODEL.

Ladies' Lounging Robe or Kimono. Light blue crepe, with figures in soft tones of cream and darker blue, was used for this model. The cuffs and collar were faced with blue satin. This style is lovely in the pretty flowered lawns and dainty dimities, and nice for cretonnes, China and Japanese silks, also for cashmere, challie and silk albatross. For a warm robe in this style, blanket, flannel or flannelette could be used. The Pattern is cut with a deep shaped yoke, and the deep neck opening is finished with a rolling collar. Seaming cuffs trim the sleeves. The Pattern is cut in 3 sizes: Small, Medium and Large. The medium size will require 7 yards of 36 inch material. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c, in silver or stamps.

1284.—A Dainty Dress for Mother's Girl.

Girl's Dress with or without Peplum and with Sleeve in Either or Two Lengths. As here shown, white batiste was used with "Val" lace and insertion for trimming. The waist portions are tucked at the upper part, and the front of the skirt is tucked to correspond. The sleeve may be in wrist or elbow length. The peplum portions are shaped in deep scallops. Lawn, dimity, challie, organdie, silk crepe and crepe de chine are lovely for this style. The Pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10, and 12 years. It requires 4 1/2 yards of 36 inch material for a 12 year size. Illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c, in silver or stamps.

— IS —

"The Paint with the Guarantee."

Count your paint cost by years of wear, not by first outlay only. It costs just as much, and sometimes more, for labour to apply cheap, poor paint to your houses as it does to apply B. H. English Paint. This Paint will actually cover more surface per gallon than poor, cheap paint, besides imparting a finer, more beautiful and more durable finish. All colors in stock in 1 gall., 1/2 gall., qts. and 2-lb. tins.

THE COLOGNE VOLKS ZEITUNG COMMENT.

AMSTERDAM, May 14. The Cologne Volks Zeitung, commenting upon the expressions of the American opinion concerning the sinking of the Lusitania, says: "Americans are very prone to criticize, without any expectation that such fighting words will make any great impression upon those whom they denounce. They feel relieved when they have given frank expression to their irritation. In America however, war is most unpopular, because it requires so many sacrifices and destroys business. There is no

The Royal enclosure will be open to the public, and only those races which are justifiable on the score of breeding shall be run. In such a familiar event as the Hunt Cup is likely to be this year from the card. His Majesty is also anxious that racing should commence early in the morning over if possible before luncheon, and that the racing should be held solely and entirely to meet the necessities of breeding of bloodstock.

Poor on Four Thousand.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

The conversation turned the other day upon some of the wealthy acquaintances of ours who bemoan their poverty, because they are obliged to live on the pathetic income of $4,000 a year. Some one blameth them for not realizing how well off they were and wondered if it were not affectation which made them call the home which seems so pleasant and comfortable to "that wretched little hole."

Then some one else came to their defense. "I don't think you can blame them. We'd all feel the same if we had to give up our homes and live in a tenement, and yet that tenement would seem comfortable to some other people."

"I suppose so," said the other critic, but in his voice was the lack of conviction which admits a fact but does not sense it.

What Makes Riches and Poverty.

It is indeed hard for use to sense how much difference the point of view makes in our relation to the material things of life. I had an experience the other day which made me see the effect of this point of view with the lightning flash clearness which facts, obvious and yet not fully sensed, sometimes appear to us.

I happened to ride in town with my washerwoman. We passed a district where there has been a good deal of recent building. The houses are all fitted with modern improvements and are cheaply pretentious, but they are shoddily built and of a monotonous sameness which is depressing. "It's too bad they've built that place up like this," I said, meaning the shoddiness and cheap sameness.

The Washerwoman Thinks They Are Too Grand.

"It is indeed," said my washerwoman, "when there's so many poor people needing homes near town and can't afford to pay the rent they'll ask for these."

Doubtless my standard of living, what I am contented with, 's as surprising to my wealthy friends.

For so it goes. Of course I do not contend that that makes it any fairer that some folks should have more luxuries than they can use and others should labor all their days without getting enough to eat and a clean place to sleep.

I only advance this as a clarification of the fact that wealthy people are no more contented than you or I. Luxury and necessity are words which everyone translates differently according to his standards of living.

A necessity is anything you have always had.

A luxury is something better than the things you are accustomed to.

The Poor Rich Folks.

In a way rich people are to be pitied because the range of luxuries possible for them is pathetically small. And then the number of necessities which they can lose is dangerously large. The greatest material tragedy is to have always had money and then to lose it.

Whilst the greatest material source of happiness must be to suddenly come into money.

For it isn't what we have but what we gain, that makes us happy; not what we lack, but what we lose, that makes us unhappy.

Select Medicine Carefully.

Purgatives are dangerous. They gripe, cause burning pains, and make the constipated condition worse. Physicians say the most ideal laxative is Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut; they are exceedingly mild, composed only of health-giving vegetable extracts. Dr. Hamilton's Pills restore activity to the bowels, strengthen the stomach, and purify the blood. For constipation, sick headache, biliousness and disordered digestion no medicine on earth makes such remarkable cures as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Try a 25c. box yourself.

W. C. T. U.

At Thursday afternoon's meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, the President, Mrs. J. Benedict read interesting letters from the President, Miss Gordon, and the Hon. Secretary, Miss Slack, of the National W.C.T.U., expressing their appreciation of the good work being done by the Union in this city. Before the close of the meeting, the Corresponding Secretary read the last message of the late National President, Mrs. L. Stevens, whose words of encouragement still remain with the Union as an incentive to success in the work which they have undertaken.

The S. S. Neptune

AND HER SUCCESS AS A SEAL HUNTER.

The s.s. Neptune, which was sold recently, is by long odds the most successful seal hunter Newfoundland ever had. This ship, constructed of wood, prosecuted the voyage for forty springs, and during that period brought to port $12,000 seals or an average of over 20,000, the highest average on record. And no other ship either of steel or wood that engaged in the sealfishery for even less than half the period, that the Neptune did can lay claim to such a successful record. In the year 1873, or 42 years ago, the Neptune came to the country. Two years of this she did not take part in the sealing voyage. In 1904 she was under charter to the Canadian Government and wintered in Hudson Bay, and in the spring of 1912 she was engaged by 'Lucky' Scott and his party on an exploration trip in the Far North. It must be of interest to note that in the year of 1884 the Neptune, under command of the late Captain Sam Blandford, brought in 41,823 seals, being filled on deck and below; again in 1888 returned with her log loaded, hailing for 42,242 white-coats. In view of her remarkable success with the seal industry, the name Neptune is peculiarly appropriate, whilst it may also be a coincidence to mention the fact that her new purchaser was a member of the 'Lucky' Scott party in 1912. The Neptune is now on the dry dock having repairs and alterations made and otherwise put in condition for her round-the-world cruise, leaving here for New York June 5th, in charge of Capt. 'Bob' Bartlett.

DRIVER TELLS HOW THEY SAVED THE GUNS AT TPRES.

London, May 7.—Driver Wheeler, of the Canadian artillery, now lying in hospital here, describing the events following the loss of the guns says: "All the horses had been killed. Our fellows were rushing like mad into the Germans with the bayonet to get the guns back. My two friends and myself thought we would try. We had to cross a grain field and two large ditches. When we got to the guns, the Germans were practically on top of them. One chap had got right up and I knew he was trying to get the breach, so I emptied my revolver into him. We had only six horses, and they reckon eight horses are needed to pull a gun. "We got one clear away and on coming back for the second my horse was shot under me, throwing me under the wheels and breaking my elbow. "I already had a piece of shrapnel in it. We got a second one, and were then used up, so we tumbled into a ditch, those guns were again in action for use the night afterwards."

At the City Hall.

The Chairman, Messrs. Harris, Ayre, McNamara, Mullaly, McGrath, Morris and Anderson attended last night's meeting of the Civic Commission.

The Reid Nfld. Co. wrote re an interview with the Special Committee appointed to deal with the vacant land at Port William. The Company agreed to erect a board fence around the property and to put up notices prohibiting the depositing of rubbish in that locality. The Board may also take down the old stone building at Port William, provided that the Reid Co. will retain any oak beams that may be in the building. The letter also suggested that the Board supply police protection.

The proposals were agreed to. Several letters asking for extension of sewerage were read, and a Committee in conjunction with the Engineer will enquire and report on the matter.

James Ellis, Southside, in reply to communication from the Board, said that he was willing to sell the land asked for at $300. The matter will be considered.

Plans of Cochrane Street Church were submitted and approved.

W. F. Butler furnished plans of proposed offices for the Commercial Cable Co. The Engineer will report as to the proposed building covering a certain sewer before permission will be given to begin construction.

The Engineer reported on the condition of Steven Street and stated that the laying of a new sewer in this locality would cost about $200. Steps will be taken to provide for the laying of the said sewer.

Several applications for permission to make repairs to houses were referred to the Engineer.

James Murphy complained of the condition of vacant land on Pennywell Road. The erection of a fence will be ordered.

After the adoption of the several reports, and routine business had been transacted Mr. Anderson referring to the Municipal Bill now before the Legislative Council, said:—

"My name has been associated with the first reading of the Municipal Bill, now before the Legislative Council. In taking charge of the Bill I may say I did so just as the House was about to close, and at the request of the Hon. leader of the Government, I wish to state the second reading of the Bill has been deferred, and I might further state the Bill will be taken in charge by the Hon. leader of the Government in the Legislative Council. As my attendance must be in support with my brother Commissioners in the work of our charter, until completed, and section 1 and sub-section 1 is not in accord with a resolution carried unanimously by the Board of Commissioners, I desire to have no direct connection with the Bill, but would prefer an open course to discuss it on its merits as it comes before the Council."

After the passing of pay rolls the meeting adjourned at 10 o'clock.

Are you "Nervy"?

Do you "jump" at a sudden sound? Do you have headaches or neuralgia? Are you irritable? Are you depressed? Are you troubled with sleeplessness? If so, you need a short course of "Wingarnis" (the Wine of Life). There is nothing so good as "Wingarnis" for revitalizing the nerves—nothing so prompt in giving them new life.

"Wingarnis" possesses the great advantage of getting right to the root of nerve troubles, and by means of an enriched blood supply to give new vitality and new life to the whole nervous system. That is why over 10,000 Doctors recommend "Wingarnis."

THE KING AND ASCOT.

I hear that the arrangements for the Ascot race-meeting are receiving the closest supervision of the King, and that his Majesty intends to keep the meeting within the severest limits. The Royal enclosure will disappear, and his Majesty desires that only those races, which are absolutely justifiable on the score of horse-breeding shall be run. In this way, such a familiar event as the Royal Hunt Cup is likely to be missing this year from the card. His Majesty is also anxious that racing should commence early in the morning and be over if possible before lunch. In short, fashionable racing Ascot this year will be held solely and absolutely to meet the necessities of the breeding of bloodstock.

PRINCE OF WALES AT HOME.

The Prince of Wales since his return from the front bearing despatches from Field-Marshal French, has certainly impressed people by the improvement in his physique since he first went to the seat of war. The unaccustomed activities in which for months he has been engaged have had the effect on the heir apparent that similar efforts have had on a myriad of his young fellow countrymen unaccustomed in other days to sustained bodily effort, and the Prince's cheerfulness is as marked as his increased strength. It has been thought to be possible that during his brief stay in England he may run down to Oxford to revisit the scenes of his University career, but he would find so few of his former acquaintances and friends there that the idea is not unlikely to be abandoned. At Oxford the one formerly accustomed feature of the streets in term-time is now conspicuous by its absence, and that is the abundant supply of young men. To-day about the only young men to be seen in "the High," except those obviously not of sufficient strength to join the forces, are Rhodes scholars from the United States, and these will be able to sweep the board of all "events," whether sporting or scholastic, that will be in competition this year.

GLADSTONE'S DEAD GRANDSON.

Lieutenant Gladstone, who has just been killed fighting at the front with his regiment the Welsh Fusiliers, had by his own confession no taste for soldiering. He felt, he said to one who knew him intimately, that he had none of the qualities which go to make a soldier and that he was too frail physically to withstand the rigors of a military campaign. But he never hesitated when the call to duty came to him as it did, he told his friend, in the early days of the war, while he was conducting a successful recruiting campaign in Flintshire, the county of which he was Lord Lieutenant. His deep moral conscientiousness would not allow him to remain idle at home in comfort and ease when other men had at his behest loyally rallied to their country's help. But having made his choice he threw himself energetically and enthusiastically into his self-imposed task, and, although he wrote modestly during his period of training that he was afraid "they will never turn me into an efficient soldier," his whole-hearted efforts to master his duties and attain proficiency won him high praise from his superior officers. It is somewhat pathetic now to recall that Mr. Gladstone seems to have had a premonition that he would not return alive from the war. Shortly before he embarked he asked a close political associate to attend while he was absent, to some Parliamentary business connected with his constituency, adding—"This, I am afraid, will be the last request I shall make of you." In relating this to me the friend remarked, "His letter read like a farewell, but I sent him back a chaffing and encouraging reply, telling him to hurry up and beat the Germans and come back to his friends at Westminster."

PROPOSED STATE BREWING MONOPOLY.

Cabinet ministers have not yet come to any decision as to the precise form the further intended restriction of liquor facilities shall take but are continuing to consider various plans that have been submitted to them for enquiry. It is taken as common ground that, while drastic changes are assured of being proposed, total prohibition can be regarded as out of the question, the Government being assured that legislation to this end would arouse a storm of hostile controversy dangerous to the continuance of national union, without any compensating certainty of good result. The plan most favored in ministerial Downing Street at the moment is the acquisition by purchase of all the breweries in the kingdom, and the turning of the State into the position of chief brewer bound to brew only the lightest beer. It is seen by the shrewder among ministers that even this extremely problematic measure would be of no effect if the distilleries were to continue.

ue to pour forth spirits in the present or even greater quantity, and, therefore, these may be attempted to be brought within the ambit of the scheme by stopping the process of distillation and thus securing the prohibition of spirits by a sideward.

RECRUITING ON TOWER HILL.

The mid-day recruiting meeting on Tower Hill, under the shadow of the Tower of London, brings together a crowd well below the middle age. At least three out of four of the listeners round the van would be enrolled in any conscript army. There are clerks by the score eating their apples or smoking the after-lunch cigarette and many men in caps from wharves and warehouses. On a recent visit the look of the Hill as the sunlight struck through the tobacco smoke, contrasted queerly with one's memories of the old days of the dockers' demonstrations, when the wall was the tribune of revolutionaries. But in a dock strike, Tower Hill speeches were important; in these recruiting meetings the speeches hardly matter. The speakers serve the purpose of keeping the crowd together, while the real business is done by the men in khaki who stroll with watchful eyes round the edges. It has been found that the best recruiting agents are soldiers who have fought in Flanders, and several men on leave (one of them wounded) were busy quietly detaching likely men and putting it to them with gentle firmness. The likely man having been skilfully shepherded away from the throng, the policemen close up and form a sort of ring, keeping away embarrassing sightseers. The soldiers always begin with a bit of autobiography—"I'm not talking empty-handed, I was through it from Mons. No one will ever know how near we was to it." If the young man replies sheepishly that he tried to join the army and been rejected, the soldier is ready for him: "Why not try again? No? All right; you'll wait till the Germans come, I suppose, and a blank lot of use you'll be then with a gun." Sailors from their quarters at the once famous and now silent centre, Crystal Palace, worn their way about insinuating leaflets into people's hands. They are noticeably milder in their persuasions than the soldiers are who have been "over there." Each meeting produces its little band of recruits, but the full effect is seen afterwards at the offices.

In the background of the meeting is the silvery-grey Tower and soldiers wheeling and marching in the moor to the sound of the pipes.

FRENCH UNIFORMS.

The statement that the French Government are about to adopt khaki as the wear for its soldiers in the field, is not credited by manufacturers who have been turning out military cloths for the Allies. The French Government has been taking two shades of army cloth—a sky blue and a blue gray. Experience has proved that the light blue shade, which was only recently adopted, is not satisfactory, as at night under the rays of the searchlight it shows up white, consequently the manufacture of this particular shade has been stopped, but blue grey cloth is being turned out with great celerity. Since December it is estimated that nearly 10,000,000 yards of army cloths have been delivered to France from this country, of which about 4,000,000 were despatched in March. It is satisfactory to know that there is plenty of wool and plenty of khaki dye, scarcity of labour being now the greatest problem which manufacturers have to face.

NEW COIFFURES AND CLOTHES.

The fashionable way of doing the hair is undoubtedly the plain waved style, closely fitting the head and showing the ears in a manner that has not been seen for many a day. The smallness of the crowns of hats demands a corresponding smallness of coiffure, for even in the case of the newest broad-brimmed "sailors" and other large shapes they still fit tightly to the head. This style of hair-dressing does not suit everyone, and requires to be softened by side "whiskers" and little curls on the forehead. It is not so high as some months ago, but it is very distinguished and imparts an air of extreme modishness if properly carried out. With it are worn the new old world vogue which are now settling down into favor with the most recalcitrant. Very lovely patterned voiles are being shown, and these made up in the flounced styles are very well suited to both smart wear and the hard times in which we live and dress. The bolero is the most favored of the short coat effects, and it has the great advantage that last year's coats can be transformed into it easily enough. It may be said generally that almost any style may be manipulated so as to be in the fashion this spring, for the addition of a flounce or two to last summer's dresses will as likely as not bring them into line with the prevailing flowing modes.

since the time that is commemorated by the huge statue of Achilles that was set up by the women of England in honour of the Peninsula battles and of Waterloo. It is curious to see this memorial of our last great war standing on its mound while the crowd that passes below is rich with wounded soldiers back from Flanders and young soldiers in training before going there. Except for the kilt of the Highlanders, the uniforms are all different, but the women's costumes has now taken a direct turn back to the Regency. At times last Sunday one could almost imagine oneself in the middle of an early Cruikshank caricature, with the women with small hats and big feathers and drooping, wide, short dresses and enormous muffs come to life again. There is not much color in the crowd but there is a great deal of white in ermine furs and in hats and gaiters. One elderly woman had a hat with a white foundation and globes like grapes, or rather like soap bubbles, suggesting a washing-day effect. Small black and white checks, or tartan, with wide short skirts were common, and there was a slight recrudescence of eccentric cloaks. One lady wore a high black helmet with a great crest of cock's feathers, which with her fine profile and stately presence did suggest the Britannia effect that she seemed to have aimed at. Next to a wounded officer—they are getting painfully common—or a staff officer with decorations or a naval officer (very scarce) the smartest escorts are very oily and blackened officers and men from the anti-air corps, but apart from the soldiers and the women the crowd on Sunday parade now is a middle-aged or elderly one. The presence of Belgian women and children heightens its unusual look. And the conversation is all very different.

MRS. WILLIAMS' LONG SICKNESS

Yields To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elkhart, Ind.:—"I suffered for fourteen years from organic inflammation, showing the signs of female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanative Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me."

"If these lines will be of any benefit you have my permission to publish them."—Mrs. J. E. Williams, 455 James Street, Elkhart, Indiana.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

THE THOUGHTS OF THEOBALD.

PROHIBITION.
The Premier's promised legislation is to be brought up on Monday. It is said that it is vastly different to the Bill he at first intended to bring in, because of the agitation and discussion which Mr. Hickman's resolutions brought forth. It is evident then that when the debate on Mr. Hickman's resolutions was on and Mr. Coaker's amendment was put forward, the Premier could not give any details of his proposed measure because he didn't know them himself. The temperance supporters of his party no doubt put it to him that if they voted against the amendment providing for a plebiscite on Prohibition, they would only do so if his Bill included this way of settling the question. The "Daily News," and the several temperance bodies, the Methodist Greeting, whose editor is Dr. Curtis, have all depended on the assurance of the Premier that his legislation would cover the same ground as the amendment, which is that machinery will be provided for a plebiscite this year on Prohibition for the whole island, and that if it is carried, it will come into force by July, 1916. Nothing could be more fair for all parties concerned, and as so many members of the Government advocated an appeal to the People, there can be no reason for any delay in referring the question to the People. That such an appeal is made this fall rests now with the temperance advocates on the Government benches. They will decide if the evils of liquor are more than Party expediency. And by the way, no provision seems to be provided in the Estimates for the necessary money for the Plebiscite. What does this portend?

BILLY SUNDAY.

The Rev. William Sunday, D.D., seems to be attracting almost as much attention on this side of the Atlantic as the Great War. His method of spreading the Gospel is at once original, emotional, terrifying, attractive to non-thinkers, but I question if his results are lasting. As a matter of fact, results are not lasting, and Mr. Sunday blames the ministers for not holding on to his converts, but I cannot see how such a tension of emotion that Billy works with can be kept up without affecting the nervous system detrimentally. A change of life does not come in a moment, and repentance of heart must be followed by a good life to be of any value. Rev. William has resurrected the ancient belief (Milton) was responsible for a great deal of evil in a personal Devil and a Hell of fire and brimstone, so opposed to modern thought and reason. We are learning better now. We are learning to "press on towards the mark," not because of a reward at the end, nor yet in order to escape the "wrath to come," but for the sake of the good itself. Nothing that is done for the sake of reward is of real value. So the bogey of Hell is retrogression and is as harmful as frightening children with bogey-stories. We are only now coming to the realization of the new commandment to "love" which replaced the old "thou shalt not." Mr. Rowe, thorough muscle teacher that he was, used to say that a mistake should never be made. Each step in learning should be fully considered and therefore accurately taken. So the new Gospel of to-day is to set ideals before men, to influence thought upwards, not downwards, and when thought is made pure, it will soon set the body and the material conditions of life in order. If we teach people to do good and get them to like doing good, I think we may safely leave the bad to take care of itself. If this cannot be done, if we despair of ever doing good because we like doing so, then we lose faith in the ultimate purpose of the Creator.

The Rev. William acknowledges that if he had to depend on the collection which is made for his expenses at his meetings, he would starve, but to my mind that does not altogether justify his method of going round to the rich corporations of the city and asking them to give him what they really thought he was worth to the city, because the viewpoint of rich men is rarely opposed to their own interests, and if Billy Sunday spoke the whole Gospel he would hit rich corporations pretty hard.

GERMAN-JAPAN.

We all know of one William of Germany, who professed to be the devout champion of peace, and who wished to extend his beneficent rule over the whole world, for its own good, of course. We know too well what his Peace meant. We extolled Japan as the most benign of nations, who entered this war with professions of pure altruism, but her actions lately must force us to the conclusion that Kaiserdom and world dominion is not confined to Germany. In point of population and economic powers, China is the greatest country in the world. With unequalled natural products, plenty of iron and coal in close proximity and its overflow of patient industry, it could very soon take a first place in the industrial world, and the possession of this tremendous machine by Japan would warrant the Emperor William's forecast of the yellow peril. There is nothing an astute people, as reckless of human life as Germany, could not do with it. And China, according to our cables, has bowed to Japan's demands, which we have been told include such demands as that the Chinese Government shall consult Japan before choosing foreign advisers in political, military and financial matters, and if such advisers are employed that Japanese shall be preferred. Also that China and Japan shall police jointly important places in China, and that China shall purchase from Japan at least one-half the arms and ammunition it uses hereafter, otherwise an arsenal shall be established in China employing Japanese experts and materials. Also that Japan shall be consulted first in case foreign capital is required for railway construction, ship-building, and harbor improvements in the Province of Fukien, and that Japan shall have the same rights as other nations to establish missions, schools and churches throughout the country with the privilege of propagating Buddhism.

Japan's argument is that she is only proclaiming a Monroe doctrine. As the United States notified the European Powers that she would not tolerate European intervention in America, and would not permit any European Power to acquire territory there, so she is taking the necessary steps to protect Asia from European aggression. In doing this Japan is practically taking China under her rule, and is apparently out for every prospect of becoming a danger to the world's peace. She discovered her power in the war with Russia, and now her next step will be to rule over the greatest country in the world. She has been assimilating with fine distinction, western ideas, rejecting those that appeared useless to her, and in the matter of religion has been most particular in searching the truths of Christianity. It is to the East that we shall be looking with anxiety before many years have passed.

ANOTHER WORD FROM JOHN WORKMAN.

To the Heads of Education.

Dear Sirs,—I have a boy going to school, and I want to let you know how I view the way in which he is being given his education. Right from the start, when he went to school five years ago, I have been puzzled to know what method the teachers are following, for it has always been much the same, and he was taught the primer in the same way that he is taught his harder lessons now. As far as I can make out, his mother and I have taught him about as much as the teachers. He would be given some parts of the primer to learn at home, and of course we taught him. He didn't seem to carry home much of anything that he had learnt in school; it was as if the day had been given up to hearing the lesson which we had taught him home. Spelling was difficult for him and nothing was done to make him "take the word in," for it has always seemed to me that a word which is fully explained and absolutely understood in its use and meaning has a thousand chances more to stick in a child's brain, or a man's for that matter, than a word which is learnt off by mere repetition. And this is a fair sample of all Jack's lessons. He doesn't know why he does things. His reasoning is not developed, and he is filled up with a lot of facts and figures that he only half understands. A lot of this is caused I know by the fact that a teacher is given forty to sixty children to teach, whereas in it is as many as a teacher can do any justice to. How on earth a teacher can be expected to start fifty little brains on the right track is more than I can fathom. Children are no more alike than grown-ups, and in our junior schools how impossible is it for the teacher to deal fairly with the particular needs of each child. And this is what should be done if we have any desire to better the race. And now Jack has reached a class where he is given four or five lessons to prepare every night. There must be many parents like us, who would like to enter a strong protest against these terrible home lessons. If the time which he spends in school (from 9 a.m. till 4 p.m.) is properly used, why should it be necessary to spend two and three hours after tea, studying? If there are parents who think that home lessons should be cut down or perhaps done away with altogether, I wish they would write to the Telegram, and then perhaps the Education Boards would do something about it.

Yours truly,
JOHN WORKMAN.

HOME LESSONS.

There must be many parents, who object to the heavy home lessons that is one of Mr. Workman's grievances. These home lessons are only continued because the parents are so apathetic about it. Let them write, as John Workman suggests, and keep up the agitation till something is done.

She Suffered for Nine Long Years

THEN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED—MADAME BELANGER'S RHEUMATISM.

She also had Backache, Headache and Other Troubles, but they all Vanished When She used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. Amateur, Gloucester Co., N.B.—May 14th. (Special).—Cured of Rheumatism from which she had suffered for nine years, Madame Pierre Belanger, a well known and highly respected resident of this place, is calling her friends to let them know how few leaves of health to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I want everybody to know that I used Dodd's Kidney Pills for Rheumatism and that I am perfectly cured," Madame Belanger says. "I suffered from the Rheumatism for nine years. I also had backache and cramps in the muscles. I had a bitter taste in my mouth especially in the morning and I was troubled with headaches.

"When Dodd's Kidney Pills cured my Rheumatism all my other troubles vanished too."
Rheumatism is caused by diseased Kidneys failing to strain the uric acid out of the blood. Madame Belanger's other troubles are symptoms of Kidney Disease. Mrs. Belanger cured her Kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills and naturally they all vanished.

THE BOILED DINNER.

How dear to my heart is the luscious boiled dinner, which fond recollection brings back now and then, that balm to the stomach, that forty-time winner—oh, give me an old time boiled dinner again! So often I've sat at the restaurant table, and down through the menu I've hopefully looked, for something to comfort by northeastern gale, for such a boiled dinner as grandmother cooked! The steaming boiled dinner, the noble boiled dinner, the grand old boiled dinner my grandmother cooked. I'm tired of the fodder you're constantly shovlin', the things out of box and the things, out of can, the dofunnies baked in a gasoline oven, the chaffing dish horrors which lighten a man; your cooking school triumphs are weird and uncanny. That sort of refreshment too long I have brooked; I long for the skill of my dear sainted granny, I long for the dinner that grandmother cooked! The fragrant boiled dinner, the juicy boiled dinner, the cultured boiled dinner my grandmother cooked.

Three Boxes Cured His Rheumatism.

It cost Mr. Moore's father just $1.50 to be cured of chronic Rheumatism from which he had suffered for years. Just three boxes of GIN PILLS at 50¢ a box, completely cured him and to-day he has not a sign of Rheumatism.

Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS

Newburg, Ont., April 20th. "My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for a number of years, having tried two doctors and getting no relief. He was finally advised by a friend to try Gin Pills. He purchased a box and after taking them for a week, found that they gave him relief. He then purchased three more boxes which were the means of curing him. He is now a strong man in good health, able to attend to his daily work. For this great change, all the credit is due to Gin Pills."

Fox Case.

A resident of the Southern Shore was before Court to-day charged with a breach of the Fox Act. The man had set a trap, he alleged, for the purpose of catching an owl, but caught a patch fox instead. He forgot to report the matter to the authorities but brought the animal to town and acquainted Mr. F. W. Angel, also banding him over the fox. Mr. Angel reported to the Game Board and the latter in turn to the police and the action followed. In view of the circumstances the defendant was let go without payment, though the fox was confiscated.

At the House.

Mr. Coaker presented a petition from Fortune Harbour asking for $50 for road improvement.
Mr. Stone again asked the Col. Secretary for an answer to his question of some time ago.
The Premier gave notice of Resolutions concerning a water supply for Grand Bank.
The House then went into Committee on Supplemental Estimates.
The Opposition asked for explanations of the irregular votes under different heads.

Mr. Lloyd noticed that the Marine and Fisheries Account tabled showed a large overdraft on this year's account, beginning July 1st, 1914 to June 30th 1915, and also a considerable overdraft on next year's account from July 1st, 1915 to June 30th, 1916, and he asked for an explanation.
The Finance Minister said that some eight to ten thousand dollars was due the Bank on Light House construction and that it was the intention to meet the overdraft out of the $260,000 loan raised last year.

Messrs. Coaker, Stone, Jennings and Winsor asked that each keeper at Greenspond, who is getting $84 a year, be paid, at least, as much as the next lowest keeper in the civil service ($125), to which request the Premier promised consideration.
Mr. Coaker asked how many German prisoners were interned, in view of extra provision being made for their maintenance. Neither the Premier nor Col. Secretary knew exactly how many, but thought there were about 20 and they were interned in St. John's, Harbor Grace and Bay of Islands.

Mr. Kent again referred to the official reports of debates of the House and asked what was done in the matter.

The Premier said he had a report from the Supervisor and would invite members from both sides of the House to confer on the matter.

Mr. Kent criticised the votes for the Legislative Council, House of Assembly and General Legislation and asked for details as to how they were being spent; he was especially anxious to know what is being paid for the printing of debates.

Mr. Coaker suggested that the debates and other government printing be put out on tender. He was not personally interested in the printing concern would not be able to handle any of it.

Mr. Kent referring to the coastal service and payment for public wharves, asked the Col. Secretary if there were any written contracts with the owners of private wharves and if so, to table them; also in relation to the letter read in the House a few days ago on the condition of the railway and in which connection the Premier undertook to have an enquiry made.

Mr. Kent drew the attention of the House to the Government Engineer's report, which describes the condition of the railroad to be anything but satisfactory. Continuing, the Premier from the report that the whole line required to be overhauled and a number of bridges ought to be immediately repaired.

The Premier stated that the Government Engineer had made a report to him on the matter dealing with the particular matters that needed immediate attention. The Engineer was instructed to deal with the matter and to see that the railway contract is carried out properly. The Reid Co. have been written to that effect. A prosecution will be entered on with further delay, if the railway is not put into proper condition, added the Premier.

Mr. Lloyd asked if these instructions arose out of Mr. Coaker's letter or were based on the report of the Government Engineer, to which the Premier replied that they arose from both and he would table the Engineer's letter to him. Mr. Lloyd then went on to deal with a statement of the Finance Minister in connection with the supplemental supply for legislation. The statement was remarkable for its candour, as it states the supply is asked for in order to recoup the vote for the year ending June 30th, 1914. Another sentence set forth that the vote for legislation was too small to cover the expenditure incurred. He pointed out that the Minister's words were not followed up by deeds and his estimates are still short to the extent of his supplemental supply excluding certain expenditures which were over 12 months old in the year of 1914 and putting off the extra expenditure in the war session. Still, the supplemental was $8,500 short and the supply asked for now is not for this year emphasized by Mr. Lloyd, but in connection with the legislation of 12 months ago and the supplemental supply for the current year is not included in the votes before the House. In spite of this shortage for the year July 1st, 1915, to June 30th, 1916, the Minister still maintains the old shortage of $8,500 in his estimates.

Mr. Kent showed that last year the vote for supplemental supply was really a debt and that the proper course for the Finance Minister to have taken was to have brought into the House an Indemnity Bill to meet the expenditure.

The Finance Minister pulled for a considerable while and then answered in low tone that has been the practice ever since I have known anything about it.

limits and emptying into Lake Melville, should be excluded by the express terms of the contract, as the Hamilton River entered the sea at the place it flowed into Lake Melville and he read an amendment to that effect. Mr. Lloyd pointed out that the words did not cover the intentions of the parties, and would in fact give the Company with the exception of the McMartin drainage area, what had not been intended viz, the drainage area of Lake Melville. To carry out the intention of the parties and to protect everybody else as well as the McMartin Company, it should be stated that the drainage area of the Hamilton River ended, where the waters of that river flowed into Lake Melville. In reply to the suggestion made by Mr. Kent, Mr. Morine and Mr. Lloyd, the Premier intended to modify clause 20 of the contract, and give the public concurrent rights in floating logs, passing in boats, etc.

Mr. Lloyd asked whether the Premier had taken up yet with the promoters, but he would do so. Mr. Kent, Mr. Lloyd, Mr. Clift, Mr. Coaker and Mr. Morine, moved amendments limiting for 20 years the right of duty the importation of material and machinery for the purpose of construction, phosphate rock, etc., for manufacture; exemption from taxation, securities of the Company, the coal required by the Company and the exemption from taxation all property of the Company for use in connection with the manufacture of fertilizer, etc. The amendments were lost.

Mr. Lloyd, referring to Section 9, pointed out that the word "operations" should be stricken out as the Premier had stated that all monies to be expended were to be expended for construction work and on nothing else. The Premier struck out the word.

Mr. Kent then dealt with the matter of arbitration, which, he said, was the only right left for a person whose property is damaged. He considered that arbitration should not be compulsory, but optional with the claimant, owing to the enormous expenses involved. The Supreme Court was a better tribunal to deal with disputes.

The remarks made by Mr. Kent were strongly endorsed by Messrs. Morine and Coaker, the latter showing what the arbitration in connection with the '98 contract cost in Colony, and he thought that this whole matter was simply Reids' over again.

After more amendments to the remaining Resolutions were suggested by Mr. Kent, Mr. Lloyd and Mr. Morine, the Committee rose and will again Monday. Other items on the Order paper were deferred, including a Bill dealing with the exportation of lumber.

In reply to Mr. Lloyd, the Minister of Finance said the Bill is to permit the exportation of pit props from Newfoundland for one year, and Labrador for 10 years to England and to her ally France with an export tax of $1 a cord. The House then adjourned Monday afternoon when the Prohibition Bill will come up.

BEFORE YOU BEGIN to paint your house, be sure that the paint you use will do the job for the least money, and at the same time give greatest satisfaction and longest wear.

THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT

gives these results every time. It's a pure lead, zinc, and linseed oil paint. It's mixed thoroughly and ground very fine by powerful machinery. It covers most surface to gallon and wears for the longest time. It's a paint you can depend on. Use it and you'll be satisfied.

1915 Models in Baby Carriages

Fashion varies, even in Baby Carriages, as our recent shipment plainly shows. We have just received a quantity of 1915 Models and they have several improvements on those of last year.

We have Runabouts, Go-Carts and Pullman's in Fancy Wood and Cane, all well hung on tested springs; upholstered in Rep. Leather Cloth, Corduroy and Broadcloth, and all remarkably well-built and perfectly finished. For comfort, beauty of design, quality of workmanship and reasonableness of price, you cannot do better than get Baby her new Carriage at the

PURITY FLOUR

And Its Keeping Qualities

SOME people find it necessary to buy a considerable quantity of flour at one time—sufficient to last for a long period. Naturally they are anxious to procure a flour of the kind best adapted to lengthy storage.

There are two important reasons why PURITY FLOUR possesses these qualities. One is that it is made entirely from Manitoba Hard Wheat. The other lies in the fact that its careful milling necessary to produce "Purity" absolutely excludes all low-grade particles of the wheat berry. It's the high grade Manitoba Hard Wheat Flour that keeps—stands longest storage.

That's "Purity."
"Purity" flour may cost a little more, but is more than worth the difference. Try it. Watch results both for quality and yield.
