LOANS.

THE CANADA LANDED CREDIT COMPANY are prepared to make advances to landed proprietors on the new or "Credit Foncier" system of mortgage.

The borrower pays in all ten per cent. per annum—eight per cent. being for interest and expenses of management, and two per cent., his own money, he pays into a sinking fund, at compound interest, and which cancels the debt in twenty-six years.

He has, however, always the privilege of liberating his estate from the mortgage at any time, on giving six months' notice, whilst the Company remain bound to the end of the term of twenty-six years; and the amount paid into the sinking fund, with interest and compound interest, is then allowed him in settlement.

He has also the privilege, as he may find it convenient, of paying into the sinking fund, over and above his regular contribution, any even sum above $100 in reduction of his mortgage, and for which he is allowed five per cent. compound interest; such payments of course shorten the term considerably.

No Commissions charged—no shares required to be taken—no fines to pay, and no expenses of renewals.

Further particulars and forms of application may be had of the Valuers, and of the Secretary, 22 King Street, Toronto.

DEBENTURES.

To Insurance Companies, Trustees, Municipal and other Corporations, the Legal Profession, Brokers, and the General Public.

The Company grant land mortgage debentures bearing seven per cent. interest, with coupons attached, payable 1st January and 1st July, for sums of $50, $100, and $1,000, for periods of five, seven, ten, and twenty years.

These debentures offer many advantages:

1st. The lender has the security of a number of Estates collectively, together with the certainty of his interest being paid regularly to the day, without his ever having to seek after, annoy, or dispossess any individual, the Company alone being responsible to him.

2nd. The lender has no anxiety, care, or even thought as to the character of any individual borrower, or of the value of the land mortgaged.

3rd. The security or debenture which he holds is a marketable commodity, easily transferred from hand to hand, so that he can convert it into money at any moment.

4th. The Sinking Fund of the Company — whilst it makes the borrower feel that every year his debt is decreasing in amount, and secures to him, in course of time, perfect freedom from debt — is every day improving and making more effectual the security of the lender. There is daily, as it were, money accumulating to meet the sum advanced by the lender, and his security is, in consequence, more and more established.

DEPOSITS.

1. The Company receive money on deposit, in sums of one dollar and upwards, at the following rates of interest:—

PRESENT RATES ALLOWED.

On Deposits repayable at call, five per cent.

From $1 to $500.

On Deposits subject to notice, six per cent.

$1 to $500.....	15 days' notice.
$500 to $1000.....	1 month's "
$1000 to $2000.....	2 " "

2. And when a depositor has $50 to his credit, he will have the option of either taking a debenture for not less than five years, bearing seven per cent. interest, or of letting his money remain on call or notice.

3. Each depositor must deposit the amount of his deposit if not below $100.

4. Interest is paid on the day of the month, and ceases on the day of the month next.

5. All money deposited is held in trust for the depositor: "The Security of Toronto."

6. Depositors may withdraw their money with the amount of interest at any day, between the 1st and the 15th of the month.

7. Depositors may have their money returned in due course of the month.

8. Depositors will not be entitled to interest on their deposits.

9. The pass-book will be issued after the 1st of the month, and verified, and for the depositor's use.

3. Each depositor's account is credited with interest on the amount of his balance at the end of every six months, if not below $10.

4. Interest is calculated from the first and fifteenth day of the month succeeding the day of deposit, and will cease on the depositor giving notice of withdrawal.

5. All moneys must be paid to this office DIRECT; address: "The Secretary, Canada Landed Credit Company, Toronto."

6. Depositors residing in Toronto will please attend, with the amount to be deposited and their pass books, on any day, between ten and three o'clock.

7. Depositors residing at a distance will enclose the amount to be deposited, and their pass book, in a registered letter, addressed as above; the pass book will be returned in due course.

8. Depositors neglecting to produce their pass books will not be entitled to receipts.

9. The pass book must be sent in on or immediately after the 1st July and 1st January in each year, to be verified, and for the purpose of carrying the interest to the depositor's credit.

Sundry Remarks.

Landed Credit, or Credit Foncier, Companies were established as follows:—

And others are forming in all the States of Europe and the British Colonies.

The Canada Landed Credit Company was the first institution of the kind established in the Queen's Dominions.

All of these companies have for their model the Credit Foncier of France, which has met with very great success.

That Company has now invested on mortgage upwards of £70,000,000 sterling, or three hundred and fifty millions of dollars.

For the first few years it paid only seven per cent., but in the last year, 1868, a dividend of twenty-five per cent. per annum was declared.

The chief operations of a Land Credit Company consist in lending money on the security of land, and issuing and circulating debentures charged as well upon the general funds and capital of the Company, as upon the aggregate mass of mortgaged properties in the hands of the Company. In other words, the Company for the moment lock up their capital in mortgage securities, but, set it free immediately by means of their debentures. For instance, if the Company advance $5,000 to land-owner A, the money may be said to be locked up, but it is immediately set free by the money realized on the issue of the Company's Debentures to that amount; thus, the Com-

By means of these debentures, the long vexed question of giving currency to land, is solved. It had used to be thought that money invested in land was locked up, and out of circulation; but now the facility of obtaining a debenture which represents the land—a negotiable instrument bearing interest, and transferrable from hand to hand, like a bank note—gives to the land advantages usually believed to be exclusively possessed by moveable and personal property. The result is, that Agriculture now stands on equal terms with Commerce and Trade.— It attracts capital to it with as much freedom, offering indeed, to certain classes, such as trustees and men of independent means, who have retired from the turmoil of active life, a security far simpler and safer than either. And these debentures present many advantages. We have already noticed some, and we here further remark, that in times of great political excitement they fluctuate much less than Government securities. In the revolutionary years, 1848-50, when the Prussian funds,  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent., were at 86 $\frac{1}{2}$ , the landed credit debentures were quoted at 95, bringing in also  $3\frac{1}{2}$  per cent. In every country they have always maintained a rate superior to that of the public funds, and why? because the capitalist knew that he had good and immovable land for his security.

When a mortgage is made in France, the borrower takes sometimes cash, and sometimes the Credit Foncier debentures as cash. They are indeed more acceptable to him than bank notes, by virtue of the interest accruing upon them. He has no difficulty in negotiating them.

The sinking fund attached to all such Companies, while it secures to the borrower, in the course of time, perfect freedom from debt, is every day improving and making more effectual the security of the lender.

A party who borrows, say $1,000 on mortgage, frequently pays for it ten per cent. per annum, and at the end of the term he has still to pay the $1,000. By borrowing of this Company the same amount, he likewise pays ten per cent. per annum, but at the end of the term he has nothing to pay—the two per cent. sinking fund, included in the ten per cent., and to which the Company half-yearly adds interest, and compound interest, extinguishes the debt. In effect the Company makes him a present of the $1,000.

One of the chief objects of Land Credit Companies, is to diminish the legal expenses usually incurred in obtaining a loan on mortgage. To this end the Canada Landed Credit Company has lent its willing assistance; and it can point to the well-known fact, that since its establishment these expenses have materially diminished. All mankind dislike uncertain liabilities, and land owners especially dislike the vague uncertainty of expense that surrounds an investigation of their titles. When they contemplate raising a loan, it is only right and proper that they should know pretty nearly what the expense will be. We say pretty nearly, because as some titles are more intricate than others, it would be manifestly unjust to place all on an equality of expense. That would be to make the examination of the clear and simple title cost as much as the long and intricate one; but we may say that the cost of obtaining a loan, where the title is free from difficulty, will be about as follows:

Valuation.....	$4
Law charges.....	9
Agent's, Registrar's, and incidental charges..	4
<hr/>
Total.....	$17

But where a patent has to be taken out, a mortgage paid off, executions to be satisfied, or where there is delay on the part of the applicant, these charges will be somewhat increased.

Since the establishment of Land Credit Companies, the facilities of mortgaging, and encouraging the flow of capital to the soil, have greatly increased. Parties do not now borrow exclusively because they are embarrassed, but because they wish to render their land in the highest degree productive, or because they wish to add the adjoining farm to their own;—without continually applying a renewed supply of capital to the soil, it would indeed be hopeless to expect that increasing supplies from the soil would meet the increasing wants of an ever increasing population. To borrow money on landed security has, therefore, now ceased to be a sign of poverty;—and where the money borrowed is employed in building better farm houses, more commodious barns, purchasing plenty of good farming implements, the best seed, and the best of stock—and, in short, where it is spent in increasing the produce of the earth, it is manifestly one of the ways of becoming more wealthy, and of benefitting the community in which we live.

We have noticed some of the distinctive features of this Company, and of the advantages it offers to both lenders and borrowers, and we might make many other remarks to the same effect. We will only say, however, in conclusion, that this Company is not in the interest exclusively of either capitalist or landed proprietor, but of both. It is their agent or intermediary. It does not seek to obtain for one very large profits at the ruinous cost of the other. It is emphatically the friend of the lender and the borrower; and as such, it will at all times feel it a duty to give its aid, advice and assistance to all who may give it their confidence. To the lender the Secretary will at all times give the fullest information on every point which may be considered necessary for forming a correct opinion on the position of the Company, and of the security it offers for moneys invested; and to the borrower, in all his varied circumstances, when a loan is required, and advice needed, the best consideration will be given to any communication he may favor the Company with, and a prompt reply given, either by the Valuers in the various localities, or by the Secretary, 22 King Street, Toronto.

NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

[From the London Money Market Review.]

THE PLAN OF THE CANADA LANDED CREDIT COMPANY.

The Canada Landed Credit Company is a highly respectable Canadian Association. The principles on which it is founded are so sound, that if they are but rigidly adhered to, its character will infallibly be marked with success, as well as with great public utility.

The leading feature in this Company's plan—and it is the principle which will ensure success—is that the mortgages on which it advances money are themselves paid off by means of a sinking fund. This principle is found to act perfectly, both as regards the owner of the estate and the Company. The security of the debenture holders is not only that of the Company—the Directors of which are men of the first standing in Canada—but they have this double security—1st. The uncalled capital of the Company. 2nd. The security of the land, on which the Company makes advances to the extent of only one-third of its real value. Nothing appears more sound than this guarantee, based as it is on real estate, and there is no doubt it will find growing favour with the investing public.

TORONTO GLOBE, 10th Jan'y., 1859.

Mortgages upon farms are considered the best securities here, and it is unfortunate that English capitalists, instead of directing their attention to them, should have been led into spending their millions on unproductive railways. A farmer wishes to add a second hundred acres to his first; he wishes to buy a bush lot for his son, or to clear a large part of his old place, and he needs a little money to do it. Probably it is only a hundred pounds or two,—the produce of the new land will pay both principal and interest very soon,—why should he not have it, and from a British capitalist, too? The security offered is good; his property is worth probably a thousand pounds, and he will pledge it willingly for the one or two hundred. One objection is, that the British capitalist is far away, and cannot enquire into titles and values. The Canada Landed Credit Company proposes to supply the want. It will examine titles, lend the money, and give its stock as well as the lands as security, if the British capitalist will buy its debentures, bearing a fixed and very high rate of interest. It will issue its debentures to the amount which it lends, and will probably have four or five times the sum in property to offer as security. The scheme is perfectly sound and feasible. As to the character of the Directors of the Landed Credit Company, they are men of the highest respectability—and not only so, they are remarkable for shrewdness, caution, and scrupulousness.

THE LEADER.

The valuable principles embodied in its constitution will confer immense benefit on agriculture.

HASTINGS CHRONICLE.

To the capitalist, this Company offers a profitable and safe investment, giving in security for loans a number of mortgages collectively, insuring the regular and prompt payment of the interest; and the security or debenture which he holds is a marketable commodity, easily transferred from hand to hand, so that he can convert it into money at any time; and to the borrower this Company presents facilities and privileges which no other Company has ever yet afforded in Canada.

BRAMPTON TIMES.

One of the most useful measures passed by the Legislature, during the late session, is the institution of the "Canada Landed Credit Company."

A careful examination of the constitution—of the powers and purposes—of this Company, affords the best grounds for believing that its operations will prove of very great advantage to the country, by introducing British money into the Province, and facilitating its legitimate distribution on safe and easy terms to all parties concerned.

(To the Editor of the Globe.)

SIR,—Glancing this moment at the advertisements in the Globe, my attention was arrested and greatly interested by the ably written prospectus of this Company. It is, perhaps, rather a singular coincidence that their published plan should exactly embody the chief features of the Pfand Briefe (or Consolidated Estate Pledge) system of Prussia, with the practical working of which a twelve years' residence and commercial experience in Germany should have made me tolerably well acquainted. Since I came to this country I had frequently contemplated this machinery for attracting, diffusing, and properly employing capital, as being peculiarly adapted for Canada. As such, and as not only desirable, but absolutely and imperatively called for by the wants of the country, I have frequently thought of the Prussian consolidated estate pledge system, and also spoken of it among my friends, as one which I should like to see introduced into Canada; as one likely ticipators, but a solidity, a va country.

GUELPH ADVERTISER.

The Company is established by Act of Parliament, and is calculated to confer great benefits on the agricultural interests of the country, by advancing money on easy terms to landed proprietors, thus furnishing them with the means of making permanent improvements on their properties, and affording them an opportunity of gradually freeing themselves from incumbrances.

NORTHERN ADVANCE.

The Canada Landed Credit Company.

This Institution might perhaps with greater propriety be styled "The Ontario Landed Credit Company," since we believe its sphere of usefulness, for the present at least, is exclusively confined within the limits of what, before our recent Confederation, was called Canada West. We have just received a report of the Company's transactions to the end of last year, as submitted at a general meeting of the shareholders, held in their premises, 22 King Street, Toronto, on the 5th inst. From a perusal of this evidently well authenticated statement, in detail, we gather that the Company's affairs, under each separate head, continue to show progressive improvement and increase. We are satisfied that the principles on which an enterprise of this kind is founded, need only become better ventilated and better known, in order to ensure their more extended development and application throughout our Province. These principles are simple in the extreme, and are easily intelligible to the commonest capacity. The whole system is, in fact, and in both its departments, based upon the security of the soil. Every reasonable facility, and every practical advantage are freely held out to the borrower and to the lender alike; the landowner who requires money, obtains it on the most moderate terms; the capitalist, large or small, who has savings to invest, obtains an unquestionable security, which, being made payable to "Bearer," passes from hand to hand, like a bank note, with an absolute certainty of its half-yearly interest-coupons, and ultimately of its principal, being paid at maturity. We understand it is contemplated—and, as we think, wisely—for the future, to issue debentures also direct to mortgagors. In this connection, and as indicative of the safe nature of these instruments of currency, it may here be mentioned that for every dollars worth of debentures issued, and every dollar of outstanding loans, there is held in the Company's strong room three dollars' worth of security on real estate.

As a money-lending institution, we consider it the most satisfactory one in the Province for borrowers,

SPRING.

"Be gracious, Heaven! for now laborious man
Has done his part. Ye fostering breezes, blow!
Ye softening dews, ye tender showers, descend!
And temper all, thou world-reviving sun,
Into the perfect year!"

WINTER is the season of repose, of passive existence, of dormancy, though not of death. Spring, on the contrary, is the season of returning life, of passing into active exertion, of hope and of joy—of hope, as the world of life springs into view immediately after the industrious hand has scattered the seed upon the ground—and of joy in contemplating, with confidence, the reproduction of the herds and flocks.

Spring in all countries, and especially in Canada, where the winter so much encroaches upon it, is a busy season on the farm. One of the earliest and most important duties, is to repair the fences and gates. It is impossible to work a farm economically and conveniently unless this is attended to. A gate of rails or of stones, which must be removed at each entrance or exit, is not only a very clumsy arrangement, but occasions much loss of time, lessens the value of the farm, and stamps the farmer at once as slovenly and unthrifty. Besides continuing his attendance on the fattening of cattle, the farmer has now the more delicate task of waiting on the cows at calving, and providing comfortable lairs for new-dropped calves. The dairy maid commences her labours, not in the peculiar avocations of the dairy, but in rearing calves—the support of a future herd—which for a time are indulged with every dish of milk the cows can yield. The farrows of pigs also claim a share of her solicitude. The shepherd, too, has his painful watchings, day and night, on the lambing ewes; and his care of the tender lambs, until they are able to gambol upon the new grass, is a task of peculiar interest, and insensibly leads to higher thoughts. We think of Him who "feeds his flock like a shepherd, gathers the lambs into His arms and carries them in his bosom, and gently leads those that are with young."

The ploughmen, too, must be "up and doing." They know no rest for at least twelve hours every day, from the time the harrows are yoked for the spring wheat, until the turnips are sown. The first sowing is the spring wheat, then the peas, and then the oat seed. The fallow land receives a cross furrow, in the order of the fallow crops—the potatoes first, then turnips, and lastly, the bare fallow. Grass seeds are now sown amongst the young autumnal wheat, as well as amongst the spring wheat and the barley.

The farmer at this season remains at home, or, at most, undertakes only an occasional and hasty journey to the market town to get quit of surplus grain, when the draughts have a leisure day to deliver it. The business of the fields requires his constant attention; and he will do well to notice intelligently the state of the weather, by observing the barometric and thermometric changes, and so be guided in his field operations. No farmer should be without a barometer, which he should daily consult, and make it a point to observe every external phenomenon that has a bearing upon the changes of the atmosphere. We have often been asked what is the price of a barometer, and we may here reply, that a good barometer—and none but a first-class instrument is at all reliable—will cost about $11. This is the price of the Aneroid Barometer, invented by Vidi, of Paris, and manufactured by Mr. Potter, King Street, Toronto. It is very portable, and not so liable to injury as the mercurial barometer. As a forewarner of weather, it is an excellent instrument for the farmer to possess.

SUMMER.

"O'er heaven and earth, far as the ranging eye
Can sweep, a dazzling deluge reigns; and all
From pole to pole is undistinguish'd blaze."

SUMMER is the bloom of the year—the period during which all the growing and living children of nature, which wax and wane with the revolving seasons, are in the spring tide of their activity, and when all those general agencies by which they are stimulated are working to the very top of their bent.

The land for all the root crops is now worked, cleaned, drilled, dunged, and sown. The culture of the turnip is a most important and busy occupation, requiring much attention in singling and hoeing the plants the greater part of the summer.

The fat cattle are now disposed of to the butcher or dealer, as they are never put to grass; also the fat sheep, except when it is desired to take off their fleece before parting with them. Young cattle, sheep, and cows are now put on pasture, to remain all summer. Sheep-shearing is not commenced until the weather becomes warm, so as not to chill the sheep after the privation of their coats of wool. The brood mare now brings forth her foal, and necessarily receives immunity from labour for a time. Hay-making is represented by poets as a labour accompanied with unalloyed pleasure; but it is, in sober truth, a labour of much heat and toil—the wielding of the hayrake and pitchfork in hot weather, for the livelong day, being no child's play.

Summer, of all the seasons, is the most appropriate for the farmer to make serious attacks upon weeds, those spoilers of his fields and contaminators of his grains. They should be daily exterminated.

Between the finishing of the fallow and the commencement of harvest, the farmer has a short season of leisure, and a journey once a year to witness the farm operations conducted in other parts of the country would enlighten him on many uncertain points of practice. Such an excursion could not be undertaken by a farmer, who is generally a man of observation, without his acquiring confidence in good and receiving conviction against bad practices.

AUTUMN.

"Crown'd with the sickle, and the wheaten sheaf."

AUTUMN is the season of fruition. The toiling labours of the husbandman, for the preceding twelve months, now find their reward. Hope is lost in the possession of the thing hoped for. It is the season for gratitude and joy.

The great event of autumn is the harvest, which engrosses the entire time and attention of the farmer until the crop is secured beyond danger. During this eventful period the farmer ought to look about him, night and day, regarding the "face of the sky," and his barometer or "forewarner," and to act with circumspection. The results of the whole year of labour are at stake, and unless he feels that he has applied his utmost skill, and exercised his best judgment during the year, he cannot be satisfied with himself.

The wind, the rain, the sun,
Their genial task have done;

Wouldst thou be fed,
Man, to thy labour bow,
Thrust in thy sickle now,
Reap where thou once didst plough;
God sends thee bread.

James Montgomery.

When every straw is safe in the stack-yard, and he has closed the stack-yard gate for the season, then, and not till then, ought the farmer to be satisfied that his task is finished, and that he may now enjoy repose.

WINTER.

"The night was winter in its roughest mood;
The morning sharp and clear."

THERE is little inducement to spend much time in the fields at this torpid season of the year, and the farmer therefore directs his attention to the more animated work conducted in the steading, where all the cattle and horses are collected, and the preparation of the grain for market affords pleasant employment within doors.

The labours of the field in winter are confined to a few great operations. These are, ploughing the soil in the early part of the winter in preparation of future crops, and supplying food to the live stock. Drainage may be successfully pursued at all seasons; but, on the whole, winter is, perhaps, the most convenient time for the operation. In the older districts, especially, tile draining should be more generally practised. The difference between crops on drained and undrained land, in many instances is so great as to reward in one season the total cost of drainage.

Almost the entire live stock of a farm is dependent on the hand of man for food in winter; and one who would possess the reputation of being a good farmer, that is, a successful breeder and an excellent judge of stock, will not fail to see them provided with a comfortable bed and sufficient clean food at appointed hours, in their respective apartments.

"Winter," says an able writer, "is the season of nature's annual repose—the time when the working structures are reduced to the minimum of their extent, and the energies of growth and life to the minimum of their activity, and when the phenomena of nature are fewer, and address themselves less pleasingly to our senses than they do at any of the other three seasons. There is hope in the bud of spring, pleasure in the bloom of summer, and enjoyment in the fruit of autumn; but if we make our senses our chief resource, there is something blank and gloomy in the aspect of winter, and if we were of and for this world alone, there is no doubt that this would be the correct view of the winter, as compared with the other seasons; and the partial death of the year would point as a most mournful index to the death and final close of our existence; but we are beings otherwise destined and endowed. The world is to us only what the lodge is to the wayfaring man; and while we enjoy its rest, our thoughts can be directed back to the past part of our journey, and our hopes forward to its end, where we shall reach our proper home, and dwell there

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

LETTER RATES.

Letters posted in Canada, addressed to any place within the Dominion, pass if prepaid for 3 cents per  $\frac{1}{2}$  oz., but if posted unpaid, such letters are charged 5 cents per  $\frac{1}{2}$  oz.

The rate on Letters to the United Kingdom is, by Canadian Packet, sailing from Quebec, Portland, or Halifax,—

Not exceeding ½ oz.....12½ cents.
Exceeding “ and not exceeding 1 oz.....25 “

and so on, increasing one rate of postage for each additional half ounce.

And by Cunard Packet, 15 cents per ½ oz., &c.

Letters for the United Kingdom must be prepaid, or they will be charged a fine of 6d. sterling on delivery.

Letters for British Colonies and Possessions beyond Sea, and Foreign Countries, via England, must be prepaid.

The rate on letters for the U. States, is 6 cents per half oz.
United States letters 6 cents if prepaid, 10 cents if unpaid.

REGISTRATION OF LETTERS.

Persons posting Letters containing value, should be careful to require them to be registered, and to obtain from the Post Master a Certificate of receipt for Registration.

The charge for Registration, in addition to the Postage, is as follows, viz:

- On Letters to any place in Canada, or British North America.. 2 cts.
- On Letters for the United States ..... 5 “
- On Letters for the United Kingdom..... 8 “
- On Letters for British Colonies or Possessions, sent via England, 25 “
- On Letters for France and other Foreign Countries, via France, an amount equal to the postage rate.
- On parcels, patterns, or samples, in Canada, 5 cents.
- On book packets and newspapers to United Kingdom, 8 cents.

Both the postage charge and registration fee must in all cases be prepaid.

Registration is not an absolute guarantee against the miscarriage or loss of a Letter; but a Registered Letter can be traced when an Unregistered Letter cannot, and the posting and delivery or non-delivery can be proven. A Registered Letter is thus secured against many of the casualties which, from incorrect address, forgetfulness of the receiver, or other error, may affect an Unregistered Letter.

NEWSPAPERS AND PERIODICALS.

Newspapers published in Canada may be sent by Post from the office of publication, addressed to any place in Canada, at the following rates, if paid quarterly in advance by either the publisher at the post office where the papers are posted, or by the subscriber at the delivering post office:

“	“	3	“	15	“	“
“	“	2	“	10	“	“
“	“	1	“	5	“	“

When the above rates are not paid in advance by either publisher or subscriber, such papers are charged one cent each on delivery.

THE ANEROID BAROMETER.

This instrument was invented by M. Vidi, of Paris, for ascertaining the variations of the atmosphere. Its action depends on the effect produced by the pressure of the atmosphere on a metallic box, from which the air has been exhausted and then hermetically sealed. The instrument is so constructed, that as the weight of the atmosphere is increased or diminished, so is the surface of the corrugated elastic box depressed or elevated, as is also, at the same time, the spiral spring upon which the principal lever rests, and this motion is communicated through the levers to the arbour of the hand. The tension of the box in its construction is equal to 44 lbs. At the back of the instrument, which in size is like a large chronometer, is a screw to adjust the hand to the height of any standard mercurial barometer. For comparative observation, the aneroid must be placed in the position for which the adjustment is made.

Mr. Belville, of the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, made simultaneous observations with the aneroid and a common mercurial barometer, and found the deviations were very trifling, at least for popular use. The movements of the aneroid are always consistent. It is a delightful companion, may be made small enough to be carried in the pocket, in a steam boat, a carriage, in the hand in mounting elevations, without the chance of being injuriously affected. It is, therefore, highly useful, its indications preventing many an excursion which would have ended in disappointment. The Tourist should never travel without it; and by it the farmer is warned of approaching storms, and thereby enabled to protect his produce from danger.

The aneroid is extremely delicate in its indications. On this point Captain Mangles relates that "for the last twelve years I have used one mercurial barometer, two sympiesometers with oil in the tube, and two more with a mineral solution in the tube. All these I register at ten at night and ten in the morning, and I regularly insert their movements in a diary. For the aneroid at the beginning of this year, 1849, I had a fresh column ruled, and by this arrangement I soon perceived the forewarning properties, and consequently greater value as a weather guide, of the aneroid as compared with its five rivals. I could cite various instances of this superior sensitiveness, but that of Saturday morning, 5th May, 1849, was most remarkable. I was much struck on coming down at eight, while the sun was shining bright, and there was every appearance of a fine day, to find that my instruments stood thus:—

“Here we have the aneroid in full sunshine, with a bright sky, and every appearance of a lovely day, still uncomfortable and in doubt as to what is forthcoming. I confess that, looking at appearances while I wrote down my register, I almost doubted whether this time the Aneroid could be right, but at one p. m. I became convinced that there was no mistake. In the course of the afternoon a very heavy rain fell.” The aneroid, as a forewarner of weather, thus seems an excellent instrument for the farmer to possess. It would be, in fact, almost as valuable to him as his spade or plough, and were it more generally used, its indications regularly noted and acted upon, there cannot be the least doubt that many a field of grain would be saved from destruction, or at least damage, by the rain or damp which it had foretold would come, perhaps 48 hours previously.
