SIR OLIVER LODGE SOLVES PROBLEM OF RADIO HOWLER

Invents Device to Prevent Listener Allowing His Set to Oscillate

LONDON, April 16—The Evening Standard is able to announce a wireless discovery of the first importance.

A problem which has baffled experts all the world over for some years past is how to do away with the howler, the listener who allows his set to oscillate, and so mars the enjoyment of other listeners for miles round.

SOLVED BY SIR OLIVER

This problem has now been solved by that great pioneer, Sir Oliver Lodge, after three years' secret experiments in his private laboratory at Egham, Surrey.

Like a nutshell, Sir Oliver's discovery will ensure perfect reception without aerial tuning, and will thus avoid the flying squads of vans, laboriously fitted for the detection of offenders, who have continually been at work.

When the howling has continued, and the tendency has been for it to become worse than ever, owing to the vastly increased army of listeners, any one of whom has it in his power to destroy reception for miles round.

STRIKES AT ROOT

Sir Oliver Lodge has gone to the root of the matter. He has evolved a set which cannot be set to oscillate, and his invention will revolutionize wireless reception.

The change by which this result has been brought about is comparatively small, but it is not a change that can easily be incorporated in existing sets, for the reason that these sets are relying on a tuned aerial, and must be tuned by the listener.

Sir Oliver Lodge, who introduced tuning to the world, and thus made wireless communication possible without chaos, has now abandoned it. By dispensing altogether with the tuned aerial he has abolished the howl.

There was a curious sequel to the depositing of his new patent by Sir Oliver Lodge recently. As so often happens with reference to inventions, another man was working along precisely the same lines—Mr. Melnicki.

He approached Sir Oliver Lodge and showed that he had been active in the same line. The two are now working as partners, with the interesting result that Mr. Melnicki has evolved a supplementary patent of much value.

The many tests that have taken place in private leave no room for doubt in the mind of Sir Oliver Lodge that the device for which everybody is in search has been found and the description that he is about to prepare will be awaited eagerly by top experts.

What will be no greater than that of Sailing ones.

When Sir Oliver Lodge was asked today if he would make any statement regarding the work that he has done, he said that he preferred not to do so for the present, but very soon he will be making the results of his activities to be made known.

There could be no greater tribute to the vigor of the great scientist than this solution of a problem that hitherto has baffled wireless experts all over the world.

OLD AGE PENSIONS ARGUED IN HOUSE

Conservatives Want Provinces Consulted First—Liberals For Passage of Bill Now

OTTAWA, April 17—Arguments for and against the government's old age pension bill were advanced in the House of Commons last night. At the outset the bill was given second reading. Several Conservative members opposed passage of the measure on the ground that it should not be proceeded with until after a conference with the provinces.

Liberals, on the other hand, favored the passage of the bill on the ground that it would enable the government to approach the provinces with a concrete proposal.

MEIGHEN CRITICIZES

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, opposition leader, criticized the maximum amount of the pension payable under the bill—$20 a month. Such a pension would never remove the shadow of the poor house from the aged, he said.

Hear Travel Tale And Get Kindness Lesson

The children who usually attend the story telling hour at the Army were entertained this morning at the National History Society rooms. Mrs. W. Hayward Raymond interested them with a story of a bird that was taken to the C. P. R., and Mrs. Raymond illustrated her remarks with beautiful lantern slides, which were shown by Dr. Wm. McIntosh. Six Boy Scouts from No. 14, Victoria street Baptist church, were on duty.

Dr. McIntosh showed the children a little caged bird, which had been shot in the wing by a boy. He warned his little hearers of the danger of throwing stones at the birds, and pointed out the unhappy fate of the little snow bird in its case through someone's thoughtless action.

DESERT SLEUTH SEEKS TRAIL OF LOST AVIATORS

Uncanny Art of Native Called On In Search For Estevez

CAIRO, Egypt, April 17—An ancient art of the desert, the uncanny skill of specially trained natives in tracking men or beast over the vast expanse of sand, has been called into play in renewed efforts to find trace of Captain Estevez and his mechanic, of the Spanish flying expedition to Manila, missing since last Sunday.

After days of steady search by British aviators, Hamed, private tracker of the British defensive force of Egypt, is on the Syrian desert trying to unravel the mystery of the whereabouts of the two Spanish aviators.

Hamed, who is called the "Sherlock Holmes of Egypt," was taken to the abandoned airplane of Captain Estevez near Amman, Palestine, and began tracing the footprints of the two men who had left a note saying they were proceeding afoot.

FEARED BY CRIMINALS

Hamed, who is gifted with an uncanny knack of following trails, frequently has been utilized by the police when all other trackers have failed. He is greatly feared by the criminal class and many natives attribute his skill to black magic. Although his ability at tracking is regarded as unusual, he is faced with an extremely difficult task in solving the present riddle of the sands. Not only is a man's trail quickly obliterated by the constant shifting of the sands, but sand dunes, in addition, have been raging ever since the Spanish aviators disappeared. The task following their trail consequently is regarded as well-nigh impossible and certainly beyond the power of any European.

The club has a membership of more than 150, and more than 60 boys took part in the excellent program last evening.

Members of the association present were Frank P. Lewis, president; J. H. Hamilton, vice-president; Everett Hunt, J. two of the junior boys.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., APRIL 17, 1926.

THE PORT AND THE WHEAT.

Although last year's wheat crop was the second largest in the history of Canada, and although we had for export the most valuable surplus of wheat ever marketed, Saint John did not get its right proportion of the export grain traffic, and Halifax handled merely a negligible amount.

In Saint John's case, the C. P. R. during our winter port season, has carried here a quantity of grain reasonably large in proportion to the whole amount that was moved to the seaboard. The C. P. R., on the other hand, has given us comparatively little grain. There are those who say that the amount of wheat shipped through any port is a function of the amount of financial profit—and there are many who, for not precisely disinterested reasons, contend that Saint John and Halifax cannot expect to handle much export wheat for so-called economic reasons. They are glad to seize upon the argument that wheat, so far as the upbuilding of ports is concerned, is of little consequence anyway.

They belong to the group of alleged traffic exporters who stand by the railroads in defending that sacred edifice, the railway rate structure. They are the stand-patters, who are always protecting the status quo. They are the Bourbons of the transportation world—who never forget anything and who never learn anything.

When the Railway Commission has finished the work of investigating the diversion of traffic from Canadian ports to American channels, when it has decided whether or not the National Transcontinental is to be used for the purposes for which it was built, then we shall know a great deal more about the prospects of the natural winter port of Canada. We are gradually getting down to the fundamentals. The country is beginning to realize—as the speech from the Throne indicated—that unless Canada can make itself self-sustained and independent so far as freight of Canadian origin is concerned, we shall be confronting a growing menace, both economic and national, which, unless we meet it rightly, will prove ruinous.

When we are told that a few million bushels of export wheat more or less meant little to Saint John or Halifax, we turn naturally to the record of Montreal and Vancouver—Montreal, the greatest wheat-shipping port on the continent—Vancouver, which handled not a single bushel of export wheat only a few years ago and now looks forward to the day when 100,000,000 bushels of grain will pass through its elevators.

We are told that wheat is merely a matter of ballast, and that it must go overseas through those ports in which there is plenty of tonnage, both liner and tramp. That is the old red herring introduced by the stand-patters. When the prairie wheat began to flow westward through Vancouver to the Orient and to the British market from a point in Saskatchewan, because the Panama Canal was found to be a profitable route, the tonnage necessary to handle that cargo was attracted to the British Columbia port. As the volume of export wheat expanded, the ships, both liners and tramps, increased in number.

That, for Vancouver, meant increased employment, the expansion of harbor facilities, growing prestige, fresh cargo for the people, the introduction of new money into all channels—in short, growth.

What in itself is handled through elevators without the need for much labor, as compared with other traffic, but the cargoes have a highly important bearing upon package freight. The incoming ships, seeking wheat cargoes—or most of them at least—are bound to bring import freight, which means more business for the port, and for the railroads which distribute that cargo from Vancouver to Halifax.

The ships outward bound, carrying a part cargo of wheat, naturally take much package freight. In this way traffic is built up and is settled in an established channel. The facilities of Vancouver are so advertised in the Seven Seas, as Saint John was advertised in the Seven Seas in the old days when ships built in our waters flew the flag across all the oceans of the world.

What we did in the days of wooden shipbuilding points the way to what we may do under present conditions, provided that we get our just due from the Dominion Government, and in addition to that, take full advantage of our geographical position and the value of this port in the scheme of national transportation.

Our port business touched high water mark during the war. When the American vessels were still standing aside, the rules of the game closed their ports against our use. In winter Saint John and Halifax were the only exits through which Canada could send men, food, munitions and all the rest to support France and Flanders.

During that crisis we heard no traffic experts arguing that water must find its own level and must run downhill. The iron necessities of the hour gave the Maritime ports an immense volume of traffic because the word was "Despatch!" There was one consideration, and one only, and that was to rush the freight through in the shortest possible time. What was done in this port in those years, notwithstanding our cramped facilities, is an object lesson which we should never forget. At that time our citizens petitioned Ottawa for an extension of facilities, but, as our American friends finally decided to take a hand in the great game, and, therefore, their ports became available for all the purposes of the Allies, Ottawa forgot us.

Perhaps that was natural enough because the war rightly overshadowed all other issues. But today the case is different. Tariff changes confining the British preference to imports entering Canada direct through its own ports have meant much to us, and will mean more. We have new letters to work with. The country is aroused over the enormous economic loss resulting from the diversion of freight of Canadian origin to alien harbors. It is no longer safe doctrine anywhere in Canada to say that Portland, Buffalo, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and even Norfolk shall be built up by the Bourbons of the Canadian industry at the direct expense of Canadian labor, Canadian ports and even vital Canadian national principles.

From the Railway Commission—as from the Duncan Commission—we may reasonably expect highly important results.

The country is with us. The Government of the day—at last awake to the folly of ignoring the Maritimes, as other Governments did before it, whatever their political color—is disposed to make amends. If we capitalize the present situation by forgetting our petty differences and pressing forward unitedly to secure what is our due, all will be well with us.

The problem of the Maritimes is surveyed from an interesting angle by the Toronto Star, which says:

"It is proposed that an enquiry into the grievances of the Maritime Provinces shall be made by a Royal Commission. This is being denounced as the wrong way of going about it, as it is claimed, the enquiry should be handled by a parliamentary committee. But would not the members be quite as much political partisans in one case as in the other? While Parliament voted unanimously declaring for Maritime rights, there probably would be sharp and swift disagreement as to remedies for Maritime wrongs."

What does the appointment of an Advisory Tariff Board mean for Canada? Perhaps the answer is to be found in what the appointment of a Tariff Commission has meant for the United States beside us. The New York Journal of Commerce, in discussing the action of the Mackenzie King Government in introducing a commission after the American fashion, though somewhat modified as to authority, issues an editorial warning to this country. It describes the American Commission as "an abject failure." The miracles, which experts of the Tariff Commission plan expected after it was established, have not emerged. After analyzing the sins of omission and commissions which it credits to the Tariff Commission, the Journal of Commerce makes this interesting summing up:

"In all this there is, it need hardly be repeated, no question of free trade. No one supposes that we could afford or are likely to attempt to revert at any time in the near future to a basis of free trade. What we could do is to rewrite the existing tariff law from one end to the other, seeing to it that reason, intelligence and dispassionate judgment are incorporated into a new measure. That we ought to do without delay."

"Long Live Death"

VIENNA, Austria.—Baron Philipp Haas-Tschek, the wealthy Austrian carpet manufacturer, aged 68, who shot himself dead with a sporting rifle recently, was a student of wearing Leons when a young man.

He had been an invalid for 14 years and although seriously ill, a few nights ago rose from his bed, dressed, and went out to post several identically worded letters to Vienna newspapers announcing his death. He then returned and shot himself. The letters were as follows:

Honored Editors: I have remained a not quite unknown individual in the world. It will therefore perhaps be desirable to you to be able to satisfy the curiosity of many of your readers by offering them the explanation which follows.—Respectfully,

Philipp Haas-Tschek.

Constant inadequacy of the heart muscles, rheumatism, and all the other accompaniments incident to "growing old" are not calculated to provide that vitality which is necessary to enable one to treat as merely amusing the irritations of life in a wretched cauldron, and to sustain interest in whatever the future may hold.

I am dead as mutton, burrah! No fight show can pinch me any more. There is nothing finer to be had. I have Rest, and Long Live Death!

DINNER STORIES

A COUNTRY boy who had never seen a circus before was walking around the tent when one of the clowns lifted up the flap and stepped outside for little air. This excited the boy, and he ran around to the ticket taker, crying:

"Hey, mister, come in back of the tent! Yer clown's loose!"

TWO girls were talking over the wire. Both were discussing what they should wear to the coming party. In the midst of this important conversation a masculine voice interrupted, asking humbly for a number. One of the girls became indignant and scornfully asked:

"What line do you think you are on, anyhow?"

"Well," said the man, "I am 'hot sure but, judging from what I have heard, I should say I was on the clothesline."

THE bride and the groom were visiting in San Francisco. They stopped at a restaurant to eat. A flip young waiter waited on them.

"Would you care for some honey-moon salad?" she asked.

"What is it?" asked the confused groom.

"Just lettuce alone," replied the waitress.

Timely Views On World Topics

A NEW mold of dictator—a man such as the world has never known—must take the field before China's salvation can begin.

China today is at the mercy of every man who can raise enough money to raise an army and guarantee food and shelter and easy living. She has many generals, each controlling a town, half a province, a whole province or several provinces. Not one of these men is motivated by patriotism. Not one gives China a thought. Their only aim is to keep their hands in the till, living in ease.

"Invictus," by W. E. Healey.

THIS fine poem might have been written in any age. Yet it is not more than a quarter of a century ago that it was given to us; and it has become a classic within that brief period.

A splendid musical setting has been given to it by Bruno Huhn; yet Healey's iron lines need no accompaniment to make them sink deeper into the consciousness of us all.

They have a spiritual exaltation that an hardly be paralleled; and they have proved invaluable to many a man in some hour of mental crisis.

I have an friend who told me that the mere repetition of the final lines saved him from a complete nervous breakdown. It is poems like these

"which give us faith for cloudy days," in Le Gallienne's fine phrase. Out of the night that covers me, Black as the pit from pole to pole, I thank whatever gods there be For my unconquerable soul.

In the fell clutch of circumstance I have not winced nor cried aloud. Under the bludgeonings of chance My head is bloody, but unbowed.

Beyond this place of wrath and tears Looms but the Horror of the shade, And yet the menace of the years Finds, and shall find, me unafraid.

It matters not how strait the gate, How charged with punishments the scroll, I am the master of my fate, I am the captain of my soul.

THE BEST OF ADVICE

By CLARK KENNARD

THE COMMON PASSION OF ALL MANKIND

IT is not without justice that Americans have a wide reputation of being money-mad.

But this disease, this passion for the accumulation of riches, preferably without earning them, imbues all of mankind, savage and civilized.

Let us pass over the question of whether it is a sin for it may be a blessing. What is the reason for it? The mere desire to possess? To be powerful? To answer given us by the philosophers is ever simpler.

The human race, as a release from work, from activity, from motion.

He doesn't understand, or forgets, that we exist physically, because our organism is the seat of constant motion; and if we are to exist intelligently, it can only be by means of continual occupation—no matter with what so long as it is some form of practical or mental activity.

Our nature is essentially restless in character, because life in all its finite varieties, consists in movement. We very soon get tired of nothing that is not in continual motion.

The "idle rich" are never idle for long.

ACTIVITY—doing something, if possible creating something—how fortunate it is that man cannot exist without that.

A man instinctively wants to use his strength to see, if he can, what effect it will produce.

FROM this point of view, those are happiest of all who are conscious of the power to produce works animated by some significant purpose; it gives a higher kind of interest to the whole of their life.

THE FRENCH RIDDLE (London Morning Post).

It is hardly too much to say that parliamentary government as it exists in France is now on its trial. It has lasted since 1875, chiefly by leaving things of importance unaltered; but it is now faced by one of those riddles of the Sphinx which if it does not solve it dies. In the meantime, it would be a mistake to suppose that France is like a crab with a soft web open to the attacks of her enemies. The Napoleonic framework of the state remains strong and sound.

CRIME AND PUNISHMENT (Le Devoir).

An English murderer has practically ten chances in ten of not remaining unpunished. In the United States a murderer has in the first place nine chances in ten of escaping the police, and then, if he is caught, he has nine and a half in ten of not being condemned to capital punishment. In the majority of cases, he finds himself before a jury too sentimental or too ignorant to declare a definite verdict; or if the jury is intelligent and just the guilty man has a hundred means, providing he has money, of dragging the affair out interminably until finally escaping his deserved fate. As an American paper puts it: "Great Britain has no respect for murderers, while the United States has none for their victims."

JESUIT MARTYRS OF CANADA (Whitney Press Press).

This week there is being celebrated in St. Boniface the beautification of the Jesuit martyrs of Canada. It is a far cry from the June morning in 1625, when, under the shadow of the ramparts of Quebec, a vessel cast anchor and from its deck stepped three priests of the Jesuit order. The trail begins almost with the peevish beginnings of Canada's history and winds through her forests and down her rivers, carrying the cross to what was then a wilderness—a wilderness where beauty hung out her garlands, and

An old offender was brought before a judge on a charge of larceny. Notwithstanding his record, the prisoner volubly protested his innocence. But the judge was not convinced. "I wouldn't believe you," he said, "even if you swore on a stack of Bibles. Whatever you said, I'd believe the opposite to be true." There was a moment's silence, then the prisoner smiled and said, "By your honor, I plead guilty."

HOUSE PASSES $7,500 GRANT TO TOURIST BODY

Baxter, Veniot and Michaud Speak Hopefully of Outlook for Visitors

ESTIMATES TOTALING $148,330 ADOPTED

High Tribute Paid In Legislature To Work of Dr. J. V. Anglin

BY JOHN J. DUNLOP Special Staff Correspondent to The Times-Star

FREDERICTON, N. B., April 16—A grant of $7,500 was sanctioned by the House for the New Brunswick Tourist and Resources' Association this afternoon in considering the estimates of the provincial secretary-treasurer's department.

This grant is contingent on the association raising the same amount. Premier Baxter spoke hopefully of the outlook for tourist travel this year and said he was pleased to notice the energetic and enthusiastic manner in which the association was taking hold of the work.

Hon. Dr. Veniot and Hon. J. E. Michaud also spoke on the matter. Mr. Michaud asking that all sections of the province be considered in the work of the association. Estimates totalling $148,330 for the department of the Provincial Secretary-Treasurer carried.

DR. ANGLIN PRAISED A unique tribute to the work of Dr. J. V. Anglin, medical superintendent of the Provincial Hospital, was paid by Premier Baxter and Hon. Dr. Veniot, Opposition leader, when estimates for this institution were under consideration.

Both declared his work there was invaluable. Estimates amounting to $195,000 for the hospital passed. Other estimates sanctioned included $8,800 for the executive council, $88,000 for the Jordan Memorial Sanatorium, $20,200 for the Industrial Home and $32,000 for the administration of the motor vehicle law.

EDUCATION ESTIMATES Rapid progress was made with education estimates, a total of $58,662 being voted for this department and leave only those for vocational education to pass.

The total passed for the day amounted to $549,235, bringing the total up to $756,662. Public works, health and vocational education remain.

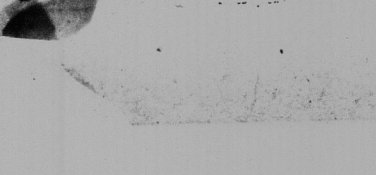

CONSTANT WAVING AND CURLING RUINS HAIR

Girls just must curl and wave bobbed hair to appear their prettiest. But constant waving and curling will do wonders for any girl's hair. It nourishes, stimulates and strengthens each single hair, bringing back that youthful gleam, glist and vigorous luxuriance. Falling hair stops and dandruff disappears. "Danderine" is pleasant and easy to use.

THE PROPER TONIC TO TAKE IN THE SPRING

Many so-called tonics are merely stimulants. They fail to reach of remedy the real cause which makes you run down or out of sorts. The proper and only safe tonic in food medicine. The greatest body builder is Father John's Medicine whose pure food elements are easily taken up by a weakened and run down system. This old prescription contains together with other valuable ingredients the greatest of food medicines—cod liver oil—which doctors have prescribed for years for their patients. It is guaranteed free from drugs, alcohol or any other kind of stimulants. It builds up the body, enriches the blood. It is a builder and not a depresser.

NEW KING BLESSES CONSORT

After bathing in a tub of gold and being anointed at eight points of the crown as a sign of his authority in every direction, Pradick was crowned new King of Siam, and ascended the golden throne. Here he is shown blessing his consort, after receiving homage from members of the royal family. Coronation ceremonies took place in the picture gallery of the palace of Bangkok.

The House adjourned until Tuesday afternoon next.

OFFICIAL REPORT.

FREDERICTON, April 16—The House met at 8 o'clock. The bill to amend rates and taxes set as read a second time.

Mr. Harrison reported for the law practice and procedure committee. Mr. Dickson submitted the report of the agricultural committee.

Mr. Veniot gave notice of inquiry. The House went into committee to consider a number of bills which, after consideration and amendment, were reported to the House and agreed to.

WAS COMMONS MEMBER Mr. Michaud, rising to a question of privilege, asked for a correction of a press report which stated that a member of the Quebec Legislature had been employed to prepare Grand Falls legislation at Quebec. This was not correct. The gentleman in question was a member of the House of Commons.

Hon. Mr. Reilly said he would gladly make the correction. The House went into committee of supply, with Mr. Scouthern in the chair. All the items of the Provincial Secretary-Treasurer's department were passed.

COMPENSATION DEFICITS

Mr. Smith (King), referring to the item authorized by law for Workmen's Compensation claims, inquired if the deficits of the Compensation Board were still piling up.

Hon. Mr. Baxter said that he had been discussing matters in general with the members of the board and he could not make out quite how the reserves stood, or whether there were any reserves. Under the act the board were as nearly as possible a law unto themselves.

The Legislature had no control. The board could fix its own salaries, engage and pay its own employees and incur apparently any expenses, and the whole expenditure was chargeable to the industries brought under its jurisdiction. While it was wise, he said, to give an injured man prompt and proper attention, there seemed to be a disposition among some doctors to treat an injured man as a new sort of a gold mine, and in the meantime industry had to bear these unwarranted charges. He wanted a chance to investigate the Workmen's Compensation Act and see if some way could not be devised to give the protection the act afforded at less cost. He had been discussing the matter with Premier Rhodes, of Nova Scotia, and he hoped to formulate workable plans whereby the work for the two provinces might be done by the one board and cut out a lot of expenditure.

VENIOT'S POINTS TO CAUSE. Mr. Veniot said he thought some of the difficulties of the working of the act arose from the increases which were made in compensation, medical attendance and hospital charges a few years ago. Representatives of industry had agreed to these increases, but they had objected to making death claims unlimited in amount. He thought the deficits in funds of certain classes of industry were caused by the increases above mentioned and not by costs of administration. While the latter might be cut, such reduction would make very little difference in administering $700,000 or more. There had been an alarming increase in the number of fatal accidents, and maiming among workmen also increased the cost. It had been found that apparently about 20 per cent of the injured workmen stayed on the sick list and drew compensation after they were really able to work.

He had wondered if it would not be possible to prevent this by employing a medical man on full time so that he would be ready to investigate and report on all suspicious cases. He thought something should be done to avoid this waste.

REASON FOR INCREASE.

Mr. Taylor said the large increase in rates was mainly brought about by abolishing the $3,500 limit for death claims. He had just had a claim capitalized by the family of a casualty in his business at $11,000. Then he thought that the board was not so much as a number of employers got away without paying, though if any of their men met with casualties there was usually a way found to draw compensation for them. In the lumber section he thought that the lumber cut of the province should be assessed and payment made in the same way as for stumpage. The crown land department could help in securing this.

ONTARIO PRACTICE.

Hon. Mr. Tilley said that in Ontario the Compensation Board in settling death claims gave an annual amount to the widow of 66 per cent of the wages drawn by her husband, though the minimum payment could not be less than $200 a year.

On the item for elections ($2,000,000), so that some of the tangles and absurdities like those in the Prohibitory Act could be straightened out. He (Baxter) thought it would be well to take a little more time on this work and when so much money had to be spent in the purely mechanical part to also devote some time to revision.

RATE CASE OUTLAY.

On the item for Maritime freight rate case ($6,000) the members generally approved of the expenditure and urged that all possible steps should be taken to secure their just demands.

On the Provincial Hospital items, totalling $190,000, Hon. Mr. Baxter said he wanted to pay some tribute to the untiring skill, forethought and patience of the very capable superintendent of this provincial institution. As now conducted it was a credit to the province, and highly reflected the splendid qualities of the superintendent, his good friend Dr. Anglin.

Mr. Veniot said he heartily concurred in all the Premier had said about Dr. Anglin, in whom he had always had the fullest confidence and he wished to add his tribute to that of the Premier.

$88,000 FOR SANATORIUM.

On the item for Jordan Sanatorium ($88,000) there was a short discussion regarding the proposed enlargement and improvements by the bequest from the Jordan estate.

U.S. FILM BOYCOTT ON QUEBEC DECREED

MONTREAL MOVIES EXPECTED TO CLOSE Order Goes Into Effect Aug. 1 and Censor Board is Blamed

MONTREAL, April 16—Montreal and other cities of the province of Quebec are to be boycotted by United States film distributors after Aug. 1, and the prospects are that after that date moving picture houses here will have to close down.

This announcement was made today at a meeting of local motion picture distributors called specially to consider the situation.

"Orders have been received by local distributors from New York not to take any more orders for presentation of films in Quebec after Aug. 1," stated Col. John Cooper, of Toronto, president of the motion picture distributors of Canada.

Col. Cooper attributed the orders to the censorship here. "Motion picture censorship in Quebec is the worst in the world. We have had trouble with the censor board here for years," added Col. Cooper.

"Quebec has a perfect right to make its own laws, but we reserve the right to determine whether we will live under those laws, or do business under those laws.

"For years the distributors have been faced with this situation of their films acceptable anywhere else, coming up here and being cut by the censor board. So much has this been done that Quebec has not proved a profitable market, and for that reason there is no use doing business here. Quebec represents less than one per cent of the market for films on this continent," stated Col. Cooper.

EVER READY CLUB.

The members of the Ever Ready class of the Charlotte street United Baptist church acted as hostesses to the Brotherhood class and their wives and the teachers and officers of the Sunday school for a social evening in the vestry of the church on Friday.

Mrs. C. R. Freeman, wife of the pastor, and Mrs. Taylor, president of the class, received the guests. The rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion. Games were enjoyed, after which refreshments were served.

THE ONLY MEDICINE BABY HAS HAD

Is What Thousands of Mothers Say of Baby's Own Tablets.

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she will use nothing else. Experience teaches her that they are without equal for relieving baby of any of the many minor ailments which afflict him at one time or another. The Tablets never fail to be of benefit, and for that reason there is no use they cannot possibly do harm as they are guaranteed to be free from all injurious drugs.

Concerning Baby's Own Tablets Mrs. Russell Hill, Norwood, Ont., says—"I shall always have a good word to say for Baby's Own Tablets. I have given them to my baby girl. In fact they are the only medicine she has ever had and I am proud to say that she took second prize at our baby show. She is eleven months old and weighs 22 pounds. No mother whose child is peevish or illing will make a mistake in giving it Baby's Own Tablets."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or direct by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Why it is Unfair for a Man With Children to Leave All of His Property to His Wife—Rich Miss Twenty-four, Who Distrusts All Men—The Flapper Grandmother Who Resents Criticism of Her Shingle Bob.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Two years ago a friend of mine died, leaving all of his estate to his wife. There were four children, three of them married. The youngest child is his mother's darling, and without the children knowing it, she turned over all of the property to him, and he has made away with it. The mother is now penniless and dependent upon her married children who did not get a dollar of the money that was rightfully theirs. What do you think of the situation, and what can be done about it? CONCERNED.

ANSWER: Nothing can be done about it if the money is gone, it is gone, and no futile regrets will bring it back.

The situation is a very common one, for mothers are notoriously partial to their black sheep, and are invariably willing to sacrifice their white lambs to them. This is why a man makes a very great mistake, and does his children a grievous wrong, when he leaves all of his property to his wife when he dies.

Many men do this, saying that they can trust their wives to look after their children, and that a mother will always divide her last penny with her child.

This is true. But while you can always trust a mother's heart, you can seldom trust her head, and you can never trust her sense of justice. She will always give to the child who needs it most, or to the most selfish child who clamors the loudest for it, or to the one who is unprincipled enough to flatter and cajole her money out of her.

When Johnny gets into scrapes, mother will pay him out of there, no matter how much she is robbing her well-behaved children. When Susie pleads and cries and sulks for a new dress, or a trip to Europe, mother will give it to her, no matter if her hard-earned money is being used to buy hand-me-downs and stay at home.

Once upon a time I knew a man who died leaving a tidy little estate to his wife. During the youth of the older children money had been scarce, they had few opportunities of education, and had to go early to work. Incidentally, they made splendid men and women of themselves.

When the father died, and the mother came into possession of the property, she never seemed to feel that anything should be done for the older ones, but lavished every advantage of education and travel and dress upon the younger ones, who grew up too temperamental to work, and, indeed, saw no necessity of working as long as mother supported them in luxury.

The result was that the entire family fortune was spent on the younger children, while the older children were cheated out of their inheritance by their mother.

Everybody knows similar cases, and so it is a most unfair thing for a man to leave all of his property to his wife. It simply means that the prodigal sons and daughters will get it, and the good sons and daughters be penalized for their virtues.

DEAR MISS DIX—I have quite a bit of money in my own right. For two years I was engaged to a man with whom I was very much in love, and I believed that he was sincere in his love for me. Then one day I overheard him tell a friend that he had always intended to marry a rich girl, and that he would certainly feather his nest when he married me.

Of course, I broke off the engagement, and the experience has made me distrust all men. Yet I am twenty-four and I would like to marry, and most of my chums have married, and I am beginning to feel left out and lonesome. What shall I do? MISS PESSIMIST.

ANSWER: Undoubtedly, the poor little rich girl has a worse chance to make a good marriage than a poor girl, for she is not only the predestined prey of fortune hunters, but worth-while men are so afraid that they will be classed with the despicable tribe of male parasites who are willing to live off their wives that they generally give the brass a wide berth.

Also, it is the curse of riches that they fill their owner with suspicion, and so they poison the very springs of love. The wealthy never really trust the disinterested affection of any human being. They have seen too much of the love that was graft. They have found too many of the hands, stretched to them in apparent friendship, to have itching palms.

But, Miss Pessimist, you can find a cynical comfort in this: every man marries every woman for something. Some men marry women for their beauty. Other men marry women for their charm or their intelligence or because they are domestic.

In time beauty will fade, familiarity will dull charm. There is small place in domestic life for the exercise of wit, and a man may grow tired of even the best home cooking.

But nobody more worships of money. No familiarity satiates one with it. Nobody ever gets enough of it. It is always a spell to conjure with. So if a man marries you for your money, you will always have something which you can always hold him as long as it lasts. But keep your money in your own hands. Then you will always have him eating out of it. And you may be sure that if that no man will ever mistreat a wife who carries the checking account in her own name.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a woman of 47, the mother of eight children, and a grandmother four times over. I have bobbed my hair quite short, the semi-shingle, and every now and then I get a sneer and hear that some of my in-laws don't like it.

What on earth am I to do? Am I to ask my children how I should wear my hair after twenty-nine years of drugging and struggle to put them where they are? I never tell them how to wear their hair. They do as they please, and I think I have got the same privilege, don't you? MOTHER.

ANSWER: I think so, too. I am strong for you. And I think that any woman who has brought up eight children, and made them fine men and women, and has still got the sap to bob her hair, is a glory to her sex, and that her children, and even her in-laws, should be proud of her.

The most interesting women in the world today are the flapper grandmothers, who have done their part in bearing and rearing a family of children, and who have still the strength and energy and intelligence to keep themselves young and good-looking and well-groomed, and to enjoy life. They are much more admirable than their grandmothers who put on caps at 40, and sat down in the chimney corner and waited for death.

So just tell your critical children, and your caring in-laws, to keep their hair on because you are going to take yours off, and that you don't intend to be chicken-pecked. And if you want a loyal bob, go to it! DOROTHY DIX.

Lovely Lace Frocks Offset Vogues For Mannish Types

By MME LISBETH. LACE is increasingly important in the formal frocks this season. Georgette is frequently used for these models and is often combined with lace insertions. Usually the lace is used with a restrained hand and is confined to narrow yokes, waistbands, small triangular pockets, godet insertions in the skirts and narrow borders, but occasionally wide treatments are preferred.

Both stylings are combined in the frocks on the left above. A patch of colored taffeta was used for this frock and united with blonde lace. The little bodice has a narrow yoke and sleeve cape of lace. The skirt is the bouffant type with a wide border of the lace at the bottom. Hand-made flowers decorate the bodice at the waistline and the skirt. Ivy Harris posed.

The picturesque gown (center) combined lace, taffeta and net in the black and white motif. The bodice and upper part of the skirt which is cut in deep petals, are of white taffeta. The bodice is covered with a bertha of black lace and the lower part of the skirt is black net and is exceedingly wide.

A contrasting touch of color—rather flare of color—is added by a huge sash of flame colored taffeta ribbon posed at the left of the normal waistline. Thelma Todd, the model, wears black stockings and slippers of black satin applied in silver kid.

A gown of silver lace (right) has moulded hips and a circular flare skirt with uneven hem. The bodice is decorated with brilliants in a border design around the hips and complete the costume. Jeanne Morgan posed.

Behind the Screen

THE first telenovela part of her career is the assignment which has fallen to Esther Ralston, who is playing a featured role in Paramount's "The Blind Goddess," Arthur Train's novel, which is being filmed under the direction of Victor Fleming.

Hitherto, Miss Ralston has been confined chiefly to parts containing much comedy. In "The Blind Goddess," which was made under the supervision of B. P. Schulberg, associate Paramount producer, she is seen both as a happy, carefree girl and as a woman of tragedy, prosecuting the murderer of her parent.

Featured players in the cast are Jack Holt, Miss Ralston, Ernest Torrence and Louise Dresser.

Charlie Chaplin, master of mime, is beholding his wishes realized. "I'd like to be a home-body—a man around the house," the king of clowns told a group of friends some years ago. His confidants believed him facetious—then, 'nuff now.

The wave of unrest, conjecture and speculation that once enveloped the big Chaplin mansion has blown over. No longer does one hear rumors along the Hollywood boulevard that Charlie and his baby boy. In fact, Chaplin has found so much happiness in their one child that another is on the way—due in the merry month of April, so they say.

IN NEW YORK SEE SAWING UP and DOWN BROADWAY

MANY of the big spenders of Broadway have been missing since the stock market cut its strange capers a few weeks back.

Wherefore one of the night clubs, where formal evening dress is demanded at dinner or after theatre, advertises as follows in a society magazine: "Were you hit in Wall Street? If you were caught in the recent falling market, do you feel that at present you cannot afford the lavish expense necessary for an evening at an average night club where charges merely mask mediocrity, then come—etc., etc."

TRAVELERS on the contrary frequently do so much "shopping" by the time their ship returns to New York they haven't sufficient money to pay duty on their purchases.

Sales of rare and valuable articles from every part of the world are held on dozens of ships just before they dock.

THE other day a round-the-world excursion boat found richly groomed women selling jade ornaments, Chinese kimono and a thousand and one other articles because they didn't have enough money left to face the custom's men. Those who had been more thrifty were able to pick these articles up at a sum well under the original cost. It's something to jot down in your hat if you're going abroad this year.

But to the astonishment of myself and several thousand others a well-dressed man came along with a baby elephant in leash.

"Circus publicity," someone suggested.

It seems that one George F. Getz, from somewhere-in-Michigan made a round-the-world trip with his two sons and picked up variously a couple of tigers, a cougar, some leopards, panthers and beasts odd and sundry to say nothing of the baby elephant. He had related someone to take the elephant out for exercise.

Getz, I am told, will have a backyard menagerie when he gets home.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

SNITCHER SNATCH AND BIDDY HEN. Mrs. Bunny wasn't a bit cross because Mister Tingaling and the Twins had broken into her house, as you might say.

They talked about the bad little goblin, Snitcher Snatch, and his relations, the Gasobins.

PROJECT TO BUY HEALTH CENTRE HOME REVIVED

Matter Taken Up At Meeting of Board of Directors

MARCH REPORTS ON WORK PRESENTED

Diphtheria Toxoid Is Subject of Address and Discussion

The raising of a fund to make a first payment towards the purchase of the Health Centre building was discussed at a meeting of the Health Centre directors last night and a special committee will give the matter further consideration.

Reports presented showed that the Health Centre work had greatly increased in the three months of this year.

Dr. G. A. B. Addy, president, was in the chair, and the speaker of the evening was Dr. H. L. Abramson, provincial pathologist, who gave a very interesting explanation of how diphtheria toxoid for immunization was

REPORTS FOR MONTH

Reports showed expenses for March totaled $399.50 and receipts were $334.17. The balance amounted to $795.30.

The administrative committee reported that at 12 well-baby clinics, 91 attended and 883 home visits by the nurses; at 9 anti-tuberculosis clinics, 77 attended and the nurses made 474 visits; at 27 social hygiene clinics, 246 patients made 1,408 attendances; at the 20 rental clinics 144 children attended and 10 were referred elsewhere and the nurse made 18 visits; at the pre-school age clinics 22 attended and the nurses made 38 follow-up visits.

There were 19 attending the prenatal clinics and 87 follow-up visits were made. At 20 school clinics the medical inspector saw 198 children and the nurse saw 48 and 16 home calls were made. At the five immigration clinics 110 diphtheria toxoid and 98 scarlet fever toxin inoculations were made and the immunization of 88 children for diphtheria and 30 for scarlet fever was completed.

CLINIC ATTENDANCE

Dr. Warwick pointed out how much the clinic attendance and home visits have increased this year.

It was reported by Miss H. Dykeman, director, that two Red Cross home nursing classes were meeting regularly in the Centre and a St. John Ambulance Association junior class was meeting every Wednesday.

The immunization clinics had taxed the accommodation to provide waiting rooms for the children attending.

A plan for connecting the jacket heat with the furnace was suggested and was referred to the house committee with power to act.

LADY BYNG CAMP

The matter of the location of the Lady Byng Camp for the coming season was under discussion. No site has been decided on as yet.

Mrs. T. N. Vincent, convenor of the ways and means committee, brought forward the suggestion previously made that a fund should be raised immediately to make a payment on the building and purchase on a mortgage.

There was the possibility that the rent might be increased after 1927, when the present lease expires and she considered it would be wiser to pay interest on mortgage than an increased rental.

On her resolution a meeting of the executive and finance committee was to be called to consider the financing of the scheme and the enrollment of life members.

Dr. W. F. Roberts spoke of his great interest in the project, as one of those instrumental in the establishment of the Health Centre. He advocated obtaining the support of Thomas Bell, M. P., and James S. Gregory, who had been early interested in this proposal.

DR. ABRAMSON

Dr. H. L. Abramson, provincial pathologist, was introduced and spoke on "Diphtheria Toxoid."

He spoke particularly of the possibility of wiping out diphtheria entirely if all the children in the world can be immunized with toxoid. In New York a campaign for immunization of all the school children and children of pre-school age is going forward rapidly.

Dr. Abramson said children could be immunized at any time after six months. For adults he recommended that a susceptibility test should first be made.

DR. ADDY

Dr. Addy spoke of anti-toxin having reduced diphtheria death rate from 80 per cent. to three or four per cent. He extended to Dr. Abramson the thanks of the meeting, which had been moved by Dr. Roberts.

Dr. Warwick pointed out that the death rate from diphtheria was highest between the one and two year age and that it was advisable to have children immunized early.

Dr. Abramson recalled the very effective immunization of all children in the Wright street home, where previously there had been many diphtheria deaths.

EMPHASIZES FACT

Dr. Roberts strongly emphasized the fact that sore throats to children should immediately have medical attention to guard against having diphtheria reach a stage at which the child could not be saved.

FAMILY OF 6 SWEEP TO DEATH BY FLOOD IN WESTERN RIVER

Victims Are Farmer Named Breslin, Wife and Four Children

WAGON CARRIED OFF AS ICE-DAM BURSTS

Horses Saved and Searchers Begin Hunt For Bodies in Alberta Section

EDMONTON, Alta., April 16—An entire family of six members, father, mother, and four children, were swept to death by the raging flood of the Athabasca River yesterday afternoon, according to word received by Inspector Piper, of the Alberta Provincial Police today.

The victims of the flood are Fred Breslin, his wife and four little ones, the oldest of whom was nine years. The father was a farmer in the White Court district, where he had been living for some years.

The officer reports Breslin and his family were driving in a wagon along the road on their own land about a quarter of a mile from the river, which was pent up by the ice jam. The ice jam loosened at one side and the torrent of ice and water came roaring on top of the party. The wagon was carried away by the flood with the six persons clinging to it. The horses broke clear of the wagon and they were rescued a short time later by residents of the district. Early this morning the body of the wagon was also found at the edge of the flood in an upturned condition.

No trace has been discovered of the victims. A search party is now out.

U.S. GOLD SHIPMENT TO CANADA IS SEEN

Movement Forecast as Result of Dominion Dollar Being at Premium

NEW YORK, April 16—A movement of gold to Canada from the United States is forecast here, as the result of the premium the Dominion dollar now enjoys over this country's currency. For a time yesterday the Canadian dollar was quoted on the local money market at a premium of 11-64ths of one per cent, and this point theoretically calls for the shipment of gold to the country where finances have an "edge" on United States funds. This morning, the premium on the Dominion money had taken a slight decline to 6-32nds of one per cent. Last October when the Canadian dollar was at about its present level, more than $40,000,000 in gold was shipped from this city to Canada.

The Anchor-Donaldson Line steamer Letitia was scheduled to sail from Glasgow yesterday for Montreal and Quebec, calling at Moville, Ireland and her first St. Lawrence voyage of the season.

S., April 16—Preliminary hearing was started here today in the case of George Peoples, aged Guyboro county pensioner, brought back from Regina, Sask., recently to face a charge of murdering his wife on Jan. 5. The hearing was not concluded. Several witnesses, neighbors of the couple, gave evidence describing the circumstances of the tragedy which, at first time it occurred, was believed to have been an accident, no inquest having been held. Medical examiner Dr. Woodbury reported on an examination of the exhumed body, declaring that the woman had died from head wounds. The body had been removed through an outside cellar door and placed in a front room of the house, without having passed through the kitchen. There was also evidence that two projecting stones in the cellar wall near the stairs had been bloodstained when one of the witnesses visited the scene before the body had been removed. GEO. HAM IS PAID HOMAGE BY BEATTY. His Death Removes One of Picturesque Figures in Railway World. MONTREAL, April 16—E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, today issued the following statement: The death of Colonel George H. Beatty, minister of education in Quebec, Victoria, is a great loss to the railway world. Colonel Beatty had not been active during the last few years as formerly, there was probably no man as well known and widely known throughout Canada and the United States as he, and his fame as a diplomat, a raconteur and a purveyor of happiness was very great. Few men possessed his keen sense of humor, and it was a kindly humor. His barbs of wit had no venom behind them. In the death of Colonel Beatty, the Canadian Pacific loses one of its oldest and most valuable officers, a journalist one of its notable personalities and the country one of its best known and most popular citizens. ONE MEMBER INITIATED. A new member was initiated at the meeting of Portland Lodge, No. 246, Sons of England, held last night in the lodge rooms. After the lodge business a very pleasing program was given. The selections were as follows: Vocal solos, Miss Ruby Leonard and Walter Kierstead; piano solo, Miss Wills McCallum; popular selections by an instrumental trio, Miss Greta Clayton at the piano, Colebrook Clayton, skittle, and John Allan, violin; comedy sketch by S. J. Clark and William MacDonald. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening. The committee in charge of the entertainment consisted of S. J. Clark, Wilnot Dean and G. L. Kierstead. The steamer Benegalia is due at New York yesterday from Cherbourg.

Advertisement for Fire Threatens Our National Heritage, featuring a large illustration of a forest fire and text: 'FIRE THREATENS OUR NATIONAL HERITAGE!! Carelessness Destroys 3,000,000 Acres Annually of Canadian Forest. Loss of standing timber by fire continues to be appalling. On the average over 3,500 million board feet are destroyed annually. The forests of Canada are being depleted at a rate they cannot possibly withstand; more than half of this depletion is due to fire, insects and decay. The future of the forest industry is just as dependent on the seedling trees and young growth as the pulp and paper and lumber mills, and industry generally, are dependent on mature timber—both must be saved from the ravages of fire. Canada has the finest inland fishing in the world, but these splendid food and game fish require clean, cold water in the streams to ensure prolific reproduction. Forest fires are inimical to fish life. Game animals attract foreign tourists and induce Canadians to seek pleasure, health and adventure in the great outdoors. These animals are distinctly a forest resource—utterly dependent on it for protection and food. Forest fires are most destructive of such wild life. Ninety per cent of the forest fires are caused by carelessness. Are you doing your part to prevent this wanton waste and destruction? CHARLES STEWART, Minister of the Interior. EDMUNDSTON IS $75,000 BETTER OFF, MAYOR REPORTS

Gives Accounting of Work of His Council During Year SAYS SINKING FUND CREDIT IS $36,000 No Opposition in Sight to Return of Chief Magistrate

EDMUNDSTON, April 16.—The annual meeting of the Town Council was held in the Court House last evening. Dr. Ratty acted as chairman and introduced His Worship Mayor M. D. Cormier, who gave a brief outline of the work performed by the various councils during his tenure of office. He explained the construction of the dam at Green River dam, stating the cost at $700,000, and said that this would be saved on the goods stored therein. He was glad to be able to state to the taxpayers of Edmundston that the assessment for the present year had been lowered by some $15,000, and that the sinking fund inaugurated during his term of office now boasted a credit balance of $36,000.

His Worship outlined the improvements made on the lighting system, water power and fire alarm system without the borrowing of a single dollar and assured his audience that the town's financial position was now better off by some $75,000. Mayor Cormier then commented on the new gasolines now under way with a New York concern regarding the feasibility of installing artesian wells to remedy the present unsatisfactory water supply, as well as correspondence with the town of Newcastle.

SCOTCH ORPHANS COMING OVER Dr. C. C. Cassar, a prominent Scottish philanthropist and social worker, is planning an experiment designed to relieve the congestion in the orphan homes of Scotland. He proposes to send groups of the orphans to the various English colonies, particularly Canada, the youths to be placed on farms where youthful labor is in some sections always more or less in demand.

DEMOURNEMENTS HOSPITAL SCHEME His Worship was also emphatic in denouncing any hospital scheme for the town, stating that the town's financial condition made any such scheme impossible for the present. He also stated that last year a bill had been prepared and forwarded to Hon. J. E. Michaud, M. L. A., for authorization to borrow $50,000 to improve the water and electric system, and that the only answer received was that the committee had not deemed it to consider the bill, and that those who are now criticizing the present situation were the same persons who had opposed the bill. In connection with this, His Worship announced that should there be any opposition to the present council at the forthcoming election a public meeting would be held Sunday evening at the Casino Theatre.

Word has just been received that Hon. J. E. Michaud, M. L. A., who was offered the nomination to oppose Mayor M. D. Cormier at the forthcoming municipal election, had declined to permit his name to be used in any way and also declined to accept the nomination. Mr. Cormier's election for the coming term by acclamation is now conceded.

BENEFIT CONCERT HELD FOR CADETS

Interesting and Enjoyable Program Carried Out in Moncton School Hall

Special to The Times-Star. MONCTON, April 17.—A benefit concert held last night in the Aberdeen assembly hall, under the auspices of No. 560 Cadet Corp, was a great success. The program opened with a royal salute by the Cadet Corps. A tumbling act performed by H. Goring, T. Tubouss and S. Doucette was a big feature, those taking part showing real acrobatic ability. Another novel feature was the step-dancing act by Miss Jean Spottiswoode, accompanied by Professor Woodhouse on the piano. Solos by Mrs. Clyde Stevens, R. B. Mettler and George Sliven were of a very high order and each was forced to respond to encores. Bagpipe selections by John Letterick made a great hit with the audience. He also supplied a special step-dancing act playing his own accompaniment on the violin. Tom Stenhouse in his rendition of several Scotch songs was obliged to secure time and again. A reading by Mrs. T. C. Adams deserves special mention, as also does the mandolin solos by Yvonne Dries, which were excellently rendered. J. C. Farthing, instructor of the Cadet Corps, gave a fine exhibition of teach swinging. Principal W. McL. Barker was chairman and spoke briefly to the audience, thanking them for their co-operation. Mr. Farthing also made a few remarks, including a word of praise for the Cadet Corp under Capt. Fred Addy.

A general salute by the officers and rifle squad of the Cadet Corps, and the singing of the national anthem brought the program to a close. The proceeds go toward the uniform equipment fund for the Cadets.

$2,000 Medical Bills Bankrupt This Flyer

BOSTON, April 17.—Alton B. Sherman, of Whitman, an aviator, filed a petition in bankruptcy today. Two hospitals and three physicians were his principal creditors. The petition showed liabilities of $1,949, and no visible assets. The Brockton Hospital was one of the creditors, the Jordan Hospital at Plymouth, was another, both having accounts for medical treatment. Three Boston physicians, it was shown, held claims ranging from $800 to $10, likewise for medical treatment. Apparently he was in good physical condition.

WHITTEMORE BREAK FROM JAIL FOILED

Watchful Jailer Seizes Saw Sent in by Woman With Writing Paper

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 17.—But for the watchfulness of a veteran jailer, Richard Reese Whittemore might be at liberty. Whittemore, New York gangster, accused of complicity in the murder of two Buffalo bank guards, has a clever get-out on the outside. But she isn't clever enough.

SAWS IN PAPER When Charles Lieb, oldest guard in the Erie county jail, saw Whittemore opening a box of stationery in his cell, he snatched it away. Three hacksaw blades were neatly concealed in the writing paper. A little quiet and industrious work would have made a break for freedom possible. A wee note, a slanting feminine hand, nestled beside the blades. "Rich, fondest regards and best wishes from J. N. and S."

OLD STUFF TO LIEB "Old stuff, Dick," Jailer Lieb laughed inspecting the saw. "That trick never gets by me."

The Candy Kid was a despondent man for the rest of the day. Head in hands, he avoided the unblinking gaze of his aged guard, whose job it is to watch him for 14 hours every day.

Whittemore, on Monday, will go on trial on a charge of first degree murder. He is accused of killing Louis Yarrington and Charles Clifford, guards at the Bank of Buffalo, when $93,000 was stolen.

Extra precautions will be taken to guard Whittemore when he is taken from the jail to the Court House. He will be conducted through the famous Catox tunnel, employed 25 years ago to protect the murderer of President McKinley from a mob.

Kills Man She Charges Attacked Daughter GLOBE, Ariz., April 17.—Mrs. Maud Edmunds today shot and killed Alfred Goodenstein for an alleged attack upon her 11-year-old daughter. She then surrendered to the sheriff.

Mrs. Edmunds related that when she forced Goodenstein with a rifle to admit the attack on her daughter, he taunted her with the remark, "What are you going to do about it?" He then threw open his shirt, the woman said, and dared her to shoot. "I then fired," Mrs. Edmunds added. The alleged attack occurred at the Edmunds home last night, the woman said.

Further Slump In Potato Market In Aroostook, Me.

PORT FAIRFIELD, Me., April 16.—Buyers were paying from $8.50 to $8.75 a barrel for potatoes today but few were being offered. The demand from growers was light and shipments were less than 100 car loads. Figures given out by the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad today show that the reported estimate of about 3,000 car loads left in Aroostook is practically correct. This included all grades, a considerable proportion being No. 2s and the grade known as culls which fell considerably less than the daily quotations which are for Green Mountain No. 1s. This supply in storage while representing about 1,980,000 bushels is comparatively small, much below the normal average at this time of year and is being depleted at the rate of about 100 car loads a day. The bulk of the supply is now held by the farmers or growers. Since touching the $10-mark last week the price has sagged. Whether it will recover to a high peak is a matter of difference of opinion. It appears that the farmers who have potatoes to sell think they can afford to wait. There is very little speculative buying.

Churchill Proceeding Directly Opposite To Robb

TAX CUTS ENVIED

Government Expected To Approve Proposed Levy On Public Betting

LONDON, April 17.—The new Canadian budget has been closely scrutinized here, and the apparent reduction in taxation has aroused the envy of the British taxpayer.

The reports of the suspension of the motor industry in Canada owing to the reduction in tariff is given prominence in the press here today. In Churchill's new budget, now under preparation, it is predicted that he is proceeding in a direction opposite to that of the Canadian government and will place a considerable luxury tax on automobiles graduated according to their class. It is expected that heavy motor trucks will also have to pay considerably more.

GASOLINE TAX PROPOSED

There has been a good deal of argument in favor of a tax on gasoline to replace the present tax on motor cars graduated according to horse power, but it is unlikely that there will be any change of this nature until the whole matter has been considered by a special committee.

It is also expected that after hesitating for two years the government will finally approve the principle of a tax upon betting and private members are proposing a bill to legalize bookmaking and other forms of public betting.

FRUIT FACTORY IN SAINT JOHN TALKED

Strawberries Would Be Put In Cold Storage and Shipped West

FREDERICTON, April 16.—There is a possibility that Saint John may have a strawberry factory in operation this year.

Early this month B. Frank Smith, government member for Carleton county, received a communication from the Western Packing Corporation, Vancouver, asking for information relative to the strawberry crop in New Brunswick. The communication pointed out there was a short crop in British Columbia and that the company would be buying this year in considerable quantities from the east.

The shipments would be packed in barrels with one pound of sugar for two pounds of strawberries and placed in cold storage until refrigerator space could be secured on the trains for shipment to Vancouver.

Yesterday, Mr. Smith received a wire from E. M. Gillan, representing the corporation, asking for further information regarding conditions down here and advising that the company might consider the idea of growing strawberries in Saint John, if suitable. Hon. Lewis Smith, minister of agriculture, has notified the corporation of conditions in regard to this commodity in New Brunswick, pointing out that in the Sackville district alone in 1925 800,000 boxes were secured and in 1924 600,000 boxes.

M'INTYRE TO MEET KID LEWIS AT LYNN

Bout Will Be Staged Next Month—Lewis is Favorite

Johnny McIntyre has been matched to meet Lou Kid Lewis, the well-known Montreal and Jameson, N. Y. boxer, for a Lynn, Mass., boxing club fight in May. They were scheduled to meet some time ago, but the match failed to materialize. According to reports, coming from Lynn, definite arrangements have been completed for the staging of the McIntyre-Lewis contest, with the winner to take on Sailor Darden of New York, a well-known colored welterweight.

Lewis, one of the few Canadians to make good over the border, has shown sufficient class in New York bouts to make him the favorite over the Maritime brawler. The Montreal boxer, who is under the management of Tommy Moore, has grown to be a big card all over the country. Listed among his opponents are the following and others: Lou Kid Kaplan, Johnny Darcy, Solly Green, Pedro Campo, Danny Conroy, Mickey Travis, Oscar Dechamps, Charles Ledoux, Willie Murphy, Ray Mitchell, George Papin, Hughie Hutchison and Johnny Shugrie.

EXEMPTION OF $500 FOR EVERY KIDNIE

OTTAWA, April 16.—No mention is made in the budget of the allowance of the income tax for each dependent child under 18 years of age which, as the income tax forms put it, "is the amount of the normal tax on $500."

This allowance, therefore, is unchanged from what it was before the budget was introduced and in addition the taxpayer has $800 for each child.

The graduated scale of income tax rates as applying to bachelors is the same as that for married men except that in the case of the former, only the first $1,000 is exempt.

One Periodical Sends in 100,000 Francs; Legion Members Sacrifice Pensions

PARIS, April 17.—Diamonds, pearls, watches, car-steps, bracelets, as well as franc notes and checks, were received Friday by the "Save the Franc" fund commission, which opened its offices in the Finance Ministry at the Louvre.

All sorts and conditions of French citizens and some foreigners made voluntary contributions of funds to be used to retire treasury notes and reduce France's floating debt, relieving the treasury of the embarrassment of being unable to meet its payments on National bonds that are falling due.

The contributions come from all parts of France, one newspaper raising 100,000 francs. The Prince of Monaco gave 70,000 francs for himself and his children. In many cases government officials gave a tenth of their slender salaries. Military members of the legion of honor decided to give the legion pensions.

Actors have started to fund theatrical benefits to be made ready today. There is no reference to stocks held by dealers in the resolution. Hon. J. A. NEW AUTO TARIFF ALREADY IN FORCE

OTTAWA, April 16.—The new tariff on automobiles becomes effective today. "I thought that something would be done for the fruit and vegetable growers," the minister said.

BADGES ARE BOUGHT FOR CITY FATHERS

Beverly, Mass., Aldermen and Councilors Labeled; One Member Declines

BEVERLY, Mass., April 17.—This city seems bent toward a orgy of badge buying. Today, eight members of the Board of Aldermen appeared on the streets wearing badges, about the size of a half dollar, which proclaimed to the world that the wearers were members of the city government of Beverly and of the Board of Aldermen.

The ninth member of the board, Carl Jacobson, refused to wear his badge, stating that he had served the city long enough to be known without having to resort to "billboard advertising."

As a result of the action of the board members, the school teachers, ash collectors and others are going to petition the city fathers for badges also. It looks though the badge business in Beverly is going to be good.

The badges were bought by the finance committee of the board and probably cost in the neighborhood of $10—being 81 apiece. They bought 10 and have given one to Mayor William Stopford, but His Honor hasn't decided to wear it yet. It is rumored that he believes he looks enough like a Mayor to refrain from wearing the identification.

One result of the board's action, however, is the sudden increase in the sale of metal polish at all stores carrying that line and manufacturers have been asked to send more of their commodity.

SACRED CONCERT AT ST. ANDREWS

EMPLOYER ACCUSED IN WORKER'S DEATH

MONTREAL, April 16.—A jury in the coroner's court today returned a verdict of manslaughter against L. P. Forest, a sub-contractor, following the violent death last Wednesday of one of his employes, John Turgeon, who was crushed about the right hip and leg by a large boulder which rolled into an excavation.

"I thought that something would be done for the fruit and vegetable growers," the minister said.

DOUCET CLASHES WITH DONAGHY IN CUSTOMS INQUIRY

Resents Charge of Choking Facts Down Throat of Witness

BENNETT INVOLVED IN COMMITTEE ROW

Release of Lunenburg Boat Further Probed and End of Hearing in Sight

OTTAWA, April 16—Unless new ground is broken the public hearings of the committee investigating the customs department are expected to come to an end in about two weeks. The report of the committee may be before the public by the middle of May.

W. J. Blair, legal adviser to the Department of Customs, defended today, his part in the release of 806 cases of liquor seized aboard the Lunenburg schooner W. C. Kennedy in Northumberland Straits in June, 1923.

The hearing was enlivened by a wordy clash in which Mr. A. J. Doucet of Kent, N. B., prominently figured.

Dougald Donaghy, of North Vancouver had been interviewing the examination of the witness occasionally. He asked if there was any passage in the customs act providing for seizure and forfeiture of the ship and cargo in the circumstances which had been proved.

Mr. Blair said "No."

Then, said Mr. Donaghy, most of the questions being asked were irrelevant. He said that Mr. Doucet was "choking facts down the witness' throat" and that Mr. Bennett was "riding this witness too hard."

A furious altercation ensued across the bench. Mr. Doucet shouted his question over and over. Mr. Donaghy, at the other end, shouted his protest against the question. Mr. Bennett banged the table under Mr. Donaghy's nose and told him to stop calling other people's questions "irrelevant."

Chairman Mercier alternately made rulings and begged for order.

The cross examination was eventually handed over to Committee Counsel R. L. Calder, and peace was restored.

BLAIR CROSS-EXAMINED.

Hon. R. B. Bennett cross-examined Mr. Blair and subjected him to a severe grilling. The member for Calgary insisted that the Kennedy and the owners of the cargo had visited the law. Mr. Blair insisted there was no proof that the customs regulations had been broken.

The whole argument seemed to hinge on a definition of the meaning of "territorial waters."

Mr. Blair said there was no such phrase in the customs act.

"Surely you, as a lawyer, know what territorial waters are?" exclaimed Mr. Bennett.

Mr. Bennett returned to his contention, repeated yesterday and today, that the facts on file proved that the Kennedy and her charters were engaged in a conspiracy to defraud the Canadian customs by landing liquor in Canada. The whole matter should have been referred to the department of justice and the question of whether any part of Northumberland Straits territorial waters was one for the courts to settle.

There was much technical argument as to whether the evidence on file justified the return of the liquor, and the $400 fine originally imposed. "Breaking bulk" within three leagues of the shore, had evidently taken place.

Mr. Blair thought there was no proof of it. The boat was outside the three-mile limit, when seized and there was no proof that the 198 cases already removed from her cargo had been landed in Canada.

Mr. Bennett said there were on file letters from one minister of the crown and another member of parliament had intervened in the matter. He did not want to mention names, because the party had nothing to do with it. But it was evident that Mr. Blair's report and recommendation had been made after he knew that the minister and deputy minister of customs wanted that sort of report.

Convicts Off To Penal Colony

France, for the first time in two years, is sending a shipload of prisoners to Devil's Island, French Guiana, that Captain Dreyfus made notorious. Because of its stifling climate, disease-infested jungles and desolate location convicts call the camp "the living death." Above is La Marjolaine, the ship carrying them to tropical America, and below, view of the embarkation at La Rochelle, France. Notice the types, gray-haired men, Negroes, smiling peasants—some of them mere boys. Among them is Gabriel Mouray, a New York butcher who robbed his employer in Paris. "I'll be back in New York in two years," Mouray threatened, on sailing.

OTTAWA, April 16—The House of Commons in committee of the whole took up and reported the government bill to revalue soldier settlement land as amended.

Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of Interior, who introduced the bill, said it was not his intention to discuss the matter further for several hours. He had endeavored to take advantage of proposals made by members of the House unless the committee could accept the bill, he would be compelled to withdraw it.

H. M. Hannesson, Conservative, Selkirk, thought the most important consideration was to get something done for the soldiers. He did not approve entirely of the bill. There were a number of other things that should be provided for as far as the government was concerned.

Mr. Stewart interjected angrily that he had nothing to say to a statement of that kind.

Mr. McGibbon hastily added that he was referring to Mr. Coote and not to Mr. Stewart. The inference was that he had meant to say "honorable member" instead of "honorable minister."

The incident closed.

There was some discussion of that clause which calls upon the soldier settler to produce an affidavit in regard to the value of his land.

General J. A. Clark, Conservative, Vancouver-Burrard, said it would be unfair to bar a soldier from the benefits of the act just because his affidavit was not made on the form provided by the department.

Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative, Calgary, suggested that the bill be amended by submitting a statutory declaration for an affidavit.

The committee and now stands for third reading.

It may be said that it would be more advantageous to New Brunswick to observe a period when the forest fire hazard was more imminent than at present.

Mr. Bennett said there were on file letters from one minister of the crown and another member of parliament had intervened in the matter. He did not want to mention names, because the party had nothing to do with it. But it was evident that Mr. Blair's report and recommendation had been made after he knew that the minister and deputy minister of customs wanted that sort of report.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR NEW BRUNSWICKERS TO REDUCE FIRE LOSSES

"Save the Forest Week" a Call to Every Citizen of the Province to Do Share in Great Prevention Work

FREDERICTON, April 16—New Brunswick has been extremely lucky in the matter of forest fire losses ever since 1923 when the damage caused by forest fires in this province reached $2,875,496—unprecedented figures. Last year the loss was cut down to $41,891 in this province, there being only three fires which spread beyond 500 acres; although a total of 103 fires were reported during the 1925 season.

But who knows that this year may not bring about conditions which will make it impossible for New Brunswick to escape a big loss again, unless the aims of Save-the-Forest-Week, which is to be observed all over this continent from April 18 to April 24, are driven home to every man, woman and child in this province.

LAST YEAR'S FIGURES.

There were 5,480 forest fires in the Dominion last year and they burned over 1,019,068 acres and caused a big loss of $6,646,889. These figures, tremendous as they appear, were actually less than half of the average for the period embracing the past five years.

From 1920 to 1924, inclusive, the average number of forest fires in Canada was 6,266; the average area burned over each year was 3,066,931 acres; stature timber with an estimated stumpage value of $10,452,000 was burned together with young growth estimated to have a value of $2,278,888, which with property to the value of $1,021,462 which was destroyed brought the average annual total gross damage up to $13,891,800.

British Columbia suffered the worst forest fires in her history last year. A total of 8,010 fires were reported in that province, covering an area of 1,818,822 acres, of which 217,293 acres were covered with matured timber carrying over one thousand million board feet of timber. No fewer than 749, or about 26 per cent. of the fires in British Columbia were caused by lightning, an abnormally large percentage from such a cause.

A BOUNDEN DUTY.

It is an accepted fact that 90 per cent. of the forest fires in Canada are caused by human agencies. It is a healthy sign that responsibility for the starting of forest fires in this country is do home-made. Save-the-Forest-Week is a call to duty to every citizen to do his part in the prevention of forest fires during the season which is now opening when our great resources are constantly in danger from the fire menace.

With snow several feet deep mostly everywhere in the New Brunswick woods it may seem odd to some people that next week—April 18 to April 24—will be a time for holding a "Save-the-Forest-Week" when special efforts are to be directed towards drawing public attention to forest fire prevention.

It may be said that it would be more advantageous to New Brunswick to observe a period when the forest fire hazard was more imminent than at present.

Mr. Bennett said there were on file letters from one minister of the crown and another member of parliament had intervened in the matter. He did not want to mention names, because the party had nothing to do with it. HUDSON BAY LAND SALE CAUSES QUERY

M'Donald Knows Nothing About Radio Station For Property

OTTAWA, April 16—In the House of Commons this afternoon, W. E. Rowe (Conservative, Duffin-Simcoe), called attention to a newspaper article to the effect that a syndicate was promoting the sale of land in the vicinity of Hudson Bay.

The report stated that arrangements were being made between the Canadian Government and the syndicate for the purchase of a radio station in this northern locality. Other proposed improvements were also outlined.

Mr. Rowe asked if the Government had entered into any such proposed arrangements, and if not, whether any steps had been taken to prevent the improper use of the name of the Government.

Hon. E. M. MacDonald, Minister of National Defence, stated that insofar as the rumored installation of a radio station was concerned, his department knew nothing about the matter. He would, however, have further enquiries made in respect to the whole matter.

ST. STEPHEN HEARS COOPER'S SCHEME

Promoter Declares He Has Not Asked to Sell Stock in Maine

ST. STEPHEN, April 16—Over 500 people, including a large number of ladies, attended a meeting here tonight, in the Ganong school auditorium, and listened with great interest to Dexter P. Cooper who described his great project known as the Cooper dam which is creating so much interest throughout New Brunswick and Maine. Mr. Cooper outlined his project in a comprehensive way and endeavored to say that there were some things such as fisheries and sewerage that might be affected but he could not say to what extent these would be effected. He did say, however, that in his estimate the dam did not cost more than enough to take care of these matters.

In regard to financing this project Mr. Cooper said that the report that he had applied for permission to sell stock in the State of Maine was absolutely absurd, that he had not applied for such permission and that when the time came for financing the proposition the international joint commission would see that all proper finances were arranged to complete the job before they would give their sanction.

High Street House Destroyed By Fire

Fire last evening at 7:20 o'clock totally destroyed the two-storey house and contents owned and occupied by John McCarthy, situated on an abutment near the railway trestle at the foot of High street.

The two-storey house occupied by Thomas J. McBe and Joseph Wallace, 76 High street, and about 50 feet from the McCarthy house, also caught fire and some damage was caused to the side and in a couple of rooms in the top flat, occupied by Mr. McBe.

It is understood that Mr. McBe carried some insurance, but Mr. McCarthy was not so fortunate. Mr. McCarthy was not at home when the fire started and the blaze had gained considerable headway before being discovered. An alarm from box 142 was responded to quickly by the fire department, but nothing could be done to save the building which was then a mass of flames.

ROCKWOOD, Me., April 16—Napoléon Lachance and Anthony Lessard, both about 20, of St. Zacharie, N. The collapse of the roof was due to weight of snow upon it which spread the supports, and from the ten men extricated from the wreck.

FREDERICTON, April 16—The missing letter embodying the Lancaster Highway Board's viewpoint with respect to the Fairville road work made figure prominently in the sworn evidence of G. G. Murdoch, county engineer, before the Public Accounts Committee here this afternoon in further consideration of the charges brought on by James Lewis, M.L.A., for Saint John. Mr. Murdoch said that on September 10 last, he and former Councillor John T. O'Brien interviewed B. M. Dr. Veniot requested it be forwarded to Bathurst. Mr. Murdoch declared this letter bound the province to pay the entire cost of widening the letter is missing. Councillor Wm. Goding also gave evidence. The sub-committee composed of A. D. Taylor and Dr. M. A. Oulton will bring in a report in the entire matter.

POSSIBILITIES OF BIOLOGY ARE DEALT WITH BY MR. FRASER

Mt. A. Professor Gives Interesting Discourse to University Club Here

Professor Roy Fraser, of the department of biology of Mount Allison University, addressed the University Women's Club at their regular meeting in the Admiral Beatty Hotel on Friday afternoon. He dealt with the possibilities of biology in bettering human life. The aim of biology, he said, was to foster the biological spirit. This was not merely the discovery of the laws and principles underlying natural phenomena, although these were important, but rather it was the kindling of a Promethian fire seeking through the material for a plan of life. The professor thought that many scientists had erred in making science merely an accumulation of facts. They had failed to emphasize the creative side of their subject and had therefore in many cases antagonized their students. Biology, he said, was not merely a matter of dissection but was even more intimately concerned with the phenomena of the beauty and possibility of the living organism. Louis Pasteur, he said, had realized this and had declared the laboratory to be one of the greatest moral assets of a nation. Biology was still at its beginning, the lecturer asserted, but throughout the whole of his history, man has been compelled to conform to biological laws. At first he had to live according to the laws of nature. His life depended upon it.

Budget Change Affects Trade Of $5,000,000

OTTAWA, April 16—Official trade returns indicate that approximately $5,000,000 worth of trade will be affected by the budget regulation in regard to direct shipments under the British preference.

The provision is that after Jan. 1, 1927, the benefits of the British preferential tariff will apply only to goods that are conveyed without transshipment, into a sea or river port of Canada. Trade returns compiled by the Bureau of Statistics give the total of British Empire imports entering Canada via the United States at $4,333,333. This was for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1925. Luther Burbank in creating new types of plants. The great lesson which he had emphasized was that life was plastic and could be moulded into greater forms of beauty and use. Another feature of the work of modern biologists was the control of diseases. In criticizing some of the older biologists, notably Haldane and Russell, Professor Fraser claimed that they were behind the times. He was ultra-scientific, he said, in discarding all sentiment whereas the modern scientist, he said, has a human side. He disposed of tradition, diseases and social inconveniences, leaving man free to think, but apparently he gave him nothing to think about. Russell showed how science dragged the human race down, but man could not be disposed of in that fashion. Russell emphasized the misuse of science in warfare but Pasteur and Lister had saved more lives than science destroyed even in the late war.

What is Under the Covers? Second-hand, dirty fillings, or New, Clean Materials?

THERE is no law in this land that prohibits the use of old, worn, second-hand or even dirty or unsanitary materials for the fillings of a chesterfield or an upholstered chair. Yet, second-hand fillings can prove a menace to the health of every member of a family. Who can tell what kind of disease germs may be present in unsanitary fillings. We are in favor of a law to prohibit the use of such fillings. But, as there is no such law at present, the only protection you have is to buy a chesterfield made by a reliable maker. We ourselves, give you a guarantee, printed and signed, that we use only new, clean, sanitary fillings for all our "Sani-Bilt" Chesterfields and Suites. These fillings are, also, sterilized to make doubly certain that they are absolutely germ-free, safe and healthful. We feel sure you would not knowingly bring into your home a chesterfield or upholstered chair filled with unclean materials. But how are you going to tell what is under the covers, unless you get a maker's guarantee of their newness, cleanliness and quality? Who but Snyder's gives such a guarantee? 90 YEAR OLD BUILDING.

This old landmark which has withstood the storms of 90 years is still in almost perfect state of preservation. The venerable tradition and tender memories that cling round it make the building in very fact, a place of worship even to some of those outside the congregation.

At the regular meeting of the Bible Class of the Methodist church, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Piper, Rev. Mr. McCully was present with an address and a purse of gold.

Little Annie Rooney is the twelve year old daughter of a New York policeman; leads a band of street urchins in fiercely contended, rough and tumble, battles with rival gangs; and is secretly and madly in love with a strapping truck driver, the pal of her big brother, Tim Rooney. Her garb consists of cheap calicoes, much-darned stockings, down-at-the-heel shoes, and, sometimes, a boy's cap. Ten different nationalities and races are represented among the kid types in the two score or so youngsters figuring in the picture. TWO BAPTIST CITY CHURCHES MAY BE UNITED

Waterloo Street and Tabernacle Committees Discuss Matter

REV. A. L. TEDFORD IS SUGGESTED PASTOR

Whole Union Question Is To Be Further Gone Into

Efforts are underway at present to bring about amalgamation of the Waterloo Street and Tabernacle Baptist churches. At a business meeting in the Waterloo church it was unanimously decided to request that a delegation be appointed by the Tabernacle church to confer with a similar delegation from Waterloo on the subject.

A committee from Tabernacle, accompanied by Rev. A. L. Tedford, pastor of that church, met the Waterloo street committee last evening in the vestry of the latter church. Deacon H. Hoyt, of Waterloo street, presided.

A very friendly spirit was evident on both sides as the pros and cons of such an important step were discussed. A committee member said this morning. The terms under which the congregation of each church would probably consider union favorably were given.

TALK OF NEW CHURCH

The Tabernacle committee felt that a new church on the site already secured by them at Haymarket Square was the logical solution of any union. On the other hand the Waterloo street committee felt that the present church in first class condition which could with very little expense be enlarged to accommodate both congregations.

SUGGESTED AS PASTOR

The Waterloo street committee during the evening paid a personal tribute to Rev. Mr. Tedford when one of them said that they had been authorized by their church members to urge that, in the event of the union taking place, Rev. Mr. Tedford accept the pastorate of the new church.

The Tabernacle committee after the subject had been discussed at length said that they would take the matter up at once with the advisory board of their church and if the board authorized it would bring the question before the church members for further discussion.

In the meantime it was said the members of Waterloo street church would await the decision of the Tabernacle advisory board before going more fully into the question.

RELATIVES SEARCH FOR G. W. JOHNSON

Englishman, Veteran of War, is Not Heard from for Two Years

A country-wide search is being conducted for Greswold William Johnson, who left his home in England a little more than two years ago, and is thought to have come to Canada. His father died in December of last year, and it is of advantage to him to return to his home in Birmingham.

Mr. Johnson is 52 years of age, about 5 feet 9 inches in height, has dark brown hair and eyes and is missing the middle finger of the left hand. He is of a quiet disposition. He is supposed to have been seen in Montreal about two years ago last November. During the war he served with the Imperial Regiment, Queen's Own Westmister, and was wounded at the battle of the Somme.

There are relatives in New Brunswick and any person who can give any information about his present whereabouts is asked to communicate with The Times-Star or with Messrs. Bowman and Elkin, Temple street, Birmingham, England.

BUTTER AND EGGS IN MARKET CHEAPER

Maple Sugar Supply Reported Light, as Season Late—Today's Retail Prices

Somewhat cheaper eggs and butter were features of the city market today. Fresh eggs, extra, retailed at 45 cents, while firsts brought 40 cents. Dairy butts were at 45 to 50 cents, and creamery at 50 to 55. Supplies of both butter and eggs were coming in well, and the market was expected to be at the present time. It was said that the sap was not running.

Green stuffs were in fairly good supply. Fresh rhubarb was 20 cents a pound and mushrooms 75. Asparagus brought 60 cents a bunch, while 40 cents was asked for pint boxes of strawberries. Spinach sold at 25 to 30 cents a pound, and artichokes at 50 to 60 cents a peck. Native lettuce sold for 10 cents a head, while the iceberg variety brought 20 to 25 cents. Celery was quoted at 25 to 35 cents a head. String beans were selling at 50 cents a quart.

POULTRY AND MEATS

There was practically no spring lamb in the market this morning, but some was expected in a few days. There also was a scarcity of fresh chickens, but quite a supply of nice fowl at 40 to 45 cents, which is slightly lower than last week. Turkeys sold at from 50 to 65 cents a pound and storage geese at the same figure. Beef was quoted at 14 to 15 cents a pound, veal, 12 to 13 cents; pork, 25 to 30 cents and storage lamb 20 to 40 cents.

MISHAP TO ENGINE

Sussex Morning Train Delayed Nearly Two Hours By Accident

The C. N. R. train from Sussex, due in Saint John at 8:45, was delayed an hour and forty minutes this morning by an accident to the engine.

Shortly after leaving Riverside station the rear right-hand driving shaft snapped in two, one of the broken halves smashing off the ends of several sleepers. Little damage was caused to the right-of-way, however, and Engineer Nickerson pulled up the train with commendable promptness. So smoothly was the train stopped that the passengers were not aware of any accident until informed by the train crew of what had caused the delay.

An auxiliary engine was despatched from Saint John, and the crippled train was brought into the city long behind its schedule. Many passengers were given a lift into the city by passing autos, the Rathesay road now being in good shape.

CANTATA IS LOVELY SONG AT ST. LUKE'S

Children Present A Dream of Fairyland Well in North End

Charles H. Gabriel's delightful cantata, "A Dream of Fairyland," was presented last evening by the members of the Junior Women's Auxiliary of St. Luke's church, with complete success.

The large audience was most appreciative of the finished and charming manner in which the children carried through their parts. The stage was made into an attractive bower with green boughs and flowers and had a white fountain, with twining flowers in the centre. Mrs. H. Usher Miller, junior superintendent, had directed the production and trained the children, and of appreciation of her leadership a beautiful bouquet of flowers was presented to Mrs. Miller on behalf of the Junior W. A. by Bertha Williams.

The members of the committee that assisted Mrs. Miller were Mrs. A. Whitehouse, Mrs. Walter L. Gregg, Mrs. C. W. Morrison, Mrs. W. Gaskin and Miss Helen McMullin. The accompanist was Miss Marjorie Thompson. During the evening an offering for missions was taken and a substantial sum was presented. The cantata was so much enjoyed that arrangements were made for a repeat performance on next Friday evening.

THOSE TAKING PART.

In the cantata two little orphan children who took the part of orphans were Jean Gaskin and Isabel Orr. They wore pretty little costumes of white and silver. The good fairies, who had dresses of white and silver, with roses on their waists, were Pearl Hutchings, Doris McMullin, Grace Chien, Eleanor Henderson, Mildred Howes, Catherine Kincaide, Margaret Henderson and Gladys Storey. The bad fairies, who were dressed in black and silver, were Lean Jones, Audrey Porter, Ada Stikney, Doris Harry, Mariel Chatterton, Dorothy Campbell, Rose Winstanley, Grace and Marjorie Orr. The little sprites wore red and gold dresses, and those who acted the part of Elixia and Helen McKinnon, Marion Fisher, Elsie Givan, Marie White, Jean Fitzgibbon, Dora McCallum, Audrey Higgins, Anita Orr, Blanche Cunningham, Barbara Marley and Doris Hart. The angels were all little girls, and the children who had parts as angels were Alberta Harry, Margaret Gaskin, Dorothy Hart, Hazel Tufts, Doris and Dorothy Needham, Ines Rathburn and Mary Winstanley.

In their singing and in their acting the children acquitted themselves with credit to themselves and their director.

Between the acts the choir boys of the church gave some pleasing character songs and patriotic selections. Their costumes were appropriate to the character songs. Their choir boys were Everett H. Horne, William Mayes, William Carlin, William Armour, Charles Miller, Charles Hamilton and George Fleming.
