List of The Graft Payments Are a Feature Of Opening Dugal Session

Carvell Files Particulars Asked For by Mr. Flemming's Counsel

Col. Loggie The First Witness -- He Furnishes Groundwork of Case Showing How Mr. Flemming and Berry Managed All The Bonus Business--Proceedings Amicable Today

Definite charges of the payment of large sums of money by the lumber operators of the province, lessees of crown lands, to W. H. Berry, provincial superintendent of scalers, for Premier Fleming's names of those who were paid and the amounts extorted from them were presented to the court this morning when the royal commission to investigate the Dugal charges resumed.

W. H. Berry, chief superintendent of government scalers, the only superintendent, whose duty it is to see that the scalers do their work properly.

Col. Loggie's evidence was mainly to lay the groundwork for the case to come, and it is expected that his evidence is completed, W. H. Berry's name will be called, and the evidence of the subpoena on him proved, and that several of the lumbermen will be called to the stand and questioned in regard to the alleged payment of $15 a mile graft.

Col. T. G. Loggie, of Fredericton, deputy minister of lands and mines for the province, was called as the first witness. Examined by Mr. Carvell, he said that he had held office for six years; he knew Philiz and Phedriano.

Here Is The List These Are Payments of Graft Alleged To Have Been Made Under The Dugal Charges

Table listing names of companies and individuals, such as Dalhousie Lumber Company, Shives Lumber Company, and various amounts.

Health and Beauty Hints

Mrs. A. T. B.—You are not shampooing often enough and may not use the best shampoo. Try my favorite, which is canthrox—just dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and rub briskly as you pour it on the hair and scalp. This makes an abundance of rich, cleansing lather that is very soothing to tender, itchy scalps. Rinsing leaves the scalp immaculately clean, and each strand of hair will be soft, shiny, and full of health. Canthrox shampoo are splendid for correcting unnatural conditions, such as excessive oiliness, dryness or profuse dandruff. I like its drying qualities too.

Mrs. G.—The symptoms you describe, pains and aches in the limbs and small of back, loss of appetite, lack of strength and ambition are danger signals—warning your blood is laden with poisons which will cause serious sickness if not eliminated from the system. The karsene tonic of grandmother's day is excellent to use and can be prepared at home at little cost by dissolving 1-2 cupful sugar and 1 ounce karsene (which you can get at your drug store) in 1-2 pint alcohol (not whiskey), to which is then added hot water to make a full quart. A tablespoonful before meals is the dose. The timely use of this tonic frequently saves serious illness.

Mrs. J.—Yes, you can cure your weak, watery eyes with a soothing, healing, strengthening eye tonic which can be made at little cost, by dissolving an ounce of crystals in 1 pint clear water. If you will put 2 or 3 drops in each eye daily, it will relieve the inflammation and soreness and reduce swelling. This crystals tonic is especially fine to make the eyes sparkle and give them expression.

Society Girl.—Here is that weight-reducing treatment which she told you would work without danger or inconvenience. Put 4 ounces parrotis (which you can obtain at any drug store) in 1-2 pints hot water. Strain when cold, take 1 tablespoonful before meals. Keep up treatment until weight is sufficiently reduced. Parrotis is gentle in action and positive in results and leaves the flesh and skin firm and smooth.

Girls.—It is easy to make an inexpensive hair tonic at home by mixing 1 ounce quinine with 1-2 pint alcohol, then adding 1-2 pint water. The scalp should be massaged once or twice a week with this quinine tonic. Its regular use will quickly banish the dry, scaly condition and correct excessive oiliness, and when this is done the natural color and silky softness returns and the hair will grow in long and thick and have a beautiful sheen.

Mrs. J.—Friends tell me I have every reason to be proud of my complexion, which is the result of discarding powder and using sprumax lotion. This is inexpensive and easily made at home—1 just dissolve 4 ounces sprumax in 1-2 pint witch hazel or hot water, then add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine, and it is ready. I apply this lotion sparingly and rub lightly for a moment until it dries and seems to become a part of the skin, to which it gives a velvety smoothness and refined color that is delightful.

O. T.—The wrinkles of which you speak will soon vanish if you apply a plain almond cream-jelly and massage the long way of the creases. This simple treatment tends to vivify the dormant tissues, causing the creases or lines to fill out. To prepare the cream-jelly, put 1 ounce almond (which you can get at your drug store) in 1-2 pint water and add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. Let remain over night before using. As a skin-cleanser and beautifier this greaseless cream-jelly is not equaled.

SAYS IMMIGRANTS HELD IN QUARANTINE ARE ILL TREATED

Montreal Man Receives Letter From One Held at Grosse Isle, Complaining of Lack of Food and Other Things.

Montreal, June 15—Letters declaring that nearly 300 immigrants from the steamship Canada, detained at the quarantine station at Grosse Isle, are being ill-treated and underfed have been received by S. Kysalis, of 298 Roy street, from relatives among the passengers. The letters begged him to send food and Canadian money, as Russian money was refused by officials in charge. The question of quarantine at Grosse Isle does not come within the jurisdiction of the Montreal officials.

At the local immigration offices it was stated that the facts of the case must have been greatly exaggerated, and that some minor discomforts, unavoidable under the circumstances, had probably been magnified by the letter writer in a fit of annoyance caused by his detention. On Monday, June 8, nearly 800 steerage passengers were landed at Grosse Isle, following the discovery of the case of smallpox and one of measles on the Dominion liner Canada.

ST. JOHN, N. B., JUNE 16, 1914. The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Canterbury Street every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co. Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

TAX REFORM.

The question of tax reform in St. John has been discussed recently by Commissioner Potts and others, and there is universal agreement in the statement that reform is urgently needed. The first step would seem to be to ensure the granting to this municipality of home rule in taxation. That having been secured, the next step would doubtless be to begin a gradual reduction of the tax on improvements. So far as vacant lots are concerned, it is believed a substantial increase could be made in the assessment upon them under the present law. There is far too great a difference between the assessment value of the vacant lots and the value at which they are held by their owners when asked to sell.

The Toronto Globe points out that next to the abolition of the bar tax reform plank is the most important in the Liberal platform in the Ontario provincial elections. Sir James Whitney has been and continues to be stubbornly hostile to tax reform, and to the principle of home rule in taxation. The Globe points out that tax reform as it is understood by the people of Ontario "simply means local option for municipalities to assess and tax improvements, including buildings, business and income, on a lower basis than land."

The Standard says that if the story published by The Times last evening as to the state of health of Mr. W. H. Berry in Boston is correct, "then it behooves the government of New Brunswick to see to it that Mr. Berry should no longer hold a position in the service of this province." What The Times has suggested is that the government should see to it that Mr. Berry, who is one of its officials, is here to give evidence before the Royal Commission. If Mr. Berry should fall to appear, nobody would be simple-minded enough to believe that he went away and stayed away without previous consultation with somebody deeply interested in the results of the inquiry. Of course it is not yet certain that Mr. Berry will not appear to give evidence.

That was a striking remark made by Rev. Dr. Chown at the Methodist conference in Chatham yesterday, in an address on the subject of Church Union. Declaring that the Methodist Church had no desire to withdraw from the negotiations for union, and referring them to the possible failure of the efforts to secure union, he said: "I do not fear for Methodism if the union does not take place, but I fear for Canada, with her problems calling for a united church to properly solve. I fear for a revival of unchristian competition in our cities and towns, which is rapidly becoming one of the grave social problems of our time."

A large woman with a large hat was sitting in the orchestra, directly in front of a mild-mannered gentleman, who, for the greater part of one act, was unable to get a glimpse of the stage. At last, unable to endure his enforced blindness any longer, he bent forward and whispered: "Excuse me, madam, but would you mind removing your hat?" "Why should I remove my hat?" retorted the woman. "Because," protested the man, "I can't see the stage, and I want to laugh with the rest of the audience."

One gloomy day a young countryman went to a dentist to have a tooth extracted. Seeing the patient's obvious nervousness, the dentist inquired: "Would you like gas?" "Of course I'd like gas," exclaimed the irate patient. "Do you think I'm going to have you yanking at my teeth in the dark?"

"My husband is one of the most stubborn men in the world." "He can't be any more stubborn than me!" "O, yes, I'm sure he must be. Yesterday I had an engagement to meet him at three o'clock."

"Well, it was nearly 4.30 when I got there, and he wasn't admit yet that the rest he got while he was waiting did him good."

He had left her between the acts saying he had to "see a man." "Well, and how is John?" she asked when he returned. "John? John? —John Barstow, of course," she replied.

TOWN PLANNING (From Conservation) In the selection of the site and environment, and the adaptation of the same for settlement by an intelligent method, having in view health, amenity, and convenience:

is not a fad, but simply an orderly method of doing what must be done in any case; means life for the babies, and better health for each person in the town; assures to mothers and children as healthy homes and home environments as the factory act provides health workshops for mechanics; provides suitable streets for all sections, whether residential or industrial; supplies for cheap and rapid transportation; gives children playgrounds in lieu of dusty streets and dirty lanes; prevents the crowding of business upon residential areas; allocates to factories their proper place; is an important factor in giving a higher morality to the people; bestows on the many advantages at present only possible to the few, giving to the poor blessings denied them under existing methods; pays, besides its own economic value to the municipality, permitting it to acquire property, which is sure to enhance the value of the surrounding land; is what all should work and strive for; ennobles citizenship and elevates the nation.

"CONQUEST OF QUEBEC"
WONDERFUL PICTURE
Imperial Crowded With Enthusiastic People of All Ages—Of Historical Value

Wolfe, or the Conquest of Quebec, was the pictorial feature that packed the Imperial Theatre from top to bottom all day yesterday and sent the people away keyed up to a high pitch of enthusiasm and patriotic fervor. It was a remarkable film, too, in many ways. It was contained in 5,000 feet, depicting the final stages of the struggle that won Canada for the British crown and with a faithfulness to detail and recorded history quite surprising. Thousands of men were employed in it, hundreds of horses, scores of old-time sailing craft and every phase of the warfare that was waged at that time seemed to be re-enacted with the effect of real strife, disarming criticism and eliciting wonderment. The principal roles such as Wolfe, Montcalm, Lieut. Arleigh, Mademoiselle Mars and others were counterparts of the originals as we see them in the picture books and all through the five reels it was noticeable that the Kalem Co. paid particular attention to the little details which in the eyes of keen observers might spoil the whole production. The lack of flashy sentiment and love scenes—when often introduced in real stories to satisfy certain classes—was another thing that helped make the picture a true masterpiece, a vivid portrayal of an actual and serious event. Applause punctuated the picture throughout and the Imperial's orchestra certainly did not do anything to detract from the picture's patriotic music.

Mellor & DePaula, the new singing team, proved a highly meritorious attraction, rivaling the best the Keith people have brought here. They sang solo and duets, the chief of their numbers being Carissima (Pena) and that sweet old ballad Answered. On the whole the Imperial offers a most extraordinary bill, something the old, the young, the man of letters and the untutored can enjoy and understand. It is a patriotic programme and a musical treat par excellence. The Wolfe and Quebec pictures are scheduled for today and Wednesday and doubtless those who saw it yesterday will prove its best advertisement. It was produced by the Kalem Co. of New York on the actual scene in Quebec, introducing splendid views of Montmorency Falls, the Citadel, the heights which Wolfe and his men climb and the historic Plains of Abraham.

"THE ACCUSING EYE"
AT GEM THEATRE
Two Part Romantic Drama—Northwest Story and Bollicking Comedy—Good Music by Orchestra.

At the Gem Theatre yesterday a two part story of a strong romantic interest was presented in "The Accusing Eye," a drama of spirited action and appealing love scenes. It told the story of an undying love in the heart of a young man whose sweetheart died through the scheming of his rival, and showed how he cherished the affection for her to his last day. The Gem orchestra had a delightful programme, while the other pictures were of leading interest. Ford Steiner, said to be the highest paid comedian in the motion picture business, with his "funny faces," appeared in a picture entitled "His Wonderful Trick," a veritable scream, and which provoked great roars of laughter, while the Selig players in the picture "The Northwest," with the Royal Mounted figuring prominently, "Northern Hearts," gave a most charming production. A feature of particular interest has been billed for the Gem for the mid-week show in "The Cherry Pickers," a story of British-Indian life.

DEATH AND RUIN IN PARIS STORM
Streets Caved in and Many Perish—Taxicab Engulfed—Terrific Downpour Lasted Three Hours

Paris, June 15.—A thunderstorm of phenomenal violence raged over Paris for three hours this evening. It caused loss of life and enormous damage to property. The great volume of rain flooded the streets and caused the bursting of sewers. In the central business district of the city, a street caved in, engulfing several pedestrians. The rain was so heavy that the water was to the danger of approaching the immense pits resulting from the collapse of sidewalks and roadways. The police estimated the victims at seven at least.

About the same time a large section of the road in the Place St. Augustin suddenly collapsed. A passing taxicab was engulfed. Eye-witnesses saw the man's head of the chauffeur, as the taxicab disappeared. Almost immediately a large wagonette just missed the same fate, the hind wheels sinking axle deep in the soil, but the occupants made their escape.

REMEMBER THE ELDEST GIRL

"No, I never want Janie to leave us," said an elderly woman as she glanced fondly at her eldest daughter. "I don't know what I should have done without her, with all the children to look after."

Younger sons and daughters had gone out into the world, married, and settled down. But Janie had always been mother's right hand at home in the cooking, cleaning and mending. The brave, good girl, doing her work willingly and uncomplainingly, had grown into a rather sad, tired woman. No one ever seemed to think that Janie would marry. No one ever considered the fact, either, that Janie had never had an opportunity of meeting anyone suitable.

Doubtless the love and sympathy that existed between Janie and her mother compensated for much that the former had missed; but it gave me the impression that she had been robbed of her childhood and the promise of her womanhood.

So many eldest girls in large families develop into the little maid-of-all-work. When quite children they are burdened with the care of younger sisters and brothers, and, as they get older, the mother grows to lean upon her eldest child, since she fully understands the things that must be done in the house and the attention necessary to the children.

It is very natural that this should be the case, and yet it is a little hard on the girl. It keeps her in the background always, and saddles her with responsibility early in life. She is the one who must stay in to look after baby while the others go out to play; she is the one who must help dress others for parties, and regrettably remain at home because mother "must have someone to give a hand."

Many bitter childhood tears—and not only childish—have been wept at the seeming injustice of this treatment, and yet in time it grows to be accepted as the inevitable order of things, and the girl settles down into her groove.

It is very rare more than I do the many and trying time that the mother of young family experiences, and I cordially agree that the children should be taught to make themselves useful in little tasks. But I do think that these should be appreciated more earnestly and that the eldest girl should be given the same chance of enjoyment and success in life as the others.

HAD NO POWER OVER THE LIMBS
Locomotor Ataxia, Heart Trouble and Nervous Spells Yielded to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It would be easy to tell you how Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures locomotor ataxia and derangements of heart and nerves, but it may be more satisfactory to you to read this letter:

Mrs. Thos. Allen, R. F. D. 3, Sombra, Ont., writes: "Five years ago I suffered a complete breakdown, and frequently had palpitation of the heart. Since that illness I have had dizzy spells, had no power over my limbs (locomotor ataxia) and could not walk straight at night. I would have severe nervous spells, with heart palpitation, and would shake as though I had the ague. I felt improved after using the first box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after continuing the treatment, can now walk, eat and sleep well, have no nervous spells and do not require heart medicine. I have told several of my neighbors of the splendid results obtained from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Why Not Learn How To Play?

As a nation we Americans do not know how to take pleasure—to amuse ourselves. We take our pleasure, like our work, too seriously. We go to the theatre, we make hard work of our vacations. If we can't play terribly hard, and after the same fashion of our neighbors who are better off, we won't play at all. Some of us are so afraid we won't play in the right way—in the fashionable way—that we just give up trying altogether. Then our bodies and our minds, and our souls—pay the price of being denied relaxation and pleasure.

A clever Englishman said to the writer not long ago—"You make haste, even in your amusements, so they lack spontaneity and gaiety. You really can't enjoy a dinner, don't you know, when you race to it in a taxicab with your open watch in your hand. You are so afraid of missing something at a dance that you never sit out a dance. You work just as hard as the paid musicians. When I ask an American woman to sit out a dance with me, that I may enjoy her conversation, she accedes graciously, but she thinks I am not getting my money's worth."

We can't take the pleasure nearest our hand. We reach out for the pleasures which some other fellow can afford better than we can. We try to find pleasure in the things we can't pay for.

Now, there's Bill Graham. You may not recognize him by this name, but he lives in your town. Bill lives the water, so does Bill's wife. When Bill was courting her, he used to hire a rowboat or a canoe, and she would steer their craft into shadowy corners of the lake, where the sunlight would dart through a lace work of leaves and fling wonderful lights in her hair. Bill proposed to her in one of those shadowy nooks. And he hasn't got over the sentiment for a rowboat to this day.

But would they go rowing in a hired boat now? Not much! He would recall that one of his business rivals owned a motor-boat of high power, and she would remember that she saw her servant taking a boat ride with the grocer's clerk last Sunday.

No, decidedly it won't do for them to go rowing! They must wait till Bill can buy a motor-boat. So Bill works nights or acquires a round dozen of wrinkles by taking a long chance in his business, and Bill's wife contents herself by sitting on the porch of a fashionable summer hotel for two weeks, worrying herself to a frazzle because she hasn't so many dresses as her neighbor.

And those late afternoons when Bill might close his desk, and with Mrs. Bill in a simple wash dress, row back to the shadowy pool with its mystery of wood and water-life, and its memories of the sweet-heating days. There he would find rare coloring, green and gray and gold, which no artist can paint; murmuring and humming of birds and insects which no composer has ever reproduced; odors and air which woo the sleep that worry has banished.

But no, that wouldn't do. It's too small, too inconspicuous, too inexpensive a pleasure for the average American to enjoy. He would not be outclassing his fellowmen—except in contentment. And what pay, is that, in this day and age?

GREAT CUB MACHINE WRECKED BY OWNER'S GREED; STANDS AS LESSON TO MAGNATES AND PLAYERS

Frank Schulte

Frank Schulte, Last of the Famous Old Cubs—Now on the Bench

(By Hugh S. Fullerton) Chicago's Cubs present a sad spectacle these days. The wreck of a championship team always is sad, but this one is pitiable. With the benching of Frank Schulte the final remnant of Chance's great team disappears from action. Deserted by its friends, hooted from the stands, beaten by tail-end clubs, with a bunch of has-beens half heartedly battling along with worse results, the greatest pitching staff in the league wrecked and ruined, the Cubs present an object lesson in the results of greed that ought to be a warning to all club owners—yes, and to players. The ruin of the great machine built up by Chance is the result of nothing else than money greed—greed by the players for more money; worse greed by the owner.

Let us go back to the start. The Cubs, when Murphy came into possession of the team, were among the lowest salaried players in either major league. Selig believed in small salaries. Chance did not. Chance wanted to pay his men what they were worth and to reward them. Over Murphy's protests he acquired Steinfield and rounded out his team. In four years this team earned a profit of about $50,000. During those four years the salary paid to all players was about $250,000, exclusive of what they received from the world's series and city series. It is small wonder that the players, seeing the fortunes they were winning for Murphy, wanted larger salaries. Murphy, and Chance broke first. Chance was wrong. He signed a contract that demanded more money. Murphy hotly and justly accused Chance of bolstering expense accounts. Chance flew into a rage and quit. He forced Murphy to tear up the old contract, give him a new one and more money. The night Murphy surrendered to Chance he declared he would get him. He was right. The new Brown, Overall and Pfister formed a combination to hold out and agreed none would sign until all got what they wanted. Murphy gave in, but four days later the three pitchers were marked men. Hoffman led out and forced Murphy to pay him more. Hoffman was marked for release that day. The story is the same in almost every case. Murphy surrendered and hid his time. He fired Chance as soon as he thought the manager was down and out with illness. He sent Brown to Louisville under an agreement that Brown never was to be permitted to return to a major league club and he "canned" Hoffman.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

German States Grapple With Problem—Why Government Stands Off

(Times Special Correspondence) Berlin, June 5.—Insurance against unemployment is the burning question in Germany. The matter has of late been before the Reichstag, also before the Bavarian, Saxon, and numerous minor state parliaments; and in all cases demands have been made by the democratic parties for the state support of the workers who, to the number of between 500,000 and 1,000,000 are always out of work.

The demand is backed up by several motives. Firstly, there is the practical motive that even without unemployment insurance the unemployed are supported by the community. Secondly, it is contended that unemployment insurance has been tested on a limited scale in other European countries, and been proved a success. Thirdly, there are the abstract grounds of reason and logic, the chief of which reasons is the "right to work." For half a dozen years past Germany has had excellent systems of unemployment insurance. The trouble is that these systems are all local and partial. Certain municipalities have adopted them as regards certain classes of workers; but there is nowhere a system which insures all workers; and many municipalities have refrained from adopting them, as a result of their conviction that not they but the state government or the imperial government should be responsible for the matter.

The annual "Stadtag," which represents all large municipalities in the empire, last year passed a resolution demanding imperial unemployment insurance. The Reichstag did the same thing two years ago, and in January 1912 it repeated the demand. The Reichstag cannot put through such a law without the consent of the government (which means, strictly speaking, the Bundesrat); and this consent is refused. The government's answer is that the state is not ripe, which means that the state shall not be responsible for giving a subsidy. The states have refused. Bavaria is the only, and a new exception. Of late German municipalities have been trying a system, based on the Ghent system, but applicable to the unorganized. That is to start unemployment savings banks. The workman during employment pays his savings into the savings bank and can withdraw them only when he loses employment. In this case he withdraws them at a fixed daily rate corresponding to the unemployment pay of the labor unions; and the municipality adds its daily supplement. Thus an unemployed man who draws from his own savings seventy-five cents daily may get an additional municipal allowance of twenty-five cents. The aim of the municipalities is to get the municipal supplements refunded by the state. In Bavaria, where the Ghent system will be combined with public "kassen" for voluntary insurance, the state has agreed to refund one-third.

The chief enemy of imperial unemployment is Secretary for the Interior Delbrueck. He let out the fact that no serious social or technical obstacles stand in the way. The obstacles are political. Imperial unemployment insurance would politically help the Socialists. Under the present system the Socialist labor unions have to bear the chief burden of supporting their unemployed. If the empire bears the burden, said Herr Delbrueck, the Socialist union funds will be relieved; and the Socialists will have much more money in their campaign treasuries for the political and electioneering struggle. Why should the government thus kindly play into its enemies' hands? The Reichstag's conviction is that the empire do nothing; and that the immediate future of unemployment insurance is in the hands of the municipalities, subsidized perhaps to a slight extent by the treasuries of the federated states.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury. It is a well known fact that mercury is a powerful poison, and that it is absorbed through the mucous surfaces. Such ointments should never be used except on prescriptions from responsible physicians, as the danger they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Write Calumet Co., Montreal, P. Q., Canada, for a circular containing a list of the names of the physicians who are members of the Canadian Ointment Co. and who are now getting the ointment. It is taken internally and made in Toronto, Ont., by H. J. Calumet & Co., Toronto, Ont., sold by Druggists. Price 50c per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Players We Know

Pete Condon is going good again and on Friday held Worcester runners for seven innings after they had knocked Fitzgibbon off the mound. Fitzgibbon's batting was not enough to give Fitzgibbon a win, but he allowed Worcester only four hits, struck out three and gave one base on balls. Jack Dedrick and Stanley Bates were out for the Easterns on Friday and were beaten by Haverhill. Southern's pitching proved too much for the Easterns, and they were beaten 5 to 3. Dedrick started the game, but was taken out in the third with one man out. He allowed three hits up to that time, and Bates, who finished the game yielded five hits. Dedrick struck out five and Bates seven. Pat Duggan had one of Haverhill's eight hits and George Boardman, who was with Bangor last year, and now playing third base for Haverhill, also had a hit. Bob Conley, who is now playing third base for Lawrence, figured prominently in the team's batting rally in the fourth inning of their game against Lowell on Friday. The former Fredericton player struck the ball for a home run, scoring one of the four runs made in that inning. These four were enough to win the game at the finish reading, Lawrence 4, Lowell 1.

The New Bedford team, with Jack Foye as the only former N. B. and Mainer in the line-up, are travelling at a fast clip in the Colonial League and are within one game of the two leaders. Foye had four hits in Friday's game and scored three runs. His team won from Pawtucket by 10 to 8. In the eighth inning they scored six runs and in the ninth three. For Pawtucket, George Sullivan, a former member of the Fredericton team, was the star, getting three hits. Herb White, who is batting in second place on the Pawtucket team, made a success in the sacrifice position, having three to his credit. Hank Callahan had a hit, a sacrifice and started a successful double play.

LeRoy Woodcock, pitching for Woonsocket, was beaten again on Friday. Fall River being on the long end of a 3 to 2 score. Fall River connected with Woodcock's delivery safety eight times. The former Fredericton and Gloucester Bay twirler won his first game but has been beaten twice since. "Dutch" Howard's Oldtown team is at the top of the Eastern Maine League, the former St. Croix hurler pitching his team to a 9 to 2 win over Belfast on last Friday. He allowed ten hits but fanned twelve, and was there in the pinches.

Five-Part Kaleid Photographed on the Actual Historical Scenes. Stupendous Canadian Historical Subject in Five Parts. THE WOLFE OF QUEBEC. Imperial Theatre. MON 15 TUE 16 WED 17

Said W. Stephen Bush, in reviewing this feature: "I sat enthralled by the spectacle. Once again two great nations fought on land and water. Once again the daring souls of Wolfe and Montcalm were embodied on the bloody field of battle. Once again the fight raged about the gentle and beautiful falls of Montmorency. At times the realism was overpowering."

The bombardment of Quebec by the British fleet, the battle at Montmorency Falls, and the deadly combat on the Plains of Abraham between the French and English, are a few of the awe-inspiring scenes.

SPILLED POISON ON FOOD IN DARK; THEN ATE SOME

Life of Irving D. Appleby of Nauvegauc Saved, But it Was a Close Call.

Irving D. Appleby, of Nauvegauc, had a very narrow escape from death on Friday night of last week, when, in getting a lunch in the dark just before retiring, he accidentally spilled a large amount of deadly poison on some food, most of which he ate before he became aware of what had happened.

When he lighted a lamp and discovered the fact he calmly procured kindling wood, started a fire and attempted to doctor himself, rather than arouse his mother and shock her, but after two hours of fruitless effort he gave up the fight in great agony.

The issue of the new uniforms to the recruits in the Canadian Signaling Corps No. 2 Section, of No. 6 Co. took place last evening in the new armory. The strength of the section means that so many new uniforms, and these were given out last evening, of course being the same as the others, khaki with French grey shoulder straps.

Recruiting has not been found to be difficult as signalling is a branch of the service which makes a strong appeal so that therefore the section will go full strength into the Ben Lomond camp, just three times as many as were taken under the old establishment. A signalling section from P. E. Island will join them at Sussex.

Getting Just What is Wanted in Summer Clothing is An Easy Matter for Any Man Who Comes to Oak Hall for It

With our enormous business—the largest of any in Eastern Canada—we must necessarily show the largest variety.

When a man comes here, therefore, he has such a wide scope of choice that his every whim and desire in the matter of clothes can be fully satisfied.

Besides getting exactly what he wants the man who buys his clothing at Oak Hall will get it for fully a fourth to a third less than other stores charge for clothing which in fabrics and workmanship is not even as good as ours.

This is because as manufacturers the middlemen's profit is eliminated from our prices. Our customers pay us no more than other stores pay at wholesale. Our clothing this season challenges comparison, it cannot be surpassed at any point.
