Wednesday evening a number of the parishinoers of Maugerville, Suphury

Wednesday evening a number of the parishioners of Maugerville, Sunbury Co., waited upon Rev. R. W. Colston at the rectory and presented him and Mrs. Colston with a handsome breakfast, dinner and tea set, a quantity of table linen and a ratan rocker. The presentation was accompanied by verbal expression of the kindly feelings of the people of Maugerville towards Rev. Mr. Colston and his esteemed wife, and of the general regret which is felt over his early departure to his new field of labor at Welsford, after six years faithful and successful labors at Maugerville. ening a number of the

Which Has Sold for $1,000,000- A Saratoga Bookmaker's Estimate Would Rather Negotiate With the A Famous Beauty and Imperialist.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Essex County Chronicle says it hears that Cecil Rhodes bequeathed to the countess of Warwick lands in South Africa which have sold for $1,000,000.

The Earl and Countess of Warwick have an estate in Essex, (Eastern lodge, Dunmow) which may acount for the local paper obtaining this item of news.

The countess, who years ago ws referred to as "Babbling Brooke," and who was well known as Lady Brooke, the famous behaty, obtained her nickname because it was supposed that she first whispered of the baccarat scandal of some years ago. She founded Brooke House at Reading for the fraining of women and sometime ago added to it a colonial department in which women are taught cooking, housewifery, laundry work and dressmaking. Sometime before the death of Cecil Rhodes the countess published an article on Training Girls for the Transvaal, in which she directly appealed to Andrew Carnegie for aid in the work. At the time the provisions of Mr. Rhodes' will were made public it was reported that he had left a large sum of mone to the Earl and Countess, of Warwick because the countess, more than all offer English women, best personified British imperialism from a feminiae boint of view; but, the report was denied by an intimate friend of Mr. Rhodes who was familiar with the contents of the will.

D. ALLISON, JR., MARRIED.

A Fashionable Wedding in the Sackville Methodist Chirch.

The marriage of Miss Mary Ethelway McMurray, granddaughter of the late Dr. McMurray to David Allison, jr., of the firm of M. Wood & Sons, took place in the Sackville Methodist church Wednesday night in the presence of fully 800 people. The church was prettily and tastefully decorated with flowers and potted plants, while from a beautiful arch of asparagus hung a magnificent floral bell of sweet peas and white carnations. Promptly at 8.45 as the choir sang "The Voice that breathed o'er Eden," the bride, becomingly attired in a blue cloth travelling suit, trimmed with black moire silk with hat to match, estered the church on the arm of Charles Fawceif. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Geo. Steel, assisted by Rev. Dr. Stewart, Althe close of the service Rev. Geo. Steel, on behalf of the trustees of the Methodist church presented Mrs. Allison with a bible and hymn book. C. Fawcett's fine span of white horses conveyed the newly wedded pair to the I. C. R. station whence amid a superabundance of rice and good wishes they left for a honeymoon trip through P. E. Island. The bride, who is very popular, received a large number of very valuable presents, the groom's gift, being a gold watch. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Allison will take up their residence in Sackville.

THE BOER FUNDS

THE BOER FUNDS

THE HAGUE, Aug. 23.—The funds raised by the national subscription started to aid the Boers will be placed at the disposal of the Boer generals. ROMAN ARCHITECTURE.

ROMAN ARCHITECTURE.

(London Tablet.)

In architecture the Romans imitated the Greeks and imitated them without appreciating the simplicity of grandeur. They introduced circles and segments of circles in place of the simple, restful lines coursing horizontally around the building. They raised columns which supported nothing simply for the sake of ornament; the dome behind the pediment/took away its significance and removed from it the idea of pressure; they adopted the semicircular arch, which broke the entablature and the idea of solidity and thus destroyed the fundamental idea of the Greek simplicity without substituting any of their own.

When the Roman style was removed to Constantinople, the Byzantines reveled in arch and cupolo, but without discerning the real object of the arch. The circular arch distributes the weight of the wall. They refused it the proper office, made it an ornament and concealed the real support of the weight; consequently in the Byzantine stypes we have the domes and cupolas representing the weight with no visible support and arches multiplied at caprice with nothing to support.

THE MURDER CASE.

THE MURDER CASE.

The commitment of Frank Higgins for the murder of William Doherty has not suspended the effort of the police to find further evidence. Some of the force are still working on the case, and though little is said-as to the result, it is certain that they have obtained further information, most of which is of a corroborative character. Some new witnesses will be called to give evidence before the circuit court, which opens Tuesday week, and they, it is expected, will further fortify the case of the crown. It is certain that the defence has net been idle, but the exact line to be taken is known only to the prisoner's counsel. If Higgins goes on the stand sensational developments may be expected.

ENORMOUS BETS, NEWFOUNDLAND.

Bequeathed Land to Countess Two Million Dollars a Day Sir Robert Bond is en-route on the Races.

for the Track at That

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 23 .- "I estie that two millions of dollars a are bet on the races at this track,"

The amount of betting now," he continued, "is five times as great as it was last year or any year that I have known here. The money does not once from any great plunger or group of plungers, but from the great assemblage of rich men who are willing to bet from $100 to $1,000 on their choices in a race.

There are twice as many bookmakers here as there were a year ago, and they are all busy. The amount of money in circulation here is an indication of the great prosperity of the country. The summer population of this village is not one-fourth as large as the racing contingent from which the metropolitan tracks draw their attendance, yet the clubhouse, grand stand and field are always well filled. The racing is high class, the people have lots of spending money, and they are willing to risk it on the horses."

THE GIANT SQUID.

Undoubtedly the giant squid has frequently been mistaken for a sea serpent. In all qualities which can render a marine monster horrible this huge and 'frightful mollusk may be said to compare favorably with any creature of fact or fiction. to Washington.

United States than with Canada.

LONDON, Aug. 23.-Sir Robert Bond. the premier and colonial secretary of Newfoundland, sailed Friday for Montreal on his way to Washington with full powers from the government to resume negotiations for the ratification of the Bond-Blaine convention.

The Bond-Blaine convention was a of the Bond-Blaine convention.

The Bond-Blaine convention was a special agreement entered into about ten years ago between the late James G. Blaine, then secretary of state, and the premier of Newfoundland.

The convention on the part of Newfoundland, granted to the United States fishermen considerable privileges in regard to purchasing bait and largely reduced the duties on a considerable class of American imports into Newfoundland. The United States on its side opened its markets to Newfoundland fish and raw products and confirmed the privilege of transportation of fresh fish in bond to the United States markets. The Newfoundland premier has delared himself in favor of free trade with the United States as against a union of the colony with the Dominion of Canada. His success in obtaining imperial sanction for his present American visit is the culmination of 12 years of persistent effort and only this week was Sir Robert able to convince the government of the injustice done to Newfoundland by the non-ratification of the convention and secure its consent to the resumption of the reciprocity negotiations.

The premier of Newfoundland will lose no time in getting to work and the British charge d'affaires will communicate with the state departments shortly affer the premier's arrival in America.

AN INTERESTING EXPERIMENT. Women Will Be Candidates For the Australian Parliament.

Women Will Be Candidates For the Australian Parliament.

In the excitement over South African affairs and the illness and coronation of the king, the momentous action of the new Australian parliament in admitting women not puly to the election franchise but to seats in that body has not attracted as much attention as it might otherwise have done. This is perhaps the most notable step in the "emancipation" of women which has ever been taken, and the experiment of unrestricted woman suffrage in one off the most progressive of modern communities will be watched with interest, if not with anxiety, by the whole world. Before confederation four of the Australian colonies had granted women this right, and one has since done so. When the union was opnsummated universal suffrage became an issue and was voted by a large majority, although there still remain five provinces in which women cannot vote for members of the provincial parliament. Several women of high character and intellectual attainments have already offered themselves as candidates for the next Australian parliament and it looks as if the women sa whole intended to avail themselves of their opportunities.

ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., AUGUST 23, 1902.

A PRESSING PROBLEM.

The number of idle boys and girls about the streets late in the evening does not appear to have very materially decreased, and one hears the skeptical bservation that the recent awakening will have no permanent affect. As the Star has frequently pointed out, the most important question is not so much what the children shall not be permitted to do, as what can be offered hem to do that will be for their bene fit. On the street they are at least in evidence. If driven off the street, where will they go, and what will they do? The problem is so serious that it ought to engage the very earnest attention of business men as well as those whose special vocation is religious and benevolent work. The effects of neglect are so far reaching that they touch benevolent work. The effects of neglect are so far reaching that they touch all classes of society, and leave their mark upon the city as a whole. Therefore all have a duty and a responsibility in connection with the provision of better means of educating and training youth to habits of industry and of good conduct.

The Star commends to its readers a letter in this issue, touching upon this important question. The suggestions made by our correspondent are worthy of more than a passing glance, for they are along the line of practical effort. It is true that they imply work and self-sacrifice on the part of many persons, but is it not true that there is much misdirected zeal which would produce infinitely greater results if exerted along the very line pointed out by the Star's correspondent? This journal gladly welcomes discussion of this subject, believing it to be one of far greater importance than most of those which are favored with far more attention in sermons and the newspapers.

PROVINCIAL POLITICS.

The Moncton Transcript calls for a straight division on federal lines, in the coming provincial contest. Unfortun-ately the Transcript, which is liberal, and those conservative journals which would welcome such a division, have not the power to bring it about. opportunists are in the saddle, and by every device known to resourceful politicians they will endeavor to draw support from both of the federal part-If in Westmorland it suits ther best to nominate liberals they will do it, and call upon the Transcript and its friends to support them because they are liberals. If in another county a conservative would be the most promising candidate, they will endeavor to get one, and call upon the conserva-tives to rally to his support. Under get ohe, and call upon the conservatives to rally to his support. Under such circumstances it is unwise to talk of a division on straight party lines, for that action on the part of the opposition would simply be playing into the hands of the combination now at the head of affairs. What the opposition should do, and what the Transcript will doubtiess see its way clear to support—is to nomirate men unalterably opposed to the Tweedle-Pugsley government, and let them be men of standing and good repute, apart altogether from their federal party affiliations. The first duty of the friends of good government is to oust the party now in power in this province. The only way to do it is to meet them on their own ground. As Mr. Tweedie has returned home, and as the public works department has been very industriously giving out contracts, no one need be surprised if an early appeal is made to the people.

ONLY ONE WEEK MORE. One week from tonight the exhibi-The manager and staff and of the association appear to their work admirably, and show is promised. The people who will k accommodation will be quite will-ag to pay for it. Down in St. Stephen a few weeks ago, when two conventions crowded the town, private citizens opened their homes, and many who got their meals at hotels had even more luxurious room accommodation than the hotels afforded. The people were determined that the visitors should not go away with a bad impression of the town. That is the right spirit, and one which St. John will do well to emulate. The lodging bureau of the exhibition association should be one of its most satisfactorily conducted features, and it can only be so with the help of the citsens. y for hospitality is to

THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

A correspondent in yesterday's Star complained of a lack of zeal on the part of the board of health authorities to insist upon better sanitary ar angements in one part of the city. It is remembered that it took an outbreak of smallpox to cause the removal of a shanty on Duke street about which complaint after complaint had been made for a long time. It is notorious that there are houses in some parts of the city which are a menace to the public health because of deficient sanitary arrangements. The board of health, it its members attend to their duty, must be aware of the conditions; if not they

A RIDICULOUS VERDICT.

Last spring a bridge collapsed on the Contral railway, not the first one by an means, and a man was killed. After nearly three months deliberation a coroner's jury has rendered the follow-

"That Stanley Brand came to his death by the giving away of the bridge across the Washademoak river, in the county of Queens, and that the said Stanley Brand was found dead in the said river."

It does not require any special gift of cleverness to see in this absurd ver-dict "the fine Italian hand" of some politicians of Queens county who are interested in the Central railway. The Star does not hesitate to say that the verdict is one which does not do credit to the men by whom it was sumbitted. What is the use of urging that railway bridges should be sound if, when one after another goes down, causing the loss of human life, a complaisant jury renders a verdict that would be idiotic if it were not something worse?

THE FAST LINE.

If Halifax is made the winter terminus of the fast line the freight business will come to St. John. It would be absurd to suppose that the C. P. R. would practically put its cars out of commision to haul freight to and from Halifax. The C. P. R. is the line that will have to handle the business, and the freight steamers will come to St. John. Should the line prove a combined mail should the line prove a combined mail and freight service, the steamers would still have to come on to St. John to discharge and receive cargo. The position of this port should make its interests practically safe in this controversy, the more so that Hon. Mr. Tarte supports its claims.

AN INSULT TO SUSSEX.

The Telegraph this morning says: The Telegraph this morning says:—"It's an ill wind blows nobody good." Since the murder of poor, unfortunate Willie Doherty everybody wants to see Rockwood Park and the surroundings of the site where the crime was committed. The Sussex Sunday schools combined in a picnic for the purpose—that is, for the purpose of seeing the park."

park."

It appears to be the view of the Telegraph that to adapt the words of Byron, Willie Deherty was "butchered to make a Sussex holiday." That paper also appears to believe the Sussex preachers and teachers, parents and children are of such ghoulish tendencies that their idea of a good time is to nose about sniffing for gore. The Sussex people will probably have something to say to the Telegraph.

ween 1873 and 1896 Canadian imports from Great Britain "were reduced more than 100 per cent." The schools open next week, and the above proposition is for discussion in the junior grades.

BOSTON MATTERS.

BOSTON, Aug. 22.-A number of provincialists in this vicinity are the chief actors in events of a romantic nature. On Wednesday in the city of Nashua, about 30 miles from Boston, a young lady from St. John was mar ried under somewhat unusual circumstances. Her name was Miss Ida M. Farrow and now it is Mrs. Ralph B. Hibbert of Grand Rapids, Mich. While Mr. Hibbert was in St. John in the ummer of 1900 he met Miss Farrow and while the two were very friendly and while the two were very friendly during the Michigan man's short stay, they 611 not afterwards correspond and d... not meet again until this week. On Tuesday Mr. Hibbert was in Nashua on a business trip. While walking on Main street he suddenly met the young lady whom he had known in St. John. She had been visiting friends in Somerville and happened to go to Nashua for a brief stay. Mr. Hibbert and Miss Farrow talked long and eamestly, the upshot of it all ending in an engagement. They called at the Nashua city hall and applied to the city clerk for a marriage license. Then they attempted to find a minister but all called at the Nashua city hall and applied to the city clerk for a marriage license. Then they attempted to find a minister, but all the clergy were apparently at the summer resorts, and the search was given up. Rather than delay the wedding, they returned to city hall and had the clerk tie the knot. They then left on a train on their wedding journey. The groom is 21 and the bride 19.

The wedding was announced yesterday of Hugh W. Watson of St. John and Miss Josephine Goodine of Fredericton. The marriage occurred in this city on Aug. 11 and was performed by Rev. William J. Kelsey, a Congregationalist minister.

William J. Robinson, who told the court he was born in St. John, acted as his own lawyer when arraigned this week on a charge of having no visible means of support, and was discharged. He occupied a small building in a south end alley, and a policeman, thinking that he should be treated as a vagrant, arrested him. Robinson is 30 years of age. He says his father was lost at sea when the son was three years old, and that his mother resides in Keene, N. H.

WANT BETTER MAIL SERVICE.

WANT BETTER MAIL SERVICE.

The day American mall is brought as far as Vanceboro by the Boston express. But here, for some reason difficult for the average man to understand, it is left over to wait for the O.P. R. from Montreal, and the Boston proceeds on to St. John without any mail.

When the Montreal express is on time this makes but little difference, as it reaches the city only fifteen minutes behind the Boston. But the train from Montreal is more often late than the other, and when this happens and the mail is hung over at Vanceboro considerable inconvenience is caused. Yesterday, for instance, the Boston was on time, but owing to the lateness of the other train, business men had to wait for their U.S. mail an hour longer than if it had come through on the train with which it started out.

DEATH OF JAMES TOOLE,

The death occurred yesterday afternoon at the residence of his son, D. G.

Toole, Union street, Carleton, of James Toole, a well known citizen of the west end. Mr. Toole was born at Carleton, and worked for years as a carpenter and insherman. From 1877 to 1900 he was carpenter in connection with the ferry steamers. Years ago Mr. Toole took an active interest in the west end fire department, and was foreman of No. 8 company in 1880, when His Majesty the King, then the Prince of Wales, visited St. John. Mr. Toole left three children: D. G. Toole, James E. Toole of the champles and colored lights were applied for. In addition the ladies for in ad Mrs. J. F. Portmore of Boston.

SYDNEY, Cape Breton, Aug. 22. The J. W. Devere Stevens case ha been adjusted, Mr. Stevens effecting settlement with Mrs. McClaverty.

John Townsend, keeper of the storm life in an accident off Louisburg yes terday. Townsend, who was substituting in a pilot boat for John Tutty and pilots William Townsend, Lewis Tutty and Thomas Wilcox, went out to me the steamer Egda that was coming in from Boston. They rowed to board the steamer on the port side, but were ordered by the mate to board on the starboard side. They then attempted to cross the bow, but miscalculated the distance and the speed, with the result that the steamer plowed through the boat amidship, sinking it immediately. The men were all thrown into the water, and Townsend, who was sitting in the middle of the boat, was struck by the bow of the steamer and instantly killed. The others were saved. from Boston. A PASTOR'S WELCOME.

Rev. A. H. Foster and his bride were tendered a reception last evening by the congregation of St. Matthew's Presbyterian church. The church was very prettily decorated with flags and flowers, and the welcome must have been exceedingly gratifying to the zealous pastor and his wife, whose marriage was recently solemnized in Nova Scotla. On behalf of the trustees J. Fraser Gregory read an address, and the congregation presented Mr. Foster with gifts of furniture, including a dining room set and a study chair, while his Bible class presented him with three handsome ornaments. Among those who were present and made addresses of welcome were Rev. W. W. Rainnie, Rev. D. J. Fraser, Rev. T. F. Fotheringham, Rev. Mr. Hill of Fairville, and representatives of other city churches. Geo. T. Blewett presided. The reception was marked by very cordial expressions of esteem on the part of the congregation, and of the heart of the congregation, and of the heart est good will on the part of the various speakers.

THE CHARM OF DICKENS.

THE CHARM OF DICKENS.

(Saturday Review.)

The century would have been immeasurably poorer without Dickens; let us rejoice (with Mr. Swinburne) in having him for an everlasting possession; but let us enjoy him for what he was not and no que can ever persuade us he is. He is, first of all, one of the spontaneous, opulent, overflowing generous humorists the world has ever known; a humorist to be set with Aristophanes (as humorist), Cervantes and Shakespeare. His humor never depends upon a formula. Read a page of Pickwick or one of Mr. Micawber's speeches; then turn up anything you like of Mark Twain or any of the innumerable professional humorists of today. The one is fresh, can be read and laughed at a dozen times; the other wearles you, even while you laugh, and you only get through the book by earnest effort. What other wit ever invented such a saying as that of Mr. Weller the Eider, "More widders is married than single vimen?" (It is noteworthy that this is also a stroke of true characterization. Who does not remember the wooden meauture with which Mr. Wegg retailed nuts at the street corner, a measure "with no perceptible inside" supposed to represent the penn'orth as fixed by Magna Charta? It is all caricature, but what rich, buoyant, unforced caricature! And, after all, caricature has its place in the system of mundane things; Aristophanes was a caricaturist, Cervantes was, and so was Shakespeare. They were something more than that. So was Dickens.

DANGEROUS DRINKS. Gin and Bitters and Other Liquids

Denounced.

(Harper's Weekly.)

When the French people, who are supposed to know more about food and drink—especially the latter—begin to decry certain popular beverages, it is time for us to take a leaf from the Gallic book and make it our own, for a very large class of Americans, that drinks much, though it contains few drunkards, contains an immense quantupards, contains an immense quantupards, contains an appetizers with French names. The French Academy of Medicine has advised the government to prohibit the sale of absinthe, anisette, vermouth, and Chartreuse, as well as gin and all classes of "bitters," Alcohol has been the bugbear of previous opponents of the drink habit, but the Academy finds more dangerous constituents than alcohol in the compounds named and in some others. the Academy finds more dangerous constituents than alcohol in the compounds named and in some others. It charges the various "bitters," which are the basis of all "qocktails," and many "temperance drinks," so called, with abounding in serious menaces to health; the essential principal of absinthe and vermouth, one or other of which is used in almost every "pick-me-up," with being a poisonous stomachic irritant; anisette, supposedly a mild cordial, for it never "goes to the head," with containing an essence which, by infiniation, can suspend physical animation; while Chartreuse, long prepared only by a religious brotherhood, and supposedly still compounded according to the original formula, is said by the Academy to be very poisonous, and to contain thirteen ingredients that are dangerous to health. Such an indictment from such a source is far more affrighting than anything the prohibitionists have told us about alcohol.

church think it advisable to say that their sole object is to convert Hebrews and Pagans.

This was what a Swedish missionary recently said when Menelik, before whom he was summoned, inquired as to the object of his visit. When he heard it the ruler said:

"What countries were you obliged to cross in order to come here?"

"Germany, Egypt and the Soudan," replied the missionary.

"And were you not able to find in Germany any Hebrews whom you might have converted?" asked Menelik.

The missionary was obliged to admit that he had seen many Hebrews in Germany.

"Well," said Menelik, "first convert the Hebrews and the Pagans in Germany and then come here and convert us."

There will be a meeting of the board of government of the Chapman Chorus in the York theatre on Monday evening at 7.30 and a rehearsal at 8 o'clock (sharp.) Mr. Chapman will be here on Thursday and a full attendance is desired for Monday and Thursday.

The death occurred last evening at Indiantown of John Hayes, after a severe and lengthy illness. The decaded was well known as a lumber surveyor, and some years ago as a base ball player, having been a prominent member of the La Tours.

A sub-committee of the board of works visited the Quinn property, so called, in Sydney ward yesterday afternoon and made a thorough examination so as to be in a position to make a report to the next meeting of the board with regard to the application of J. S. McGivern for a lease of a portion of the place with a warehouse provided by the city and the request of Geo. Dick that the blocks be removed.

The pulp mill at Mill Village, N. S., which was recently destroyed by fire, will be rebuilt, and a more modern plant installed. PROFIT-SHARING.

Not So Much the Fashion as it Was Some Years Ago.

Some Years Ago.

(Engineering.)

Ten or twelve years ago profit-sharing was the fashion, today it is almost as dead as the crinoline, for a government Blue-Book shows that only 53,000 workers are involved in such schemes, and the majority of these are probably associated with co-operative concerns, while only 14,579 last year are reported as having earned a profit. Of 78 works in which profit-sharing concerns, 7 engineering and shipbuilding yards, 4 agricultural concerns, 3 clothing factories, 8 food and tebacoworks, and 3 metal establishments. Some particulars are given as to the number of narticularis in profits and 3 citching factories, 8 food and tebacqo works, and 3 metal establishments.
Some particulars are given as to the number of participants in profits, and the ratio of bonus allotted to wages.
There were, as we have said, 14,579 participants in the most recent year for which figures are available; and these received an average of 14.3 per cent on their wage. Were all equally fortunate, profit-sharing would indeed be popular. That the results have in many cases been disappointing is proved by the fact that quite half the profit-sharing schemes commenced have ceased, and in 18 out of the 98 instances the reason given is "losses or want of success," and in seven cases "the apathy of employes." In 24 cases the disastisfaction of employers was the cause, an din many others the scheme seems to have failed to bring about successful industrial conditions, for its cessation was due to liquidation or dissolution in 18 works, to losses or want of success in 18 more, and to disputes with employes in three. Nothing succeds like success—for the worker.

How happy is he born or taught That serveth not another's will,
Whose armor is his honest thought
And simple truth his highest skill; Whose passions not his master are, Whose soul is still prepared for death; Not tied unto the world with care Of prince's ear or vulgar breath;

Who hath his life from rumors freed; Whose conscience is his strong retreat; Whose state can neither fattererseed Nor ruin make oppressors great;

Who envice none whom chance doth raise Or vice; who never understood Hew deepest wounds are given with praise Nor rules of state, but rules of good;

Who God doth late and early pray
More of his grace than gifts to lend,
And entertains the harmless day

DOING SOME WORK.

It is easily seen that "there is something doing" in civic circles, if one is to judge by the extra work being devoted to the Queen Square walks and gutters. A gang of men have been put to work lately clearing the approaches and walks and brightening things up generally. The citizens of the South End feel honored at the attention being shown them even if it is late in the year.

A PRESSING PROBLEM.

aggestions Commended to the Thoughtful Attention of Star

St. JOHN, N. B., Aug. 22nd, 1802.

To the Editor of the Star.

Sir,—I see by your analysis of my letter,—published on the 12th inst—that you have not quite caught my meaning. No wonder—for, writing upons the impulse of the moment, my thoughts far outran my pen, and my heart was full of grief and hornor, that a poor human being should have been shot and batteyed to death under the open sunlight, with no hand to rescue; no voice id pity!

Far be it from my wish to exclude the children of the poor from the schools, and I quite agree with you as to their often mental superiority over those of a better class of society, when given a chance; but, when school life is over, I think there should follow a quite of training school, where the boys could have manual training, and the siris be instructed in demestic science, ology, and all other household "ologies." The children of the better class of that class whose homes are but in name, and whose only playeround is the street. Even if "Curfew Bell" rings them off the street, what the better are they in many, of their abiding places? As to our churches, they should be open to the poor, but they will not come. Perhaps the churches, are to grand for them, though we who have been subject to refining infinences all our lives do not, see it. I have before me an article by Ian Macsilaren, in which he says, "What if, God be calling us, not to build ifnore churches, but to see more to the homes in which His people are living. Not to spend more money on organs and choirs, but releve the poor and destitute." A friend writing of her work among the poor of London tells me that she has opened a club for women, starting with four and now numering elighteen or governments. She has not yet induced them to go to church, but she hopse for that later on. We must first divilize them, Christianize them. Out; Sunday school rooms and buildings semain closed all the week. Mr. Armstrong asked that some penalty be imposed, not to the full extent, but a slight one, as men had been cautioned before and the law was still broken. He thought perhaps Mr. Harrington might be excepted as he had hitherto shown a desire to comply with the regulations.

The death occurred last evening of John Hayes, lumber surveyor with W. Maicolm McKay. Mr. Hayes had been ill some time. He is survived by his mother, two brothers Thomas and James; and four siters Mrs. H. J. Doherty, Mrs. P. Ward, and Misses Mary and Alice. He was a popular member of No. 2 A. O. A NEW SCHEME the ferry and the distance of the haul, added to the expense of ferriage, which, to the merchant importing largely, amounts to a considerable sum in the course of the haul around by the bridge has precluded that as a possible means of obviating the difficulty and so the matter has gone. There is now a scheme on foot which is shortly to be brought before this board of works, that if carried out will largely do away with this amovahade and extra expense. The idea is 'fo' have local imports loaded on lighters, which may lie alongside of the steamer and then be conveyed to this side. To provide for the accommedation of the goods temporarily and even for a longer period, if the importers of desires, the scheme is to build a warehouse on the Market slip, following the arc made by the curve of North wharf extension, and into it the lighters will discharge their cargo. This will place the goods within a couple of minutes' haul of practically all the houses importing. It will save them time and the expense of ferriage. Lighters might caslly be secured. There are a number of scows, lying idle during the winter, on which temporary coverings might be put, and that would answer admirably for the purpose.

Over forty cases of grain, roots and some beautiful views of the country and the harvest fields have arrived, and no time will be lost in placing them in position.

OUR FISHING RESORTS.

OUR FISHING RESORTS.

Elack bass fishing in Spruce Lake is a pastime familiar to a comparatively few people, and yet it affords excellent sport. Sometimes these fish rise to the fly, and sometimes they are taken with bait. The lake is well stocked with them, and to the initiated it affords not only a pleasant outing but a toothsome dish. The Star knows of at least one Boston gentleman who every year visits the lake, and is always rewarded with what he regards as excellent sport. St. John does not pay enough attention to the provision of good fishing within easy reach of the city. There's money in it.

A PERTINENT ENQUIRY.

A gentleman who lives not far from the Brayden farm, which was purchased by the city in order that no more manure might be washed off it into the city's water supply, says that never before was the farm so profusely manued or so well pastured as it has been since the city assumed control. Query:—Why did the city purchase the property?

IT IS NOT TRUE.
