SIX DEAD IN COAL CREEK SNOWSLIDE

Avalanche Buried Thirteen Men

Struck Carpenter Shop Without Any Warning

Rescue Parties Soon Dug the Victims from the Wreckage—Seven of Them Living, But Several Are Injured Seriously and May Die.

Canadian Press

Fernie, B. C., Dec. 30.—A heavy slide of snow came down at Coal Creek on the Cowy's Nest coal mine today, burying the shop, carrying with it the carpenter shop in which twelve or thirteen men were working.

The avalanche burst upon the shop so quickly that every man in the building was caught, no warning sound having preceded the event.

The electric light wires supplying the light to the offices and other buildings being in the path of the slide gave the first warning to those outside the shop, and a rush of men from all directions was soon upon the scene and rescue work began immediately. Five lifeless bodies were brought out, and one, that of a young man named Worthington, still showing signs of life, and upon whom a pulmonologist was used for some time vigorously, but without result, making a total of six fatalities.

Seven other men all severely and some very seriously injured, were also recovered from their snowy coverings and are now either in the hospital at Fernie or in their homes.

MONCTON WILL NOT SELL MARKET TOLLS

Council Decides to Continue Old System—Street Commissioner Appointed at $100 Per Month.

Moncton, Dec. 30.—(Special)—At a meeting of the city council tonight the market committee's report recommending the sale of tolls and the dismissal of Market Clerk Watson-Lutz was rejected. William Murray, who offered $1,000 for the tolls, declined to enter into the contract with the result that the council decided to continue the present toll system and continue Market Clerk Lutz.

The council appointed W. E. Marks, street commissioner, at a salary of $100 a month, and Fred Abrams driver of the motor salvage truck, at $50 a month.

CARNEGIE STILL HOPEFUL THAT WARS WILL CEASE

New York, Dec. 30.—Under the title The World's Unsolved Enigma, in which he declares that the ruler of every country now that the greatest blessing for the world at large is international peace, Andrew Carnegie today sent to his friends his greetings for the New Year. In concluding the greetings Carnegie said: "The international peace is not a party question in the republic. Democratic presidents and statesmen, equally with Republicans, are the greatest champions. I venture the prediction that negotiations will be resumed under the most favorable conditions between Britain, France and America—Germany gladly co-operating as before."

Such a bold case there can be no word as fall. Sooner or later the 200 million men in battle is to be banished from the earth.

CHINESE ADOPT JAN. 1 AS NEW YEAR'S DAY AND DISCARD OLD ONE

Beijing, Jan. 1.—According to the statement of Alexander S. Rea, Chinese consul here today, the Chinese all over the world, including China, will on Wednesday celebrate New Year's day for the first time in the history of their race. The old Chinese year is to be discarded from January 1, 1913.

DISOBEYED PRIEST AND WAS REFUSED CHRISTIAN BURIAL

Ontario Man Didn't Heed Warning to Leave Liquor Alone and Was Killed by Train—Buried in Unconsecrated Ground Without Ceremony.

Findsler, Ont., Dec. 30.—Buried in an unconsecrated plot with orders from the family priest that no headstone or other signs shall mark the grave and a pronouncement that his wife upon her demise shall not be laid at rest beside him, is the post-mortem punishment of John Culbert, of Glenelg, who met a tragic death on the level crossing of the Canadian Pacific Railway track at Markdale, seven miles from here.

Culbert had been warned by his priest several times to leave liquor alone, and he persistently disregarded the well-meant order. His disobedience of his priest cost him not only his life but his privilege of Christian burial.

There was no religious services at his funeral.

FREDERICTON A HEALTHY CITY

Death Rate for Year Just Closing 16 Per Thousand—Police Magistrate Marsh 84 Years Old Next Month.

Fredericton, Dec. 30.—The weather took a marked change for the worse this afternoon, a heavy rain setting in. A good deal of the snow which recently fell will be taken off.

The year ending tomorrow has been one of the best in the history of the city as far as mortality records are concerned. The rate is 16 per thousand of population, and is thought to be the lowest of any city in Canada.

TURKS WANT POWERS TO ARRANGE PEACE

Allies Enraged at the Delay

Will Issue Ultimatum to Sultan's Delegates Tomorrow If They Seek Further Time—Balkan Envoy's Fear Now That Austrian Game is to Rob Them of Their Conquered Territory.

London, Dec. 30.—After a fortnight of sparring and feinting, Turkey has finally shown her hand in the peace conference.

Mediation by the great powers is the Ottoman scheme for emerging from the war with the best face for the nation and for the plenipotentiaries, which the situation will permit.

The Turkish delegates proposed this solution in diplomatic guarded terms at today's session. The meeting was brief and more strained than any which preceded it and the Turkish tactics were characteristic.

The delegates had received from instructions from the Porte, Reza Pasha announced, but part of the telegram was undecipherable and must be repeated to Constantinople for translation. Then Reza Pasha came to the point, to which, in the opinion of their opponents, the Ottoman had been leading up to since the beginning. He declared that he was able to state that most of the questions under discussion should be referred to the powers.

The boundary between Bulgaria and Turkey was an exception that was a matter, he said, for direct settlement between the two governments.

The Turkish delegates attempted to discuss the question of peace informally but the allies insisted that they should put their proposals in writing, which they were not prepared to do.

Allies to Issue Ultimatum

The allies propose to bring affairs to a close by the issuance of an ultimatum at the latest session of the conference on Wednesday. They express their determination not to waste more time in waiting for telegraphic consultations, real time not only his life but his privilege of Christian burial.

There was no religious services at his funeral.

Bigelow yesterday, which was attended by party leaders, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt lunched with the Massachusetts Historical Society and in a talk to members earnestly warned them that the United States must be prepared at all times for immediate war. He severely arraigned war department officials who were in charge when the Spanish war began as well as the high officials of the army and navy who would find no money for war but had much as was desired after the conclusion of peace.

THE PROVINCIAL FINANCES

The provincial government, even by its own exhibit, continues to increase the public debt, and while it does so it neglects the more important of the public services. Any New Brunswicker who cares to look at the facts in the face will see in the annual statement of the provincial finances, published in the Royal Gazette yesterday, convincing truth of the soundness of many of the criticisms directed against the government since Mr. Fleming became a member of the administration.

Thanks to a large territorial revenue, and to an increased return from other sources over which the government had no control, the income for the year ending October 31, 1912 was $1,417,723, the largest ever recorded in New Brunswick. Yet, even by following its own peculiar system of bookkeeping, the government's figures show that it spent all of this record-breaking income, and more. There is a paper surplus of $8,672, but while the interest charges in 1911 were $245,193, they rose in 1912 to $268,323.

It is time and more than time for men to start a war of extermination against this rodent. As a plague-bearer it threatens every port in the world, and the opening of the Panama Canal will offer it new and enlarged opportunities for its unclean activities.

TAXATION REFORM—WHAT IT MEANS

Sir James Whitney has done the cause of tax reform a great service, unwittingly. A few weeks ago it was expected that there would be in the Ontario legislature a compromise between the Liberal and the Conservative groups which favor the extension of improvements from taxation, and that the Whitney government would accept a measure agreeable to the advance views of both parties.

The principal increase in revenue, which comes from Crown lands, and which is lauded in some quarters as evidence of the statesmanship of Mr. Fleming and his associates, is not regarded with appreciation by those who look to the future and who realize that if the forest wealth of New Brunswick is subjected to the present drain year after year our greatest asset, our greatest source of revenue, will be seriously impaired in the near future.

The idea that building a shield is less taxed than land. The Dominion Grange says they do. But if they don't, they don't have to, merely because local option may be granted. They would have the say. They could vote down all such propositions if they didn't like them.

THE MARCH OF THE PLAGUE

The bubonic plague, the "black death" of the Middle Ages, is making slow, but so far, sure, progress around the globe. The entire western coast line of South America is now infested. On the eastern coast the infection is distributed in spots and does not follow a continuous line. How soon these spots may be connected in a chain of continuous infection is a question that is giving serious thought to those who are familiar with the sanitary conditions in these regions.

SEVENTY-FOUR YEARS YOUNG

His Honor Chief Justice Barker received from all quarters on Friday congratulations upon the completion of his seventy-fourth year, and to these The Telegraph would add its own. The bench and the bar of this province have enjoyed the activities of many men of distinction, and at seventy-four the present chief justice is now, as he long has been, in the van of Maritime Province jurists.

THE HUNGRY FORTIES

Mr. Fisher Unwin has recently published a book—"The Hungry Forties"—the record of the starvation of the English people under the Corn Laws. The information has been collected by personal inquiry to correspondents in all parts of the country. Here are the assessments upon some typical homes occupied by mechanics: No. 601 Logan avenue, assessment on land $700, building $2,200. Taxes at present $39.60, at proposed rate $50.24. Taxes with an exemption of 25 per cent of building value, $33.43.

BRITISH TRADE PROGRESS

The Board of Trade returns record an enormous boom in British trade during the past year. The total trade for eleven months of 1912—imports and exports—was $1,210,454,726. This is an increase of more than ninety-four million pounds on the preceding eleven months, and of over a hundred millions for the same period of 1910.

Let the taxpayers in each community decide for themselves. They're no fools when it comes to parting with their money. Somebody in Toronto, Sir James, we think, suggested that farmers don't favor country is prosperous, for their whole agitation for tariff reform was built upon a passing commercial depression in 1901-2. Free Trade cannot of itself confer plenty on a nation, but it can and does open Britain's ports to the world, enabling her to participate in the prosperity of all nations.

The principal newspapers of Toronto, on both sides of politics, favor taxation reform either outright, or in the case of the Toronto Globe and Toronto Star, or less directly, as in the case of the Toronto News and Toronto World. The issue is very much in the public eye in Ontario, which has followed Western Canada in giving close attention to the bearing of assessment and taxation upon the happiness and prosperity of every community.

Mr. A. B. Farmer, of the Tax Reform League, who spoke recently in St. John before an audience which should have been one hundred times as large as it was, speaks frequently in Toronto on this issue, and a few days ago he brought to the attention of an audience there certain facts which must be of interest everywhere. He cited hundreds of recent sales of property, the first class consisting of houses of less than $5,000 in value, the second of properties valued between $5,000 and $10,000, the third between $10,000 and $20,000, the fourth more than $20,000, and the fifth vacant land.

Of the properties valued at less than $5,000, the assessment value was equal to seventy-three per cent of the sale price; of the properties valued between $5,000 and $10,000 the assessment value was equal to sixty-two per cent of the sale price; of the properties valued from $10,000 to $20,000 the assessment value was equal to forty-six per cent of the sale price; of the properties valued at more than $20,000 the assessment value was equal to fifty-seven per cent of the sale price; the assessment value of 138 parcels of vacant land sold was equal to fifty-five per cent of the sale price.

In other words, the houses of lowest value, occupied by working men and other persons of moderate means, were assessed at about three-quarters of their value, while vacant land is assessed in the same city for about fifty-five per cent of its value, and costly central property is assessed two per cent more than vacant land. The persons least able to pay are those who pay most. Such an assessment system encourages speculation in land, and the holding of it for profit, while it penalizes the laboring man and the small business man.

The Toronto Globe says that Mr. Farmer's figures indicate that residential improved property is too heavily taxed and that land is taxed far too lightly. The Globe says, further: "It is in the taxation of workmen's houses that the greatest benefit would be conferred by a partial exemption of improvements. Workmen's houses are scarce, and land suitable for them is held at prices absurdly high. An increase of the taxation on that vacant land would force it into the market at reasonable prices and permit the construction of more habitable and secure tenements. Upon their buildings the taxes would be lighter than on the land, and this would induce the owners to build as cheaply as possible. Here are the assessments upon some typical homes occupied by mechanics: No. 601 Logan avenue, assessment on land $700, building $2,200. Taxes at present $39.60, at proposed rate $50.24. Taxes with an exemption of 25 per cent of building value, $33.43.

It is a remarkable situation that confronted the politicians of that period. There was no hesitation about the advantages of protection at a principle. Indeed the two rival parties disputed with one another as to the honor of originating the policy of Free Trade. It was by the principles of Free Trade that Peel and his lieutenants justified tariff-reform; and they indirectly sapped protection in general by dwelling on the mischiefs of minor forms of protection in particular.

Great Britain stands alone among the great commercial nations of the world in having adopted Free Trade as the fundamental principle of her economic policy. Gladstone declared after efficient trade successes during the nineteenth century was largely due to this liberalizing principle. He said: "Under this code, our race, restored to freedom in mind and hand, and braced by the powerful stimulus of open competition with the world, has, other, and has won for itself a commercial primacy more evident, more comprehensive, and more solid than it had at any previous time possessed."

This code maintains that in order to secure the greatest possible mass of goods in the world as a whole, it is expedient that there should be no restriction in the exchange of goods or services either between individuals or communities. The principle is implied in the very notion of exchange, and it is remarkable that politicians have been able with fallacious boldness to deny its reasonableness. In every case of voluntary exchange each party gains something that is of greater value to him, than that with which he parts; and consequently in every exchange, both between individuals and between nations, both parties are the gainers. Since both parties gain through exchange, the greater facilities there are for exchange the more the advantage to every individual all round. Any trade restriction is always an expense to the country imposing the restriction. The restriction may be justifiable, but it must justify itself with a full realization of the expenditure. The game will be worth the candle or it may not, but at least it is well that we should know how far the candle is being burned.

The European situation still gives anxiety, but the weight of opinion is with the optimistic French Premier, Poincaré, who expects peace—and an extended period of tranquility.

The street railway should have been carried to Little River last summer.

The report that the street railway and the city will agree upon a double track to King's Corner is a cheerful one and the city would welcome a confirmation of it. And still more would the city welcome the fixing of a definite date for the completion of the extension. In the matter of improvements St. John suffers materially from extensions of time. THE NORTON POST OFFICE

To the Editor of The Telegraph: Sir,—That the Borden government has caused a great deal of dissatisfaction in the locality by making a change in post-masters is admitted by everybody. Mr. H. Baster, now co-postmaster, has always given excellent service. The building which he kept the post office was located very handy to the trains, and when the train came in on the Central Railway the time was lost in getting the mails sorted ready for the C. P. R. going west fifteen minutes later. Let me remind you that the Central Railway is fifty-eight miles long and at nearly every stopping place delivers mails to carriers who drive to various parts east and west. Perhaps there is a branch line of equal length in the province that serves so large a community with mail as the Central Railway. It is very important that the mail of this railway should get away from Norton on the C. P. R. going west. If it does not it will suffer a day's delay. The present postmaster drives the mail across the river where it is sorted, and before this has been done the C. P. R. has gone and comes the delay. It now appears that the purpose is to continue keeping the post office on the other side of the river, and so delays will be a permanent thing. People think, irrespective of politics, that a better selection for the office should have been found in the ranks of the Conservative party. There are men, who did not begin their career in political life, who merit reward quite as much as those who have been in the office for years. The present state of affairs can be improved, or not. We believe they can. It is proposed to continue keeping the post office to take over the Central Railway on the first of January next. Would it not be possible to have a mail clerk put in the train? This clerk could have the mail coming north and south, and it would not have to be taken across the river to be made up. I submit this idea through to the postal authorities, and trust that they will see to having something done which will ensure to the public a more prompt dispatch of their mail matters. ONLOOKER Norton (N. B.), Dec. 28, 1912.

THE MAILS

To the Editor of The Telegraph: Sir:—I wonder what our forefathers would have said to our modern postal facilities? Would they have believed it would be possible (even during the rush of the Christmas season) for one to send a letter from this city to the town of Sussex in thirty old miles away, which would not take more than five days in transmission? Such, however, is the simple fact. I had a refreshing experience of it last week, having occasion to send a packet of manuscript and other documents to a well known business man in Sussex. I mailed this on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 21, and it reached the destination in Sussex on Thursday, Dec. 28, or in other words in the almost incredible time of four days and twelve hours after being posted here. Truly we live in an age of wonders! Yours truly, ONLOOKER.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The European situation still gives anxiety, but the weight of opinion is with the optimistic French Premier, Poincaré, who expects peace—and an extended period of tranquility. St. John harbor receives extended and favorable mention in an article in the London Times of December 13 regarding Canadian ports. After describing St. John's harbor facilities, The Times says: "The city of St. John has cheerfully assumed heavy obligations for the betterment of her port, and in return for this enterprise is at present enjoying a marked degree of prosperity."

DYNAMITERS GET LONG TERMS

Maximum Sentence 39 1-2 Years

Thirty-eight Convicted Labor Officials Will Know Fates Today

Judge Has Great Discretion in Fixing Penalty—Can Dismiss, Fine or Imprison—Jury Never Had Any Doubts About Their Guilt, Says Foreman.

Indianapolis, Dec. 28.—Thirty-eight minutes was all the time required by the court to receive the jury, read its verdict of "thirty-eight guilty and two not guilty," and dismiss the jurors.

The verdict brought to an end the historic three months "Dynamite Conspiracy" trial. It meant, except in the cases of Herman G. Seiffert, of Milwaukee, and Daniel Buckley, of Davenport, Iowa, who were the two men out of forty to be adjudged "not guilty," that the government's charges about dynamite plots extending over six years had been sustained.

It meant, also, that thirty wives, many of whom with their children patiently had sat through the long-drawn-out ordeal, were at last to be separated from their husbands.

Important details yet remain in consequence of the verdict. Punishments are to be imposed upon the thirty-eight men by Federal Judge Albert E. Anderson on Monday at 10 a. m.

Prisoners who receive terms longer than one year are to be taken to the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kansas. A special train will go by secret route. The first to its time of leaving Indianapolis and its arrival at Leavenworth are not to be made public.

A wide discretion rests with the court as to the amount of punishment. Under the convictions the court may dismiss any prisoner, or impose a money fine or sentence any of all of the men to terms in the federal prison not exceeding thirty-nine and one-half years.

Jury Had No Doubts

Newcastle, Ind., Dec. 28.—Frank Daro, the farmer who was foreman of the jury which convicted the thirty-eight defendants in the dynamite conspiracy trial, arrived here tonight.

"Speaking for the jury, I wish to say that we gave careful consideration to all the testimony and arrived at our verdict after due deliberation," said Mr. Daro. "When we entered the jury room we had the instructions of the court from the bottom and it resulted in my election as foreman."

"Strange to say, from the start it was noted that Buckley and Seiffert were innocent. They were promptly acquitted and then we took up the other defendants, one by one. Every name was gone over and every name was found guilty. It was the unanimous opinion of my fellow jurors and myself that Orie E. McManis had told the truth. We regarded his testimony as unshaken by cross-examination. He was a man of a high character, a confessed criminal who was exposing his associates in order to provide a light sentence for himself.

"In our minds there were no doubts as to the guilt of Ryan and the other officers and members of the executive board of the union. We had no sympathy for Hoekin, and when we filed out to return our verdict I looked with sorrow on the faces of the women whose husbands, sons, brothers and fathers were about to be sentenced to a felon's life."

Indianapolis, Dec. 28.—Thirty-eight labor union officials today were found "guilty" of complicity in the McNamara dynamite plot, including the wrecking of the Los Angeles Times building.

Frank M. Ryan, president of the International association of bridge and structural iron workers, was among those convicted. He, with others, was accused of using the union's funds to destroy the property of contractors who refused to recognize the union.

The following were found guilty—Frank M. Ryan, president of the International association of bridge and structural iron workers; John E. Butler, Buffalo, vice-president; Herbert S. Hoekin, former secretary and formerly of Detroit; Orie A. Twitmore, San Francisco, secretary of the California building trades council; Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco; Phillip Cooley, New Orleans; Michael J. Young, Boston; Frank J. Higgins, Boston; J. E. Dunne, Salt Lake City; Frank C. Webb, New York; Patrick F. Webb, New York; John E. Barry, St. Louis; Paul J. Moran, St. Louis; Henry W. Leggett, Denver; Charles K. Benn, Minneapolis; William E. Reddin, Milwaukee; Michael J. Cunnane, Philadelphia; Richard H. Houlihan, Chicago; James Conroy, Chicago; James A. Coughlin, Chicago; William S. Hays, Chicago; Edward Smythe, Peoria, Ill.; James E. Ray, Peoria, Ill.; Murray L. Pennell, Springfield, Ill.; William C. Bernhardt, Cincinnati; Wilford A. Bert Brown, Kansas City; William J. McCoin, Kansas City, Mo.; Frank K. Painter, Omaha; Peter J. Smith, Cleveland; George Anderson, Cleveland; Michael J. Hanon, Scranton, Pa.; Edward E. Phillips, Syracuse, N. Y.; Charles Washburn, Detroit; Frank J. Murphy, Detroit; Fred J. Mooney, Duluth; Ervart G. W. Dasey and Fred Sherman, Indianapolis; Fred Sherman, Indianapolis; Hiram B. Kline, Munies, Ind., former organizer for the united brotherhood of carpenters and joiners.

The following were found "not guilty"—Herman G. Seiffert, Milwaukee; Daniel Buckley, Davenport, Iowa. The verdicts were brought in at ten a. m.

All these defendants were found guilty on all the counts as charged in the indictments. The jury was discharged and court adjourned until ten a. m. Monday, at which time sentences will be imposed.

Seiffert and Buckley, the only two men out of the forty labor union officials to be adjudged not guilty, immediately were discharged from custody.

After Judge Anderson had cleared the courtroom of all spectators and the families of the defendants, the thirty-eight prisoners were taken in custody by deputy United States marshals and special deputy

THE SKIES IN JANUARY

The planet Venus will be conspicuous in the evening skies during the month of January. Venus is readily identified, as she is the brightest of celestial objects, and her sun and moon, even Sirius suffering by comparison. The map shows the position of Venus on the evenings of the 14th and the 31st, with reference to the horizon but to the neighboring stars.

"Is Venus habitable? Is she inhabited? These questions are usually raised in the discussions of astronomers, if taken for granted that life will exist wherever life is possible. What we know of the physical conditions of Venus makes the problem in her case an extremely interesting one.

MUCH ATMOSPHERE AND VAPOR.

The atmosphere of Venus is abundant, far more abundant than our own, in all probability. Of its constitution we know little except that it contains much water vapor. This may be due to the higher temperature of the planet, resulting from its nearness to the sun. This moisture would favor the growth of ferns and similar vegetation such as flourished here during our carboniferous period. Venus gives almost twice as much solar light and heat as we do. Her axial inclination is somewhat steeper than ours and her orbit is the most nearly circular of any planet so that there can be no great difference in her seasons, a condition favorable to slow-developing, long-lived animals.

REGULUS AND THE SICKLE.

The splendid constellation Leo (The Lion) is now almost clear of the eastern horizon, and the well defined figure of the Sickle, fully exposed. The bright magnitude star Regulus (The Chief) is the clear white brilliant at the end of the handle of the Sickle. Regulus is the heart of the figure of the lion and is often known as "Cor Leonis." It is one of the four ancient "royal stars" which quarter the heavens. Though it adorns the humble emblem of the lion, astrologers consider it the highest of kings.

RESEMBLES THE EARTH IN THE QUALITIES ESSENTIAL TO THE DEVELOPMENT OF LIFE.

It is to the cloudiness of Venus' atmosphere that our sister planet owes her extreme brilliancy. She is so dazzlingly bright that the telescope distinguishes her from her features. It is impossible to say surely that any observer has ever glimpsed the solid surface of the planet. It is true that the discovery of certain permanent markings has been announced at times, and certain astronomers have been led to the conclusion that Venus turns upon her axis only once in a year, thus keeping the same face turned always to the sun, just as the moon turns always the same face to the earth. Such a planet, half of which was plunged in eternal night, and half bathed in endless sunlight, would seem uninhabitable, at least by beings resembling man.

To an intelligent inhabitant of Venus—if such there be—the earth would shine much more brightly than Venus ever can to us. Because of her position between us and the Sun, Venus is invisible to us when she is at her nearest. She appears brightest when only about one-quarter of her illuminated surface is exposed to our eyes. The earth, on the other hand, presents her full surface to Venus at the moment of opposition, when the planets most closely approach each other. The resulting similarity to the case of our own moon, which reflects nine times as much light to us at first or last quarter.

CITY RESERVE ARBITRARY FOR THE BEING

Affidavit Presented to Judge, Who Grants Injunction

REGARDING POLICE FORCE DISMISSALS

Chief Sees Great Danger in Depriving Him of His Men and Lawyer Acts for Him—Commissioners to Deal With Matter Probably at Regular Meeting Today.

Monday, Dec. 30. An injunction restraining the city commissioners from bringing into effect the resolution of the common council passed on Dec. 27, reducing the police force so as to consist of one man, and also from appointing a new police force, was granted by Judge McLeod on an affidavit presented by Mr. H. R. McLellan, commissioner of public safety, and the other members of the council.

In his affidavit the chief alleges that the proposed action of the council would not be in the interests of the city, the public safety or the policemen themselves, while it would tend to degrade and humiliate the present head of the force.

The affidavit of Chief Clark, after referring to the chief's appointment, sets forth that he has appointed all policemen on the force, that he believes that he is the sole authority in respect to the appointment of policemen, that he has been advised by counsel that if the commissioners reduce the force to one man, his rights as chief of police would be invaded, also that serious and irreparable injury is threatened to him as chief of police and to the city of St. John and to the taxpayers and property holders of the city of St. John, and in the event of the said police force being disbanded or discontinued it shall be rendered powerless to protect the citizens and property solely by the action of the defendants in wrongfully and illegally depriving me of the present police force appointed by me.

The affidavit goes on to assert that the action of the force to one man would be a gross and deliberate violation of the council's resolution were carried out by members of the force who are entitled to their salaries from the funds of the St. John Police Relief Association, would constitute a serious and permanent injury by being deprived of their just salary, and that the council's action would result in great expense and litigation in order to determine their rights in the said fund.

The affidavit explains that under an act to incorporate the St. John Police Relief Association the chief and other members of the force were constituted a body corporate by and under the name of the St. John Police Relief Association, and that the money in the funds of the association more than $7,000.

The affidavit which is sworn to before Edward P. Raymond, a commissioner of the court, and signed by W. Walker Clark, concludes as follows: "That I am desirous of obtaining an injunction from bringing into effect the said order or resolution of the 23rd day of December, 1912, reducing the police force of the city of St. John, and also from appointing a new man and also from interfering with me as chief of police of the city of St. John or with the said police force appointed by me, or any member thereof, in the execution of his or their duty as especially to restrain the defendant, Harry R. McLellan, commissioner of public safety, from any such interference at any time while this case is pending in the supreme court, and signed by W. Walker Clark, concludes as follows:
