VOL. II.

THE DAILY TRIBUNE

Is issued every afternoon from the office, No. 51 Prince William Street.

Subscription Price $5 per annum in advance. Single Copies two cents.

REGULAR CARRIERS will deliver the paper to Subscribers in the City, at their places of business or residences, immediately after it is issued.

Mail Subscribers can secure the DAILY TRIBUNE (postage pre-paid) at $6.20, or $5, postage paid at office of delivery.

THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE is issued every Tuesday MORNING, and mailed in time for the early morning trains, East and West.

Subscription Price ONE DOLLAR, invariably in ADVANCE. Postage must be paid at the office of delivery.

ADVERTISING RATES. The following are the rates charged for Transient Advertisements in THE TRIBUNE:

For Advertisements of Governments, Corporations, Railways and Steamboat Companies and other public bodies, for Theatres, Concerts, Lectures and other public entertainments, first insertion, $1.00; each subsequent insertion 50 cents. For ordinary mercantile transient advertising, first insertion, 60 cents; each subsequent insertion, 30 cents. Advertisements of Employment Wanted, Help Wanted, Rooms Wanted, Articles Lost, Removals, &c., &c., inserted in condensed form, not exceeding five lines, at 25 cents each insertion, and five cents for each additional line.

Marriage Notices, 50 cents; Deaths 25 cents; Funeral Notices 25 cents, for each insertion. Contracts for advertising BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL CARDS; GENERAL BUSINESS; LAND SALES, for long or short periods, may be made at the counting room, on the most liberal terms.

Contracts for yearly advertising in THE TRIBUNE will insure proper display and accuracy in their advertisements by sending the manuscript to the counting room, 51 Prince William Street.

Merchants, Manufacturers and others are respectfully solicited to consider the claims of THE DAILY TRIBUNE in the circulation of their advertising patronage. THE TRIBUNE has already secured a large circulation in the city, while the sales on the afternoon train, East and West, are not exceeded by any other Daily.

M. McLEOD, BUSINESS MANAGER.

NOTES AND NEWS.

UNITED STATES.

A New York lady believes Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, is her brother, who was lost to her and the rest of the family upon being elected to Congress.

Virginia City, Nevada, is suffering for want of drinking water. The great majority of the male population do not mind it.

The colored Baptists of the Southern States have resolved to practice "non-resistance" as a token of humanity and love for one another. Whatever the object, the result will probably be beneficial.

Iowa has had hay-seed politicians and hay-seed editors innumerable. Now comes the hay-seed poet, who sweetly sings:

My hay hangs silent on the wall, My apples are hushed and still,
I hear the rattle of the wheels,
And his voice my heart doth thrill.

The penman stops his merry lay, His voice is hushed and still,
I hear the rattle of the wheels,
And his voice my heart doth thrill.

When an enthusiastic editor describes a bride as bony, and an envious compositor sets her up as bony, as was done at Jacksonville the other day, hope for the season bids the world farewell, and freedom shrieks as the compositor falls at his form, brained by the brother of the blooming bride.—Chicago Post.

A Hartford bricklayer let fall a brick from a fourth story upon the shoulder of a man passing beneath. "The man passed for a moment, and then with a voice trembling with emotion, shouted, 'Hill you dropped a brick.' The bricklayer, who was looking over the edge of the scaffold to see if the brick was damaged, was pleased to find that it was not hurt, and cheerfully answered, 'All right, you needn't mind bringing it up.'

James M. Lowell of Lewiston, Me., the skeleton of whose wife was recently discovered near that place, has been committed for trial. Mrs. Lowell disappeared about three years ago, and it is alleged that Lowell soon after sold a new pair of trousers which had on them blood spots partly washed out. He also gave away a gold necklace and locket which had belonged to his wife, and sold five of her dresses.

The merchant tailors of Boston have held a meeting and determined to publish in two daily papers a black list, containing the names and residences of the customers who deny pay up. There will be consternation among the "swells" of the "Hub" when this terrible document goes into effect. Honest men may get their dues by it, however, for if tailors can collect their bills promptly from such treacherous customers they ought to be content to come down from their exorbitant charges.

The Memphis Ledger says: "A little crumpled package arrived at the Mayor's office this morning, which has a touch of history. It was sent by Mr. John A. Hughes, a merchant at Springfield, Ill., who has been active in collecting money for distressed people. It was tightly rolled up in two or three sheets of white letter paper, and contained five dollars and five cents, nearly all in one, two and three cent pieces and nickels; also two faded pieces of paper currency of the old five and ten cent issue. Evidently this was some child's treasure, the accumulations of a little box for months or years. On the inner wrapping was written, 'From Little Lilly, for the Memphis sufferers—during Lilly, for the Memphis sufferers—during Lilly.' No other explanations were given.

A Nashville man had occasion to go to Memphis over the Northwestern Road last week. There were but few passengers aboard, and during the night the conductor came and sat down by him. "Going to Memphis, are you, stranger?" "Yes, sir," said the Nashville man. "Mighty rough road, ain't it?" queried the conductor, with a yawn. "Very," was the reply. "Last time I went over the road this car we're in was upset, and a man was killed, and another with another yawn. Then he added, 'I've got the most reckless engineer on the road with me to-night, too, but I hope we won't have any accidents.' " "I certainly hope we will not," responded the passenger, with a slight feeling of uneasiness. "Well, I don't know if it makes much difference to you," said the conductor cheerfully; "you'll die anyway if you're going to Memphis."

Illuminating shells and smoke balls are constantly arriving at the Woolwich Arsenal for use in the Ashantee war. The smoke balls are mere shells full of composition, the burning of which creates a thick smoke and powerful odor—species which have been found to operate with great effect in dislodging troops from ambush and throwing them into confusion.

The word panic arose out of the battle of Marathon. In that immortal fight a mere handful of Greeks encountered an infinite host of Persians and put them to flight. How did they do it? The Persians were smitten by the Greek flight. They lost their wits; and that state of things took its name from the god who produced it.

It is related that upon one occasion, when Commodore Jenkins was in command of the Scotia, a fussy little gentleman came to him just as the steamer was about to start for Philadelphia. The thought of leaving in a hurry, and the thought of a certain day in time for him to catch the train for Philadelphia, Jenkins looked at him a moment in silence, and then, taking out his watch, replied, "I fear, sir, we will be five minutes too late."

If ever there was a good excuse for not getting a paper out in time, it is that offered by the Panama Star and Herald. The editor says that the Government troops were keeping up a continuous fire on the door of his sitting room, and half a dozen shots did not vary three feet in striking distance. "To this," he says, "we must attribute our delay in getting out

Mechanics' Institute!

LECTURE SEASON, 1873-74.

30th Annual Course.

THE President and Directors of the SAINT JOHN MECHANICS' INSTITUTE beg to announce that they have engaged a number of gentlemen to deliver, during the approaching season, a course of lectures, which, they think, they may safely say, will be, in many respects, the best and most attractive ever given in a city.

They have secured the services of four eminent professional lecturers, two of whom will come from the United States and two from the Mother Country.

The Reader Course, to which all members will be admitted, as usual, upon taking out their names, will consist of seven lectures, to be held on MONDAY, 5th December next.

Programme of the Regular Course:

The Fenians Grit Papers.
The Telegraph, after our article defending it from the charge of being on the political fence, deems it only necessary to thus briefly notice the short-sighted papers that don't see what good work it is doing in the Opposition cause.

The Morning Chronicle, Evening Globe and some less known sheets are pegging away at the Telegraph. If they can stand it we can. It places them self in a no man's land.

Do these sheets "dig away" at their able ally because they don't appreciate the good work it is doing on their side, or because they are so greedy that they don't want to share the spoil with it?
The last reason must be the true one, as they cannot be silly enough not to note the manner in which the Government is daily stabbed in the back by the Telegraph. For the benefit of those who fancy it necessary to call hard names to serve a cause it says:

The extreme positions taken by the party journals are held to be fitted to defeat their own objects by destroying confidence in their reports and articles.
Just so. Our doctrine exactly. "An extreme position on the Opposition side would have been "fitted" to defeat its "own object"—to aid in the overthrow of the Government—"by destroying confidence in" its reports and articles." Depreciating the evidence in favor of the Government, exalting the stultifying commonplaces of Opposition men, who cannot utter ten sentences in an intelligent manner, into "speeches of telling effect," and uttering mock regrets that its good friends have been guilty of great crimes. The Telegraph is right when it tells the Arctic and others that their attacks on it do no harm.
They may kick as much as they like to keep the Telegraph's services from being recognized and rewarded by Mr.
Macdonald, but they will kick in vain.
So they might as well make up their minds to welcome it in a brotherly style, first at least. Would they have party leaders begin their rule by an act of base ingratitude?

Capt. J. P. Robson, a notice of whose death we publish to-day, was well known in this city, and very much respected, having been a resident of Musquash for several years, and manager of the Lancaster mill and estate. During his management of the property he built and successfully launched several large and handsome vessels. He not only thoroughly understood the lumbering business, but was a practical shipbuilder, and a better sea captain never ran a ship's deck. He was taken ill at Red Rock, Lake Superior, on the 18th October; on the 21st he was so much worse that his son, who was with him, had him conveyed on board the steamer Cumberland, to be taken to his home at Portmouth, Kingston, Ontario. He died a few hours after being conveyed on board. The deceased, at the time of his death, held a position under Government as Commissary of supplies for the Pacific Railroad.
He leaves a wife and seven children, the former at least accounts not being expected to live. The remains were confined by the captain of the steamer and forwarded to his residence.

Gambling and Gulls—Three-Card Monte.
This morning Prof. Hayes and Slim Jim, constituting the Society for the Extension of Useful Knowledge by means of the "Three-Card Monte," were in the young Frenchman on Conductor Latta's train from Oldtown. Yesterday afternoon a Halifax lobster "precker" received instruction in the game to the extent of $50 while on a Maine Central train near Newport. A young man with foolish enough to risk a dollar and a railroad ticket on his ability to "spin" the right card, but he also failed.

People who lose money at three-card monte deserve to lose it, and the sympathy so gushingly accorded them on all hands is misplaced. They bet their money for the purpose of winning, and it on what they consider a sure thing—and have no right to complain when they find that the sure thing was on the other side. The game is, in fact, the equivalent of the sharp's repertoire—conducted much more fairly and honestly than horse races generally are. For the benefit of those who have heard much and seen nothing of the game it may be stated that the gambler lays down three cards, say two blacks and a red one, and bets that neither of the spectators can pick up the red.
Now the winning card is there to choose, and neither the black nor the red of him employed to change its color or spirit it away. If the gambler wins he chooses the correct card he wins; if he chooses either of the other two he loses. He knows this before he bets, and yet he bets and loses, and losing, cries out virtuously against gamblers and gambling, and calls on the police to get his money back for him. Why does he, being a virtuous man who never gamble, bet at all, especially when the chances are two to one? He bets because the gambler, in manipulating the three cards, has left a mark on one of them (turning up the corner, for instance) which the honest man who never gambles but has no objection to winning money on a sure thing plainly sees is the winner. So he puts down his money, turns up the marked card, and finds that he has lost his money, the corner of the winner having been smoothed down and the other corner turned up. This is the game—the famous game of three-card monte, which by the way is not always played with playing-cards. "How can men be fools enough to suppose that a gambler turns up the corner of the winning card?"

asks the gentle reader. We don't know, but that men are fools is daily demonstrated. "Why should so much more be heard about this game than of the other devices for feeding fools?" Simply this: betting men, men in the habit of losing money, are usually too stupid to meddle with this—let against a man's own game—or too honest to bet on what appears to be a sure thing, and those who bite at the hook with the turned corner for bait are good careful souls who never risked a dollar in their lives—never pitched cents, never bought a lottery ticket, never matched coppers, never bet on a race or an election—they are sometimes deacons and sometimes clergymen (we are stating a similitude) who are gettated, no doubt, by the desire to take money from sinful car-dthrowers and apply it to good purposes, and when they lose the blow is too unexpected to be borne in patience; and they cry aloud that they have been swindled, robbed, plundered. These people are not to be losses—did not take the chance of losing into consideration—and they howl. Strange to say, they find sympathy—needing strange to say, the professional party is deemed the only gambler in the case! Men who risk money at poker, forty-five, roulette, the wheel of fortune, these card-board, or any of the thousand other games of skill or chance, consider the chance of losing before they bet and take their losses quietly.
But men who bet on three-card monte because they feel sure of winning profit a loss to the whole world as if they were martyrs to the cause of virtue, instead of embryo swindlers who have paid dear for their first lesson in knavery. People who lose money in this way ought not to have it restored to them, but to be punished with a flogging, they should meet with ridicule and condemnation. Now we will give our readers a rule which, if they follow, will keep them from losing a cent of their money at three-card monte, and the rule is—Never bet on the game.

Musquash Matters.
The semi-annual examination of the Musquash School, District No. 6, came off on Thursday, the 30th ultimo. Several of the Trustees and a number of ladies and gentlemen were present. The pupils, who numbered about forty, displayed a marked proficiency in the various branches in which they were exercised by their principal, Miss C. Raymond, and their teacher, Mrs. J. Carroll. The geography, grammar and history classes are worthy of special mention, especially the former, the class being made to travel with the principal through Europe, Great Britain and America, describing the principal cities, their places of note, manufactures, and the means of conveyance to each; crossing mountains, plains, deserts, rivers, lakes, bays, straits and seas. They also recited a knowledge of geography like flattery to the pupils and creditable to Miss Raymond. The reading, spelling, dictation and mental arithmetic classes were equally successful.
The classes of younger children, under the charge of Mrs. Carroll, were exercised in reading and spelling, their proficiency in both being alike pleasing to the parents, who were present, and creditable to the teacher. After the reciting of the exercises at 4.30 p. m., the children were regaled with nuts, almonds, and apples by the principal, which to them seemed to be the most enjoyable portion of the programme, after which they were dismissed.

The new bridge which crosses the Musquash river near Carman's, lately completed by Mr. Killam to supply the place of the one destroyed about two years ago, is a very creditable affair, and to all appearances seems likely to stand many years. "It is on a different principle from the old one, being on a level, and swings on a centre pier of timber, the ends, when in place, resting on abutments of the same material. The workmanship of the whole structure is first-class, reflecting considerable credit on the Messrs.
Killam Bros., who, as bridge builders, are favorably known throughout the Province.

The mills of Messrs. C. J. Clinch & Sons and Knight & Co. are doing a flourishing business, working night and day. The former shipped to Great Britain and the United States, since the last of May, upwards of five million feet of deal and timber, and upwards of two million of logs and laths. The shipments of the latter have been considerably smaller owing to a destruction of them by fire last summer. Both mills have still a sufficiency of logs on hand to last them the remainder of the season and a good part of next. Mr. Joseph Balcom has a ship to the United States a large quantity of spruce poles.

The St. Andrews road, in the vicinity of Spruce Lake, is being raised and put in thorough order by the Water Commissioners, for the reason that during the spring freshets the water from the lake overflows the road making it dangerous and impassable. It would be well if that portion of the road between the lake and Sawyer's received similar attention, as it is in a most disgraceful condition.

The Rev. Mr. Spike, from Lunenburg, N. S., has been appointed to the Episcopal Church at this place, in place of the Rev. W. S. Covert, who has gone to Grand Manan.

Inflammation of the Lungs.
CLYTON, N. B., 17th February, 1873.
Sir,—In behalf of my family, I wish to acknowledge a debt of gratitude I owe you for your kind and successful treatment of my wife's illness. She was ill with inflammation of the lungs, had raised large quantities of blood and puru-lent matter, and was in every respect near to the portals of the life beyond.
After the application of your medicine, she was cured in a few days, and is now enjoying good health, and urges all who are afflicted with this complaint to try your medicine, without fail.
My wife, also having been in bad health for some time, and suffering from fever in December last, which left her prostrated, was advised by the physician to have some of your medicine. Before taking half a bottle she found herself much benefited, and still continues to use it.

I believe, under kind Providence, Fellow's Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites has been the means of restoring both my wife and daughter, and I hope the afflicted will avail themselves of its use, for although it is widely used, I think its value is not appreciated. Yours, truly, JOSEPH A. EVANS.

MURDER & SUICIDE!

A Nova Scotian Murders
His Wife in the Street and then Shoots Himself.

The quiet of yesterday afternoon was disturbed by a tragedy of such a nature as was never before heard of in St. John.
About 4.45 o'clock, p. m., a man and woman were observed crossing Germain street, and going down Queen towards Prince William street. When about twenty feet past Germain street the man stepped back a little, and pulling a pistol from his pocket aimed at the woman's head and fired. She gave one shriek into the air, jumping about two feet, fell face forward on the ground, and lay without a struggle, death being instantaneous. The man advanced about six feet, and looking round again, placed the pistol to his heart and fired. He evidently intended the shot to enter his heart, but it was aimed so that it passed above and entered the armpits. He fell after this shot, but did not appear to be in any pain. He looked at his victim lying behind him on the ground, and again deliberately raised his pistol, placed it at his head and pulled the trigger. The pistol snapped and he once more cocked the pistol. This time the pistol did not mis-fire, and the ball entered his head a little behind and below the right ear. All this happened so quickly that those who were eye witnesses were only able to get to the spot after the second shot was fired.
Henry Harvey, who was looking out of the window of his house on the opposite corner, ran as quickly as possible after the first shot, but was not in time to prevent the man shooting himself.

Miss Maud Anderson, who was within a few feet of the parties at the time of the shooting, passing down Germain at the parties crossed, says the woman was clinging the man's arm with both hands, evidently talking to him. At the street corner she disengaged one hand gathered up her skirt, and looked up into the man's face with a bright smile and made some remark. In an instant Miss Anderson heard a report like a fire-crocket, and turned her head. The lady threw her arm up and staggered, the man pushed her away from him, and she fell to the ground. The man, after looking at the prostrate form, placed the pistol to his head, fired, turned once and a half around, and then gently settled down to the ground. Miss Anderson called to a girl to come and see what had been done, and beckoned to two men at a window.

The first man, saw her hands over her eyes, cried, "Don't let me see it," and ran away. A man (Mr. Harvey, we suppose) came out of the house opposite, ran across the street, rang Dr. Preston's door bell, and then ran back again to the house he had come out of. The murderer raised himself up nearly to a sitting posture, looked at the still form of his victim, picked his pistol up, gazed straight at Miss Anderson (rightening that young lady very much) and then raised the weapon and shot himself in the breast.
Dr. Preston opened the door, and asked who had rung the bell. Miss Anderson pointed towards the prostrate form, cried "See what has done," and started for home in a half fainting state, and it was reported soon after that she had been struck by one of the bullets.

The two victims lay on the street only a few minutes. Dr. Preston at once came from his house and Dr. Bayard was also present in a few moments. The man and woman were removed to Dr. Preston's coach house, and despite the efforts of Sergt. Rider and policeman McKenzie, who were on the spot almost immediately, a large number pressed in to gaze upon the sad sight.

The man was about five feet ten, thick set and about thirty years of age. The man was not dead but insensible, and was at once sent to the Hospital by order of being able to announce to you that your Spring Hill Coal has gained and is gaining golden opinions from those best qualified to judge—our English Drivers.
Their report is: "It makes quick steam, burns freely and clearly, makes but little ash, and lasts a long time."

vious six months.
Another Sudden Death.
Mr. John McGuirk was seized with a fit about six o'clock last evening. Dr.
Bayard, Berryman and Botsford were called, but could do nothing for him, and he expired about four o'clock this morning. He was on Queen street at the time of the tragedy yesterday afternoon, and it is said the shock his nerves received at the time brought on the fit, as previous to that he was quite well. On Saturday he was one of the jury at the inquest held at the Hospital. Mr. McGuirk was well known, having at one time been connected with the post office department of this city. He is a brother of the Rev. Max McGuirk.

Carrier to John Doyle, of Oswego, was written:

I have three hundred dollars on my person at present and twenty-four dollars, send the balance to Mother river John N. S.
Send my body to Margaret Doyle, River John,
Nova Scotia.
God have mercy on me.

The property and letter were taken care of by the Coroner and Chief of the Police, including the trunks at the railway station. The man was able to speak on reaching the hospital, and to Mr. Doyle he said that his name was Doyle, and that it was his wife that was dead. He also gave them to understand that his wife was the cause of it, and that he had decided on Saturday to do the deed.

It was soon ascertained that the two had arrived by Barnes's train from Boston, and put up at Starnes' Hotel. The names on the register were "J. N. Doyle and wife, Boston." They arrived Saturday night and were taken to the Hotel by Robert Blackall, who was to call for them this morning, and take them to the Intercolonial Station. Yesterday morning they went out together for a walk, returning a little before dinner. The woman played on the piano in the ladies parlor, and the man sat for some time in the smoking room. Nothing strange was noticed in his actions, and at dinner hour and she went to the dining room to gather, and afterwards went for a walk.
This was the last seen of them there. In their room was found a violin and lunch basket with a few other nicknacks. A book entitled "The Story of Wandering Willie" was found, with one page turned down. It was partially blank and on it was written, in the same hand as the other writing—

J. Nicholas Doyle of River John Nova-scotia Mary Jane Doyle of Napassee G. W. outrio I have four trunks checked tow thru I want them sent to river John taw John Doyle point trucky.
The cause of the deed is as yet unknown, there being only the assertion of the man. The only thing at all noticeable about them was that they very silent when together, and now to those who saw them, it appears as if there was some estrangement. It would not have been noticed by any if the tragedy had not happened.

The occurrence was followed by several ministers at their evening services; the Rev. G. W. M. Carey, who lives but a few rods from the scene of the tragedy, spoke very feelingly on the subject. The events have never been anything hidden in the city that created so profound a sensation as this.

A post mortem examination is to be held this afternoon on the woman. The wound has during the night bled considerably, and the corpse presents a very ghastly appearance. The time for the inquest has not yet been decided on, but will be some time to-morrow.
The man still lives. He is unable to talk though he has sense enough to understand any question asked. He takes stimulants, and about noon he took a bowl of beef tea. There are no hopes of his recovery, though he may live a day or so. Many curious people have gone to the Hospital, but owing to his critical state, nearly all have been refused admission.

PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Grill Tactics—Mercantile Agencies.

(Special to Daily News.)

Opposition members, reporters and sympathizers, dog the steps of doubtful members, announcing defections from the Ministerial ranks, and offering heavy bets on Grill victory.

Blake insists on remaining silent till Sir John speaks, which is considered cowardly, the general feeling being that it is only fair that Sir John should hear all that is to be brought against him before replying.

Unless there ensues unexpected defections from the Government ranks the Government majority is certain.

Mr. Domville, of St. John, has introduced a petition against Mercantile Agencies, and principally those whose head offices are in the United States, showing that agents of these firms are generally irresponsible parties who are incapable of obtaining reliable information as to the position and credit of mercantile concerns, and that the reports issued by such agents are incorrect, and are made the medium of malicious and intentionally injurious attacks on responsible firms, and for which such agencies being unknown to the public and beyond the jurisdiction of the Courts of this Dominion.

The petition, which is influentially signed, prays that the Governor General will take such measures as will protect the business standing and position of the mercantile community.

Special Telegram to the Tribune.

More Desertions from the Government Ranks—The Prospects Darker.

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.

Yesterday was religiously devoted to canvassing and church finances were not much improved by contributions from politicians. Ministers preached and prayed about the situation, but that will not affect the vote.

More desertions are reported from the Ministerial ranks. The Opposition is in close consultation this morning, while the party whips are closeted with doubtful members, roping them in. Grill assurances of victory are having an effect on weak members.

Amid the mass of conflicting rumors it is impossible to predict the result with certainty.

Pure Confections.

Purchasers of candies, either for retail or for their own use, should always call for those manufactured at the Victoria Steam Confectionery Works.

Woodburn & Co. are determined to sustain their reputation for making a pure article. See advt. on this page.

Portraits finished in India Ink and Crayon at NOTMAN'S.

There were more persons in the dock this morning than ever appeared at once before. The lecture of the Magistrate last Monday must have stirred up the police to renewed efforts to secure offenders against law and order.

His speech especially directed the police to look after the vendors of intoxicating liquors, but it was easier work to catch the drinkers than the sellers.

Thirty persons answered to their names, the most of whom were charged with drunkenness only.

The lower part of the city sent the largest portion, and the majority of those were drunkards. E. Murphy, Patrick McAvoy, who were charged with fighting in different places in or near British street.

The offence was acknowledged by some, and a fine of $10 was imposed on each.

For simple drunks on other streets, Pat. Murphy was arrested in Carmichael street, Jeremiah Conway in Pond, Alexander Fleming, Prince Wm., William Emery, Union, Daniel Laferty, Snythe, John Kirk and G. Glesson, Germain, Daniel O'Brien, Brunsell, Day, son Staveas, North Wharf, Thomas Wallace in the Old Bird Ground, and were each fined $5. All sorts of imaginable excuses were offered, but they were useless, as every man was fined.

George McKee was given in charge by the captain of the bark Ruggles, for assaulting the mate, and his trial was adjourned until later in the day.

James King was one of a disorderly crowd who used insulting language to the policeman—"brass-buttoned sons of—," he called them, and for this he was fined $5.

James Orr, drunk and assaulting Mrs. Fox in Brussels street. Mrs. Fox did not appear to prosecute.

Daniel Sullivan was drunk and assaulted policeman Hamilton. He confessed both charges, and was fined $10.

Hillard confessed drunkenness, and was fined $5.

James Gony was charged with being one of a disorderly crowd and kicking the doors of houses as he passed along about one o'clock in the morning. Pined $5.

John Phillips was fined $20 for assaulting John Halpin.

Portland Police Court.

It was quite a relief to see after the number in the City Court but two to answer charges in Portland.

Robert Harris was the first one. He unfortunately was found drunk on Sunday afternoon and was fined $5.

Martin Food was fined $1 for the same offence, which was committed on Saturday.
