RECRUITING CAMPAIGN OPENED MONDAY

Despite the short notice there was a fair attendance in Pythian hall on Monday evening for the opening of the county recruiting campaign. The meeting was only preliminary and for the purpose of organization.

M. L. Hayward was called to the chair and A. D. Colwell was appointed secretary to the meeting.

The chairman, in opening the meeting, stated the object for which it was called and introduced Donald Munro, the recruiting officer appointed by the militia department for Carleton county.

Mr. Munro dealt briefly with the insistent call for more men, and yet more men. He referred to the King's appeal to his subjects the world over and stated that while Carleton County had done well in response to the empire's call he felt sure that the limit had not yet been reached and that his sons would rally to the flag in increasing numbers. He had a letter from his son, who is now in France, stating that, considering the enormous strain on the empire, the men at the front were well fed and carefully looked after.

It was felt that the best way to get next to the eligible young men of the county was to organize the parishes and have meetings held at central points, at which speakers would place the matter of the war so clearly before them that they would come forward in numbers to enlist for the defence of home and country. He explained that the soldiers from Canada were better paid than those from any other section of the empire, and while the men were taking a great risk, they were being provided by the government with a form of insurance that was in excess of anything that the ordinary wage earner could possibly carry—and this in addition to the pay they receive and the provision for dependents of those going to the front. He suggested that a committee be appointed to have charge of the campaign in this parish and work together with the central county organization at Woodstock.

Mr. Munro stated that one company of the 104th regiment, now being recruited at Sussex, would be wintered at the armory in Woodstock, and already contracts are being made at that place for fitting up the armory for the company's accommodation and for supplies for their comfort during the probationary period. He felt that it would be an inducement to enlistment for young men to know that they would be quartered for the winter months, at least, near home and among people whom they knew.

Mr. Munro's remarks were well received and at the close of his address, on motion of E. A. Britton a committee composed of Major C. H. Taylor, R. W. Cameron and H. H. Hatfield was appointed to look after the campaign in this parish, the said committee to have power to add to their number. They are to arrange suitable dates for meetings and the central committee would provide speakers for such dates.

Mr. Munro expects that the first of the public meetings will be held some time next week.

HARTLAND MAY BE INCORPORATED TOWN

There was a meeting of Hartland Board of Trade in the office of M. L. Hayward, L.L.B., on Friday evening, and the spirit of progress dwelt in the midst thereof. The Board is going after things, bigger and better things for the village.

A committee consisting of J. T. G. Carr, W. D. Keith and E. C. Morgan was appointed to prepare a pamphlet advertising the many natural resources of Hartland and its environs, and the special advantages it holds out for industrial enterprises.

Shall Hartland be an incorporated town? A committee was appointed to investigate the pros and cons of this issue. When it touches this topic the Board of Trade is getting right down to real business.

The Board has a rich field for active service, and there are many topics that can be profitably discussed; there is opportunity for effective work. Every person who was in any way identified with the Board in its earlier days should come forward and do his share of the boosting. Let there be united interest—for "in unity there is strength."

There will be another meeting of the Board on the evening of Nov. 4, immediately after the meeting at which disposal of the gun fund will be discussed.

Every man in Hartland with red blood in his veins should be an active member of the Board of Trade.

BOYER'S ISLAND IS HAUNTED

A Hartland correspondent sends the following to the St. John Globe: "On the banks of the St. John river opposite Hartland, the Micicet band of Indians, which has been there all summer, is breaking up camp and will go to Woodstock for the winter. The aboriginals of Hartland were Indians. Stone axes and hammer, also stone spear and arrow heads have often been ploughed up—relics, it may be, of well fought fields. Years ago, according to the oldest residents, a large band of Indians camped peacefully on Boyer's Island, about two miles below town, until something horrible happened there. None of the white people know what it was, but to this day the Indians say the island is haunted, and strange, dreadful sights are seen and horrible sounds heard there at night. No Indian dare venture to-day within a good distance of Boyer's Island.

"And there are strange stories told by some of the white inhabitants. An old resident says, when a young girl, she remembers a barn standing on the haunted island, which would sometimes flame up in the night and her parents would be confident it was being consumed. In the morning the building would be standing without any sign of fire. But that was the age when a spook dwelt in every clump of bushes after dark, but somehow when the country became 'cleared,' the spooks 'cleared,' too; at least they are now seldom reported visible to the white inhabitants."

SMITH AND DERRAH WERE ACQUITTED

Woodstock, N. B., Oct. 22.—The jury in the case of Charles Smith and Stephen Derrah, charged with the murder of Fred Green at Florenceville, May 7, made an inspection of the bridge where it is alleged the crime was committed and resumed their places in the court house, where Judge Landry addressed them. He began his address at 1 o'clock and concluded at 2.

The difference between murder and man slaughter was clearly explained by His Honor. He said it was the duty of the jury to take into consideration the circumstantial evidence that had been offered, but there was no direct evidence bearing on the crime. He explained that if there appeared to be a reasonable doubt in their minds they must give the prisoners the benefit of this doubt.

The jury retired for deliberation at 2 o'clock and returned to the court room at 4 with the verdict of "Not guilty," and the two young men were immediately discharged by the judge. Both Smith and Derrah were surrounded by their friends and warmly congratulated on the outcome of the trial.

Mr. Jones, who conducted the defence very cleverly, was thanked by the young men for his efforts on their behalf.

The case has been the one topic for several days, and every session of the court has been attended by crowds, including a large number from the district in which the parties concerned lived. Smith and Derrah accompanied by several of their relatives left for their homes in the evening train.

REV. A. A. RIDEOUT GETTING PREFERMENT

Rev. A. A. Rideout, a well known Hartland boy, is chosen as the speaker at a meeting of the Boston Veteran Oddfellows Association on Nov. 1, and he also will preach in Tremont Temple on Thanksgiving.

A Dorchester, Mass., paper gives the following: On Wednesday evening the Blaney Memorial Baptist church gave a reception to their pastor Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Rideout in honor of the fifth anniversary of his pastorate. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with autumn leaves and flowers, and was filled to its capacity. An informal reception was held at which the congregation greeted the pastor and his wife. An interesting program was then carried out. Howard Savage acted as chairman and in a few well chosen words explained the purpose of the gathering. The Haydn Male Quartet delighted the audience with their well rendered selections. Miss Sarah Stahl's reading was enjoyed by all. Rev. A. A. Forshee of Berean Temple, Rev. Dr. Chaffee of the Methodist church, and William Swan of the Village church brought messages of greeting and all spoke of the esteem in which the pastor was held. Rev. Mr. Rideout, on being called on for an address, was most heartily greeted. He spoke of the work that had been done and thanked them for their hearty cooperation in all his efforts.

Refreshments were served and a social hour spent. The past five years have been marked by a steady advance along all lines of church work and the congregation look forward to greater success in the future.

Lunn-Fulton

A wedding of much social interest was celebrated at the residence of John D. Fulton, of Wicklow on Wednesday when his eldest daughter, Lima Pauline, was united in marriage to Wilbur W. Lunn, only son of Duncan Lunn of Summerfield. A large number of guests were assembled to do honor to the occasion, including relatives of the brides' family from Massachusetts. Clyde Campbell of Lowell officiated as groomsmen, the bride being attended by Gertrude Lunn. Saith Armstrong and Francis Fulton served as flower girls, one of them bearing the ring before the bride couple to present it to the clergyman at the appropriate place in the service. The bride entered the room on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march played by her sister, Hazel Fulton. She was beautifully attired in a gown of white lace over silk, the artistic arrangement of which was worthy of the bride and of the occasion. Miss Lunn as bridesmaid looked charming in pink silk with black velvet trimmings. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George A. Ross of Florenceville, the bride being given away by her father. Following the service the guests sat down to a bounteous supper provided for the occasion to which all did ample justice. The entire function was directed with dignity and harmony by Mrs. Joseph Campbell of Lowell as matron of honor. The young couple were the recipients of many useful presents from their numerous friends, given as tangible expressions of the good wishes which follow them to their new home. They will reside in Summerfield.

Mrs. White read a communication from Mrs. Bedell, secretary of the Red Cross Society for Victoria county, acknowledging the receipt of 162 pairs of socks for the Victoria county boys at Valcartier and commending the efforts made by the Grand Falls women on behalf of the soldiers. The committee reported that the box sent to the Grand Falls and New Denmark boys at Valcartier had been received and the contents much enjoyed.

THE LYRIC TO CLOSE

Jas. Hull will announce at the Lyric on Saturday night that that night's show will be the last of the movies for Hartland. He says a certain element have continually worked to injure his honest and legitimate business, and some people have boasted that they would drive him out of town.

Moving pictures are one of the greatest inventions of the age. As a means of entertainment nothing has proved so popular. The picture houses give the news of the day so plainly that those who cannot or will not read may follow the trend of the world's events. As an educator, as a means of showing something wider and bigger than the narrow confines of Hartland the picture show has been indeed useful.

"At least some place to go" is what some young people say in defence of the show. There is much in that sentence. Parents who know their sons and daughters are at the movies can feel sure that they are getting entertainment that is rigidly censored, and to see real life enacted is educative—and if a laugh is thrown in, is it awfully wicked?

In the cities the movies have stirred the enmity of the saloon-keepers because they lure their patrons from them. The movies have put practically every travelling show out of business. Of all the earth Hartland alone holds the unique record of closing up the movie house from a moral and religious standpoint. Once in a life-time we see the churches joining the saloon keepers and showmen in an endeavor to close out an enterprise that is likely to take the dimes away from them.

TO PROVIDE DRAINAGE

Ever since the flood of last February interested parties have been endeavoring to have a drain made to present a resource of the trouble. At present the railway track forms a dam and is the cause of the back-water. The company has expressed its willingness to co-operate with other authorities by placing in a culvert. It was seen that any place a culvert might be put in would mean that the water would still menace property on the river side of the track.

An appeal was made to the government through B. F. Smith, M. L. A., with the result that J. P. Feeny, government engineer, came yesterday and looked the situation over. He recommends a catch basin near the foot of Bradley hill with a two foot pipe direct to the river. He also suggests a drain from the culvert at the rear of Mrs. Grant's property to the river, and that at the head of Maple street the roadway should be crowned to prevent the water running down that thoroughfare.

The work is likely to be started this fall, and will be done by the government.

Fur Trimmed Suits

Are Quite the Vogue this Fall

The handsomest models are to be had at Richards', where an unrivalled collection of Fall Suits is now presented.

Broadcloths, Poplins, Serges and Gabardines are the favored materials, and they may be had in any of the popular shades. The darker shades of navy, brown and green are favored.

The fur trimmings are applied at collar, cuffs, bottom of jacket and in some cases at the bottom of the skirt. They give a pleasing effect of richness to the suit, particularly so because the trimmings are of high-grade furs.

Each suit is carefully tailored. The prices range from $15 to $35. Other suits from $9.50 to $27.50.

Distribution of Seed Grain and Potatoes from the Dominion Experimental Farms

— A distribution of potatoes (in 3 lb. samples) will be carried on from several of the Experimental Farms, the Central Farm at Ottawa supplying only the provinces of Ontario and Quebec. —

The destruction by fire of the cereal building at Ottawa, which contained grain-clearing machinery and a large stock of seed grain for distribution, may make it necessary to cereal the distribution to a certain extent. We shall fill as many as possible of the applications which conform to the rules; but requests received after the end of December will probably be too late. Samples cannot be sent in response to applications (no matter where received) which fail to state the needs of applicant, his experiences in crop-raising, and the character of the soil on which he intends to sow the seed.

Applications for potatoes from farmers in any other province should be addressed (postage paid) to the Superintendent of the nearest branch Experimental Farm in that province.
