Inside I went to the till while Norman went up the centre aisle and seeing three men in the back store ordered them: 'Hands up!' Johnston started to come towards Norman, who backed up, exclaiming repeatedly: 'Keep back! Keep back!' Then Norman fired. We then left the store."

peated the evidence that he gave in connection with the younger prisoner's trial. Wednesday he said that when opposite the fountain Johnston sprang at the man with the two guns. A shot was fired and Johnston collapsed. After he fell the victim exclaimed: "There goes the car." Franklin looked through the front window and saw a large auto speeding westward. He identified the two guns found in Norman Garfield's trunk as ones similar to those used on the night of the shooting.

Stanley Underhill told of the actual shooting. He said that after the man with the guns fired the first shot, he and the other man fled. "Hands up, we mean business," he said. In cross-examination, Franklin stated that the trigger of the .38-calibre gun was pulled a number of times, but the cartridges failed to explode. Ernest Utting, who also was in the store, swore that it was the trigger of the nickel-plated gun which was pulled. Utting heard a second shot fired, and heard Johnston cry: "They've got me." "Apparently you didn't see much of this, Mr. Utting," said Mr. Nesbitt. "Well, I couldn't watch two at the same time, and the store was in a commotion as to which gun snapped. A big bottle, filled to the neck with rum of the kind that soldiers at the front dreamed about, but which rarely got past the quartermaster's stores, was the star witness against a Pipe Line road resident when he was convicted in police court today of having liquor in a place other than a private residence, contrary to section 41 of the O. T. A. and fined $200 and costs. He was arrested Wednesday evening by Constable G. Monaghan, because that officer discovered the bottle in a buggy which was being driven by the prisoner claimed when he appeared in court that the liquor was his. He had bought a gallon of rum from a firm in Montreal, and after receiving it at St. James postoffice had taken it to a friend's place in this city for safekeeping. He stated that he had been in the habit of taking it home by the quart. The magistrate was extremely suspicious of this explanation. He questioned the prisoner closely about the company from which he had ordered the liquor, how it had reached London, and he wanted to know the friend's name and address where the remainder of the liquor resided.

PORTER FOR JOHNSTON FOUND GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

[By Staff Reporter.]

Woodstock, March 10.—At 1:40 this morning the jury in the Garfield case brought in a verdict against Denton Garfield, charging him with manslaughter. The case went to the jury at 10:55 a.m. and they were in court for an hour and a half. Several of the members, it is understood, were very strongly in favor of charging the prisoner with murder. When Foreman John McDonald brought the verdict, the jury was divided 11 to 1 in his favor. The situation has been somewhat complicated by the signed confession made by the prisoner, in which he declared that he had shot Denton Garfield, and that he had shot the man who killed Ben Johnston. The jury returned at 10:55. In his address to the jury, the foreman stated that Garfield, asked that his client be given the benefit of every reasonable doubt. He stated that he had been in the habit of taking it home by the quart. The magistrate was extremely suspicious of this explanation. He questioned the prisoner closely about the company from which he had ordered the liquor, how it had reached London, and he wanted to know the friend's name and address where the remainder of the liquor resided.

When Baby Complains.

THERE ARE MANY WAYS a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness.

A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry. Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Let's Think It Over.

There is such a thing as saying too much on any subject, and the "grand-stand" talker sooner or later becomes a bore. The truth is always welcomed, and the truth reiterated and confirmed is more than welcome—it reaches your innermost soul.

Fletcher's Castoria is all its advertising has claimed for it. Scrutinized by the microscope of public opinion and used for over thirty years it stands without a peer in the hearts of thoughtful, cautious, discerning Mothers. And once used, mother love—there is no substitute for mother love—will scorn to try a "substitute" or a "just-as-good."

Masquerading under many names drugs that are injurious to the tender babe have found their way into some households, but the light of experience soon casts them out. Are they cast out before it is too late?

Let's Think It Over.

There is such a thing as saying too much on any subject, and the "grand-stand" talker sooner or later becomes a bore. The truth is always welcomed, and the truth reiterated and confirmed is more than welcome—it reaches your innermost soul.

Fletcher's Castoria is all its advertising has claimed for it. Scrutinized by the microscope of public opinion and used for over thirty years it stands without a peer in the hearts of thoughtful, cautious, discerning Mothers. And once used, mother love—there is no substitute for mother love—will scorn to try a "substitute" or a "just-as-good."

Masquerading under many names drugs that are injurious to the tender babe have found their way into some households, but the light of experience soon casts them out. Are they cast out before it is too late?

NORMAN GARFIELD PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO MURDER CHARGE

peated the evidence that he gave in connection with the younger prisoner's trial. Wednesday he said that when opposite the fountain Johnston sprang at the man with the two guns. A shot was fired and Johnston collapsed. After he fell the victim exclaimed: "There goes the car." Franklin looked through the front window and saw a large auto speeding westward. He identified the two guns found in Norman Garfield's trunk as ones similar to those used on the night of the shooting.

Stanley Underhill told of the actual shooting. He said that after the man with the guns fired the first shot, he and the other man fled. "Hands up, we mean business," he said. In cross-examination, Franklin stated that the trigger of the .38-calibre gun was pulled a number of times, but the cartridges failed to explode. Ernest Utting, who also was in the store, swore that it was the trigger of the nickel-plated gun which was pulled. Utting heard a second shot fired, and heard Johnston cry: "They've got me." "Apparently you didn't see much of this, Mr. Utting," said Mr. Nesbitt. "Well, I couldn't watch two at the same time, and the store was in a commotion as to which gun snapped. Utting was the star witness against Denton Garfield when they said the nickel-plated one had. Mr. Nesbitt remarked that the trigger of the nickel-plated gun was pulled. "There is no need to comment on it," said the crown. The matter dropped there.

Magistrate Suspicious Over Prisoner's Story.

REGARDING GALLON RUM

Promises Further Investigations, As He Is Not Satisfied.

A big bottle, filled to the neck with rum of the kind that soldiers at the front dreamed about, but which rarely got past the quartermaster's stores, was the star witness against a Pipe Line road resident when he was convicted in police court today of having liquor in a place other than a private residence, contrary to section 41 of the O. T. A. and fined $200 and costs. He was arrested Wednesday evening by Constable G. Monaghan, because that officer discovered the bottle in a buggy which was being driven by the prisoner claimed when he appeared in court that the liquor was his. He had bought a gallon of rum from a firm in Montreal, and after receiving it at St. James postoffice had taken it to a friend's place in this city for safekeeping. He stated that he had been in the habit of taking it home by the quart. The magistrate was extremely suspicious of this explanation. He questioned the prisoner closely about the company from which he had ordered the liquor, how it had reached London, and he wanted to know the friend's name and address where the remainder of the liquor resided.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR NEW CHURCH HOME

King Street Presbyterians Will Delay Building Until Next Year.

Although no action will be taken for another year at least by the members of the King Street Presbyterian Church regarding the building of a new church or the remodeling of the present building, two propositions discussed at a meeting called for the purpose on Wednesday night, will be laid before the board of managers for consideration.

It was first proposed that the present building should be remodelled. It was planned that a 3-story extension should be built at the rear of and adjoining the present structure. The addition containing two large rooms, 37 feet by 19 feet each, separated by great folding doors would house the Sunday school. By moving the Sunday school to this building, the basement of the church proper would be used entirely as a gymnasium.

It was also planned that the choir loft should be enlarged and a new pipe organ installed. That new seats should be placed in the church, and that the remodeling of the present building should be remodelled. It was thought that by putting a new front in the church the appearance would be improved.

Plans drawn up showing the proposed changes were laid before the meeting by W. G. Murray, architect. He estimated that the cost of erecting a full modern Sunday school as proposed would be somewhere in the neighborhood of $15,000. It was believed that the changes to the front of the church would cost $8,400, and the organ $8,000. The whole would cost, it was estimated, at $23,000.

The other plan was that an entirely new building should be erected on a site a few blocks east of the present location. It was believed by the supporters of the present site that the value of the present site for church purposes would not warrant an expenditure of $20,000. It was estimated that a new building should be erected at a cost somewhere under $50,000.

Members of the church believe that $15,000 could be raised by the usual purposes by the end of the present year. Rev. W. R. McIntosh thought that the congregation would carry the burden of the church to carry the meeting voted that the property at Dundas and Lyle streets, owned by the church should be put up for sale. The price was set at $10,000. It was the unanimous belief of the meeting that the property was more suitable for commercial use than for a church site.

TWO CANDIDATES IN WARD FOUR CONTEST

J. M. Donahue and H. J. Childs in Aldermanic Race.

As was generally expected only two candidates were nominated last night in the ward 4 by-election to fill the vacancy on the city council caused by Ald. C. G. Moorhead's death.

Herbert James Childs, druggist, 682 Dundas street, was the one named. His nominator was George A. Burdick and his second William Charlton. He qualified.

James Walter Donahue, barrister, 552 Waterloo street, was the other nominee. He was placed in the running by Frank McKay and John M. McGuire. He has until 3 o'clock each day to do so at the city hall, March 17 and 18, if they expect to be on duty and out of the city Saturday, which is the day the ballots will be cast at the usual polling places on that date.

HEAVY LOSS BY PRICE-FIXING

TORONTO, March 9.—Establishment by the Ontario Government of warehouses in England for storage, sorting and sale of exported Ontario apples was formally advocated by W. T. R. Preston, Port Hope, today before the special committee of the Legislature appointed to deal with marketing and export of fruit products.

Extension of the powers of the committee to deal with marketing and export of fruit products, other than fruit, was asked in a resolution passed by the committee.

HAD AN ANNOYING HACKING COUGH GOT NO REST AT NIGHT.

Hacking coughs are very wearing on the system. The constant coughing disturbs the rest, and keeps the lungs and bronchial tubes in such an irritated and inflamed condition, that unless you get immediate relief the cough may become settled and serious lung trouble ensue.

There is no better remedy than Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for relieving all kinds of coughs or colds, combining as it does the lung healing virtues of the pine tree with which is combined wild cherry bark, and the soothing and healing expectorant properties of other excellent herbs and barks.

Mrs. E. J. Ross, Fenholm, Alta., writes: "About three years ago I caught a very bad cold, accompanied with a sore throat and hoarseness. I was so hoarse you could not hear me speak. I could get no rest at night with the terrible annoying, hacking cough. I tried several remedies, but they did me no good. I finally saw Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup advertised, so I got a bottle. It at once gave me relief, and after using four of them my cough had all gone. Now I always keep it in the house."

"Dr. Wood's" is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark, price 35c and 60c a bottle. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Company, Toronto, Ont.

BOARD OF EDUCATION G. W. HOFFERD IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF R. E. COUNCIL

No. 1 Committee Hands Out Ultimatum. Speakers Deplore Neglect of Family Worship—Movies in Vogue.

RUTHLESS SLASHING To Keep Down Tax Rate Is Carried Out by Councilors.

An ultimatum to the board of education to cut $100,000 from its estimates or collect its own taxes came as a climax to ruthless slashing of the proposed expenditures of other city departments by No. 1 committee of the city council last night. More than $90,000, or two mills, was struck from the figures as originally drawn up.

No salary increases in any department were allowed. The only unusual expenditure approved was that to add fifteen men to the police force.

After drastic reductions had been made in all other estimates the committee faced those of the board of education totalling $777,223, an increase of 30 per cent or $188,944 over last year and requiring a tax rate of 15 1/2 mills.

Existing legislation prevents the city council from amending the board of education estimates. Collect its Own Taxes.

"If we can't do anything with these I suggest we let the board collect its own taxes," said Mayor Little. "We have managed to reduce our estimates, but they have taken advantage of the increase in assessment and are asking a higher rate, as well. They increased salaries in the face of decrease in living costs. The assessment shows that the rate of the city is in excess of the rate of the surrounding district greatly under-assessed. We have to be careful. We have only the normal increase of assessment to come and go on, as we have reached the limit of our tax rate. The board of education can help to relieve some of the burden on the people if they use common business judgment."

Ald. Cameron Wilson said the facts should be brought before the people to show the reason for the increase in cost of the city was being run for twenty-three mills.

Ald. Edge suggested passing a motion showing that the council will make no salary increases and asking the board to reduce the rate of the city to 12 1/2 mills. "We don't have to collect their taxes for them," he said. "We might recommend that they do it themselves. The people would realize when their school rate was if they paid it separately."

The committee probably would have put the mayor's suggestion in effect, but he modified it by asking the board to effect a two-mill reduction.

At $20 the committee faced a probable tax rate of 12 1/2 mills with $1,277,527 to raise in the tax rate. By midnight that had been reduced to two mills, with $1,183,527 to be collected in taxes. With prospects of a further two-mill reduction by the board of education, the aldermen were still hopeful for a still further reduction.

Police force estimates totalled $140,475. The cost of adding fifteen men is estimated at $21,557. Mayor Little favored as large an increase as 25, while some of the aldermen wanted only seven men. It was left at 25, which would mean that the city had added only five men to each platoon and was barely sufficient for patrolling the increased area of the city since the annexation.

Purchase of a service ladder truck for the department at $13,000 to replace present horse-drawn equipment was approved, although estimates for other equipment were not. No provision was made to pay firemen for their overtime. Each man will be allowed to take one day off in seven, but their pay will be paid for it. His may work if he chooses.

Other expenditures in the fire department were estimated at $154,000. Public library estimates at $27,470 were approved. Legislation fixes a half-mill rate for this purpose.

Waterworks Figures Stand. No change was made in the waterworks figures.

Parks estimates were left in abeyance to learn whether the parks act or the London bill governs the case. The former allows a mill for parks purposes and the latter only a half-mill. Playground figures of $20,000 were not changed. A slight reduction of $1,800 was made in Victoria Hospital estimates, bringing them to $228,600.

Board of health figures, originally totalling $124,000, were cut in several places. No salary increases were recognized. No provision was made for an additional nurse, or a car, and an advertising appropriation of $500 was cut out.

Minor Reductions Made. Two new fire stations recommended by No. 2 committee were eliminated, as well as provision for their upkeep. Minor reductions were made in proposed expenditures on the market. It was decided to cancel the debture issue for the municipal fish yard, eliminating a deficit of $5,000. Several reductions were made in the estimates of No. 2 committee.

WHERE WILL HE GET IT?

With estimates for the coming fiscal year totalling over $600,000,000, it is safe to state that Finance Minister Drayton is indulging his brains for new sources of taxation.

In view of the already high average tariff, coupled with an adverse exchange rate of anything from 12 to 15 per cent, an increase in the customs duties generally would only tend to prohibit imports, and would not bring a heavier revenue.

Along the ridge in a small clearing where grain is scattered for the wild geese, the black squirrels gather, and, although self-invited, the geese fraternize very hospitably with these audacious little guests.

STOP THIS. From all parts of the province come complaints of annoyances suffered by the public at the hands of Ontario License Board operatives.

AN INTERESTING ANNOUNCEMENT. A heading in yesterday's paper reads that "Spracklin will tour Ontario" in aid of the prohibition law to be voted on in April.

EDITORIAL NOTES. It is significant that Sir Arthur Ross, former minister of agriculture, was defeated in a recent scoury into fame because they forget themselves to attack some task of difficulty, duty and danger. Some hard thing has to be done which hundreds shrink from, but which one undertakes. Even in those crowded times, when so many compete for public attention, it is possible for youth that is bold, determined, courageous and public-spirited to achieve quickly a wide renown.

There is no question that Mr. Spracklin will be a powerful force on the side of the prohibition law to be submitted to popular vote on April 18. The whole public admires a man who has the courage of his convictions and will sacrifice friendships, home life, private comfort and safety in his determination to see law and order enforced.

RONDEAU PARK. Rondeau has taken on a new charm and interest since the recent protest against the proposal of the Government to make the park self-supporting.

There is never a day in all the year when it is not lovely at Rondeau. Always the long, lovely vistas of tree-covered roadways, ever the changing waters of Lake Erie and the Eau, very often unforgettable beauties of sunset, and at all times the wonder of the animal life of the forest, and the music of wind-stirred twigs and branches, mingling with bird-songs.

Spring comes as quickly as ever she may to this place reserved for her shy moods. March may send wind-driven snowflakes, and wind sweeps of winter winds, but April waits impatiently to intrude with curtains of silver rain to wake the flowers. Over the cedars fall the soft, tangled network of twigs of wild grapevine, touched to silver in the grey mists and fitful showers, and passing clouds make shadow-pictures of light and shade in the deeper places of the wood. It is only March, but everywhere is the undelimited hint of spring urged to memory perhaps by the fronds of winter fern curled idly among the wet, brown leaves, or the plentiful patches of moss on fallen tree boles and set vividly green in the wet, low places.

Whether this last suggestion is adopted or not it appears certain that tariff revision will include an increase in the duties on the cup which inebriates. The duty on whiskey at present is $3 per proof gallon. In addition there is an excise tax of $2 a proof gallon, while the liquor is not for resale there is also a 2 per cent sales tax. The duty is on the paid value of the liquor as sold for home consumption. From Great Britain this includes an excise duty of $1 per gallon.

From all parts of the province come complaints of annoyances suffered by the public at the hands of Ontario License Board operatives. Respectable, law-abiding persons have been subjected to humiliating treatment. Some time ago this took the form of searching luggage on trains from Montreal. Popular indignation over this illegal action caused it to be stopped. Now, however, the annoyance is being repeated by searching of cellars of citizens who could not possibly be associated with unlawful traffic in liquor. Why should not the word of a respectable member of the community be sufficient when asked if he is responsible for an order of liquor that O. T. A. detectives consider bootlegging quantity. Instead his premises are invaded, his cellar inspected, and he is quizzed in a way that a decent man is bound to consider an insult. Not all the detectives are of this type. Some display excellent judgment and professional tact, but there are too many of the objectionable kind. They should be curbed or let out.

Robins have been seen at Rondeau all winter, crows the last week or so, and bluebirds have just been both seen and heard. These are the beautiful pledges of an early spring.

It is going to do for the Irish-American supporters. Mr. Frank Walsh, speaking in the name of the Irish Republic, has lost no time in calling upon our Government to protest to England against the execution of Sinn Fein leaders in Ireland in accordance with martial law. This demand is in line with the one made in Milwaukee a few days ago by President Noonan of Marquette University. He declared it to be the duty of every American citizen to "force" the administration to "recognize English by-election, the issue of which was exclusion of Canadian cattle.

From the way he squeals when caught there must be a lot of yellow in the average Red.

Rev. Mr. Ivms declares he is for "evolution not revolution." His record indicates that he considers the terms synonymous.

ONTARIO MIGHT TAKE NOTICE. (Quebec Telegraph.) In a recent article on the Scholastic system up the work of the Provincial Government for both elementary and higher education as follows: "The Hon. Mr. Taschereau is the first of our natural and practical education. He has shown his deep interest in the higher education of Quebec by wholeheartedly coming to the aid of the great cause of culture in the province; and the day of big things for the common school is also coming. The late Hon. Mr. Marchand led the way at a time when elementary education was at low ebb. Today, between grants and fees, elementary education is credited by the Government with $10,000,000—which might make Ontario take notice!"

DISABLED MEN SOON FORGOTTEN. (Edwards Moore in The New Age (London).) "At the present time," Gen. Sir Frederick Maurice is reported to have said recently, "there are more than 7,000 wounded men in hospital, and many of them have been there for three or four years. Now nobody looks at them." Forgive me, but that it should be almost universal in a nation numbering forty millions is, to say the least of it, a sign of fealty. Even if we had a thousand men with good memories the outlook would not be impossibly black. Have all the orators—there must have been thousands—who made recruiting speeches at the beginning of the war forgotten about the war already? But this particular example is only an instance of a current weakening of the memory which expresses itself in all forms of activity. It is a habit of statesmen to forget their own remedies for evils before they have been applied; and the newspapers have lost even the power of remembering that they forget. A procession of the unemployed which I saw the other day carried a banner with the words: "Wanted 1914. Forgotten 1921." This forgetfulness is a natural feeling, a pardonable weakness! Yet the New Testament does not condone the sin of the disciples who, while Jesus endured his agony in Gethsemane, went to sleep.

IRISH DEMANDS ON HARDING. (New York Times.) It is going to do for the Irish-American supporters. Mr. Frank Walsh, speaking in the name of the Irish Republic, has lost no time in calling upon our Government to protest to England against the execution of Sinn Fein leaders in Ireland in accordance with martial law. This demand is in line with the one made in Milwaukee a few days ago by President Noonan of Marquette University. He declared it to be the duty of every American citizen to "force" the administration to "recognize nize the rights of Ireland." He further asserted that this country has got to "call England to account for what she is doing in Ireland."

This issue cannot be raised too soon or met too squarely. How President Harding will meet it cannot be in the slightest doubt. Nothing in his campaign for the presidency did him more honor than his manly statement that the relations between England and Ireland were an English "domestic question," with which the United States had no right whatever to meddle. That was necessarily his declared policy as president, if he sees fit to announce it. Let the Irish-Americans press him for information, and they will get it in a form which they will not at all like. It may be wise to give it to them, and give it straight, in order to put an end, once for all, to the delusion cherished by ignorant people in Ireland, and fostered by Irish-Americans who know better, that the road to Irish independence lies through war between England and the United States.

DECLARES FARMERS MUST TAKE BROADER VIEW OF QUESTIONS

Rural Problems Discussed at Largely-Attended Meeting in Thorndale—Electricity Needed On Farms For Lighting Rather Than For More Radial Railways.

THORNDALE, March 9.—At an open meeting of the Farmers' Club held in Harding's Hall, the principal speaker of the evening was Dr. L. Wood of the Western University of London, who selected as the subject of his address "The New Era in Agriculture."

Prof. Wood, in his introductory remarks, expressed the pleasure it gave him to address a Thorndale audience, and stated that he had often heard his father-in-law, who was at one time M. P. for East Middlesex, refer to the appreciative audience he always found in Thorndale.

The speaker dealt with some phases of the tariff question by outlining its history from the adoption of the national policy about 30 years ago to the present time, showing how large industrial centres had grown up, and this had decreased the population of rural districts and increased the population of cities and towns, and hence caused congestion, which is not a good thing for the country. One of the causes of the great war was congestion in Europe.

"Need Broader View." "The National Policy to doubt had served a purpose," he said, "but we are now at the dawn of a new era, and the time has come for the farmer to get a broader view of the question. In the time of the war the farmer was urged to produce more and the country began to realize that its principal wealth lay in its natural resources, products of the farm, the mine, the forest and the lakes. The chief exports of Canada are raw materials and Canada always will be a country of raw materials and hence the supplying of markets and means of transportation for that, must receive greater attention. In regard to the tariff, why consider the manufacturer above everyone else? The farmer had been handed a few scraps, such as free binder twine, free cream separators, and a few other commodities, but he is still paying 15 per cent on some farm machinery, and 12 per cent on motors and binders.

By the lifting of the embargo on cattle the farmers, principally the Western ones, could ship their best cattle to Great Britain to be finished

INDIAN STORY BARES OLD LOVE TRAGEDY

Her Brave's Heart Pierced, Maid Joins Him in Death.

GREENVILLE, Mich., March 7.—Love, pathos, intrigue and bloodshed all figure in the early history of Greenville, where once lived a mighty tribe of Wabasha Indians. From their councils in Greenville came the law that ruled over central Michigan before the advent of the white man.

Along the banks of Manoka Lake, which once was known as Fatal Lake, they pitched their tents, reared their children and held councils of war. One of the most pitiful tragedies of their history is told in a legend, issued by C. C. Merritt, just before his death some months ago. It concerns O-ne-da-go, the chief of the tribe Manoka, his daughter, and Wa-na-dah, who came from a neighboring tribe to gain Manoka's hand.

The thought of his only daughter becoming the wife of a member of a rival tribe constantly revolved before O-ne-da-go and made him sullen and bitter. He warned Manoka several times that he would not tolerate her meeting Wa-na-dah, but his warnings fell on deaf ears.

Her trysts with Wa-na-dah continued, and one day they were started by O-ne-da-go's appearance. O-ne-da-go threatened to take Wa-na-dah's life, but was persuaded by Manoka to let him take to his canoe. While Wa-na-dah was paddling, O-ne-da-go fired an arrow at him, which pierced his heart. Manoka, outraged, made off for another canoe to join her wounded lover. When she had reached his canoe, he had succumbed, and, lifting a shout to the heavens, she plunged into the water to follow to the great beyond.

For years after, the lake was called Fatal Lake and was said to have no bottom.

'WORST IS OVER,' IS FORD'S VIEW

False Prosperity Brought by War, Shows Need For Peace.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

DETROIT, March 9.—In the opinion of Henry Ford, the business depression that has kept the world of trade in the doldrums for many months, has about passed over and from now on optimism is or should be the keynote.

In an interview this afternoon Mr. Ford declared that "Business is picking up in this part of the country, and the rest of the United States ought to be falling in line very soon."

"The worst is over," said Mr. Ford, "with the country getting back to work and people beginning to buy. It will not take long for the situation to better. Of course, it will be different from conditions before the war. There will be more measures of economy in every way, but the volume of business will continually grow."

Questioned as to possibility of quick reabsorption of the large armies of workers who were in Ford factories before recent shut-down, Mr. Ford declared that the demand would have all to do with it, but repeated his belief that the business of the country would grow naturally to absorb all unemployed in every line of business.

"I understand many men are leaving Detroit," he said. "And evidently they are going to where there are jobs. The publication of statistics as to number of unemployed in any community is often misleading, for many of the men so listed are often comfortably situated and are waiting for their old jobs. The resulting big figure of the unemployed has a depressing effect on all lines of business and sets both buyer and seller waiting for something to happen that will start things along again."

"Under present conditions every man out of a job ought to take any work he can get. He will feel better and will help get business moving again. When there is a demand for him again in his old place his record is known and then he can get back to work. It is the employer as well as workers that is the only way to get business back where it belongs. And if it brings that result it can hardly be called a loss.

"The condition which is just passing now ought to do more for workers' peace

REVIVE CURFEW TO SAVE GIRLS

Too Many On Streets At Nights, Declares the Magistrate.

ST. THOMAS, March 9.—Some of the local women organizations may appeal to the council to revive the ringing of the curfew bell as a factor towards keeping young people off the streets.

A warning was given to parents today by Magistrate Maxwell, when hearing the details of a family quarrel, that for the sake of the good name and safe conduct of many young girls from sixteen to eighteen years old they should be compelled to be within doors at a reasonable hour.

Parents allow young people, said the magistrate, to stay away from home and wander the streets apparently without restraint at all hours of the night, and through this indifference as to the whereabouts of their girls many of them are ruined. The magistrate thought it was time some interference was made to save these thoughtless young people.

MAJORITY FAVOR EMBARGO REPEAL

Guidhall Conference Resolution Asks Free Entry of Canadian Cattle.

LONDON, March 9.—(By Canadian Associated Press.)—The national conference announced by the corporation of the city of London to discuss the embargo on the importation of Canadian cattle into Great Britain was held at the Guildhall here today, and was attended by representatives of many county and city authorities and of agricultural societies.

Sir George Perley, Canadian high commissioner, wrote that Canada had always been free from pleuro-pneumonia, saying: "Indeed, we had less trouble over this than you people in Britain."

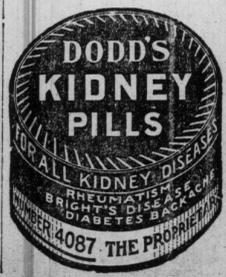

Baillie Walker of Glasgow moved a resolution in favor of the removal of restrictions, and declared that the landed and some agricultural interests were behind the embargo. "This motion was seconded by a delegate from Birmingham."

An amendment, moving that the time was inopportune for the removal of the embargo, was seconded by the Marquis of Cromartie, who said: "This is no question either of free trade or of protection." Therefore some of the audience retorted: "It is both!"

Colonel Pattinson, M.P., supported the motion, and said it would be fatal if the matter became merely an election cry.

Hon. Manning Doherty, Ontario minister of agriculture, speaking in support of the resolution, said that Canada had as fine a veterinary department as any country in the world. No country had a better health record for its herds, which were today bigger and better than ever.

A further amendment, moved by the Farmers' Union, against any attempt to repeal the embargo, was also heavily defeated, and the original resolution for removal of the embargo was carried by a large majority.

Mr. Smith (Ontario) has been protesting against the Government's policy of allowing the importation of diseased cattle from the United Kingdom. He claims that this policy is a direct threat to the health of Canadian livestock and the welfare of the Canadian people.

Does Not Agree

Dr. Michael Clark (Red Deer) has expressed his disagreement with the Government's policy of allowing the importation of diseased cattle. He believes that this policy is a direct threat to the health of Canadian livestock and the welfare of the Canadian people.

Going to England

Formerly, British cattle had been swept with disease, but it was now admitted that buyers from all countries were going to Great Britain to secure improved stock for their herds. Mr. Sutherland declared that the Ontario minister of agriculture, Mr. Manning Doherty, who could do nothing officially in the matter, was overruled by a private individual, trying to stir up trouble in labor.

Favors Emigration

Mr. Sutherland declared that Canada should encourage emigration from the mother country to the Dominion. This country needed more people who were willing to go on the land and work. If a large proportion of people who were unemployed would do this, the situation in Canada would be much improved. MAY ASK PROBE INTO RAILWAYS

OTTAWA, March 9.—An insistent demand is developing, both among Government and Opposition members, for a curtailment of the railway estimates and a reorganization of the whole Canadian National Railway system. The sum of $168,000,000 included in the estimates for 1921-22 has brought a realization of the seriousness of the situation and this, coupled with the fact that the railway problem was serious by hindering the growth and progress of Canada, may lead to a general investigation of the whole situation.

MANY OF FRANCE'S TREASURES OF ART ARE LOST FOREVER

Reparation of One Billion Francs Is Demanded by Fine Arts Ministry. NOT COVER REPAIR

Proposal To Make Germany Replace Loot With Her Own Masterpieces.

PARIS, March 9.—The Fine Arts Ministry of France has presented a bill to the reparations commission for collection from Germany, for damages done by German invaders to France's art treasures and monuments. It is estimated that the ministry says that more than 1,000,000 francs are needed to repair the German damage to these art treasures and monuments and to the story of the Teutonic invasion and of marauding and heartless scavengers will remain to be counted among the prophecies of the German historians of the future may make.

When it is remembered that the bill represented hundreds of cases of damage which money can never repair, it must be admitted that France has approached at least on one side her reconstruction work in a sense of unusual moderation.

Before the war art treasures and private collections in northern and eastern France, where the heritage of generations of artists and collectors has been found in the Louvre in Brussels or in the Luxembourg Palace—were gathered. As a result the Germans found much to the surprise of the French, who would not have to reach Paris in order to capture most of France's art treasure, and under the plea of protecting them they transported thousands of canvases, sculptures and wood carvings to the Valenciennes museum, with the intention of selling them to German bidders as soon as Germany's victory in the west was assured.

Majority Are Returned. But a majority of these art collections taken by the Germans have been returned, more or less damaged or ruined, to their original owners. The Germans, when it became doubtful to them whether they would be able to hold their western front, transferred these art treasures to Brussels, where the patriotic director of the Royal Museum of Belgium, M. Gevaert, sheltered the French art possessions, and even the Germans it was feared that they would further damage them by looting their exposed. From the Brussels cabinet, M. Gevaert personally directed their removal to the museums of Lille, Lyon, Cambrai, Douai and La Fere early in 1920. Some of the famous tapestries, four centuries old, were torn ruthlessly by German officers, who used them as coverings for windows which had been broken by shelling. Ceramics from the same museum likewise had been shattered, while playfield grey soldiers pierced the eyes of scores of famous portraits, which had since attracted art students from all over the world to Douai.

The Cambrai museum suffered more than the others from some of its art treasures, such as porcelains and pottery of the seventeenth century and several Watteau's, the finest including the "Return from a Campaign," never have been traced. The 1,000,000 franc value asked of Germany naturally, however, is not the restoration of these treasures, but will be applied to the reconstruction of the damaged buildings throughout the invaded regions.

Private Collections Raided. More than 400 edifices and statues, classified by the ministry of fine arts as public monuments, have been looted and suffered from the German invasion, some of them having been razed. Rheims alone needs 150,000 francs to restore the skeleton of the cathedral and the ancient walls of St. Remi. Arras' account reaches 130,000,000 francs if the security of her famous belfry is to be rebuilt. Aime chateaux, the most imposing of which is the Chateau de Coucy, have been looted for a sum of francs worth of five-century-old paintings and furniture, adds 300,000,000 francs to the bill, while 400,000,000 francs are needed for the monuments, including Verdun's shattered cathedral and episcopal buildings.

This bill for 1,000,000,000 francs does not take into account hundreds of private art collections which before the war made famous the homes of the best French families. In some districts there is not a single mansion which has not suffered from the ravages of German soldiers. In other districts, however, in only a few cases have the allied officials in Germany been able to trace the missing art treasures, most cases the French Government had reliable evidence regarding the identity of German residences which were responsible for the missing art treasures. In this connection the proposal is being made in France now that a general account be drawn up by art experts, and that Germany be asked to pay indemnity annuities, by sending to France at least one of her famous paintings for every art treasure looted by the German invaders during their four years' stay in France. However, not even the most optimistic Frenchman ever expects so satisfactory a solution of the problem of France's art losses.

ACTRESS CLAIMED THRONE. Just about a century ago a woman caused a furore in France by claiming to be the daughter of Philip, Duke of Orleans, and by insisting that Louis Philippe, then upon the throne, was the son of a jailer, who had been substituted for her at her birth.

This woman, best known in history by the name Marie Antoinette, was born in a small Italian town in 1772. The man whose wife she regarded as a father, until she confessed upon the deathbed that she was not his child, was a certain Chippinot, who had charge of the jail in the village. She went on the stage while she was still but a child, and quickly attracted the attention of Lord Newborough, an elderly actor, who was so taken with her that he was utterly repulsive to her, but that her parents compelled her to marry him. Marie Antoinette was only years old when she was married.

She maintained that the Duke of Orleans and his wife were in Italy when the duchess gave birth to a daughter. She said that at the same time the wife of Chippinot had a son. The duke was so eager to have made her his bride, that he induced Chippinot to exchange the babies.

It was a strange and piquant mystery, and it has been the subject of many a play and novel. The version in France and Italy. An Italian courtier, however, who could never win any recognition in France, and she died in Paris, poor and almost forgotten, in 1815.

291-CARAT SAPPHIRE STOLEN IN WARSAW DISCOVERED IN PARIS BY ITS POLISH OWNER

PARIS, March 9.—A sapphire which was lost in Warsaw in July, 1918, has been found in Paris, with this difference, that when it was lost it was one stone weighing 291 carats, and when it was found in Paris it was in half a dozen pieces, which, together, weighed only 136 carats.

The stone belonged to Count Xavier Branki, who, when the Germans entered Warsaw, slipped it into his trousers pocket for safety. It was his most precious possession, and had been handed down in his family since his grandfather bought it in 1840 in Frankfurt. It was one of the most wonderful sapphires in the world, and had been known at the Vienna exhibition in 1887 and in Paris in 1875. With it in his pocket Count Branki felt that he would always be able to live in comfort.

For a time he walked around Warsaw with his fortune thus hidden from the Germans; but he forgot the danger he ran from ordinary footpads. It was one of them, he says, who eventually got the sapphire. When he came to Paris he decided to tell the Paris police about it, and inquiries were made. A few days ago the stone was lost to a Jew in the hands of a jeweler dealer named Feuchswanger, no longer entire, but cut into a number of pieces, which had been set in necklaces and pendants.

Feuchswanger's story is that he bought the stone from a Lithuanian merchant from near Kovno for 180,000 francs, and cut it up because he recognized it. How it got into the Lithuanian's hands he did not know, and he does not inquire in these days Russian and Polish stones often change hands, and that sufficed him.

At a judicial inquiry has been opened, but how much Count Branki is being got out of the affair is very uncertain.

USES MUSTARD GAS TO DEFEAT THIEVES' PLANS

New York, March 9.—Even poison gas, and even the particularly vicious kind of poison gas to which the name of "mustard" has been applied, can be used to defeat thieves' plans.

The Cambray museum suffered more than the others from some of its art treasures, such as porcelains and pottery of the seventeenth century and several Watteau's, the finest including the "Return from a Campaign," never have been traced.

FRENCH DIPLOMATS AIM TO RECONCILE POLES AND CZECHS

Poland Must Forget Grievances to Secure Support of France.

BIG ISSUES AT STAKE Possibility of Forceful Action Against German Influence in Negotiations.

PARIS, March 9.—French diplomats are making a great effort to bring about a rapprochement between the Poles and the Czechs, whose foreign ministers, Prince Zapshe and M. Benes, are now in Paris.

As the situation stands at present the Poles and the Czechs are not on friendly terms. In fact, they are not so far as an offensive and defensive alliance, but which certainly they are to the other, to the utmost in the event of an attack by a third party, but the Czechs are on bad terms with Poland, and as a result of local squabbles in Bukovina, they are not so friendly with the Rumanians. The Poles were bitterly offended first by the Czechs' refusal to allow the passage of their troops to the Polish front during the worst period of the Bolshevik drive last summer.

So far as the French are concerned, they are friendly enough with the Poles, but have apparently not quite enough confidence in Marshal Pilsudski's military ability to support a financial help, which the Polish president requested. Czechoslovak relations were somewhat strained last year, because of the Czechs' refusal to allow the passage of their troops to the Polish front during the worst period of the Bolshevik drive last summer.

Conditional Support. The French also was modified by the attempted Communist revolution last fall, which, though abortive, was for 48 hours a good deal nearer success than any other European dream and which scared the Prague Government considerably. As the Poles at present want help from the French to fight in Poland, they feel they are in a position to bring pressure upon Poland with a view to their meeting the Czechs' request for military and even financial aid if Poland in turn will make a deal with the Czechs.

It is here that bigger issues are at stake. It is no secret that French military plans in the summer of 1919, when Germany looked like refusing to sign the peace treaty, contemplated a swift action against Germany, which would have been followed by an attack on the frontier to join hands with their Czech allies, and cut Germany into two parts. Now, in the opinion of a great many Frenchmen, the time is coming when it may again be necessary to take forceful action against Germany. But this time the Czechs are willing to co-operate. There is a reason to believe this, is one of the ulterior purposes of the present negotiations with Benes and Zapshe.

The scheme presents also definite diplomatic advantages. Even should the Czechs refuse to co-operate, French influence would be strengthened by an agreement between the Poles and the Czechs. Poland, which is in a position of obvious danger and whose existence is one of the cardinal points of French policy, would be able to stand by her in case of attack. Finally, such matters come to a show down with Germany, France would not only be able to counter her adversary in two, but have direct access to the Russian frontier.

The common argument of the opponents of the French plan toward Germany, that it would plunge the country into Bolshevism and then within six months the German army would be marching across Europe to the banks of the Rhine. This may or may not be true, but in contemplating the use of force the French must take it into consideration. The agreement they are trying to make with Czechoslovakia and Poland is, therefore, partly a measure of precaution.

Shall the importation and the bringing of intoxicating liquors into the province be forbidden? 1. Nearly all the provinces of the Dominion have voted against the sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes. 2. Five of the provinces have already applied through their legislatures for Dominion legislation prohibiting importation. Federal legislation was granted, subject to referendum. 3. Four provinces have already held such a referendum and carried prohibition of importation. 4. Ontario will vote on this question April 18. 5. Absolute control of the distribution of liquor within the province will rest with the people, if the majority vote "Yes" on April 18.

Doomed by German Junker Secret Court, Young Traitor to Reaction Shoots Himself

BERLIN, March 9.—The violent death of a young soldier, Otto Grebe, about a week ago, revealed the existence of a "secret court" within the notorious "Orgegesch," which prosecutes its victims as "traitors" and "spies" and has since then been hunted Grebe all over the world. Even Grebe's father is said to have approved the sentence and admonished his son to kill himself.

Young Grebe was not ready to obey the order unless he immediately obeyed the order. When it was discovered that Grebe still lived, he was told by the "Orgegesch" agents that he would certainly be killed unless he immediately obeyed the command to commit suicide. Grebe now saw no hope of escape, and with his last money bought a bottle of wine, drank it, and shot himself.

An investigation elicited the fact that Grebe and his father had been members of the "Orgegesch" since the war. He was connected with the Kapp coup, and was a member of the "Orgegesch" since the war. He was connected with the Kapp coup, and was a member of the "Orgegesch" since the war.
