Holocaust of Live Stock.

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—Twelve houses and a number of stables, the latter containing 100 cattle and horses, have been destroyed by fire at Brinkum, a suburb of Bremen.

The Cholera Record.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 15.—At Moscow the cholera shows signs of abatement. The official report for the whole of Russia shows a daily average of 8,601 cases and 2,[illegible] deaths from the disease.

A Jealous Shoemaker's Terrible Crime.

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—At Mirow, near Strelitz, a shoemaker named Traube murdered another shoemaker named Kloger and also slew the latter's wife and three children. Jealousy led to the fearful crime.

Returned to Port With Fire on Board

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The Canadian steamship Empress of Japan, Capt. Lee, which sailed from Yokohama Aug. 3 for Vancouver, put back to Hakodate with her cargo on fire. It was necessary to discharge her cargo before the fire could be extinguished. The damage was not extensive.

Telephoning Under the Ocean.

PARIS, Aug. 15.—The Figaro makes the important announcement that the difficulty in working the long-distance telephones under water has at length been overcome, and that it will be possible to converse as easily between Paris and New York as between Paris and Versailles. The discovery by which this great feat can be accomplished is the achievement of a Frenchman, M. Gillott, the inspector of telegraphs in this city.

Anxiety for the Safety of Prof. Arnold

LONDON, Aug. 15.—A dispatch from Berlin says that Prof. Arnold, who, with two guides, has been exploring the mountains at Roththale, has been missing for some days. It is feared that both the professor and his guides have been overwhelmed in an avalanche.

Prof. Johann Arnold is a member of the faculty of Berlin University. He and his party left Berchtesgaden to do some exploring in the Noric Alps.

Hospital for Sick Pearls.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—A pearl hospital has just been promised to London by a well-known West End jeweler, and sick pearls will there be received for treatment just as sick people are at the other hospitals. It has been found that when pearls have faded and lost their lustre their original beauty may be restored by immersing them for a time in the sea. In pursuance of this idea, a lot of old pearls belonging to the Archduchess Rainer have been sunk to the depth of 90 feet in the Atlantic, where for the past two years they have been lying in a cage dug out of the rock.

Fatal Fireworks.

NAPLES, Aug. 15.—The festival of St. Anselmo was closed at Cesa last night with fireworks in the market place. A bunch of rockets was set too near a burning wheel and was ignited. The rods were driven in all directions through the thick crowd. Six men were struck by the rods and were so badly torn and burned that they died before they could be removed. The sparks set fire to the light gowns worn by several girls, and before the fire could be extinguished four of the young women were seriously injured. In the panic many children were trampled. Seven men suffered fractures of arms or legs while they were struggling in the crowd, and some 25 or 30 women were more or less injured. The festival ended with the explosion. The rest of the fireworks were taken away by the police and the market place cleared.

Patti's Castle.

LONDON, Aug 15.—Mme. Patti is always bent on making improvements in and additions to her Welsh castle at Craig-y-nos, and is ever on the lookout for additional means of enhancing its beauty and that of the park around it. She has just given orders to have three large fountains erected, with electric light attachments, capable of coloring the water with any desired hue. The diva has also been giving an opportunity to the public of seeing another side of her artistic nature, for on Wednesday last a picture she had painted was sold by auction at a Bond street house. It is a moonlit landscape, with a large tree in the foreground and storks in the air, and may be described as a study in blues and blacks. The judgment of artists is that it is very well done. Mme. Patti is hard at work upon her autobiography.

Declining Days of the French Ex-Empress.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The ex-Empress Eugenie, who is now at her beautiful country place in Farnborough, begins to show signs of age. She is in perfect health, but her hair has become as white as snow, and she can walk only with the aid of a stick. Presently the entrance to the park are now confronted with a large board inscribed: "Trespassers will be prosecuted; these grounds are private." This notice has been found necessary, owing to the constant intrusion of strangers at times when the Empress is walking in the gardens, when she always wishes to obtain complete privacy. The public are admitted at certain hours. Only the other day some ruffians had the impudence to steal her rosary off the desk in the chapel, and flowers are repeated torn from the withered wreaths on the late Emperor's sarcophagus. The Emperor's seat and desk are now kept covered up, and the public are admitted four at a time only.

The Marquis of Ailesbury's Financial Fix.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—There was a sensation in the Court of Chancery when Lord Henry Augustus Bruce, next in inheritance to the great Savernake estate declared that he had been offered a bribe of £50,000 to consent to the sale of the estate to Lord Iveagh, the new peer, whose title is founded on the successful brewing of stout. The Marquis of Ailesbury denied that any such offer had been made to Lord Henry Augustus, and the court did not deem the allegation relevant to the issue. The motion of Lord Henry was denied, and this ends entirely the prolonged struggle on the part of the Marquis to sell, and of relatives to save, the famous seat, with its historic memories. The action was originally brought by the Marquis of Ailesbury, who asked the court to sanction a proposed sale to Lord Iveagh, of the Ailesbury estates together with the mansion house known as Savernake House, and the pleasure grounds, park and lands, for £750,000. At the present time the income is entirely absorbed in the payment of charges of maintenance and repair of the buildings and keeping up the estate generally, and in payment of interest upon mortgages and of jointures. The Marquis of Ailesbury has mortgaged his life's estate to the extent of more than £200,000, for which interest at the rate of 5 per cent. was made payable.

Great Discovery at Buckingham Palace

LONDON, Aug. 15.—A great discovery has just been made by the exalted Sir Henry Ponsonby. Sir Henry, it will be recalled, is private secretary to her Majesty, which dignified position tradition credits him with having reached through the scrupulous care he has given his personal attire and the magnificent manner in which he can bow to the floor without bending his knees. These qualities have endeared him to the Empress-Queen, and he has been intrusted with many important secret missions by his royal mistress, requiring great full-dress diplomacy. But with whatever flippancy history may touch Sir Henry's achievements in the past, it must mark the present week, as the Augustan era in the private secretary's career. In rummaging about the garret of Buckingham Palace Sir Henry discovered a bundle containing 30 wax dolls and a parchment setting forth that this incipient asylum was clothed by Victoria Regina when that lady was in her salad days, or, chronologically, in 1833. The dolls were dressed in the costumes of the various nations, which may be accepted as the wonderful foresight of her Majesty in recognizing the spread of British influence over the entire earth. The Queen is so pleased with the "find" that she has graciously ordered that each doll shall be seated on a chair or a sofa, as its dimensions suggest, and in that position photographed.

Princess Beatrice's Narrow Escape.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The palaces of the Grand Duke of Hesse-Darmstadt seem to be ominous residences for the princesses of England. It was in the old palace at Darmstadt that the little Prince Waldemar, the grandson of Queen Victoria, fell out of the window and was killed. There it was that Princess Alice, the daughter of the Queen, kissed one of her children who was suffering from fever, and caught the disease, which resulted in her death on Dec. 14, 1878—on the seventeenth anniversary of the day on which her father, the Prince Consort, died, Dec. 14, 1861. Now the young daughter of Queen Victoria has just narrowly escaped from great danger at Schloss Heiligenberg, at Jugenheim, near Darmstadt. Owing to the want of care on the part of the Princess' maid in approaching with a lighted candle too near to the mosquito net that envelopes the Princess' bedstead, the net was ignited and the bed hangings immediately caught fire. Princess Beatrice escaped in a partially dressed state, but lost her jewels and clothes in the conflagration that subsequently gutted the wing of the castle. The Princess' spouse, Prince Henry, happened to be spending the night at a shooting box in the neighboring woods, and hastened with all speed to the schloss. Two firemen were unfortunately injured in the discharge of their duty, but no lives were lost owing to the prompt and courageous action of Princess Beatrice herself, who displayed wonderful nerve, and called up the household without a moment's delay.

The Jaunty Old Man.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Mr. Gladstone, accompanied by Sir Algernon Edward West, left Carlton Gardens at noon to-day en route for Osborne House, Isle of Wight, to lay before her Majesty the names of those who will compose the Cabinet and to carry out the old custom, which requires that the statesman summoned to form a Government shall kiss the hand of the sovereign.

Notwithstanding the persistent rumors as to his physical condition, Mr. Gladstone looked remarkably sprightly. To judge by his appearance he did not look upon the journey to Osborne House in the light of a severe task; on the contrary, his every appearance indicated that it was a pleasure jaunt for him. A considerable number of persons had gathered about the doorway of the house in Carlton Gardens, and when the Liberal leader appeared, looking fresh and smiling, he was the recipient of hearty cheers. Entering his carriage he was at once driven to Waterloo station, where a small crowd, including a few notable men, were gathered to see him. Arrived at the station, Mr. Gladstone took his seat in a first-class saloon car. Here he extracted a tuberose from a small box and carefully pinned it in his buttonhole of his coat. As the train pulled out of the station the crowd cheered Mr. Gladstone, who responded by lifting his hat and bowing.

Mr. Gladstone will take the office of Privy Seal as well as that of First Lord of the Treasury. Lord Brassey will be Viceroy of Ireland.

A remarkable continuance of an inherited practice is that of migratory birds, which are said to cross the Mediterranean at a point proven to have been once the narrowest part of the sea, but which is far from being so now.

Allen Milton Browning, of Huntingdon, W. Va., is 60 years old, has been married six times and has 47 children.

All Hands Lost!

Terrible Disaster to a New Steamship.

The Thracian Breaks Away from Her Tow Boats in a Gale.

Twenty-Two Men, With the Captain and His Wife, Go Down With the Vessel.

LONDON, Aug 16.—A barge steamer named the Thracian, the building of which has just been completed at Glasgow, and which was being towed to Liverpool, has been lost off Isle of Man. The crew of seventeen men went down with her. Everything went well until last night, when the wind freshened, and in a short time was blowing a gale. The Thracian was proceeding light, and as the sea increased she pitched and rolled heavily. The strain on the towing hawsers was tremendous, and finally they parted.

By this time the sea was so high it was impossible to get the other lines from the tow boats to the steamer, and it was equally impossible for any attempt to be made to rescue those on the steamer. The gale increased in violence and the tow-boats were compelled to heave to ride the storm. The night was extremely dark, and it is not exactly known what happened aboard the Thracian. The supposition is, however, that being perfectly helpless she swung off into the trough of the sea and capsized.

It has now been learned that the crew of the Thracian numbered 22 men. The captain's wife was also on board the vessel. The six children of the captain were awaiting arrival of their parents on the landing stage at Liverpool when the news of the disaster was broken to them. They were stunned by the announcement.

A sad accident occurred at Centralia on Monday, resulting in the death of the only son of Samuel Callas, who recently came there from Iowa. He lived but a few moments.

Crysler, the perpetrator of the school teacher fraud, has been arrested and will be arraigned upon the same charge as Crysler, that of obtaining money under false pretenses. CAUSED BY CARELESSNESS.

Six Men Crushed to Death and Fifteen Terribly Injured.

COSHOCTON, Ohio, Aug. 16.—The Toledo Walhonding Valley and Ohio, a branch of the Pennsylvania system in course of construction, experienced its first mishap last evening, six miles north of here, at a point known as Richeson's gravel pit. Six persons were crushed to death and fifteen terribly injured. The accident was caused by carelessness in allowing a collision between the gravel trains.

MURDERED IN PRISON.

Fearful Crime in the State Prison of Michigan.

JACKSON, Aug. 16.—An awful murder was committed at the State Prison to-day. Wm. Cuddy, a member of the well-known contracting firm of Phillips & Cuddy, without a moment's warning, was struck several terrible blows over the head with a hammer. He sank back unconscious and died three hours later. In the meantime Henry Blackman, his murderer, a life convict, convicted years ago of killing members of his own family in a cold-blooded manner had been placed in a cell where, later on, he practically confessed the deed. His crime, not unlike those of which he was convicted, was evidently the result of murder mania. Mr. Cuddy was a brother of Detective Cuddy, Toronto.

A BIG STRIKE.

Serious Trouble Among the Buffalo Switchmen.

The Men Charged with Destroying Property—Probability of a Widespread Strike.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 15.—The striking switchmen renewed their lawless work this morning, and the burning of cars continues. There are 50 freight cars now on fire between Lancaster and Cheektowaga, and nothing can be done to save them. Everything is at a dead standstill in the Erie and Lehigh yards to-day. Upwards of 100 cars have already been burned. The strike has spread to Waverly, and will probably spread to Hornellsville and Bradford, where the switchmen are dissatisfied. An agreement with the W. N. Y. and P., on a ten-hour basis, has been made.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The strike of the switchmen and train hands on the Lehigh Valley and Erie Railroad at Buffalo may extend to the yards of the various railroads in Jersey City. The men complain they are required to work from twelve to fifteen hours a day, and they want to be paid extra for every hour they work over ten hours a day. They also want an advance in wages. There are 2,800 men employed in the Jersey City yards.

Arrangements are being made by the trades unions for a monster demonstration in this city on labor day.

BUFFALO, Aug. 16—1 a.m.—The 65th regiment has been sent to Cheektowaga to guard the Lehigh Valley and Erie yards. The 74th regiment has been sent to protect the New York Central and West Shore properties, it being feared the switchmen on those roads may go out.

LIVELY DEVELOPMENTS.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 16.—The main features of yesterday in connection with the strike of the Erie and Lehigh Valley switchmen were the desertion of Sheriff Beck's deputies; the calling out of the militia last night; the blockade which the strikers were able to create at William street, the reward, $5,000, offered by President McLeod, of the Philadelphia and Reading system, and the absence of actual violence. Acts of lawlessness there were and force was used to prevent the company from moving trains, but no attempts were made to destroy property.

BOTH SIDES CONFIDENT.

It is evident that the conductors are in negotiation with the trainmen who say they will support the switchmen if a strike is authorized. The men are confident and assert that the strike will spread and quickly bring the companies to terms. On the other hand, the officials declare that they will have matters straightened out in a few days if given proper protection by the authorities.

THE STRIKE MAY SPREAD.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 16.—It was rumored last night that all the switchmen on the Erie line in Chicago had been ordered on strike. The Erie road proper extends westward only to Marion, Ohio. "We are waiting to hear the word from Grand Master Sweeney, who is now in Buffalo," said some of the men. As soon as he speaks we quit, and so do all switchmen on lines running into Chicago. The strike may not reach Chicago for a week yet, but unless the demands of the strikers in the east are granted all the great railway lines will be tied up within ten days."

The statement of Grand Master Wilkinson that trainmen would assist switchmen if a strike were authorized is regarded as significant.

HELP FOR HOMESTEAD.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 16.—The Knights of Labor and the Central and Building Trades Council of Boston have agreed to raise $20,000 for the Homestead strikers.

AT HOMESTEAD.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 16.—Describing the state of affairs at Homestead an eye-witness says: When the men go down to the river to bathe they are accompanied by the iron and coal police, who stand guardian over them to prevent any of them from deserting the works. There is no such thing as discipline known in the works. For some reason the riots, accidents and other incidents do not appear in the newspapers. Men are leaving the works daily. The company is not increasing its force.

AVOIDING THE MILLS FOR BEER.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 16.—Burgess McLuckie, of Homestead, Pa., who, with Hugh O'Donnell, is seeking aid in this vicinity for Homestead strikers, says the present condition of affairs at the mills is frightful. There have been three riots inside the works, which the militia have been called upon to suppress. The company is running for the purpose of furnishing non-union men with beer. As a consequence fights have not been infrequent. Only a few days ago a man was sawed up by a big steel saw.

THE FIGHT AGAINST CONVICT LABOR.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 16.—All the buildings at Inman and one side of the barricade were destroyed by the miners with axes and battering rams. They did $3,000 damage and left.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 16.—A dispatch received from Coal Creek states an armed mob had been found at that place, whose destination was Oliver Springs. There were about 150 convicts there with only a handful of guards to protect them. The miners attacked the stockades, and were repulsed. Two guards were wounded. A second attack is looked for at any minute.

Big Blaze.

OURAY, Col., Aug. 16.—The entire town of Red Mountain was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. Sixty buildings were burned. Loss $275,000; insurance $150,000. Many people are homeless.

Mother and Child Drowned.

NEWMARKET, Aug. 16.—Yesterday afternoon Frank Wilson, wife and child, were returning home in Maskinonge River, on Lake Simcoe, near Jersey, from a visit to relatives, when the boat was upset, and Mrs. Wilson and child were drowned.

As an immediate result it is affirmed special measures will be taken here to organize a vast system of surveillance intended to counteract the increasing French military espionage over certain parts of the empire.

China Protests.

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—According to reliable diplomatic information received here, China has addressed strong representations to Russia protesting against the occupation of the Pamir country by the Russians as a breach of the treaty of Livadia, which fixes the boundary 100 miles north of where the Russians are encamped. The governor of Chinese Turkestan has sent troops to protect the frontier.

Lord Salisbury Wants to Know.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—In the House of Lords to-day Lord Salisbury formally announced that in consequence of the vote in the House of Commons on Mr. Asquith's "no confidence" amendment to the address in reply to the Queen's speech, the Government had tendered its resignation to the Queen, and that her Majesty had accepted it. After making the announcement Lord Salisbury asked the intentions of the incoming Ministry.

The Earl of Kimberly replied that he was sorry he was unable to give Lord Salisbury any information. The earl added that he was not yet a Minister. He could say nothing until he had consulted his colleagues. The House adjourned until Thursday.

Cholera's Ravages.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 16.—It is officially announced that cholera is disappearing in Nijni Novgorod. The number of fresh cases is daily lessening and the mortality is small. The sanitary commission has decided to close both of the floating hospitals on the Volga. The special cholera hospital will also be closed.

In Teheran, Persia, there is an alarming increase in the number of cholera cases reported daily, and the deaths average 200. A few days ago the average number of deaths was 60. All the railway and tramway traffic has stopped and the bazars have been closed. At Tabriz, capital of the Province of Azerbaijan, Northern Persia, cholera is raging with most fatal effect. The city contains about 175,000 people, and they are dying at a frightful rate.

The Silver Question.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—In an editorial on the silver question the Standard says: The day is approaching when America will discover that it is easier to become possessed of a debased form of money than to get out of it. By a lucky "fluke," or a great sacrifice, she may surmount the danger, but it is otherwise with India, and we are astonished that Indian statesmen have not sooner awakened to the necessity of checking the mischief. Whatever is done, however, we must avoid grasping at nostrums. A thorough overhaul and reduction of some charges would do more to relieve India and give her time to recuperate than all other suggested remedies. The stoppage of the coinage of silver in Indian mints would not pay Indian debts abroad, but might smash trade with the Straits Settlements, China and Japan while the adoption of a gold standard would not be beneficial, being only likely to curtail exports.

Gladstone and the Queen.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—As Mr. Gladstone was crossing the dockyard at Portsmouth on his way to the royal jetty where the royal yacht waited for him yesterday hundreds of artisans employed in the yard stopped work and followed his carriage, according him a rousing ovation.

On arrival of the yacht at East Cowes he was given a rousing reception. He entered a royal carriage which was waiting for him and rode forthwith to Osborne House. On his arrival at the palace Sir H. Ponsonby, the Queen's private secretary, received him at the entrance and conducted him to the apartments prepared for him. After Mr. Gladstone had partaken of luncheon the Queen gave him audience, and he kissed her hand in accordance with the established usage on his appointment as First Lord of the Treasury. Mr. Gladstone submitted the names of the members of the Cabinet.

The Queen's dinner guests included, besides Mr. Gladstone, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught, Princess Henry of Battenberg, and the Earl of Ducie.

Mr. Gladstone will leave Osborne House this morning.

Asquith, Home Secretary; Rt. Hon. Henry H. Fowler, President of the Local Government Board; Rt. Hon. H. Campbell-Bannerman, Secretary for War; Earl Spencer, First Lord of the Admiralty; Rt. Hon. John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland; Rt. Hon. A. J. Mundella, President of the Board of Trade; Sir Charles Russell, Attorney-General; Sir John Rigby, Solicitor-General; Rt. Hon. Alex. Asher, Solicitor-General for Scotland, and Rt. Hon. John J. D. Balfour Lord Advocate, Messrs. Brice and Askland will also have seats in the Cabinet, while the Marquis of Ripon, Earl Kimberly and Sir Geo. O. Trevelyan will undoubtedly be members.

The Earl of Aberdeen is mentioned to succeed Lord Stanley as Governor-General of Canada.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The Standard (Tory) says they fear Mr. Labouchere's prospects for office are problematical. Countess Spencer will probably be Mistress of the Robes. Mr. Asquith's leap into high office is strongly criticised.

The Morocco Unpleasantness.

TANGIER, Aug. 16.—A Moorish deputation was sent last night to urge the rebel tribesmen to surrender Hammam, the leader of the insurgents, alive or dead. If they refuse the deputation will notify them that the Sultan's troops will set fire to their villages and crops and exterminate those who rebel against his authority.

The enthusiasm manifested yesterday at various points along Mr. Gladstone's journey was repeated to-day. "Drop it into them, old man!" etc.

THE MAGISTRATE'S DOCKET.

Oliver McClary's Assailant Committed For Trial—A Liquor Seller Fined $50 and Costs—A Larceny Case Dismissed—Various Minor Cases.

Michael Tierney was arrested at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon on a charge of having stolen a silver watch and a silk handkerchief from George Griffith, of Dorchester. The two men met in a hotel near the market when Tierney thought he recognized Griffith as an old acquaintance and treated him to a drink. Griffith then went out and was followed across the market to another hotel by Tierney. Here they had another drink and then they proceeded to a barn at the rear and up into the loft. Here Tierney accused Griffith of having stolen $5 from him and proceeded to search his pockets for it. In his vest pocket the defendant found a silver watch, took it and hurried down and out on the street, followed by Griffith. The latter went to the police station and laid an information. In the meantime Tierney went to McDonald's hotel and left the watch with the bartender, asking him to keep it until he returned with Griffith, who, he said, had "done him out of $2." Detective Rider obtained the watch from the bartender. The case was ventilated at the Police Court this morning and Tierney was discharged.

Thos. G. Hammill, St. James street, had a difficulty with Oliver McClary some time ago and assaulted him by striking him on the head. Hammill was committed for trial.

Thos. Howell, who lives near the Port Stanley bridge, was charged by Hugh McLaren with keeping a vicious dog. The defendant promised to keep his dog chained up and the case was dismissed.

Edward Turner and James Allison, two young men found sleeping in a loft on the Hamilton road on Saturday night, were remanded for a week.

John Barrett was let go on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, and James Corrigan was fined $2 or ten days for the same offense.

John Delaney was let go on suspended sentence on a charge of having broken into Marcel Hoenn's barber shop and stolen a quantity of pipes, tobacco and cigars.

Richard McNeil was charged with indecent exposure, alleged to have been committed on frequent occasions in Queen's Park. His wife, who has supported him for over two years, promised to keep him out of the park, and the charge was withdrawn.

One drunk was fined $1 or seven days.

PUBLIC SCHOOL EXTENSIONS.

Need and Value of the Kindergarten.

The Road of Nature a "Royal Road to Learning."

[New York Social Economist.]

A republic whose welfare depends upon the training of the mass of its citizens cannot begin too early to look after that training. Our present public school system has done its part so well that we have courage to propose an enlargement of its provisions at both ends. The measure to be discussed here is the extension of the kindergarten system to public schools. The need and value of the kindergarten has made itself felt wherever it has been introduced. All children above a certain grade of poverty are sent to it, as a means, at once, of passing their time and leading them into much primary knowledge under the stimulous of well-devised games. The success reached by this method has already given the lie to that old and much thrummed proverb, "There is no royal road to learning," by proving that there is such a road—the road of nature, which leads to knowledge of such sort as entirely escaped those who whipped their children along the old highway of dull repetition. Now, since the Republic is deeply concerned that all its children should have the best attainable start in life, and since, as a matter of fact, those who have least at home are those who need most of the public, and since nothing can be costlier for the Republic than a large lower class of ill-taught and unresourceful citizens, would it not be wise, as a measure of mere public economy, to provide for our children in their earliest youth places for instruction adapted to tender years? In kindergartens, the public, through its teachers, would seize upon the infant mind in its first and most impressionable years of growth; would teach it order, system, cleanliness, the habit of attention—the most important of intelligen habits, and give it such an introduction to the world of knowledge as would make that world seem attractive forever after. The future citizen would be placed in a genial relation to the world of his time, and removed from the narrow, and often illiterate surroundings of his home, into a new and higher world of customs and thoughts.

So far as the child itself is concerned, the gain would be immense, and the lower its parents are in the social scale, the greater would be the child's gain. The mere removal, for a few hours daily, from squalid and overcrowded rooms to a well-aired and comfortable apartment, from the company of an overworked and irritable parent, to the supervision of a well-dressed and even-tempered teacher, would be a new stimulus to improvement. The fact that the child would be washed and brushed up to present a respectable appearance alone would act as a powerful factor towards improvement. The chance for associating with other children in interesting games and pastimes, under such oversight as would prevent any mischief from arising, would still further enhance the value of this disc pline. In such companionship, the influence of the best is sure to be stronger than that of the worst. Constant urging on the part of the teachers towards the better produces an unconscious habit of looking for the better, which is invaluable. Restraints of evil impulses, bad tempers, bad manners, bad words, low instincts, tends to cut them short before they have a chance to imbed themselves in tissue, and become constitutional.

That our present public school system is too wholly intellectual in its results is in a great measure chargeable to the fact that we do not get hold of children at a sufficiently early age; they are left to form bad habits at ages when most habits are formed and fixed, and our later education, therefore, can do but little to change the basis of character, and give the right bend to the growing twig. The infant is as wax, to be molded into any desired shape; the child of 7 is already a half-determined creature, whom one may develop but not transform. We should begin younger; we should take it in the protoplasmic stage before it is hardened to gristle. Character starts early, and we should be up betimes to start with it. Maxims and instruction can do little to change it when once confirmed; but a discipline in good habits and a training to amiable behavior at the outset, such as kindergartens furnish by the very nature of their methods, will sink deep and last long. When a child has learned to dislike being dirty or having soiled clothes, it is already on the way to much virtue. When it has learned to love knowledge about things, as the methods of such schools so generally incite it to do, it has already lifted its head above many of the lower temptations of evil. When it has learned to play with other children in a sweet-tempered and self-forgetful manner, it has already acquired the first requisites of good citizenship, and for living on good terms with fellow-creatures anywhere.

Besides all this, one should consider the escape from misery and squalor on the part of tender little creatures during several hours of the day. Moreover, the child is a world of activity, of questions, of curiosities, of aimless desires. Half the wretchedness of children is brought about by the failure of society to provide for the gratification of their impulses and requirements; and if they grow up discontented, grumbling and dismal, it is partly the result of their neglected childhood, which gave them a habit of unhappiness in their early years.

And especially is it true that by no other means could the Republic extend its influence and renovating power so easily and deeply into the families of foreigners, who are now seeking our shores in such numbers. What could be more effective and penetrating than that their nurslings should come under the influence of our native-born at once?—should be thrown where they would be sure to learn our language as natives, and our ways of thought as "to the manor born."

Here is our true field; on this measure hinges the future welfare of the Republic.

BRUCE.

The funeral of the late W. H. Ruby, who met such a tragic death last Monday night, took place Friday at Port Elgin with Masonic honors. A large number of brethren were present from Kincardine, Brussels, Paisley, Tara, Southampton, Wiarton and Hepworth lodges. The M. S. band played Webster's "Funeral March" to the cemetery. The concourse of people was very large, and deep sympathy for the afflicted family was manifested on all sides.

Miss Amy Dougall, of Windsor, was married last week to James Johnson, of Akron, Pa., son of Rev. Cameron Johnson, retired, of Windsor. Her sister, Miss Cecile Dougall, will be married Sept. 7 to James Taylor, of Montreal.

Sunday morning Mrs. John Wilson, the wife of a Windsor colored man who is known as a local desperado, went to the police station and swore out a warrant, charging her husband with brutally assaulting her. Officer Jackson, when he reached the Wilson home, found it locked and Wilson inside defying arrest. Knowing the nature of the man he had to contend with, he sent for Officer Langlois. The latter went around to the back of the house, and peering through a window saw Wilson with an axe in his hand standing behind the door that Jackson was trying to push in. Jackson managed to push the door open, and just as he entered Wilson struck at him with the axe. The officer dodged and the murderous blow hit the side of the house, burying the blade for three inches. Jackson grappled with Wilson and soon had him on the floor, but it took the officers over an hour to get him to the station.

CLEVERLY CAUGHT.

Capture of a Counterfeiting Gang by a Couple of Shrewd Detectives—The Plant Discovered and Seized.

Wallaceburg, Aug. 13.—A shrewdly-conceived and cleverly-executed plan resulted in the arrest last night of a daring gang of counterfeiters, who for the past six months have been operating extensively along the St. Clair frontier and adjacent country. The counterfeiters manufactured metal coins only, and they did their work so skillfully that they experienced little difficulty in getting rid of the stuff they turned out. Shopkeepers, hotel men and the residents of the small towns and villages in Kent, Lambton and Essex counties were the principal sufferers, for the field of operations on this side of the line chosen by the gang was in that district. They reproduced American coins of various denominations and shoved large quantities of these with all the vigor possible upon the people of the Michigan frontier. It remained for Government Detectives Rogers and Greer to discover the source of the stream of counterfeit money that was being poured into the border towns and villages and to bring the counterfeiters redhanded before the bar of justice.

Detective Rogers was instructed to make an investigation of the matter. He paid a visit to the frontier and ascertained that counterfeit money was being circulated in Courtright, Sombra, Lambton and Wallaceburg. From the information which he was able to gather he concluded that persons engaged in the business were residing in the village of Lambton, and that a man named Bill Slocum, of Wallaceburg, who had served a term in Michigan for counterfeiting, was operating in connection with them here. The suspected persons in Lambton were James Beatty, an hotel-keeper of that place, and John Downs, son of a respectable and prosperous farmer in the vicinity. Rogers returned to Toronto and found awaiting him a letter addressed to Ed. Johnston, of Parkdale, and as he had been using the name of Johnston in some other correspondence the letter was by a fortunate mistake delivered to him. Upon opening it he found that it had been written by Slocum, evidently to one of the Johnston family, who are well-known counterfeiters, and some of whom are now serving terms in penitentiary for manufacturing and circulating "green goods." To this letter the detective replied and immediately came to Wallaceburg to have an interview with Slocum. He charged Slocum with being engaged in the counterfeiting business. Slocum stoutly denied the charge, but upon the production of his letter to Ed. Johnston he weakened. Rogers then used Slocum to assist him in the capture of the manufacturers of the silver, with whom he was in league.

Beattie and Downs had prepared two sets of moulds, running three coins each, but they were not sufficiently dry for use, and therefore they were unable to keep an appointment to make the exchange. On Thursday Slocum proceeded to Lambton, which is nine miles from this place, and met George Daw, a butcher, who had charge of a shop belonging to Beatty. Daw showed him the moulds and a number of coins that had been run, which were not good enough, owing to the dampness of the moulds, for the proposed exchange.

Shortly after dark Detective Greer, who was acting the part of Ed. Johnston, and did it well, too, went to Slocum's barber shop for the purpose of making the exchange. Detective Rogers, and Constable Sutherland, of Wallaceburg, secreted themselves in the deep shadows of the trees surrounding the shop and waited. About 9:45 Beatty and Downs arrived from Lambton, as they said they would, and entered the rear of the shop. They confidingly imparted a lot of interesting information to Greer. They told him in response to his questions where they made the stuff and how they made it, and agreed to deliver to him from $300 to $400 in two weeks' time. They undertook altogether to supply him with from $3,000 to $4,000 worth of their counterfeits and invited him to go over to Lambton and see how they made them. They had just explained the process of manufacture and the method of circulating the product which they said had been going on since last spring, when Rogers, Sutherland and the newspaper man entered the room. The officers arrested the party ostensibly for gambling and conducted them to the office of Police Magistrate Macdougall.

A team of horses was procured and Rogers and Greer, drove to Lambton for the purpose of finding the moulds and materials used by the counterfeiters. Upon the arrival of the party at Daw's house, Greer knocked at the front door while Rogers stood on guard at the rear. Daw, seeing Greer made a savage blow at him, and attempted to close the door in his face. Greer grabbed him by the throat and held him until Rogers arrived. After a brief struggle they succeeded in handcuffing him. Daw was brought to Wallaceburg early this morning, and with Beatty and Downs arraigned before the magistrate. Slocum and Greer were the only witnesses called, and upon their evidence the prisoners Beatty and Downs were committed for trial at the next Lambton Assize Court in Sarnia.

Beatty, who is about 38 years of age, has a wife and family of small children. A short time ago he was in difficulties with the United States customs officers for smuggling. It was he who procured the plaster of paris used in making the counterfeits. He got it at Marine City, Mich. Downs, who is unmarried, is about 25 years of age.

GLADSTONE, ROSEBERY, THE QUEEN AND THE COUNTRY.

In accordance with the determination of Queen Victoria to keep away from London during the summer months, no matter how strong the call of duty might be, and out of respect for the ancient custom that calls for the kissing of the sovereign's hand by the statesman selected as First Lord of the Treasury, Mr. Gladstone has made a pilgrimage to the Isle of Wight. In Osborne Palace he has in secret committed to the Queen the names of the statesmen whom he has chosen to aid him in his arduous task of governing the great British nation. It would have been much more seemly if the Queen had come to London or Windsor to meet her Prime Minister, but it does not appear that the sprightly octogenarian Premier has allowed the journey to trouble him. He seems to have made the most of it as a holiday outing.

Our cablegrams give, from a source that may be partially inspired, a list of the Cabinet alleged to have been selected, but not till the House of Commons is officially apprised of the personnel of the new Administration will it be definitely known to the outside public. It seems to be settled that Lord Rosebery will be Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. This has probably been the intention all along, though Conservative politicians have striven hard to make believe that the able young Scotchman was at variance with the views which his chief entertains on foreign policy. Why this should be it is difficult to understand. Lord Rosebery will undoubtedly bring strength to the Administration. He is firm, well-informed, an able debater and witty. With such a statesman the chief mouthpiece of the new Government in the House of Lords, there may be some interest in the affairs of that unpopular body. It is not Lord Rosebery's blame that he is a member of that chamber, however. The hereditary principle of appointing legislators has no friend in the Master of Dalmeny. He has again and again said that he would much rather be a member of the House selected by the free voice of the people than hold a seat in a chamber largely made up of men who owe their presence there to an accident of birth, and who may be totally unfit and unworthy to promote laws for the welfare of the country. As that cannot be, he is in favor of the mending of the House of Lords at the earliest possible moment. The trouble is that the majority of the so-called upper chamber are dead set against any change, so fearful are they of having their privileges curtailed.

Lord Rosebery is a great favorite with Gladstone. It is at this nobleman's beautiful Scottish residence on the River Forth that the Liberal chief tarries while he campaigns in the neighboring county of Midlothian. Indeed, it is an open secret that it was Lord Rosebery who prevailed upon his chief to come north, twelve years ago, to beard the Duke of Buccleuch in his stronghold, and wrest from the eldest son of that ancient house the representation of the county in Parliament. In 1886, when speaking at Manchester, Gladstone introduced Rosebery as the "youngest member of his Cabinet," and as the "man of the future" in the Liberal party. Rosebery was then 40 years of age, so that he is still in the prime of life.

In all probability the new Foreign Secretary has no sympathy with the view, so persistently advanced, that Gladstone and his Parliamentary associates are less loyal to British interests abroad than the set of statesmen who now go into Opposition. The trouble with a good many old world politicians, as it is with some of those to be found in the colonies, is that they mistake a policy of non-interference in matters that do not concern them as a sign of weakness. It is no evidence of weakness to steadily follow up such a programme, though it may be mistaken for that when it succeeds a policy more or less made up of bluster. We have admired Gladstone because he so persistently adhered to the principle that British Governments are not formed for the purpose of meddling with affairs that do not immediately concern them, or with nations that are doing no more than Great Britain has herself done, and is doing. If Gladstone had taken the advice of his opponents, when he was last in power, he would have decreed a bloody conflict with Russia because that nation absorbed a portion of Central Asia contiguous to Afghanistan. The Conservative newspapers of England clamored for a declaration of hostilities at that time, and according to their view Gladstone would have been warranted in embroiling the land in a war the end of which no one could foresee—to accomplish what? To vindicate the view that no nation had a right to annex neighboring territory in Central Asia except Great Britain. To Gladstone's credit be it said, he refused to yield to the outcry, and he saved his country from disgrace and from the unnecessary expenditure of millions of pounds and the sacrifice of thousands of lives.

A foreign policy can be maintained in a firm and dignified manner no matter who is at the head of affairs, and in one of his recent speeches in Midlothian Mr. Gladstone ably set forth the view that while keeping faith with other governments in regard the engagements entered into by his predecessors in office, his policy had been steadily shaped to avoid war and its deplorable consequences. That is the course which the Christian, the humane, the prudent statesman will endeavor to pursue.

REV. J. G. TATE, an Englishman, who only recently obtained his naturalization papers, has been nominated by the Republicans of Nebraska as their candidate for lieutenant-governor. The Englishman, like the Canadian, climbs up, no matter where he casts his lot.

MR. BLAKE ON IRELAND AND CANADA.

Canadians are sometimes told that they have nothing to do with the home rule question in the British Parliament. To this there is one good retort—so long as we form a part of the British Empire, we are surely interested in the welfare of a portion of it so close to us as Ireland. Why, some of our jingo politicians tell us that it would be the duty of Canada to send her sons into the wilds of Central Asia, to be food for powder, if a British Premier bungled into a war with Russia or China! But Mr. Blake, in his speech at the Eighty Club gathering, very properly asserted that our interest in a proper settlement of the question of local government for Ireland is greater than many may suppose. "Canadians," he pointed out, "have a material interest in the settlement of the Irish question, the adverse feeling evoked by which had not merely deprived Canada of her fair share of Irish immigration, but had exasperated the Irish in the States against England, producing an irritation which had found vent in armed incursions, hostile dealings and unfriendly action against Canada, as part of the Queen's Dominions." There is much truth in Mr. Blake's declaration.

A LONDON cable correspondent ventures the opinion that the Queen does not like Mr. Gladstone because she believes that a considerable number of his Radical followers have a decided leaning for the republican form of government, while, as a matter of course, her Majesty has an even stronger attachment to the hereditary system of rulership. There is doubtless some truth in these surmises.

ONE MORE PROOF.

The Port Huron Times announces that Mr. John Murray, editor of the Herald of that city, has been selected as the Democratic candidate for State senator of Michigan. Mr. Murray is a Canadian by birth and education, having gone from Parkhill village to Port Huron a number of years ago. His preferment to so important a position shows how quickly Canadians make their way in a fair field, and gives the lie once more to the idea so persistently promulgated by the trade restrictionists, that Canadians are a poor, puny set, notable to hold their own on even ground with their fellows. Mr. Murray, with characteristic modesty, declines the nomination, but it is believed he will accept it if pressed upon him with unanimity.

A LONDON cablegram informs us that the division in the British House of Commons, which resulted in the upsetting of the Salisbury Government by a majority of 40, was the most remarkable on record in that assembly. Six hundred and sixty members voted. Of the missing there were two tellers on each side besides the Speaker. Two seats are practically vacant. William O'Brien has been elected twice, and the Holborn constituency is without a member, because the Conservative representative elected has been appointed a judge. A Conservative and a Liberal were absent because of illness, and paired, and one Liberal M.P. is absent in Australia. Several of the members were taken from their beds to vote. Two came in on crutches, and one member lay on an improvised bed in a private room in the House until he was assisted in to vote. There was in all this a devotion to duty or party, or to both, of a character almost unprecedented in the annals of Parliament.

WHAT ABOUT COL. DENISON?

It is the jingoistic talk of such men as Col. Denison, of Toronto, that encourages much of the retaliatory legislation in Canada and the United States.

Col. Denison is an officer of the Ontario Government. If Mr. Myers, of Orangeville was guilty of an offense incurring dismissal, because he spoke his mind, calmly and temperately as to the future of this country, should not Denison have been "fired" long ere now?

This query is submitted to Premier Mowat's respectful consideration.

THE Eighty Club, at which Hon. Edward Blake, M.P., was entertained last week, in honor of his election to the British Parliament, must be a live institution. It sent 500 of its members to talk for Liberal principles in the recent campaign; 193 contested seats, and of these 193 no fewer than 103 were victorious, and 98 of them had the great glory of winning seats from the enemy.

Mr. Gladstone is a great believer in sleep; he says that a politician should never think of State matters after getting to bed, nor just upon awaking in the morning. In the most exciting political crisis he dismisses current matters entirely from his mind every night, and does not think of them until obliged to do so.

American girls in search of foreign titles must now look to their laurels, for the Australian beauties are beginning to attract the attention of titled Englishmen. Quite a craze and a very interesting one—has come over the French gardeners. They have suddenly begun to bend all their energies to the creation of new flowers and the acclimatization of such as have never before been cultivated in France. It is white in the morning, gets pink at noon, and turns a lovely blue when the sun is setting.

London tailors prophesy the disappearance of the train with the opening of the winter season. Already the initiative has been taken in short skirts by a certain beautiful marchioness of London, whose smartest gowns for outdoor wear are now made to clear the ground. In this country, however, the efforts to force the short skirt have resulted only in insuring the persistence of the long one. The very maid who serves us will not take her Sunday out without a dip to her petticoats.

In camping out the cook, especially if he is the only one of the party who is able to fill the position, is usually the head of the crowd. He has only the cooking to attend to, while the others must fetch the water, get the wood, wash the dishes and keep the camp in good condition. If you are going camping learn to cook well, for if their digestion is interfered with, all the fellows will get out of sorts and the cook will be blamed for it. Let the food be simple and abundant, and be sure to have plenty of corn bread, mush, oatmeal and the like.

A vindication of the moral rights of married women is reported in the British newspapers. It was one of those cases of injustice and hardship against which the Married Women's Property Act was meant to serve as a protection. A fellow who had been separated from his wife came back to live with her, and on learning that she had saved £45, robbed her of the whole sum and decamped, leaving her a beggar. It took a long time to find him, but when he was at last brought to court he had his deserts, being sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment, to begin on the expiration of a term of nineteen months which he still owes the law on a ticket of leave. It is almost impossible to realize the fact that a few years ago this scroundrel would have been purely within his legal right in seizing every penny of his wife's property. The poor woman is still very much to be commiserated, for although she is in no danger of molestation from the rascal for more than three years, she is in a woeful plight through the loss of her hard-earned money. The law has done all it can for her as matters stand. There is, however, the consolation of believing that the example may not be entirely lost on other husbands who think that their wives are only their slaves—an ancient theory among old world nationalities.

ANNEXATION BY SECTIONS.

[Toronto Globe.]

The National, of Lowell, Massachusetts, says that there are no fewer than 1,009,596 French-Canadians in the United States. The States in which they are most numerous are Massachusetts 165,325, Michigan 127,000, New York 100,500, Minnesota 71,600, Illinois 70,000, Maine 52,986, Wisconsin 52,000, New Hampshire 47,682, Montana 42,000, Rhode Island 37,338. The New England States together have a French-Canadian population of 362,000. A large proportion of the most enterprising of our population are leaving us, while the remainder are kept under Tory rule, largely by the application of the worst practices of American politics. In other words, one part of the nation is, to all intents and purposes, annexed, while the other is compelled to live under institutions tainted with the worst features of American politics. Of this sort of annexation the Tory entertains no horror. What rouses his patriotic resistance is the proposal that trade between the two countries shall be free.

"German Syrup"

Here is something from Mr. Frank A. Hale, proprietor of the De Witt House, Lewiston, and the Tontine Hotel, Brunswick, Me. Hotel men meet the world as it comes and goes, and are not slow in sizing people and things up for what they are worth. He says that he has lost a father and several brothers and sisters from Pulmonary Consumption, and is himself frequently troubled with colds, and he often coughs enough to make him sick at his stomach. Whenever he has taken a cold of this kind he uses Boschee's German Syrup, and it cures him every time. Here is a man who knows the full danger of lung troubles, and would therefore be most particular as to the medicine he used. What is his opinion? Listen! "I use nothing but Boschee's German Syrup, and have advised, I presume, more than a hundred different persons to take it. They agree with me that it is the best cough syrup in the market." ©

BASEBALL.

THE ALERTS DOWN THE DAUNTLESS.

The Dauntless Baseball Club, of Toronto, are too light a team to face successfully the Alerts, of this city. Yesterday these two clubs played two games on Tecumseh Park, Kensington, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon. The first was an interesting game, the clubs apparently being pretty evenly matched. The visitors were mostly young fellows, but seemed to play pretty fair ball. They put a left-handed pitcher in the box in the morning and he succeeded in striking out six of the home team. Sheere did not pitch in his usual good style, although the visitors did not hit him very freely. The home team won by a score of 9 to 8.

The afternoon game was a walk-over for the Alerts, who won by 31 to 4. Hiscott was in the box for them and kept the Dauntless hunting for the ball. The visitors put in three pitchers, but it was of no avail. They were batted all over the field. The Toronto boys scored twenty errors in the second game, although before they started they thought of winning the game. Maxwell was struck in the stomach in the first inning by a swift ball thrown by their shortstop, and he was unable to play any longer. A 13-year-old son of James Deacon, Maple street, was struck in the face by a foul ball, but he was well cared for, there being four doctors on the field, and was soon able to be conveyed to his home. He was standing where he should not have been, and was in constant danger. Following are the scores:

LONDON DEFEATS HAMILTON.

The Hamilton and London Cricket Clubs faced each other on the latter's crease yesterday afternoon and played a two-innings game, the latter winning by five runs. For London Hyman and Harris were the only ones making over double figures for the home team, while Martin, Marshall, Southam, Fleet, Godwin and White did likewise for the visitors. But for clever bowling by the Londoners they would have met with defeat. Following is the score:

LONDON ASYLUM BEATS AYLMER.

A very interesting game of cricket was played yesterday at Aylmer between the London Asylum Cricket Club and the Aylmer team. The Aylmer captain winning the toss, elected to take the bat, but the bowling of the visitors was so well on the wicket that the home team was disposed of for a total of 80 runs, Mr. Mann making 10, Mr. Faulds a very pretty 25 and E. B. Monteith 16. The visitors were rather more fortunate in their inning, as they compiled 180 runs before the last wicket fell, Rev. Mr. Terry making a handsome 57, Dr. Beemer 45, M. A. Walker 17, Dr. Ross 10 and George Sippi 10. The Aylmer team in their second inning made 58 runs, Mr. Bishop making 17 by good free hitting and E. E. Monteith 10, not out. The bowling of the Aylmer club was excellent throughout the match. Below is the score in full:

THE TURF.

RACING AT TORONTO.

TORONTO, Aug. 15.—The summer meeting of the Woodbine Driving Club opened this afternoon, and faster trotting and pacing was accomplished than has ever been witnessed in this city. Both Blackstone and George S. James reduced the trotting record for this track, which had been held by Hattie Hawthorne, 2:23¼. In the pacing, J. K. brought down the record five seconds, doing the mile in 2:17¾. Summary:

The London Turf Association have made arrangements for the appearance of one or more pneumatic sulkies at their summer meeting on Aug. 23, 24 and 26.

In spite of the big meetings at Lansing, Chicago and Toronto the Windsor Driving Park Association have filled every one of their races and with a field of horses that guarantee a splendid week's sport.

THE KENNEL.

The Princess of Wales has consented to receive a present from a large land owner who is anxious to give her royal Highness a couple of dogs of every breed which is known in Denmark. Preparations for their reception have already begun at Sandringham, where a magnificent kennel is building for them. An order has also been given for silver collars on which the arms of the Prince and Princess of Wales are engraved.

ATHLETICS.

W. Devine, of St. Thomas, competed in the foot races in Cleveland on Saturday, and won the one and half mile handicaps, the latter, it is said, in 2:02. The prizes were a gold watch and gold breast pin.

Drs. Sargent and Fitz, of Harvard University, visited John L. Sullivan at Bay Head the other day and took measurements of his powerful dimension. They found that he was 42½ inches around the chest, 36½ around the waist, 24.8 around the thigh, 15.7 around the upper arm and 16.5 around the neck. His chest capacity is 300 cubic inches. The swiftness of his blow was measured by a new device. He sent his fist 15½ inches in less than 6-100 of a second.

With a Bang!

The Railroad Teamsters Score a Big Success.

Second Annual Picnic of the Fraternity at Queen's Park.

Superb Weather—An Immense Crowd—Excellent Programme—Keen Contests—A Good Time Generally.

The finest weather of the season yesterday served to gladden the hearts of the railway teamsters of the G. T. R., M. C. R. and C. P. R., of this city. Their second annual picnic had been announced and a good programme of sports provided by an enthusiastic committee, and all that remained to insure success was a fine day. It came, for the weather was neither too hot nor too cold, too wet nor too dry; it was perfect, and the citizens turned out en masse.

Shortly before noon the procession was organized, headed by the excellent band of No. 1 Company, Canadian Regiment of Infantry, the streets being lined with pleased onlookers. Most of the rigs were large railway trucks, tastefully decorated with evergreens and flowers, flags and bunting, banners and illuminated streamers.

The first wagon was designated the "Committee's Cab," and was followed by a C. P. R. prize wagon, drawn by four handsome horses. It was a double-decker and a dandy.

An M. C. R. wagon carried a beautiful may pole, under which sat the pretty May Queen, Miss Jessie Wicks.

A G. T. R. wagon was laden with precious freight, a bevy of sprightly Highland dancers—Misses Edith Murray, Charlotte Geary and Lizzie Robinson, and Masters Thomas May and Hugh Galbraith.

An M. C. R. wagon decorated with handsome flowers, a C. P. R. wagon bearing the motto, "Competition is the Life of Trade," and a G. T. R. wagon carrying the illumination, "Success to the Manufacturers of London," was followed by a "railway combine" C. P. R., M. C. R. and G. T. R. lorry announcing "We Are the People." Another lorry carried a merry crowd of teamsters' children.

In the procession also were wagons and carriages advertising the businesses of Messrs. J. Ferguson & Sons, furniture; T. F. Kingsmill & Co., drygoods; J. H. Chapman & Co., drygoods (very handsomely decorated delivery wagon); Empire Tea Company, teas; J. P. Cook, boots and shoes; J. Elliott & Sons, agricultural implements; R. S. Williams & Co., pianos; D. S. Perrin & Co., confectionery; — Reid, auctioneer, and others.

The butchers were represented by a couple of mounted horsemen, and the procession was marshaled by Messrs. John R. Crawford, G. T. R., and Wm. Jenkins, M. C. R.

AT QUEEN'S PARK.

On arrival at Queen's Park the procession paraded around the ring viewed by an immense crowd of admiring spectators. The number in the grand stands reminded one of the throng that filled it during the days of the Western Fair. Fully 5,000 people viewed the sports from the stands, and hundreds of others sauntered beneath the shady pines.

THE SPORTS.

The opening event on the programme of amusements was the dancing of a Scotch reel by Edith Murray, Charlotte Geary, Lizzie Robinson, Hugh Galbraith and Thomas May. They are all very young, but are excellent dancers. Miss Alice Galbraith, their efficient teacher, accompanied them, and the committee feel indebted to her for her kindness. McNulty and D. C. Regan pulled for the M. C. R., and H. Jenkins, R. Rowan, Wm. Gray, Geo. Leslie and — Harding represented the G. T. R. teamsters.

NOTES.

It was the biggest of the season.

The committee are jubilant and expect a surplus of about $200.

The draymen's and butcher boys' races were both exciting, especially the former. In it there were only two entries, and it was a neck and neck race from beginning to the finish.

A man driving a sulky collided with the fence and tore a wheel off. Had he not done so he would have run over a little girl.

In the three-legged race three pairs of contestants fell in a heap just after starting. None of them finished the race.

The gymnastic contest for the championship of London and a silver medal was a pleasing variation in the programme. There were three competitors, all of whom were members of the Y. M. C. A. Their exhibition on the horizontal bar was very creditable to such young men.

The committee of management who have been amply repaid for their trouble in promoting the welfare of the second annual outing of local railroad teamsters was composed of the following gentlemen: G. T. R., Wm. McCoomb, Wm. Michael, John Thom and Joseph Loney; C. P. R., S. Harding, Wm. McNaughton, Thos. McNabb and S. Laidlaw; M. C. R., A. Lockhard, D. Regan and Wm. Jenkins. The starters were: Messrs. Thos. A. Browne and J. W. Jones, and the judges R. W. Scott (Chatham), Alex. Stewart, Thos. Evans, J. Rattray, Jas. Hamilton, Jas. Houstoe and J. G. Jones.

The band of No. 1 Company, C. R. I., played at intervals in the ring band stand during the afternoon. The Italian harpers furnished music in the ring and Chalmers' orchestra in the dancing hall. Mr. Geo. Angus, the popular piper at the asylum, played for the prize dancers.

To nearly all men a good cigar is an invaluable companion, but a bad one is intolerable. The latter may be easily avoided by procuring a brand that is recognized by the smoking public as above reproach. The leading favorite in the race is the Highland Lassie, a 5-cent cigar, and one of the choicest makes on the market. H. Live Stock Markets.

EAST BUFFALO, N. Y.

EAST BUFFALO, Aug. 15.—Cattle—There was a fairly good market demand for fat and good steers cattle of all kinds to-day, with a better attendance of buyers than was looked for with the strike reports that have gone out, and buyers took hold more readily as a rule than was anticipated. The run was fairly liberal again this week, 230 cars coming in for sale up to the close of to-day. Good steers and especially prime heavy grades were in very light supply, and the run of medium weight good quality offerings were only fair, and the class of cattle averaged about equal with last Monday, as did the pony or light weight choice steer cattle. Choice and prime steers, 1,500 to 1,600 lbs. sold at $5 05 to $5 20; good butchers' and shippers' steers, $4 40 to $4 65; fair to medium quality fat, $3 80 to $3 95. Stockers and feeders—The demand was fair and supply light, only about 18 to 20 cars being on the market. Prices ruled at full steady last Monday's values, and about all were sold. Good to choice feeders, $2 75 to $3. Milkers and springers, very dull and slow, especially for milkers. All of 20 cars of both kinds were on sale, and a few of them held over unsold, milkers selling from $3 to $5 lower and springers $2 to $3 lower than last week, while common cows of all kinds sold fully as slow as for several weeks past. Fancy milkers, $40 to $42; fair to good, $30 to $32; springers, good choice, $40 to 42; fair $30 to $32; old cows, $12 to $15. Calves—Market fairly active, with a light supply, only about 200 head being on sale, and prices were full steady with last week's close. The best calves sold at $6 25 to $6 50, with good ones at $5 50 to $6.

Sheep and Lambs—The supply was fair today for Monday—45 cars—but mostly of the common to fair order, with an unusually light supply of anything prime. The market demand was fair for sheep and slow for lambs, with prices all of 10c to 15c lower for sheep and a strong quarter lower for lambs than last week's closing average values. A few prime lambs sold early at $6 50 to $6 60, but the feeling was weaker later in the day, and the sales could not be duplicated at noon. The best sheep sold at $5 40, with good ones at $5 to $5 25. In the commoner grades the market was very low in everything both sheep and lambs, and prices were all of 25c to 40c easier on anything below prime lambs, and 25c on sheep of the cull order.

Hogs—The market was slow to-day from the beginning. About 80 cars of sale stock were received for sale, and while there was a fair proportion of the offerings good corn hogs, there were plenty of grassers and as usual a lot of these were green. Prices ruled about steady with last week's close. A few extra heavy sold to the packers at $6 10, but they bought most of these hogs, taking in the strong weight Yorkers and medium weights at $5 9 to $6 05; York men paid $5 85 $5 90 for fair to good weight Yorkers, and $5 60 to $5 70 for the best grassers, and about the same price for light weight corn fed Yorkers; pigs ruled very slow all day, fair to good corn fed lots selling at $5 to $5 30; skip pigs and light grassy lots, $3 50 to $4 50; roughs, $4 50 to $4 75; stags, $4 to $4 75.

The British Grain Trade.

LONDON, Aug 16.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade, says: English wheats are in large supply and prices show an average fall of 6d. The existing reserves are estimated at 860,000 quarters. The weather favors the harvest. The wheat crop is now expected to reach 8,250,000 quarters, which will be about 500,000 quarters under the yield of 1891. Barley promises an average yield of better quality than usual. Oats will yield 10 per cent. below the average.

The Sheep Trade.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—Our sheep trade with Great Britain has been a failure this season. Shippers have made heavy losses, and are now dropping out of the market altogether, so that the season is practically over. Shipments to date are 14,763 sheep, against 25,739 for the same period.

British Cattle Trade.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Trade at the Islington market yesterday was dull in Canadian cattle. Last week's rates were barely maintained. The top price of cheese in Liverpool is 47s.

Of Donnelly Murder Fame.

Detective Allen took a trip to Biddulph this morning and returned with John Kennedy as a prisoner. The charge against Kennedy is that on Monday he threatened and attempted to murder Michael O'Meara. It is alleged that while O'Meara was driving a binder Kennedy made a rush at him with a pitchfork and had he not jumped in an instant from the machine he would likely have been killed. Kennedy is a tall, powerful-looking man, apparently about 45 years of age. At the time of the famous Donnelly murders at Biddulph he was detained in jail for nearly a year in connection with the affair.

Manning-Lynam.

The other evening the Colborne Street Methodist Church was the scene of a very bright and joyous event, the occasion being the marriage of Miss Ella Lynam, a popular young lady, to Mr. W. R. Manning, of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. Smith in the presence of a very large gathering of friends. The bride looked charming in a dainty dress of white mousselein crepe, and was crowned with orange blossoms. She was well supported by Miss Orchard, of Petrolea, cousin of the bride, and Miss Mattie Manning, of London, sister of the groom. The groom was assisted by Mr. C. Manness, of this city. The bridal party left the church over a thickly strewn avenue of flowers, torches and amid a shower of rice, and, adjourning to the residence of Mr. J. M. Burton, partook of a recherche supper. The wedding presents were numerous and beautiful, including one of Bell & Co.'s best seven octave organs in rosewood case, from the groom. The happy couple took the evening train for Niagara Falls and other points east amid the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

Adam Graeme, of Mossgray.

By Mrs. Oliphant.

"For myself, said Lilias, with some tremor in her voice, "because I would fain have you believe, Mossgray, that it is your own tenderness I prize, and not any gift—not any inheritance."

"I believe it already, Lilias—I need no proof."

"And besides," continued Lilias, "for everybody—all our neighbors—'the hard water,' Mossgray. I must vindicate myself. I cannot have these good people think ill of me. They know you have given me everything I have; but they must not fancy that I grasp at all."

"Hush, Lilias," said the old man, "I cannot hear this. Well, I permit your own pride; it becomes you well enough; and now for me."

"And for you, Mossgray," said Lilias. "I am jealous that any one should have cause to say that in your life you dealt unjustly—that you alienated his inheritance from one of your own blood because your kind heart had compassion on a stranger. I could not hear this said. For the very name's sake which you say I am to bear, I would shrink from such a reproach as this."

"It is unjust," said the old man. "I almost believe you, Lilias; but suppose that I knew, and were sure, that far greater dishonor would come to the name, if Halbert Graeme inherited Mossgray, than could fall upon me for disowning him—what then? Would you still advise me to bestow all I have upon the son of a treacherous, false man?"

"I do not know him," said Lilias; "if he does otherwise than well, I am grieved for himself; but it has no effect upon me—it does not alter the right and the wrong; and you, Mossgray, who have never done injustice!"

"How have you heard, Lilias, of Halbert Graeme?" said the old man. "Did you ever meet him in your wanderings that you plead his cause so warmly?"

"No—oh, no. I have only heard of him, principally here at home, where they cannot forget that he is a son of the house," said Lilias; "and some one has brought them word that he is good and generous, and worthy to be your successor. Will you not see with your own eyes whether it is so?"

"You are a Quixote, Lilias," said Mossgray, "you have the epidemic generosity of youth upon you just now. When you are old, you will be wiser, perhaps—who can tell?—than to throw away your own prospects for the sake of a stranger whom you never saw."

"I do not know that it is well to be so wise," said Lilias; "and I shall not learn from you, Mossgray."

"In this point I cannot answer for myself," said the old man. "I have had an experience bitterer than usual; but let us not speak of that; we have had enough of Halbert Graeme. Who are to be your guests, Lilias, in our first essay of hospitality? have you determined?"

"I specially beg an invitation for only one," said Lilias, "and perhaps I do ill to ask that—but—I remember what it is to be poor and alone."

"And who is your one guest?" said Mossgray.

"It is Helen Buchanan; you have seen her, Mossgray; she is only a humble teacher in Fendie; but she is—"

"I know her," said the courteous Adam Graeme, to whom the word gentlewoman was, as to Hope Oswald, the highest of feminine titles. "Why should you hesitate to invite her, Lilias?"

"Because," said Lilias, with a smile, "the young ladies, the young landed ladies, Mossgray, may think her not good enough to meet them; but I made a promise to Hope Oswald to do what I could to honor Helen in the presence of Hope's father."

"So Hope begins to scheme," said Mossgray, smiling; "and the cause, Lilias?"

"I think it has some connection with Mr. William Oswald; indeed, Mr. Oswald almost told me that his father's very stern resolution alone prevents—"

"I understand," said the old man, as Lilias hesitated and blushed with a not unnatural sympathy. "Her father's resolution—ooh! his father will break it."

"Do you think so, Mossgray?"

"I begin to think, Lilias," said Mossgray, turning to leave the room, "that resolutions are made only to be broken. May it fare with Mr. Oswald as it has done with me; but remember," and the old man looked back from the door with some humor in his face, "I do not mean in the matter of Halbert Graeme."

He did not mean it—he was still resolved; and yet when he returned to his study, it was to look long at the declining sunset as it gilded the ancient carvings of Charlie's chair, and to think gently of the dead. A certain poetic, half-superstitous feeling, which became him well, hindered him from restoring to his original position the old seat of Charlie Graeme. He suffered the sunshine to dwell upon it like a reconciling smile.

CHAPTER XIII.

Marry, he hath a proper person, a brain indifferently well garnished; comes of a good lineage; hath a bold spirit; poor, I deny not; but what doth your young gallant propose to himself, I pray you, but to try a wrestle and a fall with Fortune!—[Old Play

On the same evening the Edinburgh coach, when it arrived at the door of the George Inn, at Fendie, deposited there a young adventurer fresh from the far North. He had been traveling on the outside of the coach, and was benumbed with cold, though his face glowed from contact with the wind. A small portmanteau was the extent of his luggage, and beyond that his worldly possessions were of the smallest; good looks, good blood, an honest heart, a happy temper, and five one pound notes in the end of a blue silken purse—he had nothing more.

It was no great amount of capital with which to begin the arduous struggle of life; and upon his glowing healthful face there sat a little anxiety, which was not by any means care. He had one special and particular aim in this journey, but if it failed, how many means of success yet offered themselves to the young, hopeful, ingenuous spirit, with the world lying all before him, where to choose.

The stranger hastily entered the inn and ordered some very simple refreshments. It was his first considerable journey, and the youth was not without the natural shyness which attends those who have passed all their lives in the quietness of one domestic circle. When he had discussed the inexpensive meal placed before him, and thoroughly thawed himself before the fire, and resolved one of his pound notes into shillings by the payment of his bill, the young man, much to the surprise of the waiter at the George, began to button his great coat once more.

"Do you know," he inquired, "how far it is to Mossgray? there is a place called Mossgray in the neighborhood, is there not?"

The waiter answered readily in the affirmative, with the addition that it was "maybes a mile," and an inquiry if the gentleman would want a conveyance.

The gentleman thought he would not—a mile was no great distance—and requested his attendant to direct him how to go.

The waiter, encouraged by seeing the portmateau left behind, graciously complied. The youth's appearance was frank and prepossessing, and the waiter at the George was a good-humored fellow, so he extended his courtesy so far as to look out upon the idlers round the door—it was the evening of the market-day—and ask,

"Is there ony o' you gaun the road to Mossgray?"

John Brown, Mrs. Fendie's factotum, was within hearing. He had been down making durchases at the market, and now, with his light cart moderately well filled, was about starting home. On hearing this question, he responded briskly—

"Ay, I'm gaun to the Mount—wha's speiring?"

"Is't you, John Brown?" said the waiter; "there's a gentleman here, a stranger, that disna ken the road. He's gaun to Mossgray."

"If he's a decent lad," said the authoritative John, "I'll gie him a hurl if he likes; and if he's no a decent lad, or if he's ower proud to ride in a cart, if he can keep up wi' the pawny, I'll let him see the road."

The stranger laughed, and having, as it seemed, no particular scruples of pride, sprung lightly up on the front af John's cart, and thanked him for the promised "hurl." It was a very frosty, chill night; John somewhat gruffly threw one of the rough home-made plaids, of which he had been making a cushion for himself, over the knees of the new-comer.

"Ye'll ken the Laird?" said John, as they emerged out of the Main Street.

"No—at least I have never seen him," said the young man.

John uttered a discontented "humph," and changed his tactics.

"It's a mair inviting place noo than it used to be, for young folk."

DRINK'S DREADFUL WORK.

Sad End of a Once-Handsome and Clever Actress.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Theater-goers of a score of years ago remember a handsome and frolicsome variety actress who, under the stage name "Vickie Lewis," was one of the most popular of the Vaudeville actresses of those days. She has just died at St. Vincent's Hospital, and will be buried in the plot of the actors' fund at Evergreen Cemetery. Mrs. Annie Rounds was the real name of the actress. Several years ago, her husband became insane, and was sent to Ward's Island, where he now is. The once popular actress became a drunkard. With declining powers her engagements grew less and less frequent, until they ceased altogeter. Her habits grew worse and worse until she ceased to be able to obtain employment. Then the once-handsome actress, now bloated and dissipated, took to selling newspapers, in order that she might earn the money with which to eke out a living and buy herself rum. The newsboys soon came to know her. They dubbed her "Roundsey." She was taken ill two weeks ago, with dropsy. On Wednesday she was removed to the hospital, and on the following day she died.

That Tired Feeling.

Is often the forerunner of serious illness, which may be broken up if a good tonic like Hood's Sarsaparilla is taken in season. This medicine invigorates the kidneys and liver to remove the waste from the system, purifies the blood and builds up the strength.

Constipation is caused by loss of the peristaltic action of the bowels. Hood's Pills restore this action and invigorate the liver.

The water clock was known in Rome B. C. 158. Dial clocks were first put up in A. D. 913; striking clocks were Saracenic, about 801; pendulum clocks were invented in 1641; repeating clocks in 1676.

"Elocute," "orate," "enthuse," "anniversers," "philanthrop" and "revolute" are some of the newspaper verbs now apparently fully adopted into the American language.

There are $1,300,000,000 invested in church property in the United States.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC.

Albertini, the Cuban violinist, will give a season of concerts in this country, beginning about the middle of November.

Emma Juch will soon leave for Europe to be absent for three years. She will first be heard in London, where she will sing in oratorio and concert as well as opera.

Spiders are wonderfully fond of the music made by stringed instruments. It is not because they enjoy melody, but simply for the reason that the sounds to their ears resemble the buzzing of captive bees.

A rich manufacturer in Leeds has lately given evidence of an eccentricity, which many people would undoubtedly like to see more frequently repeated. He was passionately devoted to music, and in his will he left instructions that the moment the grave closed over his remains, Beethoven's Eroica Symphony should be played at the graveside by a full orchestra.

FUN, FACTS AND FICTION.

The misfortunes hardest to bear are those that never come.

Childhood may do without a great purpose, but manhood cannot.

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, earache, bruises, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

Church bells were made by Paulinus, an Italian bishop, to drive away demons, about 400 A.D.

Worms cause feverishness, moaning and restlessness during sleep. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is pleasant, sure and effectual. If your druggist has none in stock, get him to procure it for you.

More United States vessels visit the Mexican ports than those of all other nations combined.

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills as they are extremely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

The original Bell telephone patent expires in March, 1893.

It takes a particularly smooth man to work another smooth man.

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is without doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dysentery, diarrhœa, cholera and all summer complaints, sea sickness, etc. It promptly gives relief and never fails to effect a positive cure. Mothers should never be without a bottle when their children are teething.

It is generally agreed among naturalists that the tortoise is the longest-lived of all animals.

Mr. Job Scales, of Toronto, writes: "A short time ago I was suffering from Kidney Complaint and Dyspepsia, sour stomach and lame back; in fact, I was completely prostrated and suffering intense pain. While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrup and Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude."

In the desert areas of Chile, the wild strawberry thrives in the most luxuriant manner.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband; but if she is weak and nervous, and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they will make her "feel like a different person," at least so they all say, and their husbands say so, too.

Somehow it is awfully hard to believe that a hero can be made of the man next door.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—He is almost destitute, neighbors say,
And lives on what charity throws him;
He is waiting until the world shall pay
The living he thinks it owes him.

—Out of sympathy, for Mr. George Reid and family the flags on the tents at Port Stanley are flying at half mast.

—Water Commissioner Davis will soon be on deck again. He has nearly recovered from his recent severe illness, and was out for a drive yesterday. This will be welcome news to his many friends.

Western Provincial appointments are announced as follows: Joseph Jackson, Simcoe, sheriff for the county of Norfolk; Thomas Dalziel Cowper and James E. Morin, Welland, commissioners for the county of Welland.

—Rev. A. Miller and wife of Inverness, Scotland, are in the city. They had intended going to Australia with a view of taking up their residence there, but as they are delighted with London they may make their abode here. The reverend gentleman preached acceptably in St. James' Presbyterian Church Sunday evening.

—The body of Mr. George M. Reid's little girl, who met with a fatal accident at Port Stanley on Saturday, was brought to her grandfather's residence on King street yesterday. It is likely that the funeral will be delayed till the return of Mrs. Reid, who has been summoned home from Halifax, N. S.

—A highly esteemed resident of the city passed away last night after a brief illness in the person of Mrs. Catharine, wife of Mr. Robert Bredin, of the G. T. R., aged 66 years. Deceased had been at London visiting her daughter, and last Saturday had a bilious attack, on account of which she returned home. This with heart failure was the cause of her death. She leaves besides her husband a son and two daughters—Mr. Robert Charles Bredin, engineer G. T. R., of London; Mrs. Z. Rowland, of this city, and Mrs. Scarrow, wife of Ald. M. Scarrow, of London.—[Saturday's Times, St. Thomas.

In Harness Again.

Rev. Mr. Roger, of the East London Presbyterian Church, has returned from a pleasant and profitable holiday trip to Peterboro and Stoney Lake. The reverend gentleman was one of a camping party at the last-named place. He occupied his own pulpit last Sunday, and in addition gave an interesting address at a temperance meeting in Queen's Park in the afternoon.

Important to Sportsmen.

Sportsmen will be interested in noting that at the last session of the Ontario Legislature an amendment to the Ontario Game Act was passed forbidding the shooting of woodcock until Sept. 14, the close season having been extended. Under the old law it was permissible to pop them off on and after Aug. 15, but those who attempted to do that this year will only succeed in getting themselves in trouble. The amendment made last session also provided that with the exception of ducks, which may be shot on Sept. 1, no other game bird can be killed until Sept. 15.

The Sons of England Excursion.

Over 300 delighted citizens patronized the Sons of England excursion to Niagara Falls and Buffalo via the Michigan Central yesterday. Probably the handsomest train of coaches ever placed at the disposal of an excursion out of London was put on, and a remarkable run was made. The train pulled out of London depot at 7:25 and arrived at Niagara Falls at 10:07. The excursionists and the committee of management are loud in their praises of Assistant Superintendent Macdonald and Canadian Passenger Agent John G. Laven, as well as Local Agent Paul for courtesies.

The Civic Holiday.

The city proper was almost deserted yesterday. Cheap fares on all railroads were inducements which carried hundreds away to outside points. The Sons of England and Ancient Order Foresters' excursions to Niagara Falls via the M. C. R. and G. T. R. respectively were well patronized, and a special rate to Sarnia caused many to pay a flying visit to that town. But Port Stanley got the lion's share, as it generally does. The regular and excursion trains were long and well filled, and between 3,000 and 4,000 souls enjoyed themselves on the breezy heights, where nothing occurred to mar the day's enjoyments.

Annual Retreat at Mount Hope.

The annual retreat of the Sisters of St. Joseph, Mount Hope, was brought to a close yesterday morning by a very imposing ceremony, four members of the community taking their final vows and three young ladies receiving the habit of the congregation. Their names are: Miss E. Halford, who took the name of Sister M. Bertha; Miss M. Halford, Sister M. Vincent, and Miss S. Joly, Sister M. Rosalie. The mass was celebrated and the ceremony performed by Bishop O'Connor, assisted by Rev. Fathers Gahan, Tiernan and Noonan, Rev. Fathers McCormick and Craven (Hamilton) in the sanctuary. The sermon was preached by Rev. M. Ferguson, who has conducted the exercises of the retreat during the past eight days. A large number of the friends of those engaged in the ceremony were present, and were afterwards breakfasted sumptuously in one of the spacious parlors of the convent, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

THE WEATHER.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 15—11 p.m.—The pressure to-night is highest over the lake region and lowest over our Canadian Northwest Territories and the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Rain has fallen to-day in Eastern Nova Scotia, and numerous thunder storms have occurred in the Northwest while in other parts of the Dominion the weather has been fine.

Minimum and maximum temperatures: Victoria, 52°—70°; Calgary, 44°—78°; Medicine Hat, 54°—84°; Toronto, 58°—77°; Montreal, 58°—78°; Quebec, 56°—74°; Halifax, 62°—74°.

TO-DAY'S PROBABILITIES.

TORONTO, Aug. 16—1 a.m.—The indications for the next 24 hours for the lower lakes region (covering the peninsula and as far east as Belleville) are: Moderate winds; fine, warm weather.

THE BERLIN BURGLARY.

No New Developments in the Case—Two Narrow Escapes.

A Berlin special to the ADVERTISER says there are no new developments as yet in the burglary case. A man giving his name as Hugh White was arrested Saturday afternoon at Galt, charged with an attempt to shoot C. Cress, of the North American Hotel, Preston, the same morning. He is said to be one of the parties wanted in connection with the Berlin burglary, and after his trial on the Cress charge will be brought here to face the other. Mr. Moses Erb, the old gentleman assaulted by the ruffians is able to be about, and he and Mrs. Erb were out taking an airing this afternoon in a conveyance. He appears to have been more frightened than hurt.

CLOTHES WASHING CONTEST.

A Novel Attraction at the Church Picnic of a Maryland Congregation.

WESTMINSTER, Md., Aug. 15.—The picnic of Mount Olive M. E. Church, colored, last night, in a grove adjoining the church, was enlivened by a clothes washing bout. Thirty colored women participated. Fires were built and kettles put on after a dinner in the grove.

A procession, led by a brass band, was formed, comprised of the women who proposed to take part in the clothes cleansing competition. They marched to the place where the kettles were boiling, and where a long row of washtubs stood ready.

Then the band struck up a quickstep, and the busy hands of the women kept time to the music with a rapid rub-a-dub, while their feet involuntarily assumed the motions of dancing. When the clothes were washed and hung upon lines to dry the women and spectators repaired to the church, where addresses were delivered by the pastor and others. The ironing followed, and the festivities were kept up till midnight. A committee will report later as to who is the best washer.

THE STOLID CHINESE.

He is Able to Sleep and Work in One Position.

"It seems to make no particular difference to a Chinese how long he remains in one position. He will write all day like an automaton. If he is a handicraftsman he will stand in one place from dewy morn till dusky eve, working away at his weaving, his gold beating, or whatever it may be, and do it every day, without any variation in the monotony and apparently no special consciousness that there is any monotony to be varied.

"In the same way Chinese school children are subjected to an amount of confinement, unrelieved by any recesses or change of work, which would soon drive western pupils to the verge of insanity. The very infants in arms, instead of squirming and wriggling as our children begin to do as soon as they are born, lie as impassive as so many mud gods. And at a more advanced age, when western children would vie with the monkey in its wildest antics, Chinese children will often stand, sit or squat in the same posture for a great length of time.

"In the item of sleep the Chinese establishes the same difference between himself and the occidental as in the directions already specified. Generally speaking, he is able to sleep anywhere. None of the trifling disturbances which drive us to despair annoy him. With a brick for a pillow he can lie down on his bed of stalks, of mud bricks or rattan, and sleep the sleep of the just, with no reference to the rest of creation. He does not want his room darkened, nor does he require others to be still. The 'infant crying in the night' may continue crying for all he cares, for it does not disturb him.

"In some regions the entire population seem to fall asleep, as by common instinct (like that of the hibernating bear), during the first two hours of summer afternoons, and they do this with regularity, no matter where they may be. At two hours after noon the universe at such seasons is as still as two hours after midnight. In the case of most working people at least and also in that of many others, position in sleep is of no sort of consequence. It would be easy to raise in China an army of 1,000,000—nay, of 10,000,000—tested by competitive examination as to their capacity to go to sleep across three wheelbarrows with head downward like a spider, their mouths wide open and a fly inside.

"The same freedom from tyranny of nerves is exhibited in the Chinese endurance of physical pain. Those who have any acquaintance with the operations in hospitals in China know how common or rather how almost universal it is for the patients to bear without flinching a degree of pain from which the stoutest of us would shrink in terror.

"It would be easy to expand this topic alone into an essay, but we must pass it by, merely calling attention to a remark of George Eliot, in one of her letters. 'The highest calling and election,' she says—irritated no doubt by theological formulas, for which she had no taste—'is to do without opium, and to bear pain with clear-eyed endurance.' If she is right there can be little doubt that most Chinese, at least, have made their calling and election sure."—[Melbourne Leader.

Occupations of Insects, Birds, Etc.

The marmot, so naturalists say, is a civil engineer; he not only builds houses, but constructs aqueducts and drains to keep them dry. The white ants maintain a regular army of soldiers. The East India ants are horticulturists; they make mushroom, upon which they feed their young. Wasps are paper manufacturers. Caterpillars are silkspinners. The bird "ploceus textor" is a weaver; he weaves a web to make his nest. The prima is a tailor; he sews the leaves together to make his nest. The squirrel is a ferryman; with a chip or a piece of bark for a boat, and his tail for a sail, he crosses the stream. Dogs, wolves, jackals and many others are hunters.

The black bear and heron are fishermen. The ants are regular day-laborers. The monkey is a rope dancer. The association of beavers presents us with a model of republicanism. The bees live under a monarchy. The Indian antelopes furnish an example of patriarchial government.

Bees are geometricians; their cells are so constructed as, with least quantity of material, to have the largest-sized spaces and the least possible loss of interstice. So also is the ant-lion; his funnel-shaped trap is exactly correct in its conformation, as if it had been made by the skillful artists of our species, with the aid of the best instruments. The mole is a meteorologist. The bird called the lime-killer is an arithmetician, so also is the crow, the wild turkey and some other birds. The torpedo, the ray and the electric eel are electricians.

Fire Hazard.

Prof. Charles B. Gibson, of Chicago, in his special report to the insurance companies on the "Hazard of Steam Pipes" and upon "Coverings for Steam Pipes," says: "All organic matter, such as hair felt, becomes more or less charred by constant contact with hot steam pipes, even though the temperature be but a little above the boiling point of water; and by steam of 300° F. and above, so thoroughly scorched after a time as to become very fragile and to crumble away rapidly. It is noticeable that the dust formed from this charred material is very combustible and will flash like gunpowder when thrown into the fire. When steam of high temperature is used it is by far the safest to employ a covering wholly incombustible."

WHY NOT?

You have corns, warts, bunions, moles or cancers? Why are they not cured? You ask a reasonable question. It demands a candid answer. You have it here: You bought a corn cure. You thought you had Barkwell's, but it was not the genuine: you got a counterfeit. It was no more use than water. We missed the sale of what you wanted. So far, it is your money gone; our money is gone too. You get another and think it is the genuine. You have made a mistake and we are in disgrace. More of your money's gone; more of our money is gone. Your corns are no better; our reputation no better. You make up your mind they cannot be cured. We have lost a customer. You have got hold of the wrong end of the fact. You have got hold of the wrong bottle. Both our moneys are gone. Not only our moneys are gone but our opinions of one another are wrong. We don't know you by sight or name. You don't know us. We think "how dull you are to get an imitation when you might as well get Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure." And you think "what fools the manufacturers of that corn cure are to cheat so." Let's get acquainted with Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure. Let's get acquainted with one another. The manufacturer is not the unhandsome name you call him by. And you can't help it. Come on. Nobody deals more handsomely. Nobody ever loses a cent by getting Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure, but they always lose a corn. We never had any trouble except by these infernal counterfeiters. Neither do you with Barkwell's Sure Corn Cure. y

DO YOU SLEEP?

If Not You Are In Danger.

Sir Philip Sydney calls sleep, "the poor man's wealth," and he might have added, it is every man's health. Men have often, according to their own notions, attempted to limit or extend the hours of sleep. The error into which these have fallen arises not only from the fact that in this, as well as in other things, every man is a law to himself, but from the varying amount of renovation required by the nervous and muscular systems. John Wesley, the distinguished founder of Methodism, who attained the age of 88, and who could command sleep on horseback, says very properly, in some curious remarks which he has left upon sleep, that no one measure will do for all, nor will the same amount of sleep suffice for the same person at all times.

There are thousands of men and women in the age of hurry, worry and excitement, who are prevented from enjoying the blessings of sleep. They retire at night and rise in the morning unrefreshed and unrested. They cannot possibly sleep owing to their condition. They are nervous, excited and disquieted. The nervous system is disordered and disorganized; the brain is confused and does not act properly. They are in a terribly dangerous condition—so critical that a week may bring on insanity.

These sufferers require a true nerve food—an agent that can strengthen nerves and body, and at the same time invigorate and clear the mind and brain. This nerve food is found in Paine's Celery Compound; no other agent can meet the necessities of such urgent cases. Paine's Celery Compound is specially recommended to all who suffer from sleeplessness and excitability. It produces calmness, tranquility and ease of mind, and gives tired and worn out nature a chance to rest and recuperate. It braces up the constitution, gives strength to the digestive organs and tones up the whole system. Try Paine's Celery Compound, reader, if you are a victim of disease brought on by insomnia.

People who always wait for orders before moving are good subordinates, but they never become leaders.

Isaac Leadbetter, of Pulpit Harbor, Me., lost nearly 6,000 lobsters lately that he had confined in a pond, by a quantity of fresh water flowing into it and killing them.

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it has done once it will do again.

Mr. J. R. Allen, upholsterer, Toronto sends us the following: "For six or seven years my wife suffered with Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Inward Piles and Kidney Complaint. We tried two physicians and any number of medicines without getting any relief, until we got a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. This was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefit she derived from it was beyond our expectation."

Hood's Sarsaparilla absolutely cures all diseases caused by impure blood and it builds up the whole system.

A will recently probated in the Surrogate's Court at Albany contains this clause: "To my son Simeon I give the sum of 50 cents for the trouble he has taken to illtreat me.
