PEACE CONGRESS AWAITS RUSSIAN REPLY

BOLSHEVIK INFLUENCE CHARGED IN BRITISH STRIKES

BRITISH STRIKERS ARE CHARGED WITH BEING MOVED TO ACT BY BOLSHEVIK TEACHINGS AND GOLD

English Labor Leaders Declare That Strikers Are Operating Under Direction of Local Boards Organized Like Soviets, and Are Openly Opposed To National Federation of the Trades Unions.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

London, Jan. 30.—The general strikes throughout Great Britain and Ireland are Bolshevistic, British labor leaders declared today. They said the strikers are under the direction of local boards, organized like Soviets, which are openly opposed to the authorized heads of the National Federation of Trades Unions. It was further charged that the strikes are being partially financed by the Russian Bolsheviki. "The strikes are the result of agitation by 'shop stewards,' who are English Bolsheviki," Frank Smith, national secretary of the Federation of Engineers and Shipbuilders, stated today.

"They are under the direction of local boards, which are organized like Soviets, and are in open opposition to the authorized heads of the National Federation of Trades Unions. It was reported that these (shop stewards) are receiving money from Lenine," said Mr. Smith.

Disclaims Connection.

"The executive council of the Federation voted yesterday to disclaim any connection with the strikes, except those called in the Tyne district for a 48-hour week, which is likely to be settled in a few days.

"The men now striking voted in November to accept a 48-hour week. Apparently flushed with the success of their efforts, they are now independently trying to force a 40-hour week. The Government is faced with a dilemma. If it deals with the strikers it means recognition of the independent organization and consequent retraction of the Government's decision to trent with the authorized heads of organized labor." About a quarter of a million men are on strike in various parts of the United Kingdom. The shipbuilding is completely tied up, and other industries, particularly coal mining, are seriously affected through sympathetic strikes. Belfast, where rioting already has occurred, is completely dominated by the strikers and business is at a standstill.

QUEBEC LEGISLATOR ATTACKS INSPECTOR CATHOLIC SCHOOLS

T. D. Bouchard Charges That Official Falsified Figures.

PEOPLE WERE MISLED

Claims the French-Canadians Dream of Superiority While Others Progress.

Quebec, Jan. 30.—T. D. Bouchard, member for St. Hyacinthe, started a debate on compulsory education in the Legislative Assembly yesterday afternoon, and in the course of his remarks made an outspoken attack on C. J. Magnan, chief inspector of Catholic schools for the province of Quebec, charging him with designedly changing and falsifying figures to prove that school attendance in the province of Quebec was better than in other provinces.

In Quebec, he said, the people had been misled by false statistics, which begot a false sense of security, and while they dreamed of the superiority of the French-Canadian race, people in other places were actively progressing.

Figures Submitted.

Mr. Magnan, he said, had given Quebec a school attendance of 77 per cent or higher than any other province. There was a striking difference between the figures given and the facts of the case. The report of the superintendent of public instruction for 1913-14 accounted for 148,427 girls between the ages of 7 and 14 years in the province of Quebec, while the same report stated that there were 151,276 girls between those same ages attending school, and the only conclusion he could arrive at was that 2,489 girls, who had never existed, were attending schools in the province of Quebec.

Under such circumstances it was not surprising that the school attendance in Quebec was higher than that of Ontario, and the other provinces, and Mr. Magnan had every reason for being opposed to any change in the system.

Debate Is Adjourned.

Mr. Bouchard quoted from the report of the superintendent of public instruction for 1914-15, and cited a number of places where the total number of children of school age was 30,921, yet the number of those attending school was given as 32,072.

The debate was adjourned by Peter Bercovitch, member of St. Louis-Montreal, and may not be resumed before next week.

GERMAN GENERAL RETIRES.

Havas, Jan. 30.—Gen. von Einem has been retired from active service in the German army, according to advices received here from Berlin. Last September it was announced that he was commander of one of the sixth German armies shattered by the great allied offensive.

WAR TIME BREAD PRICES TO "STICK" FOR MONTHS YET

Minneapolis, Jan. 30.—War-time bread prices will prevail throughout the world for eighteen months, leading Minneapolis flour millers predicted today when informed of the statement made in New York by Julius Barnes, president of the United States grain corporation, regarding the commodity. Fluctuations in the price of flour during the ensuing 18 months will be slight, millers declared today.

MUST GET BUSY OR LOSE OVERSEAS LUMBER ORDERS

Canadian Dealers Will Have To Give Attention To Requirements.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—That the Canadian lumber trade will experience some difficulty in securing its share of orders for reconstruction work in Europe unless more attention is paid to the requirements of the overseas market is a warning given by the commission of conservation to Canadian exporters of lumber.

Lumber from Russia and Sweden, it is pointed out, conforms more to the size requirements of the British market, and the chief difficulty Canadian dealers must overcome is the one relating to the "scant size" of lumber shipments generally from this side of the Atlantic.

Germans Will Be Compelled To Work

The Government Contemplates Strong Measures To Combat Strike Menace.

London, Jan. 30.—The German Government contemplates strong measures to combat the growing strike wave there and will soon bring forward a bill compelling men to work and severely punishing strikers, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

BRUSSELS CONFERS FREEDOM OF CITY ON FOREIGN MINISTERS

American, Dutch and Spanish Representatives Received in Belgian Capital.

Brussels, Jan. 30.—The municipal council formally conferred the freedom of the city on the Spanish, Dutch and American ministers to Belgium yesterday in recognition of their services to the city and country during the German occupation. The address was made by Burgomaster Max. Brand Whitlock, the American minister, replied, saying: "I am grateful that fate called me to share in the city's sufferings and insults throughout the long nightmare of occupation by an aggressor who vainly desired to assassinate the nation's soul."

BRITISH ARTISTS WILL PAINT CONGRESS SCENES

London, Wednesday, Jan. 29.—The British artists, Orpen and St. John, who have been selected by the Government to paint scenes from the peace congress will begin work immediately, it is said. Both recentiy returned to London from the British front, where they have been painting war scenes.

SOCIALISTS NOT LIKELY TO RULE IN ASSEMBLY

Results in German Elections Show 150 Districts To Hear From Yet.

Berne, Wednesday, Jan. 29.—Partial results from the Prussian elections show that the majority Socialists have won 98 seats in the new parliament; independent Socialists, 21; Democrats, 44; Christian People's Party, 49; National Liberals, 11, and Conservatives, 21. These results seem to indicate that there will not be a Socialist majority in the Parliament. There are still 150 districts to be heard from.

GERMANY'S PLANS FOR PEACE EXCEED WAR PREPARATIONS

Rev. Dr. Hillis Declares the Enemy Has Arranged To Control Vast Resources.

DEMANDS INDEMNITIES

American Divine Claims the Teuton Stranglehold Must Be Loosened. Loosened.

St. Catharines, Jan. 30.—"Even if Germany has conceded President Wilson's famous fourteen points, they still beat us 90 per cent. Germany has prepared for peace far more carefully than she did for war," declared Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of the Pilgrim Church, Brooklyn, in the course of an address on "German Atrocities" here last night. Dr. Hillis declared that Germany had massed all her banking deposits in one system, and converted the funds to buy up control of the water powers of Switzerland, the coal mines of Poland, the platinum and petroleum deposits of Russia, and the vast timber tracts of Siberia.

"Unless we bring in a fifteenth point, forcing Germany to release her industrial stranglehold on smaller nations of Europe, we have failed hands down," Dr. Hillis declared. "Germany herself values her stock and bond holdings at $165,000,000. I would place the figure nearer $250,000,000. She can afford to pay back all the great indemnities required of her, and still have holdings great enough to make her the greatest industrial power in Europe. However, we have men over there at the peace table who know what they want. They have bought their knowledge with blood and they will see that they get what they want."

WOULD PROTECT ALL DESTITUTE CHILDREN OF DEAD SOLDIERS

International Organization Is Proposed by Member of Cuban Senate.

Havana, Jan. 29.—A resolution presented today in the Senate by Senator Vidal Morales, and unanimously adopted, authorizes the chief executive in the name of the republic to propose to all the allied powers and all nations which severed relations with the central powers, that plenipotentiaries be named by each with the purpose of organizing an international association for the protection, care and education of destitute children whose fathers met death while fighting in the allied ranks for the liberty of the world.

A fund, to be contributed by each nation included in the organization, according to its population and wealth, would be raised to carry on the work, to which fund any other organizations or individuals may voluntarily contribute. If France accepts, the plenipotentiaries would meet in Paris.

ARGENTINE VESSEL OWNERS REFUSE AID

Government Help Will Not Be Accepted Because Regarded as Insufficient.

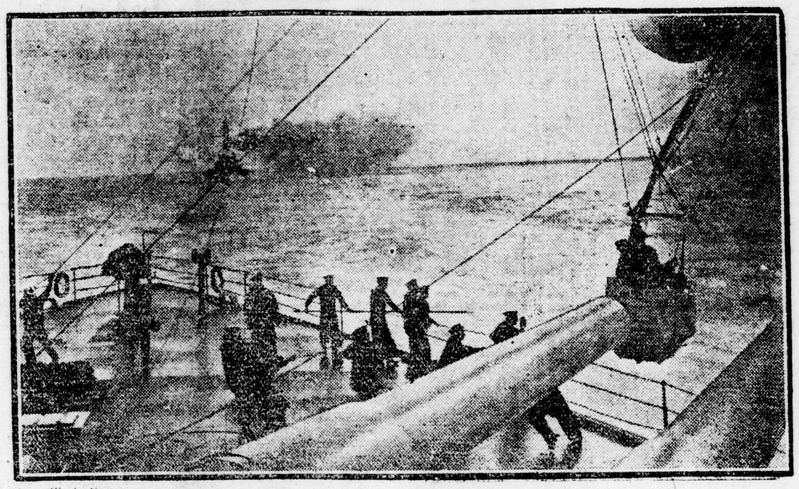

Buenos Ayres, Jan. 30.—Owners of vessels in the harbor here have refused an offer from the Government to furnish labor to unload the ships, because the number of men which will be put to work will be insufficient. At 6 o'clock tomorrow night the Maritime Federation will withdraw the few men still at work on tugs, pending the outcome of negotiations. It is persistently rumored that the Entente Allies will not sign the cereal convention with Argentina for the purchase of grain because of unstable conditions.

EXPLAINS WHY SHIPS FAILED TO TAKE MAIL

British Postoffice Was Not Notified of Departure of Vessels.

London, Jan. 30.—Failure to dispatch mail on fast steamers operated by the British Government between English ports and New York between January 7 and January 20 has been criticized by newspapers here. An explanation has been given the Daily Mail by the minister of shipping. It is said that owing to an overslight, the ministry failed to give the postoffice the usual notification of fast ships sailing during the period mentioned. The postoffice failed to make inquiry and consequently the ships sailed without mail.

MAY IMPOSE DEATH PENALTY TO CURE BOLSHEVIK DRUNKENNESS

Stockholm, Jan. 29.—A threat to punish inebriety among the Bolshevik officials of high degree by death is contained in a Soviet decree printed in late issues of the Petrograd newspapers.

The decree points out that drunkenness among such officials is increasing, and proposes curative measures. If these do not prove effective, however, the offence, it is threatened, will cause the infliction of the death penalty.

INDUSTRY PARALYZED ALONG CLYDE AND IN BELFAST AS MORE JOIN THE STRIKERS

Situation Grows Worse as Men Demand Increase in Wages, Shorter Hours and a General Improvement of Working Conditions.

London, Jan. 30.—The situation both on the Clyde and in Belfast, where strikes are in progress, with widespread paralysis of industry, became more serious today. In Belfast manufacturing firms which were generating their own electric current for power purposes had to close down their plants as the workers in the private electric installations joined the strikers. The blacksmiths, the boilermakers and the shipwrights decided to notify their employers that the conditions of the settlement they asked should embody an increase of 30 per cent in the gross earning power of the peace workers. Along the Clyde many corporation electricians struck, compelling the corporations to stop the current for public works, retaining such current as they were able to generate for the use of the hospitals and for street lighting.

TRAINMEN RESUME WORK IN ORDER TO GET COAL UNLOADED.

Belfast, Jan. 30.—The strike committee has ordered trainmen to resume work to permit the unloading of coal from ships. This action was taken because the strikers began to feel the pinch of cold and the lack of gas for cooking. Otherwise idleness is virtually complete.

Crowds in the streets were more dense than ever on Wednesday evening, and there was much jostling, shouting and singing. The streets were in absolute darkness, except for the lights from cabs and lanterns carried by pedestrians. More stores were looted during the evening.

GERMANY AND HER ALLIES TO ESCAPE HEAVY INDEMNITIES

Peace Conference Is Reported To Have Decided On Leniency to Enemy.

London, Jan. 30.—The peace conference has settled one important point with regard to the indemnity question, the Paris correspondent of the Evening Standard says he has reasons for reporting. The conference, he declares, has eliminated any intention of calling upon Germany and her associates to pay the Allied countries the cost of the war or to impose heavy indemnities on the enemy nations.

"But the minds of the conference," the correspondent adds, "are fixed that there shall be full and ample reparation for unjustifiable damage done. A very sharp distinction is being drawn between damage which resulted from legitimate warfare and damage which was wanton."

The correspondent says that Serbia and Belgium have formulated claims for reparation in detail. Serbia's bill is the largest, but as Belgium suffered first she will receive first consideration.

The idea that Germany should return the indemnity she took from France in 1871 has been abandoned, the Evening Standard's correspondent continues. British claims, he added, are for damages done in air raids and through the sinking of merchant ships. In the case of ships, reparation to Great Britain will be in kind.

AQUITANIA PARTY IS DUE IN CITY TONIGHT

At 10:40 tonight, via C. P. R., 40 of the veterans of the steamship Aquitania will arrive in this city, according to a telegram received by the information bureau at the armories. The message said that the men were accompanied by the A. D. of S. and T. on regular train No. 19. The main party of men of the Aquitania arrived here a few days ago. This party of men must have been held up either at Halifax or somewhere on the road.

Hitting the Trail at Fifty Below

Dawson City Offender Gets a Touch of the "Law of the North."

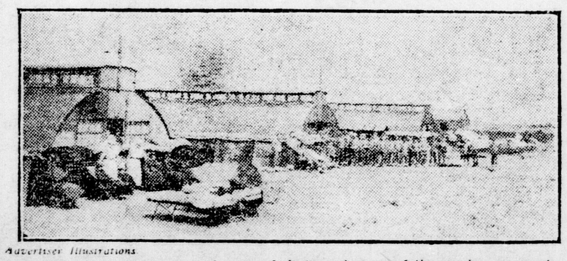

Dawson, Jan. 30.—Col. Knight, commanding the mounted police in this district, has rounded up numerous gambling resorts here. One of the most notorious offenders was given his choice of six months' imprisonment or a journey south to face the influenza. He went south and is now hitting the trail at 50 below zero.

WILL MAKE SURVEY OF GERMAN RESOURCES

American Delegation Leaves for Germany To Study Conditions There.

Paris, Jan. 29.—Alonzo Taylor of the American food administration, and Ellis Drese of the war trade department, will leave for Germany tonight to make a survey of the German food resources. Information about these resources is so unsatisfactory that each of the various powers is embarking upon an independent investigation.

SECRET TREATIES MAY BE MODIFIED, OTHERWISE TORN UP

Peace Congress Is Confronted With Difficult Problems.

JAPS ARE INDIGNANT

Will Insist That Promise of Islands in Pacific Be Fulfilled.

London, Jan. 30.—In a late edition the Mail prints a report from its correspondent in Paris, who writes that the treaties between England and Japan relative to the islands in the Northern Pacific, with the Arabs regarding Syria, and the understanding with France as to the future status of Kamerun must be arbitrarily modified if not torn up.

"The Japanese delegates are angry and alarmed, and declare their unalterable determination to claim the islands, as promised," the correspondent says, and adds: "These islands are really the crux of the whole situation.

"The Australians," the correspondent continues, "believe President Wilson's firm stand in this matter is due to his fear that Japanese occupation of the islands would impair his prestige in the United States, and that he fears to meet a hostile Congress in March if he agrees to the absolute retention of the Islands by Japan.

"The Italian delegates frankly avow their claims to Fiume, and insist that the promise of part of the Dalmatian coast stipulated in the pact of London must be made good. They declare that President Wilson's attitude regarding Fiume directly contradicts his declaration of the rights of peoples, outlined in his 'fourteen points.'"

GEN. SAM STEELE DIES SUDDENLY IN BRITISH CAPITAL

Noted Canadian Military Man Expires After a Brief Illness.

London, Jan. 30.—Gen. Sam Steele died at Putney, London, today. He had been ill about two months, but the end came rather suddenly.

Gen. Sir Samuel Benfeld Steele, K. C. M. G., was one of Canada's best known military men. He was born in Simcoe County, Ontario, in 1849, and began his military career in the 35th Battalion, Simcoe Foresters, in 1869. After qualifying at Toronto Military College, he served through the Red River Rebellion in 1871. He later joined the Northwest Mounted Police as a sergeant-major. He commanded the cavalry and scouts in the Northwest Rebellion of 1885. He quelled the Kootenay trouble in 1887. In the South African war he commanded the Strathcona Horse, and was mentioned in dispatches by Lord Kitchener and Sir Redvers Buller, and received the Order of the Commander of the Bath and became a member of the Victorian Order. In 1915 he was made inspector-general of the forces in Western Canada, going overseas as commander of the 2nd Canadian Division. He commanded afterwards the Imperial and Canadian troops at Shorncliffe.

RUSSIAN SOVIET GOVERNMENT HAS NOT YET SENT REPLY TO PEACE CONFERENCE PROPOSAL

Committee of Russians in Paris Now Considering Invitation On Behalf of Other Russian Governments, Is Expected To Flatly Decline To Sit in Conference With Bolshevik Delegates.

Paris, Jan. 30.—As yet the peace conference has received no formal reply from the Russian Soviet Government regarding the invitation sent to all the Russian governments to meet conference representatives at the Princes Islands, but that the Russian committee in Paris will probably make a formal response in a few days on behalf of the various other Russian governments expected.

This committee is now considering the proposals, but the prospects seem to be that it will decline to sit in conference with any representatives of the Bolsheviki. The expected declination, however, will be couched in courteous language, and will embody a lengthy explanation of the committee's reasons for declining.

Members of the Russian committee state that all the Caucasus governments as well as the Omsk Government are now in complete unity and are giving the Paris committee their unqualified support. President Tschaikovsky of the Government of North Russia, sailed from Archangel, January 1, and is expected to reach Paris within a few days to confer with the committee.

YUKON IS ESCAPING SPANISH INFLUENZA

Officials Agree That Inflexible Quarantine Will Be Maintained.

Dawson, Jan. 30.—No cases of Spanish influenza have developed as yet in the Yukon. The commissioner for the Yukon, who is returning from Ottawa, held a conference at Skagway with the health officer at that point and other officials, and all agreed that an inflexible quarantine would be continued there until the last vestige of the disease has disappeared. The quarantine will be enforced rigidly when spring travel and navigation open.

FLAVELLE CONFIRMS SALE OF AEROPLANES

Chairman of Munitions Board Explains Why Deal Was Made.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—Sir Joseph Flavelle, chairman of the imperial munitions board, when seen this morning, confirmed the announcement that the bulk of the aircraft equipment provided by Great Britain and used in Canada for training Canadian aviators, had been sold to a syndicate. The purchasing syndicate, Sir Joseph stated, was, he understood, composed of Americans and Canadians, but he was unable to give the names of the Canadians who are interested in the purchase. He did not care to tell the price which was being paid.

Sir Joseph said that, with the disbanding of the Royal Air Force, a number of school machines, used for instructional purposes, were left at the various camps. These were all set up in the airdromes, and if allowed to remain uncared for would warp and rapidly get out of condition. The imperial munitions board, he said, had no facilities for keeping them in shape, and thought it advisable to sell machines to individual buyers for promiscuous flying. Therefore, after setting aside for the use of the Dominion Government, without charge, a number of machines, engines and spare parts, which were at Camp Borden, the board had disposed of the balance to a syndicate, which, he understood, was composed of Americans and Canadians. The syndicate, would, he thought, have points in Canada where repairs could be made.

ORIENTAL PRODUCTS ARRIVE IN NEW YORK

First Cargo of Turkish Tobacco and Currants Reach U. S.

New York, Jan. 30.—A cargo of currants and Turkish tobacco, said by mariners here to be the first vessel load of these commodities to be imported here from the Orient since early in the war, arrived in this port today on the British steamship Cairnvalona from Saloniki.

PREMIERS PREFER TO REMAIN MUM

Hughes and Massey Decline to Discuss Colonial Question.

Paris, Jan. 30.—Interviewed by Reuter, Premiers Hughes of Australia and Massey of New Zealand showed the greatest reluctance to discuss the attitude of the peace conference towards the German colonies. In reply to a question, "Are Botha, Massey and yourself satisfied with the position?" Mr. Hughes, after a pause, replied: "I prefer not to answer."

AERIAL SERVICE MAY BE SOON ESTABLISHED

Flying Boats Planned Between Victoria and Vancouver.

Victoria, Jan. 30.—Lieut.-Col. R. Collinshaw, British Columbia's foremost aviator, conferred with the Victoria board of trade yesterday with regard to the proposed establishment of an aerial mail and passenger service between Vancouver and Victoria. Col. Collinshaw suggested that any company undertaking the service should have a capital of at least $100,000, and should maintain three flying boats.

CARGO FIRE EXTINGUISHED.

Paris, Jan. 29.—The fire in the cargo of the French steamer Conde, which arrived here from Savannah, has been extinguished. The forecastle and part of the deck were burned and part of the cargo was thrown overboard. None of the crew was injured.

CANADIAN EXPORTS TO GREAT BRITAIN WILL BE CURTAILED

Restrictions Imposed by British Governments Affects Dominion Trade.

COVERS WIDE RANGE

Commodities Include Practically Everything That Mother Country Can Produce.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—Restrictions imposed by Great Britain on her imports will apply to Canadian exports. Notification to this effect has been received by the war trade board. It is expected that the question will be brought before the Cabinet council with a view to representations being made to the Imperial Government. The probable aim will be to secure preferential licenses for Canadian products.

Under the new British regulations the duty of obtaining permission to import will devolve on the importer. He will be required to obtain a license from the British bureau of import restrictions before any goods on the barred list will be admitted.

Since the early days of the war, restrictions have been placed on imports by the British Government. The new regulations continue the licensing system. These are regarded here as more rigid, if anything, than the old restrictions, which were imposed primarily to save shipping space.

According to advices, the British restrictions are to be temporary only. They have been imposed for a double reason; to bring stability to British manufactures over the reconstruction period and to stabilize exchange. The commodities affected cover a wide range. They include, apparently, practically everything that Great Britain considers she is liable to produce for herself.

CITY PAID 5 TIMES ASSESSED VALUE OF M'CORMICK LANDS

Other Property Bought For Double Valuation.

In connection with the Federal Square and the city hall, it is pointed out, that the city paid, in 1913, $125,000 for land which at the 1912 assessment was valued at $25,000. The assessment on the land was raised $5,000 in 1913, however. This $125,000 was paid for the McCormick property on the corner of Wellington and Dundas street. The buildings, which were removed by the McCormick Company, were assessed at $75,000.

Double Assessment.

For the property next door, which was owned by J. C. Coote, the city paid $30,000, and the assessed value was $15,500. It is said that the council thought that this price included the building, but last year the council received notice that the building would be removed. As it brings in a good yearly rent, the council decided to purchase it for $1,425, making the total purchase price $31,425 on property assessed for less than half this amount.

The property of George T. Hiscox, at 307 to 309 Dundas street, was bought for $8,000, being $400 more than double its assessed value which was $3,800.

Better Sold.

W. Wigmore, who owned 305 Dundas street, sold it for $5,000, and it was assessed at $2,200.

The J. E. Boomer property at 312 King street, assessed for $4,500, sold for $9,000.

For the property of T. S. Hobbs at 296 King street, which was assessed at $3,600, the city paid $7,500.

S. F. Wood received $6,000 for property at 328 King street, valued at $3,500.

The following were members of the city hall committee in 1913: Mayor C. M. R. Graham, Aldermen J. P. Moore, S. F. Glass, E. H. Johnston, G. E. Rose, William Spittal, J. H. Saunders, H. Ashplant, and J. G. Richter.

CONDEMN MOORE'S COMMISSION FORM OF CITY GOVERNMENT

Members of Spending Bodies "Shoot Holes" Through It.

NO CUT IN ESTIMATES

All Declares They Are Down To the Limit—Must Carry On.

The spending bodies of the city of London got together last night in the council chambers and had a regular old-fashioned talk-fest. Practically all branches of city activity were represented with the exception of the hospital trust. One and all representatives declared that they did not see how any estimates for their departments could be cut this year.

This led Mayor C. R. Somerville to declare that it was up to the owners of the large properties to share more fully in taxation than they had in the past. He stated that the assessment department was not assessing large and expensive houses as it should, and that a considerable source of revenue was being lost on that account. People who could afford to pay should pay, he contended, and his sentiments found favor in hearty applause.

The mayor, in opening the meeting, stated that considerable expense would be incurred this year on behalf of the soldiers. The departments employing labor should loosen up and give as much employment as possible. There had been a number of salary increases, and there was little likelihood of the tax rate being reduced.

Ask Co-operation.

Chairman Philip Pocock of the utilities commission asked for co-operation with that body, which was an earning, not a spending, one. Jared Vining dwelt on the beauty of Springbank Park. He stated that more money would be spent on Queen's Park in the future in order to make it the playground of East London.

Ald. O. Keene wanted more buildings put up at the Springbank zoo. There were lots of citizens who would present animals to the zoo, but there were no buildings suitable to house them.

Benjamin Noble, chairman of the public library board, said that that body would need all of its estimate. The high cost of books was one reason. The need of small branch libraries was emphasized.

Chairman John Barnard of the board of education told of the crowded condition of the city schools and said that a further building program would be needed before long. He also praised the beauty of Victoria Park.

Must Carry On.

Chairman J. H. Saunders of the board of health intimated that there would be no cut in the estimates for that department. Dr. D. H. Arnott agreed with him. He thought that previous boards of health had been lax and that the work accomplished by Dr. W. H. Hill in the past should be carried on. He hoped the board would spend money where neegssary.

Dr. W. J. Tillmann spoke on behalf of the Collegiate Institute. When citizens realized that just as good a course in English could be obtained at the Technical School as at the Collegiate, pupils would flock to the former. At the present time the Collegiate was more congested than any of the public schools.

Philip Pocock, speaking for the L. and P. S. board stated that there would be no debenture issue for the city's railroad this year. Dr. R. W. Shaw thought the road needed careful management and watching. W. A. Martin, also a member of the railway commission, saw no need for the expenditure of any serious amount of money.

Ald. Sam Manness thought every effort should be made to keep the tax rate down. They managed to do so in smaller places and why not London? he asked.

Ex-Controller J. M. Moore's project for commission government came in for some hot shot all round the block. Chairman Pocock and Jared Vining of the public utilities commission both objected strongly.

Criticize New Plan.

"You profess to give four men the control of one department, and then turn round and give twenty men power to veto their work," stated Mr. Vining. "The mayor should be elected for five years, not one. The public utilities often have a chance to pick up bargains in material that are not covered specifically in the estimates, because their need does not happen to arise at the beginning of the year. Under this system, we cannot purchase a thing without going to the 20 men of the commission. There is no difference from it and the present form of civic government except that the committees will be elected by the people instead of the council."

Mr. Pocock took strong objection to the proposed form of government, because as he understood it, the public utilities as a body had a right to hire or employ its men. The head of the department should have that right, otherwise things would go to smash. Mr. Moore did not agree with this interpretation, but Mr. Pocock stated that he had received legal advice on the point and knew whereof he spoke. There had to be some means of fixing the responsibility.

Want Him Talking.

Ald. Keene then hopped to his feet and started an attack on Mr. Pocock and the public utilities generally. "We've got you talking and that's what we want," he said. "You never offered us any help in preparing this plan, but you're only too glad to come up here and try to pull it to pieces. I grant you it may be a little weak in spots, but boards come up here and pull against each other."

Chairman Barnard of the school board resented this statement. The board of education paid attention to its own business. Last year was the first time he had ever been invited up to the council chamber. The form of government proposed was nothing but an extension of council government. It was too clumsy and would waste too much time. He didn't believe that under the new system good men could be got to run for the board of education. City Clerk Baker backed up Mr. Moore and was still talking when the mayor called for an adjournment.

Commissioner T. W. McFarland moved that a motion be passed condemning the form of government as proposed, and this was carried. The mayor did not bother to count the votes.

Safe Home Treatment for Objectionable Hairs

(Boudoir Secrets)

The electric needle is not required for the removal of hair or fuzz, for with the use of plain delatone the most stubborn growth can be quickly banished. A paste is made with water and a little of the powder, then spread over the hairy surface. In about two minutes it is rubbed off and the skin washed. This simple treatment not only removes the hair, but leaves the skin free from blemish. Be sure you get genuine delatone.—Advt.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR, THICK, WAVY, FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Draw a moist cloth through hair and double its beauty at once.

Save your hair! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after an application of Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, charming, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will spend a few cents for a bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

LOCAL DEALERS ARE NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR POOR COAL RECEIVED

Jobber To Blame, Says Fuel Administration Official—Paid High Price.

"Finney & Shannon are not responsible for the coal which was consigned to them, and which is second grade," said W. D. Yeomans of the Ontario fuel administration, who was in the city yesterday in connection with coal matters generally. "The jobber is entirely to blame, and the administration will do everything in its power to see that the local firm does not lose anything on the deal," he continued.

According to Mr. Yeomans, the firm paid the highest price in the expectation of getting first-class coal. The coal has some fuel value, but it is not by any means first-class. Finney & Shannon were advised to leave the coal that is not already unloaded on the track until advice is received from the fuel administrator.

Mr. Yeomans also conferred with the coal dealers of the city regarding the figuring of the cost of coal to the local dealer. He pointed out what should be considered. His remarks were for the dealers only, however, and were not given to the press. The dealers would not say whether the price of coal would drop at the first of April or not.

"We will not be able to tell until we figure up our costs on the basis submitted to us," said R. J. Webster.

ANOTHER INSPECTOR STRONGLY URGED IN MIDDLESEX COUNTY

Assistant Chief Supports Idea Before Council.

SEVERAL GRANTS ASKED

County Fathers Give All These Ideas a Sympathetic Hearing.

That it would mean more revisits paid to the schools by the inspectors and enable them to keep in closer touch with the students and therefore improve the education opportunities of the children of the county were the chief reasons that W. I. Chisholm, assistant chief inspector of Ontario schools, agitated at the meeting of the county council yesterday afternoon for a re-division of Middlesex County, for school inspectoral purposes. He declared that for an extra inspector's salary the cost for the first year to Middlesex would be only $195 and the Ontario Government and other counties would pay the remainder of his salary. The new inspector would have his headquarters at Parkhill, and would thus be able to visit school sections in that part of the country which are not inspected as frequently as those situated near the headquarters of the two inspectors employed at present. As an inspector is required to make 220 visits per year, the addition of another inspector would mean more visits to each school than are paid at present. "You are not only helping yourselves, but you are helping your neighbors, I hope that the county council will see its way clear to regard this favorably," concluded Mr. Chisholm.

Inspectors P. J. Thompson and H. D. Johnson were both in favor of the scheme. It was referred to the education committee which will bring the matter before the next meeting of the council.

Ask $5,000 Grant.

To ask the council to grant $25,000 towards the Salvation Army Homecoming Campaign, Judge J. C. Judd, who is chairman of the county end of it, was present and had with him a large number of speakers, and letters from over 50 ratepayers, who were in favor of it.

Major C. M. R. Graham told of the wonderful work which the Salvation Army had done at the front. He declared that the city was going to raise $50,000. It was his opinion that the men at the front could not have fought as they did if it had not been for the work of the Y. M. C. A. and the Salvation Army. The latter organization, he said, had actually gone in debt, doing so much for the boys "over there," and was depending on the reliability and honesty of the folks at home to make good some of the money.

Col. J. Rawling of the Salvation Army declared that members of his organization were in Belgium and had been taken prisoner before the British Tommy arrived. He declared that it would first to serve and last to ask aid. Hostels at home, he said, were crowded to capacity by the soldiers.

No Objections.

D. A. Graham, warden of Middlesex for the year, 1918, declared that the county had granted thousands of dollars to various funds last year, and he was sure that it would keep up the good work. "I have never heard one man or woman in Caradoc say, 'You have done too much,'" he said, and emphasized the important part that the Salvation Army would play in the work of reconstruction.

"I know that if I talked for an hour, I could not add anything to what has been said," declared S. F. Glass, M.P., who also declared that the Salvation Army was deserving of much support.

L. A. Dampier declared that a few years ago we thought that the Salvation Army was an unnecessary adjunct to the various religions, but that now we had changed our minds entirely. "I hope the full amount will be granted," he said. Mayor C. R. Somerville, Col. R. McKewen, T. G. Turnbull and Thomas Duffen, all were strongly in favor of making the grant to the Salvation Army.

"I feel that the council has been as deeply impressed as I have," said Warden John Currie. "What we have to pay in this war is nothing to what the men have paid over there."

The mater was referred to the finance committee.

Another Request.

The question of making a grant of $500 to the Soldiers' Aid Commission was also referred to the same committee. John M. Moore, James Gray, George E. Copeland and W. E. Grieve spoke in support of it. The S. A. C. it was stated had dealt with 2,200 returning soldiers during the past year besides doing all manner of other work, such as meeting trains at all hours of the night and day, and keeping records of all soldiers since the time they left this district.

Reports from School Inspectors P. J. Thompson and H. D. Johnson were received and adopted.

The report of the striking committee was also received and adopted.

A motion to the effect that B. E. Clarke be appointed as trustee of the Glencoe High School was referred to the educational committee.

A motion that Samuel Pardee be appointed as trustee of the Thorndale Continuation School was referred to the educational committee.

Report on Roads.

In a report, which was submitted to the council, and which was referred to the board of road directors, County Engineer Charles Talbot emphasized the importance of better and more road construction. He recommended that unless a special session was held bylaws be passed granting more money for county road improvement; that county roads be put under municipal divisions, and that the maintenance and upkeep of these roads be financed by the municipalities within these divisions. The county council, he reported, had neither managed nor financed the work on county roads.

The question of granting $10,000 to the Navy League, which was left over from last year, was referred to the finance committee.

Join Other Counties.

The report of the education committee was adopted at the evening session. It contained a recommendation that Middlesex join with Huron and Lambton in forming a joint inspectorate, with the township of McGillivray, the town of Parkhill, and the village of Ailsa Craig, as the Middlesex part, and that the chairman and secretary be a committee to meet committees from the other counties mentioned.

The finance committee's report was also adopted. The committee recommended that a request from the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto for a grant, be not acted upon; that an account of $464 from Agricultural Representative Finn be paid; that a grant of $30 be made to the East Middlesex Teachers' Association; that Police Magistrate C. W. Hawkshaw of Lucan be paid $75 for office expenses, and that a request from Turnkeys Campbell, Gumb and Sadlier, and Night Watchman A. Graham, for increased salaries, be referred back to the jail committee.

Application Filed.

A. McVicar of Grimsby applied for appointment as public school inspector. He said he understood that a new inspector was to be appointed. The application was filed.

Councillor A. Holman of Newbury moved, seconded by Councillor J. L. Stewart, that a grant of $25 be made to each of the public libraries in the county. This was referred to the finance committee.

The council, on motion of Councillor S. Oakes of Strathroy, decided that Councillor J. J. Poore, who was absent attending the funeral of his sister, should be shown as present and draw the usual fee for attendance.

County Clerk John Stuart read the names of those people in the county who are still drawing patriotic allowances. He did this, he said, because sometimes mistakes were made, and the members of the council would be able to check up as the names were read. He mentioned particularly the case of a woman whose three sons had enlisted. One son had been killed, the boy on whose account she was drawing the grant had now been discharged, and she still had one son overseas. The clerk thought this was a case where the grant might still be paid, and as one of the councillors was able to supply the information that the notice of the discharge of the soldier in question was inaccurate, the grant will still be paid.

Protect Birds.

J. L. Robson moved a resolution for the passing of a bylaw to protect all birds and game from hunters for a period of five years. He said other counties had passed similar bylaws, and there had been considerable agitation in Middlesex for action of the kind suggested.

Mr. Robson said that even sparrows, which many people considered a nuisance, ate several times their own weight in worms each day. It was quite noticeable that as the number of birds decreased the number of pests which preyed on crops increased. The same was true of blackbirds, he maintained, although some of the council members disagreed. The motion was carried.

WATERWORKS TO GET $36,000 DEBENTURES COMMITTEE DECIDES

$100,000 Additional Needed For Storm Sewers by Council.

BOTH FROM LEGISLATURE

Power For Issue To Be Obtained in City of London Bill.

Had it not been for the fact that the members of No. 1 committee who were present at the meeting yesterday afternoon realized the necessity of raising $100,000 by debentures through the City of London bill, they would not have recommended issuing $36,000 debentures via the same method for the waterworks department.

When the request for the issue had been read from the public utilities commission Ald. S. R. Manness and L. S. Holmes opposed the granting of the request on the grounds that there is a bylaw which forbids any debenture issue greater than $25,000 by the City of London bill.

Ald. Holmes did not see why the utilities commission could not have had the question sent to the people for confirmation on January 1. Ald. Manness was heartily in accord with this opinion, and it was agreed that the committee should recommend to the council that $25,000 debentures be issued for the waterworks and a like amount for the electrical departments.

Completes Quorum.

On the arrival of Ald. O. I. Cunningham completing a quorum, Ald. Holmes was elected chairman. Prior to this there were only Mayor C. R. Somerville and the two aldermen present. The question of raising $100,000 for the installation of storm water sewers was discussed. While the alderman favored the situation somewhat different to the request of the public utilities commission they decided that it would be unfair to suspend the bylaw in order to raise money for the council and refuse to do the same for the utilities commission.

Mayor Somerville pointed out that the commission would need the money in order to carry out necessary work, and it was decided to revise the former decision and recommend that the commission get the money asked for. The committee also recommended that the $100,000 debenture issue be included in the city of London bill.

To Hold Carnival.

A. Spalding of the Iron Molders' Union, asked permission for the union to hold a carnival some time this summer. He also asked that the amusement tax be remitted. The committee wanted more information as to the time of the proposed carnival, and the nature of the shows which would be brought here. It was finally decided that if the carnival were held in June in order that it might not clash with the Old Boys' celebration which is expected, permission to hold it might be given. The remission of the tax will not be recommended, however.

Has Chronic Disorder.

Two accounts for the conveyance of E. Patton, an inmate of the jail to and from Victoria Hospital, were referred to the jail committee. It appears that the old chap is suffering from some chronic disorder, and he was taken to the hospital on the order of the jail physician, Dr. James D. Wilson. Superintendent T. H. Heard did not care to take the responsibility of admitting him, and called Mayor Somerville, who according to his own story, ordered Patton returned to the jail. The mayor stated that the hospital was not for such cases.

"The jail is not a good place for him either," said Alderman Holmes.

Mayor Somerville stated that the man requires the care of a male nurse.

Place Three Lights.

A resolution of the Kingston city council calling for the deportation of all interned enemy aliens was sent on to the council. It was decided to place three lights on McCormick boulevard. This has been before the council for some years, but the street has only recently been recommended to be taken over by the city.

The agreement with the county respecting county patients at Victoria Hospital whereby the city will receive $1.50 a day for each county patient was received and recommended signed.

The lease of Queen's Park to the public works department was also recommended to be signed.

The question of junk dealers' licenses was laid over on account of the absence of J. M. McEvoy, who has the case in hand for the dealers. Questions regarding the London Street Railway were laid over, including the Quebec street extension.

A request for a fire alarm box at Knollwood Park was referred to Chief John Aitken for a report. The committee recommended the placing of extra lights on Emery street, as suggested by City Engineer H. A. Brazier.

A resolution from the Galt council, recommending widows' pensions, was laid over for further consideration. Ald. Cunningham suggested that mothers' pensions should be included as well.

Invite Convention.

At the request of the members of the I.O.O.F. lodges of the city it was decided to recommend that Mayor Somerville attend the I.O.O.F. convention at Toronto in June to officially invite the convention to London for 1920.

City Clerk S. Baker reported that he had received a letter of thanks from a recipient of a grant from the city recently. This was the first letter of its kind that he ever received.

Chief Aitken reported that he had received replies from ten cities regarding the two-platoon system, and they were referred to him for a condensed report.

The request of the Humane Society for a grant was left over for the estimates. Several other minor items were laid over.

DORCHESTER TO HAVE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Dorchester, Jan. 29.—Great interest is being taken in the lessons given by Miss Carrick of the O. A. C. in the hall at Dorchester. Every afternoon 30 or 40 women assemble to hear a talk on cooking and domestic science. She also gives demonstrations. The lessons will continue till Friday, when Mr. Putnam, superintendent, will send a man here to organize a women's institute. A program is being arranged, and a lunch will be served.

Among the soldiers to return is Geo. Banks, who came last week, and yesterday Lloyd Dale arrived. He was very badly wounded, and is far from well yet.

MEN OF ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH SHOW WOMEN HOW TO SERVE MEAL

Are Hosts at Old-Fashioned Congregational Supper.

SURPLUS IS SUBSTANTIAL

Financial Report Satisfactory —Past Year a Record One, Say Board.

The real old-fashioned congregational suppers have been looked upon as out of date in recent years, but Rev. D. C. MacGregor of St. Andrew's Church announced on Sunday last that an old-fashioned congregational supper would be served on Wednesday, and that all who attended St. Andrew's Church were welcome, and the crowd of more than 300 persons who assembled in the basement of that church last evening, proved that they knew what was meant by the old-fashioned supper, and did justice to it.

The Men's Union is practically a new organization in that church, but when the congregation was ushered into the basement of the church last night and found arrayed in large white aprons and bakers' caps, all members of the union, the guests could not help thinking that these men had been in the habit of preparing annual suppers. The "cooks" appeared all lined up with their teacloths on their arms and their faces wreathed in smiles, for those entering the basement.

Systematically, they filled up the long tables with hungry folk who did justice to the well-cooked and substantial supper.

Never Saw Better.

"You never saw a better waiter in the King Edward Hotel," and "It's better than any of the women could do," were just two of similar expressions whispered around by the members of the congregation. Bright red jellies, made by the men themselves, scalloped potatoes, also peeled and prepared by the men, and ice cream and all sorts of cakes and meat, relishes, and, in fact, everything that provided a full course meal was placed upon the tables which were prettily decorated with palms and flowers and blue streamers, entirely done by the men.

While the congregation satisfied the inner man, the "cooks" while not waiting on table, which they did most capably, sang all the oldtime favorite songs, and new popular ones. Cook C. E. Wheeler presiding at the piano. There was not one dull moment while J. H. Laughton, the jovial president of the Men's Union, hovered up and down the long tables with happy remarks and a smile for everyone. The expression of the thanks to the Men's Union for the best supper yet served in St. Andrew's was extended by the whole congregation standing and singing, "For they are jolly good fellows."

Salary Increases.

Last, but not least, came the report of the board of managers for the year ending December 31st, 1918, for the presentation of which the congregation adjourned to St. Andrew's Hall. This meeting resulted in the following resolutions, each passed by a standing vote:

"That Rev. D. C. McGregor's stipend be increased $500 per annum, making his salary $3,000."

"That Miss A. D. Russenholt's salary be increased $100. She will now receive $880 per annum."

"That Mr. William Bailey, the church janitor, receive an increase of $150, making his salary $900 per annum."

"That his daughter, Miss Clara Bailey, his assistant, who has been receiving an honorarium of $25 per year, be given $100 each year."

An excellent financial report was presented by the secretary, R. J. Donaghy, showing that the total givings of the congregation for the year 1918 for all purposes amounted to the magnificent sum of $24,173.20. The envelopes contributions for current revenue exceeded those of last year by $642.12. Last year the church was handicapped with a large deficit, which this year has been entirely wiped out, and the church was able to close the year of 1918 with a surplus of $122.51.

Discuss New Hymnal.

Considerable discussion took place over the new hymnal which it had been decided to use in the church after the 1st of March. An amendment was made on this to the effect that no decision at all be made, but that the matter be left in the hands of the Session. It was thought by the board of managers generally that a better edition at a more popular price might be published. The board of managers and congregation also expressed themselves in sympathy with the temperance platform which has been recently drawn up.

In view of the fact that October of this year will be the 50th anniversary of the opening of the present church edifice, the board recommended that steps be taken to suitably commemorate the event. The following were elected to the board of managers:

A. E. Silverwood, R. Turnbull, G. M. Anderson, R. R. McIntosh, J. S. Brown and Andrew Robson for a term of two years, and Dr. E. Smith for the term of one year.

The reports of the various societies connected with St. Andrew's Church were all presented in detail at a previous meeting held on Wednesday last. These were most gratifying. The board of managers reported that the past year was a record one and the best in the history of the church.

REV. G. A. LEICHLITER ACCEPTS CALL GIVEN TO LONDON CHURCH

That Adelaide Street Baptist Church, which has been without a pastor for the past few months, will again have a pastor at its head, was announced at the annual meeting held in that church on Tuesday evening. Boyd, who left to take charge of the Waverly Road Baptist Church, Toronto. His salary will commence at $2,000.

Reports of the various departments of the church were read, and were gratifying. The treasurer's report showed that the total receipts for the year amounted to $6,422.68. Of this amount $1,232.42 was given to missions.

RIFLEMAN R. S. LAWSON DIED OF WOUNDS, SAYS LATE OFFICIAL NOTICE

Had Been Reported Missing Since the 28th of March, 1918.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sutherland Lawson, of 877 Van street, this city, have just received word that their son, Rifleman William Sutherland Lawson, died of a shell wound at the base hospital, Morecourt, on April 5, 1918. Rifleman Lawson was reported missing on March 28, 1918. Besides his father and mother, he is survived by a sister, Jean Lawson.

Rifleman Lawson was for two years employed in the mailing department of The Advertiser, later entering the McClary Manufacturing Company, where he spent over a year learning the trade of a tinsmith. When the war broke out he offered to enlist three times, but was rejected. Shortly afterwards he went to the United States, moving from Detroit, to Memphis and other American cities until finally he took ship from New Orleans to Norway, acting as ship's steward. On the arrival of the ship back in England, all hands were paid off and Lawson visited friends in the north of England for several months. Later he joined a rifle battalion of the Imperial Army in London, training for a year in Northampton in a reserve rifle battalion, before going to France.

DASHWOOD WELCOMES HERO.

DASHWOOD, Jan. 29. — Pte. Herbert Gaiser arrived home from overseas last evening. The citizens tendered him a genuine welcome. Principal Howard, with his staff of teachers, with about 200 school children and citizens, some mounted, met the hero about half a mile outside the town, with flying flags and patriotic songs. An auto conveyed Pte. Gaiser, amid cheering crowds, to the town square, where Rev. Mr. Graupner of the Lutheran Church, Rev. W. J. Yager of the Calvary Evangelical Church, and Dr. Taylor addressed hundreds of citizens.

FOUR ACCUSED ALL SWEAR THEY WERE GUESTS OF CAHILL

Witnesses Declare Men Home Night of Theft.

JURY WILL HEAR CASES

Judge Refuses To Dismiss Charges in Liquor Theft Cases.

Regarding the motions which were made at last night's session of the assize court by P. H. Bartlett, W. R. Meredith, J. C. Elliott and E. W. Flock, to have charges against John Donohue, James Quinn, William Foley and Fred Lyons, their respective clients, dismissed, Hon. Mr. Justice Kelly this morning ruled that the prisoners must go before the jury. The charges are all the same, breaking into and stealing liquor from a Queen's avenue residence.

They claimed that their clients were only the guests of Frank Cahill, and that they could not be charged with stealing the liquor taken from the Queen's avenue residence, or with having received stolen goods. They claim that the words of Cahill, namely, "I'm the whole cheese," which the policemen alleged he said to the other four men when Cahill's house, 81 Sterling street, was raided early on the morning of Monday, January 20, showed that Cahill was in control and that the others were only his guests.

The man who claimed the ownership of the liquor was of the opinion that the alleged burglary occurred sometime between midnight and 7 o'clock on the morning of Friday, January 17. He declared that he returned home about 11:30 p.m. and went to bed about midnight. He entered by the side door, but saw no light in the cellar. He declared, however, that he might not have seen a light if it had been there.

Found Door Open.

The caretaker at the house from which the liquor was alleged to have been stolen told of finding the back door open and the cases of liquor gone. Nearby was found a bottle which had contained peach brandy and also an overcoat, some keys and a flashlight.

Hume Elliott was called upon to identify some of the complainant's liquor. Among the bottles identified were ones containing "House of Lords Porter" and "London Dry Gin." In answer to a question by J. M. McEvoy, counsel for Cahill, as to whether the particular brand of gin in question was not common, the witness, to the merriment of the spectators, replied, "It was more common than it is now."

When asked where he had seen this kind of gin before, he said, "Do you wish me to go back 40 or 50 years?" The counsel declared that he only wished him to go back a few months. He had not seen it in any other place but that of the complainant.

Made Especially.

Arthur H. Brenner, a local cigar manufacturer, identified four boxes of cigars which were found in Cahill's house as ones which he had made specially for the complainant's father. He declared that he knew them by the label on the box. "Primero" was the name on the labels which were on the cigars. These labels had been, the witness declared, made over five years ago. "Made in Germany," was stamped on them. The witness swore that he had purchased them in New York. He had made 2,500 cigars of the above-mentioned brand for the complanant's father: had about 1,200 of them in the factory, but had never sold any except the 2,500.

The raid on Cahill's house was made about 2 a.m. Since midnight Constable Tomlin had kept watch on the house, and then called the patrol. Sergt. Boulton and Constables Noonan and Pope entered the front door, while Sergt. McDonald and Constable Tomlin entered the back door and arrested the men.

Found 56 Bottles.

Sergt. Boulton had found 56 full bottles buried in mud near a shed at the rear of the house.

Sergt. Boulton counted in the room where the men were three empty bottles, two partly full, and one sealed on the table; Constable Noonan saw five or six bottles on the table, and ten or twelve on the floor, and Sergt. McDonald saw in the room, seven full bottles, two partly empty, and ten empties. The cigars had been found in the drawer of a bureau in the bedroom. Three boxes were full and one was partly empty.

"There seemed to be a lot more empty bottles there after the prisoners went away than when they were there," was J. C. Elliott's comment on the variety of estimations as to the number of bottles in the room. An uproar of laughter followed.

Found Iron Bands.

Detective Robert Egelton had found about a dozen iron bands, which had evidently been around cases of the liquor, in the remains of a bonfire at the rear of Cahill's house. J. M. McEvoy was curious to know how the bottles of liquor had come to be in cases at the trial, when they were in two clothes baskets and a tub at police court. The detective declared that he had been present when the desk sergeant, in order that the "hard stuff" might be the more easily transported, had put it in the cases. The liquor which was in the tub, he said, had not been exchange for any other.

Lyons in Bed.

Annie Lyons, sister of Fred Lyons, declared that he came home on the aforementioned Friday evening between 6 and 7 o'clock. He had gone to bed about 9 o'clock. "I went to bed at 12 o'clock," she said, "and got up at 9 o'clock, and he was still in bed." She also stated that he had been in every night for the past month, except the Saturday night following the discovered loss of the liquor.

John Lyons, her brother, also stated that his brother had gone to bed at 9 o'clock.

Fred Lyons, the accused, corroborated the statements of his brother and sister. He had got up on Saturday morning, and after getting his wages had returned home to pay his board. He had gone to the theatre in the afternoon and evening, but had returned home about 10:30 p.m. On Sunday morning he went to Cahill's house. "I got drunk shortly after I got there," he said. He had, he declared, seen three or four bottles there before he began to "see double." Cahill had told Quinn, who was the first to arrive there, that he got the liquor at the Syndicate brickyards.

A Nice Sunday.

"You were having a nice Sunday," said Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop.

"I guess I must have," said the prisoner.

Walter Amess and his wife, with whom William Foley boarded, declared that on the Friday night he had only been out of the house for twenty minutes, and that during the remainder of the evening they had played checkers with him. Mrs. Amess, who slept in the next room to Foley, said that she was not a very sound sleeper, and that if Foley had tried to go out she would have heard him, because some boards in the hall in front of his door were loose.

Foley declared that he had been out of work during the greater part of the week preceding the theft, because the C. P. R., on which road he was a brakeman, had been laying o men on account of an embargo.

On Sunday he had been taking a short-cut across a common, but in order to make this cut he had to pass Cahill's door. He had knocked and been admitted.

First Arrival.

James Quinn was the first to arrive at Cahill's on Sunday morning. When he got there, Cahill had told him that he had been out on a little business, and that on the way back he had got the "booze." Quinn was satisfied that Cahill had got the liquor at the brickyard.

John Donohue had been talking to Hugh Watson, a switchman at the William street C. P. R. crossing at midnight on Friday. He had stayed there until 1 o'clock, and then went home, arriving there shortly after 1 o'clock. He had not gone to Cahill's house until 5 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. He had set out from home intending to visit a friend, who lived across the road from Cahill, but on finding him to be away from home, he went to Cahill's house. He had taken four or five drinks in quick succession, and was the only one of the four men who remembered the coming of the police.

Watson testified that he had met Donahue on Friday at midnight.

Myrtle Legg, Donahue's half-sister, declared that she had opened the door to him about 1:10 o'clock. She was delicate, she said, and did not sleep well. She was sure that the accused was home during the remainder of the night.

Cahill has not been heard yet, but the case is still in progress.

During the proceedings, the prisoners, who were brought from the jail to the prisoners' box by way of the "tunnel," wore solemn looks.

BEGIN HOT WATER DRINKING IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT

Says glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

If you wake up with a bad taste, bad breath and tongue is coated; if your head is dull or aching; if what you eat sours and forms gas and acid in stomach, or you are bilious, constipated, nervous, sallow and can't get feeling just right, begin inside bathing. Drink before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will flush the poisons and toxins from stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and cleanse, sweeten and purify the entire alimentary tract. Do your inside bathing immediately upon arising in the morning to wash out of the system all the previous day's poisonous waste, gases and sour bile before putting more food into the stomach.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves, and muscles became loaded with body impurities, get from your pharmacist a quarter pound of limestone phosphate, which is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant.

Men and women who are usually constipated, bilious, headachy, or have any stomach disorder, should begin this inside bathing before breakfast.

EXTRA HYDRO POWER MAY PREVENT DELAY

Gives Chance To Make Repairs More Easily.

A. O. Hunt, assistant general manager of the public utilities commission, says that the extra 50,000-horsepower of hydro which will be available shortly will have a tendency to prevent the municipalities being cut off in case of repairs having to be made in any of the machines at the powerhouse. During the latter years of the war, the powerhouse has been operated at full capacity, thus allowing but little chance to make any repairs to the machinery except in case of actual necessity. When the extra machines are available, however, there will be a reserve of power, and thus when any machine is to be repaired it can be shut down without affecting the system.

As far as the local situation is concerned, there is plenty power and the commission is comemncing a campaign for consumers. Particular attention will be paid to the sale of stoves this summer.

INCIDENTS FROM LIFE IN DOWN-TOWN DISTRICT

FISHY IS RIGHT.

"Gee, haven't those vamps mouths like fish?" was the comment overheard from a member of the audience in a local theatre yesterday when the picture of the fascinating (?) lady vampire appeared on the screen.

THE VALUABLE WIFE.

Mayor C. R. Somerville says that one of the things that, aside from patriotism, would tempt him to offer his services to his country, is the "housewife" with which every soldier is presented before leaving for overseas. The mayor says that with this "wife," unlike the ordinary, every-day brand of wife, one can always have buttons on which to fasten his suspenders. Buttons are much handier than nails, he says, after having tried both.

SMALLER, BUT TROUBLESOME.

Miss K. Hislop, a teacher in the Lord Roberts school, wishing to impress upon her pupils the progress made in several industries, was questioning the kiddies as to the things which have become familiar to all through having been used "somewhere in France." Tanks, aeroplanes, gas masks, periscopes, trench mortars, and all the other war machines that the youngsters could think of were written on the board. After a few moments of hard thinking one of the little lads in one of the rear seats caught an inspiration, and, frantically waving his hand, attracted the attention of the teacher. "Well," said Miss Hislop, "have you thought of something not on the board that has been used during the war?" Happy in the thought that he had beaten the other boys, the youngster, in a stage-whisper, informed the class that "cooties" had been forgotten. After the laugh had subsided somewhat, Miss Hislop intimated that she did not consider these worthy of mention in the same list as tanks.

HERE'S REAL GALL.

Do all wives look after the interests of their husbands as the lady did in this incident, which occurred on a Dundas car this afternoon? A tired-out veteran of the great war boarded a Dundas car at Egerton street. The car was well filled, there being only room enough for two passengers on the rear seat. The veteran sat down. The car had proceeded just one block further west, when a young married couple boarded the car via the front door. The lady seated herself beside the veteran, as it was the only available seat in the car. When the car had proceeded a short distance the lady turned around to the veteran and said: "Would you mind letting my husband sit down?" The veteran looked the young man up and down—the young man colored—and then said to the lady that he thought the young man was just as able to stand up as he was. The lady did not answer, and continued the trip in silence.

It was a cold day. The wind "she blew and blew and blew," as the French-Canadian says, and the plumber-man who had just finished repairing some person's water pipes in the southern portion of the city was nearly frozen, as he stood on the corner waiting for a car. When it finally arrived he piled aboard with various boxes of material and his tool kit. The skipper with the fare-box, casting a sarcastic look at the baggage, remarked: "One would think that this was a freight car." "You certainly would if you had to stand on the corner and freeze, while waiting for one," retorted the man of lead.

STUNTING WITH CAR.

J. Jenkins, former aviator and motor car speed demon gave an exhibition of nose dives and everything but looping the loop on the Coves on Sunday. But instead of using an aeroplane, he used his little grey "flivver". After much parleying, he got an observer "Curly" to accompany him, and after the many hair-raising stunts on the ice his hair was curly no more. Jenkins drove the car full speed up the ice and then by a little manoeuvring started the car spinning, sometimes nearly to its doom, when the ice began to crack. No casualties are reported, however, and Jenkins is willing to give another exhibition at any time, but minus "Curly."

THEY DON'T SEE SIGN.

Apparently whoever is in charge of looking after the returned soldiers as soon as they arrive off the troop train and are being taken to Princess avenue school for luncheon, either are not aware that the city has put up a large, elaborately-painted sign, which says, "London Welcomes Her Heroes Home," on Richmond street, near York street, or have forgotten it, as since the sign has been erected the returned men have been taken in the motor cars by Clarence street, instead of Richmond street, and have no opportunity to see the "Welcome" sign.

OPPOSITION TO COMMISSION FORM OF GOVERNMENT SEEMS TO HAVE ADDED STRENGTH TO ITS CAUSE

Aldermen Feel Sure It Will Pass Council and Will Be Submitted to Legislature in City of London Bill—Some Hope Toronto Action Will Quash Scheme.

Commission form of government filled the air in the city hall this morning. Many opinions were expressed regarding the criticism that was offered to the measure at the meeting last night by the members of the various boards. As far as the members of the council are concerned, it was not weighty enough to turn them aside from the scheme. It will come up for ratification or otherwise by the council on Monday night next and the general opinion is that it will carry and be placed in the city of London bill for ratification by the Legislature.

Mayor C. R. Somerville, while he admits that he has not made an extended study of the subject, is of the opinion that much of the criticism last night was without weight.

Opposition Helped.

Alderman S. R. Mannese remarked that while he was not previously so strong for the measure, yet he favored it, but now that he has seen so much opposition to the measure by some of the boards he has decided that the plan is worthy of all the whole-hearted support he can give it. He thinks that possibly one or two aldermen may object to it, but there is no doubt in his mind of it passing the council on Monday night.

Chairman Philip Pocock of the public utilities commission says that in his opinion one of the objectionable features is the placing of all the employees of the different boards under the control of the council. He objects to the council being given power to remove any of the employees of the various boards from office.

Has His Fears.

Chairman J. S. Barnard of the board of education does not favor the bylaw, either. He fears that four men cannot be found who will devote the time necessary to the work of the board without remuneration, and that the board might be unduly curtailed in its work by the council refusing enough funds.

Champions of the scheme say that all these objections are really unfounded, and there is no need to fear that the necessary work of any board will be hampered in any way by the council under the commission form of government.

Opponents of the plan are resting in the belief that the Legislature will refuse to give its assent to the bylaw.

IS S. A. COMMISSION HELP TO SOLDIERS OR JUST PAWN SHOP?

Capt. Minard Asks Question, Giving His Reason.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

In the interests of returned men I am led, because of an incident which happened today, to ask the question: Was the soldiers' aid commission organized for the purpose of assisting returned soldiers when actually in need, or is it simply a Government pawnshop, where a soldier with the proper security may secure a loan by puttting up his pension or "gratuity pay" as a pledge? There are instances where men have taken advantage of the officials of the soldiers' aid commission, and have obtained money which they did not actually need, but I trust that such cases are rare.

In Pitiable Plight.

Today a man wearing the active service button came to me looking for employment. His wife was at home sick in a rented room; the rent was due, and there was no money on hand. He was hungry, with but five cents in his pocket, and had eaten nothing all day. This man should not have married when he did, two or three weeks ago, but he did! He should not have been out of employment, but he was! He should have had money in his pocket, but he did not!

The outstanding facts were for the moment that, first, his wife was sick; second, his room rent was due, and they were liable to be turned out; third, they were hungry; fourth, and last, but, I trust, not least, he had served his country in France, and one or more of his brothers had been killed there.

Nothing Doing.

I went to the soldiers' aid commission, and after presenting the facts, with all my feeble eloquence, was told that they would look after the man's wife. Good! But how about the man? We will get a job for him. Fine! But what about the eats? Nothing doing! He has already had about $200 from another soldier's aid commission, for which he pledged his gratuity, and there is only a margin of $40 or $60 to his credit, so you see we can't let him have any more money.

Mr. Editor, what would you have done? Just what I did, I feel sure—but why is it necessary for you and me to do these things under such circumstances. Did the official of the Soldiers' Aid Commission go hungry? Was his rent overdue? Was his wife sick and destitute? No! He was Mr. Wise Man and had a good job, while this poor soldier, in poor health that needed no doctor's certificate to prove, was going hungry.

Take Down Sign.

I believe that every returned man should stand upon his own feet as quickly as possible, that their own manhood and self-respect call for as little aid as possible, but there is only one answer when a man is hungry, and that is food.

If the soldiers' aid commission was not organized for such cases, please tell me, Mr. Editor, what is the proper agency, that I may know where to send men, for my food would choke me if I were conscious that a returned man was going hungry when it was in my power to give him to eat. If necessary, take the soldiers' aid commission sign down and put up the three golden balls.

God grant that in dealing with these men we may remember that we are but instruments in the hands of a grateful people to serve those who have so gallantly served us.

CAPT. MINARD,
544 Dundas street.

BLACK EYE DID NOT PROVE ASSAULT, SO DEFENDANTS FREED

Three To One Too Much For Plaintiff.

Despite the fact that he sported one of the finest and largest black eyes that has been seen in police court in some time, Moses Leff had his assault case against Wm. Hunt and Mrs. Elizabeth Harris, his two colored tenants, dismissed by Magistrate Marshall Graydon today.

"She kick me," said Moses, pointing a trembling finger at Mrs. Harris, "and he hit me in the eye!" the witness continued, this time gazing at Hunt. "She also had her hands on me. I went down to collect the rent. I heard that they were moving out of my house. He called me a sheeny, but I don't mind that."

Didn't Mind Names.

"What, you didn't mind him calling you a sheeny," inquired the court in surprise. Mr. Leff shook his head, beard and all.

Hunt stated that he had not touched Moses at any time. The complainant had rushed in the door and told him if he was going to remove the couch he was carrying out he would have to kill him first.

"How did Mr. Leff get that black eye," asked Mr. Graydon.

"I don't know; I didn't give it to him," said Hunt.

Blames Friend.

Mr. Leff came a hollerin' and a rushin' into the house somethin' terrible, and a scarin' the children. He got hold of the couch my son was a takin' out, and another old man with him was tryin' to hit my son with a parasol. Maybe he hit Mr. Leff in mistake once or twice," volunteered Mrs. Harris in the witness box. "If I should never get out of this box, Willie didn't didn't hit him," she finished up.

Robert Harris, a brother-in-law, who was moving Mrs. Harris' valuables, also stated that Willie didn't hit Moses, and as it was three against one, Mr. Graydon decided in favor of the majority. W. G. R. Bartram appeared for Leff.

GIRLS PLEAD GUILTY

CROIX DE GUERRE AWARDED LONDONER FOR HIS GALLANTRY

Sergt. Jack Saunders Comes of Fighting Family.

Sergt. Jack Saunders, brother of A. E. Saunders, 39 Stanley street, this city, has been awarded the Croix de Guerre for gallantry in action, and a description of the battle in which he took such a prominent part is given below, partly in his own words.

Sergt. Jack and Pte. A. E. Saunders joined the C. E. F. at the same time, leaving their farming work, signing up with the 33rd Battalion. The latter was wounded in Regina trench on the Somme in October, 1916, and lost his left foot, and is now home.

These were not the only members of the family to serve in the war. The father of the boys, William Saunders, and his son of the same name were with the imperial forces when war broke out, and went to the Dardanelles. There they were reported "missing" in 1915, and have not been heard of since.

Here is the story of Jack Saunders' achievement:

The story has reached the city of how Sergt. Jack Saunders of London captured the Croix de Guerre.

The unit to which Saunders was attached on August 8 connected up with the French, who were on the right.

Advertiser Illustrations
SERGT. J. SAUNDERS, C. de G.

Saunders' platoon being on the right flank of the battalion.

The Canadians advanced more quickly than the French, and the result was that when they reached their new objective, they were attacked on their right flank, which was open. Saunders took his platoon and got it extended out in a suitable position, and "gave Fritz a little rapid fire." Saunders himself, writing to a friend in this city, says: "There was a large bush from which Fritz was trying to get at us. My officer came to me and asked me what I thought we had better do. Well, I thought our best plan was to fight our way through the bush and get connection with the French. Well, he thought it was a good idea, so away we went. I took part of the platoon and my officer took the other part. We had quite a lively time getting through the bush, but anyway we got there, and got in touch with the French. When we came out of the line that trip, we had an inspection by the French premier, and, to my surprise, I was called out by the adjutant, and he told me that I had been recommended for the French decoration. That is the last I have heard of it."

MANY TRIBUTES TO E. F. B. JOHNSTONE

Before beginning the case at the winter assizes today, reference was made to the death of E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., who passed away at his home in Toronto yesterday afternoon.

"He was an eminent member of the profession," said J. M. McEvoy. "I learned much from him. I was associated with him in many hard-fought battles."

"I concur with what Mr. McEvoy has said," declared Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop. "His ability was recognized all over the continent as well as the province."

"I desire to add to what has been said," stated J. C. Elliott. "It was my privilege to have been associated with him. His passing away has made a great gap which will be hard to fill."

"I was associated with him and have a keen recollection of his kindness," said Hon. Mr. Justice Kelly, who was presiding. "Not only the profession, but the country at large, suffers from his loss."

VETERANS AND FAMILIES FROM MEGANTIC LEAVE HALIFAX FOR THIS CITY

Two returned London soldiers with their families who arrived on the steamship the Megantic at Halifax on January 28, are on their way to this city. They are: J. Moffatt, 37 Gunn street, and J. A. MacDonald, 71 Dillabough street. The other Western Ontario soldiers with their families are: J. W. Dolby, Guelph; T. A. Gunn, Galt; G. C. Lowe, Cobourg; F. W. Oliver, Sarnia; H. Rees, Stratford; A. McIntyre, Wallaceburg; W. J. Roberts, Woodstock; A. O. Stevenson, St. Paul; L. Thome, Woodstock; B. Willington, address unknown. The returned soldiers' information bureau has had no word regarding the train which is carrying the men since they left Halifax. It is estimated that they will arrive early tomorrow morning.

G. T. R. OFFICIALS MAKE INSPECTION TOUR HERE

Visit Carshops, Roundhouse and Yards, Reporting All Well.

On a tour of inspection, Vice-President W. D. Robb of the G. T. R.; Major F. L. C. Bond, chief engineer; W. H. Sample, superintendent of locomotive and car departments, and W. G. Bowker, superintendent of Ontario lines, paid a visit to the city yesterday afternoon and last night. The party left for the west early this morning. The carshops, roundhouse and the yards were inspected, and everything was reported in first-class condition. So far as London is concerned, the G. T. R. has apparently no intentions at present of making any extensions or alterations to its buildings here. The ark will still do duty as a station as far as the officials would tell.

THERMOGENE CURATIVE WADDING

The answer of most fat people is that constant dieting is hard, continual exercise is tiresome, exhaustive—then, too, it might be harmful to force the weight down. That was the old-fashioned idea. Today in Marmola Prescription Tablets, all these difficulties are overcome. Just a pleasant, harmless little tablet after each meal and at bedtime causes fat to vanish. This modern method is absolutely harmless, entails no dieting or exercise, and has the added advantage of cheapness. A large case of safe Marmola Prescription Table is sold by druggists at 75c. Or, if preferable, can be obtained by sending price direct to the Marmola Co., 64 Garfield Bldg., Detroit, Mich. Now that you know this you have no excuse for being too fat, but can reduse two, three or four pounds a week without fear of any bad after-effects whatever.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate To Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION.—Although bitro-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.—Advt.

IMMORTALITY.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Permit me a few words by way of reply to an article appearing in your issue of January 22, entitled "Immortality! Do We Live Forever?" and contributed by the Rev. D. Rogers.

In discussing this question we wish to base all we have to say on the Scriptures, for on this authority alone can we arrive at the truth on this most important doctrine of Christianity: "To the law and the testimony, if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them."—Isaiah, viii., 10.

To arrive at a proper understanding of the subject we must certainly have a correct meaning of the words "immortality" and "mortality." On the authority of Dr. R. Young's Analytical Concordance I submit that the term "immortality" signifies a state or condition of deathlessness—a death-proof condition. Hence the word "mortality" would signify a state or condition of liability to death—a condition in which death is a possibility. In harmony with this signification, every text in the Bible where the word "immortality" occurs will agree. It is stated but six times, and only appears in the New Testament, viz.: I. Cor., xv., 53-54; I. Tim., i., 17, vi., 16; II. Tim., i., 10; Rom., ii., 7.

Adam was created mortal, a condition in which death is a possibility, or everlasting life is a possibility, according as he was obedient or disobedient to God. Had he been created an immortal being, undieable, death-proof, God's sentence of death would have been an empty threat, but because Adam was mortal, dieable, liable to death except as sustained by his Creator's provisions, therefore, as declared, he died "in the day" of his disobedience. Adam lived 930 years and died—Gen., v., 5. "One day is with the Lord as a thousand years."—II. Pet., iii., 8.

On the strength of this signification of the words, and we think no professed Bible scholar will question the same, we submit also that the angels are not possessed of immortality, but, on the contrary, are mortal beings—liable to death, for all will remember that our great adversary, the devil, previous to being cast out of heaven, was one of the brightest of the heavenly host, and eventually he is to be destroyed. We are also informed (Jude, 6) that "the angels which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, he (God) hath reserved in everlasting chains under darkness unto the judgment of the great day."

We recognize, as does the Rev. D. Rogers, that there is an "universal instinct and desire of the human race for immortality." We agree also that this desire is "implanted in our intellectual and moral constitution." However, it would be very unsafe to conclude from this that man was created an immortal being. On the contrary, we believe the Scriptures to teach most positively that Adam was endowed with mental and moral qualities in the image of his Creator. That through his disobedience and consequent death all his offspring are born in a dying condition; that this universal instinct and desire of the human race for a future life is a remnant of the original image and likeness of God in which Adam was created.

The Bible also teaches that the penalty inflicted on Adam for his disobedience was death, and if students of the inspired word will follow its instruction closely, instead of founding their belief on the theology of the Dark Ages, they will discover that when God pronounced death as the penalty for sin, he did not mean life in torment or any other condition, but death, and, except for the Redemptive Work of Christ mankind would have forever remained in death.

Hopes of a future everlasting life are held out vaguely in the Old Testament, but, as above stated, immortality is not so much as mentioned. The Apostle Paul declares of our Lord Jesus that he "abolished death (broke its hold on man) and brought life and immortality to light through the gospel." (II. Tim., i., 10). This shows two things:

(1) That life in perfection, lasting life, is separate and distinct from immortality—indestructibility.

(2) It shows that neither of these great blessings had been disclosed or made accessible previous to the gospel—the "great salvation which began to be preached by our Lord."—Heb., ii., 3.

And what did our Lord's gospel—good news, bring to "light" respecting these two great blessings—life and immortality?

(1) It shows that by divine grace our Lord purchased the whole of Adam's posterity and thus secured for each and every member of the race an opportunity to return from death to life. In other words it declares coming "times of restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all the holy prophets since the world began."—Acts, iii., 21. Restitution in its highest and ultimate sense will be the bringing of the restored ones not only out of the tomb, but out of the various degrees of death (represented in sickness and imperfection) up to life-lasting life as Adam enjoyed it before his disobedience. The gospel of Christ assures us that a full opportunity to attain this life blessing shall be granted to all under the reasonable terms of the New Covenant—"in due time."—I. Tim., ii., 6.

(2) The "light" of Christ's gospel shows a special provision in the divine arrangement for a special calling, testing and preparing of a limited number of his human creatures to more than a mental and moral likeness to himself—an invitation so to conform themselves to the Father's will and so to prove their loyal obedience to him, that he might make of them "new creatures," the "express image of his person," and "partakers of the divine nature"—IMMORTALITY. This our Lord Jesus brought to light, in the good news of God's grace.

Trusting I have not taken up too much of your valuable space, and thanking you. ALBERT SHELDRICK.

THE STATE'S DUTY TO THE MOTHER.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Will you allow me space in your valuable paper to express my views on the subject of "mothers' pensions," as set forth in your columns of this morning's Advertiser.

It is most necessary in my opinion, both for the mother and children and the country in general, that these pensions be brought into force at the earliest possible date, for is not a mother by her influence, love and self-sacrifice the backbone of every nation and the power behind the throne for the "hand that rocks the cradle rules the world."

Why, then, should she be taken from her natural surroundings, and her children robbed of their rightful heritage to look back in after years with no happy memories of childhood's days? This undoubtedly would be the case if the present state of affairs be allowed to continue.

Personally I could relate many sad cases, but one in particular always comes before my mental vision when I hear my own little one crying for its mother. It is that of a poor worn and weary mother. She has five children, the eldest eight, the youngest barely two. Her husband was ill for some considerable time and after his death she struggled on alone, sewing, washing, doing any kind of work, no matter how arduous, to make an honest living for herself and little ones in order to keep them with her and encircle them with her loving care. It at last became too much, and she was forced by constant ill-health to appeal for assistance to the authorities. What did they do? Why, she was removed to hospital until her illness improved, when they would find her a situation, and after all her noble self-sacrifice her children were taken from her and deposited in "homes," and I can assure you that the heart-breaking cries for their mother haunts me yet.

All this could have been avoided if proper provision had been made in the first place, but although the state constantly urges the need for more children it frequently overlooks the fact that they need care and attention, and above all a mother's love. In no case, unless it is absolutely necessary for the child's welfare, should it be taken away from its mother.

Baby gardens and homes are all right in their way, but only as a last resort in cases where a mother is absolutely incapable of performing her duty in a proper manner, but these cases are, providing the financial position is secure, fortunately in the minority.

The splendid manner in which the wives of our absent soldiers have looked after their children's interests is ample proof that the scheme is practicable, and the most superficial observer will admit that money spent in the interest of children's welfare and happiness is the best investment that any nation can make. Sincerely yours, A PATRIOTIC MOTHER.

RECALLS THE OLDEN DAYS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

The announcement in Friday's Advertiser of the death in Montreal of Mr. Samuel Chadwick reminds me that he was one of my earliest and closest friends. My people came to London about the same time as the Chadwicks and a year or two later my father bought an acre and a half of land on the northwest corner of Oxford and Adelaide streets, where we lived for several years. The Chadwick farm was about half a mile east on Oxford street and as both our families were musical I soon became intimate with the Chadwick boys, Samuel, Rowley, Barkley and Sidney. Later Sam led the artillery band, of which Rowley, Berk and I were members, and which was afterwards conducted by the late Mr. St. John Hyttenrauche. We were attached to Col. Shanley's battery of artillery, and in 1860 took an active part in the reception of the Prince of Wales. Berk and I, being of nearly equal age, were lifelong friends, and one of my keenest regrets is that I was not in London during his last illness. It is a peculiar coincidence that many of my old friends were named Sam. There were, among others, Sam Chadwick, Sam McBride, Sam Barker (an old St. George's School fellow), Sam Charlton and Sam Perrin. Hundreds of vivid recollections of London in the fifties crowd my mind as I reflect on the passing away of these old friends.

THE ANNEXATION BOGEY.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Your contemporary is mightily concerned about the so-called alienating possibilities that lay in the reciprocity pact of 1911. Though the government of the day has made reciprocity a realized fact in many lines, and that without any evils befalling the country, its arguments sound silly. But then the Canadian Manufacturers' Association must be served, and the Tory journals will soon be given the cue to stand out for a retention of the war time tariff as advocated by the high priest of the protective interests, Sir John Willison. Let the country get ready for a definite demand that instead of a tariff averaging 35 per cent, as before the war, it shall from now on have one of 42½ per cent, with the gullible Canadian public paying the difference. That is what the Tory party at Ottawa stands for today.

Tories never like to have the sober facts of history out before them. In the decade before 1854 this country was filled with annexation sentiment. It was a period of discontent all over the world, in its earliest stage the period of revolution in Europe. Canada felt it to some extent, less than might have been expected, however. But what ended the economic discontent? Professor Morison of Queen's University, in his work on "Parties and Politics in Canada," says that "not until reciprocity brought to the Canadian merchant the prosperity he looked for did annexation pass from among the irritating issues in Canadian politics." That is, as soon as we traded with the market that nature had laid out for us we prospered and with prosperity came contentment.

Toryism will always find evil conditions due to some cause apart from its own selfish ambitions. Toryism regards the labor troubles as due to "original evil" in the minds of a lower class, rather than a first fruit of its own selfishness and oppression. The Tory party is the party of law and order only when law secures its own privileges and when order means acquiescence in its "divine right" claims. It has always been so, it always will be so. Toryism is a state of mind, and cannot be altered. I remain, yours truly,

ONE WHO VOTED AGAINST RECIPROCITY IN 1911, AND IS SORRY FOR IT.

A REPLY TO FRED YOUNG.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Kindly permit a little space. I am another soldier who has been just as far and disabled much more, and I believe also that I might have as much brains as Fred Young. That I may try to put him right, and that I may try and point out the trouble with Fred Young and others, of his ilk.

Now, Mr. Editor, if I call a man a fool, or an assembly of men fools, of course I infer that I am perfectly sane and quite smart, and if I call a man or any army of men cowards, the same inference is here. I am very brave is really what we mean when we talk like this, and this, I believe, is the principle which permeates nearly all of Freddie Young's writings and criticisms. One could read between the lines of his letter the other night regarding the gratuities for men who only got as far as England, that while he inferred that all the thousands of men who were injured in England, taken sick in the unusual weather, or who broke down under training, and all the hundreds that were retrained in England or Canada for instructional purposes—all these and more were slackers, lead swingers and cowards, according to the said Fred Young; while he and a few friends won the war. It is too bad his activity and ability was not recognized by the war office, even his comrades did not notice anything different in his ability or service until he got home, and I don't believe the public would have noticed it, or him, much, if he had not so persistently patted himself on the back by the disparagement of others.

There was a big meeting of returned men on Saturday night, many of them "been farther and wounded worse," and the majority, I believe, with just as much gray matter as Fred Young, who considered carefully all phases of the question and voted every man of them, that all volunteers who enlisted early in the war, be treated by the Government in gratuities at least as well as the draftees. This is all the resolution amounted to, but that whole battalion of men, the G. W. V. A., is all out of step but Fred Young. The men are just stupid and the officers are just playing to the political gallery. Of course, the assumption is, that Fred Young is very clever, very brave and very straight. The same with the churches, the Ministerial Alliance, etc., or whatever this man Young undertakes to write about—everyone is out of step but him. But it is noticed he would like to run the G. W. V. A. from the outside instead of from the floor of the meeting. He always keeps his little 25 cents per month in his pocket. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain,

ONE FINE DOG SHOW.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

This may not be the time of year for outdoor fairs and carnivals, but apparently social events in the dog kingdom do not run concurrently with the more ornate ones of us humans. At the corner of Princess avenue and Waterloo street our four-footed canine friends—and enemies—are holding forth with many sundry battles and heterogeneous yodellings from 7 a.m. or thereabouts till "curfew rings the knell of parting day." This fair started two days ago, and will doubtless continue with more or less noise until some more exciting event shows our lesser friends the futility of cavorting on one corner indefinitely—especially with the weather as it is.

All the lawns in the immediate neighborhood of activities are covered with many large and small and meandering dog-tracks. Occasionally the foot-prints converge through irregular loops and circles to one common centre of combat, where pieces of ex-fur and large, sprawling impressions on the snow give evidence of past encounters. The list of participants and rooters in short form is as follows: 1 large black St. Bernard-collie, 1 large white St. Bernard-hound-collie, 7 pseudo foxterriers (some spotted), 5 more-or-less hounds, 3 smoke-colored poodles, 4 brown collies (various sizes), 6 miscellaneous mutts and 2 Airedales, all of whom take part in the fighting at different times and places. "Long may they bark." KICKER.

LAYMAN ON IMMORTALITY.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I have read with interest the fine article on immortality, and the Christian belief in a future state by Rev. D. Rogers in a recent issue of The Advertiser. The article seems to me concise and clear in language and development of the theme, while the arguments, though not new, are well stated and convincing.

Christian psychologists, a few years ago, thought they unearthed the most convincing argument of all for a future life and immortality from the existence of certain powers of the sub-conscious mind in man, not immediately concerned with his conscious activities here, and, therefore, presumably a part of the mental equipment of the surviving personality, suited to some other state and environment beyond the present. I do not know whether this newer and more scientific argument carries much weight now in the world of Christian belief or not. It is evident that while this argument, along with those adduced by Mr. Rogers, may not be convincing proof when taken separately, yet when the whole are taken together the effect is culminative, and afford a strong presumptive proof that death does not end all. I believe with Mr. Rogers, that if we leave out the argument from a divinely inspired revelation, the case is greatly weakened and inconclusive. The materialist contends that the socalled mind or soul, and its activities, are but functions of the brain and have, therefore, no objective reality apart therefrom as at death. They point out that when the brain is severely injured partial unconsciousness results, and they infer that with a total elimination of that organ consciousness would cease altogether. The scientific believer in a divine revelation admits that while a serious injury to the brain seems to negative the soul's separate activities, yet it is because in that case the mind is connected with the organ of thought and volition in a diseased state, and which is a clog or incubus to its separate activities, and will be thrown off at death.

How can we decide between the conflicting opinions? Who, for instance, among the millions who have crossed the "Great Divide" since the war began have returned—even from the "twentieth plane"—to give us their experience in the spiritual world? Neither science nor philosophy can settle the question, and while as Christians we naturally look to the Bible as our supreme authority in such matters, yet when we come to details the different New Testament writers, like those of the Old, are not uniformly consistent, making the subject of eschatology extremely difficult and even disappointing to the student.

Mr. Rogers' letter and theme are timely just now, when the world is seething with unrest and chastened with universal sorrow and bereavement. It was just this other-worldliness of Jesus and His apostles and the early Christian church that sustained them in times of fierce persecution and nerved them to bare their backs to the cruel scourge, and their necks to the executioner's sword, rather than deny their Lord or the principles of His kingdom of heaven, and which bulked so largely in His teaching. The church even in wartime, seems to have lost this other-worldliness of Jesus, and would by mixed methods, political and Christian, renovate this old earth and thus make it a veritable kingdom of heaven here below, as an end in itself. This, I believe, was not the viewpoint of Jesus. When the seventy returned from their missionary tour and reported that even the devis were subject to them through Christ's name, Jesus retorted, "Rejoice not that the spirits are subject unto you, but rejoice that your names are written in heaven." Yes, and when He broke the news to the sorrowing disciples that He was leaving them He did not console them with the promise of a reconstructed society, where all wrongs would be righted, but pointed them to the glories of the "Father's house," which He was going to make ready for them.

How to Remove Pains Caused by Kidney Trouble

It may be news to you, but it is history to thousands of persons, who have suffered from Backache, Painful Urination, Swollen Joints, Constant Headaches, etc., that Gin Pills remedy Kidney and Bladder troubles by first removing the cause.

The cause of all Kidney diseases such as Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, etc., is congested Kidneys. Kidneys that fail to perform their function of filtering the poisons and impurities from the blood. These poisons remaining in the system are the direct cause of a chain of dreaded diseases.

If you've never heard of Gin Pills before ask any of your friends about them. Gin Pills have been on the market for years; they are the old reliable remedy for Backache, etc. If you suffer from any Kidney or Bladder afflictions try Gin Pills.

Should you not care to buy them as an experiment, a sample box will be sent to you on request.

Gin Pills contain the beneficial ingredient of Gin without the slightest trace of alcohol. For many years bottled Gin was considered the ready remedy for Kidney or Bladder troubles. Scientific research proved, however, that the reason for this was due purely to the extract of Juniper it contained and nothing else. From hundreds of letters received by us we are convinced that all any sufferer of Kidney or Bladder trouble needs to do is try Gin Pills—and they will find relief at once.

QUERIES REGARDING MILITARY SERVICE

Address Your Problems to the Military Editor of The Advertiser and They Will Be Answered From Official Information.

PRIVATE. Q.—1. I was drafted under the military service act, and ordered to report on May 28, 1918. I trained in camp until August 11 last. Was first placed in category A2, and later, when boarded for overseas, was placed in B2. I received leave until men in my category were to be called and turned in my full kit and uniform. Can I get a demobilization discharge?
2. Can I get the $35 civilian clothing allowance?
3. Will I have to write for it, and to whom?

A.—1. Yes.
2. The military authorities cannot make a ruling on such cases as yours, and when interviewed regarding same, the information was given out that each case will be dealt upon its individual merits, and if considered by them to be entitled to same, the civilian clothing allowance will be paid to the soldier concerned. You will therefore have to trust to luck when you report for discharge and your case is considered.
3. Eventually a form will be sent to you by the military authorities for you to fill out and return before discharge is completed. Should you desire to speed matters up you may do so by writing to your commanding officer and requesting your release from the service. This will likely result in a form as above being sent to you almost immediately for completion of discharge.

SUBSCRIBER. Q.—Would you kindly through your column enumerate the various ranks in the Canadian army and the pay per day respectively received?

A.—Private, $1.10 per day; lance corporal or bombardier, $1.15 per day; corporal, $1.20 per day; sergeant, $1.50 per day; company quartermaster-sergeant, $1.70 per day; staff sergeant, $1.80 per day; company sergeant-major, $1.80 per day; quartermaster-sergeant, $2 per day; warrant officer, $2.30 per day; commissioned officers: lieutenant, $2.60 per day; captain, $3.75 per day; major, $5 per day; lieutenant-colonel, $6.25 per day, and so on to colonel, brigadier-general, etc. These rates are for the army in the field and include field allowances. For commissioned officers in addition to the above rates an acting adjutant receives 50 cents more per day, and command pay is issued at the rate of one dollar per day in addition to pay of rank.

LINWOOD. Your case has been referred to military headquarters here for investigation, and information regarding same will be communicated to you through these columns as soon as received at this office.

R. N. C. V. R. Q.—1. I enlisted in the Canadian navy on January 18, 1916. I have since served on several ships and submarines. I received a temporary discharge on December 26, 1918, and will receive a final discharge on June 19, 1919. Will I be paid until I get my final discharge?
2. Are sailors entitled to land grants?
3. Does a sailor receive war gratuity under the new scale?

A.—1. No. You will not be paid subsequent to the date of temporary discharge. Were it intended that you were to receive pay during the interim you would have been granted a furlough with pay instead of a temporary discharge.
2. Yes. That is, Canadian sailors, which includes your case.
3. Yes. Your service counts similar to that of any soldier in an actual theatre of the war, and entitles you to receive gratuity under the highest scale, according to your period of service.

INGERSOLL. Q.—My son was married overseas when the armistice was signed, and is now with his regiment in France. His wife is in England. Will you please tell me how she may come to Canada and when?

A.—She may come via any British passenger steamship line almost immediately should she so desire at her own expense. However, arrangements are now being completed by the Canadian overseas military authorities, whereby all dependents of Canadian soldiers serving overseas are to be furnished transportation to their respective destinations in Canada at Government expense. Your daughter-in-law may therefore apply to the proper authorities in England for transportation to this country, or she may remain in England until her husband is to be returned to Canada, and then make application, arriving in this country at the same time as he does.

AYLMER. Q.—1. I reported for service on January 4, 1918, to the Western Ontario Regiment and after repeated medical boards was finally placed in category C. I then applied for and received leave of absence from March 4 until October 1, 1918, as a farmer. When this expired I was transferred to the records of the deputy registrar and given exemption until my category was to be called. Should I receive a discharge from the Western Ontario Regiment?
2. Am I entitled to my kit and uniform?
3. Am I entitled to the civilian clothing allowance?

A.—1. Yes.
2. No.
3. The military authorities here have not announced a ruling regarding such cases: as above stated that each case will be dealt with on its individual merits, according to a plan of procedure usually followed. If the authorities decide in your favor, you will receive the allowance, period of service, date of reporting, etc., being taken into consideration.

OIL SPRINGS. Q.—1. I was drafted and reported for service May 28, 1918. I was placed in category A2, and was slated to go overseas in July. The draft did not proceed overseas at that time, and in the meantime I was injured while training and a subsequent medical board placed me in category C1, giving me 30 days' leave. Later I was granted exemption as a farmer until my class was to be called. Will I receive a demobilization discharge?
2. Will I get my uniform and kit back, as I had to turn it in when I received my leave?
3. Will I receive any allowance for being injured while on duty?

A.—1. Yes.
2. No.
3. On reporting for final medical board on discharge you should (if the matter is not brought forward) draw the attention of the medical officer in charge to any disability incurred whilst in the service. For such a disability you are entitled to a pension gauged according to extent of same, and if found, the medical board will classify your disability and recommend your case for consideration with a view to paying you a pension. However, should there be no disability found to have been contracted while in the service you will receive no allowance.

SHEGOVARSK IS EVACUATED BY ALLIED FORCES

Take Up New Position Ten Miles North of Established Post.

75-MILE RETIREMENT

A Week Ago Their Farthest South Point Was Ust Padenga.

ARCHANGEL, Tuesday, Jan. 28.—(By the Associated Press).—The American and Allied forces operating south of the town of Archangel evacuated Shegovarsk yesterday and retired ten miles to the northward. The Bolsheviki continue to shell the American and Allied positions at Tarasevo and Tulgas.

The forces which retired from Shegovarsk, about sixty-five miles north of Ust Padenga, which was the Allied position farthest south, a week ago, today halted their march northward and established new posts at the villages of Vistarka and Ust Sama, on the opposite bank of the Vaga River at a strategical bend in the stream about ten miles north of Shegovarsk. The new posts are protected by forests through which there are no winter trails in the immediate region.

Refugees' Plight Serious.

The number of refugees fleeing over forest paths in zero weather from Shenkursk to the Allied lines north of that town is increasing. Red Cross representatives report that the plight of the refugees is serious.

Those who left Shenkursk after the arrival of the Bolsheviki repeat stories of massacres there, but Allied headquarters is still inclined to doubt them. The refugees declare that the Bolsheviki continued to shell the town long after the American forces yithdrew, evidently not knowing that they had left. The bombardment finally resulted in the setting afire of many buildings, after which, it is said, the Bolsheviki rushed in and shot many of the inhabitants.

E. F. B. JOHNSTON, ONE OF CANADA'S NOTED LAWYERS, IS DEAD

Passed Away at Toronto Home Following Stroke.

WAS LEADING LIBERAL

Supported Laurier in the Last Election—Handled Important Criminal Cases.

TORONTO, Jan. 29.—After an illness of a week, E. F. B. Johnston, K. C., leading criminal lawyer until he retired from active practice, died this afternoon at his home, 64 Bernard avenue. Mr. Johnston was forced through failing health to leave his work. The immediate cause of death is given as a stroke. He was 68 years old.

The late Mr. Johnston was head of the firm of Johnston, Dodds, Grant & MacKay. He became prominent in his profession with the success which attended his efforts as a crown counsel in several important murder trials and later as defence counsel in the Clara Ford, Sifton, and other criminal cases. He was the prosecuting counsel for the Government in the Welland dynamite case, acted for the Ross Government in the Gamey charges, and for the defence in the Foster-MacDonald libel suit. His last case was the Government shell investigation of 1916.

Strong Liberal.

The late Mr. Johnston was a strong Liberal, and indorsed the policy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier during the last federal campaign. He had been connected with several banks and financial corporations during the past few years.

Hon. William R. Riddell, judge of the high court division of the supreme court of Ontario, said: "I have known Mr. Johnston for many years, and had been with him and against him in cases. He was exceedingly careful and accurate in all respects, understood his work thoroughly, and had a keen appreciation of turning point in a case. His cross-examination was masterly, and more than once I have seen a case won by a short cross-examination of an important witness. Thoroughly devoted to his profession, he did not allow his interest to be centered there alone. A man of fine artistic taste, a lover of beautiful pictures and delft, he was a competent judge and connoisseur. He also had a fine literary taste. It was not the number of books which he read, so much as the kind of book, which characterized him. He did not waste his time over trifles, but what he read was good, and was thoroughly understood and appreciated. A man honorable as the day, upright in all dealings, a good citizen, a perfect husband and father, Mr. E. F. B. Johnston was a man of whom any country might be proud. The success which he achieved in his chosen profession must be an inspiration to those who desire success honestly earned by honest work."

Loss to Country.

Hartley Dewart, K.C., M.P.P., said: "Mr. Johnston's death is a great loss to the bar and to the country. Usually for the defence he eloquently pleaded the cause intrusted to him with an intuition that laid the foundation for a great career as the most forceful advocate before a jury. By dint of painstaking application to the study of the law, he became a counsel whose opinion or advice was sought upon the most abstruse legal questions and was wisely accepted by those who consulted him. Later, when he had demonstrated his right to legal position, his sound financial judgment enabled him to achieve an equal success in another sphere. Those who knew him recognized him as a friend who was never too busy to consult, advise, direct or help. They will feel most the great gap his death has made."

Economize On Gas

THE WEATHER.
Lower Lakes and Georgian Bay—Fresh southwest to northwest winds; mostly fair and mild.

The various natural gas companies of Ontario have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars trying to locate and develop new gas pools, but it is many years since a new pool has been found.

Gas companies will continue to spend money to find new supplies, but there is no telling whether they will be successful.

The only certain method, therefore, for the user to insure a continuous cheap supply of the natural gas in the present fields is to be careful in the use of it. Far too much is wasted because it is cheap, but remember, when the present supply is exhausted, and no other is forthcoming, you will have to pay two or three times as much for your fuel.

Although Natural Gas Is Cheap, Do Not Waste It—the Supply Is Not Everlasting.

AILSA CRAIG HERO WELCOMED

AILSA CRAIG, Jan. 29.—Pte. Fred Maguire, son of George Maguire, this place, arrived home yesterday, having come over on the Empress of Britain. A large crowd met the train, and after cheers, he was taken to his home by friends in decorated autos. A big reception was to be given by the Young Ladies' Club when Pte. Maguire would return, but owing to so much sickness at present, the president, Miss Ada Munro, entertained him and his boy friends the same evening at her home, and a very enjoyable time was spent.

Pte. Maguire went overseas with the 135th Battalion, but was taken a prisoner after fourteen months in the trenches. Only for the girls having him adopted and sending him all the money possible each month to send supplies to him, he stated that he would have starved until then, as he only received bread and soup and had to work hard every day in a coal mine. His Red Cross supplies consisted of the very best and also clothing as well, and to hear he received every parcel, which kept him well supplied with good food, and that he has returned safely, in the best of health, after being a prisoner for ten months.

Pte. Maguire is the only Ailsa Craig boy who was a prisoner. He is a general favorite.

BRITAIN GRANTS BONUS TO ALL NAVAL UNITS

LONDON, Jan. 29.—The admiralty announces that pending the conclusions of the committee on inquiry on the subject it has been decided to increas the pay of all naval men, ranging from an extra shilling per day for ordinary seamen to six shillings for captains and higher ranks, with similar increases to the royal marines. This extra pay, it is declared, must be regarded as a bonus, and not as representing an increase of the present pay, which may ultimately be considered a just and equitable remuneration.

JUDGE HODGINS SAYS CANADIANS MERIT THE BEST

They Know It and Are Perhaps Prone To Magnify Grievances.

REPORTS ON NORTHLAND

If Men Had Been Going to War Instead of Returning, They Might Not Have Kicked.

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—Both officers in charge and the non-commissioned officers and men returning on the steamship Northland come in for adverse criticism in the report of Mr. Justice Hodgins on the voyage of that troopship last month, an investigation into the conditions of which was instituted early in January.

The report, which has just been received by the Government, is a comprehensive one, comprising nearly forty typewritten pages.

The men, particularly the non-commissions, are blamed for their failure to observe the usual military discipline and to perform the duties expected of them in the matter of the cleaning of latrines and eating and sleeping quarters.

Some Complaints Upheld.

Their complaints regarding the latter, however, are considered as fully justified, while on the question of food, their complaints are, in the main, sympathetically upheld. In the latter respect the lack of proper system of serving and the fact that the ship's galley was situated too remote from the places where the meals were served, are held as primarily responsible.

The report states that there was an adequate supply of food on board to meet all requirements, and that the cooking was, as a whole, good although occasionally the food was badly cooked, but holds that such incidents were exceptions which might happen in any mess or eating-house.

After pointing out that the accommodation on board the troopship, while probably equal to third-class conditions in pre-war times, and of a nature which might be cheerfully endured by troops on their way to the seat of war, "eager to get at the enemy," the report states they were not such as the Canadian soldiers should be either asked or permitted to put up with when returning to their homes.

Men's Outlook Changed.

"The outlook of the men," Judge Hodgins states, "has now completely changed, and they no doubt complain of much that in itself is far better than they had to put up with during the war. But it is a matter of national pride to insure that they should have ample sleeping, seating and eating accommodations, and such provisions for ventilation as will enable them to make the voyage in comparative comfort."

With the military officers—both the conducting party and those in charge of the district troops—Mr. Justice Hodgins is less sympathetic.

"I find," says Judge Hodgins, "that no one in the conducting staff took personal, direct and continuous control or oversight of the men's comfort and discipline, and that there was no one in the galley who was familiar with the proper scale of rations, and that the result was confusion and dissatisfaction which might have been remedied if taken in hand at once and in a practical way."

Is it Fair to Officer?

In reaching his conclusions, the commissioner states:

"I acknowledge the candor and sincerity of the officer commanding troops, who has served for over two and a half years through campaigns which included St. Eloi, Regina trench, Vimy Ridge, Hill 70 and Passchendaele—and also of his staff, and it is a question whether, after the war experience I have referred to, it would be fair to ask any officer to take the position if it is to be other than as he viewed it, and as needing activity and concentration."

The report states, in addition, that owing to the fact that the regular trained parties were all occupied on account of the large number of troops being returned to Canada in December, the one for the Northland had to be hurriedly made up. In consequence, only two of its members had any experience, and that only in clerical and pay department work. Also, as a result of this pressure, the various military district officers had no opportunity to make acquaintance with the personnel of their units before sailing.

Cause of Confusion.

To these two causes, the report says, much of the consequent confusion and want of discipline was due. A lack of co-operation and the workings of a faulty system, together with the shifting of responsibilities on the part of the officers, are held as responsible in considerable degree to the discomforts of the voyage.

Some of the sections in which the returning men were quartered were overcrowded, while others had space to spare, involving inadequate feeding facilities and disagreeable living conditions consequent upon the rough weather conditions, which caused sea sickness in the sections where the soldiers were required to both eat and sleep. It is pointed out in the report, were among the evils which might have been corrected had there been forthcoming efficient and sympathetic efforts.

Dealing with the matter of messing, Mr. Justice Hodgins says:

Military to Blame.

"So far as the evidence relates to this branch of the subject, I find that no efficient dealing with the situation, either by the non-commissioned officers, or the orderly officers, was displayed. There is not any appreciable contradiction between the statements of the men and that of the officers called as to the frequency of the complaints. One officer said he received "dozens," and another that they were "numerous" But in the extremely sketchy daily reports made by orderly officers there is hardly any mention of complaints. My observations, based on many of the incidents, related both by the officers, N. C. O.'s and men, leads to a very definite conclusion that the 'visits' to the mess did not accomplish any results, except in individual cases occurring at the moment."

Canucks Not "Kickers."

The report, however, points out: "But the complaints, which I find were frequent and continuous, were in the majority of instances addressed to the non-commissioned officers, or to the ship's stewards and were not by them brought to the notice of the day orderly officer in any effective way. There seems to be a curious but well-defined reluctance on the part of Canadians to take up and adjust any grievance for fear of being regarded as 'kickers,' and these soldiers were no exceptions to this rule. The root trouble was not one that could be corrected on the spot, when some particular man complaining was short of food or served with badly cooked meat or vegetables. It lay along way off at the galley and the orderly officer on some occasions went there to try and remedy the complaint he had just received."

Complaints Regarding Food.

After acknowledging the difficulty of correcting conditions of this kind, the finding proceeds:

"In short, on this head I am compelled to find that there were well-founded complaints, both of temporary shortage of food and sometimes of badly-cooked food, and that there were only spasmodic attempts to find a cure, the effort depending upon the persistence of the complainant or the presence of the orderly officer, or the willingness of the ship's steward to assist.

"The real weakness was the total absence of any systematic effort to understand and to cope with the difficulties of distance, restricted space for eating, and short supplies to the pantries and serving tables. Speaking generally, the chief steward's department, the orderly officer in charge of each military district, and his N. C. O.s and the officer conducting troops, with his conducting staff, would seem to afford sufficient force to tackle these difficulties. None of them managed to do so."

Officer at Fault.

The confusion attending the serving is then dealt with, and the report goes on to say:

"In face of all this, there is no trace of any realization, either by the orderly officers in charge of the military district, or by the conducting staff, that anything was wrong."

The failure of the officers responsible for the men's comfort to "go below" to study conditions under which the men were living, also comes in for criticism. In this respect, and in the matter of supply of fresh water complained of—and this is held to have been adequate—closer attention should have been given, and the men advised as to when the water was available, the supply having to be turned off at night owing to the danger of freezing. The refusal early in the voyage to allow the men the use of the promenade deck—a privilege later accorded them—is also dealt with in the report, as is the lack of discipline prevailing on the troopship.

An Unfortunate Delay.

The report says that no ill-feeling between officers and men existed aboard the Northland, and states that, had it not been for the holding up of the ship by the health officer at Halifax, who suspected a case of smallpox, and the bitter disappointment of the men at being compelled to spend Christmas Day aboard, under trying conditions, little might have been heard of the voyage in the way of complaint.

The report states:

"In connection with the voyage, one experience stands out as having a great influence on the recollection and temper of the men. After a rough and unpleasant voyage the ship made Halifax harbor on Christmas morning, and the men were ordered to get out their bedding and mattresses. This was done, and they were piled on the mess tables in the various sections between 10 and 11 a.m., in the full expectation of landing in time to get the good Christmas dinner awaiting them on shore. The quarantine officer arrived on board at 11:50 a.m., and inspected a case believed to be smallpox.

Disagreeable Christmas.

"He directed the captain to anchor. He then communicated with Ottawa, and the ship remained in sight of the dock during the whole of Christmas Day and until 12:30 the following day, when she received pratique, the case proving to be one of chickenpox. The dock was reached at 2 p.m., and all the troops landed by 7:15 p.m.

"The men were bitterly disappointed on Christmas morning. A hurried dinner was prepared and eaten in great discomfort, owing to the fact that all the tables were loaded with bedding, etc.

"It is unnecessary to discuss this meal, full details of which were in evidence, but it and the night on board, owing to the disorder of the sections, left a feeling of great chagrin and resentiment which was fully reflected in the interviews subsequently published. But for this experience, I believe much less publicity would have been given to the recollections of the voyage. They were related with a bitterness which a pleasant and comfortable reception would have largely prevented."

Regarding the connection of the admiralty with the Northland, Mr. Justice Hodgins states:

"I have heard nothing in the inquiry which in any way reflects upon the British admiralty."

LABOR CONFERENCES AT BERNE AND PARIS IN NO WAY RELATED

George Nicholl Barnes Lays Emphasis on Distinction.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—There is no connection whatever between the international socialist and labor conference at Berne and the labor conference being held here in connection with the peace conference, according to George Nicholl Barnes, the British Labor member of the British peace delegation.

Mr. Barnes said today that a misception has arisen as to the two conferences, probably because most of the men selected by the parliamentary committee of the trades union congress to advise the British Government on questions of international labor regulations happened also to be delegates to the Berne conference.

DISLIKE FOR FOOD

Every healthy man and woman should have a natural desire for food at meal times. This means that the digestion is in working order and that the blood is in good condition. But if you feel a dislike for food—if the sight and smell of wholesome food repels you—then you may be sure that nature is telling you that all is not well. If after a night's rest you have no appetite for breakfast, your digestion requires attention. If your food is distasteful, or if you feel that it is a trouble to eat, your stomach is rebelling. You do not digest properly the food you are taking and are therefore not hungry.

All these symptoms of a disordered digestion mean that the blood is not absorbing proper nourishment from the food, for the work of the blood is to collect proper nourishment from food and impart it to the system. The stomach tries to refuse food the nutriment from which the blood cannot absorb, and this causes the lack of appetite. If you force yourself to eat, the undigested food becomes a clog to the system. Nature is warning you. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills alone give the blood the richness and purity that it requires to perform its natural function. That is why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure the most obstinate cases of indigestion—why they will cure any trouble due to poor blood.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Canada Warmly Welcomes This Kind of Marquis

Canada will extend a hearty welcome to the Marquis of Queensbury and his family when they come to this country to take up their residence. The welcome will be given to the real man rather than to the titled man, for this British nobleman in throwing in his lot with us because the country appeals to him.

"Canada is the best place in the world for one to settle who wishes to be next-door neighbor to opportunity," said the marquis, when he announced that he was going to take up his residence at Prince Rupert.

That is one of the finest and heartiest advertisements this country has ever had, and it comes from a man who by all signs does not go to grapple with opportunity (strictly according to the rules named after his ancestor), in any soft land, but has chosen a new country that demands the staying qualities of the pioneer and the spirit of the adventurer.

The marquis sounds like a democrat, and whether they are sons of dukes or sons of cooks, this is the country that wants British stock for its upbuilding. No churlish spirit will be shown to such a man because he happens to be born to a title, and the marquis is coming to Canada not to capitalize his family tree, but to tackle one of the big men's tasks that invite on every hand.

Now Is the Ideal Moment to Cut Off Title-Habit

With the signing of peace we are likely to have another grand title-shower. That supreme occasion will furnish too excellent an excuse to be overlooked by title-giver and title-seeker. Garters and ribbons galore will be scattered broadcast. What an ideal opportunity for the Canadian people to show its sympathy with new world-democracy by declaring definitely against the bestowal of any more titles on Canadians. Canadians are fed up on this title business. The broad masses of the people of this country are distinctly hostile to any further "honors" that tend to build up anew a class distinction that has been considerably levelled by the war. More and more Canada is becoming a country where a man stands on his own feet. Personal achievement now counts for more than the degree of "blue" blood in the veins of one's grandmother. One's pedigree doesn't matter so much now as does "making good." It's up to Sir Robert Borden and his government to put an end to a foolish practice.

Will he repeat his childish behavior of last session of Parliament and refuse to abolish titles? If he does he will run counter to the general opinion of the citizens of Canada. Laurier and the Liberal party have declared repeatedly and distinctly for the wiping out of titles. It was also a plank in the platform of the Agricultural Council of Canada. For many years it has been demanded by labor. In some cases a title is honestly earned by service to the nation, but the great majority are secured by political or social pull. And as those who really deserve a title are invariably too big to care about it or need it, why not end the whole thing once for all by cutting out the cheap imitations of "barons," "knights," etc.? The Canadian people know well how to honor their great men without sending to London for a title. As for the others, they exasperate with their paradings and ostentation, helping to foster the unrest of which we have at the present time more than is consistent with safety. To abolish titles in Canada has become a necessary move and, barring certain snobbish circles at Ottawa, Toronto and Montreal, which would be jarred to their centres, it would be a popular move.

Liberal Attack Likely to Bring On Election

The forthcoming session of the Canadian Parliament will be one of the most momentous in the history of the country. Union Government must face its masters and give an account of its stewardship in the conduct of public affairs during the last year.

First of all we may expect the smoke screen of attacks upon Laurier and the Liberal party as a customary method of preventing the searchlight from reaching the proper object of attack. Then the old-time gag, so handy an instrument during wartime, and the special creation of the present rulers, will be brought out, as well as every other device by means of which fair criticism may be curbed, and the people of Canada further deceived as to the record, not only of the old crowd which was camouflaged in the big drive for Unionist rule, but of the present administration.

Try as they will, with the forces of their close-at-heel newspapers and their trained corps of publicity agents, the ministers have been unable to hide the bad record of the present Government.

To a large extent they have saved themselves from criticism by holding up the shield of the war and the army. But the few acid tests applied have shown up the weakness in the spurious metal of their defence. Every great project has been carried forward because the country gave without limit in the name of the war. Scandals of the most glaring character remained unexposed because those who held the facts felt that first of all the country must be protected and held together. But the facts were not lost. The misdeeds of the Tory and Unionist Governments from the first horse and shoe scandals up to the queer manner of conducting affairs at the present time will be revealed by Liberalism. At least, if Liberalism does not reveal this record and smash through the subterfuges that will be placed before them, it might as well quit as a political party.

Liberalism must challenge the present Government as an administration unfit to rule the country. It must reveal the crooked methods employed to secure the power that Government now holds. It must prove to the hilt the unfitness of the present ministry. It must also give credit for any worthy things that have been accomplished. There must be no indecisive skirmishing with the enemy. Liberalism knows what has been done and Liberalism must achieve victory by the most smashing attack in Parliamentary history. All very well to talk of letting the Government talk itself out of power. It must be forced out of power with the record of its own misdeeds.

Matters of the most startling character are certain to be aired on the floor of the house during the session. The Government may not be able to stand for many weeks before the Liberal onslaught, and it would not be surprising if an election contest would engage the country's interest before many months have passed. The coming session is likely to be a brief, last chapter in the history of the pseudo-Tory administration that controls the ship of state.

Inventor of "Fletcherizing" Proved Idea By Long Life

Hardly noticed because of the engrossing war and its after-effects has been the passing of Horace Fletcher who won fame and the tender regard of tender-stomached millions by introducing "Fletcherizing." A Massachusetts scientist devoted to the study of nutrition and the dietetic he suddenly emerged from sedentary obscurity to the world's limelight by prescribing thirty-two chews to every mouthful as a sure method of achieving a long and happy life.

And he demonstrated it too splendidly in his own case, living to be well over seventy years of age, and for half of that period being absolutely free of indigestion in any degree or design. "Bolters" by the billion took up the fad to discover it was a fact, which, if persistently cultivated, added vastly to one's comfort. Chewing one's food, hitherto a mechanical operation considered necessary to prevent choking, became a fine art. Thorough mastication, it was found, whether applied to a steak or a cream puff, furnished new delights in eating. And you need no longer take a chance on delicious, but destructive cookings, as thirty-two hearty chews per bite took all the devilishness out of "sinkers," and made of the midnight pie a thing of joy instead of terror. Fletcher proved that by eating more leisurely you added to the pleasure of the table and to the longevity of the complex mechanism which along with the weather and the wage gives man his greatest concern. His memory is at least entitled to a pedestal in the dining halls of fame and a dedication in every cook book.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"Fair" appears to fit the peace conference as aptly as it does the weather.

Have you put $1,300 in some bank and forgotten about it? Think hard, now.

A London man deposited $1,300 in a bank and forgot all about it. He was a plumber.

Save for a city hall and more good roads of the kind we have been getting. London is a well-equipped city.

Next to a longing for the dear old home the returning men are keen for renewed acquaintance with the dear old job.

Out in Chicago they continue to wallop the high cost of living. Here the high cost of living continues to do the walloping.

When Chesterton wrote "The Flying Inn" he did not know that dining cars would play the role in days of prohibition in Canada.

Seeing that there has been little chance for the ladies to enjoy their furs this winter, we may expect a great vogue for them during the coming summer.

London's permanent paving program is steadily advancing and in a few years the city should have asphalt on as many streets as now have cement sidewalks.

Canada and the United States may join hands for the enlargement of the Welland Canal. The internationalizing of all waterways will tend toward the settling of many old disputes.

In urging us to eliminate slums and so head off Bolshevism the Duke of Devonshire has the right idea. Bolshevism is a cellar plant which grows and expands rapidly in filth and darkness.

The winner of a Victoria Cross came unheralded to London Tuesday in the person of Cadet C. M. Fulcher of St. Marys, Ont. His bravery has other witnesses in the form of a D. C. M. and a M. M., but he fled when a reporter asked him for his story. The most modest are frequently the bravest.

Commissioner William A. Martin of the London and Port Stanley Railway Commission is the object of attack because he does not bear the rubber stamp. It is time that sort of thing went into the junk heap with other petty politics. What has the railway to fear that a single commissioner, chosen unanimously, strikes its bosses with panic?

THE WHITE ROAD.

[Amy E. Campbell.]

There's a white road between the pine trees,
A white road I used to know,
'Twas a dream road between the pine trees,
To a wee lad of long ago.

There were whisperings among the pine trees,
Such music, so sweet and low!
And the wee lad loved the lone road,
The white road of long ago.

When I'm tired I fall a-dreaming
Of soft, lazy flakes of snow,
Falling gently among the pine trees,
On the white road of long ago.

THE SINS OF THE FATHER
By S. B. Hackley.

"I'm rather glad it's to be Moreland, Ted. I never especially favored a minister for Sandy, but the pastor of the richest and proudest church in the city isn't so bad—and he's so proud and exclusive——"

"Egotistical, too!" Brewster's pleasant middle-aged face clouded. "I'm afraid for Sandy, Cleo—afraid she'll take the wrong man. If her mother—poor little Sissy—had married Jim Harlan instead of Alexander Ashford, she might—" He broke off and looked out of the window with misty eyes.

Eighteen years before Brewster had buried his young sister—Sandy's mother—three months after her husband—brilliant, magnetic and unprincipled, had been given a life sentence in the state's prison. Brewster, her only relative, and his wife, had brought the two-year-old baby home with them, and little Alexandra had grown up in their home greatly beloved by both.

"I'm glad we've never told Sandy about her father!" Mrs. Brewster exclaimed.

Brewster sighed. "Lina never meant us to keep it from her, Cleo. She loved Alec—poor, lovable fellow—in spite of everything to her very last breath. I think the child ought to know soon—before she's married, anyway."

"There's Moreland's car now," cried his wife. "His chauffeur's looking better, Ted. He was chalky white when he first began to drive for Dr. Moreland."

Gladson Keenon was chalky white now as he gave pretty, winsome Sandy his hand to help her in the car. Sandy was trembling a bit, too. She had not wanted to go on this picnic; she had not wanted to go anywhere with Moreland since that day last week when she'd discovered that this handsome and brilliant man whom all the girls envied her—the man whose ring she'd worn for four months—was not the man she wanted to marry at all!

Keenon had been three months with Moreland. While that exquisite and particular gentleman had never had a chauffeur that pleased him so well, the pale young fellow with the clear eyes and sensitive mouth drew no more thought from him than if he had been part of the machine.

But the first day that he took his betrothed out after his acquisition of Keenon, Keenon's lonely, bereft heart had gone out to her. And Sandy—Sandy had felt a sudden dislike to the man sitting beside her.

Every time after that day when she went out with Moreland when he called on his rich parishioners (his car never stopped before a home of poverty) she caught herself contrasting the two—Moreland, dark, self-satisfied, egotistical, impatiently consequential; the young chauffeur, fair, gentle, quiet, unobtrusive.

"For all he's so wretchedly thin," she thought, "He's beautiful when he smiles, but his smile is so wistful!"

She generally sat in the car while Moreland made his calls, and gradually they got a little acquainted. Sandy loved to see his face light up and his eyes deepen as she talked. She wished he would talk more. (And only heaven knew how much he wanted to pour out his soul to this listener!)

The day she discovered she didn't want to marry Moreland, he had gone in to see crochety old Mrs. Cornelius, and she had promised to come in for a few minutes, later. Keenon held open the door for her to step out, but one of those ridiculous high heels threw her. He caught her as she fell and for an instant her brown head lay on his breast.

By a mighty effort the young man kept his arms from tightening, and his lips from her glowing cheek, but in that fleeting second Sandy's world was changed forever. They both knew.

After lunch at the picnic, Sandy escaped from her friends, and followed a tempting little path across a grassy field. Suddenly she came upon Keenon lying on his elbow, his eyes wearily watching the little meadow brook before him.

He did not know she was near until she picked up the book by him and read aloud from its fly-leaf: "J. Gladson Keenon! 'Gladson' is a nice name." "

He leapt up. "I am glad you like it. Mother calls—I mean—" his smile faded, "Mother used to call me 'Glad.' "

"Then your mother?"

"My mother,"—his voice was not steady—"my mother died five months ago. My father died when the property went—he couldn't stand the ruin of things—and mother the week after. "She couldn't live without him. Then I was ill, and when I got better they said for me to stay out of doors, and I came out here."

"O!" she cried softly, and two big drops splashed on Moreland's ring, "all this time you've been missing them, and I didn't know! I don't know! Forgive me. I've talked to you about such trivial things when your heart was aching!"

That evening Brewster told Sandy, reluctantly enough, about her father. She grew white, but she controlled her emotions gallantly.

"Thank you, Uncle Ted," she said simply, "for telling me now."

"It was for your sake," he began—

"Yes," she interrupted him, "you withheld the truth for my sake, but for his sake I should have been told years ago. I might have been able to make his life happier all these years—all these years!

She wiped away the tear that ran across her cheek.

"I am going to see my father, Uncle Ted. I am going to start tonight!"

On Wednesday morning, a few days later, Sandy stopped her uncle's automobile outside the study of the church. The pastor's car stood by the sidewalk.

"Where have you been all these five day, Alexandra?" Moreland fretted. "You never even told me you were going away!"

She lifted her head. "I have been visiting my father."

"Your father!" The words came to Keenon, who was looking for a book in the church library. "Sandra, I understood your father was dead."

"To the world, yes," she answered, "a life prisoner in the state's prison since I was two years old. He is good now—but my mother loved him when he wasn't. He says her love and faith have sustained him all this time, and I've been happy, now I've found him, Varnon. I'm going to see him every month—I'm going to ask the governor to pardon him!"

Then the unwitting listener heard hard remarks about "the sins of the fathers" and "considering one's position in the world."

Then he heard Sandy saying: "This from you—a minister to stricken souls!"

A little later when she swept out through the library Moreland's diamond no longer gleamed on her left hand. She did not see Keenon or notice that she dropped one of her little white gloves.

That evening Keenon brought her the glove.

"I found it in the church library," he explained. "I was there this morning when you passed through."

His quick flush told her he had heard her talking to Moreland.

"O Glad—Glad!" she cried, "would you quarrel with the woman you professed to love, because she would not deny her father in prison?"

What he read in her face sent him to her with his arms outstretched.

"O little Sandy — little Sandy—try me!"

Then she was sobbing—happy sobs—on his breast.

"Newspapers Are the World's Mirror"

Comment, Cleverness and Mere Verbiage From "Educators of the Common People" in Canada and Other Lands.

LINCOLN.

[Thomas Curtis Clark.]

God took a piece of common clay;
Planted therein ambition's vital seed;
Placed him, a youth, beside the common way,
That he might learn the common human need.

Made strong by strife, he faced the storm of wrath;
Love made him wise, a nation's cause to plead;
He walked with God, though in a yeoman's path,
And seized on fame by an immortal deed.

MILLIONAIRES.

[Brockville Recorded and Times.]

A very reliable comparison between the wealth of individuals in Great Britain and those of the United States was published recently in the Old Country. This found that millionaires are more numerous in America than they are in Great Britain, but the multi-millionaires of Great Britain are more numerous than the multi-millionaires of America. In other words, the millions of America are more evenly distributed among the very wealthy as a class than the British millions among the wealthy of Great Britain.

Again the following comparison is very interesting:

	U.S.	G.B.
With 125 millions each.....	10	79
With 100 millions each.....	9	68
With 75 millions each.....	14	45
With 50 millions each.....	34	73
With 37½ millions each.....	42	61
With 25 millions each.....	97	83

Of millionaires generally, there are in United States 22,696, while Great Britain has 5,154.

Considering the population of the two countries, the age, etc., an analysis of the conditions that make this condition possible would be very interesting.

EVERYBODY'S LONESOME.

[Detroit News.]

Way down deep within their hearts
Everybody's lonesome;
Far within their secret parts
Everybody's lonesome;
Makes no difference how they smile,
How they live or what their style;
Once in every little while
Everybody's lonesome.

People first in big affairs—
Even they are lonesome;
Maybe like to put on airs,
Just the same they're lonesome.
Men for whom existence blends
Every good; who gain all ends,
Still reach out their hands for friends;
Everybody's lonesome.

Women, silk-clad, jeweled fine,
Yes, they too are lonesome!
When their gems the brightest shine
They are just as lonesome.
Some must serve and some command,
All still seek with groping hand
Love and friends who understand;
Everybody's lonesome.

Though your gift of friendship's small,
Everybody's lonesome;
It may answer someone's call,
Someone who is lonesome;
Give, and give with might and main,
Give your hands, and join the chain,
And your gift will be your gain
Sometime, when you're lonesome.

FOUND THE LEAK.

[Hardware and Metal.]

An Owen Sound merchant had a peculiar experience last week when he unexpectedly solved the problem of why his cash register was not working properly. For some time past he had noticed that the cash very often did not check up with the showing of the register. Recently it was found that the drawer would not close properly, and on taking it out to locate the trouble the owner discovered a crack in it. On investigating further he found that silver had been slipping through this into the space at the back, and that he had no less than $457.55 that he had not been counting in his receipts. It is believed that the silver had been accumulating a little at a time for five years, as a slip dating back to 1913 was also found. Incidents of this kind show how easy it is for losses to occur in business and how quickly they run up into a sum that is considerable. It is comparatively seldom that missing receipts turn up as happily as those of the Owen Sound merchant did. When the story got around in Owen Sound every merchant who had a cash register examined it, but only one other dealer discovered anything. He found $2 that had slipped away.

No Luck for Him

This child won't play or smile. He is real sick. His tongue is white, breath feverish, stomach sour. He fears he is in for a dose of awful castor oil, calomel or pills. How he hates them. He would rather remain sick. No! He won't tell mother!

If his mother would only learn the value of candy "Cascarets." How children love this candy cathartic—how surely it acts on liver and bowels.

TO MOTHERS! Each ten cent box of Cascarets contains full directions for dose for children aged one year old and upwards. Nothing else "works" the nasty bile, sour fermentations and constipation poison from the tender little bowels so gently, yet so thoroughly. Even cross, feverish, bilious children gladly take Cascarets without being coaxed. Cascarets taste just like candy. Cascarets never gripe, never sicken, never injure, but above all, they never disappoint the worried mother.

PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Taking the First Step

You've only got to raise your foot and the rock lying in your path shrinks to a pebble and is easily crossed. A few years ago, women facing the seemingly insurmountable prejudice of man against their entry into public and industrial life, felt absolutely blocked. Becoming suffragettes, they resorted to violent measures, hurling stones and casting weapons, all to no avail. The obstacle before them only seemed to increase in size. Then the war broke out, bugles sounded, swords clashed, and the men marched away to fight the monstrous thing which threatened civilization. And man's prejudice still loomed large in the way of woman's progress toward equality of citizenship and equal industrial rights.

But the Allied guns had to be fed, and the men in the field had to be fed, and business had to be carried on in the homeland. So woman, forgetting the violent attacks she had made on man's prejudice, lifted her feet to walk onward into the industrial world, regardless of the thing which lay in her way, and, lo! the great mountain of man's prejudice dissolved into a mere pebble, over which she could step strongly and surely. Indeed, so little objection was there to her egress from what was hitherto known as woman's sphere, that all the world over parliaments composed of men opened up the doors of the franchise and admitted her to the full rights of citizenship.

Today woman labors side by side with man, more than ever his helpmeet, and more than ever the mother of her children, for only the mother who knows the world can fittingly understand the nature of her small sons and daughters, and what may confront them as they go forth to live in the world. She has taken her first step, and now she has learned how to walk.

CYNTHIA GREY'S MAIL-BOX

A Soldier Evangelist's Protest.

Dear Miss Grey,—Please don't get frightened at getting a letter from a soldier. I hope you are not so easily insulted as some of the young women of London, for really I am very harmless, and the average young woman in town seems to consider a man in khaki to be nothing but a rascal of deepest dye, and to have left his honor in his "civie" clothes. No, Miss Grey, I am not mistaken in this. I will tell you of two recent instances. The other evening a friend and I entered a car; behind us were seated a couple of well-dressed young women, who made the remark: "Would it not be fine when the men of Canada resumed their civilian clothes, as the wearing of khaki seemed to have put a bar on gentlemen." A few nights later, walking down Dundas street behind some young women, I heard the following: "I don't see how any decent girl can be seen on the street with a man in khaki. I would consider myself disgraced to do so. You know the soldiers are so rough and vulgar." I wonder if these young ladies, and many more like them, ever thought that many of the men in khaki were from the best of families, men of education and breeding, and who had held responsible and respected positions before enlisting? I wonder if the young ladies of the car episode would have said what they did if they had known one of the khaki roughs had been a bank manager, and the other a minister? Or would the other young ladies have passed such a remark as they did if they had known that the man in khaki and the lady with him this wife had for years been missionaries, or that the young man in the detested khaki behind them had been a minister, a school teacher and a doctor? Poor things! They should remember that there may be a few roughnecks (very few) in the army, but that the majority of us are gentlemen and know how to act as such. But, dear Miss Grey, I feel sure you are not of this kind, and I have enjoyed very much your "corner." Now, I have a request. I wonder if you have a spare copy of the music for "After the Ball," also "Mary of Argyll." I would like to secure them very much. You see, I am an evangelist in civil life, and I have sacred words to those tunes. I hope you will pardon me if I have "butted" in on your time, as I hardly know if your "corner" is for "ladies only" or not. You see, I am a lonely old bachelor, who has no lady friends. Yours, EVANGELIST.

Ans.—I didn't know there were any women, young or old, left in Canada today who could or would speak so slightingly of the men in khaki. I am sorry you received such an impression of London women, for, from personal knowledge and observation, I had deemed the very opposite to be the case. In fact, I am quite sure these two instances were exceptions, and I believe scores of our Mail-Box readers will bear me out in this. Now, Pageites, let's show our good-will by supplying the wants of this khaki friend. Has anyone the desired music?

A Bad Ink Stain.

Dear Miss Grey,—My little sister spilled ink on a nigger brown serge dress. Do you know of anything that would take it out? I'm afraid to do anything to it, and it looks perfectly dreadful. Well, I haven't time for anything more, only I'd like to say a few words to Yankee Farmerette about U. S. A. winning the war. I'll admit they helped, but it took them three years to wake up. Thanking you in advance, CANADIAN FARMERETTE.

Ans.—Probably any remedy may leave as bad a stain as the ink, but you could try washing it in sour milk or buttermilk. Spread some of the thick milk over the stain, and as the color draws out, wipe it up and add more milk. Afterwards rinse out in ammonia water, and I hope it will be successful.

Any Correspondents.

Dear Miss Grey,—I would like to correspond with any girl my own age (12), and if anybody wishes to write me let me know through the Mail-Box, and I will give you my address. Hoping also to be allowed to come again to your corner, yours sincerely, SNOW WHITE.

Found Them Good.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am thirteen years of age and in the senior fourth class at school. Mother would like the stocking-foot pattern, so I am inclosing an envelope.

I am also inclosing some recipes which I have used and found very good.

What do Flora, Hugh, Margaret, Kathleen, Neil, John, Dugald and Janetta mean?

Prince of Wales Cake—Three-quarters cup white sugar, ½ cup butter, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons baking syrup, ¾ cup buttermilk, ½ teaspoon cinnamon and nutmeg, 1½ cups raisins (chopped fine), 2 tea cups flour, 1 large teaspoon soda dissolved in a little boiling water. Bake in a moderate oven.

Cheese Tarts—Line your tart tins with a nice rich paste. Beat up the following: Two eggs, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup currants, butter size of an egg; ½ teaspoon vanilla. They require a moderate fire.

Butter Scotch Pie—One cup very dark brown sugar, 1½ tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon butter, yolks of two eggs (whites for frosting), 1 cup sweet milk. Cook in double boiler and put in baked crust.

These are excellent recipes.

BLUE BIRD.

Ans. — Flora, or Florence, means flourishing; Hugh, mind or spirit; Margaret, a pearl; Kathleen, pure; Neil, dark or swarthy; John, gift of God; Janetta, same as John.

For Mutt's Cousin.

"California Poppy" sends a daisy yoke design for Mutt's Cousin; the same has been forwarded.

Queries Re Divorce.

"Constant Reader" and "Subscriber." Take your queries re divorce to any lawyer and you will be given full information.

Fond of Skating.

Dear Miss Grey,—I noticed where "Donta" offered two readings to anyone who wished them. I would like very much to get them, if I am not too much bother. "Donta."

We are having nice weather here, just cold enough for to make good skating, which I like very well. I have taken prizes at the carnivals.

LALLY LARKINS.

Wants Honey Recipes.

Dear Miss Grey,—Could you or any of the readers tell me how to clean a child's white Thibet furs? Have you any recipes on hand for honey cookies, or drop cakes made of honey? We have lots of honey and I would like to try cooking with it. Long live the Mail-Box. MRS. R.

Ans.—One of our readers (A Lover of Little Girls) told us of her method some time ago, and fortunately I saved the clipping: Take gasoline and flour and make a thin paste, take a clean hand brush (I always use a new one), and rub or brush the paste into the furs well; hang on the line for a while, then shake them well to get the flour all out and they will be lovely and white. Can supply one recipe for honey cookies, and hope it proves satisfactory: Honey Cookies—Half cup of shortening, ¾ cup of sugar, 2 eggs, ½ cup honey, 1 cup of raisins, ¼ nutmeg, 1 teaspoonful vanilla, 2 tablespoonfuls sour milk, ½ tablespoonful soda, flour to make thick enough to drop with a spoon.

No Coupons Exchanged.

Dear Miss Grey,—May I enter into your cosy-corner? Would like if you or any reader would send me some tobacco coupons. Will send some crochet patterns that need not be returned. Will send some more if I know what kind to send. DANISH.

Ans.—Sorry, but one of our strict rules is "no coupons"; an exception was made in the case of an invalid lad who is trying to get a bicycle, but apart from this I dare not admit a "weenyteeny" coupon into the Box.

After the "Flu."

Dear Cynthia,—Hark, all ye Mail-Box readers, and come to my aid. Since I have had the "flu" my hair is coming out dreadfully, and I really fear I will soon be bald. Can someone tell me something to make the new hair that is coming in grow faster? I will be very grateful for help.

Here is my favorite cooky recipe:

Trilbys—One cup baking sugar, 1 cup of butter, teaspoon soda, ½-cup sour milk, 2 cups flour, 2 cups oatmeal. Roll very thin and place together with this filling—1 pound dates, ½-cup water, 1½ cups sugar. Boil until soft, stirring. ROSE.

Ans.—I understand that the falling hair is one of the common ailments resulting from the influenza. It is most distressing, indeed, and apparently much time and patience, as well as tonics, are required before the love-locks are restored.

Irish and Canadian.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am much interested in all the letters. I like Yankee Farmerette, don't you? I am a farmer-girl, but not a Yankee one. I live in good old Canada. Will you please tell the meaning of the following names: Bernice, Janet, Edith, Florine and Stella. IRISH FARMERETTE.

Ans.—1. Bernice means bringing victory; Janet, a gift of God; Edith, happiness; Florine, (probably the same as Florence) blooming, or flourishing; Stella, a star.

Developer Stains.

Dear Miss Grey,—1. Could any of your readers supply us with the words of "De Milk and De Cocoanut"?

2. We would like to give a play some time soon, but we can not find one suitable for about six girls. Could you please tell us the name of some company that produces plays?

3. What will take developer stains out of a green broadcloth dress?

4. What color would one have to dye a bright red dress to get a pretty maroon shade?

5. What do the following names mean: Gertrude, Alberta, Verna, Nellie, William, Arthur and Earle? CHUMS.

Ans.—1. Referred to readers.

2. Cannot give addresses here. Write to any publishing company for catalogue.

3. Know of nothing that will remove these acid stains.

4. Cannot say; best consult a dyer.

5. Gertrude means "spear maiden"; Alberta, "all bright"; Verna, faith or "true woman"; Nellie (Eleano'), light or fair; William, protector or defender; Arthur, high or noble; Earle, a prince.

Silks and Satins.

Dear Miss Grey,—How long do you suppose it will be before the stores in the city will be showing silk suits? Do you think it would be better to buy a velvet or satin hat at this time of year? Do you think a fair-skinned, fair-haired person would look better in red fox furs than in black furs? Lastly, when is the right time to send wedding announcements? I mean, how many days after the girl is married before the announcements are sent out, there being no wedding? Where do you go to get them printed, Miss Grey, to a printing office or where? I should sign myself "Ignorance," but will not, as I am just GOLDIE.

Ans.—1. This is more than I can say, but doubtless they will be on evidence early in March. Is that soon enough?

2. Would advise a satin hat. They are pretty and smart and may be worn well into the early summer.

3. Should prefer the black furs on a person of this complexion. 4. Wedding announcements are posted on the day of the wedding or the day following. 5. Yes, a printing establishment is the correct place, and I know of no company better than that bearing the same name as this newspaper. There you will be shown several styles of stationery and printing to choose from.

Father Likes It.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am 12 years old, and go to public school. I am in the third book. I have been reading your page of letters every night. I enjoy them. Here is a good cake recipe. It is called "Railroad Cake," and when I made it, father said it was the nicest cake he had eaten in a long time. So whoever makes one I hope they will enjoy it: Break two eggs in a cup, fill it with sweet cream, 1 cup of sugar, 1½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon cream tartar, ½ teaspoon soda, little nutmeg and salt. Please tell me the meaning of Gertrude and Blanch. BLUEBELL.

Ans.—You must be quite a good little cake maker to have father say that about your cake. Gertrude means "spear-malden," and Blanch, white.

TARN—McGUGAN

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, January 29, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John McGugan, 138 Central avenue, when their youngest daughter, Mary C., was united in marriage to Charles E. Tarn. Rev. James MacKay of New St. James' Presbyterian Church, performed the ceremony, which was witnessed only by immediate relatives of the young people. Mr. and Mrs. Tarn left for a short honeymoon in Detroit and other points west, after which they will take up their residence in this city.

Advertiser Patterns

A PRETTY DRESS FOR MANY OCCASIONS.

Waist—2552. Skirt—2553.

This style comprises Ladies' Waist Pattern 2552 and Ladies' Skirt 2553. The skirt has the new panel tunic, and the waist is very attractive. One could combine silk and serge or velvet and cloth in this model. Black satin with filet lace for trimming would be very nice. Crepe de chine or chiffon or net over satin is new and lovely. The waist pattern is cut in six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. The skirt pattern is cut in six sizes: 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure. Size 24 requires 2 1-2 yards of 40-inch material with three yards for the tunic. The waist requires three yards of 40-inch material for the 38-inch size. The skirt measures two yards at the foot.

This illustration calls for two separate patterns, which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents for each pattern, in silver or stamps.

MOST ESSENTIAL FOR HOUSEWIFE TO KNOW DIFFERENT MEAT CUTS

Unique Address Delivered at Shop of J. W. Metherall Before "Y" Girls.

A most instructive and at the same time a unique address was delivered Tuesday evening at 6:30 oclock, before a gathering of the Y.W.C.A. industrial clubs, by J. W. Metherall, in his butcher shop. Mr. Metherall gave this address on the different cuts of meat to over thirty girls at the instigation of Mrs. D. C. McNaughton.

"Meat is high priced," declared the speaker. "But you must not blame this on the butcher, but partly on the war and partly on packing houses. Why, even now the Dominion Government has sent a representative to England to make arrangements to induce the packers to send their surplus stock over there, instead of putting it on our markets and thus lowering the price.

"Another reason for the high price of certain cuts of meat is the fact that some people insist on certain cuts of meat and will take no others. Customers should study the motto of give and take. The butcher will give you the best he has, but sometimes he cannot give exactly what you want.

Order Earlier.

"The fact that people do not order early enough, and have no idea what cut of meat they want, wastes a great portion of the butcher's time, and results in a higher price and lack of satisfaction. If housewives would consider the day before what they wish for the morrow, and order it then, it would be delivered to them in plenty of time for cooking, and most probably the cut asked for would be obtainable. Those people who telephone at 9:30 in the morning to order a roast for dinner are bound to receive their meat too late for proper cooking, and most probably the wrong cut, for the butcher must send what he has.

"It is most important that housewives know the different cuts of meat if they ever hope to get satisfaction from the butcher, who otherwise is in ignorance of what these housewives prefer.

"In beef, the standard rib is the most expensive, not only in price, but in economy as well, because of the bone in it. Yet the majority of people insist on this roast. The highest-priced roast is the sirloin or porterhouse. The most economical way to buy this is to take the undercut or tenderloin for frying, then use the rest, part for roasting and part for stewing.

"I don't advocate steaks at all, but most people will have them, and they insist on porterhouse when other steaks are equally as good. I told one woman she would look like a frying-pan if she ordered any more steaks.

Good as the Best.

"The first seven slices of the round steak will eat as well as sirloin, but when the steak gets near the shank it becomes tough. From this portion the butcher cuts off what is known as a wedge, which may be fried, minced, pot-roasted or boiled. Veal, lamb and pork should be thoroughly cooked, but not beef. The beef juices are better a little underdone than overdone.

"There is most value for beef tea in the shank, which will produce a clear liquid, which will jelly. Most people foolishly buy the neck, which will not 'jell.' The 15-cent oxtail or shank will make more soup than a whole four-pound rib of beef.

"I should advocate the using of handmincers for the pieces of meat around the soup-bone from the hindquarter, because that comes from the section where the best cuts of beef come. The forequarter soup-bone meat should not be put through the mincer, however, as it tends to be gristly.

"In lamb, the loin or rib chop is the most expensive, and at the same time most profitable joint in the animal, and is used mostly for frying. A shoulder roast of any animal, whether beef, lamb or veal, contains more juices than any other portion. The leg of an animal is dry, and you shouldn't use the hind leg of lamb or mutton for anything but roasting. The blade-roast of lamb is nice and sweet, and can be carved easily if the butcher removes the little thin blade. The breast can be roasted in a pan with potatoes under it. The scrag end and flank are used for soup, and the neck portion for Irish stew.

Diseased Kidneys.

"Lamb's kidney is the most expensive cut you can buy, but beef's kidney is equally as good and more economical. I don't advise the using of either pork liver or kidney, as they are apt to be diseased. Often little spring lambs have livers full of pus cells, and yet the Government allows the meat to be sold, when it would condemn beef in the same condition."

At the close of the lecture Mrs. Henderson, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., offered a vote of thanks to Mr. Metherall for his address, and the girls all repaired to the home of Mrs. D. C. McNaughton, where a sumptuous supper was served and a social time spent. The Y. W. C. A. work being carried on in connection with these clubs is most inspiring, and Mrs. McNaughton is a strong ally of the association in this work.

14. Which is God's better blessing today, and why, the health and opportunity to work for our living, or having it given to us without work?

Golden Text—Give us this day our daily bread. Matt. vi., 11.

GOD TAKES GOOD CARE OF HIS OWN.

The Psalmist poured out his beautiful song from his heart experience when he sang, "God is my shepherd, I shall not want." Every devout man sings the same song of trust and confidence. The Bible is one great guarantee that God will supply all our needs. The care, the trouble and the anxiety which unfit us for the stern duties of life are all unnecessary. If we put our dependence in the Lord we can sing a song of trust. Indeed God takes marvellous care even of the rebellious, and permits few of them to want. Whenever any of them do want it is permitted for the purpose of discipline; to show them how foolish they are to break the laws of so good a God, and to forsake the companionship of so true a friend. The experience of the ages proves absolutely that God supplies all the needs of his children.

LONDON JUNIORS AT WOODSTOCK FRIDAY

Intermediates Are Arranging Game With St. Thomas Here Tomorrow Night.

The London juniors play at Woodstock Friday night. The Forest City boys are in good condition for the game, and are confident of winning, as they defeated practically the same team last season.

"Doc" Cline, star centre player for the locals, will be out of the game, as he is recovering from an attack of the "flu." Bindner will take the place of Cline.

The Woodstock youngsters will play the postponed game which was scheduled for last Friday here next Tuesday night.

The London hockey officials are trying to arrange with the St. Thomas club to play an intermediate game at the Jubilee Rink Friday night. It is altogether likely that the Forest City intermediates will journey to the Railway City next week and play a game. London intermediates have still two games with Simcoe to play off.

If the juniors win at Woodstock they have a good chance for the group honors, while Manager Ferguson of the intermediates is sure of his team winning in their class.

WOODSTOCK READY FOR GAME.

WOODSTOCK, Jan. 29.—The "no ice" sign was hung out at the Ingersoll arena late today and consequently the game scheduled for tonight between the locals and Ingersoll was called off. However, instead the Red and White, with Howard Johnston back in the harness, had a rattling fine workout at the local arena, and despite the fact that they have been without practice for ten days, showed fine form. Much interest is being centred in the game here Friday night with London, as it is believed by the fans that this will be "the" game of the Group No. 8. An effort is being made to have the postponed game with Ingersoll played in that town Saturday night.

HANK GOWDY TO BE BACK IN FEBRUARY

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 29.—"Look for me in February," writes Catcher Hank Gowdy, baseball's pioneer patriot, in an interesting letter sent from the banks of the Rhine to L. C. Page, one of the Boston club stockholders. The missive is written from Oberwinter, where the star is with the 42nd (Rainbow) division, and bears date of December 29.

"I feel as if I could jump right into the game right this minute; I am feeling great," he writes. "I am playing ball every chance I get." Then he adds that a training trip into the southland looks better to him now than this jaunt into Germany in which he is at present engaged.

"I don't claim to know all about the fighting that has been going on over here," he says, "but it strikes me that the divisions that have done the most of the fighting are the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 26th, 32nd, 42nd, 77th and 89th. The 28th, 30th and 37th got in some, and, of course, there are others. Much to our surprise, we are getting banging-up treatment from the Germans we are coming in contact with in this section."

ONTARIO TANKARD GAMES OFF.

STRATFORD, Jan. 29.—Owing to the mild weather the district games in the Ontario Tankard, which were to have been played here today, have been indefinitely postponed.

Trouble Between the Majors and Minors Starting Early

Where Will Surplus Men Find Berths?—Baseball Men Think One Season Will Be Enough to Show Minors They Are Better Off With National Agreement.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The recent separation of the major and minor leagues has left the majors in a quandary about what to do with their surplus players. In the past the youngsters who have been given a trial on the southern trips have been farmed out to minor leagues under an options agreement, whereby the majors could recall the players, if necessary.

There are still so many players to be turned back to the minors after the spring training trips that it is certain that the minors cannot afford to buy them all. If they are sold to the minors and later in the season the majors want them back they will be forced to pay higher prices than they paid in the first place, and the present system is going to entail extra expense to all concerned.

There are several major league club owners who advocate an extension of the player limit beyond 21 players, so that each club could carry a number of youngsters and develop them as the season goes along. If a major league club should run into a stretch of hard luck, as they often do, and have three or four players on the injured list at one time, they would be at a decided disadvantage under the 21-player limit.

This is only one of the many situations which are sure to arise over the break of the majors and minors, and many baseball men believe that one season will be enough to show the minors that they are better off under the old terms of the national agreement.

CHAMPIONSHIP BOUT MAY BE STAGED IN ENGLAND

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 30.—Tex Rickard, the western boxing promoter, passing through here on his way to Texas, indicated that he is willing to go to Europe to stage the championship match for which Jess Willard has signed, if it should be necessary. So many executives of states have refused to permit the bout to be held in their various domains, that Willard's guardian angel is rather up against it in the matter of a suitable place in which to hold the bout.

With boxing all the rage in Europe, Richard could do much worse than pick London or Paris. Twenty-round bouts are permitted in Great Britain and in France, and before the war were frequent and popular.

LATONIA AND DOUGLASS TRACKS CHANGE HANDS

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 30.—An agreement was signed here last night by which the Latonia, Ky., and the Douglass Park, Louisville, Ky., race tracks will pass into the hands of a company of Kentucky thoroughbred horse breeders within thirty days.

The agreement sets forth conditions of the sale and the prospective purchasers have thirty days in which to perfect their organization and make their payments. It was signed by State Senator Thomas A. Combs and Judge Allie W. Young, representing Former United States Senator John N. Camden and Edward F. Sims, the principal underwriters of the breeders' company. The purchase price for the two properties was not made public.

BROOKS KNOCKED OUT BY FRANK FLEMING

Montreal, Jan. 30.—Frankie Fleming, Canadian featherweight champion, has come into his own again. This was shown last night at Sohmer Park, where he scored a technical knockout over Brooks of Brooklyn in the sixth round of a scheduled ten-round bout. Fleming went after his opponent from the commencement of the first round to the sixth, when the bout was brought to an end, as Brooks's manager threw the sponge into the ring.

JACK DEMPSEY WILL MEET WILLARD, SAYS RICKARD

Fort Worth, Texas, Jan. 30.—Dempsey will be Willard's opponent in the approaching world's championship bout, said Tex Rickard, who was here last night, en route to the oil fields.

HAL EXCELL DESTROYED AT REQUEST OF OWNER

Chicago, Jan. 30.—Hal Excell, 18-year-old trotter, which won purses and fame in his racing days, was destroyed by the police today at the request of his owner, "Old Black Joe" Murphy, himself widely known in racing circles years ago. The horse was the offspring of Prince Hal and Eva N., and had been raised by Murphy, who said the horse had become so weak that he considered its destruction merciful. Murphy, a negro, started as a jockey more than 45 years ago, and when he grew too heavy to ride thoroughbreds, turned to the trotting turf as an owner and trainer.

The Parkes-Hiller combination was much to the fore, and was never seen to better advantage on local ice. PRESTON OUTCLASSES ELMIRA; SCORE 13 TO 3

PRESTON, Jan. 29. — An Intermediate O. H. A. fixture played here tonight between Elmira and the locals, resulted in a win for the locals by the score of 14 to 3. The game was exceptionally fast, with both teams doing their best. Very little rough work was in evidence. The second period was fast, but the locals had it all over the visitors, and scored four goals to the visitors' two. Training the Invalided Soldier

WHEN the first Canadian casualties were announced every heart in Canada thrilled with the thought—"What will the country do to help these men overcome the handicaps they have suffered?"

Since that day Canada has been quietly developing a wonderful organization to help restore the strength and earning capacity of her invalided soldiers.

This work is in the charge of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment. It is divided into three classes.

Ward Occupations.

Soldiers who, on account of their injuries, are confined to wards or to their beds in hospitals are taught handicraft work of various kinds. This work is not meant to train a man in work by which he could earn a living. It is encouraged rather because it diverts the soldier's mind from his disability, and gives him light exercise. In this way it assists wonderfully in the soldier's recovery.

Occupational Therapy.

This work is conducted in hospitals. It is intended mainly to help in the cure of the patient. But it often serves as the ground-work for a course in Industrial Re-training. The following gives some idea of the breadth and scope of the subjects taught in these classes:—Mechanical drawing, woodworking, boot and shoe repairing, machine shop practice, gardening, poultry raising, civil service instruction, book-keeping, stenography, telegraphy.

Industrial Re-Training.

When a man is so injured by war service that he cannot follow the occupation or trade that he worked at before enlisting, the Department trains him for a new occupation.

For this work, use is made of Technical Schools and Universities at fourteen centres throughout the Dominion. Here primary training is given by specially planned courses. This helps a man begin his actual re-training work intelligently.

Most of the re-training is given in actual factories and shops. Hundreds of large and small concerns have co-operated whole-heartedly in this work—placing at the disposal of the Department, without charge, their equipment and the services of many of their staffs.

Ninety-five per cent of those who have been granted "Industrial Re-training" courses by the Department have been successful in becoming self-supporting in a new trade or occupation.

These benefits are given by the Department to ex-members of the Canadian, British and Allied forces living in Canada, who come within the classes for which these benefits are provided.

* * * * * *

During the period a man is being "Re-trained" he and his dependents are granted adequate pay and allowances.

To any one interested in the work of this Department information will be gladly given on application to—

$40,000,000 WORTH OF FOOD IS STORED AND COST STAYS UP

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—Advices from the United States indicate that the cost of living there is taking a tumble in spots. The cancellation of Allied contracts for various food commodities, coupled with the virtual embargo on exports across the Atlantic, is apparently having the logical effect across the border.

Not so in Canada. The householder is still paying the highest war prices for flour, for bacon, for beef, for butter, for eggs, in fact, for everything which is kept in cold storage.

In the meantime there are from thirty to forty million dollars' worth of food products in these same plants throughout the Dominion—and that is a computation which is based, not on the cost to the consumer, but on the price of the commodities laid down at the storage plants' doors. These latter prices are very different from those charged to get them to the consumers' tables.

WHEAT STALLED IN ELEVATORS.

There is approximately 50,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat in Canadian elevators, which is available for export, and for which at the present there is no export demand. On this the Government has guaranteed the price at $2.24, and may have to put up part of it. But in spite of the large surplus there is no appreciable sign of the price of flour going down.

On January 1, there were 12,000,000 pounds of butter in cold storage, costing 46 cents a pound laid down in the plants; 38,000,000 pounds of pork, costing 24 to 26 cents a pound; 57,000,000 pounds of beef, costing 17 cents; 9,000,000 pounds of mutton, costing 22 cents; 5,000,000 pounds of poultry, costing 32 cents a pound, and 4,000,000 dozen of eggs costing 46 cents a dozen.

CONSUMER IS "THE GOAT."

As compared with January, 1918, this is an increase in quantity of 7 per cent in butter; of 4 per cent in pork; of 20 per cent in beef; of 78 per cent in mutton, and of 114 per cent in poultry. But in January of 1918 there was a demand from overseas, which this January does not exist. Yet the price to the Canadian consumer practically remains the same; in fact, it is probably higher.

The Government has played a game of bluff in connection with the cost of living ever since it came to power in 1911. Commissions have been appointed and dismissed as soon as they started to get some results, and so the food hogs have continued to flourish, and the price of the necessities of life to soar.

LONDON DISPATCH SAYS DOMINIONS' PROTESTS HAVE BEEN OVERRULED

Acceptance of Wilson's Theory Regarding German Colonies Has Aroused "Gravest" Protest From South African and Australian Delegates.

LONDON, Thursday, Jan. 30.—The British imperial war cabinet has accepted President Wilson's theory of internationalization as applied to the captured German colonies, notwithstanding energetic protests from the representatives of the Dominions, says the Daily Mail's Paris correspondent.

"These protests," says the correspondent, "have been of the gravest character. The South African representatives believe acceptance will give the greatest encouragement to the rebel element in South Africa, which it ever has received during British administration. The Australian delegates fear that Australian public opinion will regard it as extremely unsatisfactory, and inexplicable. The Dominion representatives generally though very reticent, are greatly perturbed."

The Daily Mail cites Arabia and Mesopotamia as instances where possibly the dwellers are capable of self-determination, and would have their wishes put into effect by the league of nations.

Question of Safeguards.

Regarding safeguards under which the mandatories would administer the countries whose people are not ripe for self-government, the Daily Mail says President Wilson proposes that the safeguards shall be settled by the peace conference or the league of nations, they being varied according to local conditions.

"President Wilson doubtless has before him," the correspondent continues, "the principles of the British colonial administration as those which the league must enforce by safeguard, and the British view appears to be that under this system, while formal adhesion is given to President Wilson's theory, the right of government by mandatory power will not differ in effect from the British imperial conception. This view induced the imperial cabinet to accept President Wilson's plan, but an examination into the steps to be taken for putting it into effect already reveals the gravest difficulties."

"MANDATORIES" GIVEN A CERTAIN LATITUDE.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—The supreme council met at 11 o'clock this morning with a full attendance, and discussed the questions of the German colonies and instructions to the commission which is to be sent to Poland.

The German colonial question is ripe for decision, as great progress was made yesterday regarding it. It is understood a compromise is to be adopted which will fully preserve President Wilson's plans for international administration, but giving the various mandatories certain liberty of action in executing their control of the colonies.

The future of the colonies taken from Germany has assumed a place as one of the most interesting of the immediate phases of the many-sided problems under consideration by the supreme council of the peace conference. Hearings are now being given by the supreme council to members of the conference and to colonial experts upon the disposition of the colonies.

A General Policy.

The council is at the same time proceeding with the consideration of a general policy which shall be adopted by the five great powers in this matter. At present it appears that these powers, through the supreme council, intend to dispose of the subject, confident of the approval of its decisions by the conference itself.

The plan, which was discussed Monday, and is receiving immediate further consideration, looks to international control of the colonies, backward nationalities and tribes by individual powers or by agents to be known as "mandatories" of the league of nations. These agents are to derive all their powers from the league to act entirely on the lines of policy directed by that body.

All Dependent on League.

The distribution of these guardianships is to be made by the league of nations, so it again happens, as in the case of many of the projects of reform broached at the conference, that its successful application is wholly dependent upon the consummation of the league.

One argument against the league's control of the colonies advanced by the British colonial officials was that the "mandatories" might feel themselves saddled with enormous financial responsibilities and yet be subject to criticism in event that they failed to bring them forward. President Wilson himself felt called upon to answer this argument by the statement that the American plan contemplated that the "mandatory" power would be liable only for administrative expenses; other expenditures would be made only when authorized by the league, unless the colony was able to finance itself out of its own resources.

U. S. Guardianship.

While the plan has not progressed to a point where any attempt has been made to assign particular nations to these guardianships, the matter has been the subject of special thought and consideration. In the case of America it has been suggested that, owing to its large influence in Turkey through the numerous graduates of Robert College, and because of the conviction among the Turks of the disinterestedness of America, if it is called upon to assume such charge, it might naturally first take upon itself the guardianship not only of Turkey in Europe, but also a considerable portion of Turkey's former provinces, including Armenia.

AMERICAN BUYS ALL CANADIAN AIRPLANES FROM JOE FLAVELLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—This morning's New York Sun says:

"Roy U. Conger, a nephew of Edwin H. Conger, United States minister to China at the time of the Boxer rebellion, gave his certified check to Sir Joseph Flavelle, representing the British ministry of munitions, and Director Morrow, of the imperial aircraft board, and thereby became the owner of the entire aircraft equipment, costing more than $10,000,000, which was provided by Great Britain and used by Canada in training Canadian air fighters.

"The transaction was closed yesterday at Toronto, and the job of assembling 350 airplanes, 700 airplane engines, millions of spare parts, thousands of spare propellers, wings, cameras and other equipment, was at once begun under the direction of F. G. Erickson of Toronto, Mr. Conger's Canadian representative.

Granted Use of Field.

"The whole equipment will be moved from the royal flying corps training fields at Armour Heights, Rathbun, Mohawk, Beamsville and Borden to the field at Leaside, the use of which, rent free, has been granted to Mr. Conger for six months by the Dominion Government.

"The price paid was not divulged at the request of the British Government, but it was only a fraction of the original cost of the equipment."

"Mr. Congers' plan for the use and disposal of the stupendous equipment are merely in the making, but the greatest feature of them is the immediate development of airplane commercial routes in Canada. Absolutely convinced that heavier than air machines are to be the principal transporting mediums and vehicles of the future for passengers, mail and express, and in time indeed for heavy freight, the New Yorker purposes to establish out of his new equipment regular commercial service by airplane between principal Canadian cities. He has already taken measures, he said yesterday, to secure landing fields in the larger Canadian cities, and will have the sympathy and co-operation of the Dominion Government in the project."

TWO NURSING SISTERS WITH THE CANADIANS WIN MILITARY MEDALS

LONDON, Jan. 29.—(Canadian Associated Press.)—The military medal has been awarded to Nursing Sister Helen Elizabeth Hansen for gallantry during a raid on Etaples. She worked devotedly in the operating room through a severe bombardment of two hours, ready for any duty and exhibited qualities of coolness and courage.

The military medal has also been awarded to Sister Beatrice McNair for gallantry on the same occasion, when she carried on through the night without interruption, showing great solicitude for the patients and wholly unmindful of her own personal safety.

The Gazette contains the following awards:

Officers of the Legion of Honor: Major-Generals Lipsett and MacDonnell.

Croix De Cavalier: Lieut.-Cols. Panet and Parsons.

Croix De Guerre: Major D. Martin and Ptes. H. Lensman and P. Main; Sergt. William Plews and Corp. R. Taylor.

THIRD DIVISION OF CURRIE'S MEN FIRST TO BE DEMOBILIZED

First and Second Will Return Before Fourth.

UNIT SYSTEM IS BEST

Canadian Commander Shows Where Government's First Plan Was Faulty.

OTTAWA, Jan. 29.—With regard to the Canadian Corps and certain other troops in France, the ministry overseas of the military forces of Canada, in answer to inquiries with regard to the priority of return to Canada, has authorized the following interview as coming from Lieut.-General Sir Arthur Currie, commander of the Canadian Corps:

"As long as the corps constitutes a part of a larger organization, such as an army of occupation, it must remain a fully organized unit from a military point of view. For that reason it is impossible to demobilize any part of it in a manner which involves men being withdrawn for any other consideration than a military one. If men are withdrawn on account of length of service, occupation, etc., it is conceivable that all administrative sources of corps would break down and corps become immobile.

Must Leave as Units.

"These services are made up in many instances of men who have been withdrawn to a particular service after long experience in the firing line. Therefore, it follows that to make ready any part of the corps for demobilization you must set aside a complete unit. As a division is a tactical unit it has been considered wise to demobilize the corps by divisions, and for purposes of discipline it is essential to retain them intact. The principle governing demobilization of a division is that men should be sent home by units in order that the organization under which they have been controlled, supplied and fought, should remain in existence as long as possible. It is believed that the men will arrive in Canada happier and more contented, with discipline beeter maintained, if the unit origin is adhered to until the last possible moment."

Return in Rotation.

"When asked to nominate the order of return of units the corps commander recommended that they be demobilized in the order in which they were formed, viz.: First, Second, Third, Fourth. For that reason the First and Second divisions were sent to the Rhine first, because at that time it was the intention that all Canadian divisions should go to Germany, and if the First and Second went first they could later on be relieved by the Third and Fourth, after which they would be moved to the base, and there got ready for demobilization. On account of factors governing the military situation it was not found practicable to send the Third and Fourth divisions to Germany, and as it was impossible to relieve either the First or Second by either the Third or Fourth, it became necessary to nominate either the Third or Fourth as the division to be demobilized first. For a similar reason to that which governed the nomination the corps commander recommended that the Third division be demobilized first, to be followed by the First, Second and Fourth in order named.

A certain proportion of the corps' troops and troops on line of communication will accompany the divisional troops to Canada.

Many Personal Requests.

There are so many of the Canadians who were originally in the British islands, and who wish to see again relatives and parents before they return to Canada, that more applications for leave to England were received than could be granted.

Cordially sympathizing with this desire on the part of the men, and in order that all might be treated on the same basis, it was found necessary that the only possible way in which to meet the wish of the men was that divisions should be returned to Canada via England. This has been arranged.

After the armistice was declared such troops in England as were available were immediately returned to Canada, not including draftees under the M. S. A. This does not include the forestry corps in the British Isles, which has not been released from duty. On January 13 the adjutant-general overseas issued the following order:

Draftees Fill Gaps.

All personnel who can be made available for return to Canada other than draftees are to be returned, in accordance with their service groups, as laid down in demobilization instructions, Vol. I., appendix B. No priority of return will be accorded to men by reason of their being in low medical category. Every effort must be made to release men employed in England, so that they may be returned in the order of priority set out in the above-mentioned demobilization instructions, subject to the necessity of safeguarding proper maintenance of discipline and of administration. Care should be taken that any men released are substituted by draftees and not by men returned from France, or by men belonging to groups to be returned earlier than draftees.

General officers commanding will arrange selection of men for all future drafts accordingly.'

The demobilization instructions referred to above laid down that married men, according to length of service, are to be returned to Canada first, and then single men, according to length of service. For this purpose and in order to provide a practical system of priority the overseas military forces of Canada have been divided into 34 service groups covering a period from 1904 down to December, 1918."

JUDGMENT RESERVED IN DAMAGE ACTION

Plaintiffs Want $7,000 From Northern Navigation Company.

Judgment was reserved in the nonjury case of F. McGibbon & Son vs. the Northern Navigation Company, which was concluded yesterday afternoon at the winter assizes, at which Hon. M. Justice Kelly is presiding. This case, which commenced Tuesday, was postponed from the fall assizes. The plaintiffs are suing for $7,000, which they claim was the damage to them as a result of the defendant's ship, the Majestic, which was on fire, being moored near their ship, the Cataract, on Sarnia Bay. The fire occurred on December 15, 1915. The plaintiffs claim that the actual damage to the ship was $2,268, but that the damages amounted to $7,000, because they did not have the use of the ship as a result of the fire.

The defendants claim that the Cataract was only an old wreck, and that the fire on their ship was due to a cause over which they had no control. They also claim that the plaintiffs moored their ship in an unlawful position. Meredith & Fisher for the plaintiffs; Cowan, Towers & Co. for the defendants.

OPPOSE GOVT. BUYING SEASON'S WHEAT CROPS

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Organized opposition to the plan of the federal food administration for the Government to buy and sell the 1918 and 1919 wheat crops was put under way in Chicago today under auspices of the leaders of the board of trade who decided to have a committee to ask Congress to refuse to adopt the administration's wheat policy.

NO TIME SET FOR NO. 10 HOSPITAL TO ARRIVE IN CANADA

Lieut.-Col. Seaborn Has No Definite Information.

UNIT KEPT VERY BUSY

Had Good Christmas With a Special Y. M. C. A. Entertainer To Help.

Dr. E. E. Braithwaite, president of the Western University, this morning received an interesting letter, inclosing several snaps of the hospital buildings, from Lieut.-Col. Edwin Seaborn, O. C. of No. 10 Stationary Hospital, situated at Calais. Col. Seaborn, however, states that he is yet in ignorance as to the exact time at which the unit will arrive in Canada. He writes:

"We have no intimation as to the time or method of our demobilization. Everyone is quite well. We have so far escaped the influenza in a miraculous way. Those who have contracted it have not been at all seriously ill. The number of deaths amongst patients has been quite considerable.

Very Busy.

"With reference to the work done here, we have been up to the present time very much busier than we had expected to be. This was due to several causes: first, because hospitals in the forward area sent their cases to the base; secondly, because there has been the epidemic of influenza, which has not yet quite died out; thirdly, because coal miners, pivotal men, 'Watford Details' and men over 41, etc., are to be kept in hospital until such time as they have recovered and until they are recalled to England; and also because medical officers of units now send men to hospital for much less serious ailments. We also transfer patients to England who are suffering from less serious disabilities. On account of all this, it will happen that only men in good state of health will remain in France, and less hospital accommodation will therefore be necessary.

Christmas Day.

"We have had an exceptionally good Christmas. Christmas Day was devoted to the patients, who were given an entertainment by Miss Sarah Silvers, a Y. M. C. A. entertainer, who has often been here, and whom the boys are always delighted to hear. At noon a dinner was given them which was very good indeed, consisting of soup, roast pork (our own), with apple sauce (Red Cross), and two vegetables (our own), plum pudding, followed by nuts, raisins, etc. (Red Cross). In the afternoon a concert was given by our own company, and in the evening there were games in the wards where there were no seriously ill patients and in the Red Cross hut. The day was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone here. The following day the officers were entertained to dinner by the nursing sisters. Last year the sisters had not arrived at Christmas and the year before only a few of them were at Seaford. The occasion was therefore an unusual one and was very much enjoyed."

TWO GET BAIL, BUT THIRD IS REFUSED

All Plead Not Guilty to Charge of Having Liquor.

The fact that the majority of the legal lights of London who occasionally glimmer in the police court were fighting their wordy battles at the courthouse in the interests of alleged whiskey thieves and shoplifters, meant that postponements were the order of the day in the Carling street palace of justice this morning.

Richard Gray, Charles Songer and Charles Bell, the latter two colored, all pleaded not guilty to having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling. Gray and Songer were arrested Wednesday morning at the G. T. R. car shops and taken to the police station by License Inspector J. E. Keenleyside and Inspector R. Birrell of the police force, in company with 77 bottles of whiskey. Their case will be tried Monday.

Was Awake in Court.

Detective Thomas Nickle rang the curfew, or rather the rising bell, on Charles Bell at an early hour this morning. Charles' slumbers were rudely disturbed, but his plea of not guilty rang through the courtroom like a clarion later on.

Mr. Bell was found guilty some three months ago of having liquor illegally in his possession and fined $300. At that time Sergt. Thomas MacDonald chased him through the G. T. R. yards. Charlie's legs are short, and he had to discard his impedimenta, a big bag, containing whiskey bottles, and leave it to its fate. However, he was caught and convicted.

Arrested on Warrant.

According to the police, Charles pulled the same stunt Wednesday. Again the police arrived, but this time the bell was ringing in the dim distance. Inspector Keenleyside swore out a warrant for his arrest Wednesday afternoon and Detective Nickle did the rest this morning.

Edmund Meredith, K.C., appeared for the trio. Bail was granted, Gray and Songer for $250, but T. G. Murphy, appearing on behalf of Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop, refused to consent to bail for Bell.

"You could if you wanted to," said Mr. Meredith.

"But I don't want to," replied Mr. Murphy.

"Well, Bell, you are in an unfortunate position. I guess you'll have to fight this to the finish," stated Mr. Meredith.

"Uh huh," grinned Bell, showing a wide expanse of teeth, as he and the other men were led away.

CAPT. E. F. CARTER ARRIVED HERE TODAY

Capt. E. F. Carter arrived in Vancouver on Saturday on the Empress of Asia, and got here at noon today, where he was met by his wife, formerly Miss Smith of this city, who has been staying with her parents at 511 King street.

Capt. Carter left Canada with the 229th Battalion of Moose Jaw, and on arrival in England was transferred to the 19th Battalion. He served with distinction in France for 26 months, and at the end of this time was gassed and sent to Wimereux Hospital. Thence he went to England, where he was convalescing when the armistice was signed. He is a son of W. J. Carter of Picton, Ont., and received his military training at Wolseley Barracks, this city, where he got his captaincy six or seven years ago. Capt. Carter is remembered by and very popular with some of the older officers here.

Greeks Inoculated With Bolshevism

PARIS, Jan. 29.—Havas.—A large number of Bolsheviki propaganda pamphlets, the Matin says, have been found in possession of Greek officers and soldiers returning from internment in the prison camp at Goertitz, Germany.

The Government, the paper adds, will exercise special supervision over these soldiers.

MEDICAL EXAMINER WILL BE ABLE NOW TO JUDGE PENSIONS

Change in Methods Arranged by Ottawa.

WORD TO LOCAL OFFICER

Plan Is Intended To Eliminate Disappointments Frequent in the Past.

Donald Campbell, manager of the London district office of the board of pension commissioners, has received a telegram from the board at Ottawa instructing him to proceed immediately with the following instructions:

"Medical examiner will inform pensioner (1) the disability, (2) the disabling condition, (3) the percentage of pension which he is recommending to the head office which the pensioner should receive, (4) what that percentage means in money each month. The recommendation of the medical examiner will be reviewed at head office, and if reasonable will be authorized.

The carrying out of these instructions will mean that a man suffering disability as a result of wounds or sickness contracted while on active service will know, immediately following his examination by the pension board doctor, just what his pension is likely to amount to. In the past, the medical boards' estimates have more often than not varied very considerably from the actual amount of pension finally granted by the board of pension commissioners.

The reason for this, it is claimed, is that the doctors had not been trained to estimate correctly the percentage of disability resulting from a given physical condition. All of the medical officers who are engaged in this work, however, have attended in Ottawa a special course of instruction to make them proficient in this respect, and it is hoped that, except in a very small minority of cases, the amount which a partially or totally disabled men is told by the examining doctor that he will probably receive will actually be paid to him.

For a long time discharged men have been discontented as a result of the uncertainty as to what pension they were likely to receive, and one of the modifications which the Provincial G. W. V. A. recommended to the Government practically coincides with the arrangement which now goes into force.

CIVIC INCINERATOR BURNING NO COAL, ENGINEER DECLARES

Denies Rumor Which Is Hardy Annual.

"———(Censored)———!" This is what City Engineer H. A. Brazier called those citizens who have been circulating the reports that the civic incinerator has starting burning coal, and that garbage is being dumped at any convenient spot in the river, when asked regarding the rumors this morning. This story is like the pansy that Ald. S. R. Manness picked in his flower garden the other day; one can never tell when it will come up. Ever since the incinerator has been operating it has appeared from time to time in slightly different garb.

Versions Change.

At one time the story was that more coal was being burned than garbage in order to keep the fires going. Now, however, it has reached the proportion that all coal is being burned and the garbage is being dumped in the spots where it formerly was. Victoria Hospital is heated from the incinerator plant, and the purveyor of the rumors says that the coal is used in preference to garbage.

Engineer Brazier says that there is absolutely no coal used in the furnaces with the garbage at all. If there is not enough garbage to keep the fires burning, the furnaces are allowed to die out until the next day.

Use Auxiliary Furnaces.

As there is not enuogh garbage in the city to generate enough heat for the hospital, auxiliary furnaces are used in which coal is burned. In these furnaces there are somewhat more than 1,000 tons of slack coal used each year.

In December of last year 435 tons of garbage were gathered in the city and burned at the incinerator. In November there were 666 tons, and in October 1,029 tons.

Mr. Brazier says that if there are doubting Thomases still in the city who think coal is used to burn the garbage, they are welcome to visit the plant any day and see for themselves.

SOLDIER ARRESTED; CHARGE IS PASSING OF BOGUS CHECKS

Police After Another For a Similar Offence.

Pte. Fred H. Lasher of the Canadian Engineers was arrested yesterday at Carling Heights by Detectives Robert Egelton and Harry Down and appeared in police court this morning, charged with passing a bogus check on a Dundas street merchant on Saturday afternoon last.

As Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop was busy at the court house, Lasher was remanded till Tuesday morning, when his case will be tried. Magistrate Graydon did not ask him to plead.

The detectives arrested Lasher on a description furnished by the merchant. Another soldier is yet to be apprehended, as two checks were passed by the khaki lads, one for $26 and other for $27.

CASE POSTPONED

Accused Men All Busy at Another Court.

Owing to the fact that Frank Cahill, John Donahue, Fred Lyons, William Foley and James Quinn were busy at the court house trying to explain away the possession of 75 bottles of liquor, the case against them today in police court of disorderly conduct was postponed another week.

"I hardly think I can fine them for contempt of court, chief," said Mr. Graydon, "for they are all down in the jail." Chief Williams agreed to the case being hoisted for another seven days.

THE LOCAL MARKET

There was only a small attendance at the local market this morning. Eleven loads of hay were sold on yesterday's market, but there was no change in price. On today's market there were four loads of potatoes, but they are not going very fast, as most people and storages are filled up with them. Oats are now quoted at $1.80 at $1.90 per cwt. Live hogs took a little jump today, and are selling at $15.50 per cwt. No other changes in prices are reported.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—Reports that high bids for Argentine shipments were not finding any acceptance had a decided bullish effect today in the corn market. At first, however, sentiment was quite bearish, owing to the action of the British Government in imposing import restrictions on many new commodities. The depressing effect of the British embargo, however, was soon offset by the notice of the United States food administration that no selling of wheat at less than the guaranteed basis was contemplated. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅛c to 2¾c lower, were followed by sharp advances to well above yesterday's finish.

Oats were ruled by the changes in corn. After opening unchanged to ⅝c lower, the market sagged a little further an dthen made a quick rally.

A NEW BLOOD-FOOD HAS BEEN DISCOVERED THAT WORKS WONDERS

Said To Put New Life Into People That Are Rundown.

For years doctors have been searching for a combination that would enable them to inject into thin blood the elements it lacked. This can now be done, and any weak-blooded person can quickly be made strong and well.

Already a small army of ailing people has proved the merit of taking after each meal with a sip or two of water, two chocolate-coated Ferrozone Tablets. This is easily done, and even one week's use of this wonderful blood-food will prove how nourishing and strengthening and flesh-building the treatment is.

Just think of it—Ferrozone uplifts the entire nervous system, renews the blood, makes it rich and red—gives the sort of aid that's needed in throwing off weakness and languor.

Tens of thousands enjoy the advantages of renewed health through Ferrozone;—if you'll only use it, you'll surely grow strong too; its beneficial action is noticed even in a week. You see it goes right to work, removes the causes of the trouble and then quickly makes a cure.

For those who sleep poorly and have nervous apprehensions, Ferrozone is a boon; it is a specialist in such cases.

Where there is paleness, poor appetite and languor, Ferrozone makes the patient feel like new in a few days.

In tiredness, nerve exhaustion, spring fever and debility, the power of Ferrozone is known from coast to coast and universally used with grand results.

Let Ferrozone build you up, let it win you back to robust health—it will do so quickly if you give it the chance. Sold by all dealers. 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50. Remember the name Ferrozone.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Chronic Leg Ulcers Now Quickly Cured By Science

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D., (Johns Hopkins University.)

DR. HIRSHBERG

Those whose lower extremities needs must bear more than the average human burdens are often invaded by germs and microbes which may produce ulcers that may become chronic nuisances, difficult, if not impossible, to cure.

As bitter as gall and wormwood, with a perpetual thorn in his flesh, the victim does his utmost to heal his tormented fabric.

Almost any debilitating, constitutional trouble, such as fatigue, long hours of work, overweight, poor or faulty food, inflamed veins, carbuncles and compound fractures may start an ulcer of the skin or bone.

After these general causes have been corrected, and the diabetes, hardened arteries, high blood pressure and other remote connections have been relieved and cured, the immediate and direct local treatment must be brought into play.

The apparently incurable nature of some leg ulcers is due to the antiquated, traditional medical and surgical measures which are sometimes used in their treatment. Salves, unguents, ointments and greasy applications are still widely in use in some places, yet the unhealed ulcers is proof positive such methods are ineffective.

Ointments and fats really prevent the excreted poisons and fluids from leaving the afflicted area. Moreover, the healing tissues, called granulations, become flabby and anaemic if salves are applied.

What is really needed upon these lazy, indolent, resistant ulcers is some sort of osmotic pressure, an oxidizing element to excavate and burn out the poisons, germs, waste and discharges.

Method of Treatment.

The best results are now evidently obtained by the employment of rubber-dam wet dressings with a mixture of the double oxide-nitrogen mineral, which both stimulates the healing while it simultaneously absorbs from the ulcers the discharges and bacteria.

Not only does this method heal the ulcers from the deepest base upward to the surface, but it also has a powerful astringent action which promotes the healing of the skin with hardly the sign of a scar.

Some forty-five sufferers with leg ulcers have been healed within twenty days by this scheme; some of them had been years and months in duration.

Chronic leg ulcers, associated as they frequently are with varicose veins, are often incurable as long as the sluggish congestion of the stale blood and fluids remain to stagnate and decompose the leg tissues.

The precise fit of a combination of these nitro-oxide double minerals in a gelatinous base or vehicle, in addition to its healing powers, seems to stimulate the movement of congested lymph and venous blood from the leg. The rubber sheet, which contains the peroxide of nitrogen mineral, exerts an even pressure, which aids in expressing the congested blood from the leg.

Most treatments of chronic leg ulcers require the patient to keep the leg higher than the hips. He is thus unable to walk.

One of the essential features of this new treatment is that it is ambulatory; that is to say, the victim is not compelled to give up work and be confined to bed.

Cure Is Rapid.

Skin grafting, so necessary in many treatments of leg ulcers, is hardly ever needed in this new treatment, which promotes the covering of the healed ulcer with new cuticle. The delicate, invisible epithelial tissues is strengthened and hardened, and not washed away as fast as formed. The latter happens in most other treatments.

Dr. Edward Adams, surgeon of the New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital, points out in a recent book on "Chronic Leg Ulcers," that the rapid and permanent cure of an ulcer is a matter of great importance. The patient afflicted with one is more or less incapacitated from work, liable to serious accidents, but has his very nature and earning power injured.

The muscles near an ulcer become matted together and shrunk. They waste away and contractures of the limb resembling a palsy may ensue.

The hinges and joints of the bones may become fixed and contracted, and the inactivity diminishes the powers of the other human structures to resist more serious diseases.

Answers to Health Questions

Y.: Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for nits.

2. Kindly advise me what to do to make my eyelashes and eyebrows thicker.

A.—These are the eggs of insects, lice, which attach themselves like glue to the hair strands. The insect is more easily destroyed than the nits. Wash the hair in equal parts of acetic acid and water, then brush the hair thoroughly. Repeat this several times on successive nights. Wash off with water.

2. A little white vaseline used on the eyelashes and brows will cause an increase in their growth.

F. A. M.: Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for pyorrhea.

A.—Vaccine injections of staphylococcus and streptococus bacteria is very good for pyorrhea. Iodide of potash saturated in water and taken after meals is also very good. Start with 15 drops and increase a drop at a time until 35 drops have been taken. Also have a dentist scrape the teeth, and take five grains each of hexamethylenetetramine and citrate of lithia in a little water every four hours.

J. S.: Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for enlarged pores.

A.—Massage the skin gently with a little of the following strong astringent that will serve to draw together the flabby skin, which has permitted the too wide opening of the mouths of the pores:

Rosewater .... 6 ounces
Elder flower water.... 2 ounces
Simple tinct. benzoin.½ ounce
Tannic acid ....10 grains

A GRATEFUL READER: Q.—Kindly advise me what to do for sagging muscles.

A.—One type of individual with drooping flesh, flabby cheeks and relaxed muscles becomes so from lack of sunlight and open air exercise. Eating at night and loss of sleep plays a major role in this. Rubbing the face with ice for two minutes every other day is also a help. Vibrators add tone.

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

Restless conditions dominate this day, according to the peculiar positions among the reigning stars. The Neptune influence is strong and not fortunately so—the transit warning against deceit, treachery or intrigue. Those in employment should be particularly on guard against subtle or unfathomable undoing, though probably the bold and resourceful Mars, transited by Luna, will instill the initiative necessary to vanquish all adversaries and uncover all conspiracies. Under a disconcerting intimacy between Venus and the disruptive and irregular Uranus, women are urged to be particularly conventional in their demeanor.

Those whose birthday it is should keep their business well in hand, protecting it from all angles. Changes await those in employment. A child born on this day will be fond of change, adventurous, impressionable and rather unconventional in inclination.

Good Night Stories

By Blanche Silver

UNHAPPY PEGGY LEARNS THE WAY TO HAPPINESS.

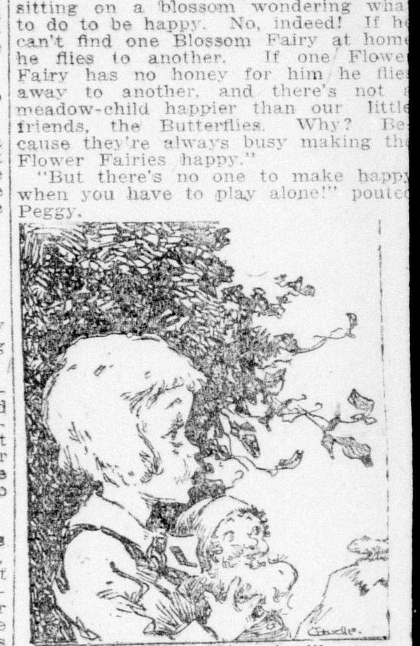

Peggy sat on a great big stone out in the yard, rubbing her blue eyes with her chubby fists.

"What in the world's the trouble now?" asked a squeaky voice, and Peggy's little elfin friend from Make-believe Land hopped upon the stone at her side.

"Oh, dear, Happy Giggles!" exclaimed Peggy. "I'm so unhappy this morning. Everything goes wrong and there's no one to play with me and there's nothing to do!"

"Oh, me! Oh, my!" laughed Happy Giggles. "What if there isn't any one to play with you. Can't you find something else to do? Little girls should never be unhappy living in this beautiful world. You never see a Butterfly sitting on a blossom wondering what to do to be happy. No, indeed! If he can't find one Blossom Fairy at home he flies to another. If one Flower Fairy has no honey for him he flies away to another, and there's not a meadow-child happier than our little friends, the Butterflies. Why? Because they're always busy making the Flower Fairies happy."

"But there's no one to make happy when you have to play alone!" pouted Peggy.

"There You Are!"

Just then Peggy's little brother awakened from his nap and began to cry.

"There you are!" laughed Happy Giggles, with a merry twinkle in his funny little eyes. "Play with Brother and not only make him happy, but you'll be helping Mamma as well. Why, do you know, if every little girl in the world would just make one person happy each day in the week, by the time Sunday rolls around they could count seven happy people, and if they'd run and look into the looking-glass they'd be sure to find another happy face smiling back at them—for happiness is certainly catching."

"Well, I never thought of that before," laughed Peggy, her pout all gone. "And I bet there are few little girls that have thought of it."

"I dare say there aren't," replied Happy Giggles. "If they did, this old world would be twice as happy as it is. To be happy one must always keep busy. Idleness brings unhappiness, so does selfishness. So when there's no one to play with or when there seems nothing to do, instead of sitting down and pouting, run and help your Mamma and sing while you're doing it. You'll find you won't be lonesome." And shaking his funny little red cap at Peggy, Happy Giggles disappeared.

Peggy jumped up and ran to the baby, who by this time was crying great big tears, and before she knew it Peggy had him laughing.

"Just think, Brother!" laughed Peggy. "If I make just one person happy each day, at the end of a year there will be 365 happy persons in the world!"

Gathering up Brother, Peggy ran to tell Mother what Happy Giggles had said.

MY SOLDIER HUSBAND

ADELE GARRISON'S CONTINUATION OF

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

How Madge Forced Mr. Stockbridge To "Speak First."

"Please come this way, Mrs. Graham."

Mr. Stockbridge spoke in the same brusque manner he had used when he told me to cut up the slips of paper. I didn't mind in the least the curtness—I felt as if I should term it the boorishness—of his manner. But the spark of amusement which had glinted in his eyes a few minutes before had not only made me thoroughly angry, but had quenched every bit of the friendly, half-pitying admiration I had felt for the Bayview High School principal when I found that he was the maimed football hero of whom in my girlhood I had read and heard so much.

Just what was the reason for this rude reception of me, in such strong contrast to his manner upon the day he engaged me as his assistant, I couldn't fathom. When I first came in I wondered if he were childish enough to resent the iciness of my manner upon the day when Major Grantland's car broke down.

The whimsical glint in his eyes, however, made me realize not only that he was playing a part now as he had done upon the other occasion, but that his eternal boyish whimsicality was getting a certain amount of amusement out of the role. I guessed that he was covertly watching me in order to find out what I really felt concerning my reception to my new work, testing as it were my adaptability to circumstances. With a little tightening of my lips, a sort of girding up of my faculties, I resolved grimly that it shouldn't be an easy task for him.

The "Poker Face."

In my former teaching days I had always found it an easy task to wear what one of my associates used to call "a poker face." It was a distinct asset in preserving discipline, and I found it—coupled with a manner which I once overheard an admiring girl pupil given to polysyllables term "inscrutable"—of much use to me in the clashes with principals, which are almost an inevitable part of a teacher's routine.

It had always been part of my policy never to begin a conversation with a principal when I could possibly avoid doing so, especially when any issue of discipline or of instruction methods was being discussed. To listen courteously, but silently, to whatever was said, but also to preserve an air that subtly conveyed entire disagreement and disapproval with what was being proposed, was a trick that had served me many times. With a little reminiscent grin I summoned face and manner once more to my aid. Kenneth Stockbridge should not read me easily, I told myself resolutely.

Madge Gets Revenge.

As we ascended the stairs he talked rapidly, but with the same curt manner he had used from my entrance into his office.

"Our work in history, civics and Latin follow the state outlines with which, of course, you are familiar."

He paused and looked toward me. I gave him a cool little nod of assent, but didn't speak. He went on, a trifle more hurriedly.

"You will find the classes all up to grade, and can take up the work where the last instructor left it."

I was malicious enough to convey by an infinitesimal lifting of the eyebrows, although my face remained impassive, that I doubted whether the country classes could possibly be up to the grade of the ones I had taught in other years. I was rewarded by seeing an angry spark instead of a whimsical one appear in the eyes which he turned toward me as we reached the top of the stairs.

"Of course, you will find the work and surroundings quite different than those of the city schools, but I'm conceited enough to believe that the students here will rank with those of almost any city school."

This time his expectant pause demanded a reply.

"That will be pleasant, indeed," I murmured demurely, but my manner conveyed my disbelief of his assertion.

This time a hint of color crept into his cheeks, and I knew that I was being amply revenged for the amusement I had afforded him.

"You will, of course, have your hours in the assembly-room. The discipline at first may be a bit difficult, but please remember that I am always at your service if the boys get too troublesome.

"Ah, Miss Holcomb, let me introduce Mrs. Graham. Miss Holcomb will tell you anything else it is necessary for you to know. Good morning."

Jimmy Coon and His Friends

The Adventures of the Little People of the Great Forest.

JIMMY COON STANDS UP FOR COUSIN BRUIN.

Well, I wish you could have seen how the news spread about the Giant Bear and the Farmer Boy running home at breakneck speed. Many of the little people of the Great Forest were disgusted with the Giant Bear; and Bobby Skunk snapped out: "Why didn't that Big Black Giant swallow the Farmer Boy whole? I wish he had; for that Boy has made us lots of trouble with his traps and his awful gun!" And all the little people crowded around Jimmy Coon and Sammy Muskrat to hear all the strange news about the Giant Bear and the Farmer Boy. Everybody talked at once and asked lots of questions.

"I always told you fellows that Giant Bear was a coward, and was afraid of his shadow. Why, I have often scared that great Giant almost to death, by just shaking my tail, filled with arrows, at him," shouted Quilly Porcupine.

Jimmy Coon Strutted Around and Stuck Out His Chest as If He Were a Prize-Fighter.

"Me, too!" shouted Bobby Skunk. "Why, I have stood my ground many a time in the little Winding Path, and when I aimed at Giant Bear's little left black eye, you would have laughed to see him run. I tell you all he is scared to death at the sound of any noise, or the sight of any stranger."

"Now you chaps stop running down my relative," shouted Jimmy Coon. "Don't you fellows know that Giant Bear is my First Cousin, and that our family all call him 'Cousin Bruin'? He is the strongest and bravest Chap in the Great Forest. And don't any of you little people run him down in my presence!" And Jimmy Coon strutted around and stuck out his chest as if he were a prize-fighter. The little people took sides at once, and some said the Giant Bear was a big Coward; and others, like Jimmy Coon, said that Cousin Bruin was as brave as a lion. And I'm sorry to say that some got angry, and looked as if the fur would fly in a great quarrel.

Luckily, in the midst of the rumpus Teddy Possum shouted, "Let's leave it to Sammy Muskrat, for he saw the whole business as well as Jimmie Coon —and Sammy's no coward." And Sammy Muskrat took a fresh-water clam out of his mouth, which he was eating, and "hemmed and hawed" and swallowed some clam-juice and then muttered, "Fellows, it was awfully hard to tell who was scared the most—the Farmer Boy or the Giant Bear! Both looked awfully frightened; and both faced each other for a moment. The Farmer Boy's face was as white as snow, and the Bear's face was as black as coal; and then both turned tail and fled like a deer for home. That's all I know."

So the Little People could not find out from Sammy whether or not the Giant Bear was a coward.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN IN 'SHOULDER ARMS' AT GRAND OPERA HOUSE

Million-Dollar Comedian in Return Showing Today, Friday, Saturday.

"Shoulder Arms," Charlie Chaplin's latest and greatest comedy, will be shown at the Grand today, Friday and Saturday. "Shoulder Arms" is a clever laugh-provoking burlesque on trench life with deft touches of the drama and pathos of war.

The story pictured in "Shoulder Arms" takes Charlie through all the experience of a recruit. His feet get him into countless troubles under the unsympathetic eye of the drill sergeant, and even after his advent into the front line trenches he finds new complexities in the management of a rifle and bayonet. Following numerous experiences in his dugout, he volunteers for a special spying mission. Camouflaged as a tree he invades German territory. A Hun wood-chopping part, attempts to add him, disguised as a tree stump, to its collection with disastrous results. Charlie is finally captured in a shell-torn French house. He makes his escape by turning the tables on the Germans, and accompanied by the French girl, who befriends him, he seeks refuge in what proves to be the headquarters of the German staff. The kaiser, crown prince and von Hindenburg surprise him in an attack on a German officer, but Charlie saves the day for himself and the girl by wearing the uniform of his unconscious victim. He rescues his drill sergeant, also captured by Huns, and together they conspire to escape. Their plan brings complete confusion to headquarters, and shakes the German army to its foundations.

U. S. and France to Maintain Largest Occupation Armies

Britain's Naval Contribution Lets Her Down Lightly.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—(British Wireless.)—The British contribution to the Allied armies of occupation in the Rhine land ,says the Times in an editorial today, will be less numerically than that of either France or the United States, consideration having been given the part played in the war by the British navy and to British responsibilities in other parts of the world.

Kekoa and his Hawaiian singing, dancing and musical act, appearing all this week at the Grand under the auspices of Hamilton Gault Chapter, I.O.D.E. The proceeds will be donated to the French relief fund. This act is presented entirely by local talent, and is one of the most creditable offerings seen here in months. In addition to this attraction will be Charlie Chaplin in a return engagement of "Shoulder Arms," a two-reel O. Henry comedy, "Brief Debut of Tildy," and a colored scenic film, showing scenes in Sweden and France.

DOROTHY DALTON IN 'QUICKSAND' AT THE MAJESTIC TODAY

Popular Screen Star in Her Latest Feature Photo-play.

The feature photoplay showing at the Majestic Theatre today, Friday and Saturday, in conjunction with the local play, "Owing to the War," is a Paramount special, "Quicksand," featuring Dorothy Dalton, a screen favorite.

In this photoplay Miss Dalton is seen as a young wife whose husband is wrongfully accused of forgery and imprisoned. Determined that she will prove his innocence, the wife becomes a cabaret singer, and in this capacity lures the man who really committed the crime into a confession. This frees the husband, and all ends happily after a narrow escape from the quicksands of life, which abound on every hand and trap us if we are not wary.

Miss Dalton is said to have been given a particularly powerful emotional role in this production, which was directed by Victor L. Schertzinger and written by John Lynch. R. Cecil Smith did the scenario.

The supporting cast is a powerful one. It includes Ed Coxen, who plays the role of Jim Bowen, the husband who suffers imprisonment; Philo McCulloch, who is seen as a wastrel; Henry A. Barrows, who plays the part of John Boland, keeper of a dance hall, and little Frankie Lee. The photography by John Stumar is said to be excellent in every respect.

The second of the series of "Famous Canadian Regiments in France," a Majestic screen telegram and a Harold Lloyd comedy will complete a thoroughly excellent bill.

MEDICINES USED BY MONKS

It is claimed that monks of ancient days knew of more than three hundred species of medicinal plants used in general for medicines by these religious orders. While centuries have passed, with all the advance made in medical science, many of our most successful remedies are today made from the roots and herbs of the field, like that good, old-fashioned remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than forty years has been relieving women from some of the worst forms of female ills, and is now considered the standard remedy.

AILSA CRAIG GIRLS GIVE RECEPTION TO "ADOPTED" SOLDIER

Pte. Fred Maguire a Long Prisoner in Germany.

AILSA CRAIG, Jan. 29.—A rousing welcome was given a town boy, Pte. Fred Maguire, who arrived home on Tuesday from overseas, after a few days' delay at Montreal. First message from London was he would arrive on Monday morning, but having been detained he did not come until yesterday, when he was met at the depot by a large number of friends, and was given three cheers, led by ex-Reeve J. Morgan. He was escorted to his home by a procession of decorated autos. In the evening a reception was given by Miss Ada Munro, president of the Young Ladies' Club, at her home to Pte. Maguire, and his boy friends. A public reception had been planned by the girls of the club, when word was received Fred was safe in England but owing to so much illness in town this could not be arranged for the present.

Pte. Maguire went overseas with the 135th Battalion, and was in the trenches fourteen months and taken a prisoner by the Germans in February, 1918, and was adopted by the "Young Ladies' Club" the day word was received here. During the evening Pte. Maguire told of his many experiences while a prisoner, and stated until his Red Cross supplies came he had worked as long as twelve hours a day in a coal mine on bread and soup only, sometimes even that not eatable. But when his food (which consisted of 60 pounds of the very best), each month also warm clothing, came he was more comfortable, and only for the club sending money to buy all this he says he would have starved, as he had to work every day. After being captured his first treatment was to be put in a dungeon for four days and fed on black bread and water, but he would not give in to tell them anything, so they let him out to work in the mines. One fortunate thing for him was he had good health, and with his rest in England looks well. Pte. Maguire is the eldest son of George Maguire of this place, and when he enlisted he was only 19 years of age.

FINE MAUSOLEUM TO BE BUILT AT WOODLAND

Woodland Cemetery is to have a mausoleum which will cost $100,000 and will be built of granite, marble and bronze. The mausoleum will have 440 crypts, a chapel for funeral services and other rooms. The exterior construction will be of granite. The interior floors, corridors and crypts will be of marble. A patented system of ventilation will also be installed, which, it is said, keeps the bodies of the dead in a natural state of preservation.

The mausoleum will be constructed by the London Mausoleum Company, which has been organized here by Jas. H. Stewart, who has constructed many such buildings in other large cities. Windsor capitalists, as well as local men, are behind the enterprise. The officers of the London company are C. W. Cadwell, president; H. E. Guppy, vice-president; F. E. Harvey, secretary-treasurer, and James H. Stewart, general manager.

Bunn the Baker of Bara-Boo

Ever Try 'Croutons' With Soup?

We are indebted to the French for most of our finer cookery and clever dishes. For instance, it took a French chef to discover the great addition that could be made to a plate of soup, by serving a handful of croutons.

Croutons are little squares of bread about half an inch each way. They are toasted to a rich brown in a quick oven and served in little saucers at the side of each soup plate, or thrown on top of the soup immediately before serving. Usually they are only served with a thick soup or puree, and for thinner soups and consomme, well-toasted thin rounds of bread are served, one to a portion of soup.

NEAL'S ALOAFA BREAD is ideal for croutons, because it is ideal for toast. Try this novelty next time you serve soup. The hot, nourishing goodness of your fine soup will be all the better for that crisp, crunching, toasted bread that brings with it a smack of cereal flavor which blends excellently with the plateful set before each hungry guest. And—if you serve NEAL'S ALOAFA BREAD every meal every day—you'll have the best that knowledge and skill can produce and money can buy. Ask your grocer or phone for a wagon to call.
