Illicit Whiskey Business at the Border Has Reached Huge Proportions—Citizens Plan To Petition Ottawa To Take Prompt Action.

Windsor, July 12.-Close investigations which are being made here indicate that at the present time rum runners are disposing of liquor which nets them $100,000 a day. Almost all of the whiskey goes into Michigan, and the business is reaching such magnitude that stringent action is required to put an end to it. Many of the best citizens are urging that a stiff jail sentence is the only way to stop the illicit traffic, and contemplate sending petitions to the government asking that prompt action be taken.

The rum traffic has developed so extensively that it is difficult to tell who Wanderer shot and killed his wife and may be involved. There have been some rather startling disclosures, and more are likely to follow shortly. At the present time the express companies are handling from one to three carloads of whiskey a day. Last week the seizures amounted to more than 1,000 cases, and this, it is stated, is only a small fraction of what is going through.

It is stated that a former resident of this district, who went to Montreal with ss than $100 in his pocket, has through his connection with the liquor traffic rest lost composure momentarily, but made half a million dollars. The most unscrupulous methods are often adopted by some of those in the trade. A few days ago a large consignment came ad-

GRAIN BOAT DROPS 18 FEET WHEN IT GOES THROUGH CANAL GATE

Steamer That Performed Feat Did Same Thing Six Years Ago.

SIGNAL MISTAKEN

Boat Sent Full Speed Ahead Instead of Reversed.

St. Catharines, July 12.-For the second time in the history of the Welland Canal a downbound steamer yesterday smashed through the footgates of a lock ancient and improved manner, with all into the level below. Six years ago the Cherokee performed a similar feat. Yesterday it was the same craft, which now hears the name, Maple Grove, owned by the Canada Steamship Lines. The steamer which carried a full load of wheat, entered Lock No. 2 cautiously When near the footgates, the captain signalled for a reverse of the engines to check the craft. Instead, the engineer began to work full speed, and she literally sprang into the footgates, which though wedged and mitred against her, were crunched off by the heavily laden iron craft, which plunged eighteen feet into the level below. With her speed accelerated by the rush of released water the boat raced towards No. 1 loci, at the end of the short level

Bryan prevented the steamer from crashing into the swing bridge and the gates of Lock No. 1, by piloting the disabled craft into the bank, where her keel is now imbedded in the clay.

Neither boat nor cargo is thought to be badly damaged. The damage to the canal, which will fall upon the owners of the boat, is estimated at $7,500. Traffic on the canal was tied up ves terday afternoon and this morning had not yet bee, resumed. Engineer Gray, it is said, will be unable to leave the general and marine hospital for a few days.

BE SUSPICIOUS OF

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an in-sidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unenameled tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system. Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea. They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, heumatism and other serious con-

"Another sin of the world today is the divorcing or one another. The law should be that only for certain causes should be that only for certain causes who are able to furnish the money needed. As it stands today," said Mr. Roy, "only the rich may get divorce and in many cases the divorce is for the most trivial thing. A poor person who has the most just cause for divorce cannot get it because the money cannot be paid. Divorce should not be granted only in the most just cases. Easy divorce lowers the standard of the married state."

Rev. Mr. Roy also touched on the temperance question in the course of his sermon. He said that the measures taken by Canada should be just as drastic as those taken in the United States. "This inter-provincial shipment of liquor is making temperance a farce," said Mr. Roy.

A GREAT SAILOR PASSES.

By the death of Lord Fisher, former first lord of the British Admiralty, the empire loses one of its greatest sailors of recent times. His part in the Great War was a brief one, but it was his rulership of the navy in the period immediately preceding the struggle that prevented Germany achieving a quick and sweeping victory. The Hun challenge found the British navy the most powerful and effective fighting machine of all time, thanks to the reorganization, reforms and discipline that Fisher had introduced. It swept the seven seas clear of German ships and instituted a blockade that had the enemy trapped throughout the war and which Fisher furnished a perfect instrument of warfare. On the ability of England's fleet to con- stration hospitals, provided the services trol the seas depended the success of the Allied cause. The British fleet, splendidly efmitted the steady stream of men and munitions being poured into France from all parts of the empire. But for the British navy the armies of America would never have reached the front in sufficient numbers to have been a serious factor in finishing the enemy. In the last analysis the British fleet won the war, and that because of its overwhelming superiority and its mighty it were possible to contribute in any way toward preparedness, the work of Lord Fisher. His name will stand with the foremost of Albion's greatest sea captains.

war record. The Rockefeller Foundation.

First of all, there is the statement that I have resided in the United States. Permit me to say that have lived for the last twenty years in this city Ottawa, and have never during that time the last ten years I have resided in the Roxborough Apartments in this city, and any member of this House who inquires of the Imperial Realty Company, the proprietors of the Roxborough, will find that at no time during the war or since have I had my place of residence anywhere else. During that at no time during the war or since have I concelled my lease, or even temporarly sub-let the apartment which I occupy. The relationship which I had with the Rockefeller Foundation, and to which I shall allude in a moment, did not require or necessitate in any way my absence from Canada; nor did it, as a matter of fact, occasion any absence except in the most transient way. More than that, at present I have not, and for some considerable ime past have not had any business connection with any commercial, financial or business interest either in the United States or in Canada. I have had none such since I was honored with the pos leadership of my party in August last. Not a business Enterprise. Now, Sir, let me explain the nature of my re tionship to the Rockefeller Foundation. First of all, the Foundation is not in any sense of the work business or commercial enterprise. It is a pailanthropic organization chartered under the laws the State of New York in the year 1913. As described in the act of incorporation, it is a body "for the purpose of receiving and maintaining a fund or funds, and applying the interest and principal thereof to promote the well-being of mankind throughout the world." During the war ts activities were for the most part in the nature of war work co-operation. It was the first organiation in the United States to come to the relief of the Belgians in the matter of food and clothing It not only assisted the Belgians, were untilized to bring relief to the starving populations in portions of France as well as Belgium and to the peoples of Poland, Serbia and Armenia Beatty and the skill and caution of Jellicoe, of dollars in assistance to Red Cross and Y. Within the last few months, as an expression of international good-will, the Rockefeller Foundation made to the universities of this Dominion a gift of $5,000,000 to be used for research work in connec

CHAPTER IV.

The Anglo-Orient Hotel.

The house at which Spargo and his companions presently drew up was an old-fashioned place in he immediate vicinity of Waterloo railway station -a plain-fronted, four-square erection, essentially nid-Victorian in appearance, and suggestive, some how, of the very early days of railway traveling. Anything more in contrast with the modern ideas greed, of a hotel it would have been difficult to find in Only the bad are overbold. London, and Ronald Breton said so as he and the others crossed the pavement. "And yet a good many people used to favor this place on their way to and from Southampton in the old days," remarked Rathbury. "And I daresay that old travelers, coming back from the East after a good many years absence, still rush in here. You see, it's close to the station, and travelers have a knack of walking into the nearest place when they've a few thousand miles of steamboat and railway train behind them. Look there, now."

They had crossed the threshold as the detective and as they entered a square, heavily-furnished hall, he made a sidelong motion of his head toward a bar on the left, wherein stood or lounged a number of men who, from their general appearance, their slouched hats and their bronzed faces, appeared to be colonials, or, at any rate, to have spent a good part of their time beneath Oriental There was a murmur of tongues that had a colonial accent in it; an aroma of tobacco that suggested Sumatra and Trichinopoly, and Rathbury wagged his head sagely. "Lay you anything the dead man was a colonial, Mr. Spargo," he remarked. 'Well, now, I suppose that's the landlord and the

Canadian Foamite Firefoam, Limited

On Thursday, June 10th, I was invited by your representative, Mr. E. C. Gunn, to supervise a series of tests of your Foamite Firefoam Extinguisher at No. 4 Fire Station, Ottawa. The tests arranged and carried out were as follows:-

Test No. 1 A wooden wall, 12' × 12" of 1" lumber, was erected and a large quantity of wood shavings, excelsior, broken packing cases and other inflamable rubbish was piled against it. The whole pile, together with the wooden wall, was then soaked with 5 gallons of gasoline and ignited. The fire was permitted to burn until the entire mass was in flames that shot some 20 feet into the air. At a given signal, and when the fire was at its height, one 5 gallon cylinder of Foamite was discharged upon the burning mass, with the result that the fire was totally extinguished in 40 seconds. The most notable feature of this test was the manner in which the wooden wall, when coated with Firefoam, was completely insulated from the flames that impinged against it. Test No. 2 A quantity of excelsior, broken packing cases and miscellaneous rubbish was piled within an enclosure measuring approximately 10' x 10' in an attempt to simulate as nearly as possible the conditions that frequently obtain in basements and cellars. The entire pile was soaked with gasoline, which was allowed to evaporate, the gasoline vapour being confined by the enclosure. Upon ignition, a miniature explosion took place and the entire mass instantly took fire. After being permitted to burn for 2 minutes, one 5 gallon tinguished in 30 seconds. An open metal tub, 2' 6" in diameter, containing 7 gallons of gas-Pest No. 3 oline was placed in the centre of a wooden floor constructed of 1" boards laid on 2" × 4" scantlings. The floor was deluged with gasoline and ignited. When the entire floor and tub of gasoline were in flames, spray from a 5 gallon Firefoam Extinguisher was discharged into the tub and in 10 seconds it completely extinguished the burning gasoline and prevented its re-ignition from the flaming floor surrounding it. The floor itself was extinguished in 5 seconds by spray from the same extinguisher. Comparative tests made at the same time upon a similar gasoline Note soaked floor of like area gave the following results:-

(a) Ordinary 1 quart Tetra-Chloride Extinguisher. The liquid from this Extinguisher slightly subdued the flames in the small area touched by the stream, but proved entirely inadequate tod eal with a fire spread over so large an area. It was demonstrated that in fighting quickly-spreading fires I quart of liquid has little or no effect. (b) Ordinary 2½ gallon Soda and Acid Extinguisher. This extinguisher was discharged upon a burning floor of the same area as that used in the other tests, and while it extingushed the flames it only did so by repeated applications, owing to the rekindling of the

The Ole Swimming Bunk.

About this time of year and a little earlier a feller suffers something fierce from the heat and the reports of the condition of the water given by fellers who are not handicapped with pampering parents. BASEBALL IN MICHIGAN JUST ANOTHER NAME FOR A ROMAN HOLIDAY

The only difference between wild game and umpires in Michigan is that the game is protected by "close seasons" and the umps have nothing but their masks, chest protectors and their own two good legs if there isn't a blue-coated minion of the law around.

The one game that contained two drives that emptied the three bases was played by the Indians and Red Sox in Boston on May 12. Elmer Smith of the westerners then doubled against Joe Bush and Jack McInnis of the easterners then tripled against Ray Caldwell.

Each major league organization has pitchers able to respond to the emergency when the stage is set for a kayo. New York, July 12—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Unfavorable conditions in the steel industry, arising chiefly from freight congestion and last week's final rate of 10 per cent for call money, were largely responsible for the uneven tone of prices at the opening of today's stock market. There were a few features of strength, particularly Canadian Pacific, New York Central, Royal Dutch and General Chemical, in which gains ran from 1 to almost 3 points. These were neutralized, however, by losses of 2½ points in Mexican Petroleum, American Woolen, Baldwin Locomotive and Studebaker.

ROGER HORNSBY IS REAL CLEAN-UP ARTIST OF SEASON

Has Put "To Rent" Signs On Final Shoot of the Series To Bases Three Times Thus Far -Larry Gardner Next.

Larry Gardner Next.

By Ernest J. Lanigan.
Rogers Hornsby, whom neither gold for precious stones can wean away from the St. Louis Cardirels, has struck more clean-up blows this cason than anyone else in the big show, thrice having come to the plate with the bases packed and rid them of their three runners. The priceless athlete, who stands a pretty good show of getting the opportunity next fall to see what he can do against world series pitching, has doubled once with three men on, and tripled twice. He hasn't picked on second-rate slabmen when hoisting For Rent signs on the bases, his three-baggers that resulted in six counters being made off Ceeit Algernon Causey of the Phillies and Jesse Barnes of the Glants, and his double that produced three tallies being manufactured while Earl Hamilton of Pittsburg was on the rubber. The dates Rogers made these wallops were May 19 and 23 and June 1. Last year Rickey's 24-year-old star did the celan-up act only once, hitting for the circuit against Arlie Wilbur Cooper of the Pirates on the little of the pirates on the little of the pirates on the little of the pirates on the Western Ontario Regiment in the third match of the Canadian Rifle League held at the Cove ranges on Saturday last. Williams Lawrence Gardner of the Indians is the one other pastimer on the fast time circuits who has more than one clean-up smash to his credit. The veteran third sacker, who has been in world's series before, and may play in another one next fall, has doubled once and scored three men and tripled once and scored three men and tripled once and given the Indians, who look more intrepid than usual this year, a trio of markers. Larry jumped Carl Mays of the Yankees for a two-bagger on June 26, three runs resulting from each smash.

All told there have been 30 long clotts made in the major leagues this year that have swept the bags clear of their three occupants, American Leaguers taking credit for 18 of these batting feats and National Leaguers for 12.

The American League's clean-up smashes consisted of eight doubles, eight smashes consisted of eight doubles are continued and the celant and the clean up smashes consisted of eight doubles are consiste The American Leaguers for 12.

The American League's clean-up smashes consisted of eight doubles, eight triples and two homers; the National League's of seven doubles and five triples.

The one game that contained two drives that emptied the three bases was played by the Indians and Red Sox in Boston on May 12. Elmer Smith of the westerners then doubled against Joe Bush and Jack McInnis of the easterners then tripled against Ray Caldwell.

Each major league organization has pitchers able to respond to the emergency when the stage is set for a kayo. American League hurlers owning cleanup blows this year are George Mogridge and Carl Mays of the Yanks, the left-hander doubling and the right-hander hander doubling and the right-hander tripling with three on in the last series yith the Tigers.

The barrel was weighted at Stephens' feet, but for all that it went over head first.

When ten, fifteen, twenty minutes went by without sign of the barrel, the spectators, who by this time had grown to large numbers, grew anxious.

Has He Any Chance?

"Has he any chance?" was the query put to Bobby Leach, the only man who has gone over the falls and lived to tell the tale.

"No chance. I told him yesterday that his barrel was not strong enough," said Leach. "The hoops were too light. You know how the hoops on my barrel were bent, and they were twice as thick. He may be caught behind the falls' curtain. I was in there for ten to fifteen minutes."

Leach's guess as to the barrel's weakness proved true.

Of three attempts to ride the falls in a barrel, two have been successful. Mrs. Anna Taylor went safely over about twenty years ago. and Bobby Leach repeated the performance some years later.

HODCARRIERS ENTER THIRD STRIKE WEEK

Work At Old Prices, Say Men.

With the situation but little changed the third week of the hodearriers strike will be entered today. Members of the Builders' Exchange, one section of which met Saturday night, onl claim that four or five of the hundred strikers have returned to work under the old terms, and the strikers themselves will not admot that more than two or three of their number have broken ranks. Seven smaller contractors, not members of the Builders' Exchange, are employing all the men they can use at the wages asked by the union, but the great majority of the union, but the great majority of the men are still on strike vacation.

That the men have stood firm so long, and the fact that the trades and labor council is now standing behind them, suggest that they will not return to their old employers, who on their part decline to offer any compromise. The contractors admit that they would prefer to have their old one.
