Thou child of God! though dark thy path may

There's one petition thou must not despise " Lord! if thou wilt let this cup pass from me; Let visions beautiful my steps surprise; Angels of light, though clad in forms of clay, Attend my journey, and delight my day.

Yet precious Saviour, while I plead my love, And on thy covenant with safety rest, This truth I own : I humbly look above. And say, Not as I will-thou knowest bes Thou wilt ordain each providence, to bear Some good concealed in every earthly care-

"Not as I will." This be my daily prayer. Submission, love-not less than these I give. Thou art a balm for every earthly care; In thee alone I sweetly, truly live. And when I die, 'twill be thy will to prove, My great salvation to my joy above.

"Not as I will." In darkness oft I grope, Blinded by earthly honor, pleasure, fame; Forget my Saviour, and my heavenly hope, My covenant slight, and bring his cause

Yet my return thou dost with smiles receive; 'Tis but repent-accept my grace, believe.

With silent awe I bail the sacred morn, Which slowly wakes while all the fields are

A soothing calm on every breeze is borne. A graver murmur gurgles from the rill. And echo answers softer from the hill, And softer sings the linnet from the thorn-The skylark warbles in a tone less shrill, Hail, light serene! Hail, sacred Sabbath

The rooks float silent by in airy droves-The sun a placid yellow lustre shows; The gales that lately sighed among the groves Have hushed their downy wings in sweet repose;

The bovering rack of clouds forget to move; So smiled the day when first the morn arose.

From the Christian Mirror. The Bible.

It is a sad reflection that this precious book the price of a Bible, with a commentary, pursuits of life to think on death. fairly written, was thirty pounds! a most enormous sum! For, in 1272, the pay of a few additional years was an old man of fourlabouring man was only three half pence per day; so that such a work would cost him more than fifteen years' labour; and the expense have been greater than building two longer for the sake of thy children and the arches of the London Bridge, which in 1240 cost twenty-five pounds. In the same century, a Psalter, with marginal annotations, was valued at ten shillings, a sum equivalent to at least £7 10s. at present. St. Austin on Genesis was valued at the same price,

A century or two later, those who valued the Bible had another difficulty to contend with, which deprived them of the benefit which might otherwise have accrued from the translation and multiplication of copies. At the request of the (Catholic) clergy several severe proclamations were issued by King Henry VIII. against all who read, or was a feeble old man who was carried in a New Testament; so that a copy of this the angel replied:

Such facts as these are instructive, and convey the most pointed reproof to various classes of persons They reprove the for malist, to whom the Bible is a "dead letter;" the worlding, who can not find time to peruse it; the covetous, who would rather retain his dollar than possess it; the ordinary Christian, he that reads it, and prizes it so little : the whole host of traducers, who pour their calumnies on those individuals and societies who are exerting themselves to give to the poor and destitute this heavenly light, this precious solace.

Such facts would justify tenfold greater efforts and sacrifices to disseminate the sacred Scriptures. They show that the estimation in which they were held by such rulers as David and Jeremiah was by no means extravagant. When we hear one of them saying of the Scriptures, "More to be desired are they than gold, yea, than much fine gold: sweeter also than honey and the honey comb;" and another, "Thy words were found, and I did eat them; and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of my heart," we hear the expression of a feeling which belonged to these in common with many others in different ages; a feeling which the seraphic Watts experienced in delightful strength-

The Angel of Time. BY J. K PAULDING.

The Angel of Time, being commissioned by the Supreme Governor of the world. made proclamation that he had a bundred thousand years of additional life to bestow on the inhabitants of the earth His trumpet echoed far and wide, penetrating the cities, the valleys, the mountains, and reaching the uttermost extremes of the universe. The people flocked eagerly from all points of the compass to prefer their claims to a portion of the beneficent gift; but it was surprising to see that the crowd consisted of the aged alone. The children were enjoying their youthful sports, and paid no attention to the proclamation; the youths and should be undervalued by many in propor- maidens were wandering in the labyrinths of love, and the men and women of the Man and his Saviour. A very old German author discourses

thus tenderly of Christ:

" My soul is like a hungry and a thirsty child, and I need his love and consolations for my refreshment; I am a wandering and lost sheep, and I need him as a good and faithful shepherd; my soul is like a frightened dove, pursued by a hawk, and I need his wounds for a refuge; I am a feeble vine, and need his cross to lay hold of and wind my self about it; I am a sinner, and I need his righteousness; I am naked and bare, and need his holiness and innocence for a covering; I am in trouble and alarm, and I need his solace; I am ignorant, and I need his teaching; simple and foolish, and I need the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

"In no situation, and at no time can I do without him. Do I pray? he must prompt and intercede for me. Am I arraigned by Satan at the divine tribunal? he must be my advocate. Am I in affliction? he must b my helper. Am I persecuted by the world? must defend me. When I am forsaken, he must be my support; when dying my life; when moldering in the grave, my resurrection. Well, then, I will rather part with all the world, and all that it contains, than with thee my Saviour, and, God be thanked, know that thou art too willing to do withoil and wine, and I wounds; thou hast corof thy name; my love, and all my powers, gatorial fire of the Papal Church. for the advancement of thy honor and the service of thy believing people. for a living man to find himself, as . I did, unexpectedly among this army of dry bones. The most horrible feature of the whole exhibition is, that nearly every face wears in its fossil decay and ruin a dreadfully-ludicrous and comic expre sion. The lack-lustre eye-sockets which gaze down upon you have sort of grim vitality of their own, and through the entire array it seems as if there was a dumb intelligence, a mute correspondence and sympathy, in the sinister and almost wicked way in which they return the curious stare of the intruders. Yet you cannot help staring in spite of all this, and the eye wanders from one group to another with a strange and morbid fascination. Some are large-limbed, thick-skulled, complacent in their successful preservation; others with worn and weary looks, as if tired of such stiff, calcareous companionship; others who seem to have wriggled and twi-ted their joints loose, and must stand perpetually still or fall to bits; others with their ruined heads bung down, as if in contemplation of their ended earthly life; others indifferent and idle, some indignant, like the ghosts that Dante saw in hell, with scowls and grins sarcastic-all silent, sepulchral, almost infernal. One such a sight suffices for a lifetime. As I write, I recall those countless spectral shapes with a thrill of horror-the monks and priests in scarlet and black; the children in full holiday garb; the women, most hideous of all, in caps, and shawls, and

The Massacres in Syria.

The origin af that terrible outbreak of antichristian fury which has drenched the soil of Syria in the blood of the Maronite, the Greek. and the Armenian, has not yet been clearly traced. Whilst however the papers of Christheory which covers the Druses with the infamy of a premeditated plot, and have attributed to them a foul compact with the Turks and Arabs to exterminate the Christians of the coast and of the Lebanon, it must be admitted that the latest accounts do not confirm this view, but rather cast upon the Christians themselves the odium of conspiracy and aggression.

The first thing in order to a correct apprehensien of this new " Eastern Question" is to obtain as accurate a view as possible of the bostile parby the residence, travel, and intelligent observation of a quarter of a century to speak with confidence regarding the state of the country-Syria has always been cursed with a multiplicity of tribes and religions, which have split up the country into small principalities and conflicting classes-fruitful parent of civil war, anarchy, and confusion." Mr. EDITOR-Since my return from Conference to my field of toil, the God of all Grace has been pleased to answer prayer, in the bestowment of His Holy Spirit. At to devote a few days in devoutly seeking God, about the time a Camp meeting would have been held. The members of the quarterly meeting were pledged to this. I availed myself of the help of young preachers who were on a visit to their friends in this place: the Rev. Alex. W. Nicholson, Rev. Stephen F. Huestes, Rev. Aex. Tattle, and Rev. Stephen Teed-all of whom rendered the cause of God much service, by their able and earnest sermons. We were favoured with the presence and help of Bro. A. Black of the Amherst Circuit-and Bro E Morse of Point De Bute Circuit. The Rev. H. Pickard, D.D came down and preached twice on the Sabbath, and it is with gratitude to God that I can write there are persons now in the enjoyment of religion, who were awakened under the afternoon sermon, preached as it was in the demonstration of the Holy Ghost sent down from heaven Bro. THE JAPANESE TREATY -The particular provisions of this treaty have at length been nade known. It provides for the residence of a diplomatic agent at Yeddo, and of consular agents at other ports, and of similar Japanese fficials at Washington and our commercial cities The ports which are opened to us are declared to be Simoda, Hakodadi, Kanagawa, Nagasaki, Nee-e gata, and Hiogo. In all these American citizens may freely reside, lease ground and purchase buildings, on the condition that no fortress or military building is to be put up, and Japanese authorities may at all times inspect their contents. In Yeddo and Osaca they will be also permitted to reside, but particular quarters will be assigned them, as may be arranged between the agen's of the respective governments. Americans in Japan are to be allowed a free exercise of their religion, and for that purpose to erect places of worship, which will be under the complete protection of the law; but they must not injure the Japanese temples, nor interfere with the ceremonies, nor offer insult of any kind to their gods. Could Napoleon III ever reduce the army which he possesses, or could he some day content himself, like the Restoration of Louis Philippe, with 250,000 or 300,000 men? It is not at all probable; and seeing the spirit of his policy, both within and without, it is believed, on the contrary, that the 700,000 which he has at presfor the last two years to add 40,000 men to the annual levy, which would soon have brought this the rest, it is necessary not to be deceived by the yet for solo performance, or as an accompaniformidable army to a million of soldiers. Discoveries at Van.

The following statement appears in the Lovant Herald :- " I have to tell you of the discovery of a perfect mine of ant que Art-treasures, in some mounds outside this old Armeno-Asyrian City (Van.) Just as the buried treasures of Nineven itself were brought to light by the chance discovery of a protruding brick, so these mementoes of Old-World Art have been bit upon by the hap-hazard digging of a couple of peasants. These last were engaged in digging on to some loose stones stones from the mounds in quesout some loose stones from the mounds in ques-tion, when they came upon, first one, and then a second brouze plate, thickly embossed with cuneitorm inscriptions, interspersed with rude angular figures of men and animals. Not knowwho speedily called the men before him. Through no love of art, but in evident hope of lighting on something more convertible than metal plates, small Pasha despatched a party of explorers to the mounds where the antiquities had been found. The result of a few days' search was the disco very of a splendid bronze human-headed bull, about three quarter life size, a large winged eagle, and (we elaborately carved serpents, all of seemingly the purest bronze Fancying that the metal of these might be something more valuable than copper and brass, the Pasha stopped the exploration till this point was settled; but, indifferent assayists as are the 'cunning workmen' of Van, a little chipping and filing soon showed that copper and brass were all that could be made out of the image. Since this damping discovery, the exploration has not been carried further, though there is every reason to believe that, if it were, the results would more than repay every trouble incurred, and add many a precious leaf to the history unburied at Nineveh and Nimroud. To complete the crime of his Vandalic indifference to these invaluable discoveries, the Pasha has banded over plates bull, eagle serpents, and all, to the Karabash (Bishop) of the Armenians, who is about, I am told, to melt them down, for the sake of the cop-

The Little Graves.

"It's only a little grave," they said,
"Only just a child that's dead;"
And so they carelessly turned away From the mound the spade bad made that day Ah! they did not know how deep a shade That little grave in our home had made.

I know the coffin was narrow and small One yard would have served for an ample pall And one man in his arms could have born away The resewood and its freight of clay. But I know that darling hopes were hid Beneath that little coffin-lid.

I know that mother stood that day With folded hands by that form of clay; I know that burning tears were hid

"Neath the drooping lash and aching lid;"

And I know her lip, and cheek, and brow

Were almost as white as her baby's now.

I know that some things were hid away, The crimson frock, and wrapping gay; The little sock, and the half worn sho The cap with its plumes and tassels blue And an empty crib, with its covers spread, As white as the face of the sinless dead.

'Tis a little grave, but, oh! have care! For world-wide hopes are buried there; And ye, perhaps in coming years, May, see, like her, through blinding tears, How much of light, how much of joy, Is buried up with an only boy!

And for the cure of Scrofulous Humours and sorene surrounding or near the eye. In all diseases of this cha And for the cure of Scrofulous Humours and soreness surrounding or near the eye. In all diseases of this character it is simest a certain cure

This Baisam was used for many years in the practice of a celebrated Coulist, with remarkable success, for diseases of the Eye and Eyelids.

There are many persons who would rather suffer from pain and disease through life, than credit or try the efficacy of any new medical discovery; all such had better not read this; but to all reasonable persons this preparation is recommended as a most safe and effectual cure for infiammation or soreness of the Eye and Eyelids, caused either by too close application to minute objects, scrofulous habit, exposure to cold, blows, sontusions, or irritation from any extraneous body under the cyclids. It is remarkably soothing in its effect, and has cured thous, and we would otherwise have lost their sight. is remarkably soothing in its effect, and has cured thou ands who would otherwise have lost their sight.

In cases where the Eyelids are inflamed, or the ball of the Eye thickly covered with blood, it acts almost lik magio, and removes all appearances of inflammation afte two or three applications. There is a numerous class of persons that are peculiarly exposed to accidents or discases that weaken and inflame the Eyes, and purhap destroy the sight, who, from the nature of their en ployments, are commelled to work in a cloud of dust in oloyments, are compensed to work in a croud or dustrict. of the Bloop.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that sea-son of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul cruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cheanse it when you find it is obstructed and slug-gish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no verticular disorder is felt, neonle enjoy better no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disorder or overthrown. Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtual that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing size.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curvitive properties whatever. Here bitter and SYSTEM.

Curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has vir-tues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of Prepared by A. B & D. SANDS, Druggists, 100 Ful- the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.
