PROGRESS OF THE WAR

[January 18 to January 24] No war as relations to operations on land. The week under review was one of the least eventful since the war began.

In the Western campaign there was some activity at several points, but except on the Somme front north of the Ancre, where the British took some enemy trenches, practically no changes were made.

Message news was supplied of the operations in the Eastern campaign; but except at the extreme south end of the Dardanelles, where the Tustons and Bulgars made some gains, the week apparently resulted in few changes.

No news of any consequence was received of the Caucasian campaign; and of the campaign in Mesopotamia the only report published related to the complete clearing out of the enemy by the British on the right bank of the Tigris east of Kurlah-Amara.

The week without news of the Egyptian campaign; but it furnished reports of the steady progress of the British troops in East Africa, who were gradually but surely encompassing the remnant of the German troops in the southeast of what was German East Africa. This campaign is likely soon to close.

Hostilities apparently were not active during the week in the Balkan campaign. As to Greece, the King and his government were reported to be complying with the terms of the ultimatum of the Entente allies proclaimed at the moving southward of the Greek troops.

There was no apparent change in positions in the Austro-Italian campaign. The week witnessed increased destruction of merchant shipping by enemy submarines and commerce destroyers, as set forth in "News of the Sea" and a clash between small craft of the British and German navies took place in the North Sea, on Monday, in which the German seemed to have been the victor.

One British destroyer was sunk, and most of her officers and crew were killed; but a number of German vessels were lost, probably seven in all. Authentic details were not available up to time of going to press.

The Woodrow Wilson has been again in the line-light this week. On Monday he addressed the Senate on the subject of the position of the United States in the present struggle, and gave his own views on what might be done to bring about a settlement and a world peace. The address, so he said, was already on its way to the several belligerents. It is too soon to comment on Mr. Wilson's unimpaired and meeting as his real intention ceasing, especially as his real intention and meeting are obscure; but more light will be thrown on it by more addresses and notes, or it will be further obscured hereby. Meanwhile the struggle will proceed till the under dog, the dachshund we believe, cries "Hold, enough!"

CABBAGES AND KINGS

The time has come, indeed, to talk of "cabbages and kings." Of kings enough has been said. But surprising reports come concerning cabbages. A year ago they were sold at six dollars a ton, and there was no market for them. Hundreds of tons were fed to hogs and much of the product was used for fertilizer. This year the wholesale price for cabbages is the eight dollar ton for cabbage, and it is expected the wholesale price will go to a hundred dollars a ton before spring. Half the cabbage used in New England come from western Maine. Farm mortgages in that section are being erased, and savings bank deposits are growing.--New Bedford Mercury.

AT A FIRST NIGHT

It was his first play--a heavy drama along classical lines--and he was as nervous as a man sitting in a dentist's chair while the dentist is laying out the instruments he intends to use. After the curtain had rung down on the second act there was a long silence. Then came a wild outburst of applause. "Hoorsy!" cried the playwright, dancing a hilarious jig behind the scenes. "What are you hurrying about?" asked the leading man. "My play, it's a success. Don't you hear the applause?" "Certainly I hear it, but it isn't for your play. They're applauding because the manager has just announced that your place will be taken off tomorrow night to make way for a new musical comedy by the author of 'The Girl from Piffleburg.'"--Argonaut.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "are we going to celebrate Shakespeare's birthday?" "If you wish," think we ought to," we'll buy a statuette of Shakespeare and put a wreath around his head and then spend the evening at home."--Washington Star.

OBITUARY

MR. ROBERT TENNANT A gloom was cast over the Town on Tuesday morning last, January 23, when the news was announced of the death of Mr. Robert Tennant, which had taken place at 5 o'clock that morning, at his home on Water Street.

On Tuesday evening of last week he retired feeling apparently as well as usual, but was taken ill during the night with violent pains which developed into pleurisy. Other complications set in later and although everything possible was done to alleviate his condition, he never rallied and passed away on Tuesday morning in the 44th year of his age.

His sudden death has been a great shock to the community.

Decedent was born in Buckden, Yorkshire, England, and moved here some eight years ago with his wife and infant son. Since then he has made many friends in the town who have heard of his death with very great regret. He was always a great favorite.

He was a member of the Algonquin Hotel brought him in contact with nearly all the people who frequent St. Andrews in the summer months, and with whom he was always a great favorite.

He possessed a genial and cheery nature at all times, and being a well-read man, was an interesting and often-sought conversationalist. His domestic life had been one of the happiest, which makes his loss all the harder to bear.

Besides a loving wife, who is a sister of Mr. Andrew Allerton, manager of the Algonquin Hotel, he leaves to mourn his loss, one son, David, nearly nine years old; a sister, and two brothers also survive, living in Buckden, England; they are, Miss Susan, John and James Tennant.

The funeral was held on Friday afternoon and was a very large one, the remains being taken to the Methodist Church where the service was conducted by the Rev. Wm. A. Amos, the choir singing the hymns, "Rock of Ages" and "Abide With Me."

The members of St. Mark's Lodge, No. 5, F. & A. M., of which the deceased was a prominent member, accompanied the remains in a body from his late residence to the Church, and then to the Rural Cemetery, where the Masonic burial service was conducted at the grave.

The pall-bearers were Mr. Andrew Allerton, Mr. O. W. Stinson, St. Andrews, Mr. W. J. Allerton, Quebec, and Mr. G. E. Hoerner.

The sympathy of the entire community will be extended to the bereaved relatives in their sad and sudden bereavement.

The floral tributes received were many and beautiful.

MRS. H. GOODNOW

St. George, Jan. 23--It will give many warm friends in New Brunswick to learn of the death of Mrs. H. Goodnow, formerly Miss Jennie Barry, of St. George, on Thursday last, after an illness of many months. Mrs. Goodnow was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Barry, well known residents of St. George. She had made her home in the States for the past twenty-five years, visiting her old home occasionally. On her last visit here, three years ago, she disposed of her property, and since then has resided in Boston.

MR. JOHN COSSABOOM

Mr. John Cossaboom, of White Head, G. M., passed away on January 22 at the residence of his youngest son, John, which has been his home during the winter months. The deceased was 84 years of age, one of the oldest residents on the island, and had had a married life of 57 years. He leaves to mourn his loss a widow, aged 77; three daughters and four sons; and one brother, George. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. C. Wilson, and the hymns, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," "There will be no tears in Paradise," and "Abide with me" were sung. Two floral tributes were sent by Mrs. Lewis Frankland, Mr. Cossaboom's only son, and a lovely disposition caused him to be held in very high esteem by all who knew him. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved relatives.
