THE ROYAL INVESTIGATOR DEFIED.

Aerangements for the transplanting of the demi-monde to a point outside the business section of the city have been commenced, Colonel Steele had set aside for their occupation the two blocks bounded by Fourth and had served notice upon the women that they must be on there by June 1. At one time it was decided to erect a large building on the site for the use of the women in common, but verious drawbacks appeared until the plan was finally given up. The women will now be allowed to locate anywhere back of Fourth avenue. Fifth avenues and First and Third streets, and

But when the congealed flood shall have passed, and like a duck the Willie shall once more ride the waves, she will be "2 a thing of beauty and a joy for ever."

The owners are all practical steamboat and river men, thus guaranteeing to patrons the skilled care which can only come from long experience. Each of them will be vitally interested in securing for the boat a continuation of that popularity which has always been hers, and therefore the patrons will receive the most careful and considerate attention which it is possible to bestow. A strong feature is to be also made of the table de hote, for with a farsighted policy the owners have already decided to lay the foundations for a future far ahead of the present season.

to get his royal investigation into activity again, but the attempt was so dolorous, so ludicrous, that even he must have realized for the moment the estimation in which the larce is held by the public. Notice of the meeting was published in all the city papers, and had it been anything else under the sun-being free and promising diversion—there would have been a respectable audience present, as was the case when the investigation began originally. But the meeting was finally called to the resentment that he felt.

From His Farce.

"I had intended," he said in substance, " to All old-timers in this city will remember the investigate the charge against Mr. Wade in con-"warm" evenings spent last year at the old nection with the leasing of the water front to the city."

As a consequence of these disheartening circumstances, his excellency said he would be anable to go on with the investigation, and would adjourn it until May 17. In the meantime he would have the police serve a summons upon every one of the witnesses, and have them present at the next sitting.

Attorney Clarke said that the adjournment worked an injustice upon his client, Captain Norwood, who has already been here a month awaiting the investigation, and he hoped that diligence would be used to further the inquiry into the charges. The royal investigator then did some more talking to the stenographer for reading at Ottawa, after which the meeting was declared adjourned.

THE AMENDED REGULATIONS.

As will be seen from our local columns the agitation for reforms in the mining regulations has not been without good results. The disbarment of government attaches from staking mining property, or of even acquiring any by purchase or otherwise, is one of the wisest of moves for the purification of administration. The scandals of the past year would all have been avoided had such a regulation been in force from the first.

The change in the royalty to an exemption of $5,000 upon the gross annual output will prove a welcome change to our small miners. The word annual means the exemption of the first $3,000 mined or it means nothing at all. The custom under the old regulations has been to largely nullify the old exemption by a ruling sports may be in "beastly bad form," but a curmaking it weekly and monthly, instead of annually, that the royalty should be contri- wonderful vitality in the races which indulge buted. It requires no gift of prophecy to foresee that the resumption of steamboat navigation is gomore or less profitable locations, and a number of others have established business conneccountry for some time to come. But a conservative estimate of the out and out failuresmen who have tried and tried again and who unable to get more—is well upwards of from ten to fifteen thousand men. This does not include those less unfortunate ones, who, through friends, or because of some peculiar aptness, have secured employment at wages which will "grub stake" them for another try at the great wheel of fortune. Strangely enough there is great dissatisfaction. The land was surveyed not much sympathy wasted upon the unlucky dreary weather, over endless hills, in their unaim is to himself keep out of their ranks. But consider would not disentitle Mr. Quinler to the 400 feet staked by him.

The plaintiff Smith applies for the 250 feet called by Mr. Gibbon's survey 76 B. On the plaintiff's own admission this ground, or at least a part of it, is within the ground staked by Quinier, and before he could receive a granthe must show that there is 250 feet of ground outside of what Mr. Quinier is entitled to. By Mr. Fawcett's ruling at the time of Mr. Quinier's staking 560 foet claims were allowed on the old creeks. Mr. Quinier is therefore entitled to 460 feet of ground, commencing at the the old creeks. Mr. Quinter is therefore entitled to 400 feet of ground, commencing at the lower end of creek claim No. 76.

This leaves only 205.6 feet of vacant ground. The plaintiff's case must be dismissed.

ALLEN, MANAGER FICE: Nugget Building, A.T. &T Co. Warehouse Comes to a Sudden End at the Instance of Mr. Ogilvie.

And Consul McCook Is Named For a "Patron of May 24th Out of a Mistaken Compliment to Americans-Committee Selected.

Work on the famous fraction between the discoveries on Dominion has been stopped by order of one of the parties to the Ogilvie-Swinehart contract. On May 4 the following notice was found sticking up in conspicuous places on the fraction:

Notice is hereby given to all parties concerned to step working on this fraction, situated between 36 below upper and 13 above lower discoveries, in pursuance of an order issued by Wm. Oglivie, commissioner of the Yukon territory, dated at Dawson, April 27.

Dominion, May 4. R. D. COURTLY, D. L. S.

An investigation of the holes sunk under the contract reveals that the neighboring claims had in no way interfered with the government's fraction. After the expose in the Nugpay streak instead of sinking on the line to intercept Stewart's drifts, a force of men were hurriedly put to work on the neglected shafts cer that the contractors were working out the at the upper line. Bedrock was reached and no indications of tampering were found. Stewart, on 36, says he is willing to forfeit $1000 for every inch he is found to be nearer than 4 feet to the line.

When stopped by Mr. Ogilvie's order, the drifting on the line of 13 had been carried on arm. until bedrock had been stripped for a space measuring 12x17 feet. This was in the very richest pay and next to the workings of 18 which were always open for inspection as they never filled with water, Mr. Ogilvie's letter to the contrary notwithstanding.

To Celebrate the 24th.

A meeting was held at the Criterion on Monday night to discuss ways and means of properly celebrating the birthday of Her Most Gracious Majesty on May 24. About seventyfive gentlemen attended the meeting. Captain Burstall was selected as permanent chairman ing and G. W. Taylor permanent secretary, Comptroller Lithgow was chosen treasurer.

roller Lithgow was chosen treasurer.

There was much debating as to the best way of selecting the various committees and a compromise was effected by choosing a committee of twenty-five with power to add to their numbers, and from which body the various subcommittees should be selected.

On motion it was decided to ask Commissioner Ogilvie, Colonel Steele and Judge Dugas to act as patrons of the celebration.

An attempt was made to compliment the Americans present by including Consul McCook on the board of patrons. Captain Ogilvie made the motion calling him "Consul-General" McCook. This was put to a viva voce vote and received pretty generally the support of the Canadians in the room. The negative brought out the full American vote in a strong protest and the name was therefore dropped. The Americans apparently did not wish to be complimented in any such fashion.

Wednesday evening the committee of twenty-five will meet at 7:30 at the same place to add to their numbers and select the various subcommittees.

Exploration of Alaska.

Washington, April 7 .- The secretary of the interior has approved the plans of Director ing. Walcott for the continuation of surveys in Alaska during the summer of 1899. One party, to consist of Mr. W. J. Peters, topographer, and Mr. Aired H. Brooks, assistant geologist, will conduct explorations to locate the sources of the Copper, Tanana and Habesna rivers, while the second party, consisting of Mr. F. C.
