TOURIST TRAVEL SHOULD BE HEAVY

Tourist Association Has Received Many Inquiries Eyed From Far Off Mexico Travellers Are Asking About St. John's Summer Attractions.

From far off Mexico, West Indies, Tennessee, Iowa, California, Ohio and other parts come letters daily to the Tourist Association asking for information about pleasure spots throughout the province and Mrs. Pauline Scovill, secretary, is kept busy daily answering the many queries.

Last year a large number of tourists visited this city during the summer months, but the Tourist Association's secretary states that if we may judge by the number of letters received from different countries this year's travel will unquestionably outdo any of previous summers.

The letters so far received from the different places named above are from a wealthy class of people, all of whom are requiring about the different good fishing grounds, large lakes, etc., and some are already asking about the hunting centres.

Mrs. Scovill was in New York during February and March, and while there she learned from the railway people that they all expected a very heavy travel east this summer.

The material for the city booklet is now in the hands of the printer, and 15,000 copies will be published. The booklet consists of new illustrations and new reading matter and when issued copies will be sent throughout the country.

Word has been received from T. A. Moore that he was preparing for the opening of Macdavid Camp, which took place on the 24th inst. T. A. Sullivan, of Bonnie River, has also written that Indian guides are preparing for canoe trips on the beautiful river this summer, and he expects a large number of tourists to seek recreation in that direction.

Last year a large number of tourists took delight in viewing the beautiful scenery on the St. John's river, and the steamship companies are now talking over the plans for their accommodation.

In the city itself the different points of interest are well known and this year Frank White's arrangements at Rockwood Park will prove attractive to tourists, and when they try the "shoot-the-boats" they will think that it is "just like New York."

It is anticipated by the proprietors of the leading hotels in the city that they will be able to accommodate the many tourists who wish to patronize them, and Mrs. Scovill says that she has a large list of private boarding houses. The Dufferin hotel has made extensive improvements and can accommodate many more tourists than last year.

A MESSAGE FROM LONDON

How Governor Fraser of Nova Scotia Was Reminded of An Historic Event.

HALIFAX, N. S., May 25 (Special)—"Nelson's signal." Such were the words that came on an unsigned cable message from London to Governor Fraser yesterday.

His honor could find no clue regarding the sender, but he had no doubt as to the meaning. He was amused with more or less curiosity as to who it was in London who had thus marked Victoria Day by calling a message so suggestive of glorious deeds and of an historic event. The governor will have a good chance to do his duty, as England expects that he will, when the first cruiser squadron anchors in Halifax harbor.

He and Halifax citizens will give pleasant and patriotic entertainment to the admiral and his ships during the days they will be here between May 30 and June 9.

Victoria Day in Halifax was observed by a general suspension of business. A grand review of the Canadian troops took place on the Common, when the men under Colonel Drury's command came in for much praise for their natty appearance and good marching.

EMACK BROS' FACTORY AT ST. MARY'S BURNED

Well Known Taxidermist Firm Lost Heavily by Fire This Morning—J. H. Crockett in Montreal.

FREDERICTON, N. B., May 25 (Special)—Emack Bros. taxidermists, and shoe manufacturers, suffered a severe loss this morning when their factory at St. Mary's was burned to the ground.

The fire was discovered in the dry room in the second story and in less than ten minutes the whole place was a mass of flames. A strong north-west wind prevailed at the time and carried the sparks towards the river, otherwise the whole village would have probably been wiped out.

WENT THROUGH THE GLASS DOOR

Lively Row in New Victoria Hotel Office This Morning—Walter Downey Arrested.

A lively scrap, which will doubtless have a disastrous sequel, occurred in the office of the New Victoria Hotel this morning, and as a result, George J. Cooper, the night clerk, is feeling the effects of rough usage, and one Walter Downey was sent into the hospital bar about 9.20 this morning and on returning to the hotel he was met by a man who received a smart slap in the face.

Downey was arrested by Officer Totter, from whom he escaped and after a brief chase, was recaptured by another policeman, and placed behind the bars.

WEDDINGS

MODERN NOAH'S ARK ON ST. JOHN RIVER

Some Amazing Doings on the River Stmr. Aberdeen.

There was a furious runaway on Pond street this morning about 8.30 o'clock, and but for the timely action of Charles Mitchell, a checker in the C. P. R. freight shed, two women might have been severely injured.

A team, owned by the National Drug Company was standing at the freight shed, the driver having gone inside, when something frightened the horse and he started off at a fast clip towards Mill street. Just at the corner, as two ladies were in imminent danger of being trampled under the animal's feet, Mr. Mitchell ran out, at great personal risk, and stopped the horse.

A DOMINION CONVENTION

Meeting of Baptist Committee in Montreal Postponed to July 16.

The committee of the Baptists which was appointed to draw up a plan for the formation of a dominion convention was to have met in Montreal yesterday, but owing to the fact that the Ontario portion of the committee was not ready, the meeting was deferred until July 16 when representatives of the Baptist denomination from British Columbia, the north west, maritime provinces, Ontario and Quebec will meet at Montreal and complete the plans.

This date will give ample time for the members present to report to the various provincial conventions. The maritime convention will be held in August at Wolfville, N. S.

HOW WOODSTOCK CELEBRATED THE HOLIDAY YESTERDAY

Ball Game and Golf Match in the Afternoon, and Grand Ball in the Evening.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., May 25 (Special)—Victoria Day was fittingly celebrated here. The merchants closed their places of business and all workshops were closed down for the day.

The Woodstock golfers played with their St. Stephen friends and scored an easy victory.

The members of the Rifle Club had an all day contest. In the afternoon the 87th Regt. band and members of the Boys' Brigade marched to the park where besides several brushes between the fast horses, a ball game, was played between the Houlton High School and a picked team from the local league players.

The game proved to be an easy victory for the visitors.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

HIRAM AT THE SPORTS

It went a foot beyond the mark made by the mayor, and Hiram, throwing back his shoulders, stalked off the field.

"It was fine," said Hiram to the Times new reporter, "Great day—great sport. I haven't puttin' the shot for years and years, but I just thought I'd try. Beat him by a foot—By Hee! An' he made a mighty good offer at it, too. Them foot-races was good. Yes sree—I'll be here next time. An' that hand an' them Scotch boys—if we could get them out to picnic in the Settlement we'd have the hull country there. Yes, sir!"

Should the work prove satisfactory the extension to Loch Lomond may be regarded as complete. It will then only remain for the testing of No. 2 train from Silver Falls to the city to be carried out before the underwriters will be in a position to make the further reduction of 25 cents in the insurance rate.

IRISH BILL CONDEMNED

Ulster Unionists Unanimously Turn Down Birrell's Bill Which "Settles Nothing."

BELFAST, May 25—A great demonstration of the Ulster Unionists has tonight unanimously condemned Mr. Birrell's Irish bill, which was characterized as "settling nothing and unsettling everything."

A complaint has been made about the action of one of the parties working in Rockwood Park, in tying his horse to the drinking place near the boat house. It is claimed that the horse prevents the visitors from using the drinking water.

DIED AS SHE BOARDED STEAMER MAY QUEEN

Mrs. George Hamilton Passed Away Suddenly at Indiantown This Morning—Coroner Roberts Refused to View Body Because of Municipal Council's Action.

To get from Boston to this city, in the vain attempt to reach her home, seven miles this side of Gagetown, and then to the city when placed on board the steamer that was to take her there was the fate of Mrs. George Hamilton.

Mrs. Hamilton went to Boston a short time ago to visit her son, B. A. Hamilton, and while there her old age, coupled with droopy, with which she was afflicted, began to tell upon her. She decided to die at her home, and with her son started for this city. Arriving here she night they stopped at the Ferris hotel, and Mrs. Hamilton's condition was very serious, after the journey. She was placed on a stretcher and taken on board the May Queen this morning, but died soon after being taken on board. The remains are now in the warehouse in charge of Undertaker Brennan.

When notified of Mrs. Hamilton's death Mr. Brennan called up Coroner Roberts, who refused either to view the body or give a warrant for its removal, because the municipal council had objected to the large number of coroners' views. Then the board of health was communicated with, but Secretary Burns refused to act without a doctor's certificate or coroner's warrant. According to law a doctor cannot give a certificate in such a case without either having treated the patient or been present at time of death.

Meanwhile the body is in the May Queen warehouse pending an arrangement between Coroner Roberts and the council.

It is not known how he contracted the disease as he is a native there and has not been away from the village for some time. The residents of the village are considerably alarmed over the matter.

A meeting of the board of health is called for noon today to consider what steps will be taken in the matter.

(Continued.) A sharp knock came at her door. She thought that it must be her teacher, she hurried to tell her what decision they had come to concerning her. She crossed the door steadily and unlocked the door. Instead of her father it was Lady Erline Wavenshure who stood outside. Without a word Patience motioned her visitor to enter. Lady Erline rustled into the room, holding the skirts of her rich dress closely about her. "I have come to have a talk with you," she said sharply. "For there is something to be settled between us before I make up my mind what to do."

A WOMAN'S BACK WAS NOT MADE TO ACHIE

Thousands of Women suffer Un-told Misery Every Day with Aching Backs That Really have no Business to Ache. Under ordinary conditions it ought to be moving and ready to bear the burden of life. It is hard to do housework with an aching back. Backache comes from sick kidneys, and sick kidneys cause a lot of terrible suffering from kidney troubles. Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you in the same way as they have cured thousands of others. Mrs. Frank O'Neil, Alameda, Ont., writes: "I was doctored for six months for kidney trouble and should be advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I did so and in one week I was able to walk with very little pain, and in five months my back was as good as over."

IN HER BRIDAL ROBES. The bride of any season or year is charming in her bridal robes, no matter how simple or expensive they may be, but it seems that the bride of this year of grace should be just a little bit more fetching than we have ever seen her, for the modes and the materials which go to their development are so unusually attractive and becoming.

Loss of Appetite is common when the blood needs purifying and enriching, for then the blood fails to give the digestive organs the stimulus necessary for the proper performance of their functions. Hood's Sarsaparilla is pre-eminently the medicine to take. It makes the blood pure and rich, and strengthens all the digestive organs. "I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla as a spring medicine and find it excellent. My brother-in-law used it for blotches on his face and was perfectly cured. He has not a hair on his head since." OTTAWA, Ont., May 23 (Special)—It is understood that the Duke D'Abruzzo, who has been representing Italy at the Jamestown Exposition, will make a visit to Canada before returning to Rome. He is a cousin of the King of Italy, and is noted as an arctic explorer and mountain climber.

SUBMARINE TRIALS

Submarine Boats Lake and Octopus Put Through Their Paces Yesterday.

NEWPORT, R. I., May 23.—The torpedo tests of the submarine Lake were the most interesting features of the official competitive trials under government auspices yesterday. Two boats anchored 300 yards apart, represented a battleship target, the range being 800 yards. The first shot fired left the starboard tube all right, but, in naval parlance, the torpedo did not function. The second shot fired from the port tube, was a complete success, the torpedo hitting the line squarely between the two anchored boats. Then the Lake started to turn in order to fire a torpedo from the stern tube, but the torpedo was discharged prematurely and made only a short run through the water. All these torpedoes were later picked up by the longer sub-service boat, but the Lake executed some manoeuvres at a depth of ten feet, completing a circle in three minutes and thirty-five seconds.

The Care of the Skin

The reason that many people have had complexion or rough skins is that they do not know how to use the hot and cold water and soap to the best advantage. A little attention to this matter will make a great deal of difference in the texture and clearness of the skin.

AN HISTORIC OLD RUIN WHICH WILL BE PRESERVED

Old Fortress of Louisburg, the Dunkirk of America, to be Restored--A Record of Its Various Sieges.

One of the most interesting historical spots in America is the old Fortress of Louisburg, in Cape Breton, a monument for the restoration and preservation of which has been under way for some time with growing success.

The fortress sustained two sieges. The first was by the colonial land forces of New England under the command of Colonel Pepperell, the naval forces being under the command of Commodore Warren, of the King's navy. This siege was commenced on the 30th April, 1745, and ended by capitulation of the French on the 16th of June, a period of 47 days.

The second siege in 1758, the land forces were under command of General Amherst, and the sea forces under Admiral Boscawen. The siege commenced on June 7th, 1758, and ended by capitulation on the 26th July, a period of 49 days. This final capture of Louisburg was the first of a series of events, which culminated in giving Canada to the British Crown and of laying the foundation of the United States.

Shortly after the capture, by an order from the British government, the fortress, and all the harbor defenses, with the exception of two groups of bomb proofs--seven in all, were levelled to the ground, the last blast having been given on October 17th, 1790, and the great fortress passed away forever.

STOMACH TROUBLES

To wrong action of the stomach and impaired digestion a host of diseases owe their origin. When the food is imperfectly digested the fullness is not derived from it by the body, and then stomach troubles start to appear.

MISS LIZIE FURLATA, Jacques River, N.B., writes: "I was very much troubled with my stomach and did not know what to do. I consulted several doctors, got medicine from them, but all to no purpose, and was constantly growing worse. One day I had the good luck to meet with a friend who had been troubled in the same way as myself. My friend told me of the Evans Vacuum Cap, and I bought one to try a bottle. I did so, and what a happy change the first bottle made. I took two more and am completely cured, and I shall ever sing the praises of B.B.E."

Trade Talks--The Advertising Man

The advertising field not only offers the greatest possibilities because of its limitless horizon, but for another reason appeals to the young man. This is because the advertising business is often an immediate chance of a living salary to a young man with no other equipment than a good education, but only when accompanied by an alert mind and an instinctive knowledge of humanity. Practically every other profession is closed to the intelligent young man--if he doesn't possess the special training of the business college.

It is needless to make any claim for the advertising expert, for he advertises his success wherever there is printer's ink and billboard paint. The field is roughly divided into the man who creates advertisements and the solicitor who secures them for the magazines and newspapers. The advertising writer must possess a certain amount of literary ability and an artistic eye; the advertising solicitor, however, must bank on business ability, persistence and a certain amount of "jolly." It stands in reason that the advertising solicitor of a publication is the man who directly "brings in the money" and has to cross with the shrewdest business man of a community that the openings are greatest and most plentiful in this particular field.

The foregoing assertion that the advertising and newspaper business does not require special training may be slightly misleading. As a matter of fact, there cannot be too much special knowledge and training for each, it being a case of "the more the merrier," but in the last analysis success is largely a matter of native ability and climbing from the rungs by hard work. Study in the numerous advertising schools, acquaintance with the many advertising magazines is bound to make this climbing easier and quicker; it may help win success for a person who could not have attained a like fulfillment merely through native ability. It is a prime desideratum.

Salaries run as low as $12 a week for the beginner to $30 for the middle class, or "average" man, and as high as $100 per centum for the man who has secured a large percentage of the business of a community.

One great virtue of the advertising business is that it is much unlike most professions where a man may work years at a certain salary and never know whether he is climbing. A month or two will tell the advertising beginner whether he is a success or not, and tell the story in a few days. The pace is so fast that it quickly weeds out incompetents and gives them an immediate chance to switch to something that may be more congenial.

Every community holds lots of young men who have an inclination for literary work, for which hard-headed editors have not a like inclination. To them is suggested that they go to several small merchants in their vicinity, after first studying each business requirement. Let them plume to each merchant several "changes of copy," i. e., a set of new ads that are more crisp, catchy and more appealing to the public. Small merchants have not the time to frame their own ads even if they have the ability, neither have they the money to hire a regular advertising man. A young man who wishes to test his abilities in this line may secure five or six merchants who will pay enough--in the aggregate--to recompense the beginner for advertising after his regular work or studying hours.

But, above all, if you would be an advertising solicitor have tact, magnetism and persistence; if you would be an advertisement writer have an artistic eye for type display and a knowledge of human nature coupled at all times with new ideas.

PETER PRY'S PHILOSOPHY.

Don't starve your brain to stuff your pocketbook.

Many a "successful man" at heart knows himself to be a miserable failure.

A rich father is no excuse for a young man to be worthless.

Anticipating tomorrow and regretting yesterday is a foolish way for a man to spend his time.

"Isn't the country air perfectly lovely?"

"The modern girl shrugged her shoulders coldly, rejoining: "Oh, I don't know! I had, my tire inflated with it this morning and I don't notice much difference."

A Petition by the Worker

These are the gifts I ask
Oh These Spirit scenes;
Strength for the daily task,
Courage to face the road,
Good cheer to help me bear the traveler's load;
And, for the hours of rest that come between,
An inward joy in all things heard and seen.

These are the things I find
Would have these take away:
Malice and cold disdain,
Hot anger, sullen hate,
Scorn of the lowly, envy of the great,
And discontent that casts a shadow great
On all the brightness of a common day.

Great Business Axioms

Though Marshall Field, the greatest merchant in the world, has been dead slightly over a year, his business philosophy will long endure among the men of the nation.

Never give a note.

Never borrow.

Work always on a cash basis.

Never buy a share of stock on margin.

Buy for cash and sell for short time.

Never heavily mortgage real or personal property.

Hold contracts to strict enforcement of their contracts.

Labor

Toil swings the axe, and forests bow,
The seeds break out in radiant bloom,
Rich harvest smile beneath the plow,
And dices cluster round the loom;
Where towering domes and tapering spires
Adorn the vale and crown the hill,
Stout Labor lights its beacon fires
And plumes with smoke the forge and mill.

Pride may go before a fall, but it is just then that the right kind of pride puts a man upon his feet again.

Of course, there is always room at the top--if you can push the other fellow off.

A Modern Eight Room Brick House

Financial--Tricks of the Trade

Newspaper exposures and government disclosures have been proving for the past few years to the great public that their investments have often been in stocks which were given fictitious values by great manipulators; that even bank statements and market reports were juggled to satisfy the investor; that in most cases he was one of the puppets that danced without knowing the real reason why, whenever the master hand pulled the string. So dramatic have been these revelations and their effects that the ordinary reader has but glances at the mechanism that made them possible.

One of the best-known and most widely practiced methods of deceiving the investor is the "watering" of stock. This means placing a fictitious value on a corporation. The "water" is the amount of stock issued in excess of intrinsic value. There is no legal check placed on this procedure, though explained this way on the witness stand: "It is capitalizing the future," he said.

"It is capitalizing the future," he said. As a matter of fact, nearly every corporation stock in the country has been plentifully "watered" by its promoters at some stage in its history. Many of the companies whose future has thus been capitalized have been blessed with such a natural increase in business that this "water" has been gradually squeezed out. Even in these cases the original stockholder has been misled, for in this interim his stock would have otherwise earned large dividends and attained higher market value.

The second and most popular pastime of the great stock manipulator is known as "rigging the market," and it can be subdivided into hundreds of tricks, known and secret, of forcing stocks up and down, making the "lamb" buy them when the stock is high, scaring them into selling when the stocks slump low.

One of the most brazen of these methods can only be practiced by a certain clique of millionaires, sometimes called the "Standard Oil group" and other names quite as misleading.

Any five of these men, through the great railroads and corporations they control, may directly or indirectly, control $4,000,000 in the national banks. On a certain day, it will be found that 20 millions have been transferred from the banks to the trust companies. The next day the bank statement is issued, and (as trust companies do not figure in it), it is labeled "weak"--the New York money market is apparently "riled up." Stocks accordingly take a downward plunge, "lamb" practically sell at the lower price, financiers gladly buy. Next day the millions are returned to the banks and stocks bob up again.

"Probably the most popular way to juggle a particular stock is by 'wash,' or make-believe, sales--a trick possible to the smaller fry of promoters. For instance: two promoters wish P. D. & Q. stock to show a lively upward movement, to indicate a "boom" that will attract investors and get it off their hands at a good price. Promoter A goes to his broker and tells him to try and sell for him 10,000 shares of P. D. & Q. stock. There is no hurry, he instructs him, but he wants the highest price possible for them.

At the same moment Promoter B is telling another stock broker he must have 10,000 shares of P. D. & Q. stock. "I must have them," he declares; "buy them at any price."

This broker makes a hurried call for P. D. & Q. stock and finds another broker has it for sale at a higher price than the market. Being "higher innocent" they dicker earnestly for their clients.

Accordingly Promoter A has the money and Promoter B, the stock. A day or so later the two wily promoters meet and exchange their possessions, and matters are the same as before. When these "wash" sales are multiplied and magnified through a number of other brokers, a high price market value is put on the stock, day by day. Every day sees it quoted higher, and the scramble of the lamb to buy it commences. Then the promoters unload at high prices. Brokers are forbidden under heavy penalties from dealing in these "wash" sales, but it is harder for the broker himself, much less the public to know that they are "wash" or fictitious.

Our "ups and downs" are only the hills and valleys we cross in our eternal quest for happiness.

What to Bring Home from Abroad

The average woman who goes abroad with a small amount of money to spend and the intention of bringing back as much as possible without having trouble with the custom house can save a very large amount of money by bringing home certain articles which are extremely high in price in America. A clever shopper can buy in Paris for a franc (twenty cents) what costs a dollar a cake over here, and all retail articles cost in much the same proportion.

Through articles show any signs of use, or the wrappers are broken, they will be classed as personal property, and all likelihood will come through without duty here also is a large saving. There are few women who have the means who do not indulge in these daily toilet accessories, and their large cost in America is well known to American women.

The woman who wishes to purchase advantageously abroad can put these articles first on the list. Combs and brushes as well as very low in price and high in quality abroad, but these may be bought better in London than in Paris, and are made to last a lifetime.

Leaves can be had on the other side for prices which simply amaze the woman who has come to look upon real lace as a site out of her reach. A veil costing perhaps six francs in Paris sells for five dollars in New York.

Through cheap, it must be remembered that the London gloves and Paris corset do not fit the American woman. This is true also of the French gloves. For this reason corset and trade. It is a small-sized house of eight rooms, nearly square in outline, designed to be built of a good quality of brick for the outside walls, the interior of a light-colored cream brick, using a gray cut stone for the "colonnades" on the outer angles and for the ### Exclusive of Heating and Plumbing.

Good, hard brick is a material that will never pass into disuse, and the prospective homebuilder is always wise to think long over the question of the use of brick before discarding it and using wood for the exterior of his future home. In the early colonial days, when everything about was new, lumber was plenty and cheap, brick was scarce and expensive, there was every reason for building the houses entirely of frame construction. The rapid disappearance of timber, the increase in the price, the increasing amount of brick being made every year and the great variety has brought the brick question down to the medium-sized and even small houses.

The first cost is still more than wood, even at the advanced price, but the difference is not nearly so great as it used to be. The use of brick as a veneer on the outside of frame structures is an old practice, and was in common use in the outlying districts of New York city 30 years ago, and this method of construction is frequently employed at the present time. In the judgment of the writer, it is far better for homes of medium cost than either siding or shingles, and the cost is not much greater. It has become quite common of late to build modest homes and the more expensive residences with a very rough-faced vitrified brick, variegated in color and of rugged appearance, and to trim the same with either smooth-cut stone or terra-cotta. The plain smooth trimmings relieve and give a finished appearance to what would otherwise be a rough and ugly appearing exterior.

Cement walls have been used in all countries to a greater or less extent for many years, and the use of this material for exteriors in our own country has rapidly increased during the past ten years, but this will not do away with the use of brick. The majority of people prefer the looks of a well-treated brick wall to a cement surface.

It is estimated that this house can be built complete, exclusive of heating and plumbing, with solid brick walls, for $5,500, if the walls are veneered with brick. The house can be built for $5,000, or wood for $4,500. The author will be pleased to answer all communications and give any information that may be required regarding this house, its construction, finish and decorations. It is often the case that the interior arrangement of a house pleases when the exterior design would be better liked if it were modified to meet the treatment. The design of this house is in the Italian renaissance, the details are refined and the general treatment is symmetrical.

Meals for the Invalid--By Sara Cranford

When a member of the family becomes suddenly ill there is usually found to be few or none of the little things which go so far toward making an invalid comfortable in the house. Very few are prepared with the bedside table, the tray fitted with suitable dishes, the small hemmed traycloths, the numberless little things that are at once found to be necessary. Every housekeeper should have these things ready at hand to be put in use at short notice.

The first essential is the table for the tray. There are lapboards fitted with short legs to be had at a reasonable price, but perhaps the best of the tray holders is the white enameled iron table, standing on a support, which consists of a long arm, which reaches under the bed, to give a solid base, and an upright which may be heighted or shortened at will, so that the table top fits down snugly over the lap.

Many small covers are needed for the tray itself. These may be bought quite cheaply, or may be made from a tablecloth which has been better days. Enough must be provided so that each meal may have its fresh cloth, but, as they are simply hemmed around the edges to about an inch in depth, they are easy to make and launder nicely.

Some of the suitable invalid trays are, however, very tempting. This one illustrated was made of strong light wood, with handles, all enameled with cream white, and set with cream-white dishes, edged with gilt. The tray held a pretty "sugar bowl," a little coffee pot, a covered dish, an egg cup, and an attractively shaped cup and saucer; besides this there was a brook set with a good-sized covered bowl and a toast rack.

As to the invalid's food, there are certain staple dishes which it is well to know just how to make. Of these one of the simplest is:

BEEF TEA--Chop fine half a pound of raw, lean beef, cover with one pint of cold water and let stand in a earthen dish in a cold place for some hours. Cook over the fire, stirring constantly, until vapor begins to rise, then remove from fire. Strain through a cheesecloth, pressing the liquid from the meat. Season with salt.

POACHED EGGS--Add a few grains of salt to the white of an egg, beat until dry, and turn into a buttered glass or china bowl; form a nest on the top for the yolk. Set the glass on a trivet, in a covered dish of lukewarm water, and let cook until the egg is set and rises in the glass. Do not let the water boil around the glass.

EGG NOGG--Beat the yolk of an egg; add one or two teaspoonsful of sugar, and, when mixed with the egg, a tablespoonful of sherry or brandy; mix again; then add, gradually, a cupful of milk, and lastly, fold in the white of the egg, beaten stiff.

Summer Gowns and Materials--By Dorothy Dale

Some charming designs for summer wash materials are shown in the group drawing. The figure at the left shows a costume of pale pink batiste, trimmed with bands of cream batiste embroidered in pink, these bands being used both on the skirt, bodice and open sleeves. A design in hand-embroidery in pink and cream white decorated the bodice front, the little yoke or scalloped collar being outlined with narrow cords of black tulle silk, which give a most becoming relief to the all-pink of the batiste. Black tulle buttons and cords also ornamented the back of the skirt. The chemise and undersleeves were of very sheer white mull and Valenciennes.

The waist pictured is an excellent design for heavy linen, the model being in white, with the little revers showing a design in eyelet embroidery done in frills down the front and about the waist, and were so made that they could be laundered and replaited separately.

The third sketch shows another practical tub frock, the skirt of this costume being so made in a plain gored circular cut that it can be unbuttoned down the entire length, and laid out flat on the table for ironing. Hand-embroidered scallops and mother-of-pearl buttons trimmed the skirt, the little bodice showing intricate sections of Carrickmacross lace, with a detachable yoke of fine lawn and beading. This frock was of white linen, the scalloping being done in white wash cotton, and is especially practical for seashore wear.

In buying colored linens it is economy in the end to select the better, and, consequently, more expensive grades, as the cheap imitations wear away and fade very quickly. In the all white materials, however, there are excellent imitations of linen, especially in the heavy qualities to be had, which can be made up with just as good effect as the expensive real linens. I have seen several delightful little frocks made of a cotton material called "common cloth," which comes at 12 1/2 cents a yard, which had the effect of much more expensive linens when cleverly made and ornamented with a little hand embroidery. This material is also excellent for separate white short and heavy cotton materials should be shrunken first before being made up, and if any cotton braids or embroidery cottons are used they should also be shrunken before using.

With the materials shown this season for warm weather gowns are unusually artistic in coloring and design. There is a decided fancy for patterns in pink, lavender and frocks of pale blue, lavender or pink batiste, trimmed with deep fuchsias and insertion of mull to match, embroidered in white, are also seen. These frocks are rather expensive in the initial cost, but as the making is not difficult, and no further trimming is required, they really cost little more than a plain mull elaborately trimmed with lace insertions. The bordered cottons are less expensive, and are delightful when properly made. A favorite pattern shows large, round discs about the lower part, with smaller dots in graduated sizes above, these dots being printed in color on a white ground. A new idea in making up these bordered patterns is to use the material crosswise, instead of lengthwise, as is common with these extra wide-bordered stuffs. The border, used in this way, is placed in to form a front panel running the entire length of the gown, shaped closely by plate about the waist, but falling loose at the lower part of the skirt, the effect being repeated in the back. Fine lace insertions or dainty beading usually ornaments the bodice of such a frock, a sheer yoke and undersleeves also being introduced.

Other bordered fabrics show lovely flower designs, and in the very sheer stuffs, such as mousseline d'etere, many of the model gowns show hems and bands of black mousseline let in just outside the bordered border. Where the material itself has not this black border the dressmaker often adds it by inserting a band of irregular lace. Plain, broad, green or of the lighter colors in harmony, can also be introduced in the same way about the bottom of the skirt, and about the guncice and sleeves.

This is undoubtedly to be a "color" season, and even the white costumes in a great many instances show the introduction of color in some way. For instance, many of the sheer white houses or frocks are embroidered in some light color, and mention has been made in former articles of the use of sheer bands of tucked mull or organdie in color on gowns of white
