Artillery Battle Near Lassigny and Brstincourt—British Line Advanced and Four Attacks by Germans Repulsed—Austrian Blow on Italian Front Expected

Paris, Aug. 20—French troops during last night occupied the village of Vasseus, northwest of Morsain, between the Oise and the Aisne. There was reciprocal artillery fire in the region of Lassigny and Brstincourt, west of the Oise. A German aerial bombardment of Nancy was carried out. Six civilians were killed and a score injured.

BRITISH SUCCESSES

London, Aug. 20—A successful minor operation was carried out by the British last evening between Vieux-Berquin and Outterstein, to the right of our recent advance in that sector. Our line was brought forward to the neighborhood of the Vieux-Berquin-Outterstein road. We took 132 prisoners. Last night the enemy four times attacked posts established by us northeast of Chilly. On each occasion he was repulsed. We successfully raided a German post west of Bray. Our patrols made progress during the night in the area between the Lave and the Lys rivers and are now east of the Paradis-Merville road.

No Peace Till This Is Done, Says New Zealand Premier

FINE TRIBUTE TO NAVY

Newfoundland Premier Declares Without British Fleet America Could Not Have Come Into the Conflict

London, Aug. 20—(Canadian Press despatch from Reuter's Limited)—Premier Massey of New Zealand, addressing an audience of business men at Newcastle yesterday, said that it would be the duty of the Allies before peace was declared to punish the Germans for the crimes and atrocities committed in the last four years. He believed the imperial conference would continue after the war, and would be composed of representatives of the dominions and Great Britain and hoped that Great Britain would ever remain the senior partner.

Hon. Mr. Cook, minister of marine for Australia, said that Australia had an abundance of wheat and sugar, but could not transport supplies for the mother country. Australia had commenced building ships to bring the supplies over.

CANADA'S CONTROL OF HER TROOPS OVER SEAS IS WIDENED

Ottawa, Aug. 20—Except in matters of discipline and military operations, Canada now has complete control over all her troops overseas. Recent military developments which have brought the change about, are regarded here as the most momentous since the confederation. The cabinet minister today, who attended the imperial conference, "that recognition is now given to Canada's status as a nation."

From the outbreak of war, Canada has controlled her troops till they were despatched overseas. On arrival in Great Britain, they were taken over by the war office. Now, except as regards military operations and discipline, the dominion government retains control.

London, Aug. 20—The ranks of the London omnibus and street car strikers were further reinforced today by more women workers on the underground railways. More than 14,000 employees are on strike.

ATTACK THIS MORNING ON 10-MILE FRONT; FRENCH PENETRATE 2 MILES

Believe Germans May Have to Withdraw To The Chemin Des Dames—Other Gains Also; 500 Prisoners in First Rush

London, Aug. 20—(1 p.m.)—The French tenth army attacked again this morning on a front of ten miles, between the Oise and the Aisne, and reached a maximum depth of two miles, according to a despatch from the battlefield.

The advance of the French troops endangers the whole German position at Soissons and on the river Aisne. It is possible that the Germans will now withdraw to the Chemin des Dames.

Before nine o'clock this morning the French had captured 500 Germans in the sector attacked.

North of Roye the French have taken the Braquemont and Fendu woods, and have occupied the greater part of Beuvraignes. It is also reported that they have made progress to the southeast of Beuvraignes.

London, Aug. 20—The attack of the French yesterday between the Matz and the Oise was on a front of twelve miles, and although the Germans offered a stubborn resistance, the French made an advance of about a mile. At six o'clock last evening the battle line ran as follows:—

La Pravin Farm, which is northwest of Fresnoy, Arne-De-Canoy, the western outskirts of Lassigny, La Rue Des Boucandes, the southern outskirts of Orval, Le Hamel, the southern outskirts of Desfontaines and Pampres.

Though the advance was a small one, it is regarded as important, as it carried the French line farther down the valley of the Oise, the line being between five and six miles from Neufchâtel.

The French also moved up the valley of the Oise, the line being between five and six miles from Neufchâtel.

WEATHER REPORT

Amsterdam, Aug. 20—Professional soldiers like Generals Von Blume and Von Liebert, unlike so many other German war critics, do not seek to belittle the significance of the appearance of the American army on the western front. Von Blume, who is on the retired list, frankly admits that "we have to recognize that the Americans, all in all, have done very smart work, and it would be a very serious thing if the German army command had to face an American fighting army of millions."

UNITED STATES TO START TO SAVE GASOLINE

Martial Law In Petrograd

Hundreds Fall In Pitched Battle NO FOOD FOR TWO DAYS People Cry "Down With The Germans"—Insistent Appeal for Help for the Czecho-Slovaks—Reported Backward Move of Allies in Archangel District

London, Aug. 20—Martial law has been proclaimed in Petrograd, says an Amsterdam despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

Hundreds of regulars were killed and wounded in a regular battle between Latvian guards and rioters during food disorders in Petrograd. After the city had been without food for two days a procession of workmen marched through the streets shouting: "Down with the Germans; down with the Kremlin."

The Need of Great Allied Aid. Vladivostok, Aug. 16—(By the Associated Press)—General Dietrich, commander of the Czecho-Slovak forces, estimates the enemy strength at 40,000 men with seventy guns and 200 machine guns. Opinion on all sides appears to be that the Allied governments are under-estimating the magnitude of the task of liberating the Czecho-Slovaks and do not realize the necessity of essential warfare against superior numbers.

Amsterdam, Aug. 20—It is officially reported from Volozha, says the Moscow correspondent of the Rheinische Westfälische Zeitung, of Essen, that the Entente Allied troops in the Archangel sector of northwestern Russia have withdrawn outside the range of the Bolshevik artillery.

Soviet troops are reported to have blown up the Baikal tunnel of the Trans-Siberian railway.

Other St. John Men in the List Today; Several Wounded

Word of the death of Pte. Henry Clifford Merritt, who died of shell wounds at a clearing station in France on August 10, has been received. Private Merritt was married in England about a year ago and leaves his wife, one sister and seven brothers to mourn.

Mrs. R. Hayes, 26 Westmorland road, was advised this morning from Ottawa that her son, Gunner Richard Hayes, M. C., had been wounded in the back by gunshot and admitted to the 72nd General Hospital at Trouville, France. Gunner Hayes went overseas as a member of Major Magee's battery and has had four years of service. Although being slightly wounded on five occasions this is the first one severe enough to send him to a base hospital. About six months ago Gunner Hayes distinguished himself and in recognition of his bravery he was awarded the military medal.

Prior to his going overseas he was employed with the C. G. R. as a car sweeper. A brother, Gunner Robert Hayes, is in France, having gone overseas as a member of a draft from the 68th Battery.

Mrs. Margaret Logue of Milford, received a telegram this morning informing her that her son, Pte. John Logue, was admitted to No. 3 Australian General Hospital, in Abbeville, on August 11, gunshot wound in the right arm. Private Logue crossed overseas with the 68th, but was transferred to the Nova Scotia battalion in France. While in the trenches he was stricken with fever and pneumonia and for a long period was seriously ill. When he recuperated he returned to France and has since been fighting side by side with his comrades against the Huns.

C. P. R. STRONG AND ACTIVE IN WALL STREET

The activity and strength of C. P. R. at a further advance of 3/4 points, was the feature of the early dealings in the stock market today. Other rails, including some of the low priced issues, were higher by liberal fractions to one point. Maritime supplemented their gains of the previous session and other strong stocks included American Smelting, American Sugar, Sumatra Tobacco and United States Rubber. United States Steel gained half a point and specialties were represented by New York Air Brake which declined 3/4 points.

Trading assumed wider proportions later, the usual leaders, however, being obscured by rails and specialties. Wisconsin Central was prominent among the low-priced rails, advancing 1 1/2 points. Union Pacific and St. Paul preferred gained one point each. General Motors was again active, despite recent restrictions, advancing 3/4, and gains of one to two and a half points were recorded by American Telephone, American Can, Steel Foundries, Railway Steel Spring and Baldwin Locomotive. Liberty 3 1/2's were lifted to the new high record of 101.10, related issues showing greater steadiness.

GERMANS WORSE OFF EVEN THAN ALLIES SAY

Wounded From Cologne Hospitals to Front Before Recovery

London, Aug. 20.—It is believed in Cologne that the Germans are weaker on the western front than even the Allies contend, says the Daily Mail's correspondent in that city. He does not touch for other sections of Germany, but gives this resume of conditions in the Cologne district:— "All leaves from the front have been reduced one half in place. "Men are sent to the front from the hospitals before completely recovering. "Letters from the front have been discontinued. "Deserters are being sent to the front from punishment camps. "Wounded horses are hurried west with bandages still in place. The correspondent adds that it is reported the Germans have stolen food parcels sent to French prisoners, in order to feed neutral laborers who are on strike because of inadequate food.

It will include Prince Axel, a cousin of King George. The mission will pay most attention to aviation. President Wilson returned to Washington this morning after a brief vacation on the Massachusetts coast.

Several days later a purse bearing the owner's name was found by another soldier, who gave it to the Red Cross, through which it was restored to the owner intact within a week.

SEES MUCH GOOD RESULTING HERE FROM VISIT OF OFFICIALS

Charles Robinson, baker of this city, thinks that much good will result from the visit of Mark Bredin, who was acting for the Canada Food Board, and H. E. Treat, secretary of the Ontario Master Bakers' Association, in reconnoitering the maritime provincial commercial baking situation. Already many of the confusions and uncertainties brought about by the war conditions with regard to bakers' food have been straightened out, and from the standpoint of the conservation authorities it is now reasonably certain this section of Canada will keep step with others in using substitutes and adhering to the use of certain kinds of flour.

Messrs. Bredin and Treat visited Moncton, Charlottetown, Sydney and Halifax after leaving St. John, and in each important locality appointed a supervisor who has watch over the situation. Provincial inspectors or supervisors have also been appointed. "The system being worked is this:—

Local supervisors report infractions of the Canada Food Board's rulings to the provincial supervisor. If the provincial official thinks the offence sufficiently serious for action, he reports to Ottawa, where the legal machinery is started.

Mr. Robinson, who is a member of the Ontario Master Bakers' Association, is a remarkably fine article for war-time, as compared with other Canadian and all the American cities. It is really too good, according to the strict letter of the law, the local baker said smilingly, "so we have very little to complain of."

LOCAL NEWS

NEWS OF SOLDIERS.

George Bray, next of kin of No. 2080113, Private Harry Bray, of the 1st Battalion, 1st Canadian Trench Battalion, is requested to communicate with the office of the Western Union Telegraph Company.

LITTLE ONE IMPROVING

The condition of little Dorothy Cox, who was brutally attacked by an Indian near Gerow's wharf last Saturday night, is improving according to a report received by The Times this afternoon from Hampstead.

A Challenge.

The Carleton Wonders wish to challenge any team in the South End League which has no game on for Friday night. The necessary premises and equipment to properly finish such poultry. The best place to feed poultry is on the farm, and if it pays the packing houses to take the trouble, it obviously would be good business to do the work on the farm.

Proper feeding and finishing will not only greatly increase the weight of the birds, but will also enhance the value of every ounce of flesh on the carcass; and greatly reduce the proportion of offal in relation to the amount of edible meat.

There is generally a difference of from three to seven cents per pound in the price paid for well-fleshed birds as compared with lean unfleshed stock just off the range.

There is always a market for prime quality poultry, while the poorer quality has to be sold at whatever price can be obtained, depending on the market and the amount of effort put forth on the part of the seller.

Birds generally make the greatest gain when about three to four months of age, and the average birds make the most economical gains during the first two weeks of special feeding.

Chickens can be readily taught to feed by lamplight; this is a great convenience, as it is desirable that the time of feeding be spaced as nearly as possible twelve hours apart.

The crate system of feeding is much more economical and efficient. In practicing this method, one is able to carefully note the progress being made by each bird and the feeding period of the more thrifty can often be shortened or lengthened as desired. Also the flesh of the crate-fed birds is invariably softer than that of pen fed birds.

For amplification of the foregoing information apply to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, for Bulletin No. 88 of the Division of Poultry of the Experimental Farms entitled, "Preparing Poultry Produce for Market."

ATTACK THIS MORNING ON 10-MILE FRONT

EXPERT VIEW OF NEW GAINS.

New York, Aug. 20.—The Associated Press at noon today issued the following:—

No details of this morning's fighting are available as yet, but an advance of two miles in this sector would seem to place the Germans, both along the Aisne and before Noyon, in a serious position from which only an immediate retreat would appear to be possible.

Unofficial dispatches also state that local successes have been achieved by the French from the Oise northward to well past Roye. The line, as it is traced in despatches, seems to be very close to the important town of Laasgny, in which the French have been fighting for the last week or more. The German hold on Roye also seems to be weakened by the recent progress of the French north and south of the town. It would appear that Roye is now virtually surrounded on the three sides.

In Flanders the British have made additional appreciable gains in the Lys region and the German situation within the salient appears more difficult daily. Driving against the head of the salient the British have won ground on a front of nearly six miles and entered the important town of Merrille, where the Clarence River enters the Lys.

Plain Facts The Best Argument

Allies Do Not Use Propaganda In United States

But Give Information

Well Organized Scheme to Supply America With Correct Knowledge of Affairs—Better Judges of Human Nature Than the Huns

Official announcement of Lord Reading's arrival in England, when everybody had supposed him to be busy at Washington, has been followed by a number of extremely laudatory articles in American newspapers. They say that Lord Reading has proved a great asset to both countries, and he is given a small share of credit for the expedition of the movement of American troops across the Atlantic and the co-operation or consolidation of British and American transport service which has made this possible. On all hands is expressed the hope that he will soon come back to the United States. There can be no question about it that Lord Reading has won the high esteem of the American press and public despite the fact that the ceremonial part of his duties, such as public appearances and addresses has been kept in the background. He understands the American people and he likes them, and they like him. The fact that he started from nothing and became lord chief justice of England, despite what might be supposed a handicap in the matter of race and religion, has enhanced the general respect for both him and the country he represents. Jusserand and Spring-Rice.

The fact that when the war broke out the representatives of both France and Great Britain at Washington understood the American people while the representatives of Germany thoroughly misunderstood them was tremendous advantage to the cause of the Allies. In the opinion of F. Cunliffe Owen, public sentiment in the United States was about equally divided on the war in the summer of 1914. Undoubtedly Germany's methods in Belgium were chiefly responsible for the great shifting of popular sympathy to the Allies, but this movement was assisted by the tact and understanding of M. Jusserand, French ambassador and Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British minister. It was further expedited by the stupidity of Bernstorff and Dernburg, especially by the latter, whose amazing defence of the sinking of the Lusitania caused him to be expelled from the country, and this despite the fact that for years he lived in the United States and was supposed to understand American character. Propagandists Not Wanted.

It will be recalled that early in the war a whole shipload of British literary lights was despatched to the United States, with the idea of presenting the British case to the American Republic. It may also be recalled that the propagandists had nothing to say when they got to this side, and that most of them went home by the same ship that carried them out. This was due chiefly to Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, who earnestly besought the writers and speakers not to tarry, as the American people would be offended if treated like a parcel of schoolboys who needed to have the chief facts of the war explained to them. He knew that the great American newspapers were presenting the facts in a way that could not be surpassed by British propagandists, and wisely dissuaded his countrymen from an attempt that could have done no good and might have done considerable harm.

If there has been no organized allied propaganda in the United States there has been a very efficient bureau of information which has been supplying newspapers, public men and others with all the facts and arguments required regarding the war. The French establishment of the first bureau which is in New York and in charge of Stephen Lauzanne, editor-in-chief of the Matin, and nephew adopted son and chief heir of O. de Blowitz, the famous "ambassador of the London Times." Mr. Lauzanne spent many years in England as the representative of the Matin, and speaks and writes English perfectly. His assistant is Marcel Knecht, who was educated at Cambridge, and is a man of culture and understanding. Their bureau is attached to the French high commission, and it seems likely that it will continue in existence after the war, for its educational value has been recognized and the good work it has accomplished in removing misunderstandings, must make it of permanent value. Britain's Press Agent.

The British bureau is in charge of Geoffrey Butler, fellow and librarian of Corpus Christi, Cambridge, a lecturer and acknowledged authority on international law and an all-round scholar, who has had the additional advantage of several years' residence in the United States prior to the war. It is not the business of the French and British representatives to carry on propaganda, it is their business to give information when it is required. However well versed an American editor might be in French affairs, he can hardly be expected to know as much about them as Lauzanne and Knecht, and they are always ready to write articles or prepare statistics when requested to do so. Similarly Mr. Butler is prepared with semi-official news and information regarding Great Britain, though rarely does one see his name in print. There has been nothing either ostentatious or secretive about the operations of these bureaux. The directors of them have done a valuable service both for their own country and for the United States, and have, as Mr. Owen says, avoided every single error of German propagandists, who must bear some share of responsibility for the entrance of the United States into the war.

THE TURN OF THE TIDE.

We are beginning to get a bit accustomed to war news that is almost unbelievably good. The forced retreat of the Germans is plainly continuing, and each day tells of new Allied gains of some importance.

LOOKING TO RUSSIA.

Co-operation between Russia and the Allies is most desirable for two reasons. In the first place it would checkmate Germany and prevent her from exploiting Russia, and in the second place it would be an assurance of a return of stability in the latter country and the establishment eventually of a real democratic government.

Germany has not met with the success she anticipated in Russia. On the contrary, the more the people learn of German methods and ambitions the less they are disposed to submit.

THE SONS OF CANADA.

The seasoned troops from Canada have proved themselves worthy of the highest praise. They could not do less when they remembered what had been done by their fathers from this country in the early stages of the war.

In by-elections in Ontario yesterday Hon. Dr. Cody, the new minister of education, and Hon. G. S. Henry, the new minister of agriculture, were elected by huge majorities.

That German agents are trying to supply American army camps with cheap drugs to destroy the health of soldiers may not be true, but nobody doubts that the Germans would do it if they could.

GERMANY AND FOOD.

Next spring will, it is predicted, find Germany and Austria facing such a food shortage as will not only throw the people into despair but weaken the fighting forces. The Allies, on the other hand, will be able with proper economy and conservation to feed their armies well and also provide a sufficient supply to support comfortably the populations at home.

THE TURK AND GERMANY.

The Allies have adopted another German method. They are dropping leaflets in enemy territory, but with this difference—these leaflets tell the truth, while those sent out by the Germans have been tissues of falsehood.

PENSIONS FOR MOTHERS.

Social service workers in Ontario are endeavoring to get the government of the province to adopt a scheme of pension mothers who would otherwise have to go out to work and leave their children to be cared for by public institutions, which the people are called upon to support.

The Canadian Club is fortunate. Today it had as its guest Prof. Munroe of Columbia University, an authority on international law, who discussed The Freedom of the Seas. Soon it will have Hon. Dr. Beland, than whom no speaker could be more welcome in St. John at this time.

Today's war reports bring further good news from the western front.

THE OLD LADY MAKES JOHN A SOLDIER

A Story That Made Convert of a Conscientious Objector

(By Edith Barnard Delano of The Vigilant.) When big John Graham stood up in the store and said he would not accept the draft without a mighty big protest, if he were drafted, and gave as his reason that he was a conscientious objector, nobody doubted he was telling the truth, and nobody doubted his courage.

"Somebody get me a chair—" she gasped; it was big John Graham, who did so, and eased her into it gently and tenderly. When she felt better she looked up at him and smiled her thanks.

"You're a good boy, John, and always were," she said. "I'm real glad you went get into that awful mess over there and see the sort of things I—I was remembering, and that made me go faint like."

Everybody looked at her. John Graham did not seem to find anything to say. So the Old Lady did the talking. "I haven't been feeling well's usual, since day before yesterday," she said.

"You are mentally tired. The strain has been continuous. The supply of nerve force is running low."

You cannot leave for a long rest in the country, and it is therefore necessary that you have assistance where you are. Help awaits you in the form of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

had enlisted in Montreal, and he was an aviator. First time I ever come near to knowing an aviator was when his aunt nursed Junior. We used to talk about his flying, young and so handsome. He was good too, and he was all but engaged to a girl Miss Conroy liked.

"Well—Miss Conroy was just back from Canada, the other day, and she had seen him—her Tom—her young birdman. He had been shot down behind the German lines, been taken prisoner, and he was transferred back through Switzerland because—because she was stopping in, and we had a birthday cake for Tom Conroy with nineteen candles on it, and ice-cream—even though he was across the water at the time."

"The officer's sword had cut through the bone, but there was still something to be done, so they took the boy, our Miss Conroy's nephew Tom, to the hospital. Anesthetics are pretty scarce over there, they say. Anyway, they wouldn't waste any on a mere young Canadian lad. They used white hot iron to cauterize with—twas just as safe as any other way. Antiseptics are scarce too—why, you won't have to see such things, John Graham—"

"God, God," he prayed aloud. "God, let me get at 'em! Just let me get over there to 'em, God!"

"The Old Lady reached up and patted his head, and said, "There, there," she said, with trembling lips. "There, there!" And the tall man stooped down and kissed her.

War Canning Bulletin

One of the next war garden visitors will be the harvest moon. He has a jolly countenance but he brings Jack Frost along with him and unless your vegetables are in storage he is apt to give you a rude shock overnight. The important factors in successful cellar storage are (1) temperature; (2) humidity; (3) sand, soil, etc., for covering; (4) ventilation. Many of the roots, like carrots and Good ventilation is extremely important, large losses occurring every year for lack of it. A simple ventilation system may be provided by means of upright square troughs placed in the heaps of vegetables, or by nailing slats to the walls so that the air can circulate around the heaps.

Earl of Minto to Ottawa. Ottawa, Aug. 19—(Special)—The Earl of Minto, who succeeded to the title on the death of his father, Canada's former governor-general, is coming back to his old home at Rideau Hall as an aide to the Duke of Devon- shire, the present governor-general. Lord Minto is twenty-seven years of age and when here during his father's term as governor-general was known as Vis- count Malquod. He is expected to ar- rive in Canada soon with Sir Robert Borden and Hon. Messrs. Ballantyne and McEwen on their return from Eng- land. Lord Minto succeeds Captain Bulkeley Johnson as aide. The latter is returning to England.

Canonizing Explained. A Canadian Atlantic Port, Aug. 19.—The mysterious canonizing of a port east of here has been explained by the arrival of a fishing schooner at a port still further east reporting that on Saturday afternoon a steamer was seen about fifteen miles off shore engaged in vigorously shelling some unseen object. The captain of the schooner reported that after a dozen shots had been fired by the steamer she became enveloped in smoke and disappeared from view. He believes that the steamer was either engaged in target practice or else was shelling what was thought to be a sub- marine and that finally the ship made use of a smoke screen to escape.

IS SERIOUSLY INJURED. William McLeod of 55 King street, West St. John, suffered severe injuries yesterday afternoon while working in the hold of the new steamer War Fundy. A plank slipped out of a sling and struck him on the head. His injuries were attended to by Dr. F. H. Neve. Only slight hopes are entertained for his recovery. Mr. McLeod is an em- ploye of the Union Foundry, West St. John, and was doing some work on the steamer for his own company at the time of the accident.

K. OF C. OPPOSE PLAN FOR TWO FUND DRIVE

Supreme Knight Flaherty Sends a Protest to Baker—Board to Take Matter to Wilson

Sees Religious Line Drawn—He Favors One Joint Chest—Calls Scheme Unfair to Catholics and Jews

(New York Times.) The Knights of Columbus yesterday sent a protest to Secretary of War Baker against the reported decision of the Washington authorities to direct two drives for war camp funds, one by the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the War Camp Community Service, and the American Library Association, the other by the Knights of Columbus, the Salvation Army, and the Jewish Welfare Board.

This action was taken yesterday at a meeting of the Knights of Columbus, at which the executive committee on war activities held in the Waldorf Astoria. This is the telegram sent to Secretary Baker.

"I earnestly deplore the rumor that you are to order two joint drives for recreation funds—one for the Catholics and Jews and the other for the Y. M. C. A. and three other agencies—is not true. This would be drawing a religious line in time of war that cannot fail to cause great criticism and disturbance throughout the country. I am sending a copy of this wire to Chairman Postel."

JAMES A. FLAHERTY, Supreme Knight, Knights of Columbus. In a statement issued later Mr. Flaherty defined the attitude of the Knights of Columbus. He announced also that he had called a special meeting of the supreme board of directors of the organization to consider the religious line present the knights' side of the case to President Wilson. In his statement Mr. Flaherty said:

"I have wired the secretary of war deploring this decision, which, I hope, is not final. It seems to me that this is drawing a line between the Protestants, one on one side, and the Catholics, the Jews and the Salvation Army, on the other; a line which we have been seeking to have wiped out in war activities and surely we are not to be the boys in the service is concerned."

"The press notice states that it was impossible to have all of these agencies join together in one drive, owing to the differences in financial views. This is news to me. The Knights of Columbus, at a meeting in Washington, attended by representatives of all the other organizations, excepting the Salvation Army, expressed its willingness and desire to enter into a joint drive with all war organizations at such time as seemed best, and this news notice is the first intimation which I have had that the fiscal year entered into the proposals."

"The relations of the Knights of Columbus with all the organizations have been most cordial, and we have worked shoulder to shoulder for all the boys both here and overseas. We are honored with the association with the Jewish Welfare Board, to whom we have extended the use of our buildings for their religious exercises, and with the Salvation Army, whose wonderful work at the front has won the heart of every boy and of every mother and father. I could wish that the entire country might be rounded to include all of the war activity agencies in one great nationwide, all-American drive."

"It seems a pity to have this line drawn so sharply at this time of stress and universal desire to help the government win the war."

"Apart from this viewpoint there is another one of unfairness. There will be a Liberty Loan drive in October—the drive of the four societies first above mentioned will follow in November, then comes the Red Cross membership drive in December, then the Christmas holidays, and the Knights of Columbus, the Jews, and Salvation Army are left to get which is left after the first of the year."

"The knights are already in nearly 400 war chests throughout the country. The feeling of the contributors has been most generous. The work of collecting these funds for the various organizations has created a splendid, thoroughly

KAISER ASSAILED 'IDOLATRY OF MONEY'

Retort To Lloyd George's Protest Against "Plague" of Prussian Militarism

Speech on Anniversary—Told Generals War Was Over Conflicting World Theories—Socialists Accuse Him of Hypocrisy

When David Lloyd George, speaking at the centenary of the Prussian Revolution in London on June 17, characterized the Prussian military ideal as a plague which must be stamped out in the interest of civilization, the Kaiser retorted with this issue for the declaration on June 15 that the world war was not an ordinary war, but a life and death struggle between two opposing conceptions of the world, judging from reports found in copies of German newspapers just quoted in New York.

As quoted in a special cable despatch to the New York Times, the British premier, after expressing his admiration of the valor and skill displayed by the American army in France in its first campaign with the enemy, and while sketching the epoch-making wars of the past, went on to say:

"At this hour there is a struggle with an idea, more material, more cordite, more brutal than almost any other which has been sought to be imposed upon Europe—the Prussian military ideal, with its contempt for liberty, its contempt for human rights, its contempt for humanity. If they were to succeed today, you would fling back human civilization into the dark dungeons of the past. The crisis is not past, but with a stout heart we shall win through, and then we to the plague! In the interests of civilization, in the interests of the human race it must be stamped out. You cannot allow it to come again to darken the lives of millions and to desolate millions of homes. That is what we are fighting for."

The publication of these words in Germany called forth a cry of rage from the Junker press and a torrent of denunciations of Lloyd George, many of the militarist organs insisting that, when the German sword had finally won a "German peace," the British premier should have been content to remain silent, unless he apologized for his insulting remarks.

Hindenburg Lauds the Kaiser. During the celebration at the German headquarters of the 30th anniversary of the Kaiser's accession to the throne, Field Marshal von Hindenburg, in his laudatory speech, referred to the intrigues of its opponents, and as Kaiser Wilhelm spoke directly after Hindenburg, the presumption exists that the field marshal's words supplied the argument that led the supreme war lord to come out openly as the champion of Pan-Germanism to its fullest extent. Hindenburg's speech, as given out officially in Berlin, had the effect of making it clear that the German people are not to be deceived by the Prussian-German world conception of right, freedom, honor, and morals is to be preserved, or the Anglo-Saxon one, that signifies the sinking into the idolatry of money. The peoples of the world look like slaves for the Anglo-Saxon ruling race that subjects them. These two views are in conflict with each other, and therefore, the one must be unconditionally defeated, and this is not to be done in days and weeks, nor even in a year.

"This was clear to me, and so I thank Heaven that it placed your Excellency and you, my dear General, at my side as counselors. I do not need to say that the German people and army—people and army are indeed, one and the same—look up to you full of thankfulness. Every man out there knows what he is fighting for, even the enemy himself admits, and consequently we shall win the victory, the victory of the German world conception that is at stake. "I drain my glass to the health of the great leaders of my army, of the general staff, and of the whole German Army—Hurrah!"

As has been briefly summarized in cablegrams, the Kaiser's speech gave rise to a bitter controversy in the German press, the junkers and Pan German setting hardly any limits to their praise of the sentiments expressed and the Liberals and Socialists coming out flat-footedly against the theory that the war was a struggle between two conflicting "Weltanschauungen," and declaring that the German people as a whole certainly had no intention of fighting on indefinitely for the triumph of the Prussian-Germanic idea.

The Munchener Post, the leading South German organ of the pro-Government Socialists, in closing a caustic criticism of the Kaiser's talk, said:

The Kaiser's war cry against the idolatry of money rings out just at the moment when a great firm trust is being founded to organize our entire moving-picture industry and completely to enmesh public opinion in the service of the iron and steel industry, the agrarians, and the banks. Among the founders of the Universum-Film Stock company are included the Deutsche bank, the Hamburg-American Line, the administration of the Henckel-Donnersmark interests and the North German Lloyd.

The German Moving Picture company, which is financed by the iron and steel industry and the agricultural interests, and on whose board of directors sit Messrs. Rotger, Schweiglofer, Dr. Hugenburg, Dr. Mehnert, and Dr. Roelcke. Furthermore, this film concern is openly a protégé of the Prussian Ministry of Commerce, which sent a strictly confidential circular to the Chambers of Commerce to ask the censorship officials to show special moderation to its films. Here the "freedom" and the "honor" of the German people are seriously menaced by a gang of capitalist ruling men!

"Of course, the German workers, and with them the great masses of the so-called new 'middle class' are fighting today for right freedom and morality, for a higher world conception of justice, freedom and morality, but they are not exactly being cheered in this struggle against Mammonism by the so-called 'social monarchy' of Prussia. The spot where—particularly in the days when it was founded—the 'idolatry of money' was wickedly practiced, the Three-Class Parliament, has not yet vanished from the face of the earth."

"On the other hand, in England 'right and freedom' won a brilliant victory in the new election law. So now, when today the Kaiser, with a violent warlike gesture, throws down the gauntlet to thought of the years of peace that preceded these events of war. They were 26 years of hard but fruitful work, although they could not be always successful in a political sense and they brought disappointments; so it was a work of recreation for me to occupy myself with my army and its development and to endeavor to maintain it at the high standard in which it had been turned over to me by my grandfather.

"The war that is under way causes me to celebrate this day in the enemy's country and so I cannot celebrate it in a better place than under the roof of your excellency and of your loyal and highly gifted collaborator and of the German general staff."

"When, in the days of peace, in the work of preparing my army for the war, the old companions in arms of my grandfather gradually passed away and when the horizon around Germany gradually grew dark, then no doubt many a German, and not the least I myself, hoped that God would place the right men at our side in this hour of danger. Our hopes have not been disappointed. In your excellency and in the General (Ludendorff) Heaven has sent to the German empire, to the German army and to our general staff the men who are destined in this great time to lead the German people in arms in its decisive battle for its existence and its right to live and with its help, to win the victory."

"At the outbreak of the war the German people was not clear as to what this war was to mean. I know it very well. For that reason, even the first outbreak of enthusiasm was not able to deceive me or to cause any change in my aims and expectations. I knew very well what it was all about. For the entry of England gradually passed away and if wanted or not. It was not a matter of a strategic campaign. It was a matter of the struggle between two conceptions of the world. Either the Prussian-German-Struggle world conception of right, freedom, honor, and morals is to be preserved, or the Anglo-Saxon one, that signifies the sinking into the idolatry of money. The peoples of the world look like slaves for the Anglo-Saxon ruling race that subjects them. These two views are in conflict with each other, and therefore, the one must be unconditionally defeated, and this is not to be done in days and weeks, nor even in a year.

A Visit To a Canadian Air Squadron On The Western Front, Led By Noted Canadian Airman

(By Lacey Amy, special correspondent of the Times with the Canadian Forces in France.)
With the Canadian Forces in France, July 11—FSL H—left at 4.45 a. m. to attack aerodrome at A. He crossed the lines west of B at 6.000 feet. Visibility bad, but picked up aerodrome at C and attacked. Sixty were of steel painted black. After firing at these, he lacked three single-seater aircraft on the ground, putting about 400 rounds into them. Then he put about thirty rounds into quarters on north side of aerodrome. There were no people about. Then he left aerodrome at height of about fifty to 100 feet and proceeded along the main road fifty feet up. Fired on a wagon drawn by horses. Both horses went down. Driver under nood of wagon. On passing railway crossing he shot at guard who dropped to the ground. Pilot followed road as far as —, then turned west and crossed to D, expending remaining ammunition on horse transport on front at D. There appeared to be no drivers near, and horse transport stampeded along front towards west. His whole attack was carried out between fifty and 100 feet. One enemy aeroplane followed from near —, but could not catch up. He returned to aerodrome at 3.45.
The squadron report doesn't say so, but it is presumed that, having taken this pleasant early morning constitutional, the pilot took his matutinal bath, shaved and was in time for porridge.
It's only in France where these little morning breathers are possible. It's only as yet ancient of conception to the ordinary terrestrial man. Yet I saw a book long and wide and thick, filled with such records. And it dealt only with the exploits of one squadron.
But that squadron is a famous one; it is especially interesting to Canadians. It is commanded by a Canadian. Canadian flying men are crowding to the air forces and filling the records of the air with scores of such adventures as the one narrated. In every squadron known to me there are Canadians among the leading members; and I doubt if there is any branch of the service to which they have taken with such conspicuous success.
The squadron commander, a major, crammed with enthusiasm for the service, and always looking for results, met me in the uniform of his old unit, a naval squadron. Though the R. A. R. has been in working shape for many months, the former naval units retain many of their special rites and distinctive marks. The retention of the old uniform is an acceptance of the wisdom of conservatism; all new uniforms will be of the natty R. A. F. design. There is the ship's bell to ring the times—though some of the newer members don't even know the meaning of the bell's—and the old members still speak of going ashore when they plan to visit the nearest village.
The amalgamation of the two units of the flying service seems to have worked out with complete satisfaction. Nowhere is this more conspicuous than in the naval squadrons, which, while part of the old R. N. A. S., always worked with the R. F. C., and have had to alter none of their habits and life of their mental attitude towards the service. The new system has been effectively introduced by ignoring former affiliations in appointments. For instance, in the squadrons of every unit of the old flying force, as well as new pilots whose first upturns are R. A. F. There are no prejudices, no recriminations, no rivalries. The squadron is just a big family under a youthful leader.

tumbling about so close to the ground that the spectators instinctively succeed when they saw him coming. Yet he is not considered a reckless pilot.
Following in his footsteps in the squadron are a number of Canadians who never shirk a fight that offers a chance. One, a Toronto lad, has twenty-three notches in his stick and still going strong. To him had fallen a Hun only the day before my visit. It is a story typical of the life and atmosphere of the squadron.
He and a less experienced companion were over the Hun lines when six enemy machines dived for them. They turned and streaked for their own lines with the Hun in close pursuit. The story as told me by the successful pilot was that he managed to get round on the tail of the enemy threatening his friend and by a bit of good luck brought him down. The story of his friend was that the Hun was right on his tail when the other did some aerial stunts, swinging round on the tail of his pursuer, and got him with his first burst of fire. It was a case of experience getting the best of it.
The sequel to the success is told by the commander with laughing appreciation of its situation. Rushing with the successful pilot by motor to the scene of the victory for purposes of salvage and information, he approached the wrecked machine in the open, thinking the front lines a mile away. He found the dead pilot almost consumed in the fire that broke out when his machine struck the ground, and little to salvage. His idea of location was corrected by a sudden whizz above their heads and a tremendous explosion just behind. In the midst of a shelling that amounted almost to a bombardment he and his companion slunk to safety via the roundabout way of the trenches. "The fun of it was," he explains, "the differences between the way we went up and came back."
On the way back a soldier attempted to describe to them the great air fight he had witnessed a few hours before. "One fellow led six Huns across the line, while the other came along behind shooting them down."
"And all the time," laughingly objected the pilot, "we were beating it to home lickety-split with our hoses at the limit. This making the Hun cut out of your hand while you lead him home sounds well—when he's all the time on your tail." The significance of the position of the Hun lies in the fact that this squadron's machines are single-seater fighting chasers, in which the gun point only straight ahead and are aimed only by aiming the machine straight at the target.
Next in the squadron is a record of twenty by another Canadian, followed by two or three of fifteen. The custom in the R. A. F. of never publishing individual records save in exceptional cases—contrary to the customs of the Germans and the French—has the disadvantage of concealing the work of scores of pilots whose names would be looked for in the official reports. There are famous German pilots with fewer decisive air fights to their credit than half this squadron.
In fifteen months the squadron has brought down 200 Hun machines. This record gives some idea of what is being done by the flying service in pursuit of victory. In one day the squadron fought twenty-three combats and brought down fifteen machines, without a single loss to themselves. A day like this throws red blood into the most apathetic official communiqué.
The special pride in this group of air fighters is that it has always had a Canadian commander, and that thirty-eight of its personnel since the beginning—considerably more than half—have been Canadians. In the present list are three Toronto boys, two from Winnipeg, and several others from different parts of Canada. Yet the one Australian and the imperial members are indistinguishable from the Canadians. It is the record of the squadron that counts. Indeed, they showed me, with more feel-

Sees Many Benefits From Editors' Tour

Editor of La Patrie, Montreal, Says Assembling of Journalists of Empire Will Produce Closer Relations—Utopian Visions.

London, Aug. 19.—(Canadian Press despatch from Reuters' Limited).—The following message is from Charles Robilliard, senior editor of La Patrie, Montreal:
As the tour of the Canadian journalists through France and the British Isles is nearly over, I may be permitted to mention some of the very beneficial results which will ensue for the empire and the overseas dominions.
The newspapermen have returned to London convinced more than ever of the grandeur of the cause for which the Allies are fighting and impressed with the irresistible man-power at their disposal. With the help of the American armies pouring into France at the rate of four hundred thousand monthly, the British and French armies will, I believe, soon throw the Germans back into their own country. With the perfect organization and the spirit of confidence shared by everyone, the Allies rely on prompt and complete victory. The assembling in this great metropolis of the leading newspapermen not only of Canada, but also of Australia, New Zealand and South Africa by Lord Beaverbrook, minister of information, has rendered to the British empire a service that cannot be over-appreciated. This meeting will bring in closer touch the motherland and her colonies. It will create a better understanding between all peoples under the British flag and contribute perhaps more than any previous action of statesmen or governments of England to conciliate differences of opinion concerning any scheme or system that may be proposed for stronger co-operation of all parts of the British empire in time of peace as well as in war.

We are particularly proud of this great work being achieved by a Canadian who by his ability, his keen sense of duty, his foresight and his clear vision of the new conditions arising from the bloody conflict in which all free nations are engaged to preserve their liberties and save justice and right from complete annihilation, is able to perform such a task. Any public man in our empire might justly be proud of such a splendid achievement, an achievement whose momentous consequences will have a far-reaching effect on the political and economic relations of the whole world.
But this very important imperial concentration and unification of all the resources of the empire will be effective and fruitful only if the small nations receive adequate protection and the rights of minorities everywhere are sufficiently safeguarded. The British empire is a very powerful organization. As Bishop Fallon very eloquently intimated at a dinner given by Brigadier-General Ross to the officers of the Canadian Army Corps, the British commonwealth is bound to stand, but as in all complicated pieces of machinery every piece, however small it is, must be in the proper place and perfectly adjusted, otherwise the least trouble may produce most serious results.
Even under the British flag religious and language questions are irritating and I hope one of the consequences of this war will be that such mischievous difficulties will disappear forever. From the sacrifices made by our boys there will follow more toleration and a better understanding and stronger love for each other. A new world is rising from the blood-stained battlefields of Flanders and France.

Canadians Crackerjacks At Building Airdromes

One Company of Them, 170 Strong, as Good as 600 of Ordinary Labor Obtained in England

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—In recent months the Canadian Forestry Corps has greatly extended its co-operation in behalf of the Imperial, French and American forces. Practical appreciation of this assistance has been expressed in several letters received from the higher commands of the Allied forces. In a letter to Sir Edward Kemp, Canadian overseas minister, the Right Hon. Lord Weir, secretary of state for the royal air force, asks for further assistance from the Canadian forestry corps in the construction of aerodromes in France and England for the R. A. F. He states, in his letter, that the men of the Canadian Forestry Corps are so well fitted and equipped for this class of work that a great economy in labor is effected by their employment. One company of them it has been estimated (approximately 170 strong), is equivalent to at least 600 of the ordinary labor obtained in England.

Sir John Hunter, administrator of works and buildings for the Royal Air Force, has written along similar lines to the officers commanding the Canadian Forestry Corps. Testimony to the value of the work being done has also been received from the French army commanders, and also from the comite inter-alle des bois de guerre.

ONE DOLLAR! ITS INCREASED BUYING POWER ON DOLLAR DAY

DOLLAR DAY does not necessarily mean that one dollar articles only are on sale. It does mean, however, that this day is one day in the year when a dollar has more purchasing power than at ordinary times.

NEVER BEFORE in the history of Canada has it been necessary to make a dollar go as far as possible, so that in these critical times of constantly increasing prices, or the decreasing buying power of a dollar, it behooves everybody to take full advantage of this one day when the value of the dollar is considerably enhanced and make real savings on wearing apparel for present and future requirements.

DEPENDABLE MERCHANDISE is costing more and more every time we go into the market to buy, so that when our tables become filled with the new Fall lines, you will pay quite a lot more money for many articles than you will pay now—on Dollar Day—when a dollar really represents considerably more than one hundred cents.

GREAT VOLUME AT MINIMUM PROFITS being our Motto, we are always in a position to sell at low prices, so that when a Reduction is offered from these low prices, surely there is no one who does not realize the exceptional opportunity this affords.

In Touch With Public—Heir to British Throne Passed "Vacation" in Inspecting War Plants That Supply Empire's Armies

"The Prince of Wales," said the Court Circular, "attended by Captain and Lord Claud N. Hamilton (Grenadier Guard), has left the palace on his return to the front."

Character and Temperament
The Prince of Wales must have taken back with him many pleasant recollections of his leave in England. The last few weeks have brought him as closely in touch with the people at home as the last three years and more have brought him in touch with the soldiers at the front.

ed the Prince's education, or the formal part of it, and turned him out a good average specimen of hardy, clean, natural English youth.
But the Prince himself would say that his real education only began with the war. From the first moment of its outbreak he had but one ambition—to get out to the front, and the weeks he spent in fighting Lord Kitchener, and tradition, and a nervous officialdom on that point, were probably the most expediting in his whole life.

I will not say that the last three and a half years have been the making of the prince. In the fundamentals of character, in all that really matters, he was made already. I mean that long before the war began he had given proof of the qualities that every parent looks and hopes for in his son and his son's friends—truthfulness, generosity, stability, and instinctive uprightness, and simplicity of mind and nature.

Those who know him best tell me that the chief change wrought in him by the war is an added confidence and self-reliance. And yet on one like myself, who has only recently met him, the first impression he makes is that of being young for his years.

SALARY INCREASE TO POSTMEN APPROVED

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—The sub-committee of the Privy Council which recently heard the representations of the letter carriers, railway mail clerks and postal clerks of the postal service of Canada for increases in salary has made its report which was today adopted by the government and consequently goes into effect at once.

The principal recommendation in the report is that in addition to all salaries and allowances voted by parliament and now payable there shall be paid a further provisional allowance for the current effect at once.

year and as from April 1, 1918 of $100 to employees east of Sault Ste. Marie and $50 to those at and west of Sault Ste. Marie. For many years the western employees have received a special living allowance of $180 over those of the east and this has been taken into consideration by the committee. At the hearings the view was strongly expressed to the committee that this difference was not justified under the present conditions.

HARVESTING AS A SPORT. Professional sports will be greatly curtailed if the war continues much longer. Back-yard gardening has been an interesting and helpful war-time service for baseball fans as well as for others. Helping to save the harvest should now be ranked as the leading national game for the stay-at-homes. There is a demand for more food for the Allies—more supplies for the men at the front. SITUATION AT SYDNEY ACUTE

Steel Workers Take Holiday —Men Discharged and a Strike Follows.

Sydney (N.S.), Aug. 19.—The steel plant workers took another holiday Sunday. Certain men ordered to remain on duty for alleged essential work did not go, and six of them were discharged when they returned this morning.

GERMANOPHILE PRESS THREATENS A CIVIL OUTBREAK IN SPAIN

Madrid, Sunday, Aug. 18.—(Associated Press)—Germanophile newspapers, such as the A. B. C. and the Tribuna and the Nation, on commenting upon the note from Spain to Germany, the text of which is still unknown, publish articles reflecting a threat of civil war in case of a rupture in relations with Germany.

Although the country preserves its tranquillity, the majority of the newspapers publish alarmist articles and the international situation is the universal topic of conversation at clubs and cafes.

Rev. Fathers Robert and Blois, of Laval University, Quebec, accompanied by Charles McHugh, ecclesiastic, son of Arthur McHugh, this city, arrived in St. John yesterday at noon.

Y. W. C. A. ACTIVITIES

A meeting of the board of directors of the Y. W. C. A. was held in the hall of the Travelers' Aid Transient Home, in Union street, yesterday afternoon, at which most encouraging reports of the association's past activities were given and plans for future work discussed.

The president, Mrs. J. A. McAvity, was in the chair, and there were present Mrs. R. Crutshaw, recording secretary; Mrs. R. C. Ekin, Mrs. James F. Robertson, Mrs. R. A. Corbett, Mrs. David Hutchinson, Mrs. James McAvity, Mrs. Arthur Morrissey, Mrs. J. R. Van Wart and Miss Hazel Clark.

Mrs. McAvity said that during the coming winter the association would undertake new and varied activities and that some form of work would be organized in connection with the women who are employed in manufacturing munitions. She also announced that the St. John Y. W. C. A. was to have the help of a trained secretary, Miss Meathy, who will arrive in the city today to take charge of the work.

Miss Meathy is a most valued worker and in recognition of her untiring services it was moved and unanimously carried that she be given an increase of salary. Miss Hoyt will leave shortly for a three weeks' vacation.

The report of the travellers' aid committee dealt briefly with the individual cases which had been attended to by the society and showed that each case had been given most sympathetic treatment.

P. E. I. MAN INVENTS A WAR DEVICE

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Aug. 19.—Major J. A. Stewart of Brackley Point (P.E.I.) who went overseas with the 100th Battalion and who has since received an appointment with the Imperial Forces, has invented an apparatus to be used by machine gunners and snipers. He has obtained the grant of British letters patent for his invention which will be of great assistance in protecting his men.

Hayes; God Save the King.

The league of honor convenor reported that one new enrollment officer had been appointed and she also gave a report of the travelling aid committee which was held last Wednesday in the Y. W. C. A. building in the interests of the co-operative movement which is to bring the girls of the Sunday schools and of the Y. W. C. A. together in provincial conferences. Miss Thomas, who has had training at a student secretary of the Y. W. C. A., was appointed girls' conference secretary.
