A TRADE QUESTION

Will the removal of a duty of $4 per ton on hay entering the United States market weaken the loyalty of any Canadian?

Will the removal of a duty of $1.25 on rough lumber, which must go to the United States whether it pays duty or not, prompt the Canadian who profits by it to about for annexation?

Will the removal of a duty on fish, which are now marketed in the United States, paying a duty, lead the fishermen to wish that they were American citizens?

If so, all the United States needs to do is to abolish the tariff on all goods from Canada, and make us all annexationists.

But is it true? What Conservative or Liberal is willing to admit that he personally would be influenced by any such consideration? Would Dr. Daniel or Mr. Powell confess such weakness?

Britain's enormous trade with Germany has not developed any annexation sentiment among the English people. They are less friendly terms with Germany than with France, but do more business with the former country. It cannot be doubted, however, that the very fact of this large trade has a great deal to do with toning down the martial ardor of both countries when war-seares arise.

Canada cannot do better than adopt the British principle of trading wherever profitable trade can be carried on. The United States has offered a large free market for natural products of Canada. Who cares a fig whether the Americans would like to annex Canada or not? It is Canada, not the United States, which determines the future of Canada, and this has already been done. Canada will remain British, and no trade agreement made with any other country affects in the slightest degree the preference already granted to the mother country. By making Canada more prosperous the trade agreement will strengthen the Empire. The farmers, fishermen and lumbermen of the maritime provinces will derive special benefit, and all classes will share in the prosperity that will result from the more rapid development of the great natural industries.

LOCAL CONSIDERATIONS

In the midst of the turmoil of an election in which the rank and file appeals to ignorance and prejudice are being made by Conservatives, St. John people will not lose sight of the practical side of the conflict. This port has received more material benefit from the efforts of Hon. Dr. Pugsley as its representative than from those of any of his predecessors. His opponents justly assert that these things would have come in any case; but the people's memory is not so short that they cannot remember the mass meetings and indignation meetings and delegations to Ottawa which were a feature of the Conservative regime, in a fruitless effort to secure a just recognition of the city's claims. Mr. Hazen could tell us something about that, for as a member of the house for a time he felt the pressure of public sentiment and public disappointment. That time has passed. Dr. Pugsley has changed the whole situation. St. John is now a link in the great chain of transportation, and the port is being developed to accommodate an ever-growing commerce. The re-election of Dr. Pugsley and the election with him of Mr. James Lowell will be a guarantee that this progressive policy will be continued. The citizens, in supporting them, are doing what is best for the interests of St. John.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has thrown himself into the campaign with an ardor that is itself an inspiration to every Liberal in the country. To have such a leader is to enter the fight with the greatest confidence as well as with determined vigor. Sir Wilfrid has defied the Tory-Nationalist combination in Quebec, and told Mr. Borden and Mr. Bourassa that he does

THE UNNAMED LAK

It sleeps among the thousand hills Where no man ever trod, And only Nature's music fills The silences of God.

Great mountains tower above its shore Green rushes fringe its brim, And o'er its breast for evermore The wanton breezes skim.

Dark clouds that intercept the sun Go there in spring to weep And there, when autumn days are done, White mists lie down to sleep.

Sunrise and sunset crown with gold The peaks of jagged stone, Where winds have thundered from of old And storms have set their throne.

No echoes of the world afar, Disturb it night or day, But sun and shadow, moon and star Pass and repass for aye.

Twas in the day of early dawn, When first the lake we spied, And fragments of a cloud were drawn Half down the mountain side.

Through tangled brush and dewy brake, Returning whence we came, We passed in silence, and the lake We left without a name.

FREDERICK GEORGE SCOTT, Quebec, P. Q., 1911.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

"What are her days at home?" "Oh, a society leader has no days at home any more. Nowadays, she has telephone hours." -Smart Set.

"What is clear is that if Quebec is the pivotal point, and if its vote is determined against Sir Wilfrid Laurier, by the alleged revolution of feeling, then the victory will be due to the so-called Nationalists, and not to the Conservatives. The word Nationalist, as used by its leader and his apostles, simply means sectional or anti-nationalist; and emphatically it means anti-imperialist. Should Messrs. Monk and Bergeron have places in the new government, as they would certainly have to, they would either have to betray the sentiment to which they are making their appeal, or would have to remain on the other side and oppose the solidarity of the nation and the Empire."

The reciprocity campaign is progressing in the most satisfactory manner. The prospects for a great shipbuilding plant for St. John grow steadily brighter.

We may presently be paying more for our English goods, as a result of scarcity caused by the strikes, which are affecting transportation.

Hon. C. J. Osman points out that free entry of gypsum into the United States would be of great benefit to Albert County.

Nearly five weeks have yet to pass before polling day. Before that date the hollow and hypocrisy of the Tory loyalty cry will have been thoroughly exposed.

The labor troubles in England have reached a stage very close to the verge of civil war, so far as several of the large cities are concerned.

THE DISUNIONISTS

The people of Canada should not lose sight of the dangerous significance of the Tory alliance with the disloyal Nationalist party in Quebec. Mr. Bergeron, "the Beasbarnis Boy" of former campaigns, and now with Mr. Monk, the Conservative leader in Quebec, in close alliance with Mr. Bourassa, the Nationalist leader, says that Quebec is the pivotal point in this campaign and that it will go against Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The Montreal Witness points out that Mr. Bergeron is linked up with those who voted in parliament with Mr. Monk in condemning any relationship between Canadian and British defences.

Continuing the Witness makes the following observations, which we commend to those persons who are so eager to defend the flag:—"What is clear is that if Quebec is the pivotal point, and if its vote is determined against Sir Wilfrid Laurier, by the alleged revolution of feeling, then the victory will be due to the so-called Nationalists, and not to the Conservatives. The word Nationalist, as used by its leader and his apostles, simply means sectional or anti-nationalist; and emphatically it means anti-imperialist. Should Messrs. Monk and Bergeron have places in the new government, as they would certainly have to, they would either have to betray the sentiment to which they are making their appeal, or would have to remain on the other side and oppose the solidarity of the nation and the Empire."

The city council is sorely troubled about the proposed changes in the taxation system, but the way to settle the question is to study it. The committee made an excellent beginning and every member of the council should study its report, ask questions and gather further information. Tax reform must come.

An Ottawa paper says:—"A Walkerville automobile factory is enlarging its plant in anticipation of reciprocity, even though the duties upon autos are not to be reduced under the agreement. Its managers are business men, and they know that the more prosperous the farmers become the more demand there will be for automobiles."

PLAYGROUNDS (The Telegraph). Not least important among the events of last evening in St. John was the outdoor entertainment by the children on the Every Day Club's supervised playgrounds, and the announcement by Mayor Frink that the city council would soon take up in earnest the question of public playgrounds. The aid thus far given by the city has been, as his worship said, far too small. The Women's Council started the first supervised playground, and they and the Every Day Club have kept up the work in a small way, with the aid of city grants and private subscriptions. The time has come for civic action on a more generous scale. The mayor was surprised at what he saw last evening. So would many thousands of citizens who never visit the playgrounds. In addition to large public playgrounds there could be a social centre at every school. Judge Ritchie heartily endorsed the mayor's remarks last evening, and altogether it may be said that the playground movement took an important forward step. This is a step in the right direction.

HOTEL CLERK DIDN'T REMEMBER HIM. "I would like to have the same room I had the last time I was here; I believe it was No. 14," said Andrew Anderson, 81 years old, of South Bend, Ind., to Clerk Ernest Reul at the Hotel Sherman last night. "Geet!" replied the clerk: "that must have been before my time. When were you here last, Mr. Anderson?" "In the spring of 1848 I rode to Chicago from our Indiana town on horseback; and this is my first visit here since that time," he answered.

A Rigid Shaving Edge. The GILLETTE blade—thin enough to take a perfect temper, yet held absolutely rigid between the two plates of the frame, shaves as no other razor can shave. You know how the thin tapering edge of the old-fashioned open-blade razor vibrates till it fairly rings when it strikes a stiff beard. The thin blades of other razors are free to vibrate. That's partly why they pull and gash. But the GILLETTE edge, the keenest and finest of all, is clamped so firmly that it cannot vibrate or spring away from its work. Note how the curved outer plate presses the blade down tight against the teeth of the guard, making the edge perfectly rigid. That is why it slips through the toughest beard so smoothly, quietly and easily. The genuine comfort of the GILLETTE shave is a revelation. Why deprive yourself of it any longer? #### A Diplomat Who Tripped Up When He Turned Masher—The Latest Sensational Elopement—Miss Eleanor Sears To Marry Young Vanderbilt

(Times Special Correspondence.)
New York, Aug. 18.—Much interest has been aroused here by the story of Henry Kurst, a handsome German actor, who says he is in receipt of $2,000 a year from some mysterious source in Europe. Kurst is the son of a well-to-do merchant in Dresden, and has been in Germany several years ago because of the interest taken in him by the Crown Prince Louis of Saxony, former wife of the present King Frederick Augustus. He affects to be much worried over the report that the memoirs of the former crown prince to be published soon in London, contain some reference to him.

The actor is now happily married to the daughter of a wealthy brewer of Hannover and says he fears any intimate portrayal of his adventures with the Crown Prince will involve him so deeply that he will never be able to return to his native land.

"I happened to be standing by a baby carriage in the care of a maid, who was attached to a family with which my parents were acquainted," said Stainbrink, explaining his relations with the prince. "The baby was crying. I imagine my surprise when the royal carriage, containing the crown prince and her lady-in-waiting, stopped directly in front of me, and Her Highness offered some candy to the young boy, who immediately ceased crying. Then she turned to me and said, 'Is your father the boy in Saxony?' This remark, which she turned my head, had been responsible for all of my misfortunes which followed.

"Before she drove away she asked for my name and address. Within a week I received a message giving me an appointment. Instead of going to my parents, as I should have, I went to the palace. After that I frequently met the crown prince. We went skating together in the Groser Garten, the public park, where I first met her. Another place where I was permitted to enjoy her society was in the Vogelsberg, where she had me get children together in groups to ride with her on the merry-go-round. About two months before the elopement of the prince with Giron, upon my return to Dresden from Erfurt, I was arrested at the railroad station, and told to get into a carriage which drew up at the city insane asylum. Here I was installed in special quarters, and provided with a piano, books, billiards and two waiters.

"For twenty marks, I got into one of the attendants to mail a letter to an influential friend of mine who intervened in my behalf. Upon the fourth day of my incarceration the head doctor came in and told me that arrangements had been completed for my removal from the city. A railroad ticket was handed to me by an official of the insane asylum, and I was put upon the train with my destination 100 miles up into the mountains. Here I remained until after the elopement of the crown prince, when I was sent out of the country."

time and decided to have Weiner arrested. This was done, and Weiner was arraigned in court on the charge of disorderly conduct.

After Mrs. Angell had told her story in court, Weiner said that he was commissioned by the Austrian Government to send in reports of the commerce of the United States. This, however, did not save him.

The Geragaty-French Elopement

Whatever may happen, society is quite agreed that the family of Amos Tuck French, the multi-millionaire banker of this city, will have a hard job of separating their daughter from John Edward Geragaty, the 400 a month Newport chauffeur, with whom she eloped from this city last week. Both being of legal age, the marriage will stand and the only chance the relatives of the young woman have of ending the union is the hope that when the excitement attendant on the runaway subsides, she will realize the folly of her act and want to go back home of her own volition. This, however, is recognized as a general possibility.

The young bride is at that impressionable and romantic age that she will be likely to stick to the chauffeur if he treats her decently, and no amount of family argument or persuasion will be able to induce her to leave him. Nothing quite so sensational has happened in a long time since then, until the cabled report reached here early in the week.

The Astor-Force Wedding

On his arrival here this week after the coronation ceremonies in London, the Right Rev. Dr. Nutt, Church of England Archbishop of the West Indies, took a hand in the big hub-bub made by the clergy of the city and the country generally over the prospective marriage of John Jacob Astor to eighteen-year-old Madeline Force. In spite of the vehement protests of the society folk, who characterize the wedding as a scandalous and indecorous violation of a citizen, the comment continues unabated.

"You know," he said, "there are two factions in the recognized Church of England. One is very narrow in its views. That faction believes in the indissolubility of the marriage tie. The other faction is more liberal. It takes a broader view of life, and is not opposed to the innocent party in a divorcee marrying a second time under certain conditions."

"I know very little about the Astor-Force engagement, but from what I have learned a clergyman of the Church of England would hardly have the temerity to marry Mr. Astor, because he is regarded as the guilty party."

"Indeed, such a clergyman in performing a ceremony with an applicant for marriage such as Mr. Astor is represented to be, would be held before a church tribunal. Further than that he would be liable to the civil courts, for the Church of England recognizes in a divorcee the right to marry, which he made no effort to conceal that he felt in her.

THE GAME OF TREASON

(Toronto Globe)
The leaders of the Conservative party are at this moment playing the most dangerous game ever played in Canadian politics. Indirectly, and directly, too, they are cooperating in the organization of a French-Canadian party which, were it effective, would work not only political mischief, but the gravest national peril. Conservative leaders have joined hands with Mr. Bourassa. They not only discourage opposition to him and his campaign from their own ranks, but positively and publicly they give him and his allies their sympathy and support. He would not today be a factor in Canadian politics were it not for encouragement given to him by leaders and journals of the Conservative party in Ontario.

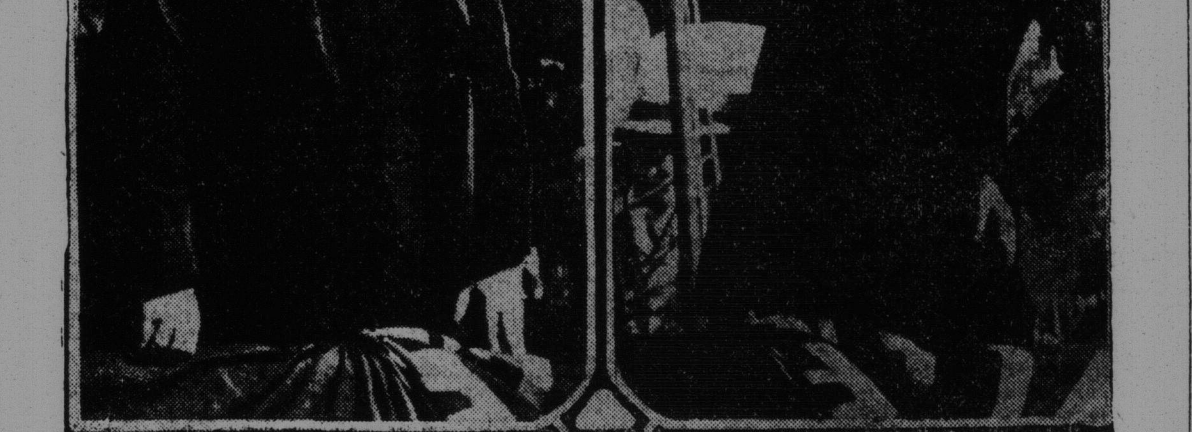

Were Mr. Bourassa and his party Conservatives loyal to the principles and restrained by the traditions of the Conservative party the matter would be of minor importance. It would mean at most nothing but a swing of power from one political party to the other. But on trade questions and on all essentially Imperial questions the French Nationalists are worlds away from Mr. Bourassa and the Conservatives. The one thing they all have in common is the determination at all costs to break the power of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the Province of Quebec.

On the vexed question of the navy and on questions of Canada's relation to Britain the declarations of Mr. Bourassa are fiercely anti-Imperialistic.

And yet Conservative leaders welcome into Canadian political activity this disunionist. They encourage him to scatter firebrands among the inflammable materials of ignorance and prejudice and suspicion. As though it were not enough to breed bigotry and sectionalism among the English-speaking Protestants of Ontario, for months past work has been going on, for the most part in secret, deliberately seeking to awaken and organize the religious fears and racial animosities of the French-speaking people of Quebec. That it has not been altogether in vain recent Nationalist demonstrations illustrate.

But what does it mean? If it succeeds what will it involve? How can the races in Canada be united and the life of Canada be made positive and potent if after all these years of patient co-operation of earnest and high-minded Canadians of all races and parties this reckless and ambitious firebrand is encouraged to destroy the national fabric?

This is indeed a serious national situation. Industry may flourish, trade and commerce may expand, great transportation routes may be established throughout Canada and across the seas, all the framework of a great nation may be available in abundance, but there can be no Canada no national future, no prestige in the Empire, and no worthy part among

Pleasure and Education In Cathedral Cities Tour

INVEST FRENCH CAPITAL

Financiers Coming To Canada To Look Over The Ground—Promise of Winter Work For Harvesters—The Inventor of Volapuk Dead in London

(Times Special Correspondence.)
London, Aug. 8.—Motor tours through Great Britain seem to be the favorite recreation of visiting Canadians, who by this rapid and comfortable method of transportation see far more of the old country than does the average tourist. A well-known Toronto man said to the writer: "I am taking my children to every cathedral town in England and Wales during their holidays. We have two motors. We stay a while in those cities which specially attract us, while in every case I expect my young people to prove that they have acquainted themselves with the history of the place."

"This idea of continuing education agreeably in the holidays is to be commended to those who can. It is the possession of a fair knowledge of the history of the cathedral cities of England and Wales means a good general knowledge of the history of Europe, too, since before the time of William the Conqueror and hundreds of years before the North American continent was discovered."

Another Toronto man, now motoring as far north as Inverness, is John Ross Robertson, with Mrs. Robertson. They expect to return by the Olympic from Southampton on August 20. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Carrick are also spending the last few days of their stay in England, motoring into the West Country. They will sail for the Royal George. When the writer last saw Mr. Carrick at the Savoy Hotel he was busy cogitating over the contents of a sheet of cablegrams urging him to accept nominations as candidate for the Riding River district in the Dominion House.

The few Canadians in London for bank holiday are mostly spending it in the house of commons which is holding a momentous sitting instead of participating in the public worship of the most popular holiday of the year. It does when the weather is almost invariably hot and sunny. This year, however, hot and sunny days have been even too plentiful, and more than one Canadian has complained of being overcome by the heat. Indeed, it is discomforting than the same figure in the thermometer in Canada.

French Capital for Canada

In addition to a party of London financiers who left for Canada last week and the English pressmen who go with J. Obel Smith, the assistant superintendent of emigration, a number of leading French bankers and financiers are leaving France for Canada to make a survey of the opportunities for investment of French capital. The deputation will take every opportunity to satisfy themselves of the desirability of further investments in Canadian industries.

Winter Work for Harvesters

Hon. W. R. Moberly, minister of agriculture for the province of Saskatchewan is doing his best to create an eager response to J. Obel Smith's invitation for 30,000 farm laborers for the Canadian harvest. By stating that his government had made arrangements that the harvester who took up temporary employment in Saskatchewan would be provided with work during the winter he has done much to allay that anxiety—the fear of winter—which prevents many in this country from going to Canada.

Inventor of Volapuk Dead

Johann Martin Schleyer, the inventor of Volapuk is dead. He first launched his universal language in 1870; and at the French exhibition of 1889 it was used on some of the posters which conveyed information to miscellaneous strangers. Afterwards, as everyone knows, it was superseded by Esperanto, but Herr Schleyer continued his linguistic studies. At the time of the Boxer rising in China he issued a phras-book for the use of the soldiers of all nationalities marching to Peking. Of late years he had lived in quiet retirement on the Lake of Constance.

ACTION ON MATTER OF TAX REFORM IS DEFERRED BY COUNCIL

Possibly Month or Two Before it Comes up Again and Meanwhile Committee Will Continue Work

The common council met in special session yesterday afternoon to consider the report of the committee on the mayor's proposal of tax reform. After a discussion of nearly two hours' duration, in which the merits or demerits of several of the sections were merely touched upon, the council decided to refer the matter to the committee for further particulars. This action was partly due to the fact that Alderman Potts an opportunity of introducing his scheme of tax reform. His name was added to the committee of taxation proposed by the other members of the committee he could bring in a minority report setting forth his own views and the council would have an opportunity of ruling on both. While no definite time was named, it is believed that another meeting for the purpose of considering this question will not be called for about a month or more. The question of imposing a license on teams was brought up at the meeting by Alderman C. T. Jones and the matter was referred to the bills and by-laws committee for consideration. Alderman Jones complained that distributors of automobiles in the imposition of these licenses. The present custom of collecting taxes was also touched on and this matter was referred to the treasury board. Although the meeting was called for 3 o'clock it was after this hour when the members got down to work, they having spent a short time in King square having a group photo taken of themselves. Mayor Frink presided at the meeting and the following members were present: Smith, J. B. Jones, McLeod, Scully, Eskin, Potts, McGoldrick, C. T. Jones, Green, Hayes, Oodner, Wilson and the common clerk. Mayor Frink informed the council that he had been approached by a company with large financial backing who were anxious to negotiate for the purchase of the county court house and lot adjoining. The mayor was authorized to appoint a committee to act with himself in looking into the matter. In answer to Alderman Potts, Mayor Frink said that at the earliest opportunity he would consult with the minister of public works regarding the matter of having the Ballast wharf property returned to the city. The meeting here adjourned.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL NEWS OF THE WEEK IN ST. JOHN

A great amount of entertaining is being done at the nearby country places. Week-end visiting is the popular amusement and very delightful for over Sunday are considered more satisfactory than the longer stay which takes in a week or fortnight. This may be because everyone seems anxious to get into the city on the first day of the week. Even the hostess takes this occasion to begin preparations for the future. To add to the attractions of the Saturday to Monday visit, there is always a dance on Saturday evening and the visitor is immediately provided with congenial entertainment.

In the city proper, society has been more active than is usual at this season, probably on account of the number of strangers who are being entertained by town hostesses. Mrs. Vassie, who has as guests the Misses May, of Ottawa, gave a very delightful party at her residence, Mecklenburg street, in their honor on Monday afternoon. The dining room was presided over by Mrs. Walker Foster, Mrs. Simon Jones and Miss Mollie Robinson. Among those present were Mrs. James Dever, Mrs. Norman Leslie, Mrs. J. Morris Robinson, Mrs. J. R. Harrison, Mrs. Rockcliffe Knight, Mrs. Stanbury, Mrs. L. R. Harrison, Mrs. Murray MacLaren, Mrs. E. S. Sayre, Mrs. D. Among them were Mrs. Thos. Walker, Mrs. W. D. Foster, Mrs. R. Armstrong, Mrs. Murray MacLaren, Mrs. Neale, Mrs. W. O. Raymond, Mrs. Stetson.

Burpee, Mrs. Norman Leslie, Mrs. Alexander Fowler, Mrs. James Stratton, Mrs. Dobby, Mrs. Carruthers, Mrs. P. Schindler, Mrs. Miles, Mrs. Louis Barker, Mrs. W. W. RAISES NEW POINT

In the Supreme Court Chambers yesterday a very interesting point was raised by Dr. W. B. Wallace on the interpretation of one of the sections of the new Judicature Act. It arose in the case of Kathleen Johnson vs. the Bathurst Lumber Company. The plaintiff sued the defendants for trespass, claiming that they had removed sand from her beach. The defendants denied the charge, but tendered the plaintiff $40 in settlement, which was accepted. The plaintiff having received the money which was the subject of the action, the County Court sued for Supreme Court costs. Dr. Wallace, who argued the case for Mr. Byrne, contended that under Order 65, rule 4, of the Judicature Act, unlike the old practice, the pleadings were not sufficient and if the plaintiff chose to come under the section she must show grounds to the judge on which to form an opinion. The section of the act is as follows: "Where, in a suit in the Supreme Court...

EVERY GENERAL STOREKEEPER NEEDS "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Inkerman, Ont., Sept. 23, 1910. I am in the General Store Business and have been a resident of Inkerman for thirty-seven years. Since I started this store four years ago, I have found your remedy "Fruit-a-tives" the most satisfactory one I have sold. Many of my customers have the "Fruit-a-tives" with the feet beneficial results and I know of two cases that have been completely cured of Erysipelas.

I recommend "Fruit-a-tives" every possible occasion and would not that if every general storekeeper had a stock of "Fruit-a-tives" prominently displayed, it would increase his sales very much.

DISCIPLINE ON BOARD SHIP

An Incident Brought to Attention of Merchant Service Guild—Measures for Preserving Authority Inadequate

(The Imperial Merchant Service Guild) London, Aug. 19.—The question of the lack of means whereby the British shipmaster has the greatest difficulty in maintaining discipline on board merchant vessels is one which has for some considerable time occupied the attention of the Imperial Merchant Service Guild, who have received a letter from the commander of a large British steamer, who writes from Jamaica, West Indies, as follows:

In view of the above case, the guild have replied agreeing that merchant shipmasters are possessed of quite inadequate measures in preserving their authority, and quote for the information of their member the following paragraph which appeared on Monday last, the 7th instant, in the public press throughout the country:

READ FOR YOURSELF WHAT RECIPROCIITY MEANS--HERE ARE THE FACTS

MEANS NEW PROSPERITY TO THE FARMERS OF THE MARITIME PROVINCES

Markets of Millions of Consumers to be Opened for the Benefit of Canadian Producers--Great Opportunity to Farmers Aply Pointed Out by a Prominent Charlottetown Dealer

At the Liberal convention in Queen's County, P. E. Island, Nelson Rattenbury, president of the Queen's County Liberal Association occupied the chair and delivered a lengthy address dealing in the main with the reciprocity agreement. Mr. Rattenbury is an enthusiastic advocate of reciprocity, his long business experience making him fully aware of the great benefits to the country at large. For many years he has been engaged in handling farm products, and has a wide experience in the market. Anything he says on the subject should have great weight with the farmers.

He said that the Americans evidently want the products of our farmers as they have swept off the duties from potatoes, oats, barley, hay, straw, cheese, butter, cream, horses, lambs and poultry. All the above the Island farmers have in abundance for sale and for much of which the present market is small and insufficient. They can run into the great American market absolutely free.

Mr. Rattenbury pointed out that P. E. Island exports to the States had increased during the past year from eight hundred thousand dollars to two million dollars. He said that the reciprocity agreement opened to the Island farmers a market of ten million consumers in and around Boston and New York. If we had reciprocity today we would ship butter to the States at a profit of a dollar per tub on a basis of twenty-five cents.

What it Means in Hay The agricultural department estimates the Island hay crop at six hundred thousand tons valued at four million eight hundred thousand dollars for the year 1910. If reciprocity had been in force, the value would at least have been seven million dollars.

Mayor Frink Declares That Aid Now Given is Far Too Small--Wants Large Playgrounds Equipped--Fine Concert on Every Day Club Grounds Last Night

Within a couple of months, if Mayor Frink can bring it about, the question of public playgrounds for St. John will be made a practical one, for he has taken up in earnest by the city council.

His worship gave that pledge to the hundreds of children and of older folk who were present at the outdoor entertainment given at the Every Day Club playgrounds, Aberdeen school last evening. His statement was very heartily applauded, as were the remarks in a similar vein by Police Magistrate Ritchie.

The attendance last night was very much larger than at the first concert, and the children and grown folks, and such good order prevailed that it was the subject of special remark. The programme as announced in yesterday's papers was carried out with the exception of one or two numbers which were dropped because of the gathering darkness. The choruses, duets, solos and recitations were all well rendered, and the flag drill was especially fine. The singing and dancing by Margaret Sharkey was a feature of the evening.

Miss Melick and Miss Turner, the teachers, were heartily congratulated on the concert as well as on the fine exhibit of fine selections on the gramophone. Mr. Abbott, from J. A. McDonald's music store, gave a number of fine selections on the gramophone.

The children all seemed to realize that this was their entertainment and were "on their good behavior." The affair was a fine illustration of what could be done with school houses and grounds as social centres.

Mayor Frink, when introduced by the president of the club, said he had found out since coming there that there were some things about St. John of which he had not yet learned. He was simply amazed to see that great assemblage of children and parents, and to note how much interest was taken by all of them in this development of playground work. He felt that the amount now given by the city council toward such work was very much too small, and would endeavor to have very much more done in future. Last winter a group of gentlemen had met at his house and discussed the whole question, and it was then resolved to agitate for more attention to playgrounds. Later the city council had entered the principle of municipal playgrounds. He understood there was land available for playground purposes, and within the next two months he would do his very best to have further action taken. His worship congratulated the Every Day Club, the teachers and the children, and urged parents to interest themselves in this playground question. He told the little people that where he was a boy they had at first only two weeks and later three weeks holidays, and conditions were now much better. Still he felt rather ashamed as he looked at these small grounds to realize that in this best of St. John has done for playgrounds for its children.

Judge Ritchie, who was also very heartily greeted, said he was very glad to hear the statements made by the mayor. He also congratulated teachers and children, and said that as he passed the playground every day he knew of the benefits it conferred upon the young people. The excellent behavior of the children was good to see, and it was wise to have them brought together under kindly supervision, to learn lessons in good conduct. The judge referred to his own boyhood and to the changed conditions, and dwelt upon the importance of making even the playground a means of training the boys and girls in right conduct, and in unselfishness. He was very glad to hear the mayor say that a movement would be made to do more for the children in this direction.

Having taken home the prize for the children in basketball, he said they would have been quickly purchased last evening. This playground will close next Friday.

Miss Margaret J. MacLean, stenographer for J. A. Pugsley & Co., Summons Help by Phone and is Found on Floor by Police

When a telephone call was received last evening at the home of Wm. Straight, of 40 Westwood street, the faint message came over the wires: "Come quick, I'm dying." It was from Margaret J. MacLean of Chatham, stenographer in the supply branch of J. A. Pugsley & Co., in Prince William street, and when Mr. Straight's young son, who was unconditionally released by the Cleveland American League baseball management several days ago, will report to the Boston club of the National League next Sunday. It is stated that he probably will pitch Monday's game at Cincinnati.

Dr. F. C. Fox, of the tubercular sanitarium, Matapan, and head of the public dispensary in Boston, met the members of the Anti-Tubercular Association here yesterday afternoon. He pointed out an address that tubercular is a disease of the masses, and is prevalent in crowded districts. While contagious, it is preventable, and is curable in its early stages. He asserted that it is not hereditary. He pointed out that the higher the standard of living is brought to, the less the tendency to contract tubercular.

He dealt at some length with the disease from an economic standpoint and said that there was need in every municipality sanitary engineers to look to the cleaning of the streets, the disposal of sewerage, to visit houses and workshops. The death rate could be reduced 75 per cent.

After the meeting Dr. Cox said that the sanitarium, but would not do for advanced cases, as such patients desired to be near their homes. He and Premier Hazen and Mr. J. C. Jordan will visit the building today at River Glade.

THE LYRIC. Next week will be ushered in at the Lyric Theatre with a programme that the management think will shine with excellent features. Beautiful costumes add to the act. For a few minutes of good fun Pinkie & Schiek are declared aid suppliers, their comic acrobatic feats being immensely enjoyed. TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION TAKE STAND AGAINST THE CHINESE LAUNDRIES

THE MARITIME BOARD OF TRADE

(Maritime Merchant) As we go to press the Maritime Board of Trade is in session at Moncton. What it will accomplish on this occasion we have no idea, but as we think of its history during late years we cannot help feeling that the devotion of the component boards must wane. In theory the Maritime Board of Trade ought to be an excellent institution, and it ought to have a lasting influence, but so far as we can see, its influence has been rather in the opposite direction. To the introduction of contentious subjects we may lay the charge for this state of affairs. Frequently enough have we urged against this practice, but it is persisted in, and bids fair to shortly number the Board's days. If the discussions and resolutions and subsequent action arising out of these matters profited anything, there might not be so much objection to them; for the excitement of debate is enjoyable, even if the heart burnings are deplorable. But it must be recognized that the vote on such subjects depends entirely upon where the meeting is held. If the resolution is carried or defeated, it means that it was easy for the supporters or opponents as the case might be, to secure a large attendance from nearby sympathetic territory. And so the actual value there may have been in the way of truth brought out in the discussion is invalidated by the consciousness that the vote hasn't actually expressed the mind of the board in its entirety. Our feeling is that the Maritime Board of Trade is not anything like the effective agent for good that it might be, and we believe it might drop contentions sectional subjects and still have a large field of usefulness.

DECORATION DAY OF A.O.H. ON AUGUST 27

Arrangements for Carrying Out The Annual Custom—Names of Members Whose Graves Will be Visited

Following the customs of former years the Ancient Order of Hibernians will observe Sunday, August 27, as their annual decoration day this year, and preparations for the same are well advanced under the direction of an efficient committee. As this is a memorable day with the society, that set apart for remembering and honoring the deceased brethren, it is expected that the attendance will be well up to the standard of former years.

A committee will visit the Old Tower and St. Peter's burial grounds and decorate the graves of the departed Hibernians resting there, while arrangements have been made to have the graves of three members who are buried outside the city decorated by branches of the order out of town. The society in a body will visit and decorate the graves of its deceased members in the old and new Catholic cemeteries.

The City Constabulary will precede the procession, playing appropriate airs, and the Hibernian Knights, A. O. H. Cadets and members of the order will be in line with banners conveying the floral tributes. These latter will be received at the hall in Union street on Saturday, August 26, by a committee from the Ladies' Auxiliary, in charge of Mrs. M. E. Finnigan, and members or friends wishing to donate flowers will kindly have them sent there or else to the store of Messrs. McAvinn & Kichham, Union street, where they will be gratefully received. If persons sending baskets will mark their names on them, the committee will attend to their safe return.

There are quite a number of graves to be decorated. The names of the departed members are as follows:

FEARS STRIKE IN ENGLAND WILL HURT CANADIAN FARMERS

Ottawa, Aug. 18.—(Canadian Press)—The people of Great Britain are out of sympathy with the strikers, for the trouble is already interfering with their food supply and tying up business generally, said Hon. W. E. McArthur, minister of agriculture for Saskatchewan, to a reporter yesterday. Mr. McArthur is just back from the old country. He had a narrow escape from losing his baggage as a result of the strike at Liverpool. "Yes, the situation over there is indeed far more serious than you imagine. It is going to play havoc with Canadian freight. The wheat will soon prepare to ship its grain now, but the outlook for getting it safely to Great Britain is far from bright. Just what is going to be done I do not know. I do not see how ever any grain can be shipped and the consequences to western farmers will certainly be severe."

HOW NOT TO DO THINGS

Editor of Evening Times: Sir—I have read in your column, and also heard considerable talk regarding our patrol wagon. Only yesterday I saw in the Telegraph where a drunken woman was hauled on to central station in a coach. On the same day as this woman was arrested I saw an instance which would open the eyes of any (civilized) person, and which plainly showed the necessity of a patrol wagon. The instance I refer to was the conveying of the body of the late William Taylor from Lily Lake to the morgue. This unfortunate man's body was hauled on a sloop "off the stand," with a piece of canvas over his face and body. (There was not enough to cover his feet.) The conveyance was followed by a crowd of boys.

Mr. Editor, I always thought the people of this city were civilized, but when they use the body of a human being in this manner, when a drunken woman can get a coach, they are far from civilized, (as I see the meaning of the word.) Hoping that the proper authorities will look into this matter and have future matters of this kind remedied, and thanking you for your space, I am, Sir, your obedient servant, CIVILIZED PERSON. St. John, N. B., Aug. 18.
