Saint John Tug Captain and Crew Make Heroic Rescue

POLITICAL CRISIS IN GERMANY

OCEAN EAGLE SAVES 6 OF MIKADO MEN

Nine of Those on Board Trawler Off Cape Breton Lost. A TERRIBLE NIGHT Men Had to Plunge Into the Raging Sea in Hope of Rescue.

(Canadian Press.) Canso, N. S., May 27—Dazed and suffering terribly from exposure, six men, all that are left from the crew of fifteen of the Grimby trawler Mikado, which dashed herself to pieces off Forchu Island Sunday night are fighting their way back to strength in the temporary hospitals arranged for them here, and it is believed that all will live. Meanwhile the tragedy that cost them their ship and the lives of nine of their comrades, is being written down as one of the worst marine disasters on the Nova Scotia coast in recent years, and the courageous rescue effected by Captain Greenlaw and men of the tug Ocean Eagle, of the St. John Dry Dock and Shipbuilding Co., adds another chapter to the chronicles of Maritime heroism.

In face of terrific conditions, they gallantly carried on, never relaxing effort while there was a chance to save a life. Captain's Heroic Work Captain Greenlaw, with two sailors, manned a lifeboat and but for their efforts, it is thought, none of the men would have been saved. At times it looked as though the small craft would be swamped by the high seas but by persistent efforts the rescues were made. One man, W. Simpson, succumbed, after being taken aboard the Ocean Eagle.

The Mikado, which left Canso for England on Friday last, stopped off Cape Breton to take a few fish, and on Sunday the fresh water supply was found to need replenishing.

Intending to get water at Louisbourg the Captain turned about. He evidently lost his bearings, and when late Sunday night he saw the rocks of Forchu Island he thought them to be ice floes, and proceeded to steam slowly through them. At twelve, midnight, the little vessel crashed upon the reef about two miles off shore and hung hopelessly impaled, with threatening seas sweeping over her. She quickly settled until only a small part of the forepeak and engine rigging remained above water.

A Terrible Night

Captain Wm. Saxby, two engineers and a cook were the first to go. Others followed in quick succession through the night, and when the rescue boats arrived Monday morning only eight men remained clinging to the rigging, nearly dead and in some cases delirious. Two miles away, on the beach of Forchu, six bodies had been cast up by the waves, and two others were missing. One man, W. Simpson, lived only long enough to reach the deck of a rescue boat. The others, six seamen and a ministerial student from Digby, N. S., who was making the trip for experience, were taken ashore and vented by the high waves from approaching near to the wreck, Captain Greenlaw of the tug himself launched a life boat, and with the sailors approached the Mikado and floated a line down to the wreck. One by one the survivors dropped into the sea and were hauled aboard the lifeboat.

The survivors were brought here last night by the Ocean King. The Mikado was built in England in 1905, owned by Goodwin and Slight, was under charter to the Maritime Fish Corporation, was 235 tons gross, 130 feet long and registered on one of the fastest trawlers out of England.

Bind Watchmen; Got $250,000 Loot

New York, May 27—Seven robbers, one of them wearing a police uniform, bound and gagged two watchmen and made off in four trucks with $250,000 worth of tobacco and other merchandise from the warehouse of the United Cigar stores, Brooklyn.

The alertness of a policeman who saw two of the stolen trucks near the sign on the street led to the recovery of those trucks and $50,000 worth of the loot. Soon after a citizen informed the police of the appearance of the other two trucks in a stable, with the result that detectives found $150,000 worth of the stolen goods in the stable. Two and a half hours after the thieves had recovered all but $50,000 worth of the loot and two of the trucks.

The Premier suggested that the Ontario Government should pay 7 a ton freight charges on the test shipment and in case the actual cost exceeds $7 the Dominion Government should pay the extra amount.

Refusal to Ratify Lausanne Treaty Discussed in London.

SERIOUS ISSUE

The Times Says the International Status of the Empire is Involved.

(By H. N. MOORE.) (British United Press.) London, May 27—Canada's refusal to ratify the Lausanne Treaty, as revealed in the correspondence between the British and Canadian governments tabled yesterday, is not only displeasing to Imperialists but is likely to have a pronounced effect upon the existing relations between Great Britain and Turkey.

One of the points left unsettled by the Treaty of Lausanne is the future of Mosul, the oil city of Mesopotamia. The Turks are still demanding control of the territory, which the British contentedly will be automatically referred to the League of Nations for settlement.

The disease has always been sporadic in England, but the annual average of cases never exceeded 800 until 1921, when there were 1,000.

Chops Wood on 107th Birthday

Tancredia, Calumet Island, Que., May 27—Joseph Beland is 107 years old, and to celebrate his birthday he "bucked" a cord of wood—sawed it into stove lengths and split it.

The job did not fatigue him. It only gave him a better appetite for the birthday dinner.

Beland wants to know if there is anyone his age on the North American continent who can equal his record.

Records in the parish church show that Beland was born in May, 1817, when Napoleon was in exile on St. Helena.

Beland, French Canadian, has been a lumberjack, river-driver and farmer. He had worked hard all his life, kept regular hours, eaten only plain substantial food and refrained from worry. He is an inveterate smoker and doesn't turn down an occasional "nip." He has 137 living descendants.

Ellsworth, Me., May 27—Roland McDonald, her 15 year old pupil in a country school at Amherst, has confessed, according to Sheriff Ward W. Westcott of Hancock County, that he killed Louise B. Gerrish, a youthful school teacher on a lonely road on last Wednesday night.

In a statement made after conference with state and county officers at the Hancock county jail, where McDonald and his brother, Victor, two years younger, are prisoners, the sheriff said Roland had pointed out the spot where the 19-year-old teacher was shot, and re-enacted the crime.

The two boys, who were among the older pupils at the school, were arrested late yesterday and brought here. The officials said that young Victor was not implicated in the killing, but was held as a material witness.

The sheriff said he had recovered part of Miss Gerrish's jewelry, but he said robbery was not the motive of the murder according to the boy's confession.

MARX IS LIKELY TO BE LEADER

German Reichstag Meets This Afternoon in a Very Doubtful Mood.

CROWD AT DOORS

Thirty-two Extreme Nationalists Have Drawn Up an Amazing Program.

BY CARL D. GROAT (United Press Staff Cor.) Berlin, May 27—With the constitution of the next German Government still uncertain, Germany's new Reichstag convened today.

The most heterogeneous collection of legislators ever gathered in Berlin entered the closely guarded door of the Reichstag building between files of troops, while a great throng gathered in the streets to see some of the new and distinguished members.

There were pastors, communists, women, agitators of both sexes, who have been tried for treason; there were white-haired General Ludendorff, aged Frau Clara Zetkin, young Bismarck, tall, dark and handsome, grandson of the "Iron Chancellor," men in the rough corduroy affected by the Reds, and others with the shaven heads and monocles of the extreme right.

There were one prince, three barons, three counts and six ordinary noblemen among the Nationalist members.

Will Marx Carry On Berlin, May 27—Resurrection of the Marx cabinet with some changes from the old is anticipated as an immediate development in the German political situation. Many believed the Chancellor would have his new Cabinet ready in time to appear at the opening of the Reichstag in mid-afternoon.

Marx and his ministers resigned last night but were requested to carry on current affairs. The programme called for inviting Herr Hergt, National leader, to form a Cabinet, and perhaps even Herr Mueller, the Socialist leader. It was assumed these leaders would fall, and President Ebert would invite Marx to reform the old Cabinet and, with a few changes, Germany would be back where she started.

The Reichstag was to open this afternoon with nothing important scheduled for the first few days than selection of a president of that body. The Nationalists claim the right to elect this office.

Long before the doors opened throngs were clamoring for admission, anticipating a lively show with General Ludendorff and Admiral Von Tirpitz in action as members of Parliament for the first time.

Amazing Resolutions Berlin, May 27—(Canadian Press)—The extreme Nationalist members of the Reichstag, numbering 32, met last night and formulated a remarkable programme, including the following demands:

First, immediate election of a new President.

Second, repeal of the law for the protection of the republic.

Third, amnesty for all participants in the Munich and Kuestrin revolts.

Fourth, trial on the charge of treason of all who participated in the revolution of November, 1918, and collaborated with the Soviet Government.

Fifth, expulsion of all Jews who have entered Germany since 1914, partial confiscation of their property, and abolition of their right to change Jewish names.

Sixth, all Jews to be placed under special legislation.

General Ludendorff did not attend the meeting.

A Governmental Crisis Berlin, May 27—President Ebert, in pursuance of his constitutional task, finding a Chancellor capable of forming a Cabinet commanding support of the Reichstag in succession to the Marx-Stresemann Cabinet, which resigned last night, today received Dr. Hergt, the Nationalist leader, and after him in the order of party strength in the Reichstag the leaders of the other parties, with the exception of the Communists and the Extreme Nationalists. ALEX. GRAY, HOME, TELLS OF PORTS ON OTHER SIDE

Engineer Inspected European Harbors—St. John Favorably Known.

Completing a ten-weeks tour of European ports, Alexander Gray, resident engineer here for the Federal Department of Public Works, arrived home at noon today, greatly impressed with the magnitude of port development on the other side. During his trip, Mr. Gray inspected the docks and facilities for handling cargo at the ports of Germany, Southampton, Liverpool, Leith, Edinburgh, Glasgow, London, Plymouth, and several lesser ports.

"At all of these ports," Mr. Gray says, "state and citizens are combining to increase their equipment for the handling of traffic. In some places they have plans already certified calling for an expenditure running as high as $40,000,000."

Before leaving the Union Depot, Mr. Gray held a brief conference with his chief, Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, in the latter's private car, which was attached to the Halifax train. Mr. Gray said the trip was a great experience for him, although he was glad to get home. He landed at Quebec on Monday from the C. P. S. liner Montclair.

Was at Wembley. Mr. Gray visited the British Empire exposition at Wembley and was greatly struck with the exhibits advertising the ports of India, South Africa and Australia. "These colonial ports," says Mr. Gray, "were much better advertised than our Canadian ports. They had excellent models, on quite a large scale, of their most important ports, including Melbourne, Cape Town, Calcutta and Bombay."

Mr. Gray said that the only reference to St. John was a small placard. Quebec and Vancouver had photographic views of their harbors, but the point in Canada, our ports were not left so well advertised as the ports of the other colonial possessions."

Speaking about conditions on the other side, Mr. Gray said they were not nearly so bad as painted. "Take for example the port of Antwerp, Belgium," explained Mr. Gray. "It is a very good port financially. Yet, I found at Antwerp, they are going along with a scheme of port development that will entail at least $25,000,000. I intended visiting Hamburg but was compelled to forego that trip."

St. John Favorably Known. While in Manchester, Mr. Gray said he saw Canadian cargo that had been shipped from St. John slaughtered there. At that same port, he also saw Canadian grain shipped from St. John unloaded and also saw Canadian sheep shipped from this port unloaded. St. John, he said, was quite favorably known on the other side. "The big dry dock here, he said, was a big boost for the port."

EXCEPTION IS MADE OF N. B. PRESBYTERY

Mirimichi Body Only One Specially Treated in Union Bill.

Ottawa, May 27.—Provision for "non-concurring members" who give notice that they do not intend to enter the union was outlined at the opening stages of the resumed hearing on the Church Union bill before the Commons' private bills committee this morning.

This provision was mentioned by William Duff of Lunenburg during the discussion of the definition section, which came first before the committee. He proposed to add to the list of definitions a definition of "non-concurring members" as being members of non-concurring congregations who within six months gave notice in writing that they do not intend to enter the United Church.

During the discussion Mr. Duff asked if there had been any negotiations with the Board of the Presbyterian College at Halifax.

Mr. Mason replied that under the constitution the colleges were bound by the action of the Presbyterian General Assembly.

Dr. Murray MacLaren asked why the Presbytery of Miramichi was specially mentioned in the Union Bill.

Mr. Mason said that far as the Union committee knew, this was the only Presbytery in Canada which had separate incorporation.

COLUMBUS KNIGHTS MEET

State Convention is Opened in Fredericton—Welcome by Mayor.

(Special to The Times-Star.) Fredericton, N. B., May 27.—The state convention of the Knights of Columbus of New Brunswick opened here this morning with some 30 delegates in attendance. State Deputy Bliss A. Bourgeois, of Moncton is presiding. The convention opened with high mass at St. Dunstan's church celebrated in attendance and upright at all times. He should keep in mind his duty to his King and to his church and fellow men. Protection of the widow and the orphan was an important duty. Another was to conform to the dictates of the duly elected officers in all things lawful.

The convention assembled in the rooms of the Fredericton Council No. 1942. His Worship Mayor R. L. Phillips extended a warm welcome. Their visit would be made as pleasant as possible by the Mayor. Dr. W. P. Brodie, of St. John replied. He referred to the fact that the membership now was some 800,000. It was his hope that this city work was carried on by the K. of C.

SPORTSMANSHIP.

(Toronto Globe.) The United States Rugby players at the Paris Olympic were hoisted by the mob because they refused to be escorted from the grounds under police protection. Such incidents make international bad blood, when there is a unique opportunity to foster international good-will. At nearly every Olympic or other world competition there have been similar scenes. They are also made really the spectators, not the players, are to blame; but if the true spirit of sportsmanship is no part of the crowd psychology, what service is rendered by these spectacular events? The desire to win is a natural passion, but the highest aim of sportsmanship has been directed to a resolution to observe the rules of the game and to show good manners in the measure in which the highest aim of sportsmanship has been achieved. The moral value lies in self-discipline and self-restraint, two wonderful aids in character-building. The physical benefits of sport are poor attainments when the ethical code is disregarded.

MEETING FROM LAW HEALTH ORGANIZATION

Important Topics are Discussed Today at Health Centre Gathering.

A representative number gathered this morning at the Health Centre to discuss the matter of a provincial organization to deal with the matters of Child Welfare, Social Hygiene and prevention of tuberculosis, in particular, and public health in general. Every town in the province was represented, and all were enthusiastic over the proposition to form a provincial law body to help create the proper public health measures in regard to public health measures.

Hon. D. Roberts, Minister of Health, presided. Dr. Gordon Bates, secretary of the Canadian Council of Social Hygiene, Toronto, and Dr. T. M. Steniewicz of Halifax were visitors, and both had inspiring messages. The progress of preventive medicine and the importance of the law in its sphere were set forth by Dr. Bates and Dr. H. A. Farris, the former dealing with social hygiene and the latter with tuberculosis.

Delegates.

The delegates registered this morning from outside points were: Dr. W. C. Kierstead, Fredericton; Mrs. Reid McManus, Moncton; Mrs. B. Somers, Dr. L. G. Pineault, Campbellton; Mrs. H. D. Morris, Chatham; Miss Agnes Herbert, Edmundston; Mrs. R. J. Miller, Grand Falls; H. H. Ritchie, Newcastle; Mrs. L. D. Moffett, Sussex; E. P. Wright, St. Stephen; Dr. W. D. Rankin, Woodstock; Dr. S. J. Collins, River Glade. Among those present from the city were Rev. Dr. Hutchison, Dr. H. A. Farris, Miss Hegan, Miss Brophy, E. L. Rising, Mrs. J. Owens, Mrs. G. W. Campbell, Dr. William Warwick and Miss Meikeljohn.

In the course of his address, Dr. Bates made a slashing attack on some of the literature exposed for sale on the news stands of the conference. He said that one of the best things the new organization could do would be to get after these publications and see that they were banned forever.

Hon. D. Roberts, Minister of Health, opened the meeting. Dr. William Warwick was unanimously selected as secretary.

Dr. Roberts then outlined the reasons for the calling of the conference. He referred to the six and one-half years in which public health work had been carried on in the province and the advances made. It was impossible, he said, to do anything without the support of the lay public, and in order to enlist their support in the campaign against disease, it was necessary to have a case and for child welfare work this conference was held. It was recognized that the state must lead, but the people must help if results were to be obtained. In the province today there was only one organization to fight tuberculosis—that in St. John, and this city they were proud of its achievements.

In combating venereal disease, the province had eight years of experience in various points and in this respect New Brunswick was well in the lead.

In regard to child welfare he said that in out of some 11,000 births in 1922 some 3,000 were not attended by a physician. This was a blot on the province.

It was not planned to have physicians at the head of this organization but to act in an advisory capacity. A general nominating committee to name officers for the three organizations was named by the chairman as follows: Dr. Rankin, Woodstock; H. H. Ritchie, Newcastle; Mrs. G. W. Campbell, Dr. H. A. Farris, St. John; Mrs. Miller, Grand Falls.

The following constitution committee was appointed: K. McLaughlin, Rev. Dr. Hutchison, St. John; Dr. Penault, Campbellton; Mrs. Reid McManus, Moncton; Dr. W. C. Kierstead, Fredericton.

Tuberculosis The organization of the Tuberculosis association was taken up and an address by Dr. H. A. Farris was heard. He read a telegram of regret from Dr. Woodhouse as to his inability to be present and an offer to contribute $1,000 to a general fund of an anti-tuberculosis campaign.

Dr. Farris said that in the province there were about 3,200 cases of tuberculosis and of these only 350 were being treated. The municipality of St. John was spending about $70,000 a year on fighting tuberculosis but many of the cases were not doing anything and strongly objected to paying for the care of those afflicted with this disease.

He cited the cases of five children in St. John who had died from tuberculosis in the past eight months. Tuberculosis was curable and it was preventable. In St. John the death rate had been cut in half and he hoped to see it still lower. In St. John three clinics were being held, one for children and two for adults, and under an excellent organization. Dispensaries were needed in every centre and a traveling physician was going all over the province visiting the clinics and organizing the provincial organization could bring this about. There were two ways to fight this plague. The first was to prevent advanced cases by having these clinics inspect the cases, while they were in the incipient stage and by bringing about better living conditions. He felt a big step in advance had been taken in getting the provincial hospitals to send their nurses to the St. John County Hospital for training. He felt a survey suggested by Dr. Woodhouse should be undertaken, possibly centering on Campbellton. In the campaign the rallying cry must be "save the children."

River Glade Superintendent. Dr. S. J. Collins, superintendent at River Glade, said that it was possible to say how many cases of tuberculosis there were in the province until a thorough survey had been made. Experience had shown that the disease could be cured, but even in advanced stages treatment might prolong life and enable the patient to remain in active employment.

Halifax Doctor. Dr. T. M. Steniewicz of Halifax said before any good could be accomplished there must be a public sentiment in favor of public health, and he believed such an organization proposed would be a big factor in creating that sentiment. He endorsed the plan for a traveling physician and an efficient public health nursing service to see to the cases.

Hon. D. Roberts referred to the grant from the Rockefeller Foundation for school inspection for public health work. He said that the work at the end of two years and now there was not a school in the province that was not inspected by a public health officer.

The question was asked if it was compulsory on the parents to carry out the orders of the medical inspector. Dr. Roberts said it was found impossible for the parents to have his orders carried out, the department of health tried to provide some other way of getting it done. If the order was not carried out the child could be kept out of school.

In addition to the school inspection there was needed the public health nurse. The order of the school inspector and the Rockefeller Foundation had agreed to finance, for a period of two years, two public health nurses to each sub-district. Board of Health provided the municipalities would carry on the work at the expiration of that period.

This would mean an expenditure of $4,800 a year for each county. Eventually this would be done and it was the work of the association to see that it was done soon.

Dr. Kierstead asked if the nurses were available and Dr. Roberts said it was planned to start a training school here at the Health Centre.

THE WRESTLERS ARE DOING WELL

That his charges are in the pink of condition, and may be depended upon to make a creditable showing, was a statement made by the Times-Star today by Walter O'Boole, who is coaching and instructing local boys in the art of wrestling. He said that he has the boys out every morning for road work, and after that they go through a drill on the mat.

Mr. O'Boole is now confident he will win his way to the big Olympic trials in Toronto. McCrossin, who is the 135 pound Maritime champion, continues to improve daily, and is expected to have little difficulty disposing of any opponents who will question his right to go to Toronto. Both Walter and Murray, the former 125 pounds Maritonic champion and Murray 112 and 115 pound Maritime champion, are also showing rare ability, and are expected to put up a battle royal at the trials here next week.

Marx Is Likely To Be Leader

WATER MAIN RENEWALS.

Good progress was being made with the laying of the new water main in Duke street, Commissioner Wignong reported this morning. The pipe has been laid from Sydney to Carmarthen streets, and it is expected to lay about 100 feet this afternoon between Carmarthen and Wentworth streets. In anticipation of the renewal of the present main in Carmarthen street a 12 inch water main was placed in the new main at the junction of Duke and Carmarthen streets.

CANNED FISH PAY HIGHER SALES TAX

Hon. J. A. Robb Refused to Accept Amendment by Stevens.

Ottawa, May 27.—In the Commons last night Hon. H. H. Stevens moved that "salmon and other fish, prepared or preserved, including oysters," be subject to sales tax at 2 1/2% instead of 5 per cent. It was observed that under the terms of the Stevens amendment canned lobster would be included.

Hon. J. A. Robb declined to accept the amendment. "I think it is a pretty fair tax on the boys who go out at night and buy lobsters and sardines," urged Mr. Robb. "They should pay something towards the administration of this country."

Then came a sub-amendment to make the reduction in the sales tax applicable to canned salmon. This was defeated, as was also the Stevens amendment. As the acting minister of finance was himself proposing an amendment, Mr. Meighen described the government as floundering around like a wounded whale.

Additions made to the list of goods exempt from sales tax are, calf, cattle and hog heads; wind mills and complete parts thereof; portable engine with boilers in combination, horse power and traction engines for farm purposes, and complete sets of their own boats.

Sir Henry Drayton moved that lobster should be subject to sales tax at the 1921 rate but his motion was lost. When the House rose, the sales tax was still under discussion.

FIVE BURNED TO DEATH; MAYBE 20

Fire Grips Men's Hotel in Newark—One Hundred Men There.

Newark, N. J., May 27.—Five persons are known to have been burned to death in a fire which broke out suddenly in the third story of the Windsor Men's Hotel in Halsey street, Newark, N. J., at 11:30 p.m. of Monday. The fire spread to the entire third and fourth floors, and enveloped several auto tire shops on the street floor. Three alarms were immediately sounded.

With more than forty lines of hose playing on the flames the fire continued beyond control. Chief Moore said he knew there were four bodies in the flame-ravaged structure, and that he expected to find at least fifteen more. Three bodies were brought out while the flames were raging. Two more were found on the top floor. More than 100 roomers occupied the building last night.

Perhaps there is no person more pleased over the wonderful accomplishment of Captain Greenlaw and the "Ocean Eagle" than F. M. Ross, manager of St. John Drydock and Shipbuilding Co., Ltd., who received wireless messages yesterday afternoon and last night from Captain Greenlaw.

The wireless message received by Mr. Ross was about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in which Captain Greenlaw stated that he had rescued five men; the other four were still clinging to the rigging of the "Mikado" and six bodies had been washed ashore.

The next wireless message was at 5:30 o'clock, from Captain Greenlaw, and came via Sable Island, stating that the "Mikado" had broken up; that he had eight survivors and one body on board. He was rushing to Canoe for doctor. The men had been hanging for 12 hours on the spars of the trawler.

Mr. Ross was loud in his praise of Captain Greenlaw, and remarked: "It is just what we would expect of Captain Greenlaw and his crew of 11 men. Captain Greenlaw has been in our employ for four years and has given the finest service any man could give the company. He is a fine type of a Nova Scotian."

Captain Greenlaw has many friends in St. John who will subscribe to Mr. Ross' remarks. The commander is a favorite with all who have had the pleasure of his acquaintance.

Paris, May 27.—(United Press).—"Born in 1922, 760,000 French against 1,450,000 German children." This is not only a statistical, but it is a catch-line employed by the National Alliance for the Increase of the French population, on circulars distributed about the country. The Alliance has organized a vigorous campaign for laws encouraging natality and the propagation of large families.

Nearly 100,000 placards have been printed and distributed by the Alliance which is an organization inspired solely to combat the decrease in the birthrate of France. One represents a French child cunningly guarding a small cake in its tiny arms, while beside him is a chubby German child, twice his size, coveting the cake.

The placards point out that in 1922 France was behind Italy in registered births, the latter claiming 1,600,000, and also Japan, which registered 1,600,000.

In discussing the situation the Matin says: "The position of France in regard to natality becomes more and more critical, while the Germans declare every day that they will take their revenge when our population becomes sufficiently weakened."

THE AVERAGE JURY.

There has been a great deal of talk in the Maritime Provinces and elsewhere in Canada, during the last few years, about the alleged failure of trial by jury. This has arisen from the fact that here and there juries in serious cases have failed to convict, notwithstanding an exceedingly strong public belief that the prisoner was guilty.

Sir Allan Aylesworth is one of the eminent legal authorities who now comes to the defence of the jury, and his testimony must carry some weight. In addressing the Ontario Bar Association last week he said that, as a result of his long experience, he had come to the conclusion that a jury of the common people is the best tribunal for deciding questions of fact.

In his opinion the average jurymen's actual experience with the affairs of life, and his desire to get at the truth and find accordingly, are factors of high value.

MR. MURDOCK'S $4,000.

Whatever is going to happen to Hon. Joseph Murdock, Minister of Labor, he seems to have been guilty of a very human weakness, and the Ottawa Journal, which is by no means friendly to the administration of the day, describes him as "more to be pitied than censured."

"Mr. Murdock," says the Journal, "simply went down to Laurier House, heard the Home Bank people tell the Prime Minister about the bank's impending failure, thanked his lucky stars that he was a cabinet minister, and, on his way back to lunch, dropped into the Sparks street branch of the bank and took out his $4,000. It was as easy as rolling off a log."

The matter is now before the parliamentary committee on elections and privileges, and the Journal points out that, while an inquiry intended to vindicate the honor and dignity of Parliament is quite in order, the incident should not lead to a political inquisition nor be used for political propaganda.

WORK FOR PRISONERS.

The Superintendent of the Canadian Penitentiaries in his last annual report spoke strongly of the need for systematic employment for inmates of all prisons and reformatories, pointing out that idleness has a bad effect upon discipline and upon the character of the prisoner, while employment of the right sort often produces most beneficial results.

Just now the New York Legislature has approved a plan of prison re-organization advocated by Governor Smith in his annual message, and in signing the bill he describes it as the most progressive step in prison legislation yet taken in that state.

A committee has been making a close study of prison conditions in New York since 1919, and it is noteworthy that the Chairman of the Commission, Adolph Lewisohn, has personally met the expense of the whole inquiry. The New York Times says of the new plan:

"The outstanding feature of the new law is that it provides for a modern industrial system in prisons under a competent a Superintendent as private industries demand. The prisoners are to be paid a reasonable wage, based upon what they actually do, and their parole is to be determined in some degree by their work record. This is beginning again where a beginning was made on a smaller scale just a hundred years ago and where, some time later, the want of the employment of sound industrial methods and because of hampering laws, the experiment left off. It is following, as the author of the bill reminds us, the specific recommendations of a Warden of the Tombs, made just fifty years ago."

"Let the prisoner share in his earnings, and let the percentage of his earnings increase at every stage of his advance; make the rules of conduct so stringent that it will cost great effort to gain all the credit marks. Introduce many of the most useful trades, let the prisoner have his choice to learn; take time to be freed from bad habits."

This is an act which The Times believes will offer an incentive to each prisoner to work hard and to be careful as to his conduct, so that he may gain a commutation of sentence or an early parole. There is the additional advantage that he is prepared to support himself by honest work after he leaves the prison. The temptation to resume a life of crime is thus undoubtedly reduced very materially.

HE GROWS IN CONTEMPT.

As time passes there are fewer references to the former Kaiser, and what is said concerning him only serves to add to the contempt in which he is held by the world at large. Some further light upon the character of the man who had so much to do with plunging the world into the horror and suffering of the great war is supplied by Mr. Wickham Steed, formerly editor of the London Times, in an article appearing in the Review of Reviews. Mr. Steed takes us back to the day of the Kaiser's famous Kruger telegram at the beginning of the Boer war. The editor was in Berlin when that telegram was sent, and his account of the Kaiser's conduct clearly brings out the contemptible qualities of the man at that time. Of the Kaiser, his methods, his vanity, his cowardice and still his desire to play with fire, Mr. Steed says:

"This telegram, which was by no means an authorized outbreak of the Emperor's personal emotion, had been drawn up after a conference at the Imperial Chancellery's Palace, where the Foreign Secretary, and the Secretary for the Navy had been summoned to consult with the Emperor. Had the German public then known how quickly the Emperor had changed his private bearing on hearing the explosion of wrath which his telegram had provoked in England, and on learning that a 'flaming sunburst' of British washings had been formed at Portsmouth, his enthusiasm might have abated. While Germany was still ringing with shouts of delight at his telegram, the Emperor, in full uniform, called, early in January, 1896, at the British Embassy, and, finding that the Ambassador was still in bed, brushed aside the servant who opened the door, ran upstairs to the Ambassador's bedroom and, sitting down on the bed, begged him to write at once to 'Granny' (Queen Victoria) to say that the telegram had not been intended to do any harm. 'Tell Granny I didn't mean it,' were his actual words. Nevertheless, the Emperor did nothing to allay the Anglophobia of his Government and his people. He played the double part which by aptitude or purpose, he was to play through the rest of his reign, always countenancing war-like tendencies, and always saying or doing something that might help him to prove a moral abject in case matters should go wrong."

Press Comment

IT SIMPLY CAN'T BE DONE.

(From the Omaha Bee.) There are a few things people expect, but which they will find very difficult to get.

They cannot get increased service from the Government at the same time they get decreased taxes.

They cannot have better schools without paying for them.

They cannot enlarge Federal bureaus and commissions without increasing expenses.

They cannot match dollars with the Government without putting up the dollars.

They cannot reduce taxes by voting big bond issues to pay for public improvements.

They cannot live on a higher plane than their fathers lived without paying more for their living than their fathers paid.

In other words, people cannot expect to get more for their money than the public mind and are acted upon, the tax burden will grow, the cost of living will increase and the problem of how to make both ends meet will grow more perplexing.

WHAT PULLS POPULATION?

(Canadian Forest and Outdoors.) Brought up as we are on newspaper talk and political speeches that identify the getting of population with the opening up of "farms," it sometimes takes us by surprise to learn that the forest is, in large sections of Canada, the best agent of immigration we have, and as regards millions of acres is the only member of the family of resources that can provide human sustenance. We have talked of population for so long in terms of prairie acres that we have entirely overlooked the fact that on eighty per cent. of the area of Canada there are no farming possibilities and forest growing.

Forest industries alone can attract people. We have equally forgotten that the deforesting of great areas of Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick has exiled those districts and the Dominion large bodies of population. In our hurry to greet new batches of immigrants we have neglected to consider the problem of where hundreds of once prosperous, well populated Canadian towns and villages have decreased in population or closed up shop altogether because of the disappearance of their forests, representing their reason for existence.

AN ODYSSEY BY RADIO.

(New York World.) Among the great stories of the world the greatest are the Odysseys, the tales such as Major Martin's account by wireless of his escape to the Pacific after the wreck of his plane—of men battling alone against the unrelenting genius of a planet which will never be tamed.

A flight of airplanes sets out to circle the earth for the first time; one of them dips into clouds over Alaska, strikes the side of a mountain, leaves its two occupants unhurt in a frost-bound, precipitous desolation. Instantly the face of the globe, which had been a relief map far below, takes on a different aspect. Mere man, robbed of his new gift of flight, is dropped in the midst of nowhere, his two legs stuck into four feet of exceedingly embarrassing snow. The game is changed abruptly. It is ten to one he will never get out alive. He accepts the revised rules, sets his wits and his body to work, pulls somehow through impossible hazards, eludes one by one the bloodthirsty Titans that defend the marches of the North.

MAINE'S TAX BURDEN.

(Bangor Commercial.) The cost of running the state of Maine today is about 14 times as much as it was half a century ago, according to figures presented by Professor Hornell of Bowdoin College. Naturally the cost of carrying on the state has increased, but the difficulty is that it has increased so much more than the valuation or the population. In this period the population has advanced 23 per cent, the valuation 168 per cent, and the state expenditures by 1,283 per cent.

The facts are apparent, and it cannot be denied that the burden of taxation of all kinds bears very heavily upon the people. The average tax burden in 1921 was $400 for a family of five and it has increased since that time. The situation is clear, but it is not so clear what is to be done about it. Seemingly there is little to be hoped from the national government. The bonus enactment is regarded as precluding any reduction in national taxation. Municipalities are hard put to prevent an advance in the tax rate. There is a chance, however, of reducing the state expenses if we can put the right people in the legislature, people who are determined that the orgy of spending shall stop. Recent legislators have appeared to consider that a certain line of expenditure having been adopted it must run on like Tenneyson's brook. Each legislature year finds the state expenditure increased. The time for a halt arrived years ago, but the halt did not come. In the interests of the people there should be a new course adopted by the legislature and there should be a wholesale cutting of proposed appropriation except for the absolute state necessities. When appropriations were small 20 or 30 years ago the legislature inaugurated the custom of extending help to many institutions and philanthropies. We believe that the time is now here when these helps, meritorious as they be, should be stopped. There should also be proration of the state department in the interests of economy. And now, when members of the legislature are about to be selected, is the time to make a start.

Robinson Crusoe's Gun

(New York Times.) What is surprising about the story that "Robinson Crusoe's" musket was sold in London the other day is the price at which it was knocked down to a speculative dealer, £215. It was a genuine relic, it went for a song. Thousands of pounds are paid for a faded copy of a dead author's book because it is rare, and yet the gun of deathless and heroic Alexander Selkirk goes for a paltry two hundred pounds. There seems little reason to doubt, says a London dispatch, "that this relic was the property of Alexander Selkirk, upon whose adventures Defoe founded his story of 'Robinson Crusoe'." The evidence given is that on the butt was rudely carved "Alexander Selkirk, 1701," with a seal crawling over a rock out in with the name. Selkirk was the seventh son of John Selkirk, shoemaker and tanner of Largo, Fifeshire. If it was Selkirk's gun, he must have carried it with him on the voyage to the South Seas, which began at the Cinque Ports in May, 1703. We must imagine Selkirk going aboard with the flintlock to act as sailing master. We must imagine the musket brought home and passing from hand to hand, or perhaps lost in an attic, for 203 years after his death in 1721. Defoe's "The Life and Strange Surprising Adventures of Robinson Crusoe" was not published until 1719. It ran through four editions in as many months, a fact that should have given a considerable value to the musket of Alexander Selkirk. And as the editions of this remarkable story, translated into most of the languages of the earth, accumulated what is priceless treasure the gun of "Robinson Crusoe" must have become Selkirk met Defoe in Bristol, told him the story of the exile on Juan Fernandez, and turned over his papers to that most wonderful of all reporters. Would not Defoe have covered the gun? How could the writer have lost sight of it? Identified and valued, traced down to 1924, its price should be well-nigh fabulous. It must be remembered that Selkirk was an intelligent man, hardly a simple mariner. He was master's mate of H. M. S. Weymouth when he died.

In the stranded ship of which Robinson Crusoe was the only survivor "there were two very good fowling-pieces in the great cabin and two pistols," which he secured on a visit to the ship on a raft, "with some powder-horns and a small bag of shot and two rusty old swords." With one of these fowling-pieces he at once shot a "kind of hawk," whose flesh proved to be so good that he had it carried to the island. "I believe," said he, "it was the first gun that had been fired there since the creation of the world."

When Robinson Crusoe departed from the island after twenty-eight years of adventure, he left his firearms behind him. But Selkirk was likely to have been more attached to the musket that supplied him with game. Even Defoe sometimes lacked imagination and was untrue to human nature. Nevertheless, this trusty weapon sold at Sotheby's the other day will be treasured as the immortal fowling-piece of Robinson Crusoe.

For if the soul of the circus is anything, it is the soul of the gypsy. I am the charm of the Out-of-Doors. The charm of blue sky, of fleecy white clouds.

Of sun and moon and stars. The burning, pulsing, throbbing stars. The red and silver and blue and golden stars.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

MRS. CRACKNUTS HAS GOOD LUCK

The Twins started out to deliver the things.

One day Mrs. Cracknuts telephoned to the store for some groceries. "I want two cents worth of soap," she said, "and one cent worth of tea, and five cents worth of butter, and a loaf of bread, and a pint of maple syrup."

"I'm sorry," said Nancy who had answered the telephone for Mister Bags, "but we haven't a drop of maple syrup left."

"Oh, dear!" cried Mrs. Cracknuts.

lady in a disappointed voice. "All right," said Nancy. "Thank you, Mrs. Cracknuts."

Mister Bags got the groceries all ready and put them into a basket and the Twins started out to deliver the things to Mrs. Cracknuts who lived in Maple Tree Flats.

They walked up the stairway inside of the big maple tree (their magic shoes made this very easy), and knocked on Mrs. Cracknuts' kitchen door.

"Come in," called the squirrel lady. "Just put the groceries on the table, please. I've got my hands in the dishwasher."

"Certainly," said Nick, opening the door and laying out the bread and butter and everything on the nice clean kitchen table.

"When will Mister Bags be having more maple sugar?" asked Mrs. Cracknuts.

"I don't think he'll be having any more," said Nancy, "because it's getting late in the season, he says, and the syrup has all run out of the maple trees."

"Well, I'm sorry," sighed Mrs. Cracknuts. "The one thing that Daddy and I love better than nuts even, is maple syrup. I just feel as though I couldn't stand it to have to do without it. Thank goodness those dishes are done. I'm hurrying to get through for the paper-hanger is coming. Something has leaked through my walls and made them all damp."

"That's too bad," said Nancy. "Why, it's running down onto the floor, too. It's all over your floor, Mrs. Cracknuts, and it's sticky."

"Sticky!" almost shrieked Mrs. Cracknuts. "Whatever can it be?"

"It's maple syrup," said Nancy. "There must be a whole tank of it in my wall."

"Oh, dear! How lovely!" cried Nancy.

"It'll make a stopper so it won't be wasted," said Nick. "And look a little piece of wood and stopped the hole."

Daddy Cracknuts and his wife had enough syrup to last them all summer, and enough for company, too.

Don't you wish you lived in a maple-tree?

Normal Weight Gains

The Mann child had long since outgrown the "baby scale," on which the pounds and ounces were regularly calculated.

But the Manns did not neglect to watch the growing child's weight, for this is of considerable importance. Statisticians, carefully charting the various weights for the young child, have arrived at the following figures:

At two years:
The boy should weigh slightly more than 28 pounds, and the girl 27 pounds.
Height: Boys, 33 1-10 inches; girls, 32 inches.

Three years: Boys, 33 pounds, and girls, 31 pounds. Height: Boys, 39 inches, and girls, 35 1/2 inches.

Four years: Boys, 36 pounds or slightly more, and girls, 35 pounds. Height: Boys, 38 1/2 inches; girls, 38 2-3 inches.

Five years: Boys, 41 pounds, 6 ounces; girls, 41 pounds, 3 ounces. Height: Boys, about 42 inches, and girls, 41 1/2 inches.

These are important years in growth, both in weight and height, and some, of course, grow more rapidly than others. The figures quoted are those of average normal children.

Don't neglect to watch your child's weight and height.

ANNOUNCE OCEAN 'PHONE SERVICE

London and New York Expected to be Connected in November.

New York, May 26—Some time in November a New York business man will lift the receiver of his telephone and speaking into the mouthpiece will exclaim: "Hello!" At the same instant a London business man will speak into a telephone in the British capital, inquiring: "Are you there?" This, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company announced Saturday.

DISCUSS SUCCESSOR.

At a meeting of the vestry of Trinity church last night the report of the committee on a successor to Rev. Canon R. A. Armstrong, retiring rector, was received. The matter will further be dealt with and will probably come before a meeting of the congregation some time in June. Routine business was also taken up.

Atmosphere Affects Service.

What will happen is this: Subscribers at each end will be connected to their radio stations by wire telephone lines. At the outset the service will depend largely upon atmospheric conditions, which change from hour to hour. But the wireless engineers are convinced they will be able to cope with static within a reasonable length of time.

Then again, on January 14, 1923, the company's president, H. B. Thayer speaking from 185 Broadway, was heard by a group of engineers in Ne Southgate, England.

The answers from London, however, had to be sent by cablegram. Now, winter the answer will be instantaneous, over the wireless telephone. Experts have found that owing to sudden changes in atmospheric conditions, it sometimes is necessary to use 10,000 times as much power to get audible speech across the ocean as it is at other periods.

Preliminary to the inauguration of the London-New York service, the telephone company is urging subscribers to think up bright things besides "Hello" to say when they get connected.

Finger prints are reported to have been successfully forged.

My Experience is that DR. CALDWELL'S LAXATIVE SYRUP PEPSIN Is just what you need

This Will Make Digestion Easy

WHAT the dyspeptic needs is not soda and charcoal and breath perfumes but a medicine that will help his bowels to move regularly, for dyspepsia and constipation are allied. If you will take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin systematically as the directions on the package call for you will soon digest your food properly and pass it out normally, and heartburn, belching, dizziness, nervousness and bloating will vanish. In time you can dispense with all medicines as Laxative Syrup Pepsin will have exercised the intestinal and stomach muscles so they act for themselves. Mr. E. N. Gagné, 338 St. Patrick St., Ottawa, Ont., Mrs. Urrish Stewart of Crouse-town, N. S., and hosts of others will verify this.

Red and Yellow Are Popular This Summer

New York, May 27.—(United Press).—Red and yellow are the most conspicuous colors used this season. Every window on Fifth Avenue is displaying these colors and every woman one sees has a bit of red or yellow or a mixture of the two colors adorning her Spring costume.

The largest department store on Fifth avenue has every window displaying red costumes, which vary from sports frocks, afternoon gowns, evening gowns, hats, etc., to bathing suits and accessories. There is not one other color in their windows, just one mass of flaming red! A block further up the avenue we find another shop with every window sponsoring yellow; yellow undergarments, yellow evening frocks, yellow shoes, gloves, stockings—everything yellow!

Each Spring some new shade is introduced to become the rage. This Spring, however, we find ourselves settling our tastes on plain yellow or red, or a lovely shade of yellow. These are very simple to make at home, although they cost as much in the shops as the more ornate beaded gowns. Ostrich banding comes in the most beautiful shades of red and yellow and trims many of our latest evening frocks.

Hats in Yellow Horseshair
Summery hats of horseshair will be popular as warm weather advances. Shops are showing these in yellow horseshair with wide brims and the single flower trimming at one side of the brim. If one is careful not to choose too deep a yellow, a hat of this sort can be worn with almost any frock, regardless of its color.

Yellow lingerie is becoming quite popular as flesh or pink lingerie this spring. Vests, step-ins, costume slips and brassieres and checks are shown in this shade. Peru lace makes an attractive finish for the yellow undergarment, although many simpler garments use lavender hemstitching as a finish.

As we have mentioned before, the latest hosiery shade is a pinkish yellow tone rather than the nude one. Gloves, likewise, follow the yellowish tones when worn with yellow-toned hosiery. Yellow handkerchiefs also adhere to the Summer color vogue.

Lines and organza frocks of yellow are shown in every shop in New York. Even yellow and white-checked gingham is being stressed for Summer wear. Except for evening wear the red frock is not as conspicuous as the yellow one, as red is rather a trying color to wear, being most becoming on very dark brunettes or ash blondes. Yellow, on the other hand, can be worn by almost everyone. The golden blond is more lovely in yellowish or golden tones than in any other color. The brunette usually wears yellow beautifully and the titian-haired woman is often painted by the artists surrounded by a yellow background. The sallown person is the only one who finds yellow unbecoming, but in these days of cosmetics there are few sallown days, indeed.

FASHION NOTES

Colored satin slippers are introduced for Spring wear. These come in red, green, orange and yellow satin, and are worn mostly for evening wear.

Chokers made of very large pearl beads are worn with boyish tailored costumes. Many times the pearls are as large as marbles. Natural pearl shades are those most frequently seen, although pearls of pinkish and greenish tones and pearls of gunmetal tones are also in vogue.

For evening wear the bandeau and the rhinestone ornament is being discarded in favor of the red or imitation flower. At a theatre the other night almost every young woman who wore an evening gown had a real rose tucked in her hair. They were then fastened at one side of the forehead pinned in the bobbed hair. Red and pink roses are the favorite shades.

HERE'S THE SHORT SKIRT STYLE AGAIN

Paris is Dictating Return—Likely 12 or 14 Inches From Ground.

New York, May 27.—Shimmering shanks will again be exposed to view next fall if the style creators in Paris are successful in putting over with the American manufacturers the new short skirt sponsored in the French capital. And because history repeats itself, it looks very much as if the graceful feminine curves will again attract the attention of mankind. Authority for the prediction is vested in the dictator of the American dress industry, David N. Mossosohn, executive chairman of the Associated Dress Industries of America, in New York.

According to Mr. Mossosohn, manufacturers of dresses who have been abroad are returning with models which carry the mode of fashion back a few seasons. It is easy to recall the days, it's recent history, when there was no debate about whether the woman's lower extremities formed a pair of convex or concave arcs—or in the vernacular, whether she was bow-legged or knock-kneed. The subject was very much hackneyed by the cartoonists.

Just when everybody, even the most modest sisters abiding far from the white lights of Broadway, had accepted the knee-length skirt as a joy forever Paris said, "Enough of that—we must change the style—use more material to stimulate the mill business and compel a complete change of wardrobe in the entire world. The long skirt is the thing now." And it went over because Paris said it had to. New Paris apparently thinks the women of the country have been wearing skirts long

Four tablespoons shredded pineapple, 1 shredded wheat biscuit, 1 cup consommé, 1 cup cooked vegetable salad, 4 ounces broiled shad with lemon juice, individual mold of cucumber jelly on bed of watercress, 1 new potato whole, minced parsley, 2 tablespoons string beans, 2 toasted gluten muffins, 1 bran roll, 1 pint skimmed milk.

Total calories, 1081. Protein, 274; fat, 289; carbohydrate, 508. Iron, 4019 gram.

In making your vegetable salad arrange the vegetables in neat sections. The eye must be pleased in order for this salad to be a success. This salad as calculated was made of two tablespoons asparagus heads, two tablespoons diced carrots, one tablespoon new peas, one tablespoon string beans and two tablespoons diced beets on a bed of lettuce. Two tablespoons lemon juice seasoned with salt and pepper and a bit of onion juice was poured over the whole.

Cucumber Jelly.

Two medium sized cucumbers, 1 small onion, 2 stalks celery, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatine.

Parse and slice cucumbers. Cook cucumbers, onion, celery and pepper in two cups of water until the cucumbers are tender. Rub through a sieve. There should be two and one-quarter cups of puree. Add lemon juice, salt and pepper and bring to the boiling point. Pour over gelatine softened in cold water and turn into four individual molds. Let stand on ice until cold and firm. Unmold and serve.

Total calories, 208. Protein, 71; fat, 12; carbohydrate, 120. Iron, 0008 gram.

Four tablespoons shredded pineapple, 1 shredded wheat biscuit, 2 crisp pieces broiled bacon, 1 fried egg, 1 cup consommé, 1 cup cooked vegetable salad mixed with 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 sardines, 1 cup cream of asparagus soup, 4 ounces broiled shad with 2 tablespoons lemon butter, 3 new potatoes in cream sauce, cucumber jelly on watercress with 2 tablespoons French dressing, 2 tablespoons string beans in cream, 2 pieces toast, 1 tablespoon croissants, 2 slices rye bread, 2 dinner rolls, 1 tablespoon currant jelly, 4 tablespoons butter, 1/4 cup cream, 1 pint whole milk, 1-6 lemon meringue pie, 1 strawberry cream puff.

Total calories, 4018. Protein, 422; fat, 1802; carbohydrate, 1791. Iron, 1019 gram.

The sardines can be used with the eye bread as sandwiches to accompany the vegetable salad. Remove the skin and back bone before using. The fish can be worked to a smooth paste with lemon juice or the fat sardine simply sprinkled with lemon juice. The food value will be the same.

Don't forget to fry the egg "gently." Intense heat and quick cooking will make the white tough with an unattractive brown coating on the under side of the egg.

Either the pie or the cream puff can be chosen for the luncheon dessert. As fish is present in both the luncheon and dinner menus a dessert with a fruit flavor is desirable.

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEHOLD

Keep Sink Clean
Always keep your sink clean because soiled pipes not only produce odors but draw vermin.

Cleaning Mops
A dish-mop should really be boiled out every day, but if this is not done, it should be kept for five minutes in a pan of boiling water.

Simple Ganape
The simplest of ganapes is the salt cracker spread with grated cheese, sprinkled with paprika and baked in the oven.

Improves Flavor
A tablespoon of chili sauce or catsup will improve the flavor of your meat sauce to be used on a meat loaf.

Dampen Dusters
Do your dusting with dampened or oily dusters so as not to spread the dust.

Banana Salad
Before using bananas for salads, roll them in grapefruit juice or lemon juice.

EDUCATION IN WORK OF CHURCH

Grand Rapids, May 26.—That Christian education is a basic requisite for a living church is one of the keynotes sounded in the first annual report presented today to the Presbyterian General Assembly in session here by the new Presbyterian Board of Christian Education. The report is made by Dr. William Chalmers Covert, general secretary.

In the reorganization and consolidation of Presbyterian agencies as now represented in the Board of Christian Education Dr. Covert finds that the Presbyterian church is at last undertaking to face the problems of Christian education with genuine educational earnestness, with well-recognized educational standards in mind, and with educational ideals dominant. A comprehensive programme of Christian education, making its contacts with age groups from the youngest children to university students, is now under way through a well-articulated organization of all Presbyterian educational activities. The comprehensive plan of the board carries its educational purposes into adult life. It also includes an educational approach to the practical subjects in the realm of temperance, moral welfare, and Sabbath observance, in the knowledge that Christian education holds the key to an intelligent and loyal church leadership and a truly patriotic citizenship.

Dr. Harold McA. Robinson, secretary of the division of Christian education in the home, church and community, says that only one child in four now receives any organized Christian instruction. In a typical American commonwealth, while 47 1/2 cents of every municipal dollar goes into public education, only 2 3/10 cents of every church dollar goes into the Sabbath-school.

Moral Welfare
For the department of moral welfare, Dr. Charles Scanlon, general director, said that slowly but surely the nation was accepting prohibition as the government policy of the country. He charged that appetite, anarchy and vice were at the base of opposition to prohibition. The Presbyterian church had been active in the prohibition movement from its beginning.

Discussing motion pictures, Dr. Scanlon demanded that the ideals of our young people concerning the family, social relations, religion, justice and honor must be safeguarded, and this, he said, could not safely be left to the discretion of half a dozen men who kept their eyes on the receipts of the ticket window rather than on the morals of the young.

Concerning divorce, Dr. Scanlon said that it was a rapidly growing social cancer seriously threatening the country's moral foundation, spiritual welfare and social integrity. In one state there were more divorces than marriages.

Dr. Harry L. Bowly for the Christian Education Board's Sabbath Observance department reviewed the work accomplished throughout the nation in fighting Sabbath desecration. Among the accomplishments noted were the stopping of naval manoeuvres at Galveston on Sunday, the stopping of a government Sunday air circus and army manoeuvres on Long Island, the defeat of the Sunday Business Bill in the New York State Legislature, the Sunday Sports Bill in New Hampshire, the Anti-Sunday bills in Massachusetts, the Commercial Sunday Sports Bill in Connecticut, and other anti-Sunday bills in Michigan, Wisconsin, New Jersey and elsewhere.

GUARD AGAINST ADVENTURERS

New York, May 27.—One of the many problems New York's police force will face during the Democratic convention next month will be to rid the city of characters known in police vernacular as "crashers" and "mashers." This task has been assigned to Captain Mary Hamilton, director of the feminine bluecoats. A crasher is a person, male or female, who craves excitement, company and entertainment and, not having the funds or the connections necessary for a legitimate satisfaction of the craving becomes addicted to polite "sponging."

The chronic crasher and masher, according to Captain Hamilton, are at ways seen at large public functions, political demonstrations, banquets, theatrical first-nights, big funerals, art exhibits and society weddings. They dress well. Their manners are irreproachable. They are, to all appearances, the acme of respectability and as police court records bear ample witness. "Sometimes we call them crashers," she explained. "We also know them, however, as 'chow-chasers' or 'outsiders' or 'bean-splitters'."

"How do we spot them? Well, perhaps a hostess will call upon us to oust an uninvited guest, or the guest at a hotel banquet finds her seat usurped by a stranger, and calls a house detective who in turn calls my department. Sometimes we are asked to escort them from theatres. Once we see one of them we don't forget, and we find the same faces turning up everywhere."

It has been Captain Hamilton's experience that big conventions bring out the crashers in full force. The entertainment functions are so large, so few of the guests are acquainted with each other, that the way of the usurper is easy. He, or she, takes in everything on the programme, dinners, theatres, auto tours, boat excursions, sightseeing rides, all free.

There will be all these during the forthcoming convention. And every crasher in New York will have a full date-book.

But Captain Hamilton will be ready for them for, as she says, "My force has its rogues' gallery well in mind, and orders will be to eject, either by persuasion or by force, every crasher we spot at any of the convention doings."

LAUSANNE TREATY
CORRESPONDENCE IS BEFORE COMMONS

The Question Raised as to Whether Canada is at War With Turks.

Ottawa, May 26—Canada's venture into the high channels of diplomacy, is recorded in the much discussed correspondence about Lausanne, that was brought down in the House this afternoon. If there were nothing more beneath the surface than what appears on the top, it would appear that the supreme curiosity displayed at Ottawa, and in London, was much ado about little. It all relates to the peace treaty with Turkey. When the gathering to frame it up, was to come off at Lausanne, the British Government notified the government here as to what, generally, were its plans, and was told to go ahead, but at the same time a strong mental reservation was made.

The Parliament of Canada, said the ministers, must be in the last analysis, the last factor as to the character and the extent of the obligations under the treaty which Canada would assume.

However, the thing went ahead, the conference was held, peace was concluded, and the essentials process of ratification followed.

The British Parliament has given its sanction, likewise, all the other Dominions, and the Irish Free State, but Canada stands on her diplomatic dignity.

No Obligation.

Through the present Government, she takes the position that as she was not at Lausanne, nor was a signature to the treaty that was concluded, there, Parliament is not obligated to give its sanction to an instrument in the making of which she had nothing to do. While the ground taken seems high and courageous, several points arise, which a parliamentary debate will shortly seek to determine.

For one thing, this Dominion appears in splendid isolation among the others in declining to sanction the peace with Turkey. Its failure to do so gives rise to the question, as to whether we are not technically still at war with the Turks. Refusal to ratify the peace conveys, in the opinion of some, at least that implication.

What is considered anomalous is that the Labor Government in the past should have returned to the secret diplomacy, and object to the full publication of the correspondence.

Parliament at Sea.

Parliamentarians who want to discuss the question—and there is a small group obsessed of the subject—know and care less—find themselves hopelessly at sea, in the abbreviated docket brought down yesterday.

Clearly, however, as Mr. Meighen elicited, the suppression is sought by the British Government.

Meanwhile stories are afloat as to what all the secrecy relates to, and although official color is lacking, the report is that France objected to the conference unless her possessions, like Algiers and Morocco and Tunis, were similarly treated.

At that particular time French officialdom seemed to exhibit more than a partiality for the Turks, and so, it is alleged, that Great Britain for the sake of peace gives in and did not call for Dominion representation, but instead sought a general mandate.

As it obtains at present, the situation seems gloriously indefinite. The Canadian Government imposes no objection to what Great Britain did before, or since the treaty, but declines to ask parliamentary sanction of the treaty in the making of which it had no part.

Moreover, it maintains that the character and extent to which Canada is bound, by the arrangement, is for Parliament, not it to decide.

An Imperial Treaty.

The alternate view is that, regardless of the Canadian Parliament, an Imperial treaty is binding upon all parts of the Empire, with or without the formality of ratification. Some commotion is caused, among those particularly interested in external relations, but it is over the head of the rank and file, who display little interest when the treaty is sanctioned or not, or whether in the event of failure to do so, the country is in a suppressed state of war with the terrible Turk.

Tabling the correspondence is a prelude to a large debate, which is supposed to clear the air, and determine just where the Dominion authority ends and the Imperial authority begins, and how, and where the two work in together.

The question incidentally will bring up the Imperial conference of last autumn, and the new definitions of joint and autonomous responsibility it is supposed to have made.

Budget Resolutions.

In the House today the day was taken up with the budget resolutions. Those relating to the tariff having been disposed of, the discussion related to the sales tax. The acting Minister of Finance displayed a willingness to expend the list of exemptions from the sales tax, and both certain kinds of cattle feed as well as additional farm machinery, were removed from the scope of the taxation. The Opposition critic, voicing complaints as to the number of firms—some 3,000—in arrears, brought from Mr. Robt the argument that, having regard to the $100,000,000 collected, the proportion outstanding is small, but he was not able to say how much this amounts to.

Break in Week.

Ascension Day, holiday on Thursday, will break into the week, but otherwise there is a promise of a good deal doing. Interest in the Church Union fight has dwindled a bit since the private bills committee disposed of the principle on Friday, but the bill is being proceeded with in committee, and the Unionists propose to carry the fight into Parliament. Bill or no bill, they declare that a United Church will be formed, and that its operation in a spiritual way does not admit of frustration by any judicial proceedings. It is clear, however, that any voluntary association of the character cannot take with it church property, especially when any dissentient element is to be reckoned with.

The House does not relish facing the Union Bill, and had hoped for its amicable adjustment in committee. As this was not possible, the bill was referred to pass the bill, but referring its operation for two years, to make its effect then contingent upon the courts sustaining the constitutionality of the Union. Indications point to the committee's recommendation being sustained, but not by a large majority.

What is going to happen in the Murdock case, causes a good deal of speculation. The money was deposited in bank and withdrawn, and that it is being returned. Conservatives charge that the withdrawal was due to the Minister's confidential knowledge of the bank's impending downfall, while Mr. Murdock is said to declare that he acted on the same rumors that caused others outside of Ottawa to withdraw the money at the same time. It is very likely that majority and minority findings may be made. If so, it will not be without plenty of precedent.

ZEPPELIN'S NOSE
IN MUSEUM HERE

Piece of German Airship
That Crashed in England Arrives.

The aluminum "nose" of a German Zeppelin, which crashed in England, is the latest addition to the war relics collection at the Natural History Society's museum. The conical piece of the Zeppelin, about a cubic foot capacity, arrived at the museum yesterday, having been sent from England by Dr. J. Clarence Webster, of Sheldale, but no further information regarding the fragment came with it. It is known, however, that there were comparatively few Zeppelins captured and that there are few similar relics to be had.

The big machine of which the "nose" was once a part must have taken a very swift tumble as the nose has become very much battered. It is made of aluminum of exceptional quality and on the outside is painted the regulation grey of the German air force. The nose will be placed with the other war exhibits in the museum which are among those that are especially interesting to the many visitors.

CAN'T BEAT "TIZ"
WHEN FEET HURT

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunions-tortured feet of yours in a "Tiz" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "Tiz" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all three out—just try "Tiz". It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and blisters.

There's nothing like "Tiz". It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture. A few cents buys a box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel.

SEEKS APPROVAL OF

Ottawa, May 26—Three notices of motion have been given by the Minister of Labor. They all relate to conventions adopted at International Labor conferences held under the League of Nations, and are notices of legislation to provide:

That the employment of persons under 18 in maritime navigation shall be conditional on production of a medical certificate testifying to fitness for such work;

That no person under 18 shall be employed in maritime navigation as stevedore or trimmer, excluding ships of war;

That in the case of loss or foundering of any vessel the service of a seaman shall terminate before the date contemplated in the agreement, he shall be paid unemployment indemnity for the days during which he remains in fact unemployed for a period not exceeding two months.

ROTARIANS HEAR
C. P. R. OFFICIAL

J. M. Woodman Speaks at Weekly Luncheon on Transportation.

J. M. Woodman, New Brunswick district superintendent of the C. P. R., was the speaker at the Rotary club luncheon in Pythian Castle yesterday and gave an illuminating talk on transportation. Mr. Woodman gave facts and figures concerning the number of freight cars and the number of passenger cars of the C. P. R., and described the processes of their care in various sections of the territory.

He pointed out how much the country was dependent on transportation for its development and growth, and stating that without means of transportation Canada would be no more advanced than the uncivilized sections of Africa.

Mr. Woodman gave impressive figures telling of the tons of freight which had been carried out from St. John winter port in the season just closed. Leslie Lang was in the chair. H. M. Jones, president, announced that the directors would hold a monthly conference with the committee chairman in the interest of the club's work. W. K. Haley announced that a singing quartette had been formed of club members.

Wide Canvass of Women Purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
50,000 Women Answer

For some time a circular has been enclosed with each bottle of our medicine bearing this question: "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

Replies, to date, have been received from over 50,000 women answering that question.

98 per cent of which say YES. That means that 98 out of every 100 women who take the medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it.

This is a most remarkable record of efficiency. We doubt if any other medicine in the world equals it.

Think of it—only two women out of 100 received no benefit—98 successes out of a possible 100. Did you ever hear of anything like it? We must admit that we, ourselves, are astonished.

Such evidence should induce every woman suffering from any ailment peculiar to her sex to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and see if she can't be one of the 98

"Eczema on My Face Completely Relieved"

Miss Winifred Ernest, Box 46, Blockhouse, N. S., writes: "Ever since I was a little child, I suffered with eczema on my face. At times my face was completely covered with large sores, and I tried nearly every kind of medicine that I heard of with no results. This lasted for over twenty years, until one day I asked the advice of my druggist, who bade me give Dr. Chase's Ointment a trial. After using the Ointment for a few days, the sores began to heal, and soon I was completely relieved of the disease."

Mr. K. W. Matheson

CUSTOMS OFFICER
GETS GREAT HELP

Sick and Ailing Since Return From Overseas, Mr. Matheson Finds Dreo a Wonderful System Builder and Thanks the Day He Started Taking It.

Here is another well-known Montrealer who has experienced the remarkable benefits of Dreo and doesn't hesitate to come forward on its behalf. Mr. K. W. Matheson is a popular and efficient officer in the Customs Service and an overseas veteran from the old 14th Battalion. Here is what Mr. Matheson, who lives at 1 Ross street, Verdun, has to say about this grand new herbal remedy.

"I suffered a great deal from gas on the stomach, especially after meals. I had a poor appetite on this account for after effects of this kind are bound to take the edge off any man's hunger. I also suffered terribly from pains across my back but since taking Dreo these and the stomach trouble have disappeared."

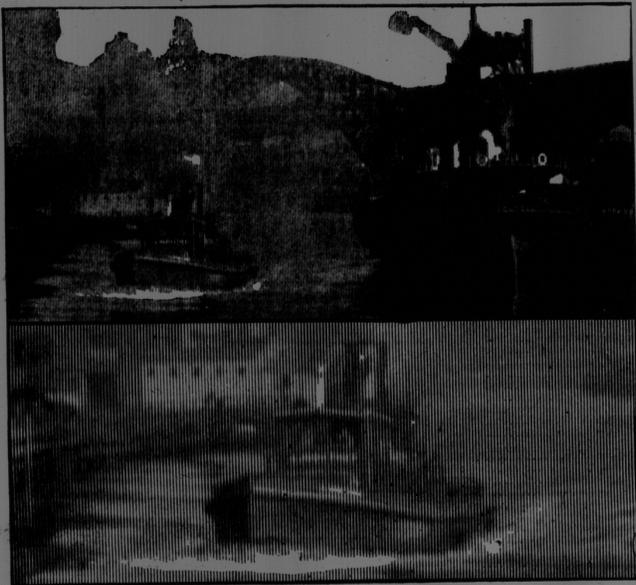

"I was gassed while overseas with the 14th Battalion and came back in a very much rundown condition. My nerves were in a very bad state on top of my internal troubles, and nothing seemed to pick me up."

"I have only taken three bottles of your famous Dreo but already my friends have noticed a big difference and I have felt a big change myself. I have gained six pounds in three weeks and feel better and stronger in every way. I rest well at nights and get up in the morning feeling refreshed and vigorous. I thank the day I started Dreo and will always give it my best praise."

Dreo will help you. It's pure herb, bark, root and leaf juices are nature's own system builders and every organ feels the benefit of their corrective and tonic properties. Let it help you! Dreo contains no mercury, potash or habit forming drugs.

Dreo is being specially introduced in St. John by Ross Drug Co., 100 King St., Moore's Drug Store, 105 Prince Edward St., F. W. Munro, 357 Main St., and in West St. John by Watson R. Dunlop. It is also sold in Fairville by T. H. Wilson, and by a good druggist everywhere.

LOCAL BOYS MAKE SPLENDID SHOWING

Dalton Covers 220 in 22 and 4-5ths at St. Joseph's College Meet.

"Tack" Dalton, South End boy, was the outstanding performer at the May 24 field day at St. Joseph's College when he took first place in the 100, 220, broad jump, and second in the pole vault. Dalton covered the century in 10 and 3-5ths, did the 220 in the fast time of 22 and 4-5ths, and made a remarkable jump of 21 feet, 1 and 2-3 eighths in the broad jump. M. Gaynes, another St. John boy, was high point winner for the day with 19, just one ahead of Dalton. Gaynes placed second to Dalton in the sprints, won the mile, was second in the broad jump and tied for first place in the high jump. A third St. John boy, Sarto Foley, annexed the quarter mile event. Foley also won the shot put. The only event not won by a St. John boy was the pole vault, in which Gallant, of P. E. I., did 10 feet, 3 inches. All the events were keenly contested, some good marks being made.

AIRPLANE SENT TO HUNT LOST LOGS
Great Drive of Pulpwood and Timber Lost in Quebec.
New York, May 26—Under instructions from New York a Canadian airplane has started from Menzobague Lake, in northern Quebec, to search for a lost drive of 80,000,000 feet of pulpwood and saw timber. The plane is manned by a Canadian war veteran and an expert forester and observer. E. H. Sterling, of James D. Lacey & Co., who left New York for Montreal Saturday night in connection with the search, said that slow melting of snow in the wilds had prevented the usual rush of water, and it is believed the log drive is hung up on shallows of the Gatineau River. If this is the case, fifty lumberjacks are cut off from the outside world and provisions will be needed for them, as well as dynamite for releasing the boom.

The airplane does not carry a radio equipment and will be forced to return to Menzobague Lake for wire communication if its search is successful. Mr. Sterling said a second plane would be sent if needed.

INSPECT PROPERTY.
The city commissioners paid a visit to the Lawton, McParland and Carrington properties yesterday and had the situation explained to them by Commissioner Bullock, the city engineer and harbor master. The proposition to purchase these properties and make an additional 800 feet berth at this point will be taken up in committee at an early date.

Senior—"A man who can read his paper in the same room with a boy about your age."

TRADE IN HUMAN BONES CHARGED
Political Scandal Threatens to Develop in Greece Over Incident.

London, May 26—A first-class political scandal threatens to develop in Greece. Attention is drawn to it by every newspaper in Athens, which publishes spirited protests against "the gruesome industrialisation of the consequences of the Asia Minor massacres."
This "gruesome industrialisation," says Reuter, is no other than the collection of human bones in order to sell them as "manure."
Greek circles in London received news from Athens yesterday that a Dutch steamer "recently" passed through Greek waters with a cargo consisting of 1,000 sacks of human bones, which were described on the ship's papers as "manure."
Other ships, it is alleged, are following with similar cargoes. So far it has not been discovered who is responsible for the traffic.
A double-decked, one-man bus, being used in New York, has a partition which enables the driver to see people on the upper deck.
A British chemist has been awarded the Davy medal for his years of patient research in an effort to find "dry water."

CUSTARD PIE—2 eggs, 1/4 teaspoonful salt, 3 tablespoonfuls sugar, 1 cup water, 1/4 teaspoonful vanilla, 1/2 cup Carnation Milk, few grains nutmeg. Beat eggs slightly, add sugar, salt and milk, diluted with water. Line a pie tin with pastry; pour in the mixture to which the vanilla has been added. Sprinkle the top with nutmeg. Bake in hot oven at first to set the rim, then reduce the heat as egg and milk in combination should be cooked at a low temperature. This recipe makes one pie.

PURE BRED SIRES COMING TO CANADA

London, May 26.—Several valuable pure-bred sires and mares belonging to the Prince of Wales have been shipped from Liverpool aboard the steamer Gracia en route to the Prince's ranch in Canada for breeding purposes. The consignment was purchased by the ranch manager when on his recent visit to England, and comprises four Clydesdales, including the three-year-old stallion Baron Blackwood; seven hunters, including the well-known steppelasher Irish Friar, and a Dartmoor pony. The pony is so small that it was brought to the steamer in a wooden crate.

PURE BRED SIRES COMING TO CANADA

NEWS NOTES GATHERED FROM THE WORLD OF STAGE AND SCREEN

MUSICIANS WILL BE FUTURE MOVIE DIRECTORS, PREDICTS SCHERTZINGER

Writers of Good Music Can Construct Good Drama, He Says.

(By Jack Jungmeyer.)

Hollywood, May 27.—From the ranks of music composers, rather than from writers and showmen, will come the great motion picture directors of the future.

So predicts Victor Schertzinger, who, as distinguished practitioner in both realms, is in his own right a person of a sort of Chinese twins.

Movie director for many years and violin virtuoso from early youth, Schertzinger wrote the first music score for pictures and has continued to pioneer effectively in this new field.

"Music and pantomime," he explains, "have a vital kinship. Both are projected from visions of the inner eye. Dissect any meritorious composition, any great symphony, for instance, and you'll find it built upon a wonderfully dramatic story, having in it all the elements of a romantic passion.

"The common denominator of the two is tempo. Anyone who has the soul pulse to write good music can construct good pictorial drama. If the tempo in a play is wrong, no matter how fine the piece or how great the enacting artist, it rasps with the 'blue note' of discord.

"The screen will come to perfection not when it has been given a speaking voice, as some argue, but when words are less music than when words are synchronized with wordless pictures to establish any shade of desired mood."

There was no vainglory in his comment. In film circles Schertzinger is accounted a prodigy of modesty, candor and usefulness.

From childhood in Philadelphia, Victor was oriented to a musical career. His mother, Pauline Von Weber, was the niece of Karl Von Weber, noted German composer, and herself a distinguished artist. At eight, Victor was violin soloist with Sousa. His youth and young manhood was a long series of musical triumphs. Today his recent romantic lyric, "Marchetti," has sold 1,700,000 copies, outstranding "The Rosary," "Just An Old Song," popularized from his score for "Robin Hood," was ordered placed in the Royal Library by the King of England.

Schertzinger has demonstrated that he knows the way to the folk heart through melody.

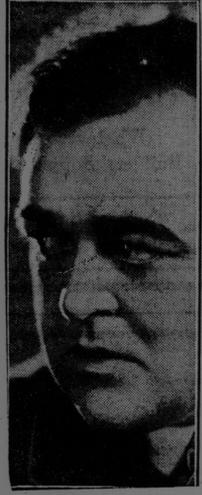

Devotion to music clouded his youth, but his fiddle saved the family from total financial wreck—as poignant a story as he has ever put on the screen, as he tells it.

"I always had to be dressed up," he recalled whimsically. "Regular Little Lord Fauntleroy. How I hated those clothes. And how the kids used to jeer at me! And whenever I left home the final word on warning from my dear mother always was, 'Now be careful of your hands.' No baseball for me. No games. But the first year in college I made up for lost time, getting myself thoroughly bashed up in football.

"Mother used to put aside all my earnings—and they were immense for a boy in those days—and these savings enabled us to come to California when the financial smash came for father. We arrived here precisely with a harp, a fiddle, a piano and a grandfather clock. About the fiddle and the clock I built the home in Hollywood and started my career in films."

His services as director are almost in equal demand. Through romanticist, he works almost wholly by inspiration, frequently engendered by a sensation with his precursors Stravinsky. He wrote the music for Fairbanks' "Robin Hood," 63 numbers, in five hours.

A big, vital human with the sensitive soul of the poet, weaving music

"Between Friends" Has Startling Climaxes, Mental Telepathy Figures.

Mental telepathy in triumph over human failure in saving a man from taking his own life in a suicide pact furnishes a gripping climax to the picture of Robert W. Chambers' novel, "Between Friends," which was shown at the Queen Square Theatre last night.

This intensely interesting story as filmed for Vitagraph under the personal supervision of J. Stuart Blackton, is a depiction of a segment of life of New York co-incident, and like most of Chambers' brain children, teems with suspense, tells a convincing story and works to a climax which keeps the audience guessing right up to the final scene.

Low Tellegen, Norman Kerry, Stuart Holmes, Alice Calhoun and Anna Q. Nilsson are the leading players in the remarkable cast assembled by Vitagraph for this production.

This picture will be shown tonight and tomorrow.

DEMPSEY IN NEW SERIES
Jack Dempsey has begun work on the third of the series of fight pictures he is making for Universal. The tentative title of the third is "Received—An Orphanage" and it is being directed by Jess Robbins. The supporting cast includes Eugenia Gilbert, Esther Ralston, Chuck Reisner, Hayde, Stevenson, Ed Kennedy, George Ovey and Tom McGuire. The series is being adapted for the screen by Scott Darling from original stories by Gerald Beaumont.

Auction Widens Gift Choice

The range of the $100,000 Jewelry Auction at Ferguson & Page takes a larger view today and tonight of ornamental jewelry.

Pearls, Rings, Bar Pins and such will appear oftener on the programme along with various other Gifts-That-Last of special appeal to ladies, at popular prices adjusted by the public.

The well-known extent of the Ferguson & Page collections in these groupings might make it seem they will crowd the list of offerings, but it is to be remembered that you can select anything for special Auction. Furthermore, the great bulk of other good things still holds good in both variety and numbers. So there will be much ado with Silver Tea Services, individual pieces of Sterling Silver, Cut Glass, etc.

Come today at 3 and tonight at 8 o'clock.

Jackie's Mother Wore Them First

Jackie Coogan comes honestly by his celebrated "enduring rags"—his mother wore them first.

According to Will R. Walling, veteran actor of stage and screen, who is arranging a leading role in Jackie's adaptation of Willard Mack's original story, "Little Robinson Crusoe," Jackie's mother, thus garbed, used to seat herself in Walling's lap and continued child actress, and Mr. Walling played thus to do for a period of forty-eight weeks, which was the term of the life of the old California Stock Company, in which Mrs. Coogan won fame as a paternal role.

Y. W. C. A. STAGES A DELIGHTFUL SHOW

Four Act Comedy Drama and Specialties at the Opera House.

Considering the amount of time and energy which must have been expended in arranging the entertainment which was put on in the Opera House under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A., the attendance at last night's performance was, to say the least, disappointing. Those who did attend, however, were amply repaid by witnessing a bright, snappy entertainment and some clever amateur acting.

The principal item of the programme was a four-act comedy drama, produced under the direction of Theodore H. Bird, called "Why She Loved Him."

The cast of characters was as follows: Pauline St. Clair..... Carrie Bailie Mrs. John St. Clair..... Pauline Baird Lena Worth..... Olive Estabrooks Chick Worth..... Gertrude Robinson Nelson Oak..... Gordon Nicholson Henry Worth..... Harold Taylor Robert St. Clair..... David M. Legate Larry O'Moore..... William MacGowan Owen O'Kelly..... Harold Finley Jerry O'Grady..... Theodore H. Bird

Miss Bailie gave a clever impersonation of the girl of wealth whose hand was sought by the villain, who attempted to get her brother accused of a crime which he himself had committed. She was particularly effective in her scenes with the scoundrel. In the latter part, Mr. Nicholson had perhaps the most lengthy part in the show, but he handled it in a convincing manner and made himself thoroughly hated by the audience.

Mr. Bird, as a misguided tool of the villain, who afterwards found himself and won the love of the heroine, gave a good account of himself.

Miss Baird had a motherly character role, which she presented in good style, and Misses Estabrooks and Robinson, in ingenue parts, both made a good stage appearance and carried their share of the story well.

Mr. Legate acquitted himself well. The bulk of the humor of the piece was derived from the role handled in a fine manner by Mr. MacGowan, while Mr. Finley's part, though small, was well put over.

The entertainment opened with an opening chorus, for which the soloist was Mrs. F. G. Spencer. She was assisted by Victoria Wetmore, Billy Wetmore, Daniel McInerney and a chorus of a large group of children, who made a wonderful sight as they sang the finale.

After the first act, Miss Ermaline Climo sang in a delightful manner "Somebody," in which she was assisted by a chorus representing opera boys and girls, Greecian boys and girls, summer boys and girls, Chinese boys and girls, flower boys and girls, bathing boys and girls, Spanish boys and girls and bubble girls.

This was followed by a solo, "Just Like a Doll," which was excellently rendered by Miss Florence Dunham. "Where the Lazy Daisies Grow" was the subject of a female impersonation by a mysterious individual named Maide, in which she was assisted by a chorus of 40 boys and girls. William MacGowan rendered in fine style a solo, "Fancy Nancy Clancy," which was repeated by Little Frank Ellsworth and Michael Fitzpatrick, and was one of the best numbers of the show.

"Tumble In," with a solo by Miss Ethel Parlee, was a dainty specialty in which a large chorus, the ladies of which wore attractive paper costumes assisted, and the production was brought to an end with a grand finale in which all participated.

The stage settings were attractive and showed the result of a perfect endeavor on the part of those handling the affair.

SAMMY COMPLAINS.

Sunshine Sammy, world famous little comedian and formerly featured player in Hal E. Roach's "Our Gang" comedies, has a complaint to enter. A short while ago Sammy found that he was unable to accept a renewal of his contract with Roach owing to financial differences. So after eight years of almost constant work before the motion picture camera his father, Joseph Morrison, well known candy manufacturer, promised Sammy a good long vacation.

Sammy, in his aforesaid complaint, says the following routine hardly constitutes a "vacation"—"Three to four hours a day study under his special teacher, Miss Zenovia Frierson. One hour violin lesson each day from James B. Warren. Miscellaneous and incidental other hours spent in perfecting himself in fencing, boxing, wrestling and in his spare moments he composed a wonderful waltz, "Sunshine Sammy is a Good Old Scout."

JACKIE'S NEW ONE.

The temporary title of Willard Mack's second story for Jackie Coogan is "Dirty Hands." The first "Little Robinson Crusoe" is now in production and nearing completion on the Metro lot. "Dirty Hands" completes the four picture agreement between Marcus Loew and Jackie, and will be delivered late this summer just prior to Jackie's departure to the Near East where he will take the "million dollar milk cargo" to the starving orphans of Syria, Greece, Armenia and the Holy Land.

THEY'RE THE "CUNNINGEST" STAGE CHILDREN

The National Stage Children's Association has selected this quartet as four of the cunningest children in America. They are, left to right, Jean Daske, Lillian Ostrun, Eleanor Owocker and Margaret Liebman.

BADMINTON CLUB GIVES GOOD SHOW

Trinity Players Score a Big Success in "Cappy Ricks."

Trinity Church Badminton Club gave an excellent presentation of "Cappy Ricks" to a greatly appreciative audience in Trinity school room last evening.

The play was realistically arranged both for the interior scene in Cappy Ricks' shipping office, and the garden scene outside the family dwelling.

Marjorie Johnston, as Cappy Ricks' daughter, played the part with charm, and proved herself a veritable "chip off the old block." Miss Maude Magee, as Cappy's sister, showed a good grasp of the requirements of the part.

Miss Elsie Gilbert as the stenographer was irresistible.

The work of Rev. C. J. Markham as Cappy, the retired old sea dog, was able old character, was portrayed with understanding and vim. Harold Herd played the clever young hero, Captain Matt Pansley, in his usual good form.

Paul Walsh, as Skinner, Cappy Ricks' confidential clerk, was right up to the mark; and Edward Walsh, as the old block, provoked many a good laugh. James Little played the double role of Singleton, the lawyer, and Brookfield, the chauffeur, in a capable manner.

During the shifting of the scenery, Robert Holder, delighted the audience by his singing, and between the second and third acts, Mrs. Isaac Murray gave a vocal solo with her usual sympathy and expression. Miss Johnston was the accompanist. The play is to be repeated this evening.

The proceeds are to help defray the expense of recent improvements in the school room.

TESTIMONIAL TO ROBERTS.
"Theodore Roberts Testimonial Night" was the title given by Sid Grauman designating last Wednesday night at the Hollywood Egyptian Theatre, which he set aside for the purpose of paying a mighty tribute to the "Moses" of the "Grand Old man of the screen" who is now well on his way to complete health after his life had recently been despaired of.

To say that the event proved a "howling" success is merely stating facts in a whisper. A complete list of the celebrities who gathered to do Mr. Roberts' homage would make any novice a "Blue Book" read like a kindergarten primer. Those unable to attend sent wires, literally hundreds of which were posted in the court-way of the theatre. A cable from Doug and Mary from the Crillon Hotel, Paris, France, being accorded the position of honor.

FATTY MOON'S RECORD.
Fatty (Billy) Moon, Hollywood's new 350 lb. laugh-producer of the movies was formerly a European actor of considerable renown and successfully appeared in many of their leading attractions, such as the English opera "Netus," the old Danish

Jeanne Gordon, Metropolitan Opera contralto, cared more for her art than she did for her husband and child, Ralph K. Trix, wealthy Detroit real estate man, charged in his divorce petition. FILM MASTERPIECE SHOWN AT IMPERIAL

"Hunchback of Notre Dame" is Produced on a Magnificent Scale.

The audience which assembled at the Imperial Theatre last night to see the first presentation here of the widely heralded Universal production "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," witnessed a picture as beautiful, as profoundly stirring, as anything ever hoped for.

Universal has taken Victor Hugo's famous novel and converted it into a production that will reach a great many more people and impress them more deeply than the book ever did.

The conversion process has not been a polite one in that some changes were made, but they are changes that were made for the better. Entertainment is for all people and it was thought only right to make changes in points that were offensive.

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame" has been produced on a magnificent scale. The settings are magnificent beyond words and stamped with authenticity and fidelity to detail that places them far above anything that has come out of Hollywood heretofore.

It would be unfair to pass upon this fine picture and not give a due share of praise to the Imperial's splendid orchestra and Miss Kathryn Gullivan's singing. Both were delightful.

Ernest Torrence appears as Clopin, the King of the Underworld, and does some remarkable work. Every member of the cast deserves praise. "There is Patsy Ruth Miller, an adorable creature, playing the role of Esmeralda, the dancing girl; Norman Kerry, Tully Marshall, Nigel de Bruiler, Brandeis Hurst, John Cossar, Kate Lester, Gladys Brockwell and Eulalie Jensen.

The pictures opens exactly as does the book, with the Festival of Fools. Universal contends that $1,500,000 was expended on the production. Months of research went into the production and it is evident from start to finish. Nothing more thrilling has ever been screened than the scenes in connection with the storming of the Cathedral.

Robert G. Vignola has started preparations for the filming of "Mrs. Parson," Louis Joseph Vance's story, which will be Vignola's first special production for the Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer.

Signs With Selwyns

The lovely Elizabeth Ponsbury, daughter of the Socialist under-secretary of foreign affairs in the British cabinet, who has been signed up by the Selwyns for appearance next fall on the American stage.

CLAIRE GOING TO GOLDWYN.
Immediately upon completion of Hunt Stromberg's production, "The Siren of Seville," Claire de Lorez, promising screen player of the year, will move her make-up box from the Thos. H. Ince studio to Goldwyn's where she is to play a part in "Circle," the newly consolidated Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer production.

GRAND JURY BRINGS IN TWO TRUE BILLS

Gardiner and Pollock Will Stand Trial for Criminal Offences.

True bills in both criminal cases on the docket were returned by the grand jury today in the County Court before Judge J. A. Barry. CADET CUP ON EXHIBITION.

There is an exhibition in the King street window of W. H. Thorne & Co. a handsome cup presented by Col. J. S. Houlston for competition among the officers of the Cadet Corps in St. John. The competition will be held annually and the officer in any of the local corps who is judged best trained is the winner for the year and will have his name engraved on the stem of the cup. The cup does not become the property of any individual but of the institution which his corps represents, and must be won three times by the same corps to become its permanent property. It was announced this morning at Cadet headquarters that the new uniforms were expected to arrive before the end of this week and if received on time there would be a church parade on Sunday next.

OLD FORT CHARNISAY.

A boulder-type marker designating the site of Old Fort Charnisay has been placed in position on Tilley Square, West St. John. It is a well balanced grey granite boulder, which was taken from the beach near the Imperial Oil Works, and weighs approximately 10 tons. A tablet containing a brief history of the old fort has been placed on the boulder. The work of erecting the marker was supervised by J. M. Byrne, civil engineer in the service of the Historic Sites and Monuments Commission, Ottawa. Those who have seen the marker claim that it makes a very fine monument.

MORE BOYS GAMBLING. Police Constables Ross and Gaudet, while patrolling their beat in Prince Edward street last evening, noticed a group of boys intently engaged "shaking dice" and calling out an old familiar cry "Come to me boys."

Realizing that the boys were gambling the policemen started towards the group and calling out an old familiar cry "Come to me boys."

The boys in their mad haste to get away forgot the dice and their stakes, which consisted of eight coppers. These were confiscated and turned in at police headquarters.

ATHLETES HAVE A FIVE MILE HIKE

Olympic Aspirants in Fine Fettle and Going Strong.

A five-mile hike through the country was the order issued by Coach Johnny Dee to his Olympic aspirants at the training camp in Rothesay this morning. He felt that the usual routine would be beneficial, and did not hesitate to change his orders accordingly. The boys are in perfect condition, and kept up waiting for the trials which are to be held in Moncton next week.

When asked this afternoon by a Times-Star reporter how the different athletes were standing up under strict training regulations, he said they were all happy and contented and were determined to win a place on the Canadian Olympic team. The sprinters, he said, were in fine fettle, and just waiting for the word that would allow them to let out. However, he said, he has no intention of permitting them to give their best efforts until the proper time comes, for fear they will go stale. This is another reason why he is varying his programme. The jumpers have been forbidden to perform until new shoes arrive for them. He explained that the shoes they have are in bad condition, and he fears that they will sustain an injury unless they have the proper protection. New shoes have been ordered but have not arrived, and as a result the boys who are bidding for honors in these events will have to content themselves getting into proper physical condition.

Speaking about Andrew "Beef" Malcolm, Coach Dee said this boy has the makings of a champion. He is young and possesses great strength, and when he acquires the proper method of heaving the 16 pound shot he will surpass his friends and admirers. Last evening he hurled the shot 29 feet 10 inches, which is an exceptional fine throw, and if during the course of training he can add a couple of more feet to it he should have no difficulty making the Canadian Olympic team. However, Coach Dee said it is not fair to expect too much from him, as he was never properly trained, and is only learning the proper method of using his great strength and weight in the correct manner.

IS OPPOSED TO VOTE IN SIMONDS

Meeting of East St. John Community Club Passes Resolution.

Opposition to the holding of a plebiscite set for June 9 on the Simonds Sewerage Act was expressed at a meeting of the East St. John Community Club last evening, with C. Weldon in the chair. By resolution it was decided to call a general meeting of ratepayers at the earliest practicable moment to discuss the matter. A committee, consisting of J. W. Fiewelwing, Rupert Taylor and H. Saville, was named to secure information on the bill and why a plebiscite is now being called for when by plebiscite one year ago the bill was defeated by a 2 to 1 vote. It was the opinion of the meeting that the plebiscite should not be held unless asked for by a body of ratepayers in the district affected, as this was more of a district affair than of parish concern.

The meeting also decided to complete repairs at once to the street car shelters and also to hold a social in the club rooms on June 9, after which the general meetings will be discontinued until the second Monday in September.

MT. A. MAN IS TO SING AT WEMBLEY

Earl Spicer One of Two Canadian Soloists Who are Chosen.

Earl Spicer, B. A., a graduate of Mount Allison University and of the Conservatory of Music, later studying in Europe and London, England, will be one of two Canadian singers chosen as soloists at the Canadian week of the British Empire Exhibition. Mr. Spicer has been singing in the British Isles all winter and has been the guest of distinguished English people residing in Portugal—Sir Herbert and Lady Cook. Their estate, he says, is very extensive, producing every plant from the sturdy Scotch heather to the most delicate tropical plants in the valley. The pine is seen above, while the luxuriant tropical trees are a chief feature of the wonderful grounds surrounding the mansion home of his friends. He describes going to church on Easter Sunday morning and then taking in a bull fight in the afternoon of that day. In a letter to W. Grant Smith of this city, Mr. Spicer tells of pleasure in the contemplation of a visit to his home in Nova Scotia this summer. He may call on his St. John friends while in the Maritimes and may be persuaded to sing at some public assembly or at Centenary church.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR FARMERS

Season Backward, But Seeding Will Now be in Full Swing.

There is no reason for any alarm regarding conditions throughout the province, was a statement made to a Times-Star reporter today by Hon. D. W. Mercer, Minister of Agriculture. The season was very backward and many farmers had not as yet got their potato or other crops in the ground, but he predicted a change for the better in the near future, and the work of seeding could go ahead without delay. He was confident that the crops will be in abundance when the harvest season came around. He said that he was receiving reports from district representatives, and all were that conditions in general were favorable. He said he planned an inspection trip to Carleton and Victoria counties, following a meeting of the Government next week, and while there would have an opportunity of personally studying conditions. He will return to Fredericton tonight.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram" said The Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "I read that some boys in Vancouver are charged with 'throwing stones.'" "I dawning you might read that about boys in 'Australia,'" said Hiram. "Boys is boys—an' a few thousand miles more or less don't make 'em no different. But that ain't sayin' they're always bad boys."

"By the way," said the reporter, "if we had a system of simple religious instruction in the schools as they have it in England would there be no bad boys at all?"

"Well," said Hiram, "I was readin' the other day where the Bishop o' London told about the Church of England Temperance Society havin' 155 missionaries workin' in 392 courts; an' where Lord Haldane said the judges had to send heaps o' boys an' gals to jail because they was no proper sort o' juvenile court with probation officers. It said, too, that a bill was to be passed in Parliament to appoint regular probation officers—to help out the other ones. I guess boys an' gals ain't much different in England from what we have here—no, sir."
