

THREE CANADIAN CITIES WILL FIGHT LIVING COST

Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg to Ask for Federal Enquiry.

DECIDE PUBLIC MUST KNOW ALL REASONS.

Present High Price is Attributed to Various Causes—Civic Officials Pass Resolutions Urging Importance of Investigation at Once.

Montreal, Nov. 23.—Dealing with the problem of the high cost of living in Montreal, and asking the Dominion authorities to investigate conditions here, the controllers today passed the following resolution, which will be submitted to the City Council on Monday.

"In its anxiety to bring about a solution of the problem of the high cost of living, which is at present alarming the public, the board of commissioners deems it advisable to point out the urgency of giving serious consideration to this all important question, at least as regards the City of Montreal.

"If such be the case, the reasons for this state of affairs should be made public, in order that remedial measures may be adopted.

"This question is occupying the public mind with reason, and it is evident that the high cost of living is not entirely due to the limited production, but is also attributed to various and complex causes which should be clearly defined, in the interest of the city of Montreal, as well as for the good name of the city abroad.

"Numerous complaints are being made in this connection. The cost of living is higher than anywhere else, if the information supplied is to be relied upon.

"It is unexplainable that the cost of living should increase in Montreal in spite of the increased facilities of transportation and storage as well as the establishment of cold storage plants."

Will Study Question.

"For these reasons, the board of commissioners is of the opinion that this important question should be studied without delay, and it recommends to council a resolution be adopted, praying respectfully the Dominion government to adopt such measures as may be necessary, in order that this question of the high cost of living in Montreal may be thoroughly considered, and that the government remedial measures in the event of there being no other alternative to relieve the present situation."

In Toronto.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 23.—The Board of Control this morning decided to ask the Dominion government to appoint a commission to investigate the high cost of living in the city. The resolution which was adopted is as follows:

"That the Board of Control request the City Council to pass a resolution, making a formal request of Right Hon. Mr. Borden and the government of Canada to appoint a commission to investigate the conditions in the Toronto districts regarding high cost of living."

In Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 23.—The Board of Control took definite action this morning on the question of the high cost of living in Canada when a resolution by Controller Cockburn, calling on the Dominion government for an investigation was unanimously adopted and sent to the council.

THE REBELS ADVANCING ON FEDERALS

General Villa's Troops Moving to Attack Chihuahua.

REPAIRING TRACKS ON THE WAY SOUTH

Expect Battle at Villa Ahumada Where Federal Troops are Marooned—The Leaders Very Optimistic.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 23.—The movement of General Villa's troops to the south to attack the general stronghold at Chihuahua was begun today, when nearly 1,000 men under General Hernandez departed from Juarez. They accompanied a work train used to repair the railroad line which was destroyed in places below Juarez by the federal forces who retreated southward after the Tierra Blanca battle.

Another troop train is being loaded in Juarez tonight and will probably leave for the south tomorrow morning. General Villa will leave with the remainder of his troops, going toward Chihuahua.

Rebel leaders believe they will have a fight with the federals at Villa Ahumada, 82 miles south of Juarez, as the federal troops defeated at Tierra Blanca are marooned there.

BONAR LAW CHALLENGES GOVERNMENT

Unionist Leader in Dublin Defies Asquith's Supporters to Arrest Sir Edward Carson and Suppress Ulster's Force

Dublin, Nov. 23.—Mr. Bonar Law addressed an immense meeting tonight in the Theatre Royal and also an overflow meeting. He argued that the attitude of Ulster alone justified the demand for an appeal to the country.

He challenged the government, if they believed they had moral right behind them, to arrest Sir Edward Carson and suppress the armed movement in Ulster.

The streets tonight were crowded. Students marched in processions, and smashed windows in tram cars and buildings. Some shots were fired, and the women were wounded. The police were kept busy preventing strays of various kinds.

SUN WORSHIPPER'S TEXT BOOK PRONOUNCED TO BE OBSCENE

Ottoman Zar Adusht Hanish, "High Priest of Mazdaznan" Appears to be in Rather Bad Fix in Chicago—Took One Chance Too Many.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 23.—Ottoman Zar Adusht Hanish, "high priest of Mazdaznan," and lesser of the Mazdaznan cult of sun worshippers, said to number about fourteen thousand in different cities, was found guilty by a federal jury here today of sending obscene literature by express in violation of the Interstate Commerce laws.

He may be sentenced to five years or $5,000 fine, or both.

The verdict brands as unfit for circulation the text book of the cult. The book was read to the jury, and almost no other evidence was offered by either side. The book preserved sun beds and herb remedies, but its striking feature was that objected to by the government was a treatise on sex relations.

IF ST. JOHN LOSES THE G. T. P. RY. TRAFFIC LIBERAL GOVERNMENT IS TO BLAME

Some Facts Which the Telegraph Did Not Show in Its Map.

PUGSLEY RESPONSIBLE FOR VALLEY LINE DELAY

But if Transcontinental Railway Had Been Permitted to Follow its Logical and Natural Course There Would Now Be No Occasion for Alarm.

Herewith The Standard publishes a reproduction of the map appearing in the Telegraph on Thursday morning, and which was then used as a basis of an article which declared in part that if the link of railway from Napaogagan to Fredericton were not speedily completed, and the Valley Railway extended from Fredericton to St. John, this port would be in grave danger of losing the freight from the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

The Standard has ventured to take certain liberties with the map which, while retaining all its salient features, now has the added advantage of demonstrating in readily understandable form certain facts which the Telegraph would be glad to suppress.

At present the Valley Railway, as surveyed, will run from a point at or near Grand Falls to St. John through the City of Fredericton. If it is deemed necessary to construct a branch from Napaogagan to Fredericton, and good, but this would not have been necessary if the original routing of the Grand Trunk Pacific through the Province of New Brunswick had followed its natural course by the Valley of the St. John River. This course was the logical one in order that the great traffic which would have been possible route to the best Canadian winter port.

To Save Fielding's Hide. Hon. W. S. Fielding, then Minister of Finance in the Liberal government, was in trouble in Halifax, however, and as intimated by Mr. A. B. Copp in the provincial legislature the central route was adopted to save Mr.

In the accompanying map the crossed line from Napaogagan to Moncton shows the route which Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Fielding insisted should be followed, and which Mr. Pugsley, Mr. Carvell and other Liberals also permitted. The Grits have from Napaogagan to Fredericton, and the Grits have from Fredericton to St. John. It is shown the route of the Valley Railway which was only accomplished by Hon.

PREMIER BORDEN ASKS FOR BETTER HEALTH, REPORT INVESTIGATE GREAT LAKE CONDITIONS

Joint Action by Canadian and U. S. Governments.

REGULATIONS NOW PREVENT DISASTERS

To Decide on Fixed Load Line and Partitions to Prevent Grain from Shifting While in Transit.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, Nov. 23.—Joint action by the Canadian and United States governments with a view to determining to what extent the recent shipping disasters on the Great Lakes may be due to non-compliance with existing regulations, is understood to be under consideration and correspondence is now passing between Ottawa and Washington.

The losses sustained in the recent storm bore much more heavily against United States shipping than against Canadian shipping, about three-fourths of the loss being made up of United States ships and cargoes.

The question has been raised since the disasters as to the necessity of enforcing regulations fixing a load line for lake freighters and requiring a shifting board or partition running down the length of the hold to prevent a cargo of grain from piling up on one side in a heavy sea and causing a ship to capsize.

There does not seem to be any fixed load line for Canadian lake freighters, and in many cases the holds are not divided. Suggestions have been made from time to time that a load line be fixed and enforced, and a few years ago a proposal was placed before parliament by way of private legislation. There is already a shifting board regulation, but it does not seem to have been observed in regard to freight vessels on the lakes.

Just how much these things had to do with the recent loss in Lake Superior and Lake Huron cannot be definitely determined, at least by the evidence of men who sailed on the ships, because the ships are lost and the men drowned. The matter can, however, be considered by the two governments from the standpoint of the general desirability of having new regulations or of enforcing existing ones.

Monserat of Montreal, who was one of the designing engineers of the Quebec Bridge, and a noted authority of steel bridges, is understood to have been engaged to make a report to the provincial government on the question of the construction of the proposed bridges across the St. John and Kennebecasis rivers for the St. John Valley Railway.

DEFEATED MEXICAN GENERAL SUICIDES AFTER BIG BATTLE

Governor of Victoria Takes Own Life—Huerta Government Gives Out But Meagre News of Fighting—Banks Withdraw from Tampico District.

Mexico City, Nov. 23.—Like General Salas after the battle of Rollano in March, 1912, General Antonio Rabago, military governor of the State of Tamaulipas, killed himself after losing Victoria, the capital. The suicide of General Rabago is not admitted by the government, but the news is contained in a private telegram to his relatives here, who do not question its authenticity.

General Rabago, as military governor, was responsible for the garrison when Victoria was attacked by the rebels on November 17.

It was not until this morning that the newspapers in Mexico City published any intimation that Victoria had been taken. Rabago was credited with having evacuated the city. The message fails to give details of his death. Among the incidents connected with the capture of Victoria by the rebels, one is related of the execution of Captain Thomas James. He was told that his life would be spared if he foreswore the government. He refused.

have the most meagre information regarding the fighting south of Juarez. This is characteristic with regard to the military operations throughout the country. That Tampico is seriously menaced by the rebels is indicated by private advices which say they are moving southwards from Victoria, and today cut the railroad forty miles north of Tampico, wrecking at that point a train of twenty oil tanks.

According to late despatches the managers of the branches of the London and Mexico, and the National Bank at Tampico have been instructed to close their establishment and remove the archives to Progresso. The branch of the Bank of London and Mexico at Monterey has been closed for several days. Industrial concerns in the interior are in a serious situation, owing to their inability to get from Tampico coal, coke and oil stored there.

Reports from the north continue to indicate increasing rebel strength south of Saltillo. Since the dynamiting of a troop train yesterday no effort has been made to resume traffic. The railway men refusing to take out the trains.

WILL CONSOLIDATE THE RURAL SCHOOLS IN QUEBEC PROVINCES

Announced at Meeting of Protestant Committee of Public Instruction—Will Assist Labrador Poor.

Quebec, Nov. 28.—At the meeting of the Protestant committee of the council of public instruction this morning, Hon. Mr. MacKenzie also informed the committee that the government would make a grant of $6,000 for the purpose of consolidating rural schools and conveying of children to the establishments. It was moved that the committee on propaganda should confer with the government to express the opinion of the committee on what localities should be chosen.

Various members expressed their satisfaction that the efforts of the committee, combined with the work of the department and activities of Dr. Parmelee, the secretary, had resulted in increasing teachers' salaries in rural districts until $20 a month was the minimum in most places. As a result better qualified teachers were being obtained. Hon. Mr. MacKenzie thought that in this tendency a stain was being removed from the fair name of Quebec.

Watch Your Pimples Go Away Then Feel the Ecstasy of Delight When Your Complexion is Made Perfect By Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

Don't worry about your pimples. Stop that heart ache and regret. Just make up your mind that you are going to use Stuart's Calcium Wafers and make pimples vanish.

"I don't look like I did since I used Stuart's Calcium Wafers." The pores of the skin are little mouths. Each has a sort of valve that opens into tiny canals connecting with the blood. These mouth-like pores become closed. When these canals fill up the valve refuses to work and pimples, blotches, rash, tetter, liver spots, etc., appear.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers keep the pores open and the canals then carry off the waste matter the blood empties into them.

Don't use cosmetics. They will not hide pimples long, and then they clog the skin. You ought to know that the skin breathes in air almost like the lungs. The pores throw off impurities every minute of the day. To plaster the skin with paste, etc., is to actually prevent nature doing her work.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers will in a very short time, cleanse the blood, open the pores and remove all blemishes so that your skin will become of a peach and cream kind so much desired.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers can be carried in purse or pocket. They are very pleasant to the taste and may be purchased anywhere at 50 cents a box. Look at your pimples and unhealthily skin in the right way as a disease of the blood and pores and use Stuart's Calcium Wafers to give you the complexion you want.

ST. JOHN AND THE G. T. P.

On the front page of the Standard this morning is a map cut which, we believe, tells an interesting story of the crime perpetrated against St. John in the routing of the Transcontinental Railway. The Telegraph on Thursday morning awoke with a spasm and declared that the only salvation for St. John was to be entirely side-tracked in the matter of the Grand Trunk Pacific freight, the speedy construction of fifty miles of railway from Napadogan to Fredericton, and of the Valley Railway from Fredericton to St. John.

The Telegraph has slept too long. As far back as 1903 the Conservative members of the House of Commons from New Brunswick were a unit in declaring that St. John was the only logical Atlantic seaport for the terminus of the then projected Transcontinental; that to route it across the centre of this province, through tracts of swamp and forest, to the city of Moncton, and there turn its traffic over to the I. C. R. for shipment to the port of Halifax, was a shameful and disgraceful blow at our aspirations as a winter port.

Unfortunately, however, the Telegraph's ardent cooler and the proposition which, with Mr. Blair, it attacked in 1904, it defended in 1908 and again in 1910. It is not on record that the route was changed in the interim. Not at all, the Telegraph's change came with a new pamphlet and the consequent employment of new tactics.

Now in 1913 we find the Telegraph on a new tack. It does not score the Moncton route in as many words but it strenuously declares that unless traffic is brought here by some other more direct course we will be completely undone. There is an explanation for this second change of front, and, as in every other performance of the Telegraph's part, it is again the old reliable party politics.

The Valley Railway, upon which the Telegraph, according to its latest declaration, depends to get the G. T. P. traffic from Fredericton to St. John, was secured for this province by Hon. J. D. Hazen, and provincial government behind him. It is being hurried to completion as rapidly as possible, but real railways cannot be constructed from the materials Mr. Pugsley is wont to use for the creation of wharves, railroads and warehouses, viz.—a wave of the hand and a puff of hot air. The Valley Railway, if it is to carry traffic with safety, must be of more substantial workmanship and consequently some time must yet elapse before it can be in operation.

Full well the Telegraph knows this, hence the demand that it be finished at once or St. John will lose the G. T. P. freight. The hope is to embarrass the provincial government, Party politics again.

If the Telegraph was as loyal to St. John in 1909 and 1910 as it is in 1913 on the matter of direct connection for the Transcontinental with this port, and for the speedy construction of the Valley Railway, why did it not rebuke Mr. Pugsley, then Minister of Public Works, for the many obstacles he deliberately placed in the way of securing the subsidies and the charter for the Valley road.

And, finally, if the Telegraph is loyal to St. John in 1913, and really believes this port will suffer if provision is not made for getting G. T. P. traffic here by a shorter route than via Moncton and the I. C. R., why does it not rebuke the Liberals of Moncton for passing a resolution on November 21st last, endorsing the Moncton route and condemning the Valley Railway.

ed as it should be if less of traffic through the G. T. P. blunder, is to be partially offset, the responsibility rests upon Mr. Pugsley, Mr. Carvell and the other machine Grits who fought to delay its construction, and the Telegraph is a party to the crime.

The Telegraph's latest bomb was charged with damp powder. The expected explosion was merely a squib.

"EMPIRE JACK'S" ADDRESS.

J. Norton Griffiths, captain of industry, globe traveller, member of an emergency contribution to the defence of the Empire, he spoke rather from the point of view of a broad imperialist than as a member of any parliament. He forcibly brought out the wonderful power of the British Empire, an empire of 11,500,000 square miles in area, and numbering 420,000,000 subjects. If imbued and leavened with the one grand idea of co-operation that a mighty force for peace or war could such an empire become.

But the idea of co-operation, of united action, is not alone the asset of Great Britain to be realized when the time seems opportune. Other nations have already commenced to combine in order to wield mightier power in the shaping of their own ends, and on this point Mr. Norton Griffiths' views are well worth re-publishing. He said:

"On the one hand you have Austria, Italy and Germany in one group, England, France and Russia in another, in fact all nations are striving to protect their interests by combining. Dealing with the Empire as a whole, I am one who believes that unless we can quickly devise some means for close and more defined union than that which exists at the present time this great British Empire must inevitably fall to pieces, just as I believe on the other hand that if we can quickly devise some scheme for united and whole hearted co-operation we shall become one of the ruling factors in the peace of the world."

This is not the view of an extremist, but of a man who has enjoyed the opportunity of studying Imperial questions in many parts of the Empire, and he speaks with knowledge of his subject. It is not a new message—very nearly the same thing has been expressed by other tongues in other places. Some such conception of the need of earnest and speedy co-operation was in the mind of the Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden when he made his naval proposition to the Canadian Parliament. It is a forcible endorsement of the accuracy of Premier Borden's knowledge and the clearness of his mental vision that the proposal made by him at the last parliamentary session has been so completely concurred in by others of the Empire's "men of deeds."

The Liberals who turned a deaf ear to Mr. Borden have probably doubted or derided the other messengers who came after him. Their's is the responsibility for the shameful position in which Canada is now placed. Mr. Norton Griffiths and others like him can only sound the warning. To heed or ignore it is the portion of the Canadian people themselves and whatever the result that may follow upon Canada's refusal to assist in bearing the burden of Empire it cannot be told in the public places that "the word was not spoken."

It will be surprising if the Telegraph this morning does not contain the usual contribution of fulsome eulogy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the eminent patriot and leader of the Liberal party. Some such action on the part of the Pugsley organ is certainly necessary to compensate for the tactical error it committed in printing, for New Brunswick Loyalist consumption the report of the notorious St. Hyacinthe speech.

Despite the assurance that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is regarded as a truly great imperial statesman by such men as the Premier of Great Britain, the leader of the British opposition and others, we cannot but wonder whether those "highbrows of Downing street" read the report of Sir Wilfrid's speech at St. Hyacinthe before they sent their birthday felicitations to him.

The annual report of the Board of Trade for the year will be presented at the Board meeting on Monday, and a synopsis of it is published in The Standard this morning. It intimates that many new industries are being started in the direction of St. John. There is plenty of room for them all.

DIARY OF EVENTS

HISTORIC DAYS IN CANADA

Viscount Charles Stanley Monck, who was Governor-General at the time of confederation and became the first Viceroy of the Dominion, died nineteen years ago today, at the age of seventy-five. Lord Monck was the fourth of his line, the title of Baron Monck of Ballytramon, County Westford, Ireland, having been created in 1773 and that of Viscount Monck three years later. Canada's first Viceroy was born in Tippermore, Ireland, in 1813, and was called to the bar at the age of twenty-one. He was a Lord of the Treasury for several years before his appointment to the governorship of Canada in 1870. He assumed office on Nov. 28th of that year, and immediately found himself facing many serious problems. The Trent affair had resulted in strained relations between Great Britain and the United States, and thousands of troops were rushed to Canada. The St. Albans raid added fuel to the controversy, and the Fenian invasion threatened further difficulties. Then came confederation, and in July of 1867 Lord Monck was sworn in as the first Governor-General of the United Provinces. He resigned the office in 1868. His services as an administrator during one of the most troubled periods of Canadian history won full recognition in England, and he was created a baron of the United Kingdom. Lord Monck married a daughter of the Earl of Rathdown.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

CHURCHILL, A YOUTH OF 39.

The Rt. Hon. Winston Leonard Spencer Churchill, England's First Lord of the Admiralty, is still a young man, although he has attained world-wide fame as statesman, soldier, journalist and author. He was born on the last day of November, 1874, and will pass his thirty-ninth birthday on Sunday. Few Englishmen are so well known on this side of the Atlantic than the youthful First Lord of the Admiralty. His recent proposal of a year's holiday in building arrangements started Europe, and was hailed by conservative gray-beards as proof of the danger of placing radical young men in high office.

The life of the First Lord has been as replete with incident and adventure as any writer of "red-blooded" fiction could desire. After graduating from Sandhurst, at the age of twenty-one, our hero went to Cuba, and his service with the Spanish forces in that island won for him the first class Spanish Order of Military Merit. His next service was with the Punjab infantry and took part in the battles of the Boer war, winning a medal by his gallantry. He was then attached to the Nile expeditionary force, and still another medal added to his list in the battle of Khartoum. Returning to England, he contested Oldham as a Conservative, but was defeated, and set out for South Africa as a special correspondent of the London Morning Post. During this period he was taken prisoner but escaped from a camp. He took part in several of the battles, including the engagements of Johannesburg and Diamond Hill and the capture of Pretoria. After the war he returned to England and was elected to parliament as a Conservative. After six years he transferred his political affiliations to the Liberal party, and since then he has been Under Secretary of State for the Colonies, President of the Board of Trade, Home Secretary and First Lord of the Admiralty.

THE PASSING DAY

"Allah is great. There is no God but Allah."

From countless minarets in Asia and Europe this muzzlin call will go up at eventide.

With faces toward holy Mecca, with knees on prayer-rugs, the Moslems will bow tonight and chant the set phrases of their petitions to Allah and Mohammed, his prophet, that they be granted the new year, and may have a happy and happy new year. For this is New Year's Eve for the Moslems, and marks the passing of 1331 and the ushering in of the year 1332.

In populous, dirty cities, in towns and villages and in the midst of deserts, where only the faintest star now touches the forehead upon the rug, but always with countenances turned Mecca-ward, a vast host of Mohammedans will seek to reach their sanctifications and their prayers.

From Helmed V, Sul-Tan and Khair of the Turks, lord of lords and shadow of Allah upon earth, and from the Sheikh-ul-Islam, head of the Mohammedan religion, down to the humblest camel boy, the disciples of Mohammed will pray tonight for revenge upon the infidel slayers, the "Christians," who within the past year have trampled over the Crescent and despoiled the faithful of much of their territory in both Europe and Africa. Bitter hatred seethes in the hearts of the Moslems, for the year now closing has been an unfortunate one for the followers of the "true faith," as revealed to Mohammed the camel-driver by the angel Gabriel, and embodied in the Koran. A bad year, in truth, but give them revenge. Aye, let the Christians gloat and laugh while they may. Allah is great—there is no God but Allah!

Strenuous Wishes

Hemmandhaw—"When Beanbrough got married, one of his friends threw an old shoe through the carriage at him and hit him on the head."
Shimmarpate—"Couldn't he find out who owned the shoe?"
Hemmandhaw—"No; it belonged to a horse."

A Jolly Day

Not long ago a Yorkshire vicar married an elderly couple at eleven o'clock in the morning. At three in the afternoon his duties took him to the neighboring cemetery, where he met the same couple seated lovingly on one of the benches.
"You see, sir," the husband explained, "my wife is a real 'un for pleasure, wanted to get back to me work this afternoon, but 's missus said we'd better enjoy ourselves to 't' full and make a day out of it."

At Bull Run.

(Argument.)
Two soldiers were speaking about the battle of Bull Run. One of them was a Yankee, the other an Irishman.
"Yah," said the Yankee, "were you at the battle of Bull Run?"
"I was," said Pat.
"Did you run, too?"
"I did," said Pat, "and the man that did not run is there yet."

Elegy On A Frosty Morning.

His pleasant, restful, slumber e'er
Left the warm precincts of his cheerful cot,
Nor cast one longing, lingering, look behind.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" STRAIGHTEN YOU UP

When headachy, bilious, constipated, stomach sour, breath bad.

Get a 10-cent box now. Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from our liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great. A Cascaret tonight straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.

Nearly Engaged.

(Publishers' Weekly.)
A sweet Young Thing went into the village bookstore and asked to be shown the latest novels.

"After making her selection, she hesitated for a moment. 'Do you make any reduction to clergymen?' she enquired.

"Yes," replied the bookseller, promptly. "Are you a clergyman's wife?"
"No," she answered.
"A clergyman's daughter, probably," said the man as he tied up the package.

"No," was the young woman's hesitating answer, "but"—and she leaned over the counter and spoke in a confidential whisper—"if nothing happens I shall be engaged to a theological student as soon as he comes back from college next term."

Saved.

"Poor chap. When is the funeral?"
"No funeral. You see he landed on the roof of the 19th store next door."

The Bright of Every Girl With Rich Red Blood.
The sad eye that goes with bloodlessness is a sure sign of misery and weakness. Anemic—that is bloodless—girls and women have dull heavy eyes with dark lines underneath. The eyelids are pulled down, look pale and bloodshot inside. This is not all. Anemia works havoc all through the system. Girls grow painfully weak and irritable; they are breathless, incapable of much exertion, while older women who are anemic complain of being "never really well." There is only one way to brighten better health for pale, pinning girls and women. That way is to invigorate the body with new blood—rich, healthy blood that imparts strength, cleanses the system of a eyes and rid lips of perfect health. Thousands of girls and women know that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People make this new, rich red blood and so restore health and strength. Thousands of girls and women who give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. That is why so many recommend these pills to their suffering sisters. Mrs. E. B. Keith, Stevens Settlement, N. B., says:—"At the age of 15 my daughter Sadie began to complain of constant headaches, and did not have her usual good appetite. She went to a doctor and got some medicine, but it did not help her, and finally she had to discontinue going to school. She seemed to be growing weaker every day and wanted to lie down all the time, and would continually complain of being tired. The doctor gave her another bottle of medicine, but with no better result. There was not a bit of color in her face or lips, and was afraid she was going into a decline. My friend who was into see her said, 'If she will my child I would try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills,' and I decided I would take the advice. In a couple of weeks we could see a difference, as her eyes looked brighter, and she would try out a little when she began to feel better. She could not dress herself alone but little by little her strength came back until she could go for a walk. She continued the use of the Pills several months with the result that she was again strong and active. This was over two years ago, and she has been strong, healthy girl ever since. She was again strong and active. This is for purposes and find them a good family medicine." FINANCIAL WEEKLY LETTER ON MONTREAL MARKET

(F. B. McCURDY & CO.) Montreal, Nov. 28.—Everything considered, the developments of the past week have been of an encouraging nature, so far as the stock markets are concerned. On Thursday morning was announced a decrease in the discount rate of Bank of Germany, owing to the improvement in the money situation. This was a very important announcement, as it indicated that the Bank of England had been successful in its policy of raising the rate of discount to 5 per cent, which had been announced at this time of year when the rate is generally very firm and tending upwards. Now that the end of November has been reached and the ratio of reserve to liabilities in the Bank of England is higher than that at this time last year, the rate is also higher, there is every reason to hope that, instead of advancing further, the rate will probably work the other way. At the moment the ratio is 54.38 per cent, as against 54.97 per cent a week ago, the drop being insignificant.

WEEKLY LETTER ON MONTREAL MARKET

(F. B. McCURDY & CO.)
Montreal, Nov. 28.—Everything considered, the developments of the past week have been of an encouraging nature, so far as the stock markets are concerned. On Thursday morning was announced a decrease in the discount rate of Bank of Germany, owing to the improvement in the money situation. The same day was announced that the Bank of England Mini-mum discount rate was unchanged at 5 per cent which announcement is satisfactory at this time of year when the rate is generally very firm and tending upwards. Now that the end of November has been reached and the ratio of reserve to liabilities in the Bank of England is higher than usual at this time of year while the rate is also higher, there is every reason to hope that, instead of advancing further, the rate will probably work the other way. At the moment the ratio 54.38 per cent. as against 54.54.97 per cent a week ago, the drop being insignificant.

In the United States are still heard rumors of closing down of furnaces and steel mills and of other industries and it looks at the moment as though there might be a general falling off in activity all the way round. As an indication of this might be mentioned the claim that the supply of money is piling up in New York although during the past few days this supply appears to have been depleted somewhat. This doubtless is owing to the owing of the month financing. The call-loan rate advanced to 5 per cent at one time but whether or not this will hold after the close of this week remains to be seen. On the whole, the New York market is very dependent and some of the New York brokers writing of the matter say that it may be doubted if there is any market at all and predict that the close of the present year will see a big change in the list of membership lines—much as a number intend to retire from the stock exchange, to a more remunerative field. Meantime Montreal has been with drawing large sums of money from New York in gold. The movement during the past week is said to have reached practically $11,000,000 and is not known whether any more is coming or not. For some time past the rate of New York Exchange on Montreal has been below par being a discount of 1 1/2 per cent, thus making it remunerative to ship the gold. This movement is considered to reflect not only the payment for shipment of Canadian grain paid through New York, but also an increased trade between the two countries, which the following could affect the market in the manner mentioned is hard to say, more especially as the increased trade is more apt to result in an increased balance for Canada.

In the Montreal market, the effects of developments of the week was altogether favorable. Most stocks showed a firm tendency and some showed an actual advance. Amongst the strongest stocks was R. & O. This stock was previously depressed, declining to around 106 on the thought that the financing of the new Canada Transportation Lines was making poor progress in England. However, the financing of the debentures has now been completed and the president of the R. & O. Company has issued his instructions to turn over that Company to the new concern. This had a strengthening effect and the stock immediately braced up to above 109. Another strong stock has been Brazilian. If there is any specific reason for the advance of about three points in this stock it is not known but the price is now about 87 and trading is active.

After a long period of stagnation, Montreal Power woke up. Trading in the stock was quite active and by Friday night the price was up to 213 1/2 as compared with 209 a week ago. This floating supply of this stock appears to be very light and there is little question that the technical position is very strong. New Power stock began selling on Friday at 204 and has yet become in any sense a market factor. On Friday also Shawinigan developed strength and quite a few shares changed hands at 134 and better. Shawinigan always feels the influence of any movement in Power.

Other stocks which have shown strength during the week are C.P.R. and practically the entire list of cotton stocks. A feature of the week was a decline in Mexican Light and Power to 45. The Company now pays a dividend of 4 per cent. annum, but fears are expressed that owing to the complicated state of affairs in Mexico the position of not only this but other Mexican stocks will be greatly impaired.

CLOSING STOCK LETTER FROM RANDOLPH

(F. B. McCURDY & CO.)
New York, Nov. 28.—Union Pacific was the feature of interest in this morning's market, opening at an advance of 1/2 per cent. and running up to a full one per cent. gain in the early dealings. This appeared to be a belated response to the excellent statement of earnings made public yesterday. Amalgamated Copper was a heavy feature and lost almost as much as Union Pacific gained. Throughout the rest of the list fluctuations were negligible and the list remained almost inert until after the opening of the call money market. When loans ran up to ten per cent. it caused some shading of prices all along the line, but later on these losses were recovered. Once more before the close, however, the market shaded off, and stocks as a rule closed with slight fractional losses as a result of the day's dealings. New Haven seemed to feel the elimination of the short interest and ruled heavy all day. The premium on the stock for borrowing purposes has disappeared. Interest converged on the bank statement to be published tomorrow, which, of course, is expected to make a very bad showing. The estimated cash run up to about $20,000,000, the rise in call money caused some stiffening in the rates for time funds.

Sales 102,344; bonds $1,096,000. E. & C. RANDOLPH.

STOCK NOTES OF NEW YORK MARKET

(F. B. McCURDY & CO.)
New York, Nov. 28.—Commission houses attribute the strength of the market almost entirely to the better outlook for higher freight rates.

It is expected that some of the big banks will absorb a large amount of bonds on a large scale around December 1st.

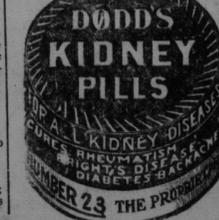

Dividend payers in the shade of Standard payers who have made money in the past are reported taking on semi-investment lines of the best railroad stocks at current levels.

Plenty of money would be available for business development the world over, were the Government preparations for war stopped, according to an international authority.

NEWSPAPERS ON THE MARKET SITUATION

Commercial—It is unlikely that the movement of gold to Canada will be maintained, but the Pacific Coast Cities may continue to take gold. Herald—Some traders show a disposition to put out fresh lines of shorts and work for a reaction. American—The security markets of the world will begin to show improvement, when trade conditions are at their worst.

Sun—Much interest is manifested in banking circles regarding the outcome of the Democratic Senate conference on Currency Legislation. Financial opinion believes that the passage of the bill will be delayed until the spring.

Jim—"How's that?"
Jack—"He's bought a new car."
Jim—"No, he hasn't had a raise; simply killed a rich relative with his old car."

LIDLAW & CO'S CLOSING STOCK LETTER

(J. C. MACKINTOSH & CO.)
New York, Nov. 28.—Routine news was of a mixed character this morning, the principal favorable features being the speech of the British Lord Chancellor endorsing President Wilson's Mexican policy, the strong weekly statement of the Bank of England, and reports of more comfortable financial conditions in the German empire. The market opened fairly active and strong, but the favorable foreign news was offset by rumor of impending disturbance in the shape of the President's message to Congress, in which it was rumored a vigorous anti-trust policy would be introduced.

The general list, however, grew dull instead of weak, and while this respite into idleness was discouraging, it was nevertheless unaccompanied by much selling pressure. The market remains in a waiting attitude with technical conditions favorable to an upward movement should stimulating news develop.

CLOSING COTTON LETTER FROM JUDSON & CO.

(J. C. MACKINTOSH & CO.)
New York, Nov. 28.—Today's cotton market was fairly active and steady throughout. The first December notice day witnessed very few tenders, and the tone of general news was rather bullish. The market seemed to be impressed by the fact that the International Cotton Spinners' Federation had decided against recommending short time as being an indication that foreign trade was not as bad as bears had tried to make out. The advance which followed the announcement was helped by the bullish week-end figures and the more confident prediction by the bulls that the movement would soon begin to demonstrate that the crop has been one of the most rapidly ginned on record.

EVANS ON STOCKS.

(F. B. McCURDY & CO.)
New York, Nov. 28.—The market continues to fluctuate within narrow limits, without showing any disposition to move at present in either direction.

Every now and then a drive against the room shorts is made, and this forces prices up a point or so throughout the active list. After this superficial short interest is covered, any advance of prices sag off again to the level from which they came; the operation only to be repeated later on. It is less to attempt to predict when this dullness will terminate, but I see nothing in the situation to warrant any advance of importance at present time.

"GROUCHY" MAN

Allan St. John of Thompson-Woods Co. Believes in "The Smile"

A CLEVER COMEDIAN TALKS COMMON SENSE

Content Now to Amuse the Public but Looks Forward to Time when He Can Own Truck Farm.

"I'd like to be the funny man in a show"—This was the remark overheard by the writer one night, several years ago, when coming out of one of the big Upper Canadian theatres after witnessing a performance in which the comedian had a more than usually "fat" part. The speaker was a youth, evidently not long from the country, and he meant every word he said. To his inexperienced eye the comedian, who had the mirth provoking lines to deliver before the public, must be a man of wit and humor whose whole life was probably a succession of delightful quips and jests with never a thought of sorrow. As the writer happened to know, the reverse was the case in this particular instance for the comedian in question had played his funniest part, and by his witticisms caused his audience to literally weep with laughter, while all the time, on his dressing room table, was a telegram telling him that his only child was about to be operated on in a New York hospital and that the chances for recovery were small. In spite of the fact that his heart was bursting with a father's grief, he allowed it to make no difference in his work. While the paid servants of the public he "played the game." His private grief was a matter for himself alone.

While the little instance quoted does not apply directly to the subject of this sketch, Mr. Allan St. John, comedian with the Thompson-Woods Stock Company at the Opera House, is more or less applicable to all men in Mr. St. John's profession. They are professional laugh-makers, and the dear public loves to be amused. The public may weep with the wronged hero, hiss at the strutting villain, and rapturously applaud the triumph of virtue over vice, which usually comes in the fourth or fifth act, but no matter what else happens the comedian, if he is a comedian, is always sure of his laugh—and if he can catch a vastrant sob with it he is that much better comedian.

Of Long Experience.

Allan St. John is a good comedian; he has been a good comedian for many years and yet a long way from approaching the serene and yellow stage. He is the husband, incidentally, of Miss Winona Bridges, the charming character woman with the Thompson-Woods Company, and they are joint holders of the record, that, during the long period of their married life, they have never accepted engagements in separate companies. When it is considered that not one in one hundred couples in professional life are able to claim this distinction the record of Mr. St. John and his delightful lady is all the more notable.

Born in Richmond, Virginia, and "raised" in Chicago, the son of a lawyer, it was the original intention that he should follow in his father's footsteps, and, with this idea in mind, he studied law. He read more play books than law books, however, and also discovered that he had a voice. From singing in a church choir he came the first tenor in a quartette company that gave entertainments in and around Chicago and he liked the life. Still he hankered for the real stage and in order to be a step nearer to it he joined a minstrel troupe appearing in the old Casino Theatre in Chicago. Later he joined Al H. Wilson in the latter's successful play, "Two Old Cronies," and this marked his real debut on the stage.

After his marriage, Mr. St. John and his wife engaged largely in stock work and the two played successful engagements in all the leading stock companies for years. Mrs. St. John ran the gamut from leads to emotional roles, soubrettes, ingenues and characters, while Mr. St. John played low comedy, character comedy and character parts. His preference however is for straight comedy parts, with a laugh in every line.

Last season, Mr. St. John and his wife were engaged for 26 weeks in Fall River and when Thompson-Woods Company was organized for the season here, they were selected from a large list of applicants. Both have made good; both are favorites and both are delighted with their associates, their employers and the city in which they are temporary residents.

Talking to The Standard the other day, Mr. St. John briefly spoke of his aims and ambitions. He holds the conventional idea that when he completes his term on the stage, he will retire to a farm, but it is a truck farm, on which his heart is set and he has it all picked out. "There is a locality near New York that I know of" said he "and when I get through with tramping it is me for it. There I can grow early celery, radishes, prize pumpkins and spuds. I am long on spuds, for there is a great field in successful spud culture. The people do not all have to be amused, but they must eat all the time. Good seasons or bad seasons, they must have three meals a day just the same and there

ALLAN ST. JOHN.

POLICE CHIEF DENIES GRAFT IN MONTREAL

Do Not Receive Protection Money from Disorderly Houses Says Report—Other Charges.

Montreal, Nov. 23.—The Board of Control has at last received from the Chief of Police an extended report on the investigation conducted by the police department on the charges made several months ago that certain of the police received protection money from disorderly houses, and took bribes in other forms. The report completely exonerates the police and states that the accusations were based on the word of people of the very worst repute.

The investigation was conducted by ex-Deputy Chief Hebert. In one of the charges it was alleged that a lawyer had taken money to protect a disorderly house. Upon being examined by Mr. Hebert, this man denied the accusation in toto. Another charge was that a saloon-keeper had given one hundred dollars to policemen to secure protection. Still another charge was that two young women had given a policeman five dollars each in order to avoid arrest. Finally charges were formulated that many disorderly houses had been given police protection.

BROUGHT PILOT ACROSS.

New York, Nov. 23.—G. T. Collins, a Queens town pilot, was an unexpected and involuntary passenger on the Cunard liner Lusitania, which arrived today from Liverpool. The pilot boarded the ship at Liverpool. When Queenstown was reached the sea was so rough that instead of going ashore, according to custom, Mr. Collins had to stay aboard and make the trip to America. Storms followed the Lusitania almost all the way across.

It is never a dull time for the truck farmer. Until I get my truck farm, I, and my wife are contented to take things as they come and make the best of them. We haven't done too badly so far.

Asked as to his favorite part, Mr. St. John said he liked the role of Harigan in "50 Miles from Boston," "Pop" Clark in "The Deep Purple" and "Jim" in "The Dawn of Tomorrow," all of which he has played.

A Worker and a Smiler.

"From your experience what do you think of the stage as a career for men?" he was asked. "It's all right if you work," was the reply, "but you have to work. If a young man has talent, that is indispensable, and the ability to work, he can do well, but it is better to be without the talent than lack the ability to work, and work mightily hard. As much effort in any other profession would bring equal success.

"Success means work anywhere, work and the smile, that's about all there is to it. The man with the chronicle grouch can't get a look in. No one wants a grouch about but everyone can be won by a smile. That is possibly old and trite but it is as true now as ever it was. We do not realize as much on our smiles as we should. A cheerful, optimistic disposition and the ability to smile under any and all circumstances is one of the greatest assets any one can have. It saves many a headache."

Mr. St. John practices what he preaches and his associates in the company are willing to go on record that he possesses the qualities he points out as most desirable. He is both a worker and a smiler. That's one reason why he has made good.

ENJOYABLE CONCERT AT EAST ST. JOHN

Employees of Norton Griffiths Co., Ltd., in Pleasing Programme—All Numbers Encored.

A very enjoyable entertainment was given last evening in the Presbyterian Mission church, East St. John, when the employees of the Norton Griffiths and Co. Ltd., in a literary and musical production carried out an excellent and most appreciable programme, which was listened to by a large audience.

In the unavoidable absence of J. Norton Griffiths, the chief engineer of the general contracting firm, P. R. Warren, presided during the evening, and opened the programme with a few appropriate remarks.

The entertainment was divided in two parts. The first was devoted to special singing and moving pictures and the second part of the entertainment was devoted to a performance by the Courtenay Bay Pierrot Troupe. The complete performance reflected much credit on the participants and almost every number was encored.

Mr. Trotter, in a Chinese character, and Mrs. V. Dyke Read in the rendering of "My Hero," were particularly pleasing.

The Pierrot Troupe was nicely gotten up in costumes of white and black and carried out the following programme: Opening chorus, Old Banjo; duet, Miss Read and Mr. Thompson; solo, Mrs. Robb and chorus; chorus, "John Brown's Baby," solo, "My Hero," Mrs. Read; recitation, Mr. Read; solo with chorus, Mr. Trotter; solo, Miss Read; solo, Mr. Robb.

CARRY WAR INTO ENEMIES TERRITORY ON HOME RULE QUESTION.

BONAR LAW URGES A UNITED KINGDOM

Insists that Government Must Seek Sanction of People Before Making Change.

Dublin, Nov. 23.—The Unionist party today carried the war into the enemies territory, when Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, Sir Edward Carson, leader of the Irish Unionists, and other prominent men arrived to deliver in the Irish capital a series of speeches on Home Rule.

In reply to the deputation which welcomed him, Mr. Bonar Law reiterated that the Unionists had opposed consistently and completely the whole idea of the separation of the United Kingdom, and insisted that the government must seek the sanction of the people before attempting to make the change.

During a speech in the afternoon before the Unionist association Mr. Bonar Law said Premier Asquith's speech of the preceding day seemed to him a complete acceptance of the order of John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalists for "full steam ahead" and if that were the case the duties of the Unionist party were gone.

Suffragettes attempted to reach Mr. Bonar Law as he was driving afterwards to the residence of Lord Iveagh. They bombarded him with pamphlets. Mrs. Skeffington and Mrs. Conroy, the leaders of the suffragettes of Dublin, were arrested and charged with obstructing the police.

NEWS FROM SACKVILLE

Sixteen Year Old Boy Fractures Skull—Premier Fleming will Address Conservative Club.

Special to The Standard. Sackville, N. B., Nov. 23.—Max Boudreau, sixteen-year-old son of Oliver Boudreau, Middle Sackville, was seriously injured this morning when he fell from a truck wagon on which he was riding, the hind wheel passing over his head, fracturing his skull. The young man is not expected to recover.

The lodge rooms of Lebanon Lodge, A. F. and A. M., were the scene of a pleasing evening last evening when James Teare, who has for some time conducted a bakery here and purposes leaving for the west shortly, was presented with a gold locket neatly inscribed. Worshipful Master Woodworth made the presentation. A number of those present delivered short addresses while several musical selections were rendered.

It was announced today that Premier Fleming would deliver an address in the new Liberal-Conservative club rooms here on Tuesday evening next. Special preparations have been made for his coming and it is expected that a large number, irrespective of party, will be present on this occasion.

The weather is quite wintery and from surrounding districts come reports of heavy snowfalls: in some places six or seven inches of snow has fallen.

JUDGE LAFONTAINE SCORES THIRD DEGREE

Declares Police Have No Right to Extort Statements From Prisoners—Duty Ends After Arrest.

Montreal, Nov. 23.—The "third degree" was denounced by Judge Lafontaine in the Enquete Court today. His Lordship declared that detectives had no right to question prisoners.

It was the duty of a detective, he said, to make sure that he was arresting the right man. His function was at an end after he had taken his prisoner to police headquarters. He had no lawful right to extort or force a man to make a confession.

Judge Lafontaine was presiding in the case of Herman Geddes, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Special Constable Dzerbonovitch, killed in a row last Saturday night.

As a result of the action of the police Judge Lafontaine reduced the charge of manslaughter to one of "common assault."

His subject was "The Bible in the Light of Modern Knowledge."

Board of Home Missions

The semi-annual meeting of the Board of Home Missions (eastern section) was held in the Presbyterian Church office, Halifax, N. S., on Tuesday, Nov. 25. A general review of the work in the mission fields of the Maritime Synod for the past six months occupied the morning session. At the time of the meeting, about sixty students were employed during the summer months, thirty of whom had appointments in the New Brunswick presbyteries. The reports were in general quite satisfactory. Several other matters claimed the attention of the Board. A new departure was the granting of permission to the Women's Missionary Society to send representatives to the next meeting of the Board. This society has been active in the interests of the Home Mission work of the church, contributing generously in the way of bursaries to students and the work of home missions in general, east and west. The corresponding secretary of the Home Mission Board at its next meeting is the Board's answer to their generous offer to cooperate in large measure in the prosecution of the work. The New Brunswick presbyteries were represented at the meeting by Revs. James Ross, Gordon Dickie, J. A. MacKeigan and J. M. McLean.

Rev. Thos. Harrison to be inducted at St. George

The induction of Rev. Thos. Harrison into the pastoral charge of St. George and Bocabee will be held in the Presbyterian Church at St. George, on Tuesday, Dec. 2. Dr. J. A. Morrison, interim moderator of session has been appointed to preside at the meeting and induct the minister-elect. Rev. J. James McCaskill will address the minister and Rev. E. B. Whyte the people. Mr. Harrison comes to St. George from Longueville, P. Q., where he has ministered for three years with splendid success. On the occasion of his leaving the congregation of Longueville testified to their affection for their pastor and their appreciation of his devoted services among them by presenting him with a total of some eight hundred dollars and a purse of gold. Mrs. Harrison also was the recipient of a valuable presentation at their new congregation with a good reputation as a scholar and preacher, and there is good promise of a successful pastorate in St. George.

The Pre-Assembly Congress

The report of the Pre-Assembly Congress of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, which was held in Massey Hall, Toronto, in June last, has just been issued in book form by the Board of Foreign Missions. The Congress was attended by nearly five thousand accredited representatives of the Presbyterian Church from ocean to ocean. The discussions of the Congress were characterized by sanity, comprehensiveness and large vision, and their publication has been eagerly awaited. The book includes the addresses delivered at the Men's Missionary Congress which followed the general congress, while a valuable appendix shows the several instructive charts displayed by the various working departments of the church. The frontispiece is a well finished picture of the Congress in session. Rev. R. P. McKay, D.D., closes a fitting introduction to the book in the following words:

"It remains but to acknowledge the indebtedness of the Church to Dr. A. S. Grant, with whom the thought of a Congress originated and whose untiring energy contributed so much to its success; and further to recognize the princely liberality of certain manufacturers who made the undertaking financially possible. They have enjoyed an enviable privilege, and will in due time reap their reward."

BAPTIST NOTES

Signs of Awakening Among the Indians

For centuries the Bolvin Indian has borne the white man's burden. He has worked his mines, tilled his soil, run his errands, served in his kitchen and has received in return little more than abuse. Of recent years, however, many of the more intelligent of the "white man" have befriended the Indians and have advocated their education and civilization; some even going so far as to establish schools on their farms.

At first the Indian was suspicious, as he is of everything that his masters do. Centuries of oppression had also crushed his spirit and he seemed to take it for granted that the future held in store for him no better lot than to serve and not complain.

More recently there have been encouraging signs of the awakening of a new spirit among them.

Some twenty or twenty-five Indian boys voluntarily attend our school in La Paz, three nights a week, and that after working hard all day. Others are attending other schools in the city. On the farm at Gualajata, the property of the Christoff mission, there is now, after a few months of effort an enrollment of 48 and an average attendance of 36. And in order to appreciate what this means, it must be remembered that all these boys have to work and gain their living as well. So they come to school, not to get an education, but to go home to do their day's work on the farm.

Moreover both parents and children are becoming ambitious to excel. Recently one father brought his boy to the school wanting the teacher to give him a special lesson on Saturday so that he could make more progress and offering some milk as a compensation for the extra work incurred.

Only the other day, the minister of education received communication from three different Indian communities, in which the Indians offered to set up a building and pay for a teacher, if the government would send them teachers for their children.

They have a sturdier race which has managed to survive and preserve its separate existence in spite of centuries of cruel oppression, while the North American Indian is disappearing before conditions which have been unspareingly better. This sturdy race is at last showing signs of awakening. No Macedonian, call was ever more imperative than the silent entreaty that is today coming from the Bolivian Indian.

La Paz, Bolivia. — A. G. BAKER.

It opportunity means responsibility, then Baptists have a tremendous responsibility towards the Continent of Europe. The Rev. J. A. Swelling, Sweden, addressing the Stockholm Baptist Alliance said among other things—"The State Church as an institution is no longer the holy of holies to the peoples. The demand for a church in a free land is becoming more clamant. In many ways it has been the privilege of the Baptists to be pioneers in religious movements. It is even so today. Our principles are becoming recognized in ever-widening circles. Our methods, formerly denounced as being adopted among many denominations. We are convinced that the spiritual movements of which we have been speaking owe their origin largely to the preaching of the Baptists, and they afford extraordinary opportunities to them for future development, and will eventually directly further their cause. To us as Baptists the present time offers an opportunity of historic import, and that we would be to show that we are united for the mission to which God has called us. Doors are opening before us everywhere. A Baptist preacher is no longer in places that are despised. People hear him gladly."

If every creed and all confessions and articles of faith could be lost never to be recovered, if theological and ecclesiastical traditions, which have not come from the Bible, could meet the same fate, and if Christians would cease completely from attempting to secure organic unity, then would be the unity which we all desire and the unity which Christ prayed. Every Christian should be left to interpret the Bible according to his own understanding, and neglecting the assistance which may be given by honest and devout scholars who have no traditional theory to defend. Every Christian should then combine in churches as planned by Christ. The churches should then cooperate in every good work. We have no fear for the results from such an arrangement. It is Scriptural and so must succeed. Of course we believe that the result would approximate very closely to the conditions which we find in the group of Christians which the world calls Baptists. The Baptist Missionary Review.

Obstacles to Temperance.

There is one development of the drink trade that has recently become so great, and so mischievous that it makes no apology for calling special attention to it here: it is the sale of so-called "medicated wines and distillers." There are very many of these in the market, and they are widely and speciously advertised, and it is known that even many teetotalers are deceived by the statements made about them; in not a few cases the drink habit is being acquired by their use; and there is nothing in any of these medicated wines, balsams and elixirs which lessens in any way the harmful effect of the alcohol they contain, often in very large proportion. On the other hand, there is no medicine which lessens in any way the harmful effect of the alcohol they contain, often in very large proportion. On the other hand, there is no medicine which lessens in any way the harmful effect of the alcohol they contain, often in very large proportion.

Arrow Points.

Fashion worships at many shrines. Time brings solace as well as sorrow.

Much that is said would be better left unsaid.

The voice of the past have their echoes in the present.

Endure bravely all that has to be endured, and enjoy wisely all that can rightly fully be enjoyed.

Winnipeg Broadway.

(Rev. Dr. Sowerby). Great was the religious excitement in Winnipeg, Nov. 2nd, and Monday 3rd. We deferred our regular Thanksgiving service so as to combine it with our seventh anniversary of the opening of our present building which took place on Sunday. Our greatly esteemed and beloved pastor, Dr. Sowerby, preached an exceptionally strong and appropriate sermon. The anniversary sermon in the evening being especially so, to which a crowded house listened with marked attention. The text was taken from 1 Sam. 7: 12. "Hitherto hath the Lord helped us. Mortgages are cumbrances to any people or organization desirous of making greater progress. So some three months ago our pastor decided we would burn our annual report and we would burn ours announcing our anniversary, and we did. It was burned on Monday evening in the presence of an audience which filled the auditorium so full, a had to stand. We had a musical programme and then Deacon Ratho gave a short history of the work at Broadway. Our membership now being in the neighborhood of 300 of whom between 90 and 100 have joined since Dr. Sowerby commenced his services with us seven months ago. After Deacons Thos. Gillman, Joseph Tucker and Benjamin Clayton disposed of the mortgages, short addresses of congratulation were given by Revs. J. C. Bowen, S. J. Arthur and Mr. J. F. McIntyre. We are thankful to our Master for having directed to us such an one as Dr.

ISRAELITES PASSAGE OF THE JORDAN

Power of God Made Manifest at End of Long Journey Through the Desert — Points Big Moral.

The Sunday School Lesson

By Evangelist

Nov. 30. Josh. II: 1-21. Ps. cxlv. Inaugure, if we can, the eager anticipations of a nation after forty long years of waiting when the announcement is made and prepared to move into their new home. The day long looked for had come at last. At the foothills of Mount Hermon, the Jordan, the Dead Sea and opposite Jericho, they remained three days facing the land promised to them. When the morning of the event dawned all were on tip toe of expectation. Every face wore an interrogative expression. How is it possible to cross the swollen river? What are the Jews' plans? What chance would a feeble have in such a mill-race?

Joshua did not seem to have received his marching orders to cross the river until the morning of the day that he was told that God would begin to work for them. Here then we are faced in order to prove that the Presence which had been with Moses was with him.

Joshua said: "Speak to Him now for He heareth." And spirit with Spirit could meet. For closer was He than breathing, and nearer than hands and feet.

As soon as the leader grasped the reality of the presence of God the message came, "Arise, go over this Jordan."

Did he reason thus, when God makes a path through the torrent then I shall arise?

No. Like the Light Brigade, it was—"Their's not to make reply, Their's not to reason why, Their's but to do and die."

"When ye are come to the brink of the waters of Jordan ye shall stand still in Jordan."

The memory of how God made the tide and the strong ark to work together for their deliverance at the Dead Sea, together with the Baptist's doctrine of the purposes of living God is among you and that He will without fail drive out from before you" all enemies, inspired them with absolute confidence in God.

"And it came to pass when the soles of the feet of the priests that bore the ark of the Lord shall rest in the water, and the waters of Jordan shall be cut off, even the water that come down from above, and they shall stand in one heap, as the people which tread upon the stones of the living God is among you and that He will without fail drive out from before you" all enemies, inspired them with absolute confidence in God.

"And it came to pass when the soles of the feet of the priests that bore the ark of the Lord shall rest in the water, and the waters of Jordan shall be cut off, even the water that come down from above, and they shall stand in one heap, as the people which tread upon the stones of the living God is among you and that He will without fail drive out from before you" all enemies, inspired them with absolute confidence in God.

WAS TROUBLED WITH BOILS AND CARBUNCLES.

There is no more frequent source of illness than that arising from bad blood, for when the blood becomes impure, it is only natural that boils, pimples or some other indication of bad blood should break out of the system.

Boils in themselves are not a dangerous trouble, but still at the same time are very painful, and the only way to get rid of them is to cleanse the blood of the impurities. Cleanse it thoroughly by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters, that old and reliable blood medicine that has been on the market for nearly forty years.

Mr. James Wilds, Plaster Rock, N.B., writes—"I was greatly troubled, a few years ago, with boils and carbuncles, and the doctor told me I was in a bad condition. My appetite failed me, I began to lose strength, and was pretty well run down when one of my friends recommended Burdock Blood Bitters. After using three bottles I began to feel like another man. My troubles soon left me, and to-day I can certainly give Burdock Blood Bitters a high recommendation to my friends."

WHY HE VACATED

The new baby had proved itself the possessor of extraordinary lung powers. One day baby's brother, little Johnny, said to his mother: "I am thankful to God that I was born here and not in heaven."

"Yes, dear," answered the mother. "Johnny was silent for a minute, and then he said: 'I am thankful to God that I was born here and not in heaven.'"

"What is it, Johnny?"

"The angels for slinging him out, do you?"

Sowerby, whose efforts here and else where He has been pleased to bless so freely. Souls are being converted and evangelistic preaching is frequent. We are looking forward to a large meeting this winter, and with our host we will be able next spring to place ourselves in so far as a more suitable building is concerned, in a position to do the work in one locality which we should and desire to do.

The sudden illness of Rev. G. A. Lawson, pastor of the 1st Baptist Church will bring sorrow to the whole United States denomination and a great constituency outside. We will miss his strong, evangelistic preaching and that divine grace may be given him.

Every loyal Canadian is an "Empire builder." He is anxious to add to the health and prosperity of the Dominion. But you can't build an Empire out of lands and mines and railroads alone. You have to build an Empire with men—and the way to make men is to give growing youngsters a food that builds strong and sturdy bodies. Such a food is

SHREDDED WHEAT

It contains all the material in the whole wheat grain made digestible by steam-cooking, shredding and baking. It is better than mushy porridges because it induces thorough mastication and thus develops sound teeth and insures perfect digestion. A food to study on, to play on, to work on.

Always heat the Bisquit in oven to restore crispness. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits with hot milk or cream will supply all the energy needed for a half day's work. Try Toasted Triacuti, the Shredded Wheat water, for luncheon, with butter, cheese or margarine.

BILLIE BURKE & BEAUTY

for the girl who wishes to make a good impression on the world is to acquire a fine carriage. There is one simple little rule, which if you follow it you cannot but walk with an erect and graceful carriage. Walk on the balls of your feet. The tiny cushions that nature has placed there are for the purpose of relieving you of the ugly jar that comes from planting the feet first on the hoary heel. The next time you pass a plate glass store window take a side view of your figure. If your stomach is high, your abdomen protrudes, your shoulders stoop and your chin drooping, you are walking on your heels. Just come forward on the balls of your feet, immediately your spine will straighten and gracefully carry your weight, instead of leaving that duty to the soft walls of your abdomen. Your shoulders will fall into place, your chin will come up and out, and you will not seem like the same girl. You can try this all surreptitiously. Right in front of the store window on the main street, you can change yourself in the twinkling of an eye, while you are supposed to be innocently looking at the new styles. When you are at home practice walking on your tiptoes, not letting your heels touch the floor. In a very short time you will find that people will ask, "Who is that stunning girl?" Unconsciously they will be honoring your letter of credit, and your beauty regime will have begun. JUST ONE LAST WORD—All women can be beautiful.

By BILLIE BURKE—All women should be beautiful. Of course you will immediately say, "I don't mean only in the repitition of daily small duties. These we take for granted, writes Marion Harland. It becomes a habit to must be done over and over again. We condense the outline of our actions somewhat as Mr. Podsnap in "Our Mutual Friend" did. "getting up at 8, shaving close at a quarter past, breakfasting at half past 5, and dining at 7."

The little things to which I have reference just now are not an essential part of any function of our living, but rather accompany and embellish them all. For they are the trifles which accumulate all about us and that we see on every side and never get fully rid of.

Each one of us has her special store in addition to the general which are to be found in every home. Consider the latter first. To begin with is generally the stack of magazines that are always meant to do something with. They are all about the house. We have made a beginning perhaps of sorting them and putting them together. Some one would be glad to have these we vaguely, and so refrain from dumping them into the wastebasket or the furnace.

So do the cuttings you have laid

Little Tasks, Often Neglected

But we don't pick them all out and then in a bundle or pack them in a box and write a card to the Salvation Army to come and get them or look up in the corner the name of some one hungry for reading matter and ship them off to where they will be of some good. Just one of the little things we put off doing!

Then there are the magazines we mean to have bound one of these days. Perhaps they are a technical publication which will be of value for reference. "Don't give those away!" we order when there is talk of binding part of the accumulation on some one who would care for them some day and I have saved them to be bound." But because it is a little thing to collect the scattered numbers day after day slip by without doing it.

In the same class are the books that need to be rebound or to have the backs mended. Perhaps the repairs they lack are so trifling that you make do with a bottle of paste and five minutes time. Just because it is such a slight business you let it go from day to day and look at the shelf the bit of untidiness irks you. "I must mend that loose slip!" you say—and then it rests.

So do the cuttings you have laid

Jewels Women Will Wear

WOMEN, when choosing the jewels for the opera this winter, will be compelled to expend more time and thought for the color of stones are more fashionable than diamonds, and they cannot be worn carelessly or in a haphazard manner, says a New York Tribune writer. Several different colors will be combined very often in one piece. With a gown of the right shade, the effect will be very handsome, but if her gown be too full of color the stones will become dim and uninteresting. The lines of onyx mark many of the newest jeweled pieces, and the square-cut stones, ranged to give the moire effect, are another new feature.

One of the most comforting new features, however, is the flexibility of the season's jewelry. It can be twisted and bent into any desired shape. Even the pendants have the same flexibility, and many of them have a three-fold purpose, the different sections dividing in such a way that brooches and a hair ornament, for example, can be made from one pendant.

The flexibility of the hairpins is even more practical, for the tops are

FIGHTS

Sir Ed... Of Codrington's own cool courage it is almost unnecessary to speak. Most every one about him was down, and at one time he stood only unharmed amidst the wreckage of the Turkish vice-admiral, told afterwards, how, as he watched Codrington—"tall as a mast," to use his own words—on the quarter-deck of the Asia, he drew up a company of men and told them the only hope of victory lay in shooting that tall man, the Turkish vice-admiral, and he tried to make the general signal, but the men were to be shot away. I then tried to despatch a boat with this object, when it was found that we had no boat that would swim; an attempt by halting to one from the Gesco was equally unsuccessful, and I was obliged to give up the attempt, and leave things take their course.

Navarino was the first and last in which the Asia took part. It is almost unnecessary to speak of her. She was lying in Portsmouth Harbor as a reserve gun-ship. Her imagination is not a strong feature of the British character, but she which has played a part in history so great and noble would not be dismissed as forgetful, or allowed to go to decay with such amazing difference. England might as well place in the chief port of each of her colonies some ship like the Asia, the Victory, which might be a personal object-lesson in national pride. Certainly the Asia made a great contribution to the world's history. She fought at Navarino Bay on 20th Oct. 1827, won freedom for Greece, added a new Christian State to Europe. The exploding Turkish fleet in that Syria bay all through world night were the symbols of a fishing despotism. On the night Navarino, to quote Alison, "rose from the grave of nations, accented by fire, riddled by shot, bled in blood." Yet was it a true reaction? All this surely is a tale to be remembered today, when Greece and Turkey have met in battle more, with ill-fortune to the more, Navarino, alas! to save her.

FIGHTS FOR THE FLAG

Sir Edward Codrington at Navarino

Of Codrington's own cool courage it is almost unnecessary to speak. At most every one about him was shot down, and at one time he stood the only unharmed man on his own quarter-deck. His hat was shot through, his watch was crushed by a bullet, his coat was pierced. Tahir Pasha, the Turkish vice-admiral, told afterwards, how, as he watched Codrington—"till as a mast," to use his own words—on the quarter-deck of the Asia, he drew up a company of riflemen and told them the only hope of victory lay in shooting that tall Englishman, and the riflemen fired repeated volleys at him, but somehow failed to hit him. It will give some idea of the tumult and distraction of a great fight to read Codrington's description of the noise, of the smoke which was so thick that the men could not see the ships at which they were firing, &c.; and how, at last, when the Turkish flagship had vanished, "in my anxiety to ascertain that we were not firing into each other, I tried to make the general signal to cease firing, but as fast as the flag could be attempted to be shown, either the men hoisting them were killed, or the means by which the signals were to be displayed were shot away. I then tried to despatch a boat with this object, when it was found that we had no boat that would swim; an attempt by halting to get one from the Gecon was equally unsuccessful, and I was obliged to give up the attempt, and leave things to take their course."

Navarino was the first and last battle in which the Asia took part. For forty years she has been lying in Portsmouth Harbor as a reserve guardship. Imagination is not a strong feature of the British character, or a ship which has played a part in history so great and noble would not be dismissed to forgetfulness, or allowed to go to decay with such amazing indifference. England might easily place in the chief port of each of her colonies some ship like the Asia, or the Victoria, which might be a perpetual object-lesson in national pride. Certainly the Asia made a great contribution to the world's history. The fight in Navarino Bay on 20th October 1827, won freedom for Greece, and added a new Christian State to Europe. The exploding Turkish wrecks in that Syrian bay all through that wild night were the symbols of a perishing despotism. On the night of Navarino, to quote Alison, "Hell rose from the grave of nations, scorched by fire, riddled by shot, baptized in blood." Yet was it a true resurrection? All this surely is a tale to be remembered today, when Greece and Turkey have met in battle once more, with ill-fortune to Greece, and no Navarino, alas! to save her.

INKERMANN

November 5, 1854.

"Scarcely could they hear or see their foes. Until at weapon point they close—They close in clouds of smoke and dust."

body could see many yards from the point where he stood, and fought or died. When at any given point the huge grey mass of the Russians swayed upwards, a cluster of British—sometimes a single officer leading, sometimes a sergeant, a corporal, or a private soldier of exceptional daring—would run forward fiercely with bayonets at the charge; and always the few thrust back the many. About the combatants added the thick, white fog. Above them rolled incessantly the sullen thunder of the Russian guns and over the crest to which the swirling line of the British clung so stubbornly rushed incessantly the tempest of Russian shot.

No one can adequately tell the story of Inkermann. It translated into the language of tactics, it is the coldest and shortest of tales. It writes as a pure chapter of adventure, it overwhelms both writer and reader by its wealth of detail. Kinglake devotes an entire volume to Inkermann; and in patches, his story is of amazing brilliancy. It is in fact a sort of dithyrambic hymn of praise in honor of the British private. But no one will form any clear mental picture of the great fight from Kinglake. His language is too wide and crowded. You cannot see the forest for the trees!

Inkermann represents on the part of the Russians an effort of daring generalship. The allied forces, numbering 65,000 men—not including Turkish auxiliaries—were besieging a great stronghold, fortified by the genius of Todleben, and defended by forces numbering 120,000 men. The allies, moreover, were spread along an exterior line of twenty miles; the Russians held interior lines only four miles long. The Russians had already attacked Balaklava at one extremity of the allied position; Inkermann was a daring, well-planned, and powerful effort to pierce the other extremity of that position.

The scene of the fight, surveyed from the British camp, is a tiny and steep plateau, shaped like the butt-end of a musket or the letter L, turned the wrong way. The post-road from Sebastopol bisects the cross-ridge, which runs east and west, and at its rear was the camp of the Second Division. The crest lent itself perfectly to defensive uses. On the east it fell by a steep ravine to the Tcher-nava; on the north, the "fore ridge," as the upright part of the letter L was called, sank into the Quarry Ravine; to the west the gloomy depths of the Carpenango Ravine protected the crest. A few entrenchments and a dozen guns in position would have made the hill impregnable. But not a battery had been erected, not a trench

AEROPLANE GUN TO BE USED IN BRITISH ARMY

THE LEWIS RIFLE MOUNTED ON AN AEROPLANE.

Great Britain at last has acquired what the War Office considers the ideal aeroplane gun. It is none other than the latest model of the air cooled gas-operated Lewis rifle, already experimented with by the United States army.

Firing upward of one thousand shots a minute, it is to be made a weapon of offence for aeroplanes in the British service. The government has already ordered a batch of the new weapons.

"I was with Mack," the stranger said—And the fan begged "Tell the tale—"

Regular Intervals—Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured her.

Adrian, Texas.—"I take pleasure in reading your testimonial to the great relief of interest to suffering women. For four years I suffered untold agonies at regular intervals. Such pains and cramps, severe chills and sickness as stomach, then finally hemorrhages until I would be nearly blind. I had five doctors and none of them could do more than relieve me for a time. I saw your advertisement in a paper and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took seven boxes of it and used two bottles of the Sanative Wash, and I am completely cured of my trouble. When I began taking the Compound I only weighed ninety-six pounds and now I weigh one hundred and twenty-six pounds. ## HARVARD'S TRIO OF CRACK FOOTBALL WARRIORS

The stars that are responsible for Harvard's victories on the gridiron are Brickley, Mahan and Hardwick. Since Hardwick has been switched from the backfield to an end he is playing even better football than he played before, if such a thing is possible. In the game against Brown he was one of the big cogs in the works. Mahan will be counted upon to run the ball and Brickley to boot it over the bar whenever opportunity offers.

THE BIG WRESTLER TORE CLOTHES

Montreal, Nov. 28.—A warrant was sworn out today by William Okanof, known as "Hokuf," the wrestler, for the arrest of Raymond Caseau, one of the best known wrestlers in the Dominion, alleging that he had been attacked by Caseau after a wrestling bout last Wednesday night, when his coat and other clothing was torn.

The warrant was placed in the hand of High Constable St. Mars, who went to 832 Andre street, the home of the accused, only to find the big athlete was in Ottawa, and would not be back for a day or two. Last night he was in Quebec, but went direct to the capital from there.

INDIANAPOLIS MAYOR RESIGNS POSITION

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 28.—Samuel Lewis Shank resigned as mayor of Indianapolis this afternoon. The resignation is the result of labor troubles in the city and threat of impeachment proceedings by a committee of business men unless further disorders were averted. Harry R. Wallace, city controller, succeeded to the mayor's chair.

SHAFER, GIANTS THIRD SACKER, GLASSY BATSMAN

"Ace" Shafer, the new performer whom McGraw presents at third base instead of Herron, is some boy. One might say that he is deservedly paired with Baker as the longest hitter of their respective teams, for the active Calkerson has supplied "Chief" Meyers as the extra base hitter of the Giants. It is his speed that makes him the player that he is. He is easily the fastest leg in McGraw's second-innings.

SPORTOGRAPHY "GRAV"

"A pugilist and a gentleman" would be an appropriate epithet for the monument which English fight fans have erected to the memory of Jem Mace, one of the greatest and cleverest in the long line of heavy weight champions. The grand old man of the "rings" died three years ago, come tomorrow. He was then in his eightieth year, and until within ten years of his death had been active in the ring. During his extended career as a champion nobody ever had occasion to question Jem's manliness, yet in his early days as a boxer he appeared to have a well developed yellow streak. As a boy he was a rky violinist, travelling about from one fair to another. Boxing was then one of the principal features of English fairs, and Jem took naturally to the game, but his artistic temperament and sensitive and imaginative nature made him shrink from punishment, with the result that the crowds often jeered him and called him a coward. Most of Jem's opponents were much larger than himself, and he was able to defeat them only by developing science, generalship and cleverness beyond anything ever seen in the ring before. Continuous boxing developed his courage, and in the course of time Jem became a very lion, and knew not the name of fear. The man who had been called a coward became the hero of many grueling battles, and he won and held the title against all comers for a long period of years. In all he was the victor in over 500 bouts, and nearly all of them were fought under the old "slaughter house" rules. He retired undefeated. He made a fortune in the ring and on the stage, but he was too kind-hearted to keep it. Anybody could work on his sympathy, and he was a champion easy mark as well as a champion boxer. His admirers gave him a farm on which to spend his declining years, but he could not stay away from the luring lights of the city. To the last he retained his youthful fondness of the "fiddle," and he was a really good violinist. Mace's son is a travelling evangelist, and has toured America several times, attracting big crowds on the strength of his father's reputation. Mace was human and had his weaknesses, but taken by the large and up one side and down the other he was every inch a gentleman.

Try this! Hair gets thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful at once.

Immediate!—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. ## WINDSOR ATHLETIC SPORTS GOOD

Special to The Standard.

Windsor, N. B., Nov. 28.—The expected happened in the Windsor rink tonight when Victor MacAulay won the ten mile race against as fast a field of runners as ever graced this track. The redoubtable Rogers was four and a half laps behind the Maritime champion, and Yates pushed Rogers right to the tape only to be beaten out by inches.

The track was 16 laps and was accurately measured.

The time was rather slow as the runners complained of the corners being rather short.

Charles Patterson won the half mile in 2:25 1/2, C. Campbell of King's College second. There were 12 starters in this swift race and it was very close and interesting all through.

H. B. Tremblin, M. P., presented the prizes after the events were concluded, with a few words of congratulations to each winner. Dr. Tremblin spoke very highly of the whole evening's sport and showered praises on the athletic club's first race meet. Mr. Tremblin sees a new club of a large proportion and membership springing into life in Hants County. The attendance was about 900.

THIS DATE IN RING ANNALS.

1906—Sam Langford stopped George Gunther in 5 rounds at Haverhill, Mass. This was the fourth and final bout between Gunther and the Boston "tar baby," and the former was convinced that Sam was his master. In 1905 they fought two 12-round contests, Langford winning both on points, as he did the third bout earlier in 1906. Gunther was a clever boxer, and later, in France, he was hailed as a champion. In 1911 Gunther fought a draw with Willie Lewis and defeated Harry Lewis, both bouts taking place in Paris.

1910—Jimmy Gardner defeated Frank Kavan in 12 rounds at Boston.

1911—Johnny Kilbane defeated Patsy Brannigan in 10 rounds at Youngstown.
