Hon. R. Benson, Senator.
The Clinton Insures only Insolated Property, and is subject to not more than Two Thousand Dollars in any Risk.
This Company Effects Insurance as follows:
1st.—On the PREMIUM NOTE PRINCIPLE, that is, a small payment each year. In this branch for the past 15 years, a trifle more than one-half the notes have been sufficient to defray the expenses and pay the losses.
2nd.—On the SHORT DATE NOTE PRINCIPLE, that is, the amount to be paid in full at any time within six months at the option of the Applicant.
3rd.—On the CASH PRINCIPLE, that is, all down at the time of insurance.
By the two latter methods the applicant knows at once the amount to be paid, and by the Premium Note Principle, the applicant is liable only for the Amount of the Note and the good fortune of the Company tends to lighten his payments.
SABES & GARDNER, Esq., Agents, has been appointed General Agent for the Maritime Provinces, through whom we hope to secure a fair share of the Insurance patronage.

DAPH AND HER CHARGE.
CHAPTER I.
DAPH AND HER CHARGE.
Daph had observed a small cabinet-maker's shop, not far from her new home, and to it she easily made her way. The sight of two little wooden chairs, painted with the usual variety of wonderfully bright colours, attracted her attention, and suggested her plan of operations.
"It's for de children I see buying," she said, "and what's de use ob payin' a big price for grown up things. I had wants two chairs and a few things to match for de dears." While Daph was thus soliloquising, the shopman came forward, and she promptly addressed him as follows: "Use me come sar, to buy de fix ob a teetle room for my massa's children, General Louis La Tourette."
Daph mentioned her master's name with a pompous air, and with great distinction, which had their effect on the humble cabinet-maker. He moved about briskly, and Daph soon had displayed before her all the small articles of furniture he had on hand.
The bright yellow chairs, adorned with the wonderful roses and tulips, were first set aside; then followed a little table, painted in the same fanciful manner; and lastly, a good-sized trundle bed, of a somewhat less gaudy appearance.
"I see in a most pertickler hurry, jus now," said Daph; "would you jus hab de kindness to get for de bed jus what I want, to look neat and comfortable—not too nice for children to play on—while I steps out for a few notions as I see 'bliged to get?"
The shopkeeper kindly complied, while Daph went on her way delighted with the bargain she had made. Her children were waiting for her at the door, and she had taken off the shawl from her shoulders, and set Charlie on his feet, and the children might appear to be the best advantage; she stood proudly between them, as she said, "I wants to have a room for my missus's children. We's been 'bliged to come north this summer, and will have to look out a bit for ourselves, as massa couldn't come wid us."
"Daphne," said the woman, sweetening a little, "Captain Jones says 's your mass, and that you are an honest, industrious woman. Do you think you will be able to pay the rent regularly?"
"I has a right to my name," said Daph, straightening up her stout figure. "Missus had it gib to me, and any white folks, when she had me baptized. I isn't particular about having all of it, so most folks calls me Daph. I honest? Look me in de eye, and answer that yes or no. Look at de arm, and dese here fingers; do dey look as if I was lazy?"
The clear eye, muscular arm, and hard work worn hand were indeed the best assurance the doubtful questioner could have received.
"As to de rent," added Daph, "my missus's children isn't widout money." As she spoke, she gave her pocket a hearty shake, which produced a slight rattle, that seemed quite satisfactory.
"You are a queer one!" said the woman, "but you may as well look to the room. It's just in front; you passed it as you came in."
Daph stepped to the door of the front room, pushed it open, and looked around her, with her head thrown a little on one side, as if that position were favorable to forming a correct judgment as to its merits.
"Well, it do be rader small," she said, after a few moments' diguiled consideration, "but den it do be proper clean, and two widder to de street for de children. Haven't yo got any thing to put in it; no chair, nor table, nor sneh like?"
"You will have to furnish for yourself," said the woman, "but you shall have the room on reasonable terms." The bargain was soon made, but Daph had but little idea, though she presently concealed her ignorance.
Once in her own domain, Daph sat on the floor, and giving each of the children a huge seal-biscuit, she took them in her arms, and began to wave to and fro, singing one of the wild negro melodies, which spring up wherever the African race take root.
The weary children were soon in a sound sleep, and then Daph laid them carefully down on the clean floor, covered them with the shawls she had found so useful, and then sat stock-still beside them, for a few moments, lost in deep thought. After a while, she took from her pocket the purse the captain had given her, and her own store of small change, wrapped in its bit of rag. The latter she laid aside, saying, "That must do for eat. Dat Daph's own. Now dis, Daph jus borry from de cap'n. Massa's children don't have to come to livin' on other people when Daph's on her feet."
Captain Jones got de money's worth in that beauty gold chain I puts in his hand, and he not know it!"

Here Daph gave a real negro chuckle, at the thought of the article, which had made her feel at liberty to use the money so kindly given her, without accepting charity, from which she revolved, as well for herself as for her master's children.
"Now Daph must be getting dis place in order quick, or de children will be wak' up," said Daph, as she rose to go, and she had her eye on the door for action. She carefully looked the slutters, locked the door, and putting the key in pocket, set off to make her purchases.
CHAPTER V.

After a while, she took from her pocket the purse the captain had given her, and her own store of small change, wrapped in its bit of rag. The latter she laid aside, saying, "That must do for eat. Dat Daph's own. Now dis, Daph jus borry from de cap'n. Massa's children don't have to come to livin' on other people when Daph's on her feet."
Captain Jones got de money's worth in that beauty gold chain I puts in his hand, and he not know it!"

Tourette, though a native of France, spoke English in his family, and to that language his little ones were accustomed. They took no fancy to the cross French nurse who had laterly had the charge of them, and much preferred Daph, whose English was pleasant to their ears. They loved to linger at the door of her southern kitchen, to play under the wide-spreading tree that waved over its roof.
Daph returned to the children with all the strength of her warm heart, and Mrs. La Tourette felt sure that in her absence Daph would watch over both children and nurse with an eagle eye.
With more of the dove than the eagle in her expression, Daph now sat beside the little ones in their new home, so far from the land of their birth.
Not long after her preparations were completed, Daph had the satisfaction of seeing the children awake, refreshed by their long sleep, and full of eager delight at the wonders achieved by their new nurse. She listened with hearty satisfaction to their exclamations of surprise and pleasure at the shining tin and gaily painted chairs.
Daph was just wondering with what to fill plates and cups the table, when she saw a bell rung impatiently, in the street, before the house. From all sides women and girls gathered round the bell-ringer's cart, and from his great tub they filled their vessels with milk, which was at this moment most refreshing to the eyes of Daph. She seized her new saccapane; and, salting out, presented it to the bell-ringer, and the spoon in her hand to her child, and the milk in her mouth instead of her own. Yes, Daph, said Louise, 'do take some supper.'
Daph had hardly thought once of herself during the whole of this busy afternoon; but when the children had finished their meal, she filled her cup, and she looked round on the men that seemed to her so comfortable and true, fervent gratitude, undisturbed by one fear for the future, filled the heart of the faithful negress.
CHAPTER VI.
CLOUDS.
Alas for Daph! She was soon to find that it was not all sunshine in her new home. The lovely May weather which had been like a pleasant welcome to the strangers, suddenly vanished, and was succeeded by dark clouds, pouring rain, and keen easterly winds. Daph was glad to keep the children wrapped in the bed-clothes, while she wracked her ingenuity to find means of amusements for the little ones. She had a wash-basin for a drum, and the pewter spoon with which she beat it was a constant and patient sufferer. Louise was not so easily pleased; she began to miss her mother here, and tried poor Daph, by pleading piteously to see her 'own dear mamma.'
Daph tried to banish from her mind all thought of her master and mistress, for the bare imagination of what they might have entered made her wild with distress. She said to herself, "What for Daph got to think about things as likely nebbas was at all! Daph makes out de great Lord couldn't save massa and Miss Elize all Hisself, widout Daph to help Him! For fish darkey! She better cheer up and take care ob de children, 'stead ob jus whimper, whimper, like a sick monkey."
Daph had to go through a course of consolation, similar to the above, very frequently, to enable her to cheer up her cheerfulness; but the piteous questionings of the little Louise well-nigh overcame all the poor negress's philosophy.
"I see tell you what it is, Miss Lou," poor Daph said, desperately, at last; "I see jus tell you what it is; de great Lord is a-takin care ob your mamma, and if you's a good girl, you'll jus see her some day, and if you is not, de great Lord will nebbas, nebbas bring you together."
Daph's manner, as well as her words had some effect upon Louise, and she tried to content herself with watching the rain streaming down the window-panes; and was soon in a sufficiently cheerful mood to march up and down the room, to the sound of Charlie's music, greatly to his satisfaction.
The dreary weather without was not all that Daph had to contend with; she found she had an enemy within the house, whose attacks it was far more difficult to meet.
The little woman, whose angry voices had attracted Daph's attention at first, kept her humble lodger familiar with its harsh tones. Daph's appearance was the signal for a volley of complaints, as to the noise made by the children, the marks left on the floor by Daph's feet, as she returned from the well, the unpleasantness of seeing other folks so much at home in one's own house, &c., &c.
Daph never had a chance to get any further than, "deed, Miss' Ray! in her attempts at self-justification, for the opening of her mouth was sure to produce another tirade on the "in-pudding of certain people that nobody knew anything about. The denunciations of little girl was generally a silent spectator of these attacks; but now and then she was forced to cry out, "Oh, mother! don't!" which protest was generally met by a box of the ear, and a "take that, Mary, and learn to be quiet!" If Mary had learned any lesson, it certainly was to be quiet. She rarely spoke, and her footsteps were almost as noiseless as the fall of the winter snow.

NEWCASTLE, MIRAMICHI, N. B. WEDNESDAY, NOV. 4, 1874. THE WORKING-MAN IN AMERICA.

The philanthropists of Britain have been induced, by many circumstances, to believe that in the emigration of the surplus labor of that country is to be found a plan for alleviating the many ills to which the courageous and honest laborer is subjected in the agricultural districts. This opinion, backed up as it may be by exaggerated accounts of wide spread poverty and starvation, by the publication of such satires as "Gin's Baby" and "Little Hodge," and by the energy of such men as Joseph Arch, has led to results which speak for themselves; yet, notwithstanding the fact that thousands, whose experience of life in Britain was but a daily struggle for a morsel of coarse bread, and a handful of scanty clothing, have tried America and have there improved their condition in every respect, there are still many loud mouthed philosophers in Europe, who shout and talk, and write against Canada and the United States in a strain which truly shows the ignorance of both countries, and which, likewise, fully determines their indifference to the advancement and well being of the or crawls into the corners of the first city he reaches, he must encounter and endure the troubles and vicissitudes of city life and labor. The fluctuations of trade are much more directly felt by the inhabitants of a city than by those who have planted their residence in the country. In a word Canada wants more of the Hodges of Britain and fewer of the Ginxes. Immigration to Canada need not cease because some of the artisans of New York have thought it necessary to return to Britain. Large tracts of fertile lands are here inviting the farm servants and laborers to come over and possess them, where they may enjoy comfort and steady employment as their own masters. Trade is dull but the land is not the less fertile to industrious hands and willing hearts, and this, no doubt, will soon be well known through the industry of our immigration agents in Britain.

We are inclined to believe that New Brunswick and the other provinces will gain by the present depression of trade on the other side of the line. Many of our young people are apt to look upon the United States as the El Dorado of America, where they can make a luxurious living from the high wages. As soon as a young New Brunswicker has strength to hold the plough he is off to the States to wield a shovel or pickaxe at two dollars a day. But dull trade sends him back in poverty to depend on his parents for a winter's food and clothing. Less wages with steady employment on a farm is surely to be preferred to this precarious means of existence. Why are our young men unable to look further before them? Many who have left the North Shore for the States, it is true, have succeeded, but hundreds have failed. Those who succeed so well there, would, we believe, have succeeded here, though probably to a less extent, while those who have failed there know now too well that they would have been much better to have remained in New Brunswick. Many say that New Brunswick is no country for farming, and for a young man to settle on his father's property or to take a farm of his own, and to attend to ploughing, and sowing, and reaping is to waste his energy needlessly. This is sheer nonsense, as many of our farms on the Miramichi attest. No land is good without the industry to till it, and a steady stream of that industry

OLIVIER GALLEN, the murderer, was a native of Caracquet Island, about 30 years of age, of medium height, stoutly built, his complexion dark, and features closely approaching in appearance to those of the Indian race. His countenance constantly wore a stolid and careless expression, as if the prisoner could not or would not realize his solemn position. Until he was visited by Father Pelletier, about 12 days previous to the execution, Gallien was emphatic in protesting his innocence of the fearful crime laid to his charge, even after his conviction. The visit of the Rev. gentleman evidently showed him the fallacy of such a course, for after that event he became very penitent, and in an indirect manner admitted his guilt. The prisoner ate heartily all the time, not excepting his breakfast on the morning of execution, and slept soundly during his last night on earth. During his waking hours much of his time was spent in prayer.

Both Father Pelletier of Caracquet and Father Carter, of St. Peter's Village, were uncredited in their attention to the criminal, endeavoring to impart to him that spiritual advice and counsel he so much needed. Gallien's parents are both dead, having fallen victims to small pox about five years ago, together with his three brothers. At the time of his conviction Gallien had four sisters, one of whom gave a straightforward evidence against him on the trial, and who has since died. It is said, of a broken heart. He was not visited by any of his relatives during his sojourn in prison. The day previous to the execution Angele Paulin spoke to her paramour through the bars of the cell, asking him if he had any spite against her, or if he blamed her for his being there. The only answer he made was—"God fix all that." He evidently did not wish to compromise her, as evidenced also by the fact that on the trial he would not give testimony against her.

XAVIER PAULIN, the murdered man, was about 60 years of age, and belonged to Caracquet. For ten years he was an invalid, spending most of his time in a chair, or reclining in a partially upright position, scarcely ever being able to enter his bed. He was a man of some, unable to work, and it is currently reported was supported by the Parish. He was just beginning to walk about a little with a stick, and was outside the house when he was attacked and so brutally murdered. During our interview with Angele Paulin, she was somewhat affected at its close, but gave all the information we sought with a readiness almost unexpected, speaking of the murdered and the murderer in a manner almost good order prevailed, and every thing was conducted in a manner creditable to Sheriff Vall, which was creditable to Bathurst. Two gentlemen belonging to Bathurst represented the St. John and American Press, while the Press of the North was represented by the "Junior" of the Advocate. We have to thank Sheriff Vall and his Deputy for their kindness during our brief visit to the jail in search of information.

about four or five feet from the ground. To this was attached a blinged trap or drop underneath which the rope was fastened, and which ran through a pulley placed at the top of the scaffold leading from thence through a window into the jail and there fastened, ready to be severed in two when the fatal moment arrived. Every precaution was taken by Sheriff Vall to ensure a careful carrying out of the terrible sentence of the law.

GALLEN'S LAST NIGHT, or a portion of it, was spent in sound slumber, the condemned awaking at an early hour, soon after which his parish Priest, Father Pelletier, visited him to prepare him for his departure. The Rev. Mr. Carter was also in attendance, to assist in the solemn duty. As we neared the jail a few minutes before 8 o'clock on Thursday morning, the tolling of a bell sounded out solemnly on the morning air, its tones impressing the few who had then gathered, with feelings approaching to awe at the hour for execution arrived. In all about 150 persons had collected, including some of the most respectable and prominent citizens. Those who were admitted into the jail were the Rev. Messrs. Pelletier and Carter, and a few others, who alone witnessed the execution.

THE EXECUTION. About 8 o'clock the bell ceased to toll, and the condemned man, accompanied by his spiritual advisers, his Counsel J. F. McManis, Esq., and the High Sheriff, was led forth to meet an untimely death. Gallien approached the scaffold firmly, but appeared to need a little assistance as his eyes fixed their gaze on the fatal trap. At the door Gallien bade his spiritual advisers farewell in French, beseeching pardon of those around him, and pardon of God, for what he had done. The Sheriff then placed the block over his head, drawing on the block cap, and the condemned was then conducted to the scaffold by Constable Gammon and Deputy Cable. The latter adjusted the rope, and in a few seconds the rope was severed from its side, the drop fell, and Gallien the murderer was hanging by the neck, his feet (which could not be mangled owing to the size of his boots) being about a foot from the ground. The fall was 34 feet. Death was not instantaneous. For about a minute he hung motionless, then violent struggling commenced, which lasted for nearly four minutes, after which the body hung almost motionless, with occasional convulsions extending down the left side. Life was pronounced extinct by Dr. Bishop in 30 minutes from the time the drop fell, and 20 minutes after the body was taken down and laid out in the cell. Gallien's dress at the execution was black pants, white shirt, black tie, red and white comforter around the waist, and two emblems of the church.

In Brief. The Nova Scotia House of Assembly, it is stated, is to be dissolved immediately. Lord Dufferin was in New York last week. There are 90,000 unemployed in New York, and the number is rapidly increasing. Col. Mowbray Thomson, the defendant of Cawnpore, fails to identify the alleged Nana Sahib, though he says there is a likeness. Joseph Arch is seriously ill. John Lillywhite, the veteran English cricketer, died on the 27th of October, aged 48. In consequence of the long drought, Mr. Tullivant, a wretched Illinois farmer, will have only 250,000 bushels of corn this year. China wanted to buy the "Iron Duke," British man-of-war, now in the China seas, but John Bull refused to sell. Prince Louis of Hesse lately saved a lady's life at Blackenburgh by swimming to her rescue, as she had inadvertently gone beyond her depth. A Philadelphia lawyer estimates that $1,500,000 is the amount so far involved by the libel suits growing out of the interminable Beecher-Tilton scandal. The Bridgetown Monitor states that Miss Stevens at the Law-conviction to meet on the 20th ult., exhibited a very handsome bouquet of fully expanded may flowers gathered that day on the mountain near the falls south of the village. W. H. A. Keane, Esq., M. P., P., will be a candidate for the Speakership of the House of Assembly. A London despatch says that Capt. Mayne Reid is lying dangerously ill. Gen. Dix, who seeks re-election in New York, has found it expedient to declare against the third term. The tiger which has lately been in P. E. Island has been shot. Sadler has decided to accept George Brown's challenge—a five mile race and turn. A Toronto and sister are in custody at their having got married and lived together as man and wife. Judge Winter, of Gaspe, has resigned his Judgeship. Gold. An New York on Friday was 110-18. Paris had a marriage the other day of the Tom Thumb and Minnie Warren class, but with more drollery about it. The husband is a dwarf forty inches in height, and the wife a giantess of six feet six. Thirteen tons of bananas were recently taken from the hull of an iron ship after 6 months voyage. Small pox is steadily increasing in Montreal. Major General Smyth, of the British army has been appointed to the command of the militia forces in Canada. A Montreal insolvent has eloped with his wife's sister, deserting his wife and four children. The consecration of Monsiegnor Duhamel, Roman Catholic Bishop of Ottawa, took place at the capital on Tuesday, the 27th Oct.

School Examination. On Tuesday of last week the Examination of the Bathurst High School was held in the presence of a large number of ladies and gentlemen, among whom were J. S. Smith Esq., Inspector, Rev. C. W. Smith Esq., and Rev. J. S. Paisley, M.A., and Rev. J. S. Paisley Esq. In the forenoon classes were examined in Reading, Arithmetic, English Grammar, Geometry, & Latin; and in the afternoon in English History, Geography, English Grammar & Algebra, in all of which subjects the scholars acquitted themselves in such a manner as to reflect great credit upon themselves and their Teacher Mr. Freeze, B. A. At the close of the exercises, four prizes, given by many different persons, were presented to the successful competitors;—one, for proficiency in Eng. History, by Mr. DesBrisay, to Miss Christiana Ellis, and the three others by Rev. Mr. Paisley, the one to Charles DesBrisay for excellence in Algebra, and the other two to Miss Annie Smith & Christiana Ellis for excellence in English Grammar. After brief addresses by Messrs Paisley and Girdwood, the exercises were brought to a close.

On Wednesday forenoon, the Primary Department, under Miss Mann, passed through a highly satisfactory examination, in the presence of Inspector Smith and a number of other visitors, both ladies and gentlemen. At the close of the exercises brief addresses were delivered by Rev. Mr. Paisley and Mr. Smith expressing their satisfaction with the proficiency of the scholars. And on the afternoon of the same day the Intermediate Department, under Miss Dawson, acquitted itself equally well. The attendance of visitors was large and the examination of the Scholars in English Grammar, Reading, Geography, etc., was thorough. The discipline of the School and the attainments of the scholars speak well for the Teacher. A brief address was delivered at the close by Mr. W. Sivewright. In these three departments there are 187 Scholars under the care of three skilful Teachers, in every way adapted to the positions they hold. Bathurst has great reason to be proud of its High School and of the thoroughness of the education it imparts.—Com.

Bolestown Items. A correspondent sends us the following items from Bolestown: Jno. Fairley, Esq., of Bolestown, is beginning to supply parties to go to the woods. Miles McMillan's Grist Mill is giving great satisfaction this year. He has been to a great deal of expense to make the mill a first class one, and the people are very much satisfied with the return they get from their grain. The bears are numerous on the Portage, and a large number of sheep have been killed by them. Mr. Thomas Brown having lost all but one. There was a Lodge of British Templars organized in Bloomfield Ridge about a month ago, and it is doing a great deal of good. Mr. Samuel Green is fitting up the residence of the late James McLenan, Esq., for a hotel, to be conducted on Temperance principles. The potato crop is poor, half of them being rotten. Wheat and oats are a better crop than for years past.

Escaped. We learn that Thomas Henderson, sentenced at the October term of the County Court, to five years in the Provincial Penitentiary for unlawfully and maliciously wounding one Thomas Payne, escaped from the custody of the Sheriff at Paines Junction, while on his way to St. John. It appears he slipped his hands from the handcuffs and made his escape to the woods and in the darkness managed to elude all pursuit.

Our New Volume. This number of The Union Advocate commences Volume 8. We do not think it necessary to make any promises as to our future course; in reference to questions affecting the public welfare we shall, as heretofore, advocate to the best of our ability what we consider the best to promote the public welfare. During the past year we have received many letters from old friends in reference to the stand taken by us on questions of vital importance to the people of this Province, and we take this opportunity of thanking them for their words of encouragement. In the future as in the past we shall strive to make our paper a readable one, and hope to see all our old friends still subscribing for The Advocate, as well as a good many new ones.

METEOROLOGICAL. Reported for the Dominion Gov't by G. A. Blair, Esq. Table with columns for DATE, Time, Height of Barometer, Thermometer, Maximum Thermometer, Minimum Thermometer, and Direction of Wind.

PROVINCIAL APPOINTMENTS.—The last Royal Gazette contains the following appointments:—His Honor the Lieut. Governor has been pleased to appoint the Hon. Wm. E. Perley to be a Member of the Executive Council of this Province in the room of the Honorable James Tibbits, resigned. William H. Tack, Esquire, to be Recorder of the City of Saint John. George B. Fraser, Esquire, to be Registrar of Probates for the County of Northumberland.

PERSONAL.—W. H. Venning, Esq., Inspector of Fisheries, has been making his usual inspection tour in this vicinity during the last few days. He says that at the hatching house on the North West there will be put down for hatching about one and a half millions of salmon eggs. Mr. Venning left this morning. Mr. Upton holds a preliminary meeting in the Institute on Monday evening next. All persons wishing to join a Singing Class should attend without fail. The freight steamer Polino of the Mitchell line came in with a very heavy freight on Monday last. Alex. Ferguson, Esq., of Derby, was not the Alex. Ferguson who figured in the Police Report last week. A correspondent offers five dollars to begin with towards a town clock; who will follow suit.

A Distressing Casualty. On Thursday evening about five o'clock one of the saddest and most distressing casualties that it has ever been our lot to record occurred in this city. A group of persons consisting of Col. J. V. Thurgood and Mrs. Thurgood, Mrs. Wm. Lee and Mrs. Harris Lee, and her daughter, were standing on the corner of Dalry and Charlotte streets, and just as they had bade each other good bye and were about to separate, a runaway horse with a broken carriage attached, dashed into their midst. Col. Thurgood was thrown violently down, and the broken wheel of the carriage striking Miss Lee in the back of the head she was picked up a corpse. The only sign of life was a flickering motion of the heart which soon ceased. On examining the back of the head it was found that one of the spokes of the carriage wheel had made a terrible wound, and it was ascertained that her neck was broken. Her forehead was also terribly bruised and swollen. The unfortunate calamity by which a beautiful and amiable young lady, scarcely yet 21 years of age, was torn from the side of her grief stricken parent, and ushered so suddenly into eternity, has met a gloom over the entire city.—St. John News.

Correspondence. Do not hold yourselves responsible for the opinions expressed by our correspondents. North's Co. Grammar School. The examination of the County Grammar School took place Monday last, in the presence of the Rev. Messrs. Waterhouse, Wilson and Russell, and a number of other visitors, both ladies and gentlemen. The pupils were examined in English Grammar, Reading, Arithmetic, Geography, Eng. History, Geometry, French and Latin, and in general acquitted themselves creditably. The classes in Latin, Geometry, Geography and English History particularly, showed considerable proficiency. The junior classes in Grammar and Reading, could, I think, have come a little better up to the mark. The Trustees of No. 1 District of Chatham, having organized their schools under the Common Schools Act, the trustees of the Grammar School have resolved to co-operate with them, and the Grammar School will in future be attached to the High School of the district. We are confident that this arrangement will greatly increase the efficiency of the Grammar School, enabling it to perform its proper duties, and affording excellent instruction in the higher branches. Mr. E. H. M'Alpine who has proved himself a painstaking and efficient teacher has been retained as principal of the united Grammar and High School.

To the Editors of the Advocate. Sir:—I beg to transmit a few jottings of the half yearly examination of pupils in the Douglastown school, in charge of Mr. W. Wilson, a first class teacher to begin with. The examination was held at 2 p.m., 21st ult., and conducted principally by a large number of visitors, ladies and gentlemen. There were 65 pupils in attendance, varying in ages from five to sixteen, and in progress from the primer to geometry. The register shows an attendance of 101 pupils, with an average of about 70. READING. There were two classes examined in this branch, 1st the Third, and 2nd the Fourth Royal Readers. In the first class there were 12 pupils, and in the second class 14 pupils. Each class read first, simultaneously, and second each individual separately passages in prose and verse. The simultaneous readings were very excellent, and the individual reading each pupil was subject to very intelligent criticism by his classmates, voluntarily offered by permission from the teacher, on the style, force, pauses, accents, etc. of the reading. The good effects of this mode as practised in this school is quite evident, from the great proficiency made in this very useful art. Each pupil was then examined in spelling and definitions, which showed great painstaking on the part of both teacher and pupils. These classes were then exercised in dictation, and upon the completion of the work it was found that the writing was very neatly performed, and (with but a very few exceptions) the whole were correct. The pupils were then examined in Arithmetic, Geography, Grammar, (Analysis, Parsing, &c.) in all of which every question asked was promptly and satisfactorily answered, and every exercise readily and correctly performed; the whole showing that the children are intelligent, and the teacher very judicious, faithful and successful. Recitations were then given as follows:—1st, "The Scotch Thistle" by Kate Yonston, (16 years old.) 2nd, "Meddlesome Mattie," Bertie Fowler, (9 years.) "The Spider and the Fly" by Howard Russell, a little boy of five summers, all of which were well performed, and much delighted the spectators, and when concluded were heartily applauded. The examination then terminated, it being after 5 p.m.

REMAIN AS FRIENDS. I remain as ever, A friend of FREE SCHOOLS. Miramichi River, Oct. 31, 74. Sir:—As nothing is now at a close at the "South West Point," on the noble Miramichi River, and having nothing of importance to occupy my time for a few leisure moments I came becoming Canadians in heart and hand. The advantage will be theirs in the end. Every fluctuation of trade need not alarm them, nor send them in search of a soap kitchen, as long as they possess a homestead, even if it be in the heart of a New Brunswick forest, or by the side of a river frozen for four months in the year. Editorial Correspondence. Bathurst, Oct. 30, '74. Matters in Bathurst are in general quiet. A number of new and handsome buildings are in course of erection on the site of the late fire, which, when completed, will add considerably to the appearance of the town at that point. An accident in Hon. John Ferguson's mill recently, disabled one of the engines, which has necessitated the running of the mill at night, in order to meet engagements. Work on Section 16 is again going on under the direction of the Government, it having been found, (as currently reported) that the embankments in some places are narrower than the specifications authorized by Government, and much too narrow for the safety of life and limb. The steam dredge Canada is at work in the harbour. In addition to the amount granted by Government for improving the harbour, there is a large amount of money on hand, which has been collected by levying a tax of ten cents per ton on vessels loading in the harbour during the last ten or eleven years. The dredge is doing good and necessary work. She is commanded by Capt. Thomson.—We notice that our friend Edward Lloyd, of Chatham, is also on board, occupying the position of chief mate. The merchants here still expect large quantities of goods, and the opinion generally prevails that the owners of the City of St. John are not doing justice to the towns north of Miramichi, by withdrawing their boat just at this time when the importations for winter are coming in. The great event of the week has been the EXECUTION OF OLIVIER GALLEN, who it will be remembered, in April last, murdered Xavier Paulin, a native of Caracquet. Before giving a description of the execution it may perhaps be of interest to some at least, to make a brief reference to the parties who have figured in the unfortunate affair.

ANGÈLE PAULIN, now lying in jail awaiting her final sentence as an accomplice in the murder of her husband, is a woman of unimpeachable appearance. She is 57 years of age, and was married at the age of 29 years to Xavier Paulin, with whom she lived for 28 years.—She is the mother of 10 children, 3 of whom are dead, the eldest now living being 25 years of age, and the youngest 2 years. The unfortunate woman will shortly give birth to another child, and it is to be hoped the infant will never open its eyes to recognize its guilty parent. Angele still asserts her innocence and ignorance of the fearful deed in which she took so prominent a part, and when asked recently if she was sorry for Gallien, she answered "No! if he had murdered her husband he deserved to die." In this way, she endeavours to create sympathy, but very little sympathy is expressed for her, not even among her own people. Angele also sticks to her statement that she did not urge Gallien to commit the deed, but we have yet to meet the person who believes that she is telling the truth. The prisoner is well taken care of, and is under the charge of a French woman named Mary Nevins. Angele has exhibited a stolid indifference to all the proceedings from the time she entered the jail; even the execution of Gallien did not move her, (so far as could be detected by any outward manifestation of feeling,) and only displayed the sign of sorrow when the body of her partner in guilt was removed from the jail for burial.

THE PRELIMINARIES. Sheriff Vall, who is a kind and gentlemanly officer, experienced considerably difficulty in the erection of the gallows. This work is generally performed by a number of workmen the night before an execution, but with one or two exceptions, no one seemed willing to lend a hand or drive a nail. The principal work was done by Deputy Cable, with occasional assistance from lookers on, under the direction of the Sheriff. The gallows was strongly put together, so that no accident should occur, and its erection occupied considerable time, the work being new and the workmen scarce. THE GALLOW. was erected in front of the jail, within an enclosure 12 feet square by 14 feet in height, the jail making one side of the enclosure. The platform was

THE INTERMENT. The body of Gallien was enclosed in a coffin and taken over to the Village of St. Peter's on Thursday morning, where it was interred in the unconsecrated portion of St. Mary's burial ground. The law relating to "Procedure in Criminal Cases" enacts that the body of every offender executed shall be buried within the walls of the prison within which judgement of death is executed on him, but by permission of the Governor or General in Council (which law permits) Gallien's body was allowed to be interred in the burial ground of the church to which he belonged. J. J. A. Grand Division Sons of Temperance. The Annual Meeting of the Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance of New Brunswick was held in St. John last week. There was a large representation and the reports of the officers show a large increase in membership during the past year. The following were elected Grand Officers for the ensuing year: A. G. Blair, G. W. P.; Jas. A. S. Mott, G. W. A.; W. W. Dudley, G. S.; C. A. Everett, G. Tress.; Rev. J. E. Fiewelling, G. Chap.; Charles F. Bourne, G. Con.; Robert Bell, G. Sen.; Edward McCarthy, P. G. W. P. South West Bridge. We are much pleased to be able to report that all the masonry of this important bridge on the I. C. R. has been completed, the finishing stroke being given on Saturday last, the 31st ult. Work on the iron structure has been discontinued, leaving two spans to be put up next spring. TEACHERS' AGREEMENTS.—Blank forms of agreements between Trustees of schools and Teachers can be obtained at the "Advocate" office.

Auctions. To-day, at 10 a. m. Mr. C. Marshall will sell the stock in trade of the late John M'Leod, Esq. At 12 o'clock, noon the School Lot in Blissfield will be sold at Auction in front of the residence of Hiram Freeze, Esq. On Thursday, the McKenzie Farm on the Little South West will be sold at auction if not sold by private sale previous to the time mentioned. On Saturday next Mr. C. C. Watt will sell at Auction a lot of personal property owned by F. J. Lynch, Esq. For full particulars examine our advertising columns. The steamer City of St. John is now making two trips per week between Point du Chene and Miramichi.

Married. At the residence of the bride's mother, on the 2nd inst. by the Rev. T. G. Johnston, George B. Fraser, Esq., Registrar of Probates for the County of Northumberland, and Miss Charlotte M'Kee, both of this city. At St. Michael's Church, Chatham, Oct. 30th, by the Right Rev. Dr. Rogers, assisted by the Rev. P. W. Dixon, Tros. Huxar, of Newcastle, to JANE HARRINGTON of the same place. At Bathurst, on Wednesday, the 28th Oct. of a lingering illness which she bore with patience and resignation to the Divine Will, CHARLOTTE MARY HERRLEY, widow of the late Benjamin Symeist, in the 50th year of her age. Her end was peace. (P. E. Island papers please copy.)

Died. At Bathurst, on Wednesday, the 28th Oct. of a lingering illness which she bore with patience and resignation to the Divine Will, CHARLOTTE MARY HERRLEY, widow of the late Benjamin Symeist, in the 50th year of her age. Her end was peace. (P. E. Island papers please copy.)

Beaver Police Court. BEFORE JOHN LAWLER, J. P. 23rd October.—Helen Lachance, Newcastle, assault and battery on John Donovon. Fined $2 and costs. 26th.—Joseph Boudrow, I. C. R., firing a pistol on the streets. Fined $2 and costs. Otto Johnston, I. C. R., drunk. Fined $2 and costs. 29th.—John Hosford, I. C. R., using insulting and abusive language toward W. F. Smallwood. Fined $2 and costs. 31st.—Michael M'Grath, I. C. R., drunk. Fined $2 and costs. John Kingston, Douglastown, drunk.—Fined $2 and costs. John Shaw, Thomas M'Evoy and James Duffy, committing a breach of the peace by attempting to unhang a gate on the premises of Michael Gooden. Fined $8 each or one month in jail. Joseph Major, John Shaw, Wm. Stewart and Wm. Meagher, unlawfully and maliciously tearing down a Latrine at Park's Mill. Fined $2.50 each, and to pay $10 damages. Benjamin Shaw and John Lud trespassing on the property of Jas. Johnston. Fined $2 and costs, to stand good for future good conduct. Robert Martin, drunk on the streets.

Miscellaneous.

Two trains dash into each other at full speed—No lives lost

(Special despatch to the St. John News.) BANQUO, Me., Oct. 19.—The freight train of twenty odd cars from Matamoras, due here at 11.30 a.m., was detained and unable to make up the line. Superintendent Angell was notified, and answered with orders to pass the 11.45 mixed train from this city at Vezie. Mr. Angell says he verbally ordered Conductor Lunt, of the up train, to switch the track or pass, and wait for the freight train to pass. Mr. Lunt did not understand such an order, of which, he says, he has no recollection, and pushed on past Vezie towards Basin Mills with his train. About a quarter of a mile from Basin Mills the down freight train and up mixed train came in sight round a curve, going at full speed. The engineers reversed their engines and with the firemen jumped for their lives, escaping with slight injuries. The two trains dashed into each other with frightful force, smashing both locomotives to splinters and telescoping car after car, until the scene of the collision was covered with the debris of the wrecked trains. The passenger cars were on the rear of the up train, and the shock was mostly spent on the freight cars in front, the former not being through the wreck, yet the inmates seriously injured. The escape from a terrible fatality was almost miraculous. A wrecking train was at once sent from this city to clear the track. The damages are not yet estimated, but they will be very heavy.

NANA SAHIB.—Late despatches to the St. John press state that Nana Sahib, the leader of the rebellious Sepoys in the insurrection in India some seventeen years ago, has been captured and will at once be tried. The St. John Telegraph, in referring to this capture, says:—"Nana Sahib, the Rajah of Bitoor, was in command of the rebellious Sepoys of Cawpore during the mutiny, and he was the author of the dreadful massacre which his given that place a mournful celebrity, in which 900 Europeans perished, including those who fell previous to the surrender of the barracks. Men, women and children, with circumstances of brutal outrage, were mutilated and slain, and their bodies thrown into a large well; and this was done after the traitorous Nana had promised them a safe conduct to depart. No wonder the great heart of England was stirred at the time at the atrocities inflicted on her helpless children. The request of India seemed but half completed, while this wretch remained unpunished, and his sudden and mysterious disappearance in 1857 was much commented on at the time, and was thought he had either been slain or had committed suicide."

No small amount of curiosity will be excited now to learn where he has been hiding during the last seventeen years; or what powerful influence has protected him. It is, however, satisfactory to know that this great criminal will be brought to justice, and his life will produce a profound impression on the minds of the inhabitants of Hindostan who have regarded him as their chief."

The white of an egg has proved of late the most efficient remedy for burns. Seven or eight successive applications of this substance sooth the pain and effectually exclude the air from the burn. Extraordinary stories are told of the healing properties of a few oil which is easily made from the yolk of hen's eggs. The eggs are then removed, crushed, and placed over a fire, where they are carefully stirred until the whole substance is free on the point of catching fire, when the oil separates, and may be poured off. It is in general use among the colonists of Southern Russia as a means of curing cuts, bruises and scratches.—Boston Journal of Chemistry.

A country laird who had lately been elevated to the office of a county magistrate, meeting the Rev. Mr. Thom, of Govan, attempted popularity by remarking that he was more ambitious than his Master, who was content to ride upon an ass. "They canna be gotten no," said Mr. Thom, "for they're no' made Justices of the Peace."

OUT AGAIN.—We are glad to see the Hon. John McMillan out again. He caught a severe cold from his rounds of inspection lately, and it confined him to his house for some days, to the great regret of his friends. He is now at work again.—Telegraph.
