ANNUAL MEETING OF TOWN COUNCIL

Officers For Ensuing Year Appointed—Resolution Introduced Regarding Shacks

The annual meeting of the Town Council was held on Tuesday evening in the Council Chambers, His Worship Mayor Andrew presiding over a full attendance of councillors. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Communication read from Police Officer Jas. Adams, making application for increase in salary, was referred to Police and License Committee.

Communication from the Town Clerk of Bathurst was read, thanking the town for the help given at the time of the fire, and asking that a bill of costs be rendered so that he could have the matter ready for the first meeting of Bathurst Town Council, referred to Fire Protection Committee.

Communication read from the editor of the Canadian Municipal Journal, asking the support of the Council with regard to an issue of an illustrated review of Gasette in Canada. Laid on table.

Communication read from E. H. Scammell with regard to the celebration of one hundred years of peace. Mr. Scammell will be in Campbellton to have a meeting on May 18th, next Wednesday, and the Town Clerk was authorized to issue necessary notices and make arrangements for the holding of the meeting.

Communication read from the Journal of Commerce asking that any information regarding the town thought suitable for the public, might be sent to them. The clerk was given the necessary authority to send this information from time to time.

Notice of expiry of insurance on the Electric Light plant from the Royal and Scottish Union and National companies was received and referred to the Finance Committee with power to renew.

Communication read from the International Good Roads Association with regard to their exhibition at Montreal from May 18th to 23rd. Councillor Patterson said they should get all the information they could, seeing that they intended putting down permanent roads and streets, and thought they should send representatives to the Congress. Councillor Alexander agreed with Councillor Patterson, as this was the first thing of the kind in Canada, some one ought to go, and it was advisable that some one with technical knowledge should be there. He suggested that the Chairman of the Public Property and Streets Committee and the Town Engineer be instructed to attend the congress and be allowed the sum of $50 for expenses.

Councillor Patterson said he could not go to Montreal at that time, but moved that the Town Engineer be sent, and allowed $30 for expenses. This was seconded by Councillor McLean and carried.

Communication read from the Chief of Fire Dept., giving a report of the operations in Bathurst the fire. In the discussion on this, it was unanimously resolved that as far as this town was concerned there would be no charge for the services of the fire engine and firemen who assisted at the fire in the town of Bathurst.

Petitions for trucking license were received from Arthur Curtis, Geo. Dunn, Lazarus Roy and William Walker. Referred to Police and License Committee.

Petition was received from residents of Ward III for improvements in streets, sewers, and lighting on certain streets on the O'Leary property. There was quite a discussion on this matter, and it was pointed out by the Town Solicitor that the town would be very unwise to do anything in this matter while affairs were in their present condition. No deed could be had from the O'Leary's for the street in question, and the town was threatened with a suit for trespass already from these

CLEAN-UP DAY FOR CAMPBELLTON

Wednesday the 20th May Will be Set Apart as a Clean-up
 Day For Town

Wednesday, the 20th May, will be Clean-up Day in the town of Campbellton. This project has been taken up enthusiastically by other towns in the province and there is no reason why we should lag behind in a matter which is for the benefit of the citizens and the town as a whole. Seen today, His Worship promised his active support to the movement, and would interest the Council to do their share.

Interviewing Councillor Patterson, Chairman of the Public Property and Streets Committee, for representative was encouraged to awaken the public to this necessary project. Councillor Patterson stated that he had this in his mind and was intending to proceed in the matter himself and was heart and soul in the movement.

"If the people clean up the yards and the waste rubbish lying around their doors, I will see that the town team or teams of some kind are engaged to remove the debris to the dumping ground," said Councillor Patterson. "It is to be hoped that all the citizens will pull together for this and have a right good bang up, cleaning on Wednesday next. It will not require much work and it will look so much better when it is done. Along the front street especially there are many unsightly places which, with a little care and thoughtful work, could be made clean and respectable looking, and if the citizens will do their part they will find the Council only too willing to do theirs."

PECULIAR ASSAULT ON YOUNG SYRIAN GIRL

Mary Hello, Aged Thirteen is Found Bound and Gagged Outside Church on Sunday

Last Sunday morning a young Syrian girl, Mary Hello, aged 13, was the victim of a peculiar assault. It appears that the girl, who was attending service in the church of Our Lady of Snows, had come out before the service was over and according to her story, was seized by two men, who were under the influence of liquor. A handkerchief was placed over her mouth and her hands tied behind her back, and she was then fastened to a small post. No further assault was committed. The girl was found by Mr. Arsenau, the caretaker, and released from her position. On the police taking the matter up, Officer Mann arrested a young man named James B. Roberts of Kent Co., whom the girl recognised as one of her assailants. He was brought before Police Judge Matheson yesterday and remanded till today. The evidence in the case is now being taken, the court opening this morning at 10 o'clock, and adjourned till the afternoon. At the time of going to press the evidence in the case which was most contradictory, was still being taken before Police Judge Matheson. Mr. A. E. G. McKennie is appearing on behalf of the complainant and Mr. H. A. Carr for the defense.

CAMPBELLTON RE- MAINS THE TERMINUS

Delegation Sured by the Government That Gaspe Steamers
 Will Run Here

With the return to town on Saturday morning of the delegation from the Board of Trade, the townspeople were assured that the vexed question of the terminus of the Gaspe steam service had been settled. The delegation composed of His Worship the Mayor, D. A. Stewart, M. P. P., and A. E. G. McKennie, were able to assure us that Campbellton would remain as before the terminus, and that such instructions had been issued from the department. Whether the delegation had any weight with the minister or not has so far not been revealed, but the government at least got a surprise and the town was complimented on the prompt manner in which the subject was handled.

The Gaspesian will be the first steamer on this run, and Mr. Alfred Renault, who has been connected with the Canada for a considerable time will be the local agent here for the company.

LUMBER DRIVES ARE IN GOOD SHAPE

Advices Received Here Show That Conditions Are Favorable For Early Driving

The weather for the past week has been causing grave uneasiness in lumbering circles, but we were informed today, that there was no cause for alarm, as there was plenty of water in all the brooks and conditions are very favorable for an early and successful drive. It is probable that the ice will run out from the brook this week, and the booms will be put in position early next week. All the crews are in readiness on the spot, and driving will commence as soon as the word is received that the booms are down.

OBITUARY

MRS. McNEIL
 Mrs. McNeil, widow of Murdoch McNeil, passed away on Friday, at the home of her son, William J. here, at the age of 64. She was born in Kent County, but removed here from Newcastle last fall, and has been in failing health for some time. Her husband predeceased her nine years ago. She is survived by two sons, William J. and Frank, and one brother, William Buckley of Newcastle. The remains were taken to Newcastle on Sunday, and the funeral took place from the depot to St. Mary's church, where the services were conducted by Rev. P. W. Dixon, who preached a sermon as "Preparation for Death." The pallbearers were Messrs. William Hoggan, Alexander Fitzgerald, George Johnston, T. M. McLaughlin, William Hall and Capt. Laurence McDonald. Interment was in the family lot in St. Mary's cemetery.

BLACK CAPE

Those that attended the Liberal Convention which was held at New Carlisle on Friday evening were Messrs. Wm. McColm, Angus Campbell, Hastie Henderson and Ernest Steele. Mr. Hugh Johnston is at present in Chandler. Mr. Hugh Sellars of Sellarville spent the week end in Black Cape with friends.

What a scene is now presented in the mother of Parliaments! The Opposition is demanding an explanation of the movements of the King's troops in Ireland, while their own rebel forces move where they like, seize coast guards and engage in gun-running on a large scale.

MANY PRACTICE FALSE ECONOMY

Farmer Saves 15 Cents, Squanders Big Sum—Forgets Home Merchant.

If you know how to spend less than you get you have the philosopher's stone.

Economy is the parent of integrity, of liberty and of ease and the beautiful sister of temperance, of cheerfulness and of health.

Willful waste is a cruel and crafty demon that gradually involves her followers in dependence and debts and so fetters them with irons that enter their inmost souls.

Economy is a procedure by which a certain sum of money can be saved and waste, on the other hand, by which the same sum of money is dissipated.

To illustrate, a farmer wishes to buy an ax. The local merchant's price is $1.40, but the farmer can buy "an" ax from the retail catalogue house for $1.25.

The previous summer the economical farmer bought a new mower with which to harvest his hay and paid therefor $85.

The machine was nice and new and shiny, and when the farmer completed the cutting of his hay he promptly hitched his team and abandoned the pretty new mower to the tender elements of the hayfield, and there it remains, rust and tongue protruding from a huge snowdrift.

That seems to be a case where waste took economy by the hand and led it out into the fields and lost it.

It is a regrettable fact that the practice is not uncommon; that it is the rule rather than the exception among farmers.

Look out of the window of any train as you pass through the country, and almost the first thing that meets the eye is a neglected piece of farm machinery standing in a vacant field unprotected from the rains of the summer, the winds of the fall, the sleet, ice and snow of winter and the mud and mire of spring.

What must be the condition of that machinery when in the course of time the farmer is again ready to put it into service?

Have rust, neglect and the elements added to its value and efficiency? Depreciated 50 Per Cent.

Have they not depreciated it at least 50 per cent in every way? Neglect of this kind is willful waste.

There is no better field in all the world in which the farmer can practice economy than in the proper care of his machinery.

Some farmers protect their machinery all right from the elements. They haul it in under a shed.

The barnyard fowls have also discovered this "nice shed" and find that machinery makes the nicest kind of roosting place, with the result that when the machines are again brought out into the sunlight they are things of sordid appearance rather than of worth and beauty.

Machinery Rusts Out. The back door robs the house, and the back door leads to the machinery shed and to the open fields. Go out and see if your machinery is protected from both the weather and barnyard dirt.

Remember it is better for machinery to wear out than to rust out. Saving 15 cents on an ax and losing $50 on a mowing machine is false economy, the practice of which leads past the gate of thrift and industry and up to the door of "woeful want and willful waste" and to the fireside of indolence.

"MY STOMACH IS FINE Since Taking Na-Dr-Co Dyspepsia Tablets"

Mrs. J. Merkhuger, Waterloo, Ont., enthusiastically recommends Na-Dr-Co Dyspepsia Tablets. Her experience with them, as she outlines it, explains why.

"I was greatly troubled with my stomach," she writes. "I had taken so much medicine that I might say to take any more would only be making it worse. My stomach just felt raw. I read of Na-Dr-Co Dyspepsia Tablets, and a lady friend told me they were very easy to take, so I thought I would give them a trial and really they worked wonders. Anyone having anything wrong with his stomach should give Na-Dr-Co Dyspepsia Tablets a trial, they will do the rest. My stomach is fine now and I can eat any food."

One of the many good features of Na-Dr-Co Dyspepsia Tablets is that they are so pleasant and easy to take. The relief they give from heartburn, flatulence, biliousness and dyspepsia is prompt and permanent. Try one after each meal—they'll make you feel like a new person.

EXPENSE VS. SAVINGS.

Here and there one finds a dairyman who hesitates about taking up cow testing, because of the initial expense of about three dollars for the necessary outfit of scales and bottles.

This would seem to be an extreme case of "Penny wise and pound foolish". So many examples are constantly cropping up of distinct saving through the small expenditure that they should be noted for the encouragement of those who still hesitate.

Cows have been bought at auction time after time, discarded by owners who were evidently absolutely ignorant of their high value as good producers. After one or two months' test the new owners have often refused $50 and $100 on their bargains. That is a pretty quick return on the cow testing outfit expenditure. In fact amongst such discards at auction were picked up one or two world's champions, worth thousands of dollars.

This vital fact should not be overlooked: Hundreds of poor cows are being kept today at huge expense of whose low value the owners are also pretty ignorant. Yet a three dollar outfit would help discover them soon turning the present loss into distinct savings.

Then, thanks to that small expense, many dairymen are now making an additional income of three hundred dollars from twenty cows, because the poorest have been discarded. It will abundantly pay every dairyman to keep dairy records.

Why Plant a Tree?

Why plant a tree? Because the birds That thrance the listening air, May nest among the rippling leaves And sing your praises there.

Why plant a tree? Because the beasts, As seasons come and go, May shelter underneath the boughs And there mute thanks bestow.

Why plant a tree? Because you may, As ageing years invade, Eat of its fruit admire its form Or rest beneath its shade.

Why plant a tree? Because your son, And his son's son again, For this alone in future years May rise and bless your name.

Mr. Carvell spent some time in the House of Commons, Tuesday, discussing the Valley railroad charges. He does not appear to have said anything about negotiations to drop or curtail these charges, and yet it is said he knows something of the matter.

And neglect. The man who neglects and abandons his farm machinery in the field is not only the most indolent man in the world, but also the most stupid.

And the strangest part of it all is that a man will admit his indolence, but will fight if called stupid.

He sort of persuades himself to believe that indolence cherishes all the peaceful virtues and that without destroying the others it merely suspends their functions.

Be Frank With Dealer. Be frank and open and mainly with yourself and ask your dealer to be the same.

Then there will be more consumers in the town to feed, and the farmer will profit by it. So will the retail merchant and also the consumer, citizens of the town, the professional man and the employe, as they will be profitably employed and earning money.

When the citizens of the town have money in the bank or jingling in their pockets a town worth while is in evidence; a farming community worth while is also very noticeable.

What helps one helps all, and no cat-alogue house's better conditions than a locality that works together in this way.

Selfishness, jealousy and stubbornness are a certain kind of harpoon that cuts deep.

ANOTHER STATEMENT ABOUT "THE MENACE"

Post Office Has Taken Ban From This Journal And It Can Now Be Mailed

Ottawa, April 29.—The postmaster general, Hon. L. F. Pellerin, made another statement in the commons this afternoon in regard to the exclusion of the Canadian "Menace," published at Aurora (Ont), from the Canadian mails.

The government has been bombarded with resolutions from orange lodges protesting against this exclusion. Mr. Pellerin this afternoon, in reply to a question by Edmund Proulx, quoted a letter written in reply to a resolution of protest from a Montreal Orange lodge. This letter reviewed the reasons formerly given for barring "The Menace," on the ground that the paper published immoral, indecent and scurrilous things.

Continuing his reply to the Orange-men, Mr. Pellerin said: "Continuing the postmaster-general said in his letter: 'The publishers came out with a leading article in large type acknowledging that we were right in undertaking not to publish this kind of obscene and immoral language in future. They were told that the ban would be lifted but they did not keep their promise the privileges of the mails would be withdrawn.'

"If I were to forget that I am postmaster-general for all Canadians, Protestant and Catholic alike, and if I were so bigoted as to think of excluding Protestant newspapers from the mails, there are others than 'The Menace' which would be more worthy of my attention in this respect; but I do not intend to do so because it is strongly Catholic or that a newspaper shall be excluded because it is strongly Catholic or strongly Protestant and consequently I have no right to bar any of them from the mails. The law and regulations do say, however, that no newspaper, Protestant or Catholic, shall be imported or sent through the mails, and it does not seem possible to me that you and I as christian gentlemen, should disagree in a matter like this."

THE LUMBER JACK

I had always imagined the lumber-jack to be a man of a holiday "over-acting" with malice and mischief, ripe for any devilment, and while that may be true of the jack who periodically comes into town for "a good time" with six months' wages burning his jeans and a dereliction to "cut loose," the exact reverse is the case in camp. The lumber-jack in town on a holiday and the lumber-jack in camp are two distinctive persons, pursuing sundry, separate aims, and nowhere in Western Canada will you run across a better behaved, harder-working, more earnest lot of men. I take off my hat to them, be they walking boss, buck-beaver, swamper, holler, or axeman. And well informed, too. One man volunteered the information that out of every four dollars in the Provincial Treasury one of them was provided by forest revenue.

He probably had read as much in the Annual Forest Branch Report, but no matter; the fact that he had remembered it speaks volumes. Another told me that of nearly 10,000 fire permits issued last year, only eight fires burned away. "And," he added, "that was going some."

A young fellow from Minnesota, who had come to me six months before with an empty pocket-book and an introduction, met me at one of the camps and showed me with blessings. He had been a bit of a dandy when he applied for the job, and the walking boss rather hesitated about employing him, but he had made no mistake; he was the happiest man in camp, ragged, burnt the color of an old sorrel horse, but overflowing with good spirits and joy.

"Go back to town?" he asked, when I spoke to him. "No, not for mine, I won't. Just a little tent or a little shack for me right here, with the best climbing in the backyard of night kind of friendly-like, and the ole river rushin' busy down below to lull me to sleep; later on, 'r'haps," and he blushed, "I'll save a little girl from back Minnesota way to share the shack and the bears with me."—Norman S. Rankin, in The Canadian Magazine for May.

A HOT TIME COMING

Parliament appears to be now coming to the fighting stage at Ottawa. For five months, the Government has avoided trouble by holding back controversial business and the Opposition has therefore had little opening for criticism. The Liberals made the budget an occasion for lengthy discussion, but as there was little vigor in the replies from the Government side the debate failed to attract much attention.

There are some measures coming now which should produce a month of real Parliamentary fighting. The redistribution bill is one of these. Not only have the two parties failed to agree on the terms of redistribution, but the Liberal estimates, especially in Quebec and Ontario, but in the Conservative party the members and ministers in some cases have had serious differences over the plans for running new lines of constituencies. These troubles may be aired in the House along with the Liberal protest.

There is every indication that lively fighting and the application of closure will mark the passage of the Militia estimates. Col. Hughes wants a large amount of money this year and is willing to fight for it. The Liberals appear to be more willing to give him the fight than the money.

The estimates for public works are due for criticism which promises to be warm in spots. The Government has been holding back on the estimates for these two departments apparently believing that the end of the session is an easier time to avoid controversy than earlier. They are giving the theory a fair test this year. The Liberals say that they will prove that the theory is not sound.—E.R.

FIRST THROUGH C. N. R. TRAIN FROM QUEBEC REACHES TORONTO

The first through train over the Canadian Northern Railway line between Quebec and Toronto, which left here yesterday, arrived at the latter city at an early hour this morning. The entire road was satisfactory to the officials and regular through traffic will start immediately. The train had on board 499 passengers, all immigrants from the R.M.S. Royal George. Attached to the train was a private car containing several officials of the company.

The Canadian Magazine for May contains a noteworthy historical article by A. Gordon Dewey, entitled "The Beginnings of British Commerce at Montreal." The article begins with the occupation of Montreal on September 8, 1760, which "marked an epoch in the development of its (Montreal's) commercial life, and the succeeding period was one of change and growth." There is also another fine historical sketch, that of "John Galt: Founder of Cities," by J. E. Wetherell, which is well illustrated. There is a splendid literary appreciation by Professor A. W. Crawford of Tenneyson's "Maude," a carefully considered article on the work of the Canadian poet, Duncan Campbell Scott, by Bernard Muddiman, an apparently unanswerable defence of the Canadian literature by George Clark Holland, an insight into lumbering in British Columbia, illustrated, by Norman Rankin, besides several fine Canadian short stories and reproductions of paintings.

Offsetting Competition

The thing for the merchants of this community to do in their own interests is to advertise faithfully, and to make their printed announcements interesting and helpful to those whose trade and favor are desired.

The serious competitors of the retailers of this community are the big stores of the big cities—those that send out catalogues and have mail-order departments. The poorest way to offset this competition is for our local merchants to remain silent. For them not to "speak up" is to give the mail-order houses a better chance to get business from this community.

NOTHING MORE INSPIRING THAN CIVIC PRIDE

The Graphic agrees with a Nova Scotia contemporary, who says that "aside from pure religion and patriotism, there is nothing in a man or in a community of men more elevating, more inspiring than civic pride. As the spring advances and nature puts on her fresh green dress, the unsightly things that have collected during the winter in out-of-the-way corners, call attention to themselves by their very ugliness. The obligation of this disorder would be so burden if each and every one would pick up the pieces of rubbish of his own house, trees, lawns and pieces of paper and cardboard that lie in the vicinity, and consign them to the flames, thus helping to clean up the town. "Pick up", and again "pick up." If everybody would do their part, a remarkable change would soon be apparent. At the next meeting of the Town Improvement Society, it is understood that a date is to be named for a "clean up day" in the town, and all good citizens, that of course, means everyone, will be asked to co-operate with the society in this matter and make the day a most successful one from every point of view.

No doubt, as a correspondent, in last week's issue stated, many people who own teams, will not be slow in lending a hand to the good cause, by placing them at the disposal of the committee and thus garbage and objectionable rubbish can be relegated to the dumping ground that otherwise would remain as an eyesore.

Nature has been kind to Campbellton, and done much to make our town beautiful; and with the assistance of the whitewash and paint brigade, well-kept lawns, and attractive flower plots, much can be done to add to its natural beauty.

Let everybody join "The Brighten-up Club". It won't cost anything, only a little elbow grease, and a sense of civic pride that everybody should possess.

During the month of May let your slogan be "Brighten up" and the result will be a brighter and better looking town to present for the inspection of the many summer visitors expected.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT

Mr. Wm. Ramsay was the victim of a very painful accident last Friday, by which he sustained injuries to his head that required several stitches.

Accompanied by his wife, Mr. Ramsay was driving along St. George St., through the fire swept district, when his horse took fright at the men on the wires repairing the telephone service, and upset the wagon, throwing the occupants into the ditch. Mr. Ramsay retained his hold on the reins, and was dragged by the frightened animal across the sidewalk and into the cellar hole left by the destroyed Buttiner house, where the wagon, horse and all went over him, the horse's hoofs striking him on the back of the head. The horse then got away from his grasp, but was caught a short distance away by some witnesses of the accident. The injured man was able to get up immediately and walk to Dr. Coffyn's office where his injuries were attended to, and he is now almost recovered.

CASTOR BEAN SCREEN HEDGE

Where annual vines and other quick growing plants are very desirable, there is nothing finer than a screen hedge of castor beans across the yard. These large plants, which often grow to a height of ten feet or more, and have beautifully colored foliage, may also be grown to screen unsightly objects. The seed may be sown in the open ground after danger of frost, or it can be started in window box or hot-bed and later transplanted to the open ground. They will grow on almost any soil, and require but little cultivation.

"The Declaration of Independence states that all men are born free and equal, I believe!" "Something of that sort." "Then why do you hold yourself so aloof?" "My dear man, I'm descended from one of the signers."

SQUIRRELS OR FOOLS?

Familiar phrases are often the inventions of chance, and chance sometimes, plays amusing tricks. The Washington Star says this is the way in which the well known expression, "The woods are full of them," originated.

A very deaf old man was shooting squirrels in the woods near Wiscasset, Maine, when a stranger happened along.

"Which is the road to Wiscasset?" asked the stranger, failing to understand, replied:

"That's one—that's a squirrel sitting up there on the tree! See him?" "I didn't ask you about the squirrel," said the stranger impatiently. "I asked you which was the road to Wiscasset?"

"Yep," said the old man, "that's another, too, jest speekin' outer the knot-hole."

Then the stranger lost his patience. "You're a fool!" he cried.

The old huntsman gazed into the trees; then he looked innocently at the stranger. "Yep," he said complacently, "the woods are full of them."

A Gerrymander by a big majority is about the meanest political trick yet devised. It is also an impertinence, for it assumes that voters have no volition and can be moved here and there to serve the purposes of politicians.

G. M. Turner, of Greenville, S.C. is the father of a ton of children. His family consists of 10 children, two girls and eight boys. The average weight of the children is 200 pounds, the lightest being 170 and the heaviest 300.

Farm Notes and News

Interesting items of the Farm and Dairy.

The farmer is essentially a producer, but he might be more as a seller of what he produces.

The horses will take more salt while at the spring work. Keep a good supply before them at all times.

A steady gait in the fields accomplishes more in the end than sharp spurts and long rests and is easier on the horse.

If you want free agricultural implements don't let Premier Borden, Finance Minister White, and your own member at Ottawa forget it.

If the field is wet and soggy leave it for a day or two. Early seeding is advisable, but "puddling" the soil in the clay is not a good start for the crop.

Good sires of some of the best-known breeds are very scarce this spring. Do not be induced to part with a good herd header unless you have a better one to fill his place.

Taking chances in the business of farming is seldom advisable. Eliminate "chances" as much as possible, by doing everything with definite object in view and by adopting principles which cannot fail.

The most successful men on the land are generally those with whom every season of the year is a busy season. We have heard men say that there is a slack season on the farm just after seeding a previous to haying. There shouldn't be. Where is the farm without fences and gates to repair or build, draining to do, buildings to overhaul or weeds to destroy? It means success.

This, the season when good roads are most appreciated, the holes are usually the worst roads the year round. Mark their location and repair at road-work time.

Straw may be getting scarce at this season of the year, but even though some of the other stock is forced to put up with a scantier bed, give the working horses a liberal supply.

Plan to plant a few trees this year. The frequency with which we get strong and sometimes destructive winds, should be sufficient incentive, to say nothing of the added attractiveness of a place having trees well located for windbreaks and beauty.

Too much water, especially very cold water given to an overheated animal coming in from work, may produce colic or other digestive derangements. By all means, however, give the warm tired horse a few swallows when coming in which will aid in cooling him off, moisten his parched mouth and throat and induce him to eat dry feed more readily.

Nothing adds so much to the attractiveness of the farm as clean and tidy surroundings about the house and buildings. During the winter there is always an accumulation of rubbish of one kind or another. This shows up badly in the spring when the snow disappears. A few hours applied to a little cleaning up will effect a wonderful change. Try it.

It is said that all the others, except Daniel McEwen, who has sold his land to S. Howard Cox, and S. Williamson and Geo. Windsor, who are as yet undecided, will rebuild some time during the summer.

The Palatine Insurance Co., represented by J. Brian Mullins, had all their claims adjusted the night of the fire, and today Mr. Mullin received the cheques to pay these claims.

The Nova Scotia and National of Hartford Co's. represented by F. H. Eaton, have also been very prompt in settling their claims, Mr. Eaton being around today with cheques for the parties insured with his companies.

There is no doubt that the prompt settlements by these companies will be most satisfactory to their clients, and will result in largely increased business for the agents mentioned.

A HINT FOR MOTHERS

FOR THE RAINY DAYS.

Here is an excellent way to amuse a child on a rainy day or to set him to amusing himself. Bring out copies of old magazines, a pair of scissors, a bottle of muckage or small pot of flour paste, and a brush. The paste is preferable in some ways, being easier to wash off the child's fingers and apron. Procure some pieces of wood of different shapes and sizes or heavy pasteboard could be made to answer. The Philadelphia "North American," tells how to play this game.

Now to begin. Here, on the cover of the magazine you have selected is a lady—a very beautiful lady—with rosy cheeks, black eyes and a purple gown. Cut her out carefully and paste her up against a wall. Delightful! This man in the ready-made suit advertisement is just the husband for one of the purple lady's sisters. He would look too magnificent married to the purple lady because he isn't colored, poor man! And on the next page is a baby and a little boy, who will do for the children's hair. The large chair in this furniture advertisement, and near the back is a table on which there is a streaming dinner. Before long the whole house will be furnished.

Next, the garden to be considered and a lookout kept for fences and trees and flowers of every description. The floral catalogues have heaps of them. Don't forget the garage and the automobile either, and there might be some chickens, cows and pigs, if the purple lady's brother-in-law is a gentleman farmer.

But what we can invent for the child is nothing to the plays his own fertile little brain will produce after you have given him one lesson in this simple art of toy-making. A box of crayons to color the pictures is an added pleasure.

The Paper Kingdom charges nothing for the happiness to be found within its gates and the little tenement child may enter with the small lady who has at her service an exhaustive parental purse.

CO-OPERATIVE WAGES

Returns to English Workers Why Low in Their Own Establishments

According to Professor Sumner, in an article on "Productive Co-operation," which has recently appeared in a Toronto journal, the "Wholesale Societies in the United Co-operative Movement in 1909 employed about 17,000 productive workers, paying them $200,000 or $4,000,000 in wages. The Retail Societies employed 21,000 workers in production, and paid them wages to the amount of $1,200,000 or $2,400,000. The associated workers with 7,200 productive employees, paid $264,000 or $1,840,000 in wages. This works out for the three groups to $24 1/2¢, or $76, $27 1/2¢, or $80 and $20 1/2¢, or $65 per week or per annum. In the last case the worker is also given $7.00 as a bonus, making his annual wage equal to $85. These amounts are aptly set in contrast to those paid by private employers. For example, the average earnings of the employes of the British railway companies at the same period, to which the above figures refer, to $24 1/2¢, or $76, $27 1/2¢, or $80 and $20 1/2¢, or $65 per week."

It should be remembered of course that these are the wages that prevail under Free Trade in Great Britain, and while they would seem unjustly low to a good Canadian mechanic there is no doubt that the relatively higher Canadian wages are explained to a great extent by the moderate protection policy which has prevailed in this country for the last thirty years.

THIRTY-FIVE BUILDINGS TOTALLY DESTROYED

Fine Section of Town Wiped Out in Tuesday's Fire.—Good Work of Firemen and Citizens

(From the Gloucester Northern Light) Bathurst lost some of its finest stores and residences in the disastrous conflagration which, starting at S. Holdengraber's store, threatened to sweep out of existence all that portion of the town below it, last Tuesday afternoon.

The fire started in the kitchen of Mr. Holdengraber's residence, which is situated in the ell of his store building, and was caused by the flying of a spark from the kitchen stove into a pot of tar which an employe had removed from the top of the stove to the floor. This of course at once ignited, and although water was immediately thrown on the blaze, it soon reached such proportions as to be beyond control. The alarm was at once given and the chemical rushed to the scene, but the blaze had such a hold on the wooden building that it made no impression on the flames.

At the time the alarm rang, the fire engine was cut testing the strength of a new horse, and had hardly reached the Post Office corner. The horse was not able to move fast enough with the heavy engine, so another one was pressed into service and hurried the engine to Reed's wharf where it was placed in position in a very few minutes. By the time the firemen got their hose stretched it was evident to all that the fire was a very serious one, so three streams were connected, one playing on the Lounsbury building, and the other two on the ell of the Holdengraber building. The water seemed to have absolutely no effect on the burning structures, for in a very few minutes both buildings were a mass of flame, and the firemen were compelled to withdraw from their positions. Before they could get their hose out of the way, about two hundred feet of it which was stretched along the front of the Holdengraber building burned through with the heat, and it was then necessary to disconnect and connect up again by a safer route. An immense crowd of people was now gathered at the scene of the fire and many were making strenuous efforts to save the stock of the burning buildings. The Lounsbury stock, consisting of carriages, furniture, etc., were spread along Water St., and on King St., and the fire spread so quickly that great quantities of it were left to burn in the store. The automobiles stored in the garage at the rear were run out and left a little distance up the street. Holdengraber's stock of dry goods, etc., was carried to the street and large quantities of it left there to burn a little later when the heat of the fire made the street impassable. A large part of this stock was piled on the platform of the Sweeney Hotel, and in a very short time this inflammable material took fire and soon doomed the hotel building to destruction. A large pile of this stock was also piled near Dr. Coffin's residence and when this also began to burn, seriously jeopardized the safety of that fine residence. A crew of men with buckets assisted the firemen at this point and helped them to prevent the flames getting a hold on the building.

The tremendous heat from the burning buildings kept a large number of people on the Jailliet, the Howell and the Shirley residences busy with buckets and blankets, and the flying sparks several times made things look serious for their safety, but by hard work and close attention nothing more serious than blistered paint and broken windows resulted.

It was only a matter of a few minutes after the firemen were forced to take their streams off the brick residence of Mrs. Walsh, which is next to the Holdengraber store, that it burst into flame, and S. Williamson's house and store soon followed. The residence of W. W. Lamb came next in the path of the flames, and from here it quickly spread toward the water front through a series of old barns and sheds, gathering force as it went. The firemen were now making a hard fight to save the Robertson house which was threatened from Mrs. McKendry's residence, already a mass of flame and a number of barns which caught and kept the firemen busy in their gigantic efforts to save the large hotel building. Their efforts were successful after a long fight, for the hotel still stands, although the barns and sheds immediately in its rear, are partly burned.

On the other side of the street, things were going badly. The Sweeney Hotel, being a large, high building, made a furiously hot fire, and when the barn adjoining caught fire, things looked very serious for the rest of the block. A number of men, among whom were Geo. L. Doucet, E. P. MacKay, A. J. Meahan, Gus Stout, A. G. Veniot, B. J. Mullins, Geo. Gilbert and several others, saw the importance of preventing the spread of the fire to the Degrace and Doucet houses and barns, and concentrated their efforts on these buildings. Too much cannot be said of their great work at this crucial point, for there is no doubt that the other half of the block would have been swept, had they not stuck to their posts in spite of a small water supply and the terrific heat. The Degrace and Doucet buildings were saved and the course of the fire in that direction stayed.

A light breeze had now sprung up, and carried sparks and burning embers to A. C. Branch's store, and as there was practically no water to fight the flames with in this part of the town, the house of Allan Branch, Mrs. Robt. Ramsay's residence, Mrs. R. D. Southwood's store, John Branch's Malcolm Douglas, John Doucet's and Geo. Windsor's residences went up in flames in the order mentioned. All that could be done here was to save the furniture and other contents of the houses, and a large number of citizens and teams did the best they could at this work. Mr. W. G. White's residence came next in order, and here one of the hardest fights of the day was made. Mr. White took charge of the battle, and gathered round him such well known fire fighters as Geo. Rogers, Geo. Doucet, Wm. and Arthur Gammon and Geo. Duval. The work of the last named in getting to the peak of the roof, and there under the protection of a blanket, keeping the roof and the exposed side of the house from bursting into flame by the judicious sprinkling of buckets of water, was the admiration of all who witnessed his performance. The terrific heat beat mercilessly on the hardy men working at this house, and time and again it seemed just about to burst into flame, but each time an extra effort was put forth, and at last the workers had the satisfaction of knowing that the house was saved and with it the rest of the town below.

While all this was happening, the flames were working slowly through the barns in the rear of W. W. Lamb's residence toward the water front. Daniel McEwen's residence was the first to go, then came the Masonic Hall, Geo. Sutherland's residence, the Telephone Exchange, W. G. Fenwick's residence, Miss Mary Kerr's store and Frank Meahan's residence and the residences of Mrs. Glazier and Leo Landry. Not a bucketful of water was available for these last named places, and their destruction was certain and complete. Mr. and Mrs. R. Boss kept the telephone service going until smoke compelled them to vacate, and then only succeeded in saving the books and switchboards of the Telephone Co., leaving their own belongings to the flames. Their services in securing teams and other assistance for those who wanted them when the fire was at its height, is very much appreciated by the stricken ones.

At one time late in the afternoon, the heat from the burning buildings, threatened to ignite A. N. DesBrisay's building, and the residence of Mrs. Laman Doucet at the corner, but faithful workers kept water on the roofs and fronts of these buildings, until the firemen succeeded in bringing a stream to bear on them when everything was soaked and danger was past.

Early in the afternoon, about two o'clock, when it was seen that the fire was far more than the local department could cope with, Town Clerk Stout got in communication with the Mayors of Newcastle and Campbellton, and asked them for help, which they gladly agreed to send, and just as soon as special trains could be made up at each town, the fire engines, hose reels, and a detachment of firemen were sent, arriving here shortly before six o'clock. Fortunately, the fire was under control by this time, but the flames were still a source of considerable danger to the rest of the town, as the wind had increased and sparks were flying in all directions. Both visiting departments went to work immediately on their arrival, and all night poured water on the flaming ruins. The Bathurst engine was put out of commission about midnight by the breaking of its cylinder head, the Newcastle engine broke down a little later, and the Campbellton engine finished the night out alone. The Newcastle and Campbellton men, under Chiefs Dickson and O'Donnell, worked like Trojans all night, and several times had considerable difficulty in preventing the carrying of sparks by the high wind from setting fire to surrounding property. A number of Campbellton and Newcastle citizens, who came with the firemen from these towns, also deserve the thanks of the town for their services in assisting in the salvage of property.

A notable feature of the afternoon was the readiness with which owners of teams placed them at the disposal of those who had need of them. The Bathurst Lumber Co., the Gloucester Lumber Co., Freeman Goodwin, the hotels and many private citizens of the town and neighborhood, used their horses in the removal of stock and household goods; in the supplying of coal and water to the engines, and in the moving of the engines and equipment of the Newcastle and Campbellton firemen.

As was perhaps to be expected in a fire of the magnitude of this one, there were many examples of the weakness and dishonesty of many of the people present at the fire. When the Sweeney Hotel was doomed to destruction, a gang of toughs broke into the bar and carried away its stock of liquors, and many of them could be seen opening the bottles and drinking their contents in the rear of the hotel. Others took advantage of the unprotected condition of much of the goods that had been taken from the different stores to carry away armloads of all kinds of merchandise. In spite of the fact that a large number of special constables were sworn in during the afternoon, many of the articles saved from the flames were stolen and taken away. The large force of constables succeeded, in keeping perfect order in the town, during the hours of the night.

TREE PLANTING TIME

This is tree planting time, and we hope that every person who has the ground, will set out some trees this year. It is not necessary to buy expensive nursery stock; any of the trees to be found in our woods will grow just as well, and can be procured larger and stronger.

It will be years before Campbellton has its beautiful shade trees again, as every one was destroyed in the fire, but no time should be lost in planting new ones. In this respect the town authorities should make some move to plant trees about the town property or along some of the streets. Let a beginning be made.

The co-operation of parents and all others in the district is invited, and attention should be given not only to the school grounds and premises but to the roadsides and other public grounds as well. To insure satisfactory results good trees should be purchased by the trustees and properly planted. The attention of teachers is also directed to the importance of preparing for the observance of Empire Day, which falls on the last teaching day preceding the 24th of May. It is most desirable on Empire Day to hold a public meeting in the assembly hall or school room, at which, in addition to the programme prepared by the teachers and pupils, there may be addresses of a patriotic nature by ratepayers or visitors.

The Creature in the Bed.
A young Hindu tells an amusing story of his first visit to London. His hostess, mindful of the great change in climate to which the traveller had been subjected, wished to make him as comfortable as possible. Accordingly, when she prepared his room for the night, she put into his bed a rubber hot-water bottle, a contrivance quite unknown in India.

The young man retired, undressed, and got into bed. As he did so, his feet encountered a smooth, warm object, which he supposed to be some kind of animal. In terror he leaped from the bed, and groped about for the light. Unaccustomed to his surroundings, he was a long time in finding it; and at every step he trembled lest the unknown creature should attack him.

At length he found the light and looked about vainly for a weapon. He was on the point of calling for help, when he thought of trying the closest. There he found several canes. He selected the stoutest of them and resolved to try conclusions with the intruder. He approached the foot of the bed, where he was somewhat protected by the footboard, and raised his weapon for a speedy blow, while with his left hand he grasped the bedclothes and began cautiously to turn them down. Then, nerving himself for a final effort, he tore the clothes from the bed, and struck viciously at the round, black object that he had exposed.

One blow was enough to convince him that the "animal" was lifeless, and always had been. His terror gave place to amusement, and after he had his laugh out, he went back to bed and enjoyed undisturbed repose until morning.

CAMPBELLTON DRUGGIST HAS VALUABLE AGENCY

A. McE. McDonald has the Campbellton agency for the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Alder-ika, the remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis. This simple remedy has powerful action and drains such surprising amounts of old matter from the body that JUST ONE DOSE relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation almost IMMEDIATELY. The QUICK action of Alder-ika is astonishing.

HON. CHAS. MARCIL ACTIVE IN HOUSE

Seeking Information in Regard to Lotteries and Other Matters Interesting Bonaventur

Mr. MARCIL: I would like to ask the minister if there is any control or inspection over joint stock companies incorporated by the Dominion. For instance, one company is selling Panama bonds in the province of Quebec; another one is advertising guessing competitions in the newspapers and is coining a lot of money.

Mr. AMES: What is the name of the Panama company?

Mr. MARCIL: The Provident Financial Association, Limited, incorporated by the Dominion Parliament in 1905. Last year I called the attention of the Superintendent of Insurance to the matter, and also that of the Minister of Justice. A circular is posted up in my county and various parts of Quebec, stating that these bonds are guaranteed by the Federal Government. They are sold to the farmers down there for $52 on the monthly installment plan, or for $40 cash, and the farmer also has a chance in a lottery that takes place subsequently. The largest amount he can draw is $96,500.

Mr. MURPHY: Is the company incorporated by Parliament?

Mr. C. MARCIL: Yes, it is a Dominion company, incorporated in 1905. I wrote to the Superintendent of Insurance on March 13, 1913, and he said in reply:

"I am in receipt of your letter of the 13th inst. The Provident Financial Association, Limited, was incorporated by an Act of the Parliament of Canada in 1905, but its Act of incorporation does not require it to make a report of its operations to the Minister of Finance. As to the bonds referred to in the circular contained in your letter I have no knowledge whatever. If they are in the nature of a lottery, the parties dealing in them may be prosecuted under the Criminal Code."

There is no disguising the fact that this is a lottery. Large numbers of these Panama bonds were sold in my own constituency to people who did not know any better. They were induced to buy them because on the face of the certificate it appeared that they had been guaranteed by a company incorporated by the Parliament of Canada. The hon. Minister of Justice (Mr. Doherty), to whom I referred the matter, wrote to me on April 19, 1913, to this effect:

Ottawa, April 19, 1913.
Dear Sir—There is not information enough in the papers you send me to enable me to judge as to whether the Panama bonds referred to in the circular you enclosed are a legitimate investment or not, nor would I like to express any opinion upon foreign bonds and debentures. I remember that lotteries were authorized and held in France to raise money for the Panama canal, but whether these bonds are connected with the lotteries or not I do not know. Lotteries are, of course, forbidden under our law.

Yours sincerely,
(Sgd) Chas. J. Doherty.

I have heard no more about it except that I have learned personally that a number of bonds were sold.

During March of this year large advertisements appeared in the newspapers of Montreal and Quebec. The one I have here is in French. It is headed, "Grand Guessing Competition." In the centre of the advertisement is a large picture showing a Roman chariot with four horses, and in the chariot a goddess holding a horn of plenty and scattering gold along the way. In the picture are the figures of four women, and the riddle is to make out these figures, which are not apparent at the first glance. This is the inducement offered:

Grand Guessing Contest.
We will give, absolutely gratis, to every person who will find the solution of this guess, one hundred shares in our mining syndicate, formed for the purpose of acquiring and exploiting one of the richest gold mines in the province of Quebec, with the right to participate in ten thousand dollars in gold distributed in prizes amongst members of our syndicate.

Then the conditions follow. The company is the Cheshan Gold Mine Promoters, Limited. The advertisement continues:

This $10,000 is to be distributed gratis among the members of our syndicate.

There are 811 prizes, divided as follows:

One prize.....	$5,000 in gold
".....	1,000 "
".....	500 "
".....	250 "
".....	100 "
".....	50 "
Four prizes.....	25 "
One hundred prizes.....	10 "
Two hundred prizes.....	5 "
Five hundred prizes.....	2 "

811 prizes $10,000

Then they state the conditions of the competition as follows:

To all persons who will send us a correct solution of this puzzle we will give absolutely free 100 shares in our syndicate, with the right to participate in the distribution of $10,000 amongst the members of our syndicate. All you have to do is to make a cross on the four figures which are found on this sheet and send them to us together with a five cent piece to cover the cost of postage. Write your name very legibly as well as your address. This offer is without precedent and is made for the purpose of advertising our syndicate. Do not forget to write your name very plainly, and enclose five cents in your letter, which entitles you to take part in this competition.

A well known citizen in Montreal who takes an interest in these matters, and who sent me this information, stated that he was informed on good authority that on the first day after this competition was announced on which a reply could be made, the 14th of February, 1,300 five-cent pieces were received, that on the following Tuesday 2,200 five-cent pieces were received, and that on the following Wednesday 4,400 five-cent pieces were received. The whole thing seems to be a sham. The advertisement appeared first in the Montreal papers, and then I saw it in the Quebec papers. The difficulty is that this is being done under the Dominion Companies Act. This company was incorporated on the 20th of January, 1914, and when I saw it in the Dominion papers, I wanted to direct the attention of the hon. Postmaster General (Mr. Pelletier) to this company. It is called the Cheshan Gold Mine Promoters, Limited. The idea of giving 100 shares in a syndicate for five cents. I have several other cases that I want to call the Postmaster General's attention to. I thought it was my duty to call the attention of the ministers present to what is being done. There is no inspection of these companies, and these things are liable to occur.

Mr. W. T. WHITE: My hon. friend from St. Antoine (Mr. Ames) has handed me the statute to which my hon. friend (Mr. Marcil) has referred—4-E, Edward VII. By chapter 151 the Provident Financial Association, Limited, was incorporated, but I fail to see anything in the powers granted to them to enable them to carry on the business which has been described by my hon. friend. The powers set out in the Act are as follows:

The company may—

(a) Underwrite, buy, pledge and otherwise deal in bonds, debentures or obligations of corporations, whether secured by mortgage or otherwise, Dominion, provincial, British, foreign or other public securities, with the privileges and rights thereto attached; (b) borrow money upon the security of mortgages, hypothecs, bonds or other securities belonging to the company.

There is no objection that I can see to the registration of 1905 incorporating the company in question. From what my hon. friend has said, I should judge that they are carrying on what I termed a guessing competition. Whether they are violating the provisions of the Criminal Code or not I am unable to say. I think it would be impossible to have any return made to the minister which would expose the character of the business carried on by a company having the powers mentioned in this Act. It is quite probable that the powers that were got by the letters patent referred to by my hon. friend are similarly quite proper in character; but the mode of carrying on business is objectionable. Possibly the Attorney General of Quebec would be the party who might be usefully informed as to the matters brought to our attention by my hon. friend.

Mr. MARCIL: I would not like there to be any misapprehension. The sale of the Panama bonds has taken place by a company with a special charter.

Mr. WHITE: That is the company incorporated by chapter 151.

Mr. MARCIL: The other company is incorporated under the General Companies Act. Would any sane man think that he was going to get 100 shares in a gold mine in Quebec for five cents? Yet a lot of people have been taken in—4,400 in one day. There is not the supervision of these matters that there should be. If there is no inspection of these companies by the Dominion, there should be some prohibition against their misleading the public.

Mr. WHITE: I shall be very glad to bring the matter to the attention of the Secretary of State.

Mr. MARCIL: What I am doing in this case, is, of course, in the public interest.

Mr. WHITE: Oh, certainly.

Mr. MARCIL: I was asked to call the attention of the Postmaster General to it, so that these notices might be stopped going through the mails. The other company I refer to is the Panama Bond Company, which probably is the most dangerous of all.

Mr. LEMIEUX: When I was Postmaster General, an order was issued prohibiting the Panama Bond Company sending its matter through the mails. They employed counsel to argue the case before Sir Allen Aylesworth, who was then Minister of Justice, and he decided that they had no right to issue these bonds or to sell them to the public. We issued an order against them in the post office, but since that time apparently they have renewed their efforts.

Mr. MARCIL: There was a circular published and circulated in my constituency, stating that some person in Rock's office, near Ottawa, had benefited to the extent of $15,000.

Mr. PROULX: Did he get the money?

Mr. MARCIL: I never heard he got the money, but such a notice would induce others to spend their money.

CITY DRAINING COUNTRY

Careful Analysis of Rural Depopulation — Same and Hopeful Views

The rapid growth of the cities and the depopulation of the country has caused much bitter discussion. In the last ten years 75,000 persons have been lost to agriculture in the Eastern Provinces.

Mr. MARCIL: Will the minister give us some information about that? Mr. FOSTER: We had that service under contract with the steamer Canada for a period of years at a subsidy of $20,000 a year.

Mr. MARCIL: Will there be two trips a week between Campbellton and Gaspe as at present?

Mr. FOSTER: There will be only twenty-five trips—half the subsidy and half the service.

Mr. MARCIL: Have the people down there expressed any desire for a service of the kind?

Mr. MARCIL: Is he a resident of Quebec city?

Mr. FOSTER: I do not know.

Mr. MARCIL: I put a question to the minister some time ago about the state of the steamer Canada, whether she had undergone any inspection or not, and the Minister of Marine and Fisheries gave me the following information:

This answer was given on the 6th of April, three weeks ago.

Mr. FOSTER: I cannot say whether a certificate has been issued since then or not. I have not any information that I can give my hon. friend.

Mr. MARCIL: I have in a return brought down to the House on the 2nd of March of the present year, a letter from the late president of the company, who gave as his reason for going into dry-dock last year on the 28th of November, at an earlier date than usual, the fact that he had asked Lloyds, of London, England, to verify the vessel, and they had instructed him to place it in dry-dock and he had complied with their instructions. Mr. MARCIL: I put a question to the minister some time ago about the state of the steamer Canada, whether she had undergone any inspection or not, and the Minister of Marine and Fisheries gave me the following information:

This answer was given on the 6th of April, three weeks ago.

Mr. FOSTER: I cannot say whether a certificate has been issued since then or not. I have not any information that I can give my hon. friend.

Mr. MARCIL: I have in a return brought down to the House on the 2nd of March of the present year, a letter from the late president of the company, who gave as his reason for going into dry-dock last year on the 28th of November, at an earlier date than usual, the fact that he had asked Lloyds, of London, England, to verify the vessel, and they had instructed him to place it in dry-dock and he had complied with their instructions. I would like the minister to make sure that he is putting a safe boat on that coast.

Mr. FOSTER: I certainly will do that.

Mr. MARCIL: This boat was bought in 1892. It was formerly called the Fro Patria. It was reported as of no further use to the company which owned it, and lay in the harbour of Halifax for sale for quite a time until it was bought and put on the Gaspe route.

The service used to be sixty trips during the season; that was cut down to fifty-three and it is now to be cut down to twenty-six, a trip every week.

In the month of May and June, large quantities of salmon are taken from Gaspe and there put into the icehouses to be transported by rail. The people found the service of the Canada, two trips a week, entirely adequate, and they organized local services.

A resident of Bonaventure put on a special boat; the hon. member of Restigouche (Mr. Reid) sent a sailing vessel over from Charlo and Loggie, I think, had an independent service of their own.

All these agencies were employed to carry the salmon taken up in May and June. The Canada gave a poor service, but if the service is to be made poorer still the people will have to rely on the railway to carry their fish.

That is one more argument in favour of the suggestion I made the other night: that the time is coming when the Government should take over that railway and make it a branch of the Intercolonial.

We spent a million and a half in cash upon that road, and $250,000 were paid in special subsidies for the building of twenty-six iron bridges. The road between Carlisle and Gaspe, which was built at a cost of $3,000,000, is giving practically no satisfaction at all.

HAD TO STOP WORK FROM THE PAIN

Suffered Ten Years Until "Fruit-a-tives" Cured Him

Mr. Thomas, Ont., May 2nd, 1913. "I was troubled for ten years with the most distressing Constipation and Indigestion of the worst form.

The pain from indigestion was so severe that many times, I have had to stop work and lie down until the acute spasms passed away.

I took a lot of medicine—in fact, I guess I took about everything that was advertised and gave them all a fair trial—but got no relief.

I gave results in a very short time and I am now free from these diseases and enjoying perfect health.

There are three independent lines of steamers running from Montreal to Quebec. In the old days the Admiral was sufficient to do the whole business; now the Canada, the Gaspeian, the Lady of Gaspe, the Caspédia and Gaspe railway are all employed in the carrying of trade.

CANADIAN NORTHERN MAKES GOOD BARGAIN
 Dominion Parliament Will Endeavor to Pass Bill to Give Railway More Money

Ottawa, April 29—Members on both sides of the house today have been engaged in a careful perusal of the resolution embodying the Canadian Northern financial aid proposal, and the conditions attached thereto and in an endeavor to ascertain the purpose of the various clauses, and the significance of the numerous provisions insofar as they explain the new bargain entered into between the Canadian Northern and the government of Canada.

Careful comparisons have been made between the terms as expressed in the clauses of the official resolution, and those outlined in the ex parte statement handed out by the government last night, and purporting to be the fact that in many instances there are marked discrepancies between the provisions of the contract, as it will bind the government and the company, and the "omissions," which the government is said to have obtained in the statement handed out for public consumption.

ASTONISHING DISCREPANCIES

Some of these discrepancies are, to say the least, astonishing, and when the whole contract is carefully studied, and when the public is aware of its contents it is probable that the opposition will be strenuous and determined. Some of the main features of the agreement as interpreted in the official press report handed out last night, and as interpreted in the actual resolution itself, may be briefly analyzed.

It is claimed by the government apologists of the agreement that the Canadian Northern, and subsidiary companies now aggregating $145,000,000 has been pooled under the new trust deed with one representative of the government and trust board and the total stock reduced to $100,000,000.

An examination of the agreement itself shows that this is not the real situation. At present the capital stocks of the Canadian Northern is $77,000,000 of which $7,000,000 is held by the government under subordination, and $70,000,000 is held by the Canadian Northern stock with $40,000,000 held by the Government in actual possession including the $7,000,000 referred to above, while $60,000,000 is held by MacKenzie & Mann. In addition there is provision for $25,000,000 of preferred stock, now secured by trust deed with the British Columbia Trust Company, and the National Trust Company, the stock in the subsidiary companies is apparently transferred, rather than increased or wiped out, as the statement handed out, last night would make it appear with the wording of the proposed legislation is somewhat obscure, and it is to those who have studied it today it now looks as though it was really contemplated to increase the Canadian Northern stock from $77,000,000 to $100,000,000, thus giving MacKenzie & Mann $23,000,000 additional, and the government $33,000,000 additional.

NEWPORT
 Just a few notes from our quiet village.

Quite a number of our young men are making preparations for the summer in Chandler.

We are pleased to have Mr. and Mrs. E. Nolan amongst us again, after a sojourn in Seattle, Washington, for the past two years.

Death visited the home of Mr. Xavier Castillon, and took away his wife, at the early age of 45 years. The funeral took place at 9 o'clock, Tuesday morning, and was very largely attended. Rev. Father Rioux conducted the service, interment being made in Roman Catholic cemetery. Besides her husband, 10 children are left to mourn. The family have the sympathy of the entire community.

Mr. Geo. Alexander who has been in the employment of the Robin, Jones & Whitman as clerk, left for Cape Cove Saturday afternoon.

We are glad to have Mr. John Le Hieron amongst us, after a sojourn in Jersey, Channel Islands, for the past few months. He intends spending the summer in Newport. He is in the employment of the Robin, Jones & Whitman, Ltd., as book keeper.

Miss Bea Cormier of Jesus Convent, Ste. Adelaide Paboe, returned on Tuesday to her boarding school, after having spent a few days with her parents in Newport.

We were skating for the last time this season on May 1st. Our young people enjoyed themselves immensely that night.

DALHOUSIE

Dalhousie, May 5th.—The disappearance of the ice after such a long spring has cheered up our population, who entertain high prospects for summer. With our three large mills in commission every laboring man should put in a good seasons work.

The recent visit of the L. C. R. agent in our midst, no doubt means increased tourist travel this year and Dalhousie is well prepared for that business. Besides the improvements and splendid management of our two hotels located in the town proper the "Queen" and the "Royal" we have the large Inch Aren House, which will be further improved this year by the addition of 400 lights under our new system and other improvements.

The new line of steamers to call between Montreal, Dalhousie and Campbellton, should help the tourists business considerably.

In view of the prospects of having a great many strangers reside here during the coming summer months, there should be a general cleaning up of the town. No doubt our town officials will set the example. With our splendid lighting system, an early repair of our side walks, every body taking a pride in cleaning up their premises and using a little paint and white wash, it will be easier for the city folks to answer the question "Where are we going to spend our vacation?"

Our merchants who have now up to date stores are optimistic about the future. One by one our town people are abandoning the unpatriotic custom of sending to out side towns for goods. They realize that they can do as well at home. The farmers in our neighboring settlements know that by encouraging our merchants, they are building up a market for the products of their farms.

Mrs. W. A. Mott and her little son Billy, have been spending a few days with friends in Sackville, N. B.

Mr. R. A. Lawlor of Chatham, N. B., was a visitor to town recently, a guest at the Queen.

Mrs. Walter Marquis of Campbellton, spent the week end here, at her old home.

Mrs. Chas. McQuarrie has returned home after a pleasant visit to friends in St. John, Andover, etc.

Miss Stella Troy is spending some time in Chandler, P. Q.

Miss Gracie Harquell, our popular telephone operator returned home last evening on the "Limited", after a three weeks well deserved vacation, spent with friends in New Glasgow, N. S.

Rev. J. Z. Lambert of Nash's Creek was in town today, the guest of Rev.

THE CONSUMER'S VIEWPOINT Some tariff reasons of the free trade persuasion are inclined to take the view that the failure of importations to increase under the new schedule indicates that the reduction of duties was not sufficiently drastic, or that the revision was not skillfully performed. This seems like a far-fetched opinion. The fact in the case is that the importations are the result of demand, and the failure to add to them thus far is likely to be due to the circumstance that there is little call for foreign goods in various lines where our own are equally satisfactory. Tariff reduction, if it has prevented the charging of exorbitant prices, has done its work sufficiently, and there is no need of importations to reach the desired end. On the other hand, complaints of the increase of imports of articles transferred to the free list are without foundation. These articles were "brought" of duty because they were needed, they were chiefly foodstuffs, and ought not to have been taxed in any event. Their increased purchase shows that the change in rates is accomplishing a most important object, that of lowering prices—the supplying of a market suffering from scarcity. Thus far the only direction in which any material increase of imports is expected is in woolen goods.—New York Journal of Commerce.

The hands of the city clock in Regina will be moved forward one hour beginning with May, the city having decided by a large majority to adopt the daylight-saving plan. This was submitted to the citizens in the form of a by-law, which was carried by a large majority. This is a beneficial reform which ought to be adopted by the whole country. It would make a substantial addition to the hours of sunlight enjoyed by the average person, and it would bring into use a greater portion of the very early morning. The daylight-saving plan would hurt nobody, and would be a boon to nearly all of the population.

The Sable Lorcha

By Horace Hazeltine

"It's quite possible," Cameron went on. "I know that it was very difficult to distinguish, in those days, between dreams and realities. Eventually, however, I woke to find myself on the clank of machinery, quartered with the men in the forecastle, a beard well grown and my clothes the coarsest sort of mariner's outfit. For a while I was far too ill for labor. The reaction from the drugs which had been administered caused me the keenest suffering. But, gradually, I came about, and was set to work with pair and brush. The humanity shown me at this time was surprising. I couldn't comprehend it. But I realized eventually that my strength was being fostered for future torment.

"Why didn't you explain, dear, to the captain?" Evelyn asked, with one of those bursts of naivete that contrasted so charmingly with her usually abounding good judgment. Cameron smiled. "I couldn't," he returned, indulgently. "It wasn't because I didn't try. The officers ridiculed my assertions as pipe dreams, and when, at each port, I pleaded to be allowed to communicate with our consul, I was only kept under strict guard."

And so his story continued, interrupted at intervals by questions from one or another of us, until we had the whole wretched tale of cruelty, including the final chapter which preceded the rescue.

When he recalled that every stoker and trimmer, save himself, had been ordered on deck, still hoping against hope that the outside world had at length been moved to intercession in his behalf, he demanded to be allowed to go with the rest. And when his demand was refused, he rebelled, fighting his way to liberty with an iron bar from a cinder-box, which he had purposely concealed for such emergency.

I have no inclination to test patience by detailing all the events and recording the dialogue of that happy day. Much that happened and much that was said I must leave to the imagination of those that need it. But I cannot refrain from the statement that Cameron's meeting and reconciliation with his old friend Dr. Addison was one of the brightest spots in a delectable constellation. The meeting between Evelyn and her uncle was an episode, too, to touch the sensibility of the most apathetic. And if there had lingered a single doubt as to the sincerity or expediency of accepting their companionship on my expedition of rescue it must have been dispelled by the emotional thrill which these scenes provoked.

Our homeward voyage, which all of us were anxious should not be delayed, was by way of Naples. Hartley, who appeared to be able to go and come as he pleased, accompanied us that day, and our farewells to him, on the deck of the Kosmog, Albert, were combined with a fervor of gratitude that exhausted our powers of expression. Evelyn begged me to be permitted to kiss him good-bye, but there I was forced to draw the line. Her caresses in my own direction had not, up to that moment, been so lavish that I felt I could spare any of them, even for this young Englishman, notwithstanding my abundant appreciation of the inevitable. But I cannot say that I was not pleased, accompanied as that was precisely what I told her, when on the first evening out, she had demanded to know my reasons for refusal.

"Give me a hint," I begged, still aural. "When did I promise?" "I couldn't be so unkindly," was her retort, looking away again. "Was it before we came over here, or since?" "Before," after a pause. "Long before."

"Not very." "Where? At your house?" "In the library?" I asked, with a glance behind for possible intruders. She turned quickly and found me laughing.

"Oh, you dear, silly, lovable, delightful child!" I cried, and the echo of my words was carried far astern, as my arms went about her and held her close, and my kisses fell thick and fast on her lips, tender little mouth. "What need had I to keep such a promise?" I asked, when in mercy I paused that she might get her breath. "Why should I ask you to tell me that you loved me, when I could read it in letters as long as your glances and as bright as your smiles?"

And if we left Cameron and Dr. Addison much alone together during our homeward voyage, who that still remembers their own happy days of young love dreaming can blame us? For a long while they remained in my mind as legs from the strange case of Cameron and the Sable Lorcha, a conspiracy a seemingly insoluble problem. On our return to America, my friend, in spite of all my urging, refused with stubborn persistency, it seemed to me, to aid in the prosecution of those who, we knew positively, were implicated in the affair. Confronting Murphy, Yip, Blin and a score or more of their satellites, he could have produced evidence of the most damaging character. But Cameron was not so minded. He even went so far as to discourage my appearance against the former for complicity in the plot to take captive Evelyn and myself on the night of our Pell street visit. Indeed I have always believed that through O'Hara he had instrumental in securing Murphy's release. And I know for a fact that he provided so generously for the young man, that I have never seen him since.

The true interpretation was reserved for the night preceding my marriage with Evelyn, which, by the way, had at her guardian's wish, been delayed for nearly a year because of what he chose to regard as her unseemly youth. The celebration was to take place at Oraghoff and the house was already filled with kind and intimate friends, including most of the wedding party.

It was after midnight, and Cameron and I were alone together in his mahogany and green study; he at his writing table and I in the same adjacent leather chair in which I had sat a twelvemonth ago while listening to the story of the incised portrait.

As was not unusual we had reverted to that time and to certain of the incidents therewith connected; and I had been trying to make clear to Cameron, as I had already frequently tried to do, the peculiar difference between McNeil's expression and his.

"In individual feature," I said, warming to my subject, "there never was in all the world before, I believe, such similarity. And in respect, the ensemble, I should say, was equally identical. But when it came to—"

"My father belonged to a rather poor branch," he confessed, "and like many poor men he had a large number of children. There were ten, all told, and when my poor mother died, it became a serious problem how to take care of us little ones. I was among the youngest, not over seven, and I had a twin brother."

As he said this Cameron, who had been desultorily drawing figures on his writing pad with the end of a penholder, abruptly shot his gaze to mine and caught the quick question of my eyes.

"Yes," he said, without change of tone, "yes, you see, now, don't you?" "McNish!" I murmured. "McNish," he echoed. "Donald McNish."

"But," I began, "I don't quite—"

"Oh, yes, for they returned the back pay he had forwarded, and sent a look of my brother's hair, I think, and a trinket or two that had been his as a kiddie."

"Afterwards, though, you learned that he was still alive?" "No," was Cameron's answer. "We never heard. Had it not been for that marked resemblance gathering me in to the net spread for him, I should probably never have known. And, Clyde," he added, "ever since I learned of his having been there, in town, I have been wondering. Do you think it possible that he ever realized that he was in his brother's house?"

"Hardly," I said. "It doesn't seem likely, though, unless the name and the—He must—Oh, certainly," I stammered, "he must have realized that we mistook him for—yes, for some one named Cameron. He answered to it readily enough; he even insisted that he was Cameron. And if his mind was clear enough to put two and two together, why, knowing that he had a twin brother in America, it would seem—"

"Yes, yes," he said, "I've argued it all out in just the same way, dear friend. And yet we never can be certain, can we? Only I have thought, if he might have realized it, and have been able to have played the part and stayed, and taken up my life and lived it for the rest of his, I might have gone on and taken his punishment to some purpose. For I have had more than my share of the good things, Clyde, and maybe if poor little Donnie had had even half my chances, it would all have been so very, very different."

Large Number of New Subscribers Received During Last Week

Weston Chisholm of New Carlisle still leads in the Graphic contest. During the past week a large number of new subscribers have been entered on our list.

The feature which our friends throughout the Bay Chaleur counting, are not taking advantage of as to as great an extent as we would wish, is the purchasing of goods at the stores interested in the Automobile Contest.

BUY AT HOME AND SAVE MONEY

Yes, and Get Better Satisfaction For Your Money—Try it Next Time

A lady in conversation with the Graphic said "I have been a firm believer in mail order buying but since the Automobile Contest began I have been reading the Graphic and decided I would try our town merchants. I have been very much pleased with the outcome. It is true that in some cases I felt that I was paying a little too much for the goods or trying on the garments, with no loss of time waiting for goods to come from Montreal or Toronto.

Now these are sentiments we can appreciate, and we are sure many could follow the example of the above with saving to themselves and profit to the home merchant.

New is the time to get rid of your old furniture. You can do it by applying Chamberlain's Ladies' and Messengers' parts freely at each application. For sale by all dealers.
